

Sources Claim Krushchev Accepts New 'Polish' Socialism

WARSAW (AP) — Nikita Krushchev has lifted the Soviet military pressure from rebellious Poland and accepted most of the new Polish socialism-with-freedom policy, reliable sources reported Tuesday night.

The sources said Soviet troops concentrations built up in central Poland during the crisis are dispersing. A Russian naval squadron sighted off Poland's Baltic coast has withdrawn.

An authoritative source said Polish-Soviet relations improved dramatically Tuesday afternoon with a telephone call from the Kremlin to Wladyslaw Gomulka, new first secretary of the Polish Communist party.

The caller was Soviet Communist party boss Krushchev and he was making a complete climbdown, the informant said. He gave this version:

Krushchev told Gomulka that with some slight reservations he accepted the new Polish Socialist policy. He apologized for an attack by Pravda, the Soviet Communist organ, on the Polish press. The Pravda attack was one cause of ill-feeling.

Krushchev said that Pravda within the next day or so will print a virtual retraction.

The source added Gomulka and Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz will go to Moscow this week, probably Friday. They will talk with the Soviet party Presidium-Politburo.

The discussions are expected to end with a joint declaration similar to that with which Krushchev patched up Moscow's quarrel with President Tito of Yugoslavia.

The Soviet Communist boss apparently yielded in the face of waves of bitter anti-Soviet demonstrations inside Poland and warnings from the Polish government that his policies might lead to a bloody uprising.

Popular demands to rout Soviet influence and punish those who imposed Stalin's will poured in on the Polish government.

An immediate consequence of Krushchev's telephone call was the report that Soviet troops massed in central Poland were moving back to barracks near the East German border.

The largest Soviet concentration was near Lodz, an industrial city about 85 miles southwest of Warsaw. This concentration had been reinforced Monday.

Joyous workers and students blew off anti-Russian steam in wild demonstrations in three major cities Monday night, and new support for the bloodless revolt against Moscow's political domination, came from military sources Tuesday.

As the revolt gained momentum, the new leadership shook up the Defense Ministry, along the area of Stalinist and Moscow domination, and Moscow's chief representative in the ministry, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, seemed scheduled for dismissal eventually.

These were developments:

1. Popular demonstrations erupted in three cities, and eyewitness reports said the celebrations were defiantly anti-Russian.
2. A mass rally of Polish air force personnel in Warsaw linked the airman with other Polish military men in support of the new regime of Wladyslaw Gomulka, now the party boss.
3. Condemning all who followed Stalin's methods, the airman demanded prosecution of those who doomed innocent Polish military men to death in the past by false accusations. They called for an army shakeup.
4. Gen. Marian Spychalski, once purged with Gomulka, was installed as deputy defense minister and chief of political officers in the army. He replaced Gen. Kazimierz Witasewski, deputy to Rokossovsky, a Polish-born Soviet army marshal, was installed in the Polish defense minister's post by Stalin in 1949.

Pent-up Polish feeling against the Russians exploded Monday night in Wroclaw, the former German city of Breslau; in Szczecin, formerly Stettin, and in the old university city of Krakow.

In Wroclaw, a Western eyewitness said, angry crowds stormed the headquarters of the Polish-Soviet Friendship Society, tore down and trampled Soviet flags, and yelled slogans such as: "Rokossovsky to Siberia!" And "Tell the truth about the Katyn murders!"

The Katyn Forest was the scene of the machinegun massacre of 10,000 Polish officers in 1940, before the Soviet Union entered World War II. The Russians, who had moved in to occupy eastern Poland when the Nazi invaded in the West, have repeatedly denied western charges that Russians were to blame.

The crowds cheered for Gomulka, once jailed as an anti-Stalinist follower of Tito of Yugoslavia. Similar demonstrations were reported from Szczecin, like Wroclaw situated near the border with Communist East Germany; and from Krakow on the Vistula, 155 miles southwest of Warsaw.

Dispatches from Frankfurt, quoting editors of Communist papers in the border cities involved, said the demonstrations were not anti-Russian.

Warsaw radio warned against "demagogic and nationalistic" outbursts, saying these would be of service only to elements other than Poland's workers.

Rumors still swept the capital—rumors of Soviet troop and warship movements.

A responsible source confirmed that a Soviet cruiser and three destroyers anchored off Gdansk coast Monday. But most Poles thought the danger of Soviet military intervention in their internal political situation had passed.

Ike Asserts U.S. Has Mission To Expand Areas of Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Tuesday night that America has a mission to "expand the areas in which free men, free governments can flourish." He held out what could be an offer of economic aid to the Polish people in their struggle against Soviet domination.

The President said the United States must "help those freedom-loving peoples who need and want and can profitably use our aid."

In a speech to the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners at their 75th anniversary dinner, the President used Poland as an example of a freedom-loving country rebelling against tyranny.

"A people, like the Poles, who have once known freedom cannot be for always deprived of their national independence and of their personal liberty," he said.

"That truth applies to every people in Eastern Europe who have enjoyed independence and freedom."

Mr. Eisenhower spoke against a background of a bloodless revolt in Poland against Moscow domination, and demonstrations in Hungary against the Communist government there.

Mr. Eisenhower said that tyranny, for a time, can present a picture of material accomplishment. But, he said, that is an illusion that can not substitute for true freedom of the people.

He said America has a mission as the champion of human freedom, and summed it up:

"FIRST — So to conduct ourselves in all our international relations that we never compromise the fundamental principle that all peoples who have proved themselves capable of self-government have a right to an independent government of their own full, free choice.

"SECOND — So to help those freedom-loving peoples who need

Hungarians Shout, 'Russians Go Home'

100,000 Decry Present Red Rule

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Tens of thousands of demonstrating Hungarians pushed into Stalin Square Tuesday night shouting "Russies (Russians) go home" and "Down with Geroe," Hungary's Communist party chief.

Secret police fired shots into a crowd, estimated at around 100,000 persons near Budapest's broadcasting station. One eyewitness said one man was killed.

The crowd tried unsuccessfully to pull down a 26-foot statue of Stalin, then managed to haul down a huge Red star on top of a Trade Union Building facing the statue.

Their demonstration came after Ernoe Geroe, successor to Matyas Rakosi as chief of the Hungarian Communist party, made a surprise broadcast calling lies any rumors that Hungary wants to loosen its ties with the Soviet Union.

Geroe had just returned from talks with President Tito in Yugoslavia where the parties of the two nations pledged noninterference in each other's internal affairs.

Police were not visible near the square but five trucks of soldiers who rushed to the area around the broadcast station surrounded by demonstrators.

A delegation of demonstrators got into the radio station and was prevented from leaving. The crowd began to surge to the rescue. Uniformed secret police used tear gas bombs to eject them.

Finally, an eyewitness said, the police used their rifles. One man was pierced in the face by a bullet and killed instantly. There were rumors others were wounded.

Thousands of students and workers took part in demonstrations during the afternoon, crying, "Out with the Russians" and, "We want a change in the government."

By night the ever-growing crowd swelled to an unruly group numbering around 100,000.

Following up afternoon demands that the statue of Stalin be removed from the square because it was a symbol of tyranny, the crowd moved into Stalin Square.

It raised cries of, "Imre Nagy for premier."

Nagy is the former premier who was deposed on Titoism charges but rehabilitated and restored to party membership last week.

The story swept the crowd that Nagy was then negotiating in Parliament building with representatives of youth organizations.

Tens of thousands of youths had marched on the Parliament building demanding to see Nagy. He talked with them and then retired with their leaders and several members of Parliament for conferences.

All telephone and photo-telegraph lines with the West were reported broken down. An operator said they could not connect with Vienna,

U.S. Checking On Economic Aid To Poland

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States began an intensive survey of Poland's economic condition Tuesday but publicly maintained a hands-off attitude toward Polish leaders' efforts to assert their independence of Moscow.

Top State Department officials, anticipating a Polish appeal for American economic aid, began examining kinds of assistance which might be available in view of Poland's needs.

Tentative estimates were that food and clothing, especially for hard-pressed city dwellers, seemed to be most urgently required in Poland at present.

To avoid any accusation of interference, officials decided any such American aid should not be volunteered but only given if and when the revamped Polish regime formally asks for it.

Several diplomatic hints that such a request may be forthcoming have been picked up by U.S. officials the past week of swift-breaking developments in Poland.

In keeping with the cautious public attitude, a State Department spokesman said tersely "no comment" Tuesday when asked whether American aid to Poland is being considered.

At the same time Press officer Lincoln White refused to "confirm, deny or pinpoint" the accuracy of reports of large-scale troop movements in and around Poland.

Both within Poland and in neighboring East Germany, Russia has enough divisions to crush any outright Polish rebellion against Moscow's control.

Most U.S. officials seemed to believe Russia would avoid resort to armed force at least until the Polish picture becomes clearer.

Figuring importantly in any such Soviet decision will be what is regarded as Moscow's continuing insistence on a "friendly" Poland which can act as a buffer against any surprise German attack.

Meanwhile, some Soviet troops stationed in Poland were understood to have begun what were described as "maneuvers" in areas near Warsaw and the cities of Lublin and Lodz.

Homecoming Badge Sales Begin Today

By NAN BORRESON

SUI student salesmen will enter competition this afternoon for free tickets and transportation to the Minnesota-Iowa football game.

A meeting of all badge salesmen today at 4:30 p.m. in the Geology Lecture Auditorium will launch sales of the 1956 Homecoming badges.

Badge sales are supervised by the SUI Hawk-I Pep Club.

All students, whether or not they have filled out applications for badge salesmen, are urged to attend this meeting.

Selling instructions and assignments will be given by badge co-chairmen Austin Sandrock, C4, Ft. Madison, and Jim Sheely, C4, Clinton. Badges will be distributed to salesmen at the meeting.

Sales will begin immediately after the meeting and continue through Nov. 3, the day of the Homecoming football game with Michigan.

Tickets and transportation to the Minnesota-Iowa game Nov. 10 in Minneapolis will be awarded to the five students who sell the most badges.

A trophy will be awarded the housing unit selling the most badges. Totals will be computed on a percentage basis to give the smaller units an equal chance.

Receipts from badge sales are used to pay all Homecoming expenses. Twenty-thousand badges must be sold to meet the estimated Homecoming expenses this year, estimated Fort. Wendle L. Kerr, of the SUI Pharmacy Department, and chairman of the Homecoming badge committee.

POPULAR DEMONSTRATIONS AGAINST Russian influence erupted Tuesday in Budapest, Hungary, underlined, as well as in the Polish cities of Stettin, Wroclaw and Krakow, underlined. There also was a rally of Polish Air Force personnel and other military men in Warsaw in support of the new regime of Wladyslaw Gomulka. University students took part in the anti-Russian demonstrations in Budapest.

Riots Follow Arrests Of Arabs in Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — Killings, riots, general strikes and bitter Arab anger erupted across North Africa Tuesday.

The widespread violence was the Arab reply to France's arrest of five masterminds of Algeria's nationalist rebellion through a dramatic aerial raid Monday night.

Three Frenchmen were killed in a clash at Meknes, Morocco. Street demonstrations broke out in Tunisia and Morocco. A 24-hour general strike was declared in both those former French protectorates and started to spread in Algeria. French security forces in Algeria braced themselves for violent reprisals.

The whole Arab world began raising a diplomatic storm.

In Paris, Premier Guy Mollet flatly rejected a top-level Moroccan request for release of the five Algerians.

Mollet's rejection was announced after he met with the Moroccan, Premier Mohammed Bekkai and Foreign Minister Ahmed Balafrej, who had flown to Paris from Tunis.

In Tunis, Premier Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia called a special news conference and called the arrests an "abominable act."

The 23-nation Asian-African group at the U.N. in New York was reported asking Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's good offices in seeking release of the five revolutionaries.

A meeting of Morocco's Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef and Premier Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia, which had been billed as a conference to bring peace to Algeria and weld it into a new Union of North Africa, appeared to have been broken up.

Arab leaders called it a kidnapping and an act of piracy.

French soldiers, armed with automatic weapons, were on hand at the Algiers airport when they landed and carted the five rebel leaders off to jail in closed vans, when the French pilot made his unscheduled stop there.

Only one important leader of Algerian National Liberation front escaped the net. He was Feherat Abbas, who is now in Ecuador on a South American tour.

Political Groups OK SUI Mock Election

An all-campus mock election will be held at SUI Oct. 30.

A special committee of the SUI Student Council, meeting in Iowa Memorial Union with representatives of the SUI Young Republicans and Young Democrats, drew final plans for the election Thursday.

Representatives of both political clubs agreed to share expenses. Earlier, confusion over election finances had threatened to cancel the election plans.

Mark Putney, L3, Gladbrook, president of the Young Republicans said Monday his group would not decide until the Thursday meeting if it would share expenses with Young Democrats.

However, at Tuesday's committee meeting Bill O'Connell, L2, Jesup, executive secretary of the Young Republicans said the club would split election finances, estimated at $30, with Young Democrats.

Young Democrat President Paul Caristen, G, Iowa City, who represented the club at Tuesday's meeting, was reluctant to agree to financial arrangements until a "reasonably accurate estimate" of election costs could be obtained. The $30 estimate is for ballot printing costs.

After the financial issue was decided, the committee and the club representatives drafted final mock election regulations.

All SUI students may vote in the election. Ballots of different colors will be used to distinguish between students of voting age and those under 21. Students whose ID cards are marked "Nov. 35" will be considered 21.

Ballots will enable students to vote either a straight party ticket or separately for President and Vice-President and Iowa Senator and Governor.

Polling places will be set up in Schaeffer Hall, Iowa Memorial Union and the Quadrangle. Polling place hours will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Each polling place will be staffed by four students—one from each campus political club will act as poll watcher and two students from a non-partisan campus organization will distribute ballots and mark ID cards.

Ballots will be counted immediately after the polls close at the Institute of Public Affairs. Three teams of six students—two Republican, two Democratic and two non-partisan—will count the ballots.

Iowa voting laws will be enforced in all cases except the age requirement.

Miss SUI May Get Local Radio Show

This year's Miss SUI will be offered a position with Iowa City radio station KKIC, station manager Gene Claussen announced Tuesday.

The position, which will involve a weekly 15-minute show on Sunday afternoons, will be offered to the SUI queen of queens Saturday.

She will be elected by an all-male student vote Friday and crowned that evening at a dance in the Iowa Memorial Union. Ten finalists are campaigning for the title this week.

During the show Miss SUI will discuss fashions, beauty aids, music, gifts and books.

The series will be sponsored by Richey's, Alger Jewelry, Campus Music Store, Towner's Beauty Salon and Gordon Book and Gift shop.

Miss SUI will also conduct interviews with various beauty candidates and queens, other university students and campus celebrities on the show.

Issues Temporary Ban On NAACP in Texas

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Judge Otis T. Dunagan Tuesday issued a temporary injunction continuing a ban on operations by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) in Texas.

The injunction was requested by the state.

The ruling was received quietly in a courtroom jammed with spectators, almost all of them Negroes. Eleven highway patrolmen and two Texas Rangers stood every few feet around the courtroom, but there was no disturbance.

U.N. Accomplishments

United Nations Day is a time for sober and searching examination of the aims, methods and accomplishments of the world organization to which we belong. At times the individual turns the fury of impatient disappointment and indignant scorn upon what is seen as the "failure" of the U.N. Forgotten are the tremendous cultural, economic, and social strides made possible only through the agency of the U.N.

Bewildered by its failure to solve all the knotty international problems, the individual fails to see some of the accomplishments of the U.N. in the political field.

To cite a few from the almost endless list of accomplishments:

1946, foreign troops withdrawn from Iran, Syria, and Lebanon as result of U.N. action.

1947-54, U.N. patrolled the Northern borders of Greece to prevent smuggling of arms to the Greek Communists.

1949, cease-fire arranged in Palestine and Kashmir.

Although these areas are still hot spots, without U.N. action, war seems inevitable there.

Indonesia gained independence from Holland with U.N. help, avoiding needless bloodshed. And in Korea, the U.N. made plain the fact that it was not a "broken reed," as the League of Nations had turned out to be. Reconstruction costing millions of dollars is too well known a story to be more than noted here, yet it has been impressive. New homes for over 1,000,000, care for 39,500,000 mothers and children, 900,000 Jewish and Arab refugees provided for, the life-saving UNRRA program — all these the U.N. has offered.

The technical aid program designed to bring under-developed countries into the industrial age, has brought over 4,500 experts from 77 countries to more than 90 nations and territories, where resources are being scientifically exploited for the first time.

The U.N. Declaration of Rights, while only a declaration, has acted as a spur to many nations in their civil rights programs.

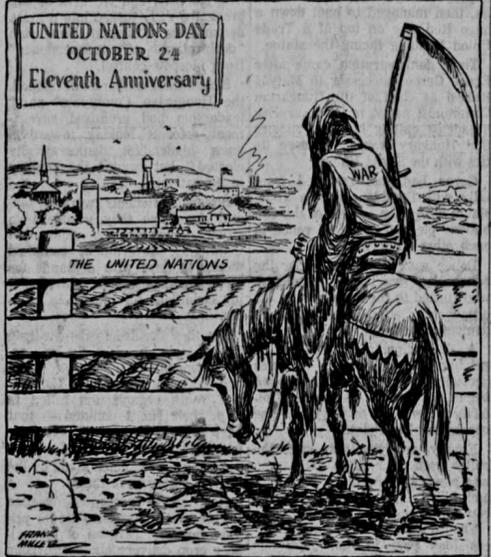

The U.N. has helped numerous minorities . . . it has advanced political, economic, and social rights of women . . . it directly supervises 19,000,000 colonial subjects and watches over 150,000,000 more who are under member nations.

Medical benefits have included such gigantic undertakings as treatment of over 10,000,000 people with penicillin for yaws, a malaria program designed to end that disease by 1960 and medical sanitation teams teaching as well as providing medical care throughout the world.

"Atoms for Peace" is a reality. In 1955, the U.N. enabled 1,200 scientists from 72 countries to assemble to discuss the peaceful use of atomic energy. The U.N. is making world-wide tests for radioactivity, a program that may prove invaluable in determining its possible harmful effects.

The U.N. has poured benefits out on mankind like the "Horn of Cornucopia," yet complaints are raised because the benefits are not perfect. Many expect the delicate flower of world cooperation to spring full-blown, yet would laugh at any man who expected perfect cooperation with just one other man.

A Good Strong Fence. Keep It Strong, Keep It Mended.

Young Writer Makes War On Censors

By WILLIAM JOLESCH

MANSFIELD, Tex. (AP)—Few persons are watching the current session of the United States Supreme Court with deeper interest than a blind young novelist on the war-path against censorship.

"Censors," says John Howard Griffin, "are sanctimonious serpents. It's getting so they'll be putting fig leaves on anatomy books next."

The banning of his first novel, "The Devil Rides Outside," in Detroit, triggered the 36-year-old Griffin's vendetta. He took to literature after first studying medicine in France, where he also fought with the underground against the Nazis. He lost his sight as the result of an accidental bomb explosion during subsequent service with the U.S. Army in the Pacific.

His blindness no longer concerns him much, he says, but the blindness of censors, as he conceives it, occupies his thoughts a great deal.

The courts, Griffin said, have not come forward with an adequate definition so far, and he hopes the Supreme Court, expected to rule on the Detroit case later this year, will provide one.

Griffin discussed his censorship battle in his austere study, a converted feed barn on his family's farm.

Married and the father of two children, Griffin was born in Dallas, Tex. He went to France to study at 16. To this day he does all his serious writing in French — dictating first into a tape recorder and then translating into English as he transcribes. He has no trouble using a typewriter.

After World War II he returned to France, where he found out that total blindness was inevitable.

As darkness closed in, the young Texan returned home and attended schools for the blind at Fort Worth, New Orleans, and New York. Later he moved to his family's 26-acre farm near Mansfield, working with techniques for selective animal breeding. He raises cattle, hogs, ducks, Toulouse geese, peacocks, canaries and parakeets.

In 1949 he took to writing in earnest. He has written several books since "Devil," which was published in 1952 and forms the basis for the present court test. It was ruled "obscene" in Detroit by Inspector Herbert Case, then the city's police censor.

HOT LOOT

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—"I'd like to report that someone broke into my residence and stole three gallons of moonshine whiskey," the male voice informed the sheriff-office's radio operator on the telephone. The operator tried twice to get the caller's name and then said: "Well, listen to me. Don't you know it's against the law even to have moonshine whiskey in your possession? You could go directly to jail if we knew who you were." "Well, now," the man replied; "if that's the case, I'd just as soon forget about the whole thing." He hung up.

Washington Scene— An (Un) Happy Ave Assists GOP Cause

By GEORGE DIXON

WASHINGTON — If the Republicans take New York and Kentucky, and have the graciousness to bestow credit where credit is due, they will thank the Democratic governors of those two states for the GOP victories.

DIXON

Ike, Dick, and Jack (the last being GOP senatorial candidate Jacob K. Javits) should be bursting with gratitude to Gov. Harriman. He's doing his best to give them New York. Ike and Dick should be even more grateful to Gov. Chandler. He's trying to give them Kentucky, and throw in the two Republican senatorial aspirants, John Sherman Cooper and Thurston "Don't call me Thurston" B. Morton.

Ave and Happy are giving aid and comfort to the enemy because each feels he, not Adlai Stevenson, should have been given the Democratic nomination. Each has been quivering since the Chicago convention like a bowlful of sour grape jelly.

Harriman and Chandler have been making some piffing pretense of helping along Stevenson, but they've hardly bothered even pretending with Estes Kefauver. They've been acting toward the Democratic candidate for vice-president as if he were a minor ache which would be bound to go away in a few days if they just ignored it.

The usually-smiling Tennessee loses his smile when he thinks about Ave and Happy. He hasn't exploded yet, but he's fuming.

If he manages to get the vice-presidency in spite of them, he's going to have the famous ivory gavel ready when they visit the senate — to give them a heartfelt sapping.

The Republican National Committee has just asked me to appraise my readers they have a number of big television treats in store for them the rest of this week.

Today, instead of the last five minutes of the fights, they can delight themselves with Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton; on Thursday they can revel in a Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon spot instead of the last five minutes of Tennessee Ernie.

But Saturday is going to be the super-threat of the campaign. Instead of the last five minutes of Lawrence Welk, Jackie Gleason, and Perry Como they can go into Presleylike writhings of ecstasy over Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Marion B. Folsom, and — it must be tireless in giving of itself unselfishly — Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon again.

I don't think I can make myself pass up such an entertainment bargain even if it means losing fifteen minutes out of my life.

Value Judgements

TO THE EDITOR:

How sick and tired I get of professors who use the attitude, "s-h-h, that's a value, let's not mention it in the hearing of you enlightened people in this classroom."

I say that's precisely what we need to hear more of. We've had enough of vague, ill-defined, boring abstractions that no one understands, possibly the professor included.

All through our life we keep adding to our value system, whether it be good or bad. A university is no exclusion to this principle — in fact it's the one place where we ought to accumulate a great backlog of values for future reference.

Why then does every professor bend over backward to apologize for mentioning anything that might be interpreted as a value or a value judgement? One of the most worthwhile and fruitful classroom lectures I've heard in over a year at SUI was just recently when the professor got lured accidentally onto the subject of fraternity and sorority discrimination of Negroes. He was "agin it" and he said so, thank goodness.

We ought to have more of that type of classroom "accident." Vesta Miller, 702 Iowa Ave.

Votes that Count

TO THE EDITOR:

The people that take the time to go vote certainly want their vote counted.

During every election there are a number of ballots that have to be thrown out for one reason or another. I would like to see the rules for the proper way to mark a ballot listed in the paper several times before the national election.

There are a number of young people who will be voting for the first time Nov. 6 and also a number of very careless voters who, I am sure, could certainly profit by a few pointers on balloting.

This might help to save some important votes. Mrs. M. E. Masters, 606 Keokuk Court

Republican Antics

TO THE EDITOR:

The Republicans have continued their antics (first seen at the Wisconsin game) by subtly displaying their emblem on the corner of Washington and Dubuque streets.

The omnipresent Ike needn't fear that he might not be re-elected. The "Orwellian" Republican party will not let us forget that Ike is on his throne — and all is well.

I do have one suggestion, however, for all "card carrying" Republicans. Why not have Ike parachute on to the field at a propitious moment during the Homecoming game.

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—The State Highway Department erected a big sign on U.S. 40 at the east edge of Richmond warning approaching motorists of a congested shopping area. Afternoon Jobs Aid City High Students To Learn Business

By JULIE FOSTER

The trite phrase "live and learn" takes on new meaning for students enrolled in the Distributive Education class at Iowa City High School.

The class, offered to senior students 16 years or older, is built around student discussion and training in the various fields of business and helps provide afternoon jobs for students.

The student learns to do many different jobs in the field of business and earns money to help pay his living expenses as well.

The class, taught by instructor Ralph Wahrer, is held every morning. During the last two school hours each day the students are employed by various business concerns in Iowa City.

In the morning students discuss retailing problems, study sales taxes, investigate store policy and discuss problems.

They are trained to be stock boys, salesmen and butchers and become acquainted with the organization setup of the particular business for which they are working.

"A class of this type has many advantages for the students," Wahrer said.

"It allows students to investigate wide fields of work for a possible career. The students are also trained in the beginning skills of particular businesses," he added.

The class is not aimed at students who do not plan to attend college.

"Over one-half of last year's class is now attending college," Wahrer said.

The purpose of the afternoon jobs is to train the students in the different jobs possible in the field in which they are employed.

"Distribution is a wide, wide field," Wahrer said. "There are places for every level of ability."

The class at City High School has its largest enrollment this fall since it was started in 1953.

There are 34 students enrolled this year Wahrer said Tuesday.

In 1953 there were nine students enrolled. The second year, 15, and last year 23.

High School Pupils Form Demo Club

Students from the four Iowa City high schools have organized a local branch of the nation-wide High School Students for Stevenson-Kavanaugh organization.

Representatives from each high school formed a central committee which met at the Joseph E. Baker home, 30 S. Governor St., Saturday to discuss organizational plans for the group.

The organization is designed primarily to educate students regarding elections and election procedures.

Members of the club will help canvass voters in the county-wide Democratic voter survey, assist poll workers on election day, and solicit funds to be used to support further Stevenson appearances on TV.

Student officers will be selected Friday from each high school to direct the student organization.

Discuss Role of Clergy During Hospital Visits

The role of a hospital chaplain or a family minister should not be so restricted that an appearance by either at a hospital bedside is an open death.

This was one opinion which appeared to be generally and emphatically endorsed by clergymen, nurses and hospital administrators from all parts of Iowa Tuesday during a clergy-hospital workshop at the SUL's Center for Continuation Study.

Lost Driver's License But Back on Road

OMAHA (AP) — They took Marty O'Hara's driver's license away from him last week, but Marty was driving again Tuesday, and legally.

He was piloting a small farm wagon pulled by a pair of burros. O'Hara, 27, had his driver's license revoked under the state's 12-point suspension system. He had been arrested for speeding and for lane-jumping.

"I make four miles an hour at a walk and eight at a trot," he reported philosophically. "Can't do much better in rush hours in a car."

It also gives him a chance to "relax, think and enjoy the scenery."

Madison Ave. Not Just Ulcer Haven

NEW YORK (AP) — All right, what is Madison Avenue?

As a physical entity, Madison Avenue, New York, begins in the relatively sedate, faded elegance of 23d Street and, moving up, expires in the turbulence of north Manhattan, at the Harlem River.

But this is really begging the question.

Madison Avenue is better known as a symbol and state of mind, not a place. Madison Avenue now stands as the capital of the highly competitive, frequently ulcerous, multibillion-dollar advertising businesses.

By almost common agreement among authors of the "hard, fast" novel, the Madison Avenue man is a hollow shell surrounded by fear, so slavishly devoted to uniformity he wears a uniform and talks a special lingo understood only by other tribesmen.

He is, in his fictional state, a man who lives high on the expense account and destroys women, subsists on a strict diet of martinis and tranquilizing pills, develops ulcers, goes to a psychoanalyst, finds his "sure self," gives up the rat race and retires to a New England village to write the definitive novel about Madison Avenue.

Much of this, as you might suspect, has been overdrawn.

There are men in the advertising business who make $25,000 a year and are in hock. Why? For several reasons. One is that living up to the expense account can become personally expensive.

The agency may pay the direct costs of taking a client and his wife to dinner at "21," to the theater and, later, night clubs. But there are hidden, out-of-pocket expenses. Since the client's wife is present, the account executive takes his wife and she, of course, always needs clothes to match the occasion.

The question of the Madison Avenue sex life, I gladly leave to future researchers. On the question of three-martini lunches, I can testify, on the basis of personal experience that some do and some don't. I would say the do's have the don't's by a shade but this, admittedly, is based on unscientific surveys.

There definitely are ulcers and psychiatric tremors in the advertising business but the question of just how many, it would seem, is less important than the climate which brings them on.

The nature of the climate is revealed by the fact that many agencies will not hire a new hand until he has been subjected to intensive psychological testing.

Spartans Take Over First; Hawks Twelfth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Oklahoma's Sooners, on the wave of a record 34-game winning streak, had a new incentive Wednesday for their game with Notre Dame Saturday. They want to win back their position as the country's No. 1 college football team.

Apparently only a decisive victory over the battered Fighting Irish, beaten in four of their five starts, can do it.

It was mainly on the strength of a thorough 47-15 walloping of Notre Dame last Saturday that Michigan State moved into the top position of the weekly Associated Press poll, pushing the Sooners down to the runnerup position.

It marked the first time this year that Oklahoma had failed to top the poll.

Georgia Tech continued in a strong challenging position for national honors, holding third place with a comfortable lead over Tennessee, in fourth. Other members of the top 10 included Michigan, No. 5; Southern California, No. 6; Texas A&M, No. 7; Baylor, No. 8; Ohio State, No. 9; and Mississippi and Texas Christian, tied at No. 10.

This week Michigan State, which has waded through a tougher schedule than Oklahoma's drew 96 of the 156 first place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters. The Spartans amassed a total of 1,459 points on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for a second, etc.

Oklahoma, which whipped Kansas 34-12 without pushing itself, gained 44 for first place votes and a total of 1,356 points.

Georgia Tech has a tough test this week in Tulane, which stunned Mississippi last week. Michigan State plays a good Illinois team. Baylor and Texas A&M clash for the Southwest Conference lead. Southern Cal plays Stanford in a Pacific Coast headliner. Tennessee is host to Maryland, Michigan plays Minnesota, Ohio State faces Wisconsin and Mississippi meets Arkansas.

The top teams, with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses:

| | | | |
|-------------------|----|---------|-------|
| 1. Mich. St. | 96 | (4-0) | 1,459 |
| 2. Oklahoma | 44 | (4-0) | 1,356 |

| 4. Tennessee | 4 | (4-0) | 883 |
| 5. Michigan | 4 | (3-1) | 717 |
| 6. So. Calif. | 2 | (4-0) | 646 |
| 7. Texas A&M | 1 | (4-0-1) | 466 |
| 8. Baylor | 1 | (4-0) | 293 |
| 9. Ohio St. | 1 | (3-1) | 210 |
| 10. Wis. | 1 | (3-1) | 183 |

Illini Hope For Upset Against MSU

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — The "do not disturb" sign is on the meeting room of Illinois Coach Ray Eliot and his staff as they feverishly and hopefully map strategy for upsetting Michigan State Saturday.

Great upsets have been pulled by the Fighting Illini in the past and the spirit of Saturday's Homecoming football classic against the newly top-ranked and undefeated Spartans may provide the incentive to produce another.

However, facing MSU is like playing three teams. Notre Dame found that out last week when the Spartans crushed the Irish 47-14. In so doing, MSU nudged Oklahoma out of the No. 1 spot nationally.

Michigan State has been tabbed as a team without reserves.

"We have our first stringers who start," quips Spartan Coach Duffy Daugherty. "And we have our first stringers who go in to replace them, and our first stringers who go to replace them."

With such solid depth, MSU has netted 1,046 yards rushing against Stanford, Michigan, Indiana and Notre Dame and completed 21 out of 34 passes for 381 yards. In a total of 240 plays, the Spartans have a 5.9 average gain.

Illinois opened its 1956 season by defeating California then lost to Washington, Ohio State and Minnesota. But the Illini appear ready to jell and will present the best team speed MSU has encountered.

They have fine game-breaking backs in Harry Jefferson, Abe Woodson and sophomore Dale Smith, an all-Navy halfback two years at Pensacola. Fleet Bobby Mitchell, all-conference last year as a sophomore, aggravated a leg injury and Eliot says he probably won't play against MSU.

"I'm not saying we don't have a chance — any team that goes onto a field has a chance. But some chances are just slimmer than others."

REBELS CAGE WILDCATS
When Mississippi beat Kentucky 37-7 it marked the Rebels' most substantial victory in the 13-game football series with the Wildcats. The biggest previous Rebel margin came in 1954 when Old Miss won 28-9. Kentucky won by 47-0 score for its largest margin in 1949. The Rebels have won seven of the games with one ending in a tie.

'No Comment' By Evy on Practice

By LARRY DENNIS
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Forest Evashevski can at times be an extremely taciturn person. This he was Tuesday concerning the status of the Iowa football team. He has been practicing earnestly behind closed doors.

"No comment," was all Evashevski would reply to newsmen's questions, an answer which leaves no less up in the air the question of what the Hawkeyes are preparing to throw at Purdue Saturday.

In all probability, the Hawks are continuing to polish a pass defense which has been getting better and better as each week passes. And it will have to be at its best to guard against the fabulous Len Dawson — Lamar Lundy combination with which Purdue has terrorized the Big 10 the last two seasons.

Iowa's line, so far rock-like on defense, will have to be even more so to stop the running of the likes of Mel Dillard and his Boilermaker companions.

As to offense, the word is that Iowa is cooking up nothing new for this all-important tilt at Lafayette. Rather, the consensus is that the Hawkeyes are merely reviewing that half of their offense which has not been used in the four victories to date.

Whatever the case, it is practically certain that Purdue will be the first to learn of Evy's preparations. The Iowa mentor Tuesday said, "We'll see about later in the week." Chances are, however, that the closed-door, closed mouth policy will continue in effect, at least through the Boilermaker game and probably the rest of the season.

MSU Wants to Play Sooners

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Michigan State athletic director Biggie Munn said Tuesday he would like to schedule a football series with Oklahoma.

Michigan State has nudged Oklahoma out of top place in the Associated Press poll on the strength of its 47-14 defeat of Notre Dame.

Munn said, however, it would be "impossible" to talk about a 10-year contract as one report of the projected series had it.

"We're waiting for the Big Ten schedule meeting in December to find out what is decided on the round-robin conference scheduling for 1959 and 1960," Munn said.

"We naturally want to play Notre Dame as an outside opponent and have said so repeatedly. We also would like to play Oklahoma in a home and home series some time in the future if a schedule can be worked out."

Pierce Tops Hurlers in Full Games

NEW YORK — Billy Pierce, slightly built Chicago White Sox lefthander, and Cleveland's Bob Lemon, who went the distance only five times in 1955, put together the best complete game records among major league pitchers in 1956.

The 5-10, 160-pound Pierce finished 21 of the 33 games he started for a complete game average of .636. Lemon had 21 complete games in 35 starts for a .600 mark.

Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, the American League's earned run leader, also finished with .600 as a result of 18 route-going performances in 30 starting assignments.

Lemon was a 20-game winner for the seventh time. Pierce also won 20 games and Ford 19.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also showed Tuesday that Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies topped both circuits in number of complete games, 22. But, while failing to win 20 games for the first time since 1949, Roberts started 37 times for a CG average of .595.

Warren Spahn, veteran Milwaukee southpaw, was runnerup to Roberts in the National League. He had 20 complete games in 35 starts for a .571 rate. Spahn posted three shutouts among his 20 victories.

Frank Lary, durable Detroit righthander, was the only other major league hurler to go the distance 20 times. Bob Friend of Pittsburgh had 19 complete games and Billy Hoelt of Detroit, Early Wynn of Cleveland and Don Newcombe of Brooklyn each had 18.

Newcombe, a 27-game winner in the regular season, started 36. He won two in relief.

Purdue's Backfield Intact for Iowa Tilt

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Purdue had its No. 1 backfield intact Tuesday as the Boilermakers worked on their running game in preparation for Saturday's home football contest against undefeated Iowa.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf limited the workouts to a light contact drill rather than risk injuries before the Iowa tilt.

Touchdown Tendency—

Hawkeyes Vault to 7th; Sooners Lead

By DR. ALLEN N. SMITH

The Iowa Hawkeyes vaulted all the way to seventh place this week in the Touchdown Tendency System of Ratings. The Hawkeyes, tenth last week, also moved to third in the Big Ten standings.

Oklahoma and Michigan State continue to hold the top two positions among the nation's top college teams.

Rating itself No. 1 for the fourth consecutive week, Oklahoma moved past Kansas, 34-12, for its 34th consecutive victory. This win broke the modern college record of 33 straight set by Pittsburgh from 1915 to 1919.

Michigan State's 47-14 trouncing of once proud and potent Notre Dame maintains a close-up 2nd place for the Spartans.

Southern California's earthquake tally against Washington holds the Trojans from seventh to 3rd. Georgia Tech, exhibiting an extremely high touchdown tendency in a 28-7 shellacking of outmanned Auburn, graduates four rungs to 4th.

Rebounding Michigan advances from sixth to 5th. Tennessee, long absent in the race for national honors, vaults from ninth to 6th, after romping over Alabama.

Texas Christian, upset 7-6 by Texas A. & M., skids from fifth to 8th. Texas A. & M. is a strong 9th.

Ohio State's stunning loss to Penn State drops the Buckeyes from third all the way to 10th. Syracuse retains No. 11 and Baylor is again No. 12.

Evicted as the result of these maneuverings is Mississippi. The Rebels plummeted from fourth out of the rankings after their 10-3 loss to Tulane.

The Texas A. & M. — Baylor clash is the only one this week matching members of the top dozen.

Phi Kappa, Sigma Alpha Gain Frat Playoffs

Phi Kappa Psi blasted their way into the playoffs of the Social Fraternity Touch Football League Tuesday with a resounding 26-6 victory over previously unbeaten Phi Kappa.

John Price lead the winners' offensive attack with two touchdowns passes to Doug Whitehead. John Mathews and Gary Thompson scored the other touchdowns for the winners. Whitehead and Thompson added the only extra points of the game.

John Mosley scored the losers' touchdown on a kickoff return. Their try for extra point failed.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon also gained the Social Fraternity playoffs, defeating Sigma Chi, 7-0.

Jerry Kitchen was the big gun of the winners' offense, scoring both their touchdown and extra point.

Delta Chi scored their first win of the season in Social Fraternity play Tuesday, beating Theta Xi 6-0.

The only score of the game came on a pass from Stan Doerr to Al Gholson. The attempt for the extra point was no good.

In Quad-South Quad League action Upper D scored their first victory of the season, beating Upper A, 7-0.

Sooners in Offense Lead

NEW YORK — The mighty Oklahoma Sooners, holder of a modern record of 34 straight victories, remained in front Tuesday by a wide margin in scoring, total offense and rushing among the nation's major college football teams.

Oklahoma has averaged 45.3 points per game, leads in total offense with an average of 459.5 yards in four contests, and in rushing with 396.5 yards.

Figures from the NCAA Service Bureau disclosed that no team in major college history had reached the midway point of the season with a ball-carrying average as high as Oklahoma's 396.5 yards. This is a whopping 75.5 yards better than Southern California, in second place.

Evicted as the result of these maneuverings is Mississippi. The Rebels plummeted from fourth out of the rankings after their 10-3 loss to Tulane.

The Texas A. & M. — Baylor clash is the only one this week matching members of the top dozen.

Estes Says GOP Has Wasted Opportunities

MASON CITY (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver Tuesday accused the Eisenhower administration of "wasted opportunities" for peace and "refusing to look any of the facts of international life squarely in the face."

"Either that, or else it has been guilty of attempting to perpetrate a monstrous fraud upon our people," he said. In a speech prepared for delivery at a rally here, Kefauver declared American prestige has dropped around the world, that peace is on an unsolid footing and that communism has not been stopped "dead in its tracks," as Republicans contend.

He said America "urgently needs an administration that doesn't wear rose-colored glasses," and that "looks facts squarely in the face." "The Eisenhower administration has been so busy bragging its accomplishments — many of which are in the realm of fancy — that it has failed to acknowledge that the alliances upon which our security rests are falling apart at the seams," he said. Keeping on a dawn to midnight schedule, Kefauver campaigned across the heart of the Corn Belt Tuesday.

Gang War Death Leads To Murder Charge

CHICAGO (AP) — Six teenagers Tuesday were reportedly named by the Cook County grand jury in true bills charging them with murdering Warren White, 17, during a gang fight on the Southwest side Oct. 15. Fifteen youths, including the six, also were reportedly named in true bills charging them with conspiracy to riot, unlawful assembly and disturbing the peace. White was shot fatally in the dispute between the two gangs. Two others were hurt.

Record Review—

Mozart Records Hail Bicentennial Year

By WILLIAM DONALDSON

In celebrating this Mozart bicentennial year, record companies have released innumerable recordings of that composer's works. It has been virtually impossible for me to hear all the new Mozart albums, but, of those I've heard, Columbia's $3.98 disc of the "Requiem" is one of the best.

Soloists are Irmgard Seefried, soprano; Leopold Simoneau, tenor; Jennie Tourel, alto; and William Warfield, bass. The Westminster Choir is directed by John Finley Williamson and the Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra of New York is conducted by Bruno Walter.

Walter is, of course, the star of the recording. He never forgets that this is a Mass, and he treats the music with reverence and ecclesiastical fervor. He does not dote on the tragedy of Death, as many conductors do; there is instead a feeling of glorious release in his interpretation.

Walter's singers convey the same emotion — I don't know when I've heard Miss Seefried or Warfield sing so passionately. The chorus and orchestra are magnificent, mainly in the "Kyrie" and Quam olim Abrahamae passages.

Columbia also has issued an LP recording of two symphonies by Roy Harris, the American composer. Eugene Ormandy conducts the Philadelphia Orchestra in the Symphony No. 7, and Serge Koussevitzky is director of the Boston Symphony for the Symphony "1933." (The latter performance is an LP transfer of the old 78 rpm recording.)

The grand instrumentation and smooth, full passages of the Seventh Symphony typify Harris at his best. Ormandy delivers a refined interpretation of the work, full of climactic sweeps, powerful musical transitions, and orderly paces.

Koussevitzky's version of the "1933" Symphony was probably a masterpiece in its day. "It's day," however, was over 20 years ago, and the recording techniques employed at this performance and the tiny sound of the music are enough to embarrass the average music-lover.

"What-sa' matter?" she asked them when a bumbling, big-footed pup stepped on her or fell into her.

Actor Hull To Offer 'Evening with Twain'

Henry Hull, celebrated actor, will present a lecture entitled "An Evening with Mark Twain" today at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Clad in the same attire that Twain wore when lecturing to the American public at the turn of the century, Hull will read excerpts from "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn," "The Innocents Aboard," "A Connecticut Yankee," "The Life of Joan of Arc," and other classic masterpieces.

Henry Hull has been a star in the American theatrical firmament for over 40 years. He has appeared in more than 200 Broadway plays and in almost as many Hollywood motion pictures.

Oddly enough, Hull started in journalism, working as a young boy in the composing room of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, where his father was city editor. His father left the newspaper field and moved his family to New York to manage such famous actresses and actors as Julia Marlowe, Modjeska and John Drew.

Henry Hull's two brothers preceded the rest of the family to New York by going on the stage as members of the famous Florida Sextette.

Henry remained for some time and attended Columbia University as an engineering student. He then went to Canada to work for a telephone company, but returned to New York for the marriage of one of his brothers to Josephine Sherwood, who later became Josephine Hull and most recently appeared in "Harvey" and "The Solid Gold Cadillac" on Broadway.

Hull was encouraged to become an actor and remained with his brothers. He made his professional debut in Pittsburgh in 1911 and spent two years as an actor and stage manager in the Margaret Anglin repertory company.

He had his first big success on Broadway in 1916, when he created the role of Henry Parker in "The Man Who Came Back," in which he starred for two and one-half years.

Notable among the plays in which Hull has appeared are "39 East," "The Cat and the Canary," "Lulu Belle," "Michael and Mary," "Grand Hotel," "The Trial of Joan of Arc," and "Mr. Roberts."

Perhaps his most famous role was that of Jeeter Lester in the original production of "Tobacco Road," in which Hull earned the Broadway critics' award for his brilliant performance.

Hull has also appeared in numerous TV dramas and on radio programs.

Mark Twain, the inspiration for Hull's first tour of America's lecture platforms, is also one of his favorite authors.

"To me," said Hull, "Twain is the spirit of America; the America that was young and great and rough and strong, growing and vibrant with a golden promise. If I can do anything to contribute my mite to his might I am satisfied."

Free tickets to Hull's lecture tonight are available at the information desk of the Union.

Radio station WSUI will broadcast a tape-recorded interview with Hull at 9:45 a.m. Nov. 2 on the program "Morning Feature" with Shirley Gillespie.

Couple Killed, Two Hurt in Car Crash

DAVENPORT (AP) — An elderly Davenport couple was killed and two other persons were seriously injured in a two-car collision at the junction of Jersey Ridge Road and Highway 6 here Tuesday evening.

Killed were Edward S. Youngs and his wife Edith, of Davenport. Their daughter, Bernice Mildred Youngs, and Jimmie Lee Connell, who police said was driving the other car, were reported in serious condition at a hospital.

Authorities said the Connell automobile hit the Youngs car broadside as Youngs was turning onto Highway 6 from Jersey Ridge Road.

He had his first big success on Broadway in 1916, when he created the role of Henry Parker in "The Man Who Came Back," in which he starred for two and one-half years.

you can (br-r-r!) avoid it this winter...

(if you have an automatic gas incinerator!)

No matter how you figure it, no matter how you work to avoid it... sooner or later you've got to take out that trash and garbage. Every day. No matter what. Freezing Rain, Sleet, Snow, Sub-zero gales. Makes no difference. The garbage must go out. — That is, UNLESS you have an automatic gas incinerator.

Then, just a few warm steps to your incinerator (conveniently located INSIDE your home where suitable venting is available), lift the lid — dump the garbage — and forget it. Go enjoy your easy chair, the evening paper, or TV. Gas reduces bushels of garbage to a mere handful of fine, white ashes. Bones, husks, paper, rags, boxes — your gas incinerator takes care of all of them.

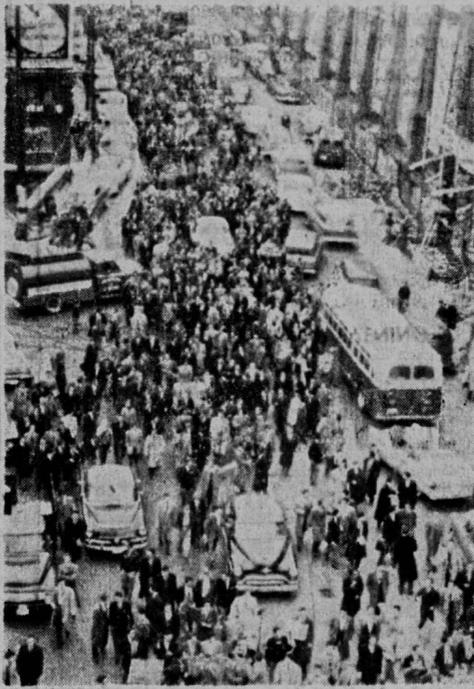

No more breaking up that pleasant after-dinner period with a messy, dirty job. No more cold, dark sleet trips out to garbage and trash cans.

Yes, there's one way you can avoid winter's most disagreeable job.

ONE THOUSAND LAVAL University students marched en masse to the legislative buildings in Quebec City Tuesday to protest the provincial government's refusal to accept federal financial aid for the universities proposed by Prime Minister St. Laurent. Church Windows Get Modern Touch

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Modern art is catching up with stained glass windows in churches but it hasn't been easy.

Emil Frei, who pioneered in the field after learning the old world trade from his dad, says "We even had to fight to get it but it is inevitable that contemporary windows will be used in more and more churches."

Stained glass in most church windows is illustrated with Biblical figures and scenes. The idea is still there but Frei puts it in a contemporary vein.

It takes about one year to finish one of Frei's windows. They can contain up to 200 pieces of glass per square foot.

Cost of the works of art runs anywhere from $10 to $125 per square foot depending on how much painting detail is needed and the number of glass segments.

Frei's firm, Emil Frei Inc., is one of about 250 major producers of stained glass works in the nation. The major centers of production are Boston, Philadelphia, Milwaukee and St. Louis.

Frei, a slender, soft-spoken man of 61, learned the age-old art from his late father, Emil Frei Sr., a painter in Germany who founded the company here in 1898.

A third generation Frei, Robert, is already at work in the plant to carry on the family tradition.

Frei, who is balding and wears a mustache, admits contemporary church windows "aren't the most popular" but says they are just following in the footsteps of architectural patterns.

"Traditional architecture isn't taught except as a history course any more," Frei says, "and a pictorial window would be totally out of place in a modern building."

Stained glass works around the turn of the century, says Frei, were "mostly glass with the lovely qualities of light shut out by paint."

A Message from

Ed Johnson M.E., Class of '51

to UNIVERSITY OF IOWA GRADUATING ENGINEERS

"You'll reach the top faster with a smaller company like Emerson Electric where there is greater diversification and continued planned expansion."

"Only in a smaller company like Emerson Electric can you meet management on common ground, discuss with top brass your individual problems and plans. Together you work out new ideas... and they're more than willing to give yours a try. And there's more diversification in your duties."

"Furthermore, at Emerson your daily contacts include sales, purchasing and production departments. You have the opportunity to learn, first hand, all company functions... knowledge that's invaluable when you're on the way to the top. If that's your ambition, then Emerson has the job for you."

The ink was barely dry on Ed Johnson's M.E. degree before he started at Emerson Electric. His has been a real success story, and after just six years with the company it isn't finished by any means. Ed's first Emerson job was in the production department, an administrative assistant. From there, he moved on to shop foreman. In Ed's own words... "I wouldn't trade the experience gained there for anything, the most valuable in the world to me today." Next, to tool project engineer, then on to senior man in this same division. In his present position, Assistant Chief Methods Engineer, he has responsibility for tooling the entire Emerson Plant.

Whatever your preferred field of engineering specialization, there is a gateway to career progress waiting for you at Emerson. Commercially, since 1899, Emerson has been a leading producer of fans, motors, air conditioners, welders, and power tools. The Electronics and Avionics Division, a leader nationally since 1940, designs, develops, and manufactures active defense systems for bombers, supersonic air frames, mortar locators, missiles and rockets like the Honest John.

Find out how you can get in on the ground floor of this fast growing, medium sized company. Meet Emerson's engineering representatives and talk your career over with them. Firm job offers can be made. If it's impossible for you to make a date, be sure to write or call A. L. Depke, Office and Technical Placement Supervisor, for full details.
