It Was HOT!

WHEW, WHAT A RELIEF TO BE OUT OF THERE—was a typical remark of many made Tuesday by SUI Laundry employes. Here, five employes leave the side entrance of the laundry, 20 N. Gilbert St., after spending 8 hours working in one of the hottest places in Iowa City. The temperature inside the laundry stayed more than 100 degrees during the day. From top to bottom: Mrs. Benie Rios, Mrs. Irene Hargrave, Mrs. Opal Westfall, Mrs. Ella Lenley, Mrs. Alice McDonald.

Possible End To Heat Wave Due Thursday

Iowa Citizens will continue to battle the hot, humid weather which has blanketed the area for the past few days, as there is no relief in sight until possibly Thursday.

Today's predicted high will be in the 90s again. The temperature Tuesday afternoon rose to 94 degrees with the relative humidity at 65 per cent.

Iowa's unseasonable heat wave is well into its second week and the weatherman sees no immediate relief. Today will be the ninth day in the past 12 in which the mercury has climbed to 90 or above. High relative humidity readings throughout the state, as well as in Iowa City, have added to the discomfort.

Tuesday was the hottest day of the year at many Iowa points. In Des Moines the mercury rose to 100 degrees at 3 p.m. to tie the all-time high mark for June 19 which was set in 1936.

Temperatures were around the 100 degree mark throughout western Iowa during the afternoon and humidity was extreme.

The extreme heat caused a band of heavy thunderstorms to develop rapidly between Omaha and Des Moines. These thunderstorms swelled to terrific heights and began dropping hail and heavy rain as they moved eastward. Tornado warnings were given in some northeastern counties.

The storms reached Iowa City about 5:15 p.m.

French Kill Two Rebels In Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—French authorities, holding 60 or 70 Algerian rebels under death sentences, finally executed two Tuesday. The two were beheaded on a guillotine in the courtyard of the Algiers civil prison.

The executions are expected to bring some violent reaction from the nationalist guerrillas still roving the countryside.

A lively reaction may develop also in France itself, where left-wing parties are traditionally against capital punishment. Many of the French leftists are inclined to consider the rebel acts, including killings and arson, as political rather than common crimes.

The guillotine's blade dropped on Zahana ben Mohammed, convicted by a military court of killing a forest guard near Oran late in 1954; and on Ferradj Abdelkader ben Moussa, a turncoat French army scout convicted of taking part in a rebel raid on a farm near Palestro March 7.

On the military front, French Foreign Legionnaires and helicopter-borne parachute troops battled a strong insurgent detachment for the second day in story gorges of the Nementcha Mountains 33 miles southwest of Tebessa near the Tunisian border.

'Influence' Charged in Nickel Plant Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic House investigators charged Tuesday that "political and private influence" marked the 1954 award of contracts for a 43-million-dollar government nickel plant project.

Republicans issued a "blanket rejection" of the allegations and accused the Democrats of "an amazing suppression of evidence."

The charges and countercharges were made in separate reports by Democratic and Republican members of the House Government Operations Committee. They split in stumping up a subcommittee's inquiry early this year into the expansion of the big federal nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba.

The eight-man subcommittee's three Republicans declared the Democrats had only "scanty evidence" for their charges. They called for further hearings.

The Democratic findings—17 in all—included alleged loss of 10 million tons of nickel output worth $64 million because of "unnecessary delay" in awarding the expansion contract.

"Political and private influence played an active role in the awarding of the construction sub-contract," the Democrats said.

The subcontract was split by the Frederick Snare Corp. and Merritt-Chapman & Scott. A Snare representative testified he felt his firm should have gotten the entire sub-contract.

The Democratic report spoke of "rather complex and intriguing negotiations" and named Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, and Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall as having been consulted—without saying what they recommended, if anything.

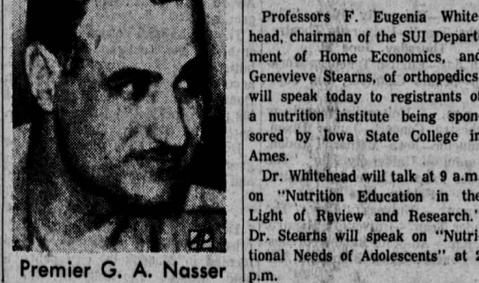

The Democrats also said perjured testimony may have been given on an insurance brokerage award for the project. Two-thirds of what they called a "lush brokerage" went to the Chicago firm of Balmer & Moore. The firm is headed by William J. Balmer and Edward F. Moore, Cook County GOP leaders and acknowledged friends of Edmond F. Mansure, recently resigned head of General Services Administration.

Mansure, Balmer and Moore denied under oath that Mansure had steered the award to his Chicago friends. The Democrats said the brokerage was awarded "on the basis of political favoritism."

Mansure's resignation was accepted by Eisenhower Feb. 6 while the House inquiry was still under way. Mansure said he was leaving because of "personal obligations"—not the investigation.

At another point, Nasser announced "We shall cooperate with anybody or any country ready to cooperate with us to build our country economically and in all fields."

This was obviously a reference to offers of aid made by Dmitri Shepilov, new Russian foreign minister who is visiting Cairo for the celebrations.

SUI Physicists Plan Three-Phase Study

SUI physicists and graduate students will center their interests on three subjects in the coming International Geophysical year. Prof. James Van Allen, head of the SUI Department of Physics, said Tuesday.

The three subjects are cosmic ray activity in the north and south polar regions, the effects of supposed electrical currents in the ionosphere on the earth's magnetism and the investigation of a theory concerning soft X-rays in the auroras. Van Allen told members of the Iowa City Kiwanis Club.

In pursuit of these things, SUI personnel will be scattered from Hudson Bay to the Antarctic, he said.

The International Geophysical year, from July 1, 1957, to December 31, 1958, is perhaps the greatest scientific quest in the history of the world, Van Allen said.

SUI's part in the study will start about October, 1957, when part of the SUI group will embark on an icebreaker for Antarctica for the firing of about 100 cosmic ray tracing rockets, he said. These experiments will represent the first attempts to get such data from the atmosphere above Antarctica, he explained.

SUI men also will gather information from the Arctic region on the aurora borealis in an attempt to prove a theory concerning X-ray radiations from the Northern Lights which could be having profound effects on radio communication in that region.

As a third phase in SUI's part in the international search for greater knowledge about the earth and its atmosphere, rockets bearing an improved instrument for measuring the earth's magnetic force will be launched, Van Allen said.

From these the physicists hope to substantiate a theory that electrical currents flowing in the atmosphere create an effect on the earth's magnetism, he explained.

He also spoke about the earth satellite program which is planned for the geophysical year. He said SUI is very interested in getting equipment aboard such a manned object if any are actually launched.

Listed as a major difficulty in connection with the satellites, which would circle the earth at about 200 miles, was getting data back to earth.

"It would have to be stored up during most of the orbit and then unloaded or 'fed out' at a certain point where a receiver station would be located," Van Allen said.

Coralville Approves Bid for Road Work

Coralville Town Council Tuesday night awarded contract for refinishing six miles of town streets to the Richards Construction Co., Washington, at a minimum cost of $6,450.

Included in the accepted bid, the only one submitted, was power brooming of all streets to remove dust and spreading of at least 24,000 gallons of road oil. The oil will be rolled into a base of sand and 950 tons of stone chips.

The bid quoted 15 cents a gallon for the road oil and $3 a ton for the road chips.

The council approved a building permit for a one-story office building to be built by J. W. Barrows on 10th Avenue just north of Highway 6. Estimated cost of the building is $10,000.

Sees Red Stoptlight, Not Pink Elephants

DETROIT (AP)—Henry A. Davis Jr., 67, on trial on a drunk driving charge testified Tuesday, "When I came to the intersection the light was red. I stopped and waited for the light to turn green. When it did I went ahead and that's when I was hit by another car."

Traffic Judge John Watts was impressed by Davis' story until a policeman testified there never had been a traffic light at the intersection.

Davis was given a 10-day jail term.

Ex-Governor Nominated for Barkley Term

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, the key figure in a divided Democratic party in Kentucky, was nominated by party leaders Tuesday to run for the unexpired U.S. Senate term of the late Alben W. Barkley.

The State Democratic Central Executive Committee chose the 48-year-old Wetherby without consideration for Gov. A. B. Chandler's appointment of Joseph J. Leary Monday to serve until the November election.

Four years remain in the Barkley term.

Strangely, the Chandler faction offered no nominee at the special committee meeting. The vote favoring Wetherby was 35-0, with three members abstaining in the rollcall vote and two others absent.

The political significance of the action was not obvious, but on the surface the party breach might be expected to continue or even widen.

Wetherby, associated with U.S. Sen. Earle C. Clements in the faction opposite Chandler, bitterly opposed Chandler's bid for the gubernatorial nomination last year and then declined to actively support Chandler after he won the nomination over Bert T. Combs.

Chandler said in Frankfort he would have nothing to say about the committee's action.

Democratic interest turns now to continuation of the big battle for control of party affairs in Kentucky. It will be waged the rest of this month at the courthouse level.

Kentucky's 120 counties will hold conventions June 30 to name delegates to the State Convention here July 3. The convention will name the state's delegation to the national convention, will name the national committeeman and committeewoman, and will elect the State Central Committee to serve the next four years. The state committee controls party affairs.

Wetherby, waiting outside the committee room when his selection was made, declared:

"I realize we have a tough fight in the November campaign, but I have never run from a fight," he told the members.

"I will go any place to solicit the votes of Democrats, Republicans and independents and assure the Democrats of a big majority. I am ready, willing and able to do battle with the Republicans."

Asked later if he expected to have Chandler's backing, Wetherby said he "would welcome" the support of "any Democrat."

"I will do my best to make it unified," he said.

Nixon Man If Ike Quits, Says Porter

By DERYL FLEMING

Vice-President Richard Nixon would definitely be the man for the Republican presidential candidate if President Dwight D. Eisenhower should withdraw from the race, Prof. Kirk Porter, head of the SUI Department of Political Science, told the SUI Young Republicans Tuesday.

Porter further stated that the Republican National Convention to be held in San Francisco this summer will be a dull affair if Eisenhower seeks the nomination. If he doesn't, the convention will be thrown into chaos, he said.

As to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's future position, Porter indicated that he would probably be retained in that job, unless pressure was brought to bear. In that case Benson might regrettably resign and Eisenhower would ceremoniously accept his resignation with sincere regret, he said.

"It has about faded away," was Porter's reply to a query on the farm program as a campaign issue. He said that the Democrats' failure to muster a majority vote in an attempt to override the president's veto practically ended all merit of it being a campaign issue.

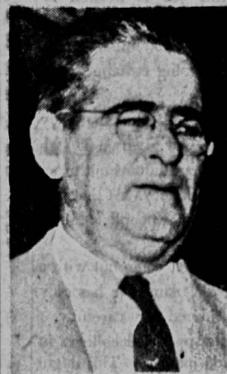

Commenting on the Armed Forces squabble as a possible issue Porter said, "Yes, if Symington comes in as a 'dark horse.' If so, it will be the hottest issue of the campaign for he has been in the Defense Department and has some very definite ideas on reorganization." He went on to say if the Democrats wanted something done, they have controlled Congress for the past two years and could have passed the necessary reorganization legislation.

Porter negated the possibility of the President's health as an issue, by saying that medical reports on Gov. Averell Harriman or Adlai Stevenson might prove embarrassing to the Democratic Party.

When asked if there were any Republican "dark horses" for the presidential nomination, Porter said, "Sen. William R. Knowland is biting his fingernails. He'd jump right in there."

Robert B. McLeaish Congress Probes Activities

Probe Claims Of Drinking, Girl Kissing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the Farmers Home Administration resigned Tuesday as Congress explored charges of free-wheeling whiskey drinking, girl-kissing and politicking among high echelons of the federal agency.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, announced that Robert B. McLeaish had turned in his resignation and that "it will be accepted." Hagerty said President Eisenhower hadn't asked for the resignation and that he didn't know whether Secretary of Agriculture Benson had done so. McLeaish conferred with Benson and was reported to have come away looking glum.

McLeaish had been described before a Senate committee as a man who drank heavily and who once polished off "nearly a fifth of whiskey" in two or three hours after a conference with Eisenhower on drought problems.

Mrs. Kathryn Carter, a curvaceous Bozeman, Mont., housewife and former employe of the Farmers Home Administration, said that at one gathering of its leaders, some of the agency's bosses imbibed generously and then wallowed "around the table kissing all the girls." Some of the husbands pulled their wives away, she said, but others with promotion on their minds "let their wives get fawned over."

The Senate committee probed Tuesday into cancellation of a Farmers Home Administration insurance contract which one witness testified resulted in higher rates and less coverage. It was testified that the contract was canceled after McLeaish vainly suggested that the company holding the contract employ a certain man, and had thrown out a hint that the concern employ agents who were "Republican friends."

Mrs. Carter said she saw both McLeaish and Carl O. Hansen, the agency's former director for Montana, become "highly inebriated" at a Montana dinner meeting in 1954. It was on that occasion, she said, that the kissing spree occurred.

Mrs. Nucker spoke after a UN visiting mission to Trust Territories had published their report to the council. It said that land claims of the islanders should be settled without further delay as "a matter of great urgency."

The four-man mission said that on its Feb. 14-March 15 visit to the islands, it learned that displacement of 167 Bikini and 137 Eniwetok people was "likely to be permanent." The former, evacuated in 1947, are on Ujelong Atoll.

The mission quoted Nucker as saying last spring that the former inhabitants of Bikini could not go back there "for many years to come, if ever," and that their land claims were "still under consideration." It said the Bikini people were unhappy with their new island, which was "hazardous to land upon by boat."

Tuesday Nucker announced "this type of land claim will now be pressed to as rapid a conclusion as possible."

Nucker, vague on the reason for the 10-year delay, explained only "we have settled the administrative problems involved in obtaining the necessary funds."

Dale E. Jones, 24, of St. Charles, Ill., said the Chinese Communists tried to force him to sign a petition for the Save Our Sons (SOS) Committee and Mrs. Florence Gowgiew of Argo, Ill.

Curtis Spencer, 27, of Summit, Ill., said the Chinese officers wanted him to write a letter to Mrs. Gowgiew and he finally did because "I wanted the Chinese to let me alone."

The two witnesses testified before the House Committee on Un-American Activities which is inquiring into Communist propaganda methods.

Mrs. Gowgiew, 41, who was on the witness stand most of the day, invoked the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination and refused to tell the committee, whether she was chairman of the SOS Committee and whether she knew anything about it.

She also refused to say whether she is now or ever was a member of the Communist party.

Documents introduced by the committee said the organizational meeting of the SOS Committee was held in Springfield, Ill., that its purpose was to try to build up pressure to stop the Korean War and that it wrote to POWs and their parents.

Jones testified his captors would mention the SOS Committee "every so often in lectures" and mentioned Mrs. Gowgiew by name.

Jones said the captors would tell POWs if they didn't sign peace petitions, "Why, we might disappear out of the camp as a lot of the boys did."

U.S. To Pay For A-Bomb Testing Sites

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—

The United States promised under pressure Tuesday to pay its 10-year-old real estate debt to the 304 Pacific islanders from Bikini and Eniwetok atolls, which it uses for atomic and hydrogen bomb tests.

Newsweek magazine, meanwhile, in its June 25 issue, reported the death of a Rongelap islander exposed to radioactive fallout from a 1954 H-bomb test. His death occurred May 13, it said, and was due to heart disease. The magazine said the body was not being tested for radioactivity. The report could not be confirmed immediately with authorities.

The U.S. promise-to-pay was made to the UN Trusteeship Council by Delmas H. Nucker of Terre Haute, Ind., acting high commissioner for the Strategic Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands. The council oversees the U.S. administration of the 2,141 widely scattered islands.

Nucker spoke after a UN visiting mission to Trust Territories had published their report to the council. It said that land claims of the islanders should be settled without further delay as "a matter of great urgency."

The four-man mission said that on its Feb. 14-March 15 visit to the islands, it learned that displacement of 167 Bikini and 137 Eniwetok people was "likely to be permanent." The former, evacuated in 1947, are on Ujelong Atoll.

It said the Bikini people were unhappy with their new island, which was "hazardous to land upon by boat."

Nucker, vague on the reason for the 10-year delay, explained only "we have settled the administrative problems involved in obtaining the necessary funds."

Prof. Emil Witschi, SUI Department of Zoology, is the author of "Development of Vertebrates," a 588-page text just published by the W. B. Saunders Co. of Philadelphia.

In addition to its presentation of basic concepts, the new book brings together the results of embryological and endocrinological research conducted and directed by Witschi during his 28 years as a member of the SUI staff.

Last summer he was granted $30,000 by the National Science Foundation for a three-year study of the hormone content of the pituitary glands of animals. In 1952 the American Cancer Society granted Witschi $5,000 to conduct research into the causes of abnormal development of vertebrates. Also in 1952 the National Research Institute gave $5,000 toward his studies in sex differentiation.

LAWRENCE W. WETHERBY, former governor of Kentucky, accepts the Democratic State Central Committee's nomination as the Democratic candidate for the unexpired term of the late Sen. Alben W. Barkley. Seated is committee chairman Robert Humphreys who conducted the meeting. Humphreys was Gov. A. B. Chandler's gubernatorial campaign co-chairman.

The Daily Iowan

The Daily Iowan is an independent daily newspaper, written and edited by students. It is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the university.

The Iowan editorial staff writes its editorials without censorship by administration or faculty. The Iowan's editorial policy, therefore, is not necessarily an expression of SUI administration policy or opinion.

Dollars for the 3 R's

The recommendation of the Iowa Tax Study Committee that students in state-supported institutions be required to pay $90 a year in addition to their tuition has fortunately not met with the approval of the state governor nor the Board of Regents.

The Committee suggested that this $90 is needed to finance long range capital improvements and that this money over a 40-year period would accumulate to the $52 million needed for a building program to meet the coming enrollment increases.

The State Board of Regents last week indicated that they would probably oppose such a plan and Gov. Leo A. Hoegh said: "We should be very careful not to price students out of an education. Ninety dollars a year is a lot of money. At that rate education would become out of reach for a lot of people."

SUI president Virgil M. Hancher has not come out with a direct statement in favor of or against the plan. He has only said that such a proposal should be considered very carefully.

The students at SUI and other state-supported colleges in Iowa recently faced a rather steep tuition increase. This might make a present day high school graduate consider more carefully before he decides on a college education. Another increase in tuition may make it hard or in some cases impossible for some capable students to attend college, and might make those now enrolled question whether or not education is worth continuing at such a price.

Numerous students attending school now have to work to provide money for their tuition and other expenses; some have a hard time to make ends meet. Another raise in tuition may make it impossible for them to complete their education.

Another thing to consider is that the students will be paying for benefits they cannot reap. The buildings won't grace our campuses while those who pay for them are attending school. The students attending SUI now will be paying for the welfare of the students who will come to college long after the present group has left it.

To pay now for something which would happen 40 years in the future may be difficult for a student to understand.

Such a high increase in tuition here at SUI would make the this university's tuition comparable to the out-of-state tuitions in other Big Ten schools. Iowa boys and girls might consider carefully whether to go to school in their native state or attend a neighboring university.

In many cases they might decide for the latter. There must be other ways to obtain the much needed classroom space and buildings on our campuses. Saturday classes or educational tax for building needs could be possible answers to the space shortage.

Solution to this problem must be found, but to increase the cost of already expensive education is not the answer.

Rose in His Lapel

From The Nation

Ever since some constituents in Oregon presented him with a bouquet of roses for his twenty-two hour filibuster against the tidelands-oil bill, Senator Morse has made a practice of putting a rose in his lapel when he means business about the subject under debate. Last week the rose was in his lapel.

To the astonishment of his colleagues, he delivered a scorching attack on two provisions of the proposed narcotic act: one authorizing wiretaps and the other permitting the imposition of the death penalty on those convicted of selling heroin to juveniles or persons convicted three times for smuggling heroin.

The two provisions were merely the more offensive portions of a generally idiotic bill. It is characteristic of this sleepwalking Congress that the bill was scheduled to pass the Senate without debate and would have done so but for Senator Morse's timely intervention. The wiretapping provision has now been eliminated and the death-penalty section will probably be killed in conference.

Both provisions reflect a striking tendency on the part of legislators nowadays: to invoke strong remedies for social problems on the assumption that if Congress "cracks down" hard enough it can solve any problem. Saved by the grace of Morse from making fools of themselves, the sponsors of this bill should take advantage of the interlude to reconsider the entire measure.

Books in the Balance

New Book Shelf Offers Novel by Mauriac; Government Exposé' by Kent Cooper

By TOM HUTCHINSON
Daily Iowan Staff Writer
(The Right to Know, By Kent Cooper)

To defend the Hearst newspapers, the Scripps-Howard chain and the Chicago Tribune against charges of slanting the news is a large order, but none too large for Kent Cooper, for 25 years general manager of the Associated Press. He finds possible, not only this defense, but in fact an assertion of the impeccability of all newspapers (and press services).

Not only does Mr. Cooper defend the control of editorials and news by the business office (it keeps the paper in touch with the people) and the catering to the tastes of the reader ("the newspapers are not the masters of the people"), but attacks viciously such responsible critics as Robert Hutchins and his "Commission on the Freedom of the Press."

AND HE STILL professes belief in the disjunction of news "facts" and editorial "opinion," long after he should have realized that no story is presented in its entirety (the Kelly-Ranier wedding was not news!). Selection of the details to be presented is enormously influenced by a man's sense of values (his opinions, if you will).

"At last, in the free press countries, the long road from savage darkness to freedom and civilized enlightenment has been traveled," is claiming a bit too much for freedom of the press or, as Mr. Cooper would prefer, the "Right to Know," a phrase he coined. This statement is typical of the generalized history of journalism he presents, which history suffers especially from an attempt to prove the necessity of the "Right to Know" by use of the argument from authority.

THE MAIN THEME of the book is an attempt to make us aware of the dangers of a government utilizing news as propaganda or suppressing it altogether. Our awareness of these dangers is imperative; it is not cultivated by a distorted presentation of the "facts."

In his foreword, Mr. Cooper says "... it was governmental propaganda that brought upon you and all mankind the most dreadful wars in the whole of history." He cites in evidence President Wilson's release—exclusively through the Associated Press—of the note from Germany's foreign minister enlisting the help of Mexico and Japan if the United States deserted her neutrality; and again, he says, when Hitler induced Japan to make threatening gestures toward the U.S., Roosevelt was able to goad them into attack by propaganda.

JUST AS HE confuses the power and the achievements of the press, so also does Mr. Cooper go overboard in criticism of its "misuse" by the government. Though practicing it himself in this book, and defining "preaching the Gospel" as an instance of it, he seems to regard propaganda as intrinsically evil. Similarly Cooper blasts the delay or even lack of government publication of diplomatic blunders, contradictory policies, Communist infiltration, etc., with no apparent recognition of the possible legitimacy of such suppression.

Kent Cooper had a powerful case to present; he unfortunately has oversimplified himself out of court.

President Wilson
Used Government Propaganda
(The Lamb, By Francois Mauriac)

The critics greeted the Nobel Prize Winner's most newly translated book with either of two reactions: the novel is mechanically written, the characters unreal, the denouement unbelievable; or, it is a great book, an almost metaphorical grasp at poetic truth.

My reaction to the book was predominantly one of perplexity. The artificiality is there; the introspective dwelling on his attraction to human derelicts by the protagonist, Xavier, seems contrived, a mere copybook reproduction of what the feelings of a humble saint must be.

Again, the agonized plod of Xavier to rescue the waif, Ronald, from the despair of enforced solitude is probably meant to be most symbolic. It emerges merely as a rather distracting episode.

such as love, human and divine; evil; mediocrity; etc. And on the whole, confusing.

Mr. Glow Wagon

(From the Commonwealth)

Campaigning in California and Florida, Estes Kefauver spoke from his neon-lighted Glow Wagon to the strains of his campaign song, "Robin Hood." In these states he launched a slashing personal attack against Adlai Stevenson, and justified it by saying that such an attack was intended to "shock" the voters out of their apathy.

The results in California and Florida indicate that the apathetic voters were not particularly shocked by Mr. Kefauver's tactics, but that other important people were. Members of the regular Democratic organization disliked being constantly referred to as "bosses" by the Senator. Those anxious to cement party loyalty were dismayed by his charges that "a vote for Stevenson is a vote for Eastland, Talmadge, Ellender and the other white supremacy boys." Liberals inclined to look with favor upon Mr. Kefauver were disenchanted by his continued use against Mr. Stevenson of charges which had already been disproved. The Senator's shock tactics have injured the Democratic party, but above all, they have injured his chances for getting the Presidential nomination.

Peace Officer Course To Open Here Monday

An intensive study of arson investigation will be one of the featured classes during the week-long Peace Officers Short Course that opens Monday at SUI.

For the first time in its 20-year history, the short course has sent invitations to city firemen, as well as policemen, to attend the course, Prof. Richard L. Holcomb of the SUI Institute of Public Affairs said today.

Says Drugs 'Some Help' For Arthritis

"Miracle drugs" being used in the treatment of arthritis have been of "some help," but not to the extent for which doctors have hoped, a SUI physician said Tuesday.

Dr. W. D. Paul, professor of medicine in SUI's College of Medicine, told 50 members of the American College of Physicians (ACP) that one of the best things the drugs have done is to stimulate interest in study of the disease.

The ACP is conducting a post-graduate course in internal medicine at SUI for doctors from all parts of the nation.

Dr. Paul said that in many cases, there should be no "waiting" for the perfect arthritis drug to appear. There are a number of ways in which many victims of the disease are being helped today, he told the group.

The medical educator cited a surgical procedure which has helped some patients with a certain kind of arthritis of the hip. In this operation, a metal cup which serves as a new joint is inserted into the patient's hip, usually permitting freer movement of the hip with less pain.

Several hundred operations of this type have been performed at the University Medical Center, Dr. Paul said. He also pointed to the surgery in which a person's fingers are straightened after being deformed by the disease.

Dr. Paul said physical therapy is playing an increasingly important role in the treatment of arthritis, and that the general care of the patient, including a proper diet, is an important factor.

The speaker pointed out that the so-called miracle drugs and advances in surgery have eliminated many of the early deaths once caused by other diseases. As a result, he said, in an aging population, arthritis has become one of the leading causes of concern among medical scientists.

The incidence of arthritis among rural populations is higher than among urban groups. Cause of the disease is unknown.

Former SUI Student Wins Lybrand Prize

Eugene R. Donat, head of electronic data processing methods with Collins Radio Company, Cedar Rapids, has won the Lybrand Award Gold Medal. He is an SUI graduate.

The Gold Medal honors the author of the most outstanding contribution to the literature of industrial accounting during the past year. Donat was awarded the medal for his paper entitled "A Progress Report of Our Computer Installation." Donat received his master's degree and Ph.D. from SUI in labor and industrial management.

FIND MISSING GIRL

Road Paving Hearings Set For July 9

Iowa Citizens will hear proposals for paving of parts of five streets at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. July 9.

Paving projects include Bradley Street between Muscatine Avenue and 7th Avenue Court; Michael Street, 272 feet north from West Benton Street; DeForest Avenue near Mark Twain School; Valley Avenue between Newton Road and Highway 6; and Maple Street east from Oakland Avenue.

The resolutions, prepared by City Council Monday, provide for paving 25 feet wide and six inches thick on all streets involved except Maple Street. The paving of Maple Street would be 20 feet wide.

Fourteen property owners on the north side of Maple Street filed a petition with the council protesting assessment for the Maple Street paving. The petitions stated the paving is for the benefit of property owners on the south side of Maple Street. Ralph H. Wildman, local contractor, has proposed a subdivision of land along the south side of the street.

Mayor Leroy Mercer told the council that subdivisions are required to pave streets in new developments, but in the past only new streets have been involved. The owners then paved the streets and dedicated them to the city.

The council will study the matter before the July 9 hearing, Mayor Mercer said.

Two Day Conference On Speech Problems Will Begin June 22

Clinical Problems in Speech Pathology and Audiology will be the subject of a two-day conference Friday and Saturday at SU.

Visiting speakers in Old Capital will include two past presidents of the American Speech and Hearing Association and a past president of the American Psychological Association. The public is cordially invited to all sessions.

O. Hobart Mohrer, research professor of psychology at the University of Illinois and 1934 president of the American Psychological Association, will speak on "Success and Failure in Language Learning" at the opening session at 9 a.m.

Martin F. Palmer, director of the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kans. and ASHA president in 1948, will offer "Teaching Language to Brain-Injured Children" Friday at 10 a.m.

Mack D. Steer, director of the speech and hearing clinic at Purdue University and ASHA president in 1951, will speak twice, on "Our Profession: Past, Present and Future" and on "Clinical Aspects of Voice and Articulation."

"A Positive Program for Persons Reputed to be Stutterers" will be presented by Dean E. Williams, SU alumnus now with Indiana University's remedial speech and hearing clinic. Leonard D. Goodstein, senior clinical counselor in the SU counseling service, will discuss "The Adjustment of Speech Handicapped Individuals and their Parents."

Dear Deer

W. F. BATES, a factory superintendent, rides close herd on a 90-pound female deer he captured in an alley near Union Station in downtown Denver Tuesday. The deer had been seen around the lower downtown area since Friday. State game officials trucked it into the mountains and turned it loose.

National Guard To Aid State Highway Patrol

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. Leo Hoegh said Tuesday he will call 70 Iowa National Guards and 35 radio-controlled jeeps into active duty to patrol the state's highways daily between June 30 and July 8.

The guards, riding two in a jeep, also will go on duty on the weekends of July 14-15, July 21-22, July 28-29, and Aug. 4-5. The guards will work on Saturdays and Sundays from 4 p.m. until 4 a.m.

The governor said he will call the guards out for daily duty because traffic fatalities are mounting and July is expected to be an extremely heavy traffic month. Further, Hoegh authorized the use of three guard transmitters in areas where police radio reception now is weak. These transmitters will be used until other state equipment, now on order, is put into use.

The guardsmen are being called out under an "aid to civil authority" power invested in the governor. It will give the guards enforcement authority equivalent to that of a patrolman.

The request for use of guardsmen was made to the governor by State Safety Commissioner Clinton Moyer, because, Moyer said, "the present manpower of the patrol is not adequate to stem the present traffic death rate."

Included in the contract to be let is 20,000 cubic yards of grading to finish the earthwork already in place, construction of a continuous "I" beam bridge with a poured concrete deck and installation of 13,200 lineal feet of guard rails.

Bridge Construction Bids To Be Received

Bids will be received today by the engineers district office at Rock Island, Ill., on final earthwork and bridge construction on county road R, northwest of Solon.

The work is in connection with the Coralville reservoir project and will raise the roadway to a level above the flood plain of the reservoir.

Both the House and Senate authorization bills would terminate military aid to Yugoslavia unless the President determines there has been no change in that country's basic policies.

Dulles Favors Ike's Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a strong bid for support of President Eisenhower's $4.9 billion foreign aid program, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told the Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday the Soviet "new look" did not diminish but actually increased the need for such aid.

While there are "encouraging signs" within the Soviet bloc, Dulles said, "we should stick to the policies which have brought us this far."

"To relax our efforts would lead our allies to relax their efforts and weaken the entire structure of the free world alliances at a time when resoluteness offers bright prospects of achieving solid results."

Dulles' testimony opened four days of Appropriations Committee hearings. It came after the Foreign Relations Committee Monday reported out a $4,502,000,000 foreign aid authorization measure. This was $708,000,000 more than the House approved for military and economic assistance, but still about $400 million below the President's request.

Discussing at some length Yugoslavia's apparent renewed friendship with Russia, Dulles said it would be wise to continue aid to Marshal Tito's government "so long as it seeks to maintain genuine independence."

Both the House and Senate authorization bills would terminate military aid to Yugoslavia unless the President determines there has been no change in that country's basic policies.

Methodists Enter into Doctor-Hospital Debate

MASON CITY (AP)—The North Iowa Methodist Conference Tuesday aligned itself on the side of the hospitals in their dispute with doctors over the method of operating hospital X-ray and laboratory departments.

A resolution adopted by the group declared: "The members of this conference join the supporters of other church and community sponsored hospitals in urging legislative action which will enable hospitals to continue to operate their laboratory and X-ray departments."

The resolution was approved without debate although the vote on the issue was not unanimous. There was a scattering of "no" votes.

Before the issue came to a vote, James L. Dack, administrator of the Methodist hospital in Sioux City, spoke in favor of the resolution.

He said the method of operation favored by the doctors would mean that "a hospital would be operated as a hotel, with the leasing of concessions similar to the hotels' leasing of cigar and news stands."

The resolution referred to the issues in the hospital-doctor trial in Des Moines, which now is awaiting a decision by the State Supreme Court.

The doctors, relying on a state attorney general's opinion, contend that hospitals which hire such medical specialists as pathologists and anesthesiologists to carry on laboratory work and perform special functions, in effect are practicing medicine without a license.

Cards, Reds in Virtual Tie As Dickson Blanks Dodgers, 2-0

BROOKLYN (AP)—Murry Dickson, oldest starting pitcher in the majors, hung the season's first shut-out on the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals won their first game of the season at Ebbets Field 6-0.

Dickson, who will be 40 next August, handcuffed the Dodgers with three singles, all of them hit by PeeWee Reese.

St. Louis jammed over four quick runs in the first inning on two-run homers by Stan Musial and Bobby Morgan, and it was more than enough for Dickson.

Musial and Alvin Dark paced St. Louis' nine-hit attack against four Dodger hurlers, each collecting three hits. Musial drove in three runs with a home run and two singles while Dark rapped three singles.

Yanks Top Tigers, 5-3, Behind Byrne

DETROIT (AP)—Tommy Byrne pitched five-hit relief ball and hit a home run Tuesday to lead the New York Yankees to a 5-3 comeback decision over the Detroit Tigers. It was the league-leading Yankees' sixth straight victory.

Byrne held the Tigers hitless in all except the sixth and ninth innings after relieving starter Bob Grim with two out in the third. Grim complained of a severe headache.

Byrne needed help from Tom Sturdivant in the ninth, when, with two out, Detroit put runners on first and third on singles by Frank Bolling and Wayne Belardi. Al Kaline worked Sturdivant to a full count, then struck out.

Andy Carey delivered a tie-breaking single in the eighth and Byrne smashed his home run to lead off the ninth.

Detroit jumped off to a two-run lead in the second off Grim. Back-to-back singles by Charley Maxwell and Ray Boone and a walk to Bill Tuttle loaded the bases. Jim Bredeweser brought across two runs with a ground single that bounded over the pitcher's head and into short center field.

Hogan, Snead Swap Barbs; Off to Britain

NEW YORK (AP)—Ben Hogan and Sam Snead kidded each other like schoolboys Tuesday before departing by air for the international golf matches in England, starting Sunday.

The two war-horses of the links, who have dominated the American golf picture for the last decade, will meet two-man teams from 28 other nations in the annual Canada Cup and International Trophy competition from June 24-26.

"We're not exactly on our stick," Hogan told a small farewell luncheon party. "But we hope to make a good showing."

"You mean I'm going to have to carry you, don't you," interrupted Snead from a ringside table.

Hogan merely gave him a withering look, a slight wink and then continued: "I can promise you one thing, Sam Snead will play the best golf he's ever played. I'll see to that."

He's never been hand-ridden as he'll be hand-ridden over there."

Hogan appeared fully rested from his gruelling bid for his fifth National Open championship last weekend in Rochester, N.Y. — a bid which fell one 30-inch putt short of tying the winner, Cary Middlecoff.

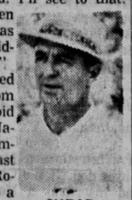

Hogan won the British Open at Carnoustie in 1953 and Snead captured the British Open at St. Andrews in 1946. Both are popular with British golf followers.

The tournament is sponsored by John Jay Hopkins, who created the Canada Cup team matches three years ago and the individual international prize last year. The team championship will be determined on an aggregate two-man score for the 72 holes. The low individual for the same route wins the International Trophy.

The United States won both last year when Ed Furgol and Chick Harbert teamed to take the Canada Cup and Furgol won the individual competition in a playoff.

Sports Trail—Hogan's Dramatic Try Won't Be Forgotten

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—There was something dramatic about the picture. Dramatic, and tingling, and at the same time a little poignant. The little guy seemed so all alone.

There were thousands lining the fairways, and the greens, and scores of reporters and officials trailed along in his wake, but somehow you were aware only of Ben Hogan trudging along, and watching his limping progress, you were actually aware that here was a man stoically fighting off weariness and physical distress.

Television, through foresight and fortune, was doing a splendid job of catching the dramatic closing moments of the National Open at Rochester.

You had watched Cary Middlecoff come in with his 281, but Middlecoff is a puppet on a string, jiggling around, wearing his nerves on the outside for all to see.

You weren't conscious of his weariness, and his continual activity dispelled any tension.

But when the cameras picked up Hogan's grim, purposeful figure, and you knew what he had to do to tie, or win, you immediately were aware that here was a man of dogged determination who, by Spartan training, was

Rule Leads in JayCee Golf

WATERLOO (AP)—Jack Rule, of Waterloo fired a 6-under par 66 Tuesday afternoon to top the field in the State Junior Chamber of Commerce Junior Golf Tournament.

Young Rule, with a 3-under par 69 in the qualifying round, fired a 2-under 70 over the Byrnes Park course Tuesday morning to post a 36-hole total of 205-11 strokes under regulation figures. He collected seven birdies and one bogey on the final 18 holes.

Rule and the next three ranking scorers—Ed Schumann, Davenport; Jack Norman, Spirit Lake, and Frank James, Grinnell—qualified for play in the National Jay-Cee Junior Golf Tournament at Fargo, N.D., Aug. 20-25.

The young Waterloo shotmaker will be making his fourth appearance in the national JayCee meet. He finished second in last year's tournament played at Atlanta, Ga., Schumann qualified for the national meet with a 72-72-71-215. Norman carded a 72-73-71-216 and James shot a 73-72-218.

He still had that outside chance on the 18th, and when, after long study, he stroked the ball toward the cup you knew it was for all or nothing.

It was a grand try for the Texan, and although two other men were on the course with a chance to win or tie, the climax was reached and passed with that final putt.

When everything else is forgotten, it will be the picture of Hogan, in one fateful lapse, missing that 30-inch putt that will linger with the untold thousands who watched the dramatic show.

3 Top Illinois Cagers To Enroll at SU

One of the most sought after high school basketball players in the nation will enroll next fall at SU.

He's six-foot, seven-inch Nolden Gentry, an all-American high school selection, who twice led West Rockford to the Illinois state championship.

Also announcing their intentions to enroll with Gentry in the fall are his West Rockford teammates Donald Slaughter and Bob Washington.

Gentry, a great rebounder and fine floor man, scored 1,081 points in a three-year career which twice saw him named as an all-state forward.

Gentry said Tuesday, "I have had offers from 50 schools but only seriously considered five, all in the Big Ten." The schools in the order of his preference were Iowa, Indiana, Northwestern, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

An honor student, Gentry is retiring president of the West Rockford national honor society chapter. He plans to enroll in pre-law at SU and will take his law course here, too.

In making his decision, Gentry said, "I'm finally picking Iowa. In the first place, I can get a good education there and I like the campus and the town is small enough to be conducive to good study. I'm also very fond of Bucky O'Connor."

Slaughter, 6-3, was a choice at forward on the 1956 all-state tournament team. He plans to study engineering at SU and said, "I like the school, I've always liked it. They've got a good engineering school. I've known Carl Cain very well for a long time and I like Bucky O'Connor."

Washington, a 5-9 guard and also a fine baseball pitcher, said, "Iowa appealed to me. I like the school, Iowa City and Bucky."

Basketball coach Bucky O'Connor said, "Naturally, I'm very happy that the three chose to come to school at Iowa. We know they played on a fine team and we hope they can continue to help us have good teams. I am especially pleased, because, in addition to being fine basketball players, they are fine students and wonderful young men."

Two Iowa all-state basketball stars, Earl Nau of Mt. Pleasant and Larry Swift of Keokuk, have also announced their intentions to enroll at SU.

Phils 4, Redlegs 2

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Shaking loose from seven innings of neat hand-cuffing by Cincinnati's Johnny Klippstein, the Philadelphia Phillies unleashed four runs in the eighth inning, including a two-run homer by Del Ennis, to whip the league-leading Redlegs 4-2 Tuesday night.

The last-place Phillies, held scoreless with three hits for seven innings and trailing 2-0, lowered the boom all of a sudden. Richie Ashburn walked and went to third on Marv Blaylock's single. Stan Lopata tripled in two runs and ambled over on Ennis' record blast.

Braves 5, Pirates 3

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Billy Bruton and Hank Aaron each drove in two runs Tuesday night as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 for their fourth straight victory and moved into third place.

Lew Burdette held the Pirates to seven hits over the first eight innings but weakened in the ninth, giving up one run on three hits. Danny Kravitz and pinch hitter Dick Hall singled and Gene Freese followed with a double. Lou Sleater came on for the Braves and struck out Bill Virdon to end the inning.

Burdette was credited with his sixth victory against three losses.

Bob Friend, who pitched with only two days' rest in an effort to halt the Pirates losing streak, lasted seven innings, giving up four runs on five hits.

Giants 2, Cubs 0

NEW YORK (AP)—With pitcher Reuben Gomez playing right field for defensive purposes in the last two innings, lefthander Johnny Antonelli shut out the Chicago Cubs 2-0 Tuesday night and pitched the New York Giants to within one game of the sixth place Cubs.

Antonelli stopped the Cubs on five hits. The only extra base hit was Walt Moryn's triple in the second, but he was stranded when Pete Whisenant grounded out.

The Giants, playing without regulars Red Schoendienst and Don Mueller, made only five hits themselves.

Chisox 5, Orioles 1

CHICAGO (AP)—Southpaw Billy Pierce became the American League's first 10-game winner of the season Tuesday night as Larry Doby and Minnie Minoso hit homers to pace the Chicago White Sox to a 5-1 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

Pierce, who has lost two games, limited the Orioles to eight hits in scoring his 10th successive victory over Baltimore. The Sox managed seven hits off starter and loser Ray Moore and reliever Don Ferrares.

Last season, Pierce won 15 games. The Sox lefty spotted Baltimore a run in the third as Billy Gardner doubled and scored on another double by Gus Triandos. From then on, Pierce kept Baltimore in check.

Tribe 9, Bosox 7

CLEVELAND (AP)—Home runs by Vic Wertz and Al Smith drove in five runs for the Cleveland Indians in a 9-7 victory over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night as the two teams moved into a tie for third place.

The victory went to Bob Lemon, his eighth against four losses, but he needed help from Don Mossi, who struck out the final batter. It ended a six-game losing streak for the Indians, their longest in four years.

Wertz' homer, his 16th of the season, drove in three runs in the second inning and Smith's homer came with one aboard in the fourth inning.

The Indians broke the game open with a six run rally in the second.
