House Fails to Act On Student Fee Bill

By JOHN JANSSON
and
DON FINLEY
Daily Iowan Staff Writers

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher said Thursday that the rush of the last days of the current legislative session and the interest of House members in their own bills were causes of the inaction on the Senate approved bill to charge building costs as part of student tuition.

"The real problem is that the House Siting Committee gets mixed up with other issues," Mr. Hancher said. "Everyone has his own bills which he is promoting, and the press to get bills out is quite serious."

The bill, now in the House Siting Committee, would increase tuition at SUI and other state controlled schools to pay for new building projects.

"We had hoped to take the proposal (now in committee) to prove its validity," Mr. Hancher said; naturally the Regents hope that the bill will come out of committee and be approved."

Mr. Hancher noted that three main appropriations bills have been suggested to the legislature by the Board of Regents. They are:

1. Operational. A bill giving $9,946,356 to SUI for each of the next two years was passed by the Senate April 9 without a dissenting vote. It has yet to be approved by the House.

2. Capital Improvements Funds.

The Board of Regents has suggested a $23,950,000 program to cover the next 10 years for building, remodeling, acquiring new land and other improvements on the SUI campus. No action has been taken by either house.

3. The bill now in the Siting Committee to increase student fees to pay for new buildings.

Prof. Charles W. Davidson, SUI College of Law, said this latter bill "would be perfectly valid under the constitution of the state of Iowa."

Davidson has made a study of this problem — the validity of charging students with such fees. Davidson pointed out that the West Virginia Supreme Court recently upheld a statute very similar to the Iowa bill now in the House Siting Committee.

"I am confident that the Iowa court would reach the same conclusion," Davidson stated.

Most states have constitutional debt limitations very similar to that in the Iowa Constitution, and the Supreme Courts of many states have held that revenue bond financing of state college and university buildings is constitutional, said Davidson.

Council Seat Space Killed

Members of the SUI Student Council Wednesday voted themselves out of a special 21-seat reserved seating section used by the Council at Iowa's home football games last fall.

The seats were located on the 40-yard line in Iowa Stadium, midway up the West Stand.

In introducing the motion to dispose of the seats, Chuck Schmidt, El, Charles City, said: "I think the Council should do away with their reserved seats and obtain football tickets like other students."

Four Council members voted to retain the seats and two abstained.

Fine Technique of —

Louis Kentner

— Displayed With Warmth

By JACQUI ALPER
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

Louis Kentner, pianist of world acclaim, presented a varied program Wednesday at the Iowa Memorial Union and displayed a perfect technique and a keen understanding of his instrument too rarely heard these days.

Making his first American tour, Kentner demonstrated his mastery of Schubert, Liszt, Bartok and Chopin in his variance of tone, ranging from broad to subtle, and in the contrasts of delicacy and power.

The force which Kentner showed in "Apres Une Lecture de Dante" was beautifully controlled in the heavy chromatic passages which were always believable, never melodramatic.

For contrast, Bartok's "Pour Les Enfants" was played with quiet simplicity. In the halting close of the third vignette, Kentner's playing was warmly humorous.

One distraction during the concert was some sort of metallic vibration on the stage which squeaked during many crescendos.

Schubert's "Sonata in B flat Major" again gave the artist a forte in which to display his sensitivity.

Closing with 12 Chopin Etudes Op. 25, Kentner played with fluency. In the A flat major, G sharp minor and the B minor studies, especially, Kentner's agile fingers created featherly ripples of sound. The G flat major, often called the Butterfly Etude, was a masterpiece of musical nuances.

The audience cheered for the Hungarian-born naturalized British citizen, and called him back for three encores. He played "La Campanella" by Liszt, Chopin's "Minute Waltz," and "The Golliwog's Cakewalk" by Debussy.

In his encores as well as the other compositions, Kentner showed perfect form in the even flow of his cadenzas.

Contempt Action Ordered Against Scranton Teamster

By JOHN BLEAKLY
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

The SUI Student Council unanimously adopted a motion Wednesday night protesting against a bill in the Iowa Legislature which would finance educational building at SUI by raising student tuition fees.

The bill, called "Senate File Number Four," is now in the House Siting Committee awaiting action. It would provide for a 10-year building program financed with bonds retired over a 40-year period by increased tuition fees.

The Council objected to the bill on three grounds:

1. It would finance building with money obtained from students, rather than appropriations from state funds.

If passed, the bill would eliminate the present biennial capital improvement appropriations from the General Assembly. Funds would come instead from increased tuition fees.

This represents the Assembly's unwillingness to fulfill an obligation which, by tradition, logic, and law, is theirs and theirs alone," the motion reads.

2. It might limit the University Administration in its ability to adjust the tuition fees to its needs.

Current estimates on the graduated tuition increases included in the bill indicate a $40 increase per semester by 1966, the motion says. "We feel that the Administration would be seriously limited in its ability to adjust tuition rates to its specific needs, such as salary increases," the motion continues.

3. It might result in enrollment selectivity by financial status.

The Senate committee that approved the bill stated that the increase in tuition would reflect a policy of being "a little more restrictive in admitting new students," the motion states.

"We feel that this is completely incongruous to the concept of providing an education for all capable students of this state. Even if restrictions are necessary for pragmatic reasons, we do not feel that financial status should be the criteria for selection," the motion reads.

As an alternative to the bill, the Council proposed a plan for "regular, adequate, direct capital improvements" by the General Assembly.

A 10-year capital improvements program would give the State Board of Regents a basis on which to plan financing of educational buildings," Larry Popofsky, A3, Oskaloosa, said.

Popofsky, the Council vice-president, introduced the motion.

Although no Legislature can legally bind future Legislature to pre-determined action on appropriation measures, Popofsky said Legislatures might be "morally bound" to support the 10-year appropriations plan.

The Council delayed action until next meeting on a request by the Hawk-Pep Club for financial aid.

The Pep Club owes $123,988 in bills, Ed Mezvinsky, Al, Ames, Pep Club representative reported.

Rites Friday For SUI's Prof. Murley

Funeral services will be held Friday in Dallas Center for Prof. Clyde Murley, SUI Classics Department, who died Tuesday night at University Hospitals. He was 66.

A heart attack suffered at his home in Denny's Auto Court Sunday had confined Murley to his hospital bed.

Murley had been a noted professor in the Classics Department at Northwestern University from 1929-1955. During this period he wrote articles for several classical journals and was editor of one journal.

In addition to teaching at Northwestern, he was an instructor at Southern Methodist University and Redlands University in Redlands, Calif. At one time he held a position as a high school teacher at Mason City, Iowa.

A native Iowan, Murley received his B.A. from Upper Iowa University in 1908. His M.A. and Ph.D. were both obtained from Chicago University in 1916 and 1920.

He is survived by two sons and two daughters. One daughter, Mrs. T. W. Miller resides in Dallas Center, Iowa.

The young ruler last week ousted the increasingly pro-Soviet government of Premier Suleiman Nabulski, and then maneuvered a moderate regime into office. He took to the radio Wednesday night for a 15-minute talk, largely a plea for national unity.

In addition to the $150,000 for SUI, the amendment also provides $150,000 for salary increases at Iowa State College, and $50,000 for Iowa Teachers College.

The Board of Regents had asked for a total appropriation of $11,525,267 with $1,277,843 of that amount earmarked for salary increases, in an attempt to raise SUI faculty salaries to a third-place rating among 17 similar midwest universities.

The motion would have had the Council direct a letter to the Board of Trustees, Student Publications, Inc., the policy-making body for The Iowan, calling for comment on recent censorship charges made by a former Daily Iowan editor.

The motion was introduced and seconded, but the second was withdrawn after a short discussion.

In other business, a motion was introduced and forwarded to the Council's Special Activities Committee that would provide for a polling of student opinion on important campus issues during fall and spring semester registration.

Under the plan, students would obtain questionnaires with their orientation materials. They would turn the answered questionnaires in at a special booth before leaving registration.

The Council delayed action until next meeting on a request by the Hawk-Pep Club for financial aid.

The Pep Club owes $123,988 in bills, Ed Mezvinsky, Al, Ames, Pep Club representative reported.

The motion's statement on the plan concludes that "it is not likely to be passed (by the Legislature) until the citizens of the State of Iowa recognize the great educational needs of the state and show their willingness to assume the full obligation to provide their youth with a college education."

Copies of the Council's motion will be sent to the General Assembly in Des Moines, Popofsky said.

Such a plan is in operation in neighboring states, he said.

The Daily Iowan

The Daily Iowan is written and edited by students and is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the university. The Iowan's editorial policy, therefore, is not an expression of SUI administration policy or opinion in any particular.

Student Building Fee

The SUI Student Council Wednesday passed a resolution listing a series of objections to a bill now in the Sifting Committee of the Iowa House of Representatives that would authorize the State Board of Regents to establish and collect a building fee from students of state-supported educational institutions to finance repairs, remodeling and construction of classroom buildings.

The bill, labeled by the Board of Regents as a "desperation measure," passed the Senate last week by a substantial majority.

But the bill is having trouble getting to the floor of the House. The Sifting Committee has refused several times this week to bring the bill to the floor for debate. It takes at least seven votes in the 28-member committee to keep a bill from being placed on the House calendar.

The Student Council went ahead with its action even though the bill may be killed in the committee. Bill Teter, L2, Des Moines, Council president, said members felt that since the bill had already been passed in the Senate, student objections should be voiced on the issue.

The bill could still reach the House floor over the objections of the committee if members vote to have it brought up for debate.

The Council resolution also objected to an amendment proposed in the House last week that would put a 10,000 limit on enrollment at SUI and Iowa State College and a 3,200 limit at Iowa State Teachers College beginning next fall.

We commend the Council for its attempt at action in this matter. The Council has certainly taken a positive forward step in its position as head of the SUI student body.

In objecting to enrollment limits, the Council resolution reads:

"We feel that the increase in enrollment can be met without a corresponding decrease in the educational standards maintained at the state institutions—but for this to be done the State of Iowa must be willing to pay for the cost of providing education on the college level for ALL QUALIFIED STUDENTS."

The Council pointed out that the student population of Iowa is growing rapidly. By 1970 it is expected that 16,000 will be enrolled at SUI if no ceilings are placed.

The resolution says: "We feel that it is the obligation of the citizens of Iowa, represented in the General Assembly, to provide educational opportunities for all its citizens who desire to attend college and who are capable of adequate scholastic achievement."

The limit, if passed, can only be viewed as indicative of the legislature's unwillingness to take a realistic approach to the problem of providing the youth of this state with an adequate education," the resolution states.

The resolution noted that the plan to levy a building fee "would eliminate the necessity of biennial capital fund appropriations by the state legislature for educational building" but says "this represents the Assembly's unwillingness to fulfill an obligation which, by tradition, logic, and law, is theirs and theirs alone."

"We seriously question the raise in tuition . . . in the light of the fact that the University Administration may be forced in the near future to raise tuition for operative reasons," the resolution states.

If the building fee is passed it would mean a tuition increase of about $25 for resident students next fall. Add to this another $25 to $30 increase for operative reasons and SUI resident students would be paying from $150 to $170 per semester for tuition. They now pay $102 per semester. Non-residents would pay considerably more.

The Board of Regents figures that by 1967 the building fee would amount to $40 dollars for residents and $80 for non-residents.

Just why is a building fee being considered at all?

The bill is recommended by the Board of Regents as a capital financing plan for construction of educational buildings at the three state-supported schools. It is also incorporated in the report of the Iowa Tax Study Committee.

The Regents themselves have recognized the measure as a "desperation plan."

In their report of how the plan would work they said:

"1. It is not the best. (Assured, regular, and adequate direct capital appropriations each session would be better.)

"2. It is not the least expensive. (Interest must be paid on the money borrowed for construction.)

"3. It will not command the lowest interest rate. (A program backed by the credit of the State would command the lowest.)"

"But," the Regents concluded, "it will provide continuous assurance of funds for the educational buildings which Iowa must build."

The Regents recognize that "a desperate situation has developed because the legislature has provided 'inadequate and inconsistent capital appropriations' for the three institutions involved."

"These institutions belong to the people of the State of Iowa," the Regents said. "They are a basic function of the State, one of the first functions undertaken by it. The present and future youth of Iowa and the future of the State of Iowa are dependent upon them. Their doors cannot be closed."

Since the legislature is unwilling to provide the necessary funds for needed improvements, the money must be obtained in some other manner. A building fee seemed the only answer.

The state institutions need financial assurance that a long-term building construction program can be carried out. It is unfortunate that the Iowa General Assembly cannot recognize this need and provide the necessary funds through regular appropriations in each biennium. It is unfortunate that the Board of Regents has to resort to a building fee to secure the necessary funds. We are opposed to such a fee. The people of Iowa should be opposed to it too.

Iowa Apathy

Most Iowans are ready to settle now for new license plates for their automobiles every year and a fresh coat of gold on the capitol dome regardless of what else the state legislature does this year in Des Moines.

LettersOn Censorship*TO THE EDITOR:

We have followed with great interest the articles and editorials that have appeared in The Daily Iowan during the past two weeks exposing the disgusting censorship practiced on the paper by the administration.

The Iowan staff has done something that the entire student body and faculty should be proud of in denouncing this censorship.

At the same time, the Iowan staff has taken it upon itself to chastise the student body for failing to respond to the situation as the Iowan thinks it should.

If there is student apathy concerning the problem it should be deplored, but we suggest that there is another element involved in this apparent lack of student interest: that is, the fact of censorship is "old hat" to the students! In spite of the ironical policy statement that appears on the Iowan's editorial page, we have yet to talk with a student who says that he believes the Iowan is free to print whatever it wishes!

The fact that the student body has been aware of this situation for so long without doing anything about it is in itself a shocking and discouraging thing, yet one wonders just what the students could have done about it, considering that the Student Council has failed completely to take the lead in eliminating the condition, and considering that until two weeks ago the Iowan itself denied every accusation of possible administration interference in its affairs.

If anyone doubts this, we refer him to a letter written by one of the undersigned and printed in the Iowan last November criticizing the Iowan's handling of the football seating problem. That letter stated in part: "It has become obvious . . . that the Daily Iowan is failing to do its job. As an organ of student opinion, it is a farce!"

And: "It is a serious indictment against any student newspaper when the students feel required to go to an 'outside' publication to get effective consideration of their views."

In an editor's note affixed to this letter, the Iowan answered: "The Iowan has never attempted to stifle criticism. It has constantly taken up the fight for the student body against the administration. It has never been an administration mouthpiece and never will be."

Looking at this in retrospect, it appears that the Iowan staff, and not the student body, has been guilty of apathy concerning censorship.

Now that everything has been brought out into the open, we hope that the Daily Iowan will take the lead in insuring that censorship is done away with. After all, the Iowan staff is the part of the student body most directly involved, and it should be willing to take the initiative (as it did immediately after the initial exposure of the censorship) in cleaning up the mess in its own house.

If this is done honestly and courageously, there will be no lack of student support. If the Iowan wishes to guide student opinion on this question, it would do well to answer the following questions.

(1) Has censorship of the Iowan been done away with?

(2) If not, what can the student council (which is supposedly the steward for the student body) do to help the Iowan eliminate it?

(3) If the Student Council cannot or will not act, what can we students do en masse that insure us of a free press?

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONSSites of Christ's Life Today*'Mount of Temptations' Sees Tensions

By WILTON LYNN
Associated Press Feature Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: A 2,000 foot high mountain in old Palestine is reported to be the place where Satan tempted Jesus to turn stone into bread and showed him all the riches of the world. Today this mountain looks down on parts of two countries bitterly at odds with each other: The Jewish state of Israel and the desert kingdom of Arabic Jordan.

Tensions between the Israelis and the Arabs have endangered world peace for the last ten years. Recent developments in the area make the outbreak of new hostilities possible. Will places of Christ's teachings, holy sites for all Christians, again places of battle and violence?

The Daily Iowan, in the third article of a series, gives a report on a modern visit to the Biblical Mount of Temptation.

The peak is called the "Mount of Temptation" by those who live here. From its summit you can't see all the world, but the mountain offers a glimpse of two independent countries, Jordan and Israel, and enough of a view to be tempting.

It is generally agreed that the temptation of Christ by Satan occurred immediately after His baptism, when He was "led by the spirit into the wilderness" for a fast of 40 days. Local traditions say He spent this time in a limestone cave on the side of the Mount of Temptation.

The mountain stands at the edge of a mountain range not far from the site of the sacred baptism in the Jordan River. The mountain overlooks Jericho but is so barren and uninhabited that a person seeking solitude will find this an ideal place for meditation even today.

A road from Jericho halts at the foot of the Mount of Temptation. The climb to the top is made on foot. A rocky footpath zigzags up the side of the conical-shaped peak.

Halfway up, built into the rock, hangs a Greek Orthodox Monastery. The monastery almost blends with its rock foundations except for the blue-domed bell towers that stand out from the cliff.

A heavy iron gate opens through a rock wall to allow passage out of the monastery and on up the mountain toward the summit, where Christ was tempted for the second time. The monastery guards the approach to the top, since it stands astride the only path to the summit.

House OK's 60 Mile Nighttime Speed Limit

DES MOINES (Ia) — The House passed 97-10 Wednesday its own version of highway speed limits. The only limit would be 60 miles an hour from sunset to sunrise. The measure now goes back to the Senate. The Senate had approved limits of 70 in the daytime and 60 at night except when passing.

Before the final vote in the House there were two unsuccessful attempts to rule out radar readings as evidence in speeding cases.

Commissioner Clinton Moyer of the State Safety Department commented after the House passed the bill:

"Half a loaf is better than none."

After lengthy debate the House adopted on a vote of 62-40 an amendment by Rep. J. C. Kaiser (R-Rockwell), to make the bill call for the night limit only. His amendment was substituted for one proposed by Rep. W. W. Darrington (R-Persia). Darrington's proposal was that the bill be put back in its original form before it passed the Senate.

That would have set up limits of 65 in the daytime, 55 at night and the minimum of 35 on primary roads; 50 at all times on secondary roads; and 70 on superhighways.

Rep. Andrew Frommelt (D-Dubuque), attempted to amend the bill to prohibit the use of all radar or similar electrical devices. He said he is opposed "to fellows hiding behind bill boards and using gadgets."

Frommelt argued also that the state constitution gives the accused the right to be confronted by the witness and the opportunity to question a witness.

Rep. Henry Stevens (R-Jefferson), in opposing the Frommelt proposal, said: "Whenevver you start to handcuff officers of the

Iowans To See Large Comet In April Skies

By MERLIN H. ANDERSON
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

The Arend-Roland comet, discovered only last November, will be visible in Iowa skies during the next few months.

The comet will be observable low in the northwestern sky soon after sunset, Prof. H. M. Johnson, of the SUI Astronomy and Mathematics Department, said Wednesday.

Johnson explained that the comet recently passed its perihelion, or closest approach to the sun, on April 8, and it is expected to be visible from April 18 until late June.

The best time to see the comet, Johnson said, is around April 22 when the comet will be about as brilliant as the stars in the Big Dipper. It can best be seen just as twilight is fading and before the comet sets, he said.

The comet is in an orbit that will take it toward the Big Dipper in the northern sky. It will progressively get fainter as it appears farther from the sun, said Johnson.

The comet was discovered in November, 1956 by S. Arend and M. Roland of Uccle Observatory, Belgium.

Ere spoke to the Police Command School, conducted this week by the University's Institute of Public Affairs in the Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

He said he didn't know the facts of the Des Moines arrest-attempt incident beyond what he had read in the newspapers, but that it highlighted how much bad publicity relations a law enforcement body can get as a result of actions by one person.

Arizona Belts Iowa for Second Straight, 22-13

Iowa Commits
12 Errors in Second Loss

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY IOWAN
TUCSON, Ariz. — Iowa committed a dozen errors here Wednesday as it lost its second straight game to the University of Arizona, 22-13.

The game lasted 3 hours and 35 minutes.

Seven pitchers went to the mound, with the Hawkeyes using three and Arizona four.

Jack Nola started on the hill for Iowa but had to be relieved by John Engert in the second as Arizona picked up nine runs in the first two innings.

Engert gave up five more runs before Bob Pearl relieved him in the sixth.

Jerry Lewis led the 17-hit Arizona attack with five hits in five trips to the plate and drove in seven runs.

Iowa collected 14 hits in the game, but the 12 errors more than offset the hitting attack.

The Hawkeyes play Arizona again today.

Iowa took the opening game, 10-7, but now have lost the last two. The two teams are playing a six-game series.

IOWA 204 300 228-13 14 12
Arizona 159 298 308-22 17 7

Iowa took the second game of a six-game series Tuesday night by scoring two runs in the seventh inning to win, 4-3.

Iowa jumped off to a three run lead paced by catcher Dick Weatherby's 350-foot homer with a man on. Weatherby replaced starting catcher Don Bock who was hit in the ankle in the first inning.

Hawkeye pitcher Ron Drennan held Arizona scoreless until the fifth when the home team tallied once. Arizon picked up another run in the sixth, then went ahead on two doubles coupled with an Iowa error.

IOWA 920 610 600-3 3 5
Arizona 909 611 295-1 0 7

Majors 2nd
Openings to Pull 200,000

By The Associated Press
The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants may be opening the season for the last time at Ebbets Field and the Polo Grounds when the major leagues hold their "second openers" today before crowds estimated to total 200,000 fans.

Actually, one of the eight games on the Thursday schedule shouldn't be classified as an opener. Washington, which stole a march on the field with a special presidential opener Monday, starts its regular night schedule at Griffith Stadium against Baltimore.

Despite the 12-inning victory over Philadelphia on Gino Cimoli's home run Tuesday night, only 15,000 are expected to see the Dodgers' Sal Maglie (13-5) face Luis Arroyo (3-3) or Vern Law (8-16) of the confident Pirates. The Dodgers have still another opener next Monday when they play the Phils at Jersey City.

The Giants, thumped by Pittsburgh in their first game and washed out of a second, face the Phillies at the Polo Grounds where 15,000 are expected. Ruben Gomez (7-17), who was to have worked Wednesday, will oppose Curt Simmons (15-10) who had a fine spring for the Phils.

Ted Williams and the Boston Red Sox bring the New York Yankees home with them for a gala opener at Fenway Park where 30,000 are due to watch Frank Sullivan (14-7) try to top the Yanks' Johnny Kucks (18-9).

Billy Hoeft (20-14), the left side of Detroit's two-ace pitching staff, will do the honors for the Tigers at Briggs Stadium against Cleveland's Bob Lemon (20-14). A crowd of about 47,000 is expected.

All Lopez makes his bow as new manager of the White Sox at Chicago's Comiskey Park with southpaw Jack Harshman (15-11) opposing Alex Kellner (7-4), Kansas City's 32-year-old lefthander. The probable attendance is 25,000 paid.

When Baltimore plays at Washington tonight it is expected that Ray Moore (12-7) will face Ted Abernathy (1-3), up for another chance with the Senators after winning 12 at Louisville.

Milwaukee comes home to its enthusiastic fans who are convinced that "this is the year." More than 40,000 fans will watch Lew Burdette (19-10) of the Braves face Hal Jeffcoat (8-2) of the Cincinnati Redlegs, who are supposed to fight it out for the National League pennant with Milwaukee and Brooklyn. The game has been sold out for weeks.

The St. Louis Cardinals, fresh from a 17-hit party at Cincinnati with 40-year-old Murry Dickson (13-11) opposing 21-year-old Moe Drabowsky (2-4) who was impressive last summer as a youngster fresh off the campus at Trinity College. About 20,000 are expected at Busch Stadium.

Hawkeye Golfers Head South

OPTIMISTIC SMILES ARE WORN by six Iowa golfers and coach Glen Devine as the Hawkeye golf team left Wednesday by car for a southern golf swing. The golfers, who won their only meet, travel to the University of Kansas, Tulsa University, and the University of Missouri for dual meets during Easter vacation. Making the trip are (left to right), John Liechty, John Marschall, Steve Showers, Clyde Feltes, Frank Judish, Devine, and Herb Klontz.

Lakers Trade Lovellette; Hundley First Draft Choice

Musial Hurt; Has Played 775 Straight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan (The Man) Musial, just 47 games from the National League consecutive game record, has a muscle injury in his back and may miss the St. Louis Cardinals' home opener with the Chicago Cubs tonight.

Minneapolis, exercising their regular third choice in the draft, chose Jim Krebs of Southern Methodist University.

The St. Louis Hawks, next in line in the draft selections, picked up Win Wilfong of Memphis State, named the most valuable player in the National Invitational Tournament.

The New York Knickerbockers, who also had fifth choice, selected Brendan McCann of St. Bonaventure.

Len Rosenbluth of North Carolina, perhaps the most publicized of the crop of college players, went to the Philadelphia Warriors, who had the sixth pick.

Syracuse, No. 7 in the order of selections, chose George Bonalle, Illinois University center.

There was some talk that Bonalle might not be interested in playing pro ball.

The Champion Boston Celtics, with the last choice in the first round of selections, took Sam Jones, North Carolina College Negro. Jones was drafted by Minneapolis last year but returned to college and thus became eligible for the draft once more.

Minneapolis also drafted Gary Thompson, Iowa State's All-American, and Red Murrell of Drake.

Jim Ashmore, former Winfield, Iowa, prep star who played for Mississippi State, was claimed by Sup. Earl R. Cope.

Edward S. Rose says—

DETROIT — The City of Cleveland, Ohio, Wednesday announced it would not be able to hold the Pan American games in 1959 and the program was immediately switched to Guatemala City, Guatemala.

Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebreze explained that his city could not be the site of the 1959 games without a five million dollar appropriation from Congress.

Tough Drills End Hawkeyes Early Practice

Iowa football coach Forest Evashevski sent his youthful charges through a bruising game scrimmage Wednesday as the Hawkeyes reached the close of "get to know the freshmen" week.

Evashevski divided his squad into two groups, the "black" shirts against the "white" shirts.

No scoring summary was kept, and many would be scoring plays were blown dead before they materialized, but the "whites" appeared to be the most effective offense.

Randy Duncan, sophomore veteran of last year's championship team, quarterbacked the original "white" unit. Duncan was joined in that backfield by three top freshmen prospects.

Bobby Jeter, Weirton, West Va., and Roger Ewen, Milford, ran at the halfback positions, and Don Horn, Detroit, Mich., at fullback.

Jeter, 6-1, 185 pound freshman, was especially impressive, gaining consistently at the end and tackle holes. Ewen, 5-10, 172 pounder, has been improving rapidly with each drill and is now regarded as a top prospect.

The first line the "whites" fielded worked well on both offense and defense. It consisted of: Curt Merz, Springfield, New Jersey, and Ray Stagich, Linden, New Jersey, ends; Ed Sproat, La Grange Park, Ill., and Bob Hain, Davenport, tackles; Jerry Novack, Lorain, O., and John Savin, Chicago, guards; and Lloyd Humphreys, Chicago, center.

Duncan's well-respected passing arm was erratic Wednesday but the "whites" still moved well offensively, gaining almost at will on the ground.

The first team "white" backfield was replaced by an equally capable unit made up of: Ole Treadaway, Muskogee, Okla., quarterback; Gene Sessi, St. Clairsville, O., and Chuck McQuerry, Des Moines, halfbacks; and Al Sonnenberg, Collinsville, Ill., fullback.

Sessi and McQuerry ran well against the "black" team, and Treadaway showed spots of passing accuracy, hitting end Don Norton, Annaomasa, a recently converted halfback.

Another pleasing spot in the "whites" attack was the work of Del Kloewer at quarterback. The Manilla junior was moved to that position from left halfback where he was a reserve last season.

The next practice for the Hawkeyes is scheduled for April 23, when the 22 returning veterans return for the first time, joining the freshmen who have been working for a week.

Judge John Bray scored it 47-44 against the five-point per round maximum. Judge Harold Marovitz had it 49-44 and referee Bernard Weissman saw it 47-46. The Associated Press card favored Webb 48-45.

Webb, former NCAA champion from Idaho State College and 1952 U.S. Olympic team member, registered his 20th straight victory. He weighed 160 pounds to 157 for his New York foe.

"If we had played," trainer Bob Bauman said, "I don't think Stan would have been able to go."

Bauman said whirlpool and ultrasonic treatments helped somewhat, but added "the way it looked, I'd say he's doubtful."

"Still, knowing the man and his intense desire to play, I reserve judgment."

With 775 straight games behind him, Stan is closing in on Gus Webb's league record of 822.

Manager Fred Hutchison didn't learn of the injury until after the game and Musial just shrugged his shoulders when Hutch asked him why he hadn't been informed before for the draft once more.

Minneapolis also drafted Gary Thompson, Iowa State's All-American, and Red Murrell of Drake.

Jim Ashmore, former Winfield, Iowa, prep star who played for Mississippi State, was claimed by Sup. Earl R. Cope.

Bold Ruler Fine Says Fitzsimmons

NEW YORK (AP) — Bold Ruler galloped around Aqueduct race track Wednesday for newsreel cameras, appearing as handsome and fit as ever while trainer Sunday Jim Fitzsimmons was busy denying rumors all was not well with the Wheatear Stable colt.

The reports stemmed from Bold Ruler's workout at Jamaica Mon day morning when the East's main threat for the Kentucky Derby traveled a mile in 1:41 1-5 without urging from Eddie Arcaro.

It was a drill in preparation for the $50,000-added Wood Memorial, the East's major Derby by prep, to be raced at Jamaica Saturday.

Another pleasing spot in the "whites" attack was the work of Del Kloewer at quarterback. The Manilla junior was moved to that position from left halfback where he was a reserve last season.
