Stassen Says Name 'False'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Telegrams urging Republican leaders to keep the country "safe from the Nixons and Knowlands" turned up Thursday under Harold E. Stassen's name, but he quickly labeled them "fraudulent."

The wires called for the election of Meade Alcorn, Connecticut, to succeed Leonard Hall as GOP national chairman.

They were considered more likely to have a "kiss of death" effect, if any effect at all, on Alcorn's chances for the post, heretofore for punishing perpetrators of hoax telegrams, as long as no money fraud is involved.

In New York, a Western Union spokesman said two men entered the Stamford office just before it closed at midnight Wednesday. A girl operator was the only one on duty.

One of the men filed 44 night letters, all with the signature Harold E. Stassen. He repeated several times to the operator that his name was not to be confused with any other Harold Stassen but should be signed specifically Harold E. Stassen.

Western Union said he gave a Chevy Chas., Md., address and a telephone number there which he said was that of Harold E. Stassen. The girl had heard of Stassen but had never seen him. She described the man as tall, well-dressed and impressive. He paid for the night letters in cash.

Stassen's office in Washington said he had gone to New York Tuesday and, as far as the office knew, had not left there for Stamford or any place else.

Committee members arrived in Washington Thursday in advance of a weekend meeting. Friday they will name a subcommittee to confer with President Eisenhower about Hall's successor.

The election will be by the full committee at a meeting next Tuesday.

Eisenhower is reported strong for Alcorn, who was Connecticut's citizens for Eisenhower chairman in the 1932 election and national convention arrangements chairman last year.

rated excellent.

Stassen's name is an anathema in some Republican quarters as a result of his aborted attempt last summer to knock Vice-President Richard Nixon off the GOP ticket. Anything he supported would automatically tempt fire from those quarters.

The telegrams, sent from Stamford, Conn., were first disclosed by Rep. B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, a Republican committee member and former chairman.

Reece, known as a "Taft Republican" like Senate Republican Leader Richard Knowland of California, told reporters the telegram he received was marked "confidential" and that it said:

"The time has come for liberals to take a stand. Let's keep the future of the party and country safe from the Nixons and Knowlands. Let's elect Meade Alcorn chairman and really clean up the mess."

Stassen, at the United Nations in New York as President Eisenhower's disarmament assistant, said: "I have sent no telegram. I have authorized no telegram. This is a false and fraudulent telegram and I am starting an immediate investigation to find out who is responsible for putting my name on it."

Israel To Quit Gaza If Rights Guaranteed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel offered Thursday to withdraw from the Gaza strip and the Sharm el Sheikh gateway to the Gulf of Aqaba if the UN could arrange lasting protection for Israel's rights in those vital areas.

Mrs. Golda Meir, Israeli foreign minister, announced this conditional offer to the UN Assembly as it again began debate on the Israeli withdrawal from Egypt.

Fresh from top-level talks in Jerusalem, she told the Assembly it would not be enough for the UN Emergency Force to occupy those controversial areas. She said Israel wanted guarantees, perhaps from the principal shipping in the Aqaba area and that Israel wanted to discuss a solution for Gaza.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. delegate, answered her with a renewed and blunt demand for Israel to pull out of Gaza and Sharm el Sheikh immediately.

The U.S. view is that work on a permanent settlement between Israel and Egypt can begin only when Israel has pulled back behind the 1949 armistice lines.

Lodge announced his support of a resolution introduced in the Assembly by 24 Asian-African countries.

The resolution asks Hammarskjöld to report completion of Israel's withdrawal within five days. Lodge said the United States feels it is important that the UN Emergency Force move in immediately behind the withdrawing Israeli forces in order to assure the maintenance of the cease-fire and to safeguard the 1949 armistice agreement.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov announced he would vote for the resolution.

Say Tito To Visit U.S. For Meeting With Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Yugoslavia are reported to have agreed that Marshal Tito should visit the United States in late April, around Easter time.

Diplomatic informants said the visit the White House as guest of President Eisenhower.

Tito also would tour the United States for about two weeks afterward.

Strong opposition voiced to Tito's visit by some congressmen and American Catholic groups apparently has failed to prevent the White House from going through with earlier plans to invite Tito to this country.

The White House can be expected to emphasize, in any formal announcement of arrangements for a Tito visit, that it in no way means American approval of Yugoslavia's Communist form of government or Yugoslav approval of America's government system.

The main point stressed in explaining the visit is that Tito, because he successfully defied Kremlin domination since 1948, is an important world figure in Eastern Europe who can help the West in its fight against Russian-style communism.

Evidence Missing In Doctor's Case

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — Important evidence in the murder case against the prosperous society doctor, John Bodkin Adams, was reported mysteriously missing Thursday night.

Scotland Yard admitted that a 1,000 pound ($2,800) check that one of the doctor's rich patients gave him before she died had "disappeared" at her inquest.

Unaccounted for also were five prescriptions for drugs which the doctor is said to have ordered for a comely 50-year-old widow, Mrs. Gertrude Joyce Hullett, who died in July last year.

Bartender's Stand on Liquor-by-Drink

By TOM EPPERSON

Most Iowa City bartenders want a liquor-by-the-drink law in Iowa but some doubt whether Johnson County would adopt the measure if it was passed on a county-option basis.

Robert Lynes, owner of The Airliner, 22 S. Clinton, said he believed other states with liquor-by-the-drink are having no difficulties. Lynes said it is hard to stop the sale of liquor over the bar in some of the river towns.

He added that the state is losing a lot of money by not legalizing liquor-by-the-drink sale. Under present conditions, taverns in these river towns don't need to buy a license, Lynes declared, and are selling liquor without increasing revenue within the state.

Perry S. Holdeman, a bartender at Kenney's Tavern, 24 S. Clinton, said Johnson County would definitely adopt the liquor-by-the-drink measure if proposed on a county-option plan.

However, Donald Kessler, owner of Kessler's restaurant and tavern at 223 S. Dubuque believes that the influence of SUI would keep Johnson County "dry."

A bartender at Joe's Place, 115 Iowa Ave., who asked to remain anonymous, said the outlying small towns in the county would swing the county for over-the-bar sale of liquor.

He favors retention of the system requiring taverns to obtain supplies from liquor stores.

The same bartender believes re-apportionment is needed before Iowa could pass the law. The minority of the voters are represented by the majority of the legislators now, he declared.

A county-option law would leave it up to the voters of each county to determine the liquor sale status of their county.

Lieutenant Detective Harland F. Sprinkle, of the Iowa City Police Department, said there have been no raids and no complaints about illegal liquor sale in Iowa City for several years. All liquor

Loveless Asks for Tax Cut, Reapportioning, Liquor Study

DES MOINES (AP) — Extensive streamlining of state government was proposed by Herschel Loveless, Iowa's new governor, in a speech Thursday which promptly drew varied reactions from legislators.

In his inaugural address, Loveless told the assembled legislators and visitors he would outline his tax program in his budget message later on. But he called for sweeping ing overhaul of state government along some of the lines proposed by the "Little Hoover Commission."

Among other things Loveless: Recommended a joint legislative committee to report to this session on liquor control legislation.

Requested return of the sales tax to 2 per cent, effective June 30. Asked action on legislative re-apportionment.

Called for repeal of the law against the union shop.

Requested better school reorganization and state aid distribution laws.

Called for creation of a Department of Labor, Department of Public Welfare, Department of Conservation and a Department of Commerce and Industry. He urged that these departments take over the functions of 12 existing state agencies and that each department have a single administrative head appointed by the governor.

Loveless also asked for a "non-political civil service for state government," expanded agricultural research, a reasonable highway speed limit law, abolition of the Commerce Commission, water rights legislation, a state public housing act and a long-range highway planning program.

Loveless made his inaugural address shortly after becoming the first Democrat to take the oath of office as governor of Iowa since 1936.

Senators, Unionists Clash Over Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators put the International Brotherhood of Teamsters on notice Thursday to state whether it is encouraging witnesses "to hide and conceal facts" about alleged labor racketeering.

Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee said he would expect an answer today from Elinor O. Mohr, an international vice-president of the teamsters union.

McClellan, declaring Thursday, "I lay it on the line now," told Mohr he would be asked today "whether it is to be your policy that people are to be encouraged to come here and take the Fifth Amendment to hide and conceal facts about alleged diversion of union funds for private gain."

Whether it is to be your policy that people are to be encouraged to come here and take the Fifth Amendment to hide and conceal facts about alleged diversion of union funds for private gain."

Trustees of two New York labor union locals refused Thursday to tell the senators whether they received an aggregate of more than $9,000 from their locals.

Both Fred Virgilio and Alfred Petrozza invoked the Fifth Amendment.

In a bitter exchange with Petrozza, Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), charged that "this money was just stolen from union coffers. Some of it went to you and some of it went to others."

quor control caused Rep. Clark McNeal (R-Belmont), to say:

"I'm going to introduce a resolution requesting the governor to appoint such a committee with two-thirds of the members from his own party."

Sen. Alan Vest (R-Sac City), Senate President Pro tem: "He presented much material for us to think about on his liquor proposal. I am not against a review of the present law for purposes of control, but I would want to scrutinize any measure carefully to make certain it is a control measure rather than a revenue measure in disguise."

Sen. D. C. Nolan (R-Iowa City), GOP floor leader in the Senate, said "the speech was quite well delivered" and said he thought the Tax Study Committee recommendations would be "fully considered." He expressed doubt over feasibility of some of Loveless' suggestions for streamlining.

Loveless took the oath at 2:30 p.m. from Chief Justice William L. Bliss, Mason City, of the Iowa Supreme Court. His predecessor, Gov. Leo A. Hoegh, (R-Chariton), had turned the "keys of state" over to him Thursday morning just before leaving for Washington and the Eisenhower inaugural day train.

William H. Nicholas, (R-Mason City), returned to the post of lieutenant governor which he held once before. He was sworn in after Loveless. Nicholas succeeds Leo Elthon of Fertile.

The inauguration in the flower-bedecked chamber was preceded by music by a string quartet from SUI and vocal numbers by The Songfellows, a quartet from Des Moines.

Lt. Gov. Elthon, who closed out 24 years of service to state government by turning the gavel over to incoming Lt. Gov. Nicholas, was presented a diamond studded tiepin on behalf of members of the Senate.

Plane Crew Dies in Crash

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — An Air Force plane carrying 12 crew members crashed and blew to bits in snow and predawn darkness Thursday after its takeoff on a 3,700-mile weather observation flight.

Territorial police and Air Force officers said there were no survivors.

The Air Force reported eight bodies had been found. Five were burned beyond recognition in the twisted and charred wreckage of the four-prop plane.

The four-engine WB-50, heavily loaded with gasoline for its long mission, crashed and exploded in all-engulfing flames two minutes after the takeoff at 7 a.m. from the Eielson Air Force Base. Eielson is 26 miles southeast of this central Alaska city.

Television cameraman Norm Holve, who reached the grim scene an hour after the crash, said, "It looked as though a bomb had exploded."

The plane, an improved version of the famed B-29 Superfortress of World War II, had taken off from the 14,000-foot runway, one of the longest in the world.

The cause of the disaster was a mystery. The takeoff appeared to have been normal.

The names of the victims were withheld until notification of their families.

Two Killed, 1 Hurt In Bomber Crash

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A B-57 bomber crashed at Briggs Air Force Base near El Paso Thursday, killing two persons and injuring another.

The two dead were aboard the plane. A man working in the motor pool where the plane crashed was slightly injured.

Officers at the base said the big plane, from the 1st Tow Target Squadron, crashed in the motor pool area about 4:30 p.m. while making a landing approach.

The plane struck two buildings, destroyed two trucks and damaged several others. A gasoline-truck caught fire following the crash.

'Atheistic' Red Refers to God, Hereafter

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev Thursday night praised Stalin as a model Communist in his fight for the workers.

Nearly a year ago Khrushchev denounced the late dictator as a mass murderer, assailed "the cult of the individual," and questioned Stalin's communism.

Roars of approval by the audience and wild applause by visiting Chinese Premier Chou En-lai greeted Khrushchev's statement at a reception given by Chou for Kremlin leaders.

The party chief was needed by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

With Soviet brandy and Chinese wine flowing freely in toasts of friendship and mutual praise, the red-faced, exuberant Khrushchev grabbed a microphone to make a speech that began:

"I don't need to say that I'm a Communist."

Bulganin interrupted: "But some people say you are a Stalinist."

"I am a Stalinist," Khrushchev whipped back, "but I don't separate Stalinism and Stalin from communism, as a Communist fighting for the interest of the working class, Stalin was a model Communist."

"We have criticized Stalin, we still criticize Stalin as a bad Communist as far as the interests of the working classes are concerned."

"Stalin had his bad points. Lenin saw them before we did and pointed them out. They were borne out. The defects were bad."

"But in the things that counted, that is the interests of the working class, God grant that every Communist should fight for the interest of the working class as Stalin did."

The audience roared approval again. It included foreign diplomats who have recognized Red China. Western correspondents were present.

The Soviet party and government leaders looked more cheerful and acted more playful than at any other time in public since the Hungarian revolution broke out three months ago.

Soviet ex-Premier Georgi Malenkov, who had been a Stalin secretary and is regarded now as one of the moderating influences in the Kremlin, stood by silent and unsmiling as Khrushchev wildly waved his arms and the party members exploded laughter and applause.

Khrushchev spoke up for Stalin and Stalinism at a Kremlin banquet New Year's Eve, startling his listeners but setting what is obviously a new Kremlin policy toward the late dictator.

Khrushchev said capitalism must inevitably perish.

"Whether they like it or not they must die," he said. "It is like a pregnant woman who is about to give birth. You can't tell her to put it off. She has to give birth. It is a natural phenomenon. It is the same with the death of capitalism. Of course we will contribute what we can."

Khrushchev proposed toasts to the Chinese Communists and admitted that some people present might not wish to join in but added, pointing heavenward:

"If you don't it will be counted against you in the final reckoning up there."

At the 20th Congress of the Soviet Communist party last February Khrushchev denounced the dead dictator as an apostle of the most brutal terror and political murder.

The denunciation brought a wave of de-Stalinization throughout the whole Communist world. It was credited with splitting Communist parties abroad and setting the stage for unrest in the satellites which erupted in the Hungarian revolt and the national communism course attempted by Poland.

His several references to God and a hereafter do not match the atheistic creed of Kremlin leaders.

A Better Seating Plan

The Student Council Wednesday night adopted a three-point program for revising the present football seating plan.

The proposals were presented by a special committee, created by the Council to study the seating situation.

The provisions will now be presented to the Board in Control of Athletics for consideration.

The Council recommended:

1. Two ticket distribution points, or a more centrally located single point.
2. Extension of the student seating section from the 50-yard line north, as far as is necessary to guarantee a seat to each student who wishes one.
3. Permitting one student to present his and one other ID card and obtain two reserved seats in the student section.

STUDENTS are not happy with the plan used during the 1956 season. It was an inconvenience for the majority of the student body to go to the Fieldhouse to pick up a ticket. Students who wished to sit together, could not do so unless they went en masse to pick up their tickets. These were well-founded gripes and deserved consideration.

DURING the 1956 season, there was one ticket distribution point, located in the Fieldhouse. While this was convenient for the students living in Hillcrest, the Quad, South Quad, Stadium Park and perhaps the Commons and Westlawn, it was inconvenient for the students living on the east side of the Iowa River.

A distribution point on the east side of the river is a necessity, but to eliminate the one at the Fieldhouse would be a mistake. It has the facilities for mass distribution of tickets and still would be used by a significant number of students.

PERMITTING ONE STUDENT to obtain two tickets with two ID cards is a legitimate request.

Consider the following illustration:

A student living in Hillcrest has a date with a coed living in Currier Hall. Under the present plan, the coed must make a special trip to the Fieldhouse with her date to obtain seats together.

It is a short walk from Hillcrest to the Fieldhouse. Wouldn't it be simpler if the coed met her date on the main campus, give him her ID, and he picked up both tickets?

Besides, there is little chance that a person, not enrolled at SU1, can "sneak in" with a ticket obtained by using a student's ID. He must present the ticket and the ID card to be granted entrance.

The committee proposed, and the Council adopted, a recommendation that the student seating section be extended from the 40 yard line north, to the 50 yard line north. This too is a reasonable request, for who deserves the best seats at a game?

THE RECOMMENDATIONS approved by the Student Council are not flagrant or illogical. They are reasonable requests, based on sound consideration of the difficulties of the present plan.

Student criticism has not attacked the idea of a seating plan. It has been directed against its operation during the 1956 season.

The Council has acted to improve the operation of the seating plan. We urge the Board in Control of Athletics to approve their recommendations.

Loveless Speech

Abridged Version

REPRESENTATION

There is no lack of information on the inequities of the present pattern, nor on the methods available for the attainment of a more representative assembly. We do not need further, time-consuming special studies of this matter. Rather, the need is for action to restore adequate representation to a large segment of our population, and thereby to regain the widespread public support for the legislative branch without which representative government is in jeopardy.

Therefore, I strongly urge the 7th General Assembly to:

1. Take action designed to correct the present lack of balance in representation; and
2. Establish a dependable method which will facilitate future adjustments in representation without the lags which have persisted in recent decades.

ORGANIZATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT

In 1949, the 3rd General Assembly provided for the establishment of the Governmental Reorganization Commission generally known as the "Little Hoover Commission." The Commission was directed to examine the organization and operation of the various state agencies and departments and to recommend such changes as would accomplish the following purposes:

1. reduction of expenditures and promotion of economies;
2. increased efficiency of governmental operations;
3. reduction of agencies by a consolidation of those having similar functions; and
4. elimination of overlapping and duplicative activities.

After a detailed study of the organization and functions of the more than 80 administrative agencies, the Commission concluded that "the machinery of the present state government is adapted to times and conditions that no longer exist." The Commission, in its 1950 "Report," made a series of recommendations for the reorganization of state government agencies and departments, and for the regrouping of functions to eliminate duplication and overlapping. The Commission concluded that the adoption of its recommendations would not only improve service to the public, but would also permit "a substantial savings of up to $5,000,000 annually."

Three General Assemblies have met since the "Report" of the Governmental Reorganization Commission was submitted. Yet, very few of the recommendations of the Commission have been enacted. In the meantime, appropriations from the General Fund of the State of Iowa have risen from an annual rate of slightly over $80 million in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949, to an annual rate in excess of $136 million during the current year. The time has come when the consideration of measures designed to improve the efficiency of state government can no longer be delayed.

The taxpayers of Iowa are already carrying a tax load far heavier than that borne by the residents of most states. While every reasonable effort must be made to maintain and improve the quality of essential governmental services, the State of Iowa can not move forward under the handicap of obsolete governmental structures. Nor can the taxpayers be expected to continue, indefinitely, to provide increased financial support for duplicative activities and overlapping functions arising from faulty organization and the absence of clear cut lines of administrative responsibility.

In order to provide improved public services, and to promote efficiency in state government, I strongly urge the 57th General Assembly to enact legislation which will implement the following recommendations of the Little Hoover Commission:

1. The abolition of the Commerce Commission and the transfer of its present activities to other agencies of state government. The present appropriation of the Commerce Commission is almost one quarter of a million dollars per year. While some additional expenses might be incurred in other areas to which the functions of the Commerce Commission would be transferred, substantial savings could be effected.
2. The establishment of a Department of Labor, with a single administrative head appointed by the Governor. The proposed department would be responsible for the functions now assigned to the Industrial Commissioner, the Bureau of Labor, and the Division of Mine Examination.
3. The establishment of a Department of Public Welfare, with a single Commissioner, appointed by the Governor. The proposed Department would be responsible for the functions presently under the Board of Control, the Board of Social Welfare, and Commission for the Blind. All of the multi-member boards would be abolished.
4. The establishment of a Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, with a single administrative head appointed by the Governor. The proposed Department would be responsible for the related functions now scattered through several agencies, including the Conservation Commission, the Geological Survey, the Natural Resources Council, and the Soil Conservation Commission.

PERSONNEL POLICY

In order to facilitate the development of an efficient, dedicated, professional state civil service, I strongly recommend the immediate establishment of a nonpolitical civil service for the state government. It no longer seems consistent with the best interest of all the people of Iowa to regard state appointments on a political basis.

Therefore, I call upon the General Assembly to join with me in the establishment of an effective merit system for the State of Iowa, by creating a Department of Civil Service. I propose, further, that the Department be administered by an appointive Director of Personnel, whose regulations would be subject to the approval of a three-member Civil Service Commission, which would also be empowered to hear appeals in cases of dismissal.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY

Since 1948, Iowans as a whole have failed to enjoy the rapid growth in income which has characterized the national economy. In fact, from 1948 to 1955, the income of the citizens of Iowa increased by only slightly more than 7 per cent, while income in the nation as a whole was rising by over 46 per cent. Since 1940, Iowa's population has increased only 6 per cent, while population in the nation has risen almost 25 per cent. From 1940 through 1954 the State of Iowa retained less than 30 per cent of its natural increase in population.

The future progress of the State of Iowa depends upon the attainment of a more rapid rate of growth in economic opportunities for the youth of the state. To encourage economic development on a broad base, and to stimulate expanded employment opportunities I urge the establishment of a Department of Commerce and Industry which will function as 1) a developmental agency, 2) a sponsor and coordinator of business and economic research, and 3) a service agency to Iowa's business and commercial establishments.

The proposed Department of Commerce and Industry would be under a single administrative head with an advisory council, both appointed by the Governor.

A Department of Commerce and Industry is the logical agency to guide and accelerate Iowa's participation in the industrial applications of atomic energy. More specifically, the proposed Department would:

1. Coordinate research activities within Iowa, and sponsor joint projects with the Atomic Energy Commission;
2. Assume the initiative in securing a research reactor for use by the state's institutions of higher education for basic and applied research directed to the use of atomic power in Iowa's industrial plants;
3. Serve as a clearing house through which research findings are made available to prospective industrial users.

The people of Iowa have contributed, through Federal taxation, more than $100 million to the development of atomic energy. It seems appropriate that we should take immediate steps to participate in the benefits to be derived from the peaceful applications of atomic power.

AGRICULTURE

I recommend that the General Assembly give special attention to:

1. An expanded research program designed to enlarge the markets for Iowa's agricultural products, and to stimulate the development of a greater degree of food processing near the centers of primary production. Much of the needed research and development can be accomplished by shifting emphasis from activities designed to increase output, to those designed to the expansion of markets, and the retention of a larger portion of the consumer's food dollar for the Iowa economy.
2. The adequacy of credit available to agricultural producers. At prevailing interest rates and farm income levels, many of our farm producers are hampered by inadequate credit.
3. A program for the efficient utilization of water, through the development of more effective conservation measures, more adequate information on the availability of water resources, and a sound, comprehensive "water rights" law which will protect the interests of all water users.

LABOR

Well over one-half of the total income received by residents of Iowa is made up of wage and salary payments from nonagricultural occupations; over sixty per cent of the labor force is employed in non-agricultural industries. Thus, the terms of employment, working conditions, and employment security vitally affect the livelihood of a substantial proportion of our total population. Because of the growing importance of nonagricultural wage earners in our economy, I have already urged the establishment of a Department of Labor.

I also recommend that the General Assembly modify three features of the laws of Iowa dealing with labor:

1. First, the prohibition of "union shop" contracts between employers and employees should be abolished.
2. Second, the unduly restrictive nature of the disqualifications for unemployment compensation should be modified to bring practices in Iowa into line with those in most other states.
3. Third, in view of the increased cost of medical and hospital services, and the higher cost of living, I recommend that the General Assembly revise the schedule of workmen's compensation benefits.

TAX REVISION

While I cannot agree with all of the recommendations reached by the taxation study committee, I respectfully suggest that the General Assembly give early attention to the Report of the committee for the following reasons:

FIRST, it will be well for the General Assembly to give careful study to matters of equity and tax structure before taking up questions involving the level of appropriations and the amount of revenue to be raised. Although questions of tax structure cannot be separated entirely from those of revenue, many of the more or less obvious defects and sources of inequity can be corrected in the early weeks of the session.

SECOND, in view of the fact that the Report of the committee includes background materials and proposed bills, it will be possible to act on the recommendations with a minimum of delay. As this can be done during the period when the General Assembly is normally engaged in preparatory work, the action I am recommending will contribute to the effective use of the time of members of the General Assembly.

EDUCATION

The people of Iowa are already making substantially greater than national average contributions for the support of public schools. While I know that Iowans want better than just "average" education for the children of this state, we must make renewed efforts to achieve all possible economies consistent with sound educational practices. The presence of inefficiencies in the Iowa public school system is suggested by the facts that: (1) relative to the size of the population, and total public school enrollment, the number of employees is about 25 per cent above the national average, and (2) although the average salary for Iowa's public school teachers is substantially below the national average, the cost per pupil in average daily attendance is higher in Iowa than in the nation. These facts reflect the lack of efficient utilization of teachers in some parts of our school system.

In order to maintain and improve the quality of educational services in Iowa, to equalize the costs of education among the several categories of taxpayers, and to promote economy and efficiency in operation to the educational system, I respectfully urge the 57th General Assembly to:

1. Revise the laws covering school reorganizations, to the end that existing uncertainties in the composition of reorganized districts are removed. At the same time, we must keep in mind the traditions of local control, and the right of appeal to the courts.
2. Require that all areas of the State be included within some high school district at the expiration of a reasonable period of time.
3. Establish formulas for the distribution of present school aids which will encourage adequate educational standards, efficiency in operations, and a more equitable distribution of public school costs.
4. Erect safeguards in the distribution of state aids which will facilitate the attainment of legislative intent that such aids shall relieve local property taxes.

Our state institutions of higher education are confronted with sharply rising enrollments which will require additional staff and physical plant if the opportunities of higher education are to continue to be made available to all the youth of Iowa. Yet, confronted with a shortage of competent, trained college teachers, with active demands for their services from institutions in other states, and from industry, the salary levels at Iowa's institutions of higher education are among the lowest to be found in comparable institutions in the Midwest. Iowa's institutions can not hope to hold their established position as leaders in education, research, and public service at existing salary levels. The Budget Message will contain specific proposals for coping with this critical situation.

In the matter of capital improvements, the needs are also urgent. It can not be expected, however, that the State can wipe out the accumulated backlog of almost twenty years of inadequate capital expenditures in one biennium. But we must assume the joint responsibility of providing at least a temporary solution until a long range program can go into operation. And we must also initiate the long range program in the current session to avoid further "stop-gap" financing for capital expansion.

In higher education — no less than in the public schools — we must take the necessary steps to ensure efficiency in the use of taxpayers' dollars. To this end, I urge the General Assembly to give consideration to the study of ways of promoting more effective uses of personnel and physical plant.

HIGHWAYS

1. The General Assembly enact legislation establishing a long-range highway planning program;
2. The General Assembly re-examine the present method of allocating highway-user revenues to determine if funds are being allocated to those parts of the system where the needs are most pressing. As the economy of the state changes, the demands on public transportation facilities also change. Adherence to an outmoded allocation formula will almost certainly result in excessive funds going to some uses, and inadequate funds to others.
3. The General Assembly examine the potential savings which might be realized from the standardization of design.
4. The General Assembly enact legislation providing for the establishment of an urban highway department. The functions of such a department would be primarily research, planning, and advisory.
5. The granting of contract for construction in the primary system be geared to a reasonable and prudent estimate of funds available. Excessive commitments at any one time can result in loss of flexibility.

HIGHWAY SAFETY

The tragic loss of lives on Iowa's highways is a matter of serious concern to all of us. The public has rightly come to expect that action will be taken to promote highway safety.

Yet, there is no magic formula, or simple piece of legislation which will automatically make our highways safe. The problem is a complex one, and a satisfactory solution requires a coordinated attack along the following lines:

FIRST, we must strengthen our driver education and testing programs in order to discover accident-prone drivers before they are involved in serious accidents.

SECOND, we must devote a larger share of our highway resources to new highways of modern design, built to carry today's traffic, rather than to temporary, stop-gap expedients which frequently serve only to create a false sense of security on the part of the driver, and to postpone the eventual day of basic reconstruction.

THIRD, the enforcement of traffic regulations must be improved. To this end, I urge the General Assembly to examine the organization and operations of the Department of Public Safety, and to inquire into all matters affecting the morale and efficiency of the Highway Patrol.

FOURTH, I recommend the enactment of legislation establishing a reasonable speed limit. While a "speed limit" law will not automatically reduce accidents and fatalities, it can be a useful part of an overall program.

ALCOHOL CONTROL

The present Liquor Control Commission and the state-owned system of stores were established in 1933, after the people of the State had voted by a margin of more than 3 to 2 in favor of the repeal of prohibition. At the time the present package plan of distribution was established, there was little recent experience to serve as a guide in setting up of a system of control. Although a vast amount of experience has accumulated in Iowa and in other states in the past quarter of a century, the Iowa system has not been modified substantially since it was established.

An adequate system for the control of the sale and use of alcoholic beverages should be based upon a careful consideration of several factors:

FIRST, the system of control should provide adequate safeguards for the general welfare of all the citizens of the State; second, the system should encourage moderation in the use of alcoholic beverages; and, third, the system of control should protect the states' legitimate revenues from the sale of alcoholic beverages. All of these objectives must be sought within the framework of a system of laws for which public support can be secured. In the final analysis, law enforcement in a democracy rests upon public opinion and widespread social support for the law of the land. An attempt to enforce laws for which such support is lacking invites the methods of the "police state;" if enforcement is not attempted, the equally fatal danger of contempt for law is ever present.

Because the "liquor control problem" raises issues about which Iowans have quite different and strongly held views, a solution equally satisfactory to all groups will be difficult to achieve. Therefore, I strongly urge the establishment of a joint legislative com-

Macmillan

Three by-elections in Great Britain next month could vitally affect the future of Harold Macmillan, new Prime Minister.

Most important will be the marginal controversy of Lewisham North, which the Conservatives carried by only 2,362 votes in 1955. Should the Conservatives lose there and do badly in the other two constituencies Macmillan might be forced to call an election in spite of his 58 majority in the House of Commons.

Eden called an election two weeks after he took office in 1955, but he was then riding high tide of popularity and was certain of strengthening his margin over divided Laborites.

Now the shoe is on the other foot. Labor party men are united; the Conservatives are squabbling. Macmillan's dilemma is that the steps he takes to solidify the Conservative party may weaken him with the British public.

It will be several months before we can be sure Macmillan is seated firmly in the saddle. — DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT AND TIMES.

SUI Textile Course Ends This Week

Ways to economize in purchasing textiles for institutions were featured in the Textile Purchasing Course which closed Tuesday at the SUI Center for Continuation Study under joint sponsorship of the Center and the American Hotel Association.

Tuesday speakers explained purposes and specifications of the new 124 American Standards, set up recently by the American Standards Association to establish minimum performance requirements for most textiles used in hotels, hospitals and other institutions.

Setting up of these standards has given the large-scale purchaser of such institutional textiles as sheets, blankets, bath mats, table linen and towels a yardstick to use in gauging the length of service he can expect from these materials.

Discussing window curtains, L. A. Bradley advised the short course registrants that proper laundry methods can stretch curtain life.

Bradley is manager of the SUI laundry and author of "Hotel Purchasing Guide," which lists and explains the new standards.

Curtains of glass fiber, popular in institutions because it is not inflammable, need special care in both hanging and washing because creasing or bending of the fibers or brushing against them may break or fray these curtains, Bradley explained.

Skirt Linings May Shrink or Pucker

Ames, Iowa — You have a new dressy dress — fashioned with a flared skirt that stands out. You wear it a few times, send it to the cleaners and it comes back — with the seams all puckered. What happened — what can you do?

Built-in linings are the cause of this puckering, according to Opal Roberson, extension clothing specialist at Iowa State College. Here's what usually happens. The dress fabric is dimensionally stable — it won't stretch or shrink in dry cleaning. But the lining, which is built into each seam of the dress, is marquisette. It may be made of 100 percent rayon, or rayon warp — the lengthwise yarns — and nylon filling — the crosswise yarns.

Grad Student To Give Clarinet Recital Sunday

Ronald W. Tyree, G, Des Moines, will present a clarinet recital at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in North Music Hall.

Tyree's recital program has been prepared in partial fulfillment of the requirement for a Ph.D. degree with a major in music literature and performance. Tyree, a graduate assistant in the SUI Department of Music, will be assisted by Prof. Hans Koelbel on the cello and Prof. Norma Cross on the piano.

Tyree's program will open with "Sonata, Opus 120, Number 2" by Brahms, followed by "Trio in B flat major, Opus 11," by Beethoven and Milbaud's "Sonatine."

Jazz Concert In Davenport Saturday Eve

"Modern Jazz for '57" will be presented Saturday night at the Masonic Temple in Davenport by Dick and Don Maw.

Those appearing in the concert will include Chet Baker on the trumpet, a jazz recording artist; Chris Connor, a jazz vocalist; Art Blakey and the Jazz Messengers; the Bob Davis Quartet; Herbie Mann on the flute, and Ralph Sharon, a British pianist.

These people are scheduled to be in Iowa City about 11 a.m. Saturday. They will be at the Campus Record Shop to autograph records and discuss jazz with interested SUI students.

WHO WENT TO THE PROM ... AND WHY

"Hello," said the voice on the telephone. "This is Werther Sigafoos."
"Who?" said Anna Livia Plurabelle.
"Werther Sigafoos," said Werther Sigafoos. "I sit next to you in psych. I'm kind of dumpy and I always wear a sweatshirt."
"I'm afraid I don't remember you," said Anna Livia.
"I'm the one whose lecture notes you've been borrowing for two years," said Werther.
"Oh, yes!" she said. "What do you wish, Walter?"
"Werther," said Werther. "What I wish is to take you to the Junior Prom next April."
"That's months away, Westnor," said Anna Livia.
"Werther," said Werther. "Yes, I know, but you are so round and beautiful that I was afraid you might have a date already."
"As a matter of fact I do, Wingate," said Anna Livia.
"Werther," said Werther. "Oh, drat!"

"I'm kind of dumpy and I always wear a sweatshirt"

Anna Livia did not really have a date, but she was expecting to be asked by Stewart Stalwart, athlete and BMOG, handsome as Apollo, smooth as ivory, driver of a 2.9 litre Bugatti, wearer of faultless tweeds, smoker of Philip Morris Cigarettes, which, even without his other achievements, would by itself stamp him as a man of discrimination, as the possessor of a pleasure-oriented palate, as one who smoked for the pure joy of it, who had sought and found a cigarette brimming over with zest and zip and hearty good fellowship — Philip Morris!

Well sir, Anna Livia waited for Stewart to ask her, but two days before the Prom, to everybody's amazement, he asked Rose-of-Sharon Kinsolving, a nondescript girl with pavement colored hair and a briefcase.

Anna Livia sobbed for a spell and then, not wishing to miss the most gala event of the junior year, she phoned Werther Sigafoos.

"My Prom date has come down with a dread virus," she said, "and I'll accept your invitation, Waldrop."

"Werther," said Werther. "Oh, goody ganders!"
The next day Anna Livia received a phone call from Stewart Stalwart. "My Prom date has come down with a dread virus," he said. "Will you go with me?"

"Certainly," she said and immediately phoned Werther and said, "I have come down with a dread virus and cannot go to the Prom with you, Whipstick."

"Werther," said Werther. "Oh, mice and rats!"
So Anna Livia went to the Prom with Stewart and who do you think they ran into? Rose-of-Sharon with Werther, that's who!

Stewart had felt obliged to ask Rose-of-Sharon because she always did his homework, but she had weaseled out because she really wanted to go with Werther with whom she felt a great oneness because they were both so dumpy. He fell wildly in love with her at the Prom, and today they are married and run a very successful five-minute auto-wash in New Bern, N. C.

Anna Livia and Stewart are happy too. They are still juniors and have not missed a Prom in six years.

Baker Definite Trade Bait Says Scheffing

CHICAGO (AP) — Second sacker Gene Baker is definite "trade bait" in the effort of Manager Bob Scheffing to hoist the Chicago Cubs out of the National League cellar.

Scheffing told a news conference Thursday Baker was the only "attractive" front-line player the Cubs could offer to acquire a much needed centerfielder.

As for the pennant race, Scheffing said he believes the champion Dodgers would be "as good, or better than, last year."

The successor to Stan Hack at the Cub helm said he still had hopes a deal could be made for outfielder Lee Walls of the Pittsburgh Pirates or Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phils.

This would be with Baker as the key Cub exchange.

Scheffing expressed confidence that K. C. Wise, one of nine players he is bringing up from his championship Los Angeles club of last season, could take over at Baker's second base spot.

"We haven't been able to satisfy either Pittsburgh or Philadelphia in our attempt to trade an infielder for an outfielder," said Scheffing, "but the door hasn't been closed in our face."

While Baker and shortstop Ernie Banks have been a strong second base combination for the lowly Cubs, Scheffing indicated that Banks could be shifted elsewhere in the infield.

If Dee Fondy could be traded off, another possibility conceded by Scheffing, Banks might play first base. Or he could be used at third base as well, if bonus shortstop Jerry Kindall, former U. of Minnesota star, can make the grade.

The Cubs already have dealt for four players Scheffing said would figure prominently in the 1957 campaign, including catcher Charlie Silveira from the New York Yankees, third sacker Ray Jablonski from the Cincinnati Redlegs, and pitchers Tom Poholsky and Jackie Collum from the St. Louis Cardinals.

It is possible, Scheffing said, that three Cub starting positions could be filled by his former Los Angeles proteges. Besides Wise at second base — or third base, if Baker stays — left field might go to Jim Bolger, Jim King or Bob Speake, and center field to Gale Wade. All four had previous Cub trials before helping Scheffing win the Pacific Coast title last year.

Walt Moryn, a solid acquisition from Brooklyn last year, figures to play right field.

Ex-Yankee Silveira would be the starting catcher if the season opened tomorrow and Banks would be in there, wherever it might be, Scheffing said.

Scheffing's big pitching three, he said, would be veteran Bob Rush and two brilliant newcomers, Moe Drabowsky and Don Kaiser. Poholsky and Collum may be "spot" starters, with Turk Lown and Vito Valentini strict relief pitchers.

Undefeated Ramblers Whip St. Pats, 74-49

By DALE KUETER
(Daily Iowan Sports Writer)

St. Mary's chalked up their ninth Northeast Catholic Conference victory without a loss Tuesday night, as they crushed cross-town rival St. Patrick's 74-49 at the Iowa City High School gymnasium.

It amounted to the same old story of too much Dennis (the Menace) Walljasper and teammate Don Lumsden. Walljasper, 6-5 senior, eased in 21 points, but his efforts were topped by Lumsden who took scoring honors with 24 tallies. High for St. Pats was Frank Ryan who scored 15 points.

The Ramblers worked like a vast machine as they stretched their winning streak to 23 games, carried over from last season's championship campaign.

A screaming St. Pat's cheering section had high hopes in the opening minutes, but the phenomenal Walljasper soon took over. The only prestige held by St. Pat's was an early short-lived first quarter lead. The Irish managed to bottle up St. Mary's offense in part of the first quarter, but it wasn't long before the Rambler's sewed things up.

Both teams displayed first quarter jitters by wild passes and shooting. It took the initial period for St. Mary's to warm up, before Walljasper and Lumsden led an assault resulting in a half time margin of 20-17 for St. Mary's. The two accounted for 27 of the Rambler's first half total of 28.

The next home game for St. Mary's is a conference battle with St. Columbkille of Dubuque on Jan. 21.

A.L. To Play 237 At Night

CHICAGO (AP) — The growing trend of night baseball in the major leagues was underscored again Thursday as the American League announced a 1957 playing slate that will include a record 237 nocturnal tilts.

The National League Tuesday posted a schedule crammed with a record 256 night games, including an arielighted season opener April 16 between Brooklyn and the Phils at Philadelphia.

The American League's night game total is 9 ahead of last year's scheduled 228, of which 226 were played.

Baltimore and Kansas City have booked more than half their 77 home games under the lights with 47 and 43 respectively.

Washington has scheduled 38 night games, Cleveland 31, Chicago 22, Detroit 21, Boston 18 and New York 17.

Detroit has upped its night program by seven games, while Baltimore added five, Boston four, and Cleveland and New York one each. Washington scheduled seven fewer, Chicago and Kansas City each are one game under last year.

The American League's traditional "presidential opener" is April 15 at Washington between the Orioles and Senators. The first pitch by the president or some other national figure officially opens the new campaign.

May Destroy NFL Football Says Lawyer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pro football attorney said Thursday the National Football League "may very well be destroyed" if the Supreme Court orders trial of a suit charging the league with antitrust law violations.

Bernard I. Nordlinger, Washington lawyer, told the high court that "harrassment and utter chaos" might result.

NFL attorneys fought an appeal by William Radovich, a former University of Southern California and pro guard whose bid for $105,000 damages from the league and some of its clubs was dismissed in lower federal courts.

Radovich contended he was blacklisted for jumping from the Detroit Lions of the NFL to the Los Angeles Dons of the now folded All-America Conference in 1946. He charged the NFL seeks to monopolize the professional grid sport. And Maxwell Keith, his San Francisco attorney, asked the Supreme Court to order a trial on merits of the complaint.

District and Circuit courts at San Francisco tossed out the suit, saying football was a team sport like baseball and thus entitled to exemption from the antitrust laws.

The Supreme Court has held that baseball is not a business of interstate character which would be subject to the Sherman Antitrust Act. But it also has ruled professional buying and legitimate theater bookings do fall within the scope of antimonopoly laws.

Bruin Goalie Quits Hockey; Threatens Suit

BOSTON (AP) — Terry Sawchuk, suspended Boston Bruins goal tender, left by train Thursday night for his Milford, Mich. home vowing that he has quit hockey for good.

Surprised by newsmen as he arrived for the train, Sawchuk was tense and resentful.

"I've quit and I'm gonna stay quit. I'm mad. And I got news for you. I'm gonna sue four Boston papers for what they said about me, after I get home."

After he calmed a bit he denied he had disappeared.

"I was locked in my room, I didn't answer the door or take any telephone calls. I'm going home and then I'm going out to Winnipeg to see my mother. She's sick."

Sawchuk was named to the National Hockey League All Star team in midseason balloting Wednesday, only a few hours before Coach Mil Schmidt suspended him indefinitely for failure to report to practice as ordered.

Under hockey law the suspension could be for life.

Schmidt ordered Sawchuk to the practice Tuesday night when the goalie called on him at his home and told him he was through.

The coach left the door open by saying if Sawchuk is sick "I'll be the first to apologize and we'll try to help him."

Sawchuk, 27, missed seven games in December because of infectious mononucleosis, a blood ailment, which leaves a person debilitated.

Here at K. of C. Banquet—Hartnett: Robinson Should Keep Quiet

By JERRY LAMBERT
(Daily Iowan Sports Writer)

Leo "Gabby" Hartnett, said that Jackie Robinson, formerly of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who has been the center of a recent controversy with the players of the Milwaukee Braves, would do the game of baseball more good if he would keep quiet.

He made this statement at the sixth annual Knights of Columbus Sports Banquet Thursday night. "Gabby" was introduced by Otto Vogel, SUI baseball coach, as the man with the strongest arm in the history of the game.

Hartnett caught 19 seasons with the Chicago Cubs after breaking in with them in 1922. He holds the major league record for catchers for handling the most consecutive chances without an error, 452 and the National League record for catching 100 games per year for eight straight seasons.

"Gabby" now makes his home in Lincolnwood, Ill. He operates a recreation center and bowling lane. He was given his famous nickname by Ed Sullivan. It happened on the way to California when "Gabby" was on the way

Ladies' Lead To Crocker

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Fay Crocker took a three-stroke lead in the first round of the $5,000 Tampa Womens Open Golf Tournament Thursday as Mickey Wright, drew a record penalty of 24 strokes.

The penalty was for carrying 15 clubs, one over the limit, and amounted to two strokes for each of the 12 holes the lanky Californian played before she discovered it. She wasn't playing too well in the first place and the 24 strokes added to her 80 knocked her out of a chance to win.

Miss Wright called the penalty on herself. She said she knew of the rule but that carrying the extra club was an oversight. She said she will continue in the 72-hole tournament despite the handicap.

Miss Crocker, putting to perfection, was one under par with a 37-37-72.

Chilly weather and blustery winds helped hike the scores.

4 Pros Tie For First in Caliente Golf

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Ryder Cup professional Harry Weetman of England, shooting an astounding 7 under par 29 on the last nine holes, moved into a four-way tie for the lead Thursday in the first round of the $15,000 Caliente Open Golf Tournament.

Rallying after a bad 39 going out, Weetman, 35, fired six birdies in a row and added another on the 18th for a score of 39-29-68.

Tied with him were Mike Souchak, winner of the event last year; Julius Boros; and Len Kenner, professional at the Camp Pendleton, Calif., Marine base.

Souchak made a solid bid to score a repeat victory.

One of the early finishers in the first round, the popular 29-year-old professional from Grossinger, N.Y., played the Tijuana Country Club's 7,100-yard, par 36-36-72 in 35-33-68.

A year ago Souchak led off with a sensational 65 without having played a practice round over the course. He didn't get to practice this time, either.

Souchak was the 8-1 betting favorite in Tijuana's legal wagering on the tournament.

Dees, Howard Lead Scoring

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Howard, 6 feet 6 forward, who has led unbeaten Ohio State's surge into the Big Ten basketball lead, is making a strong bid for the No. 1 spot in the individual scoring race.

Official conference statistics Tuesday credited Howard with a three game average of 23.0 points just a shade behind pace setting Archie Dees, Indiana center, who has a 24.2 mark for four games.

Howard's deadly .526 shooting percentage from the floor has helped him pile up 69 points, against Dees' 97 total in one more game.

Minnesota's Jed Donmeyer is third with a 21.0 average, followed by George Bon Salle of Illinois and Tom Payne of Iowa with 18.0 each; Ken Sidle of Ohio State with 17.7; and Hiles Stout of Illinois with 17.0.

A&P Cuts Some Retail Coffee Costs

NEW YORK — The A&P Thursday cut retail prices of some of its private brands of roasted coffee by four cents a pound.

The supermarket chain's lowest price brand of bag coffee, Eight O'Clock, was unchanged at 87 cents a pound, but Red Circle bag coffee was cut to 91 cents and Bokar bag coffee to 95 cents. The chain's private brand of vacuum-packed coffee was trimmed to 99 cents.

Other chains announced similar action then and major roasters followed several weeks later with cuts in their wholesale prices.

Market circles expressed surprise at the A&P action, since, it was said, green coffee prices had not slipped enough to bring about a roasted price cut.

Safeway, another national chain, reduced its Nob Hill bagged coffee four cents to 91 cents a pound, but left its Airway bagged coffee at 87 cents and its Edwards brand of vacuum-packed at $1.05.

Other chains were expected to meet the competition, but major roasters of nationally and regionally distributed brands said they planned no changes in their wholesale prices at this time.

The decrease was the second by the chains since coffee prices hit their 1956 peak last August. At that time, supermarket's prices ranged from 89 cents for the cheapest bagged coffee to $1.07 for vacuum-packed brands.

Instant coffees, which account for an estimated third of U.S. coffee consumption on a per-cap basis, were not affected by Thursday's actions.

SUI Student Engineer Struck Down By Truck

Charles H. Horn, 21, Cedar Rapids, was injured Thursday morning when he was struck by a truck at the intersection of Iowa Ave. and Riverside Drive.

Horn was treated for lacerations of the head and face at University Hospitals after the accident.

The truck which struck Horn is owned by a Cedar Rapids bottling firm. It was driven by John L. Grace, 19, of Iowa City. Grace told police that Horn and two other men ran in front of his truck at the intersection.

'Orchestra On Wheels' Plans Visit to SUI

One of the oldest symphony orchestras in the country will be heard again on the SUI campus Tuesday when the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra will give two concerts at Iowa Memorial Union — one at 2:30 p.m. and a second at 8 p.m.

Presented under the auspices of the University Concert Course, the Minneapolis Symphony, often called the "orchestra on wheels," will present two entirely different programs under the direction of Antal Dorati.

Free tickets for SUI students may be obtained by presenting student ID's beginning at 8 a.m. Friday at the Union. Staff and faculty members may purchase tickets at that time by presenting staff ID cards. Sales to the general public will begin Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra has appeared in all parts of the United States, Canada and Cuba, and its music has been carried to the far corners of the earth through radio and records.

The Minneapolis orchestra was begun in 1903 as an adjunct to a singing society. The co-founder and first conductor of the group, Emil Oberhoffer, endeavored to assemble a permanent group of musicians which would allow the choral society to present works of greater scope and interest. He persuaded Elbert L. Carpenter, a rising young lumber executive, to raise the money necessary for such an undertaking, and Carpenter immediately went to 50 men in the city and got a guaranty fund of $30,000 to begin the orchestra.

The initial funds made it possible to employ 50 musicians and the first Minneapolis Symphony concert was presented Nov. 5, 1903. Since that time the orchestra has played more than 3,300 concerts in more than 500 cities in 46 states, Canada and Cuba.

Its first tour was made in 1906, only three years after its founding. In an ordinary season now, the orchestra presents about 70 concerts on tour in more than 50 towns and cities for the enjoyment of more than 150,000 music-lovers. And at home, approximately 165,000 Minneapolis patrons hear the orchestra in its 40 home concerts.

Oberhoffer inaugurated series of popular concerts by the orchestra, arranged annual tours, and presented concerts for young people. Following in his footsteps was Henry Verbrugghen, who conducted the orchestra for eight years.

Local Chiropractor Studies For M.D.

By TOM SLATTERY

The merging of the professions of medicine and chiropractic is the goal of Dr. Bernard V. Heaton, A3, SUI pre-med student and full-time Iowa City chiropractor.

"I decided that this background would enable me to serve my patients with greater skill and confidence," Heaton said in explanation of his unusual decision to blend the two approaches to treatment of illnesses.

"There is a lot of opposition to chiropractic methodology in some medical circles, but the trend toward higher scholastic requirements for a chiropractic degree by state legislatures should eliminate many complaints," Heaton said.

"Many states now require a year or two of certain pre-med courses, such as chemistry and zoology. I think that this is an excellent idea," Heaton said.

Heaton's original work in chiropractic was done at the Lincoln Chiropractic College, Indianapolis, Ind., where he completed the 32-consecutive-month accelerated course for his Doctor of Chiropractic degree.

After graduation from Lincoln College, Heaton completed a year of graduate work in physiotherapy at the National Chiropractic College, Chicago.

Heaton worked his way through college, peddling papers, pumping gas, doing factory and construction work, driving taxis and trucks and working in an office.

Heaton said his mainstay was a job with an Indianapolis firm's auditing department, and the other jobs supplemented that one.

"To get through college, I had to follow the old American motto of anything for a buck," he said.

Heaton will be scholastically eligible for medical school if he successfully completes his junior year.

He has practiced chiropractic in Iowa for the past three years. Because of his full-time practice, he has been carrying a reduced study load at SUI.

Medicine and chiropractic do not claim all of Heaton's attention. He has been a traffic supervisor at the 'Coasting' Sign Up On Brown St. Hill

The Brown Street hill from Governor Street to Dodge Street will be barricaded for coasting only on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

This decision was made by the Iowa City Playground and Recreation Commission because of the conflict and accompanying hazards of coasting on the Brown Street hill and ice skating at Happy Hollow Playground.

The hill will be supervised by Recreation Department personnel. The supervisor will also control the auto traffic on Lucas Street going to and from the ice rink.

Persons wishing to coast in this area at times other than Saturday and Sunday afternoons may use the east or south bank of the playground.

The Commission also decided not to barricade streets for coasting on weekdays when the temperature is around zero. If a group of children do wish to coast during extremely cold weather, the Recreation office (4350) can be called and the barricades will be set up.

Indianapolis Speedway for the past eight years.

During the racing season, Heaton controls the Speedway's main gate and is in charge of the "Who's Who" parking lot.

"The main gate at race time makes SUI's sell-out football games look like a family outing. The VIP's who use the parking lot are usually understanding, but when they're not, I have troubles."

Part of his work at the Speedway entails cooperation with State Police, FBI agents and excise tax agents assigned to duty at the track.

"Crowds as large as those at the Speedway are certain to attract criminal elements such as pickpockets, but the police and special agents do a good job of controlling them," Heaton said.

Heaton is currently a member of the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He said he faces the toughest job of his career as the chairman of the committee to pick Miss Iowa City to compete for the Miss Iowa title.

For the past three years he has been in charge of the Iowa City boat races.

He owns his own boat and water skis during the summer months. Last summer he experimented with a home-made diving helmet in the Iowa River.

"I love sports," said the husky 28-year-old doctor. An ex-football player, he broke his neck in a high school game in his junior year and had to give up the sport.

"Too bad I didn't break it later in the season, because the man who replaced me made the all-Ohio All-Star team that year," he said.

Heaton participated in every sport the high school offered including basketball, track, wrestling and boxing. He won all of his dozen-odd ring bouts.

The broken neck ended all that. "The worst thing about the broken neck is that it kept me out of the service and the Naval Aviation Program."

"I wanted to fly so badly that I went ahead and got a private pilot's license," he said.

He is now a member of the "Skyhawks" flying club, a private group of five Iowa City businessmen who fly for pleasure.

Heaton is also a frustrated gymnast by his own definition, the trampoline being his favorite apparatus. "I'm not very good, but I have a heck of a good time."

Law Enforcement School Planned at SUI This Spring

Four training schools for Iowa law enforcement officers will be held on the SUI campus this spring and early summer, Richard L. Holcomb, chief of the Bureau of Police Science of the University's Institute of Public Affairs, said today.

The courses will include a traffic school, a command officers school, a recruit school and the 21st annual peace officers short course, Holcomb explained.

The week-long traffic school, scheduled for March 4 through 8, traffic laws to control the major causes of accidents, such as speeding, driving while intoxicated, right-of-way violations and improper passing.

The command officers school will be divided into two sections, Holcomb said. Representatives of cities under 8,000 population will meet April 15 through 17, and officers from cities over 8,000 population will meet April 17 through 19. There will be combined sessions on April 17.

The two-week police recruit school, planned to give intensive training in nearly all phases of basic police work, will be held May 6 through 18. The annual peace officers short course will meet for one week beginning June 24.

SUI Scientist To Report On Pain-Relieving Drugs

The drug addiction and narcotics committee of the National Research Council (NRC) will hear a report Tuesday on research which two SUI scientists are conducting on pain-relieving drugs.

Prof. Hugh H. Keasling, Department of Pharmacology at SUI and one of the scientists involved in the study, will present the report at an invitational meeting of the committee in Indianapolis. Prof. E. G. Gross, head of the Pharmacology Department, is collaborating with Keasling in the project.

The Iowa studies have been aimed at comparing the effects of dihydrocodeine with the effects of certain other pain-relieving drugs.

Dihydrocodeine long has been known as a chemical compound, but the question of its use as an analgesic pain relieving agent has arisen only in recent years. The studies at SUI have shown the drug to be effective as an analgesic agent.

In some countries, dihydrocodeine already is in general use by physicians. In the United States however, experiments are still under way in an effort to learn as much as possible about the compound.

Pharmacologists are the scientists who investigate new drugs as they are discovered, subjecting them to intensive laboratory studies. Animals are used to determine the effects which the drugs have upon certain systems and organs of the body.

HANDY MEN
SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Holding hands is an accepted practice, but not between two cars speeding side by side at 60 miles an hour. Sheriff's deputies stopped two cars after they saw them "going hand in hand" down the highway. Two men, ticketed for reckless driving, said they merely were handing cigarettes from one car to the other.

Colored Film Processed in SUI Class

To keep pace with the progress in color photography in publishing fields, the Photo Workshop class in the SUI School of Journalism began Thursday processing film for color news pictures.

This class is the first in the Big Ten schools to offer a course that includes the color process along with the black and white processes, Prof. William R. Hazard, head of the SUI Pictorial Journalism sequence, said.

Prior to this year, the class work involved only black and white development and printing.

The purpose of this introduction of the color process into photography is to further the capabilities of the student upon graduation for going into the publishing field where they handle multi-color printing, Hazard said.

Act for 'Restoring' Of Robert E. Lee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was asked to restore full civil rights and citizenship to Robert E. Lee.

A bill by Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) would commemorate the 150th anniversary of the birth of the Confederacy's Civil War leader Jan. 19, by posthumously restoring "his full rights of citizenship."

Capehart's bill says Lee "was never restored to his full civil rights following termination of the War between the States not withstanding the fact that he made due application for presidential pardon."

THE FIRST FULL COLOR news picture to be produced on a course basis in the Big Ten are processed in the SUI School of Journalism pictorial laboratories. Ektachrome transparencies were produced by Benjamin Blackstock, A1, Kankakee, Ill.; Douglas Lyman, A4, Fort Dodge; and Charles Willis, E4, Sigourney. The first were produced Thursday.
