

Voters Said No in '54; Will They Change Their Minds?

Does Iowa City Need A New Civic Center?

(First in a series about the present municipal facilities of Iowa City.)

By DAVE MITCHELL

Does Iowa City need a new city hall? The voters decided it didn't in June, 1954, when the question appeared on a ballot for the first time since the old City Hall was built in 1881.

Today, two years after the first answer, some of the question marks have been replaced by exclamation marks, and it seems likely that Iowa Citizens will soon be asked to reconsider their earlier decision.

At a special meeting, April 12, the city council directed that steps be taken towards building a new civic center to house municipal government activities and a recreation center and that the matter be submitted to a vote of the citizens of Iowa City at the earliest possible date.

At the next meeting May 2, the council, following a public hearing on the matter, voted to purchase two of eight properties on Iowa Avenue (part of the area for the planned building site), one for $18,000 and the other for $12,316.

Iowa City architect Henry L. Fisk presented to the council tentative plans for the new civic center which will cost an estimated $710,000.

This was the first tangible action taken since Mayor Leroy S. Mercer appointed a 13-man committee in the spring of 1955 to select a site for a proposed building.

The proposed site of the new civic center is the block bounded by Iowa Avenue and Van Buren, Gilbert, and Washington streets. The south half of the block is occupied by the Musser parking lot on which the city has an option. The north half of the area is owned by private citizens, and the council is now attempting to appraise and purchase this remaining property facing on Iowa Avenue.

Mercer said recently, "We would like to put a new bond issue to a vote in the June primary." Barring legal complications, Mercer said he feels that plans for the civic center are sufficiently well-developed to present the estimated $710,000 issue to the voters. He said he feels that the proposed civic center is the best answer to easing the problems of an obsolete city hall and the recreational need of the public.

Iowa City has no municipal recreation building. The Community Building, which housed recreation facilities for the public, was destroyed in a fire Jan. 28, 1955.

The history of concerted effort to obtain a new city hall began early in 1954, when the city planning and zoning commission and the city council argued over proposed sites for a new city hall, after all concerned had agreed that such a building was needed.

At that time, the planning and zoning commission recommended that the city hall be erected on the site of the Musser parking lot and that a fire station be erected on Burlington Street adjacent to the Community Building.

The city council preferred that the fire and police stations and the city administrative offices be combined in a city hall to be located adjacent to the Community Building.

The people of Iowa City ended the dispute in the June 7, 1954, primary by rejecting the proposed $330,000 city hall bond issue. The issue was rejected by a slim margin, lacking only 8 per cent of the 60 per cent majority vote required by Iowa law.

Possible reasons for the defeat include:

1. The county board of supervisors had placed a proposal to issue $80,000 in bonds for voting machines for Johnson county on the same ballot.
2. There was a slight nationwide financial recession at the time.
3. Councilmen, as they later admitted, did not campaign hard enough for the issue.

The council wanted to put the bond issue to a vote again in November, 1954, but no definite action was taken.

Then in January, 1955, a new factor entered the scene. The Community Building fire destroyed Iowa City's only public recreation building.

The day after the fire, all five council members said they favored building a combination city hall-recreation center. Mayor Mercer appointed a 13-member committee to choose a site for a new building which might contain the combined city hall and recreational facilities.

On August 8 the committee issued a report recommending the Musser parking lot or the Community Center site for a combination building. No action was taken after the report came out. This was perhaps in part due to the "lame duck" nature of the council, three members having announced earlier that they would not seek re-election in November.

In that election, the three candidates of the Council-Manager Association soundly defeated the candidates of the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League who opposed City Manager Peter F. Roan and advocated return of the council-mayor form of city government.

Shortly after this endorsement of Roan and city manager government, a plan to appoint a 50-man committee to decide on the type of

Local Voters OK School Area Merger

Iowa City and East Lucas school district residents voted Monday for merger of the two districts in a special election.

The vote in Iowa City was 172 for the merger and 35 against. East Lucas residents voted 71 for the merger and 36 against.

The merger of the districts will take effect July 1 when the East Lucas board of education will be dissolved and the Iowa City board will be in charge.

Community District
The new district will be a community school district and become a part of the county education system. The Iowa City district was an independent district.

Total tax evaluation for the new district will be $25,376,306. The present district evaluation for Iowa City is $24,378,614. The East Lucas evaluation is expected to double when the new Procter and Gamble plant is added to the tax rolls.

70 Pupils
Approximately 70 grade school pupils will enter the Iowa City schools from the East Lucas area. Many East Lucas children, including all high school students, now attend the city schools with tuition paid by the East Lucas board. East Lucas is operating three of five schools in the area.

Existing East Lucas schools require extensive repairs, and Frank J. Snider, county superintendent of schools, said the present valuation of the district would not support repair or building projects.

Council Discusses 1956 Homecoming

Plans for the 1956 Homecoming were discussed Monday night in a general meeting of the Student Council Homecoming committee.

Prof. Edward Melnick of the SUI Mechanical Engineering Department is general chairman for all events.

Homecoming has been scheduled for the weekend of Nov. 3 when SUI will play Michigan University.

The next general meeting of the committee is planned for September. Sub-committees will report definite plans at that time.

The Weather

Fair and Warm

That semi-balmly weather which percolated Iowa Monday will continue today and Wednesday, the Weather Bureau says. However, nights will continue to be cool.

Highest temperatures in Iowa ranged in the 70's, in the southwest. The Weather Bureau predicts the mild weather to last for several days.

Today's low readings are expected to range from the 30's in the northeast to the 40's in the southwest. Highs will be in the 60's in the northwest and the 70's in the southwest.

Say Metal Not Pollock Plane

ERIE, Pa.—Civil Aeronautics Authority officials said Monday an eight-foot sliver of metal washed ashore near Lake Erie is not part of a Broadway Producer Gordon Pollock's missing plane.

Four boys found the silver piece of metal Sunday and authorities thought at that time it might be part of a light plane that has been missing since April 15 with Pollock, a former State University of Iowa student, and his wife aboard.

But CAA officials at Port Erie Airport said Monday a closer examination of the metal revealed it is not part of Pollock's plane.

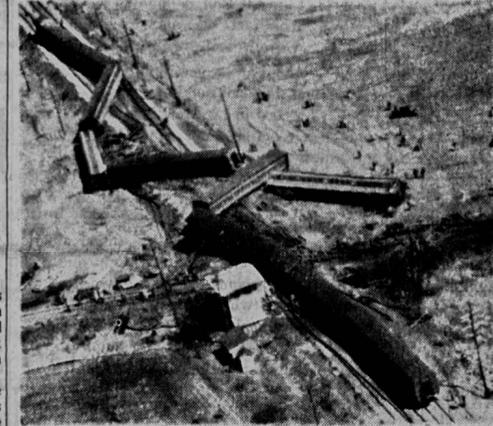

They said the metal bore the printed word "Target" and the numbers "135397" in red and the number "six" in yellow. The Pollock plane, they pointed out, was silver and green.

The officials also said that similar pieces of metal had been washed ashore before the Pollock plane disappeared. They theorized the metal was part of a target towed by American or Canadian military aircraft.

Pollock, producer of the show, "Wake Up, Darling," and his wife disappeared while on a flight from Detroit to New York City.

They were last heard from a few miles offshore here when they radioed "having difficulty."

Truck Derails Train with 900 Pupils Aboard

TEN CARS OF A 16-car Milwaukee Road excursion train left the tracks about eight miles west of Milwaukee Monday after colliding with a gravel truck. Seventy-five of 900 students aboard were injured.

100 Injured As 10 Cars Leave Track

WAUKESHA, Wis.—An excursion train carrying 900 school pupils to a baseball game in Milwaukee was derailed when hit by a loaded gravel truck Monday, injuring more than 100 persons, mostly children.

There was no loss of life as 10 coaches left the rails. None of those hospitalized was listed in critical condition Monday night.

The truck driver, Gordon Hinkley, 35, Wales, Wis., suffered fractures of both legs but was reported in "fair" condition.

94 to Hospital
Ninety-four persons were admitted to Waukesha Memorial Hospital, of whom 34 were detained and 60 were treated and released. Ten were taken to Milwaukee County General Hospital and treated for minor injuries.

Dozens of dazed but calm children were treated by doctors and nurses at the scene and at nearby Oconomowoc where a first aid station was set up.

Authorities said the gravel truck struck the first coach of the 16-car rail grade crossing.

Rails 10 Coaches
Ten crowded coaches plunged into a field. One flopped over on its side; another tore up 100 feet of track and finally careened off the right-of-way after biting off a huge chunk of brick and masonry from a powerhouse alongside the track. Two other cars swung diagonally across the main tracks.

A splintered pole knifed into the side of one of the disabled coaches where most of the serious casualties occurred.

Twisted bits of wreckage from the train and truck, coach wheels, bent rails and broken ties and telegraph poles littered the right of way for hundreds of feet. Glass from shattered windows was everywhere.

Estimates Speed
Waukesha County Sheriff Mike Lombardi estimated the speed of the train at 70 m.p.h. when it collided with the truck at the Duplainville crossing, about 23 miles west of Milwaukee. The crash occurred at 11:30 a.m. (CST).

The train, designated as a "baseball special" had started from Portage 90 minutes before the wreck. It was en route to Milwaukee where the children and their teachers had planned to attend the Milwaukee Braves-Brooklyn Dodgers game.

Engineer George Ives of Milwaukee said it appeared to him that the truck drove around five automobiles which had stopped at the Highway 164 crossing and attempted to race across the tracks.

Hawkeye Workers

An open house for SUI students who want to work on the 1957 Hawkeye will be held tonight between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the Hawkeye Office, room 210 of the Communications Center.

Cites 'Political Deal' In Young Demo Vote

A political deal between Linn and Polk counties permitted Linn County to cast the decisive votes which elected Shewin Markman, Des Moines, as president of the Iowa Young Democrats, Paul Carlsten, G. charged Monday night.

The SUI delegation supported the candidacy of Max Grassfield of Bettendorf at the club's state convention held Saturday in Des Moines.

Carlsten had charged on the floor of the convention that there were serious discrepancies in the membership lists submitted by the Linn County delegation. He asked that the credentials of the Linn delegation not be accepted.

"I recognized that three of the people on the Linn County list of club members were positively not members of their organization. There were still others about which I was dubious.

"Since I am not from Linn County and I knew of three discrepancies, it is a mathematical probability that there must have been more," Carlsten asserted.

"I brought this to the attention of the convention, and requested a recess so that I might prove the validity of my allegations to the chairman. The chairman refused.

"I then moved that the credentials of the Linn County delegation not be accepted by the convention. "On the vote on this, the chairman of the convention ruled over our objections that Linn could vote on whether it was to be seated," Carlsten explained.

"This was like permitting a defendant in a murder trial to sit on

Foreign Aid Funds Boost Requested

WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower administration urged Congress Monday to invest an additional $4.9 billion in foreign aid as insurance against "augmented dangers to the free world."

"Military assistance is still needed and defense efforts cannot be relaxed in any degree," John E. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"Although today Soviet tactics are placing greater emphasis on economic overtures to the less developed nations, there is no indication that the danger of military aggression is over.

"Communist military buildup in any parts of the world and Communist distribution of modern weapons provide augmented dangers to the free world."

The administration is asking for an increase in the fiscal year beginning July 1. Its new budget is $2,200,000,000 more than Congress voted last year. Hollister, who runs the foreign aid program, said about three billion dollars worth of the new money would be used for military assistance.

Under questioning by Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), Hollister said "there always is danger" of a renewal of fighting in Korea.

Without American help, he said, Korea cannot "maintain in the field the largest free world army in Asia, facing a strong enemy across a narrow demilitarized strip.

"The enemy may strike in new aggression at any time," Hollister testified.

Not Choosy Cat Has Her Kittens in Quadrangle Closet

Room A-32 in the Quadrangle Dormitory became a maternity ward of sorts Sunday when a strange cat meandered in, took her place in the closet and proceeded to give birth to five kittens.

Robert G. Simpson, A1, Ottumwa, who usually inhabits A-32, was not in the room when the cat made her entrance, and was rather shocked to find her and her first-born settled comfortably in his closet.

Simpson's friend, Gary Spurgeon, A1, Perry, arrived on the scene shortly after Simpson and offered his services. It was apparent, however, that the cat had everything under control.

"After No. 4 arrived, it looked like the ordeal was over," said Spurgeon. "We were going to name them the 'Four Freshmen,' but No. 5 came along and goofed up the works."

Dormitory regulations forced the mother to move out of the Quad Monday morning. All were reported in "good" condition.

Simpson and Spurgeon plan to keep in touch with her until she finds a home for her family.

Soth's Editorial, Kantor's Book Get Awards

Two Iowans Win Pulitzer Prizes

NEW YORK—Two Iowans Monday became winners of 1956 Pulitzer Prizes—one for a newspaper editorial and one for fiction writing.

Loren K. Soth, editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune editorial pages, was awarded a Pulitzer Prize for his editorial invitation that led a Russian farm delegation to visit Iowa.

MacKinlay Kantor, native of Webster City, received the prize for fiction with "Andersonville," a historical recital of the horrors of a Confederate prison camp of the Civil War.

Albert Hackett and Frances Goodrich, a husband and wife team, won the drama award for their stage hit, "The Diary of Anne Frank." The play is an adaptation of the diary of a 13-year-old Jewish girl who died in a Nazi concentration camp in World War II. It co-stars Joseph Schildkraut and Susan Strasberg.

The Watsonville, Calif., Register-Pajaronian, with a circulation of 7,800, was selected as winner of the Public Service Award in Journalism.

The Daily Iowan

The Daily Iowan is an independent daily newspaper, written and edited by students. It is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the university.

The Iowan editorial staff writes its editorials without censorship by administration or faculty. The Iowan's editorial policy, therefore, is not necessarily an expression of SUI administration policy or opinion.

The Iowan, in the terms of a policy statement adopted by trustees in 1946, "will try to act as a good citizen of the SUI community and the community of Iowa City. . . . The Daily Iowan conceives its owners to be the whole constituency of the University, past, present, and future. It will endeavor to hold the good of the University in trust for these owners. . . ."

Commendable Action

The SUI administration did the right thing in taking racial designations off its permanent academic records.

The questions on race had no more place on the records than would questions on the color of eyes and hair of a student. Many Negro students, in fact, had refused to fill them in during the past few years.

The racial question has been on the academic records at SUI since the 1920's.

Since then several Negro students had complained about it, but had never taken any effective action against it.

There were two complaints against the racial classifications.

1. They were anthropologically incorrect, as any teacher of anthropology will tell you.

2. They encouraged racial discrimination by those who used them, especially prospective employers.

There was no practical use for them. Racial classifications are put to use in SUI dormitory housing. Here SUI officials use the classifications in placing Negro students only in rooms with other Negroes.

Miss Barbara Crutchfield, a Negro law student from Boydston, Va., was annoyed by the racial classifications and decided to do something about them.

She had many avenues of approach to the problem. She could have written letters to The Daily Iowan and to other newspapers throughout the state and signed them herself.

She could have persuaded some campus group to introduce a resolution attacking the classifications.

She could have taken her protest to SUI administrators.

In each case the protest would have been one of an individual.

Instead she wrote a letter protesting racial classifications and circulated it among SUI's some 100 Negro students.

Of the 90-odd students the letter reached, only one refused to sign.

This was positive proof that racial classifications were obnoxious to Negro students. It was a much more effective talking point than the protest of one lone student.

The SUI administration decided to leave the racial classifications off any future SUI records. It went even further — further than Negro students on campus had thought it would go. It decided to take the classifications off the 120,000 records in the SUI Registrar's Office — a job that will take some time to complete. This makes the administration's action even more commendable.

Many persons on campus regarded Miss Crutchfield's protest as one of minor importance. What is the difference, they said, if a racial classification was made in a file stuck away in the Registrar's office. There were worse problems of racial discrimination in Iowa City than this, they argued.

The racial corner on the academic record was a source of possible discrimination. That was reason enough to have it removed. The fact that it was a minor problem was no reason for overlooking it.

Yes — there are worse problems of discrimination than this one in town.

SUI's record in race relations is a good one — a far better one than most Big Ten institutions can show. Officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) have said so repeatedly.

But, while open and brazen discrimination remains in certain Iowa City business establishments, contrary to the spirit of Iowa law, and while racial discrimination is practiced openly in university-approved housing, the SUI community cannot pretend that discrimination does not exist at SUI.

The Tables Are Turned

After political speculation which kept the whole nation on its heels, now is the time to sit back and evaluate objectively what are the consequences of President Eisenhower's veto of the controversial farm bill.

Seems as if the tables are turned and the bill has boomeranged into the Democrats' laps.

The Democrats figured they had put the President on a spot when they presented him with a bill that was an outright effort to buy the farm vote. Ike had two choices:

1. His probable loss of votes in the rural areas, if he vetoed the bill.

2. Giving the credit for putting short-lived prosperity in the farmers' pockets to the Democrats, if he signed it.

At present, however, it seems that the Democrats played their political game a little bit too smart. By vetoing the farm bill, the President showed courage and determination.

His arguments against the bill, and his stand on the issue, have placed him high in the minds and hearts of his countrymen, many of whom are farmers.

The Democrats, and the other Capitol Hill politicians who drew up the bill now are faced with a problem. They have to show the farmer how good a friend they really are. In the future they will have to show serious consideration to any project the President may suggest for solving the farm problem. They must pass an acceptable farm bill, since this would mean much more to the farmer than a lot of speeches blaming Ike for the farmers' plight.

It may be just wishful thinking to hope Congress will do much to help the President solve the farm problem. However, the Democrats' idea to make the farm problem a major campaign issue may prove to be a boomerang.

The House of Representatives last week voted down the President's request for authority to pay farmers up to $500 million in farm soil bank payments this year. For the Democrats this was straight party vote, denouncing the pay-in-advance proposal as an election-year "vote buying" gimmick.

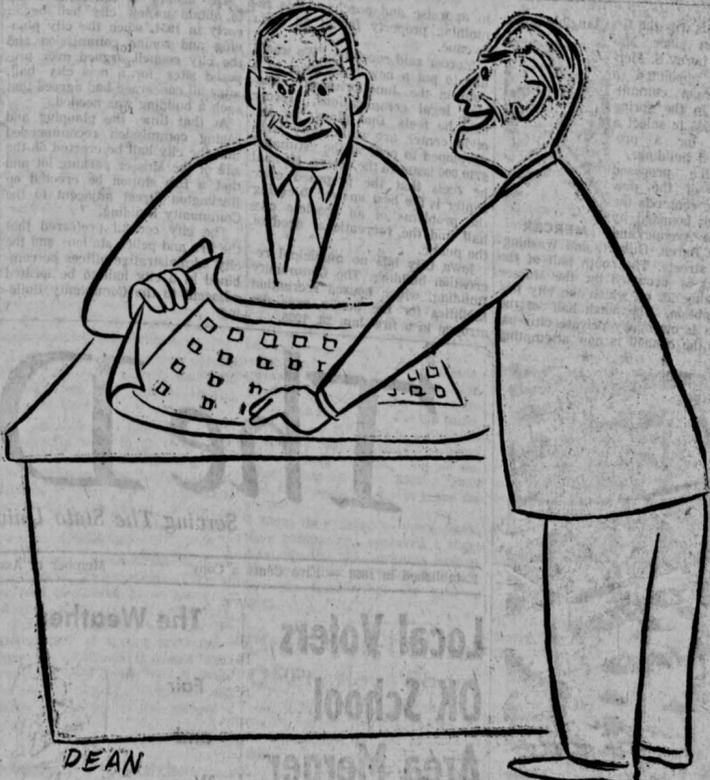

This was the first attempt by the President since the veto to do something about the farm question. It might have had some serious flaws in it, but more and more it looks to the average American like the Democratic party is attempting to stop all of Ike's efforts to find a solution to the problem.

This session of Congress is coming to an end, and it is highly doubtful whether any solution to the farm problem will be found. There is another year of headaches ahead for the farmer.

Galileo Trial Still a Mystery

Historians Believe Galileo Not Guilty of Heresy; New Evidence May Prove Them Right

By WAYNE AMMONS

Daily Iowan Staff Writer

An aura of mystery still surrounds the trial of Galileo, the astronomer, though it has been over 300 years since the decision was handed down.

It was in Rome, in 1633, that Galileo underwent inquisition, and was tried and convicted of heresy by the Catholic church.

Galileo was sentenced to life imprisonment, then to permanent house captivity where he died.

Guilt Doubtful

Historians today still doubt whether he was actually guilty, and new evidence recently discovered may prove them right.

Galileo's first conflict with the church came in 1610 when he began to use his newly-invented telescope to study the heavens.

THROUGH HIS telescope Galileo saw that the theories in astronomy written by Nicolaus Copernicus a half-century before were essentially correct.

Copernicus, and later Galileo, had questioned the astronomy of Ptolemy and the natural philosophy of Aristotle, who viewed the earth as standing still while the heavens revolved around it.

The Copernicus-Galileo theories might have prevailed at that time had not some disgruntled scholars and monks forced the issue.

These men often argued with Galileo about the merits of the two theories, and Galileo, being good at arguing, made many bitter enemies among the Aristotelian thinkers.

This spreading controversy between the two factions began to look like a potential scandal to Cardinal Roberto Bellarmin, then the church's chief theologian.

BELLARMIN, a member of the Holy Office, ordered a preliminary investigation of the entire affair in 1615.

For evidence of heresy the Holy Office needed copies of letters written by Galileo, in which he had interpreted passages from the Bible that referred to solar systems as proof of his theories.

The Holy Office worked with precision and strict adherence to the law, but could not obtain the evidence. The case was dropped.

After this first brush with the church, Galileo went to Rome to get the church opinion of the Copernicus-Galileo theory.

IT WAS at this meeting between Galileo and Cardinal Bellarmin that the Cardinal is supposed to have issued an edict forbidding the astronomer to teach his theories.

It was not until Galileo published his book, "Dialogue on Great World Systems," in 1632, that he again ran afoul of the church — and Pope Urban VIII.

The ironic twist in the story is that Pope Urban VIII had prompted the writing of this book which later was to be used against Galileo in the inquisition.

Before he started to write, Galileo checked with the Pontiff and had found that the Pope had only two reservations that he preferred to have followed.

1) The Copernicus-Galileo theory

Prof. Josef Jauch Speaks on Galileo must be treated as a hypothesis and not as a law, and

(2) that God was omnipotent and might create and govern the universe in any way he chose, and Galileo must not put forth any proposition that would necessitate God acting in any one fixed way.

GALILEO made an attempt to abide by the Pope's wishes but pulled a rather tactless stunt in doing so.

The book was written in the form of a dialogue between three people — Simplicio, the Aristotelian; Salviati, his opponent who resembled Galileo, and Sagredo, who acts as a neutral layman.

Galileo's mistake was that he presented the Pope's preferred views as those of Simplicio, the simplest-minded of the three characters.

The powerful Jesuit faction, which had early been bitterly opposed to Galileo, had little trouble convincing the Pope that he had been pictured as a fool. The Jesuits told the Pope that Galileo's views were "potentially more dangerous than those of Luther or Calvin."

Inquisition proceedings were again started by the Holy Office. This time the Holy Office needed proof that Galileo had transgressed against the church by writing and publishing his book.

THE OFFICE based its case on a previous meeting between Galileo and Cardinal Bellarmin at which the Cardinal supposedly had informed the astronomer that he should keep his views to himself.

Minutes of this meeting were discovered, but they did not look very legal. It was an unsigned document written on the back page of two other documents.

This record stated that Bellarmin had told Galileo that he must not "hold, defend, or teach his opinions in any way whatsoever."

Galileo denied at the trial that this was the edict issued by Bellarmin.

HOWEVER, he was tried on this evidence and convicted by a hesitant Cardinal jury by a 7-3 vote.

It may have been that Galileo's denial was correct for in records recently discovered the Bellarmin edict is different. The words "teach . . . in anyway whatsoever" are omitted.

What is the real truth then? No one seems to know for sure.

If the records used in the trial were authentic, then Galileo was justly tried and convicted.

Misarrange of Justice? If not — it could be one of those oft-recurring cases when evidence finally comes to light too late to save a convicted man — in this case, 300 years too late.

PERHAPS the minutes used in the trial were drawn up by one of Galileo's many groups of enemies, Aristotelian scholars, Jesuits.

Perhaps, too, this new document is a forgery that is being used by someone to extol the virtues of Galileo or to show the attitude of the church toward science in the 17th century.

Galileo, with his modern ideas in physics and astronomy, is typical of those people born before their time. In 1633 he was branded a heretic — today his theories are our laws.

Josef M. Jauch, an SUI theoretical physicist, is one who has been devoted to a study of Galileo and his crime. Jauch spoke on "The Crimes of Galileo" at the Hill House recently.

The renewed interest in this case has been inspired by Giorgio de Santallana's book, "The Crime of Galileo," published in 1955.

Exchange Plan

(Heights Daily News, New York University)

Doubts that prevail as to the consequences of the exchange idea can be overshadowed by two obvious yet very important arguments. First, allowing Russian students, who are incessantly duped by the relentless "party line," to view and familiarize themselves with American educational techniques and principles is one means of washing away a few of the many lies that have stuck to these representatives of the "People's Democracy."

What is even more striking is the fact that United States students will be able to see and study first hand an ideology which has ruthlessly subjugated almost half the earth's people. It is also possible . . . that a greater degree of understanding and respect could be engendered between university men of the two nations.

There has also been widespread belief that education is perhaps the best way to combat any form of totalitarianism. Few opportunities like that offered by this new proposal will arise that are characterized by such directness. It would be wise if the Moscow offer were accepted.

Peace Essential

(Princeton Bell)

Science in its progress has shrunk the world through speedy transportation and communication, but terrifying weapons have made it easy to destroy. Universal peace cannot be only a dream . . . it has become a necessity, and the ultimate goal to be achieved by the true unity of man. The alternative is devastation.

3 Factions Aid Strife In Algeria

By HARVEY HUDSON

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Three separate movements are contributing their bits to the 18-month-old nationalist rebellion in Algeria. All want independence, but differ on methods and look to no man as their over-all leader.

The division is a factor in the French argument that if France gave Algeria independence this North African land would go to pot while various elements battled among themselves.

"Bring me one man who can stop the terrorist activity in Algeria and I will negotiate with him," says Robert Lacoste, the French resident minister.

IN PRESENT circumstances, French officials say, there can be no thought of negotiations. They point out that France did negotiate the independence of Tunisia through Habib Bourguiba and the independence of Morocco through Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef — and in each case the man with whom they were negotiating brought an end to the shooting.

But the French government holds it will never recognize Algeria as an independent nation. It is not a protectorate as were Tunisia and French Morocco. It is regarded under French law as a part of France itself.

By almost all estimates, the National Liberation Front can claim a majority of support. It is directed from Cairo, with Mohammed Ben Bella as the military chieftain. Its strength is hard to estimate. French Premier Guy Mollet has charged that only 15,000 men are involved. Should these be eliminated, he says, calm would return.

HOWEVER, Liberation Front leaders claim — without divulging any figures on the number of guerrilla fighters in the field — that they have the support of 80 to 90 per cent of the population.

Competing with this front is the National Algerian Movement led by Messali Hadj, a bearded veteran of the independence fight now in exile on an island in the Atlantic off western France.

The strength of his backing is also hard to estimate — some sources say 5 per cent of the population, some say as high as 20 per cent. It is generally agreed that his main concentration of strength is in the capital city of Algiers and among Algerian workers in France.

The third element in the fight is made up of the Communists who apparently have started forming their own guerrilla bands. This has been a fairly recent development. The Communist party is outlawed in Algeria, but has an underground organization.

THE TRUE AND TYPICAL CASE OF CHATSWORTH OSCEOLA

The school year draws to an end, and everybody is wondering about the future—everybody, that is, except the engineers. Today there is not a single engineer on a single campus who has not received a dozen fabulous offers from a dozen corporations.

All this, of course, you know. But do you know just how fabulous these offers are? Do you have any idea how wildly the corporations are competing? Let me cite for you the true and typical case of Chatsworth Osceola, a true and typical senior.

Chatsworth, walking across the M.I.T. campus one day last week, was hailed by a man parked at the curb in a yellow convertible studded with precious gemstones. "Hello," said the man. "I am Darien T. Sigafoos of the Sigafoos Bearing and Bushing Company. Do you like this car?"

"Yeah, hey," said Chatsworth.
"It's yours," said Sigafoos.
"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.
"Do you like Philip Morris?" said Sigafoos.
"Of corris!" said Chatsworth.
"Here is a pack," said Sigafoos. "And a new pack will be delivered to you at six-hour intervals every day as long as you shall live."
"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.
"Does your wife like Philip Morris?" said Sigafoos.
"I'm not married," said Chatsworth.
"Do you want to be?" said Sigafoos.
"What American boy doesn't?" said Chatsworth.

Sigafoos pressed a button on the dashboard of the convertible, and the trunk opened up, and out came a nubile maiden with golden hair, flawless features, a perfect disposition, and the appendix already removed. "This is Laurel Geduldig," said Sigafoos. "Would you like to marry her?"

"Is her appendix out?" said Chatsworth.
"Yes," said Sigafoos.
"Okay," said Chatsworth.
"Congratulations," said Sigafoos. "And for the happy bride, a pack of Philip Morris every six hours for the rest of her life."
"Thanks, hey," said Laurel.
"Now then," said Sigafoos to Chatsworth, "let's get down to business. My company will start you at $45,000 a year. You will retire at full salary upon reaching the age of 28. When you start work, we will give you a three-story house made of bullion, complete with a French Provincial swimming pool. We will provide sitter service for all your children until they are safely through puberty. We will guarantee to keep your teeth in good repair; also the teeth of your wife and children unto the third generation. We will send your dentist a pack of Philip Morris every six hours as long as he shall live... Now, son, think carefully about this offer. Meanwhile, here is one thousand dollars in small, unmarked bills, which places you under no obligation whatsoever."
"It certainly seems like a fair offer," said Chatsworth. "But there is something you should know. I am not an engineer. In fact, I don't go to M.I.T. I am a poetry major at Harvard. I just came over here on a bird walk."
"Oh," said Sigafoos.
"I guess I don't get to keep this money and the convertible and Laurel now, do I?" said Chatsworth.
"Of course you do," said Sigafoos. "And if you'd like the job, my offer still stands."

The makers of Philip Morris, who sponsor this column, are delighted to know that times are so good for the engineers. To make times even better—for the engineers and everybody else—here's a gentle suggestion: Philip Morris, of corris!

Defeat Brooklyn—

Braves Keep First Place, 3-1

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves strengthened their shaky hold on first place in the National League Monday by turning back the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-1 behind the six-hit pitching of right-hander Bob Buhl.

The triumph was the seventh for the Braves against three defeats and put them 53 percentage points ahead of the idle Cincinnati Redlegs, who ironically stand half a game ahead of both Milwaukee and third-place St. Louis in the won-lost standings.

Buhl had the timely help of two doubleplays in chalking up his second pitching triumph against no hits. Catcher Del Crandall drove in both of the Braves' first two runs and outfielder Henry Aaron, hit a solo home run in the fifth inning.

Cards 6, Giants 3

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A weird five-run sixth inning in which the St. Louis Cardinals bunched three singles, two of them bunts, three walks, a hit batsman and a wild pitch, Monday night gave the Redbirds a 6-3 victory over the New York Giants.

In the Cardinals' big sixth, the bases were filled with none out on bunt singles by Rip Repulski and Bill Sarni sandwiched around a walk to Wally Moon. After Walker Cooper was announced as the pinch hitter for Bill Virdon, Hoyt Wilhelm relieved starter Windy McCall.

Then Joe Frazier batted for Cooper and walked on four pitches, forcing in one run. Solly Hemus, swinging for Lindy McDaniel, was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in the tying run.

Marv Grissom took over for Wilhelm and Don Blasingame grounded into a force play at home. Red Schoendienst then singled in the tie-breaker and with Stan Musial at bat, Grissom wild-pitched Hemus across the plate.

New York . . . 111 000 000-3 8-1 St. Louis . . . 100 005 008-6 7-1 McCall, Wilhelm, Grissom (6), Worthington (7) and Westrum; Flowers, McDaniel (6), Jones (7), McCollum (9) and Sarni, W—McDaniel, L—McCall. Home run: New York—White.

Moore Sets Sights On Heavyweight Title

LONDON (AP)—World light heavyweight champion Archie Moore said Monday he will give up his title if he whips Yolande Pompey here June 5 and concentrate on winning the vacant world heavyweight title.

Moore arrived by air to begin training for his title defense against Pompey, who hails from Trinidad.

Moore claimed he had beaten "all the leading heavyweights in America and I cannot see how anybody can dispute my claim" on the world title Rocky Marciano vacated last month when he retired.

Referring to his knockout by Marciano last autumn, Moore said: "I was rather Jackadassical. I liked fast cars and instead of going to bed early, I used to tear down the road at 100 miles per hour. Since that fight I have a different mental approach to the game and now I consider I am probably the best boxer in the world."

Brewer's 4-Hitter Beats Indians, 5-1

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's Tom Brewer baffled Cleveland on four hits while posting his third victory of the season as the Red Sox defeated the Indians 5-1 Monday.

The 24-year-old righthander gave up only two hits over the first eight innings but had to pitch his way out of trouble in the ninth when the Indians scored their lone run.

Brewer struck out nine and walked only three, two of them in the ninth inning. He retired the first 16 batters in order, seven on strikeouts, before Jim Hegan lined a single just over shortstop Don Buddin's glove.

Mixing up his fast ball with an assortment of curves, Brewer coasted along until the ninth. Then, two hits and a walk plus Al Smith's sacrifice fly scored Gene Woodling with the only Cleveland run.

The Red Sox, with rightfielder Jackie Jensen and third baseman Frank Malzone benched for weak hitting, pounded Cleveland starter Mike Garcia for 11 hits and four runs in the first five innings while Brewer was rolling along. Cleveland . . . 000 000 001-1 4-0 Boston . . . 100 129 108-5 14-2 Garcia, Houtteman (6), Daley (9) and Hegan; Brewer and White, L—Garcia. Home runs: Boston—Gernert, Zauchin.

Orioles 4, Indians 3

BALTIMORE (AP)—George Zuverink, the Orioles' bullpen ace, won a game on two pitches when Hal Smith singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth to propel Baltimore to a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers Monday night.

Zuverink replaced starter Bill Wight in the top of the ninth, after Detroit pinch hitter Frank House had singled home the tying run, with one away. The big sinkerballer, who used to pitch for Detroit, got the side retired by making Harvey Kuenn hit into a double play.

The victory boosted the Orioles

Needles Will Go After Triple Crown

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—For the first time in three years, a Kentucky Derby winner is going after racing's triple crown.

And Needles, says trainer Hugh Fontaine, should run better both in the Preakness and the Belmont than he did last Saturday.

The dark bay from Flor da came from next to last in the field of 17 derby hopefuls to outfinish them all in the stretch run.

Needles came out of the derby as fresh as a daisy, the trainer said.

2,000 Kept Away
The new champion's co-owners, Jack Dudley and Bonnie Heath, were out at Churchill Downs early Sunday helping keep more than 2,000 callers a safe distance from the stall.

Some visitors wanted to know if there was a feast for Needles after the big race. A lump of sugar, at least.

The winner got the regular fare—oat, bran, and hay.

Fontaine said the son of Ponder, 1949 derby winner, "put on weight while here. Guess he weighs 1,100 pounds. I know he wouldn't be a short horse."

Leaves Tuesday
Needles leaves Tuesday morning for Baltimore to seek the second link in the crown — the Preakness — on May 19.

If he makes it home first in that mile and three-sixteenths chase, he'll take aim four weeks later on the mile and a half Belmont Stakes.

Racing's triple crown was won last by Citation in 1948.

U.S. Defeats Canada in PGA Matches

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Tommy Bolt and Gene Littler were devastating Monday in leading the United States to a 5½-3½ victory over Canada in four-ball play opening the fifth annual international PGA team matches.

Bolt and Littler walked over Bill Lawhinney and Murray Tucker 6-5 with a best ball of 61 to post three points for the United States.

Lawhinney and Tucker won only two holes.

Doug Ford and Ted Knoll beat Bill Kerr and Stan Leonard of Canada 1 up and got 2½ points to 1½ points. Ford and Knoll had the best ball of 66, Kerr and Leonard 67.

Al Balding and Gordon Brydson of Canada were too much for Mike Souchak and Cary Middlecoff of the United States in the third match of the day and won the full three points. They beat Souchak and Middlecoff 5 and 4. The Canadians posted a best ball 64 compared to 88 for Souchak and Middlecoff.

Under the scoring system of the four-ball matches each team got one point for winning the first nine holes, one for the second, and another if they won the match.

Kerr and Leonard, and Ford and Knoll wound up all even for the first nine holes and got one-half point each. Balding and Brydson forced to a 2-up margin over Middlecoff and Souchak to give Canada a point in their match.

Baseball, Golf and Track Teams Win; Tennismen Lose

Bill Schoof's 10-hit shutout in the first game of a doubleheader Saturday enabled Iowa's Hawkeyes to gain an even split with league-leading Illinois at Champaign.

The Hawks were never pressed in their 9-0 victory, but the Illini bounced back with a seventh-inning rally to win the second game, 8-7.

Schoof's shutout was the second of the season by an Iowa pitcher.

The big righthander now has a 2-3 won-lost record.

Iowa's mark is now 8-11. The victory Saturday was the second in Big 10 play against three defeats.

The Hawkeyes scored two runs in the first, one in the third, five in the eighth and one in the ninth to trounce the Illini.

Iowa opened the second game with a six-run blast in the second inning to move into a 6-2 lead, but Illinois tallied one run in each of the second, third and fourth frames, then cut loose with three runs in the fifth to go ahead for good.

U.S. Charges Truman Aides Got Oil Funds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The government charged Monday that Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle, who held high positions in the Truman administration, received oil royalties for their help in an income tax evasion case.

Wyllis Newcomb, chief government prosecutor, leveled the charge in his opening statement at the conspiracy trial of the two men and Harry I. Schwimmer, a former Kansas City attorney. Newcomb said the oil royalties came from Schwimmer, an attorney for Irving Sachs, St. Louis shoe manufacturer who was fined $40,000 in 1951 for tax evasion.

The government prosecutor charged that Connelly, appointments secretary to former President Harry Truman, received a $3,600 royalty and Caudle one for $3,300. He said, however, that Caudle gave his royalty back "but only after a St. Louis grand jury had started an investigation to determine whether the Sachs case was fixed."

Earlier an all-rural jury of eight men and four women was selected to hear the trial of the three men, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government in the tax case.

Catch Sniper Who Killed One, Hurt 5

NEW YORK (AP)—An unemployed Romanian-born porter, hunted since a fusillade of shots killed one man and wounded five other persons outside a Romanian church, gave himself up Monday.

Todurchi Sava, 61, surrendered to Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan and later told reporters he had fired the shots, adding: "But I wanted to scare. I didn't want to hit."

The sniper's fire sprayed among worshippers at St. Dumitru's Romanian Orthodox church Saturday at midnight.

Pravda Attacks Moscow Radio

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda celebrated Soviet Day Monday by attacking the Moscow radio, voice of the Soviet Union. It said the radio is backward technically and frequently gives drab and monotonous programs.

"Many radio lectures are boring and depressing," Pravda said in its lead editorial. "Neither are TV programs interesting," it added.

ADDED ATTRACTION

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Writer Perry Covert submitted an idea for a magazine article, "I Survived Three Air Crashes."

The next day he flew to nearby Ensenada, Mexico, crashed, and lay in a coma for a week. Released from the hospital after 14 weeks, Covert wrote to the magazine again. This time his story title idea was: "I Survived Four Air Crashes."

Physicists Plan Four Kinds of Satellites

Four or more kinds of earth satellites are now being planned for the International Geophysical Year of 1957-58, Prof. James Van Allen, SUJ physics head, said Monday.

Two possibilities, he said, are 20-pound spheres, one rigid in construction with an instrument or two; the other, an inflatable orb without any apparatus aboard.

Another is a 10-pound cylinder 18 inches long and 6 inches across. A fourth, and minimum-weight satellite, he added, would be a cylinder 12 inches in length, 3 inches across, and weighing five pounds.

Van Allen said the problem of international cooperation, including the question of sovereignty of space above a nation, appears now to have been solved as Russia is now exchanging non-classified information about earth satellites with our scientists.

The Russians are also developing an earth satellite and may send up some "moons" of their own, Van Allen said.

U.S. Atomic Test Set for Wednesday

ABOARD USS MT. MCKINLEY, Bikini Atoll Tuesday (AP)—Officials of "Operation Redwing," the 1956 atomic tests, made a weather check today and decided to stick for the time being with the Thursday schedule (Wednesday, U.S. time) for "Shot Cherokee," the H-bomb blast.

However, a spokesman for the scientific control group said today's weather continued unfavorable and there were "still strong undesirable" winds at all altitudes. If the bomb had been fired today, as first scheduled, contamination from the radioactive fallout would have covered the Marshall Islands group. "This situation will continue for the next 48 hours," the spokesman said.

When the weather is favorable, one of the Air Force's intercontinental Stratofort B52 bombers will take off from Eniwetok airstrip carrying the device and will drop it on the target on Namu Island in the Bikini Atoll.

Algerian Nationalists Attack French Colonists

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Nationalist forces hurled their heaviest coordinated attacks on European colonist farmers Monday, killing a score and burning farm homes across a fertile strip of western Algeria.

The raids apparently caught massive French military forces in the region by surprise. They were staged in an area of some 200 square miles, ranging as close as 16 miles to the French Foreign Legion headquarters at Sidi Bel Abbes.

5 States To Hold Primaries Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five states—Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Florida and New Mexico—hold primaries today.

From a national standpoint, the Indiana results will bear the closest watching. The question there is how much the Republican vote will exceed the Democratic. Both sides say the Republicans will be on top.

Ohio will elect national convention delegates with 58 votes at the Democratic convention and 56 at the Republican. West Virginia also will pick its convention delegates, with 24 votes at the Democratic convention and 16 at the Republican.

Monday, Maryland voters chose their convention delegates, with 24 votes at the Republican convention and 18 at the Democratic.

Maryland states favoring President Eisenhower for Republican renomination and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for the Democratic nomination, at least on the first ballot, were opposed by groups not pledged to a candidate.

The big interest in Maryland is the race between former Sen. Millard Tydings and George P. Mahoney for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Sen. John Marshall Butler, who now holds the seat sought by Tydings and Mahoney, was opposed for Republican renomination by two political newcomers. Butler beat Tydings in 1950 after Tydings had served 24 years in the Senate.

Today's primaries in brief: INDIANA—President Eisenhower has little opposition in the Republican presidential preference voting. Kefauver has none on the Democratic side. Hence there will be a sort of popularity contest between them.

OHIO—Gov. Frank J. Lausche was assured of 49 of 58 delegate votes at the Democratic National Convention before voting even started today, because of lack of contests. Lausche is a favorite son candidate for president.

However, there are pro and anti-Lausche contests in five northern districts. Sen. John W. Bricker was unopposed in his favorite son bid for the 56 presidential nominating votes at the Republican convention.

WEST VIRGINIA—The delegate selecting in West Virginia is without any designation for presidential candidates. Also, there are no entries for presidential preference.

FLORIDA—The 6-man race for Democratic nomination for governor includes the incumbent, Leroy Collins, and a former governor, Fuller Warren.

his own jury," Carlsten maintained.

"There is no doubt that there was a deal," Carlsten said. The Daily Iowan checked on the people named by Carlsten at the convention as non-members of the Linn County delegation.

Marilyn Jacobs, A2, Bartlett, Ill., was one of those cited by Carlsten as "positively" not members of the Linn group.

Miss Jacobs agreed with Carlsten's statement. She explained that she had worked with the Linn organization, and was on their mailing list. She said that she had talked to a member of the Linn delegation, and he explained that his secretary had apparently made a mistake in making up the membership list.

Carlsten also maintained on the floor of the convention that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Krakora were not members of the Linn group. The Daily Iowan called and talked to Mrs. Krakora — she is Carlsten's sister — and she verified Carlsten's allegation.

Although defeated by a vote of 146 to 112, Carlsten stated that the SUI Democrats bore no ill will toward Markman, and would work with him to assist the Democrat cause in November.

tion by a comparatively unknown candidate.

Florida will have its presidential preference primary between Kefauver and Stevenson on May 29.

NEW MEXICO — Gov. John F. Simms, a supporter of Stevenson, is asking renomination in the Democratic primary. He is opposed by Ingran B. Pickett, an admirer of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

There is no presidential preference primary in New Mexico.

'Mush Mouth'

Two Iowa Congressmen Swap Sharp Words

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Iowa congressmen got into an unparliamentary quarrel over a parliamentary matter Monday. One told the other to "get the mush out of his mouth."

The debate was over a proposal to send an 18-man congressional delegation every year to the annual meeting of the Parliamentary Conference of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) sounded the only audible "No" as the House passed the bill by voice vote and sent it to the Senate. Gross said the measure would just okay a yearly "joy ride... a junket."

He got into a shouting match with Rep. Ben Jensen (R-Iowa), who supported the bill. At one point Gross questioned whether "the gentleman from Iowa's hearing is sufficient."

If the other "gentleman from Iowa" (Gross) "will get the mush out of his mouth," Jensen shot back, "maybe the rest of us could hear him."

Will Voters Change Their Minds?

building which would best suit the needs of Iowa City was rejected. Mercer said that the idea was rejected because such a large committee would not be effective.

The first definite action taken after this was the April decision of the council to appraise and purchase properties on Iowa Avenue and to take steps towards construction of a combination city hall-recreation center on the block partly taken up by the city-leased Musser parking lot.

The city's option on the Musser lot was renewed in September, 1955, for one year. Mercer at the time of renewal reported that Miss Dorothy Musser, 715 E. College St., will sell the lot for $66,000 if a municipal building will be erected on the property. It is reported that Miss Musser has received private offers up to $40,000 higher for her property but that she wishes to do something for the city and consequently has refused to sell.

The proposed exterior of the building was described as "clean cut and simple in design," and consisting of brick with a minimum of stone trim.

The specific space apportionment was listed as:

Community service and meeting rooms 21,500 sq. ft.
Fire Department 7,800 sq. ft.
Police Department 3,800 sq. ft.
Administration 6,300 sq. ft.
Lobby and council chambers 2,450 sq. ft.
Utilities 1,000 sq. ft.

The council in further action May 2 purchased the properties on Iowa Avenue and authorized a month-to-month rental of the houses on these tracts until the city takes possession in June.

In addition, the council authorized Roan to negotiate for the remaining six properties on the block. Next action will probably take place during the regular council session May 14.
