Nancy Newman Is Miss Perfect Profile

By ELEANOR BENZ
Daily Iowan Society Editor

Nancy Newman, A2, Cedar Rapids, was chosen Miss Perfect Profile from a field of 86 freshmen and transfer students Thursday evening at the annual Profile Preview style show held in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Miss Newman, a transfer student from Coe College, Cedar Rapids, modeled a plaid-blanket skirt and grey crew-neck sweater in the campus-wear division of the show.

Runners-up were Margie Ladd, A1, Iowa City, who wore a sportswear outfit of green Bermuda shorts and ski sweater with matching green trim, and Barbara Holmes, A1, Waterloo, modeling a dressy dark blue, sleeveless sheath in wool.

The three were chosen from a field of 12 finalists by a fashion board composed of Mrs. Norma Eckman, fashion editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, Mrs. Marge Keyser, society editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, and James Baxter, manager of Townner's, Iowa City.

Noya Huber, A4, Iowa City, was general chairman of Profile Previews and the style show was coordinated by Miss Sonja Faust, fashion coordinator of Younkers, Des Moines.

The show was narrated by Sandy Swengel, A3, Muscatine, and the setting was executed by Donna O'Brien, A4, Muscatine.

While the judges were selecting the finalists, songs and novelty dances were presented under the direction of Kay Bootler, N3, Fordyce, Ark.

Other members of the Profile Previews committee include Wendy Strief, A2, Des Moines, Miss Perfect Profile of 1955, styles; Beth Moore, A3, Dubuque, hostess; Sugar Schilleter, A2, Ames, publicity; and Judy Newsome, A2, Belleville, Ill., contact.

Jerry Jenkinson, A3, Fairfield, and Jim Newsome, A3, Des Moines acted as ushers.

Finalists besides Miss Newman, Miss Ladd and Miss Holmes were Marcia Stamy, A1, Cedar Rapids; Ginger Van Orsdal, A1, Des Moines; Mary Malloy, N1, Des Moines; Marilyn Miner, A2, Charles City; Marilyn Lauger, A2, Emmetsburg; Mary Jo Schell, A4, Des Moines; Sue Slaymaker, N1, Osceola, Mo.; and Jayne Atkinson, A1, Rock Island.

Homecoming Badge Sales Begin Oct. 24

By NAN BORRESON

Members of Hawk-I Pep Club will be out selling 20,000 Homecoming badges beginning next week.

The Homecoming badge receipts are used to pay all Homecoming expenses. The Homecoming Committee has estimated about 20,000 badges must be sold to meet the 1957 Homecoming expenses.

Last year only about 10,000 badges were sold through the combined efforts of the Pep Club and University High School students.

"Because of the increased interest and organization of the Pep Club, we expect sales to go much better this year," said Prof. Wendell Kerr, of the SUI Department of Pharmacy, chairman of the Homecoming badge committee.

Sales will begin Oct. 24 at ten central points on campus and downtown and continue through Nov. 3.

The Homecoming badges, a 34-year-old tradition at SUI, will picture Herky the Hawk in an SUI track suit running with an Olympic torch.

Students have been asked to sign cards if they are willing to help sell the badges. Interested students may still sign up as salesmen at the information desk of the Iowa Memorial Union.

At a meeting planned for 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in Macbride Auditorium, salesmen will be instructed and given bags of 25 badges to sell.

Money will be collected and additional badges checked out in the key room of the Old Dental building which will serve as badge headquarters during the sales.

Co-chairmen of badge sales for the Hawk-I Pep Club are Austin Sandrock, C4, Ft. Madison, and Jim Sheely, C4, Clinton.

A trophy will be awarded to the housing unit which sells the most badges. Housing unit sales will be computed on a percentage basis giving the smaller units an equal chance.

The five top salesmen on campus will be awarded expense-paid trips to the Minnesota-Iowa football game in Minneapolis Nov. 10.

Hickenlooper Raps 'Give-Away' Attack

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) Thursday answered charges made by his Democratic opponent, R. M. (Spike) Evans, that he is "a give-away senator."

Hickenlooper, speaking to about 200 persons at a Republican dinner in the Hotel Jefferson, centered his defense to the charge in explanations of four issues:

1. Tidelands Oil Bill—"The charge is made that I have taken education out of the mouths of children . . . The bill gave the Federal Government the right to five-sixths of the continental shelf, where the oil is located . . . There is only $40 billion worth of oil on the shelf . . . The profits on this would mean only 60 cents per pupil over a 10-year period . . . The amendment that would have given this money to education was political poppycock."

2. Hell's Canyon—"Do we want to put $450 million into a public power project when private enterprise can do it better and give lower rates? I have supported public power when private enterprise cannot or will not do the job. I think it is time for the Federal Government to step in when private enterprise can't do the job."

3. TVA—"Do you know we are paying $200,000,000 to support TVA, which attracts industry to the south from the north with the promise of cheap power? . . . I believe in TVA . . . But, if TVA is an industrial operation, these industries should pay the bill . . . The people of Iowa shouldn't."

4. The Natural Gas Bill—"The charge is made that I have voted to raise the gas bills of the consumers . . . This one is as phony as a three-dollar bill . . . It was a regulatory bill."

"There is no evidence of any irregular lobbying, with the exception of those two fellows from Nebraska."

Hickenlooper, who is running for his third consecutive six-year term, said that the 1956 elections would have an effect on the social and political order of the nation for years to come.

"If the next administration is headed by Mr. Stevenson and Senator Kefauver," he said, "we can expect the return to the old medicine-man technique in which every promise made to win elections is broken."

"In 1932, Mr. Roosevelt promised to reduce taxes 25 per cent and to reduce public employment. Later he said, 'your sons would never be sent to fight in foreign wars.'"

The power of government, Hickenlooper said, has been returned from Washington to the localities and states under the Eisenhower Administration, he said.

"The President," he said, "believes in government service, not in government controls."

Hickenlooper contrasted the statements of ex-president Harry Truman and former Secretary of State Dean Acheson prior to the Korean War to the action of President Eisenhower in the Formosa Strait crisis of 1954.

"Mr. Truman and Mr. Acheson stated that Korea was outside our defense perimeter," he said.

"President Eisenhower took firm action . . . He asked the support of Congress and got it . . . He made it known that they would have to answer to us if they tried anything . . . If he had not, guns would have been blazing in the straits and we might have been drawn into it."

"Hickenlooper, a former governor of Iowa himself (1943-45) threw in an endorsement for Republican Gov. Leo A. Hoegh, who is currently engaged in a tight battle with Democrat Herschel Lovelace.

"The Hoegh administration has had an unusually good record," Hickenlooper said. "The problems have been met courageously and head-on."

"I ask you to think of what the present alternative is."

Hickenlooper paused after this sentence and stared straight at his audience. Gradually a snicker rolled across the room.

Three Share Nobel Prize For Medicine

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A German doctor who probed his own heart will share this year's Nobel prize for medicine with two U.S. doctors who developed his idea into a new method of diagnosing heart diseases. The award was announced Thursday.

The German is 52-year-old Dr. Werner Forssmann. In 1929 he introduced a catheter, a slender plastic tubular probe, into his left forearm, and passed its 26-inch length through a blood vessel until it had entered the right side of his heart.

The U.S. doctors are French-born Andre F. Courmand, 61, and Dickinson W. Richards Jr., 60, both of Columbia University, New York.

They were recognized for their part in developing the technique of "heart catheterization" to measure pressure and flow in various parts of the heart and blood vessels, and to inject contrasting chemicals and to see heart defects on an X-ray screen.

The three doctors share a $38,633 prize provided in the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite. The 47th prize in medicine was voted by 39 professors of Stockholm's Caroline Institute.

The awards will be presented here Dec. 10, along with a literary prize and prizes in physics and chemistry to be announced later.

The basic knowledge gained by the pioneering of the three doctors greatly helped to advance the fight against diseases of the heart.

Petitioners Seek New School Vote

Petitions requesting that the recently defeated $1.5 million school bond issue be taken to the polls again were being circulated Thursday.

The bond issue to finance a new junior high school and rehabilitate the old one was voted on Monday and defeated by 76 votes.

The petitions are being circulated by interested individuals. There are no organizations backing them.

The new petitioners hope to get at least the same number of signatures listed on the first petition circulated a month ago. In September, 1,298 citizens requested that Monday's election be held.

Twenty-five per cent of the total number of votes cast in the last regular school election is required to make a petition valid. The number of votes cast in the last regular school election was 905; 227 signatures on the petition will be required.

The petitions are expected to be presented to the Iowa City School Board Monday.

No Pep Rally
Today's football pep rally has been canceled because of conflict with the Miss SUI pageant, George Kroloff, A3, Chicago, announced Thursday.

New Home Destroyed

THIS IS ALL that remains of a new $37,500 Bettendorf home after being hit by a violent explosion Thursday. Three persons were injured in the blast, believed to have been caused by an accumulation of gas used to heat the residence. The home had not yet been occupied.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — President Eisenhower, cracking hard again at Adlai Stevenson's stand on the military draft and the hydrogen bomb, said Thursday night "the road to surrender is paved with good intentions."

Mr. Eisenhower again refrained from mentioning his Democratic foe by name.

But in his speech the President left no doubt about whom he was talking.

"I have not promised you — nor do I ever intend to — that way to defend peace or freedom is to abandon simultaneously our military draft and our testing of our most advanced military weapons," Mr. Eisenhower said.

"For I know — and I believe all Americans know — that, without strength in this world of today, the road to surrender is paved with good intentions."

Mr. Eisenhower's statement was his first mention of the H-bomb issue since his decision Wednesday to have a full history of the super-bomb drawn up to answer Stevenson's charges.

In the afternoon, he plugged hard for a GOP victory, telling the workers that "the choice is one between hard sense and experience versus pie-in-the-sky promises and wishful thinking."

Thursday night he turned to a subject dear to the great Northwest — conservation.

And he had a two-word description for Democratic charges that the GOP administration has had a "giveaway" program on natural resources.

A "frivolous charge" the President said.

Stevenson also declared the Republicans "twist and distort" any new idea for strengthening the country.

"They seem to despise new ideas," Stevenson said.

Stevenson's Youngstown speech followed brief addresses along the way in which he:

1. Said that "greedy and frightened" Republicans of advanced age are willing to "cripple the younger generation to cut taxes." He blamed the GOP — which had blamed the Democrats — for the failure of Congress to approve federal aid to schools.

2. Contended that the Republicans are trying to set the country back to the beginning-of-the-century era of McKinley. He said the opposition party is bogged down in "creeping complacency."

Stevenson took issue with President Eisenhower and other Republicans who have opposed his suggestions that a way should be sought to end the draft in the not too distant future and that efforts should be made to stop hydrogen bomb tests through international agreement.

Stevenson denied Republican claims that his draft proposal would weaken the nation's military strength.

SUI Listed As Target by Communists

By ROY WALKER
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

A fear campaign being conducted by agents of Communist China in the U.S. is reported to have been directed at refugee Chinese students and faculty members, including some currently at SUI.

An International News Service wire story Thursday listed fourteen colleges and universities throughout the United States where scientists and students have been pressured to go home where their knowledge and skills can be used by the Chinese Reds.

Four thousand refugees from China have received letters from relatives remaining on the Chinese mainland requesting their return. In addition, Communist agents in this country have contacted some of the refugees and caused them to fear for the welfare of their families still in China. SUI was reported to be one of the universities where Chinese students have been contacted.

Samuel C. Ling, G. Formosa said that, to his knowledge, no students at SUI have received letters or threats about returning to China.

"The only thing I've heard about this has been in the newspapers," Ling said. "Most of the Chinese here are from Formosa; it is not very probable that they have been approached."

Dr. Hoi Fan Hsu, of the SUI College of Medicine, admitted that he knew refugees from China who had received letters requesting their return, but they are not at SUI, he said.

Dr. Hsu, is from Formosa, he says he has received no letters from relatives on the mainland. He added that those who have received letters generally do not return to China.

The FBI has been investigating the fear campaign. They report that their operations have been hindered by the fear of those refugees having family ties with people still on the Chinese mainland.

Wallace Maner, Foreign Student Adviser, at SUI reported that there are no students from the Chinese mainland. He said that there are 15 Chinese students from Formosa.

"I've had pretty close contact with these students, and the problem (letters urging their return to China) hasn't been brought to me," he added.

Prof. Yi-Pao Mei, of the Department of Oriental Studies, said that although none of the students are from the Chinese mainland, there are members of the faculty who are. He admitted, however, that he had not heard of anyone connected with SUI having received letters or being contacted in any way.

SUI is one of a list of U.S. colleges and universities that have been designated as "targets" for the terror campaign being conducted by the Communist Chinese. Iowa State College and four Big Ten schools in addition to SUI were on the list.

Of the 25 Chinese students at Iowa State College, there was no report of intimidation.

Hawkeyes Show 'Zip' In No Contact Drills

By LARRY DENNIS
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

How are the Iowa Hawkeyes looking this week as they prepare for Saturday's encounter with unknown Hawaii?

About all that can be gotten out of Coach Forest Evashevski is a smile, a shrug and a simple, "Oh, they've got a lot of zip."

That was Evy's comment Thursday after he had sent his squad through a light practice session in sweat clothes. The Hawkeyes ran through dummy offensive and defensive practice and ended up with signal drills.

The statement about the zip can't be argued with. The Hawks, even from the sideline, continue to show the same high spirit that has been apparent all season. Apparently, this is a team which never gets "down," at least to any noticeable extent.

Iowa may or may not need all that spirit for Saturday's game with the Rainbows, but it's a certainty they'd better save some of it for Purdue a week later. The Boilermaker tilt, second on the road for Iowa this season, could be the make-or-break game for the Hawkeyes as far as the Big 10 race goes.

But Evashevski, for one, is not overlooking Hawaii. "We don't know much about them," he admitted Thursday, but he scoffed at the idea that: 1.) The Rainbows will be small; and 2.) They'll be a pushover for Iowa.

"Take a look at that line—," he exclaimed, "—245, 232, 211. Remember, they beat Nebraska last year, so they must have a better team than anyone thinks."

As for Iowa's pass defense, on which Evy has been working hard the last few weeks, the only thing he'll say is, "It's about the same."

This could mean just what Evashevski says, or it could mean that he's not saying just how well the Iowa secondary is responding to all the work.

No one knows how good the pass defense will have to be against Hawaii, but it's a certainty it will have to be effective against aerial-minded Purdue.

The first team Thursday was probably the same outfit which will line up at the opening kickoff against Hawaii. Frank Gilliam and Jim Gibbons at end, Alex Karras and Dick (Sleepy) Klein at tackle, Frank Bloomquist and Hugh Drake at guard, Co-Capt. Don Suchy at center, Kenny Ploen at quarterback, Bill Happel at right half, Fred Harris at full, Bill Gravel at left half—these are the men who will more than likely start and go at least part of the way against the Rainbows.

The only major change from recent weeks is the installation of Gravel, a stubby sophomore speedster, at left half in place of Don Dobrino. Dobrino has been held out of action during much of this week's practice with a slight injury. The injury is not reported to be serious, however, and he's expected to be ready for action Saturday—if he can beat Gravel out of the job.

U-High Homecoming

ENTHUSIASM REIGNS SUPREME as the U-High band entertains at the Homecoming Pep Rally held Thursday night. The rally, which took place on Washington Street, and held up traffic, also featured a bon-fire near the U-High school. ## Hawks Favored by 34, MSU Picked Over Irish

By DR. ALLEN N. SMITH

The Iowa Hawkeyes find themselves overwhelming favorites as they enter their non-conference game Saturday against Hawaii. The Smith Touchdown Tendency System rates the Hawkeyes 34-points better than the Islanders.

In the top battles across the nation, the picks are Michigan State over Notre Dame by 20 and Texas Christian to beat Texas A & M by 7.

On the Pacific Coast, the powerful Southern California Trojans risk their No. 7 ranking in a torrid encounter with Washington. Make it the Trojans by 13. Three other Far Western clashes should result in a one-touchdown win for UCLA over California, a 13-point win for Stanford over Oregon and Oregon

State subduing Washington State by 13.

In a Big Ten headliner, Minnesota is expected to topple Illinois by 7. The remaining Conference contests should find Michigan outclassing Northwestern by 20 and Wisconsin a 6-point winner over Purdue.

Oklahoma is rated six touchdowns better than Kansas on the Smith slide rule.

Invading the East, Syracuse is expected to decision Army by 7. Columbia will have trouble with Harvard and is a 20-point underdog while Yale looks to be two touchdowns superior to Cornell.

In inter-sectional clashes the System picks Duke by 1 over Pittsburgh, Ohio State by 14 over Penn. State and Navy by 13 over Cincinnati.

U-High Hosts Decision On Washington Move Today

A first division berth and hopes to avoid a last place finish are at stake as U-High and City High battle in conference competition tonight.

U-High, who entertains Columbus Junction in their Homecoming game tonight, needs a victory to move back into the first division in the Eastern Iowa Conference. The Bluehaws, who own a 1-2-1 conference mark, could move past the Wildcats, who own a 2-2 mark, with a win.

The Homecoming battle is set for the lighted SU1 practice field at 7:30 p.m. Only major line-up change finds Lloyd Linger moving from his regular guard position to halfback as coach Bob Hoff attempts to find a little more backfield power.

City High coach Frank Bates may pull a switch tonight and start an all-junior line-up. The Little Hawks travel to Cedar Rapids McKinley in a battle of last place teams.

Neither team has recorded a victory in Mississippi Valley play, so the loser will probably end up in the league cellar.

NFL Outlaws Use Of Radio Devices

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell announced Thursday that electronic devices used by some of the league teams for communication between the coaches on the sidelines and the quarterback have been outlawed for the balance of the 1956 season.

Bell said the action was taken in a telephone poll of NFL teams and that there wasn't one dissenting voice or even a semblance of an argument on the question.

"All the clubs were cooperative and it is my opinion that at the next annual meeting something will be put in the league book to outlaw the things permanently," Bell added.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Move or stay put? The Washington Senators decide today.

Directors of the Washington American League baseball club vote this afternoon, in what is expected to be a tempestuous session, on whether to move to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Louisville or Minneapolis or continue in Washington.

President Calvin Griffith is trying to engineer the shift. Reports say Griffith—who wants to switch to Los Angeles—can swing a majority of the five-man board his way. H. Gabriel Murphy, a director who owns 40 per cent of the stock, loudly opposes a transfer.

Griffith wants to move because the Senators, finishing seventh this year and eighth last year, have drawn fewer viewers than any other major league club the last two years.

Griffith, adopted son of the late Clark Griffith, who ran the Senators for a half century, conceded Thursday that moving the franchise will be a touch-and-go struggle. He'll have just 12 days to wrap up the deal before the Oct. 31 deadline for transfers effective for the 1957 season.

Getting the approval of the Washington club directors is just the first—and perhaps easiest—step.

Afterward, Griffith must: 1. Negotiate a contract with Los Angeles, if the decision is to go to the city; 2. Come to an agreement with the Pacific Coast League and with Phil K. Wrigley to buy his Los Angeles Coast League franchise; and 3. Obtain American League approval.

President Will Harridge has said he doesn't want to call an American League meeting to consider a move unless all is harmonious on the Washington Club.

Griffith would need the support of five other AL clubs to make the switch. While declining direct comment, other club owners have expressed no enthusiasm publicly for the move.

DU's Defeat ATO, 33-0

Delta Upsilon rolled to their second consecutive victory of the season in Social Fraternity Touch Football Intramural play, beating Alpha Tau Omega 33-0 Thursday.

Dick Meyers led the winner's offensive attack with three touchdowns. All of these were scored on short runs. Bob Stuart scored a touchdown and added the winner's only extra point. Russ Davis scored the final touchdown of the game. The winners rounded out their scoring with a safety.

In Professional Fraternity action Alpha Kappa Psi squeezed out a 6-0 victory over Phi Epsilon Kappa. Bob Ennis scored the games only touchdown on a short run.

Now You Get DE-ICER in STANDARD RED CROWN, TOO

(Regular Grade Gasoline)

AT NO INCREASE IN PRICE

Right now . . . in this changeable Fall weather . . . your carburetor can "Ice-Up", causing annoying and embarrassing stalls.

RED CROWN (Regular) and WHITE CROWN (Premium) with exclusive DE-ICER prevent those stalls.

Until now, Standard's exclusive De-Icer has been included only in its premium grade gasoline. Now, it's in RED CROWN regular grade, too, at no increase in price. In addition, an exclusive new anti-corrosion additive helps keep carburetors from clogging and fuel lines open and clean. This power-packed, anti-knock gasoline warms up in a wink—and what a pick up! Small wonder, too, for now you get Standard regular grade gasoline . . . with a BIG BOOST in OCTANE.

Try a Tankful Today and Learn why Millions Say... You expect more from STANDARD and get it!

Mountaineer Program To Show Cuba, Japan

Hal Linker, photographer who filmed the whaling sequences of the Academy Award winning feature "The Sea Around Us," will present his own films of Cuba and Japan at 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday in MacBride Hall Auditorium.

Linker's program, second in the 1956-57 Iowa Mountaineer series of film-lectures, will feature a filmed visit in the afternoon to "Cuba—Land of Enchantment" and in the evening to "Exotic Japan."

Linker speaks five languages and has made films in 30 countries. He is now production director of International Films, producers of 16-millimeter educational short subjects.

A special visit to Trinidad in Cuba provided Linker with the flavor of a small town carnival with which he contrasts scenes of the bigger Carnival of Santiago. Sponge fishing, cigar making and rum distilling are also portrayed, as are views of modern buildings, historic sites, and Cuban beach resorts.

Japanese dancers, festivals, and the cultivation of silkworms and cultured pearls will be shown in the evening film-lecture. Views of the re-birth of Hiroshima and Japan's new army will also be seen.

Admission to the films, both in color and sound, is by season ticket or single admission—80 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

Instruction Board To Meet at SUI

The Iowa State Board of Public Instruction will hold its October meeting in the House Chamber of Old Capitol today and Saturday.

The group will tour the SUI campus this morning and will visit facilities of the College of Education. Qualifications for candidates include an A.B. or B.A. degree received by June, 1957, and sufficient knowledge of Spanish to be able to follow courses given in the language, according to Walter F. Loehwing, dean of the SUI Graduate College.

$5,000 Venezuelan Scholarships Offered

Opportunities for graduate study in any one of the five universities in Venezuela are being offered to SUI students by the Creole Petroleum Corporation.

The scholarships, administered by the Cordell Hull Foundation, are for one year's study and carry an award of $5,000. A candidate may select his field of study from engineering (petroleum engineering in particular), economics, international studies, sociology, anthropology, public health, forestry or tropical agriculture.

Senator Bourke Hickenlooper—

Campaigns in Cedar County

By KIRK BOYD

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, poised and apparently confident of re-election, criss-crossed strongly Republican Cedar county Thursday, heading down the home stretch of his campaign.

By Thursday evening he was in Iowa City for a $2-a-plate dinner and speech at the Hotel Jefferson.

Before that, however, he was campaigning at the grass roots, traveling over the dusty gravel roads to luncheons, short talks followed by kaffeeklatches and hand-shaking tours down the main streets of towns.

He drank coffee, shook hands and talked in Stanwood, Clarence, West Branch, Sunbury, Durant, Bennett and Lowden, small farm towns that seldom see a candidate for any office higher than state senator.

And wherever Hickenlooper stopped to talk, the theme was the same: the Democratic party is the party of war and the Republican party has brought prosperity without war.

The tour started with a hand-shaking tour up and down the main street of the Stanwood (pop. 547) business district, talking with the shopkeepers along the way.

The greeting seldom varied: "I'm Bourke Hickenlooper. Just thought I'd stop and see you."

This was followed by a coffee hour at Clarence (pop. 791) where the senator talked a little too long and answered too many questions. He was 30 to 45 minutes behind schedule the remainder of the day.

He arrived at West Branch (pop. 789) at 12:25 p.m. for a scheduled noon luncheon to find Republican officials waiting and his audience already eating creamed chicken and biscuits with peas in the American Legion Hall above the post office.

He ate while 75 other persons waited and a civics class from West Branch High School filed into the hall to listen. Then he arose, unbuttoned his coat, jammed his left hand into his pants pocket and started.

First came laudatory remarks for Republican President Herbert Hoover, who was born in West Branch.

"I want to hit the highlights of what I consider the vital issues of this campaign," he said as he launched into the meat of his speech.

"What the American people want more deeply than anything else is peace."

"Every Democratic administration of the Twentieth century has given us war. No Republican administration has."

He added that the Republicans had put to waste "200,000 Democratic coffins" and to "vote Republican, the son you save may be your own."

Hickenlooper switched to domestic comparisons of the Rep-

What People Want

More Deeply Than Anything Is Peace.

lican and Democratic administrations under what he called "peacetime conditions."

This was during the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations (1921-33) and the first two Roosevelt administrations (1933-41).

Under the Republicans, Hickenlooper pointed out, the average annual farm income was $10.8 billion. Under the Democrats, he said, it went down to $9.8 billion annually.

He turned to the Democratic contention that their party was the friend of the little man.

"When they went into office in 1933, no one paid income tax until his income reached $1,500," he said. "By 1940, the exemptions were down to $500. They put 45 million more low income Americans on the tax rolls."

Hickenlooper, his voice rising for the first time and his left fist hammering on air, criticized the Democratic-controlled Congress of 1931-32.

"They refused every piece of remedial legislation asked by President Hoover to alleviate the depression," he charged. "They tried to ruin the country to win an election."

These themes he repeated again at Durant (pop. 810) in a short talk at the American Legion Post after visiting Hoover's birthplace at West Branch.

At all stops questions were asked following the talks.

At West Branch, a tight-lipped highschool girl wanted to know "if Secretary of Agriculture Benson would be re-appointed and, if so, why?"

Hickenlooper said he didn't know if Benson would be re-appointed.

At Durant, a man with a thick German accent made a short talk, saying that Adlai Stevenson's hydrogen bomb plan was unworkable "because the Russians couldn't be trusted."

Hickenlooper, after listening wearily with his chin resting in his hands, said he agreed.

After Durant came Sunbury (unincorporated) and Bennett (pop. 352) and more hand-shaking with local merchants.

It was in the chats with small groups over cups of coffee following his talks that Hickenlooper appeared to be gaining the most ground.

His conservative two-button blue suit, blue-black striped tie, brown shoes, thinning blond hair, freckled face and sometimes halting speech put him at home and his listeners at ease. He appeared to be another small-town merchant.

In this way he differed sharply from his Democratic opponent, R. M. (Spike) Evans, who effects pin-striped suits, homburgs and smooth, flowing speech.

And he doesn't seem too worried in this, his sixth, campaign for state-wide office (previous ones: twice for lieutenant governor, one for governor, twice for senator, all successful).

"He says he's runing scared, but he's not," said a campaign aide.

"He's just campaigning now for more votes for the national ticket, Hoegh and the state ticket. He might run ahead of the President in this state."

Speculators?

Church of England Has Full Collection Plate

LONDON (AP) — The Church of England found itself Thursday with an embarrassment of riches. It made almost a half a million dollars in the kind of stock market coup most investors can only dream of.

Sir Malcolm Eve, chairman of the Church Properties and Finance Commission, said it bought stock last summer in Trinidad Oil, expecting a yield of little more than 3 per cent.

Then the Texas Co. bought out Trinidad, nearly doubling the stock's value. The church's profit was 160,000 pounds — $448,000.

Eve called this "a most embarrassing thing" because the church might be suspected of speculating. Now, he said, the commission wants to invest the money in a good, reliable company producing a steady income.
