Beck Turns Down Challenge To 'Tell All' On Union Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dave Beck refused Wednesday a challenge to "blow the lid right off the Senate," if he could by revealing how his Teamster Union funds were spent. Instead, the Teamster boss again took the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Rackets Committee. He even declined to say whether he knows his own son, Dave Beck Jr.

The committee proceeded to draw from Stewart Ormsby Krieger, a Teamster's accountant, the testimony that he got $15,375 in salary and expense money from the union over 18 months in which he worked almost exclusively for the Beck family's beer business.

Just before the hearings began, Beck told newsmen: "I'll be one of the most silent witnesses you ever were in contact with." He kept this promise pretty well.

In renewing the Senate inquiry into Beck's affairs, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) said his committee intends to produce new evidence to support allegations that Beck made "improper use" of union funds and abused his power as president of the biggest union in the country.

McClellan also said the investigators would go into the activities of "certain businessmen who are willing, for the sake of a few dollars, to make 'deals' of a highly improper nature." The Senate group had broad authority to investigate racketeers in the labor-management field.

After making his opening statement, McClellan harked back to an interview in Galveston, Tex., April 15 in which Beck said he was "taking the rap" before the Senate committee "to avoid embarrassing a lot of fine people."

Beck was quoted as saying he would "blow the lid right off the Senate" should he reveal how union funds were spent. Asked at that time whether he meant contributions to members of Congress Beck was quoted as saying "If I start talking about contributions a lot of fine people would be embarrassed."

The Teamster boss has since claimed he was misquoted, and he refused to confirm today that he had made any lid blowing remarks to reporters. In fact, he wouldn't say anything about the matter.

Beck invoked the Fifth Amendment, the section of the Constitution that protects persons against self-incrimination, more than 100 times when he appeared before the senators last March. He then refused to say whether he had diverted $320,000 of union funds to his own use.

The senators made another unsuccessful effort Wednesday to track down four key witnesses who are missing and who have been sought for weeks. They include Beck's son.

Beck not only declined to reply to questions concerning their whereabouts but even to say whether he knew them.

Williams said the Senate resolution setting up the committee provided that it should be bipartisan, with four Democratic and four Republican members. Williams contended that with the death of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), one of its members, the committee is now unbalanced.

Late in the day, Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, presiding officer of the Senate, announced the appointment of Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Nebr.) to succeed McCarthy on the committee.

The lawyer also argued that the testimony should be put off because Beck is now under indictment on charges of evading $56,420 in Federal taxes on his 1950 income.

McClellan ordered the hearing to proceed. He told Williams, however, that the senators would not go into financial matters which might be involved in the income tax case.

SEATTLE (AP) — Dave Beck Jr. and two other witnesses sought by the Senate Rackets Committee for questioning in connection with activities of Teamster Union President Dave Beck have been in Vancouver, B.C., the past week, the Post-Intelligencer said Wednesday.

The newspaper said it had learned Beck Jr., had been staying in a Vancouver hotel and Joseph McEvoy and Norman Gesert in a motel, but had paid their bills and checked out early Wednesday.

Robert A. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate committee, said two weeks ago the committee had been unsuccessful in efforts to serve subpoenas on the three and Fred Verschueren Sr., despite a lengthy search. Kennedy said their testimony is needed in the committee's investigation of Beck's activities.

The Post-Intelligencer said Verschueren was not with the trio at Vancouver.

Pacifist Begins Trip to Atoll In Protest of H-Bomb Tests

LONDON (AP) — Harold Steele, a British pacifist, kissed his three children goodby Wednesday and set out to do his bit against what he regards as the evil of the British H-bomb tests.

A 63-year-old retired poultry farmer who was a conscientious objector in World War I, Steele said he is prepared if necessary to die alone on a Pacific atoll in protest against the explosions British scientists expect to touch off at Christmas Island next month.

Steele leaves London by plane Thursday for New Delhi on the first stage of a trip he hopes will take him to the danger area in time to subject himself to the hazards of blast and fall-out.

"I willingly sacrifice myself to prove to the world the horror of this devilish thing," he told reporters.

He said he will sail alone into the Christmas Island nuclear test area.

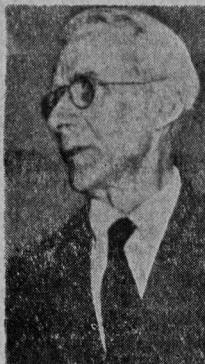

"I can still handle a sailing craft," he added. "Or perhaps I could get some vessel to drop me on an atoll in the area where I could sit out the tests and if necessary die in them."

Steele's wife Sheila, 40, once expected to go with him but plans for having their children looked after fell through. So she decided to stay in England.

"I feel the same as a soldier's wife when the soldier goes away," she said. "It has to be done."

Two British students — Ian Dixon, 21, and David Graham, 25 — are meeting Steele in New Delhi. They will help him rally Indian support for the project and may accompany him on his voyage.

The venture is backed in Britain by an organization, known by the Quakers (Friends), supported by the Emergency Committee for Direct Action Against Nuclear War. So far it has collected the equivalent of $2,240. Steele is not a Quaker, but worships in a meeting-house of that faith.

The Weather

Cloudy and Damp

Rain will hit the weather scene this morning for the first time in 10 days.

The break in the dry spell is predicted to last about five days. Mild winds blew over the city Wednesday and the day's high was 75. Lows last night were in the upper 40s.

High temperatures today will be in the low 70s.

The five day wet spell should bring a total of one inch of rain to the city.

Cedar Rapids Man Hurt In Motorcycle Accident

A Cedar Rapids man riding a motorcycle received head injuries in an accident with an automobile six miles north of Iowa City early Wednesday night.

Robert Hackert, 21, Cedar Rapids, was taken to Mercy Hospital. His condition was not disclosed.

Police reported that the accident occurred on highway 218, but had no other information late Wednesday.

Indonesia 'Regrets' Diplomat Incident

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — It was Indonesia's turn Wednesday to express regret over an incident involving United States-Indonesian relations.

U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. John Allison walked out of a reception for Soviet President Klement Voroshilov Tuesday night because no seats had been provided for them.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Allison's arrived at the time specified for President Sukarno's reception for the visiting Voroshilov, but found the program already in progress. A Foreign Office official ushered them to the front row — where there were no seats — and left them standing there.

Indonesian officials said there had been "an unfortunate sudden change" in the reception's time schedule and that the Allison's were 30 minutes late.

Ike To Take Budget Problem Before Public

Summerfield Threatens Another Postal Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield told Congress Wednesday he will again order cuts in postal service, effective July 1, unless the lawmakers vote him an extra $70 to $90 million for fiscal 1958.

Summerfield sounded this warning to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, which then went into closed session and voted to restore $32 million of the $56 million cut by the House from the Post Office Department's 1958 budget.

The postmaster general had said the full $58 million would have to be restored, and that still another $70 to $90 million would be needed. He said the extra money would be requested in a supplemental appropriation bill.

Summerfield said a "phenomenal" increase in mail volume has made it necessary to seek more money to maintain full service in the coming fiscal year.

If the money isn't forthcoming, he said, postal service cuts will be ordered into effect on July 1, 1957, the first day of fiscal 1958.

This was reminiscent of Summerfield's threat — which he carried out — to curtail service last month unless Congress voted him an extra $47 million for fiscal 1957. These cuts went into effect April 13, but were substantially lifted three days later after Congress voted the department a deficiency appropriation of $41 million.

The subcommittee action restoring $32 million of the $58 million House cut in the department's budget is subject to review when the full Appropriations Committee votes on the bill today.

SPI To Set Date on Iowan Policy Parley

The Daily Iowan policy control board will consider plans today for an open meeting to discuss recent charges of faculty censorship of the Iowan. Prof. Leslie Moeller, head of the board, said Wednesday.

Moeller, president of the Board of Trustees, Student Publications, Inc., the control board, and director of the SUI School of Journalism, said the open meeting will be held to allow members of the Iowan editorial staff to give statements expressing their views of the board's current editorial policies.

One request to make such a statement was received before the 5 p.m. deadline Wednesday. It was from Don Mitchell, A3, Santa Ana, Calif., Iowan city editor.

Eleanor Benz, A4, Iowa City, Iowan editor, said Wednesday: "I will not make a formal statement, but I will be present at the open meeting to answer any questions board members may wish to ask about the attitude of The Daily Iowan staff toward the board's editorial policy."

Moeller referred to a letter received Thursday by the board from members of the Iowan editorial staff and signed by Miss Benz as a possible request on her part to make a statement at the planned open meeting.

The 2-page letter, signed by eight of the ten Iowan editorial staff members, declared: "We do not believe that (faculty) advisers should have the final power to delete parts of editorials or an entire editorial (from The Iowan)."

The letter referred to a paragraph in a directive sent to the Iowan staff in January by the board which reads: "... As in the past, the faculty editorial adviser or the publisher of The Daily Iowan will have authority to delete editorials or portions of editorials upon either's discretion."

The letter said that the policy giving faculty advisers final powers over the contents of Iowan editorials has:

1. Offered an invitation to irresponsibility on the part of student executives by placing the final responsibility with faculty advisers.
2. Sapped student initiative on the Iowan.
3. Damaged the spirit of Iowan workers by giving them the feeling that they are not in charge of their own newspaper.
4. Prevented helpful and constructive criticism on all phases of university life.
5. Brought about disrespect for the Iowan among students and faculty members.

Charges of Iowan censorship first arose April 4 when a former Iowan editor, Kirk Boyd, A4, Davenport, declared during a panel discussion on academic freedom that "subtle censorship" has been exerted on Iowan staff members by the SUI Administration.

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla was re-elected Wednesday night for a four-year term, to begin in 1958.

A handpicked Constituent Assembly voted 76-1 to keep him in office despite violent anti-Rojas demonstrations that had kept the country in an uproar since last Friday.

Pro-Rojas supporters took to the streets Wednesday before the session and demanded the reopening of banks and industries shut down in protest against Rojas' re-election.

There were reports from Cali, 185 miles southwest of here, that from 15 to 50 persons were killed and more than 100 injured in anti-Rojas riots Tuesday.

At least five persons have been killed in clashes in Bogota.

Bogota, as well as Cali, was under military rule.

There were food shortages here as shops remained closed for a second day.

There were no signs that bankers, businessmen and manufacturers intended to back down in their opposition to Rojas, despite government warnings the army would put a stop to the "illegal strike."

Only government operated banks were open. A government list of closed commercial establishments showed at least 30,000 employees were affected.

Jazz Group Here Tonight

George Shearing

Tickets, $1.50 per person, for the George Shearing Quintet concert tonight are still available at the south desk of Iowa Memorial Union.

Sponsored by Central Party Committee, the blind English-born jazz pianist will appear at 8 p.m. tonight in the Main Lounge of the Union.

The quintet, with Shearing at the piano, backed by vibraphone, electric guitar, bass and drums, has gained fame and popularity in this country for what Shearing calls modified progressive jazz.

Picketing Continues At High School Here

The Frantz Construction Co. work on the Regina High School project is being picketed by Cedar Rapids Teamsters Local 238.

Union picketing, which has been under way for about a month, is based on the contention that the construction company is not paying union wages to its truck drivers.

Plans To Air, Televisive Talks For Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday he plans to take directly to the American people, in one, or more likely two, radio-TV addresses, his case for adopting his $71,800,000 budget pretty much as it stands.

Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference there is no hope for a real slash in government spending unless a very great easing of world tensions makes it possible to cut the present "stupendous" expenditures for defense.

The President at the same time voiced 100 per cent agreement with Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, who said last January that unless the "terrific tax take" is reduced this country will have "a depression that will curl your hair."

Mr. Eisenhower said he and Humphrey "jointly prepared a letter" on which the Treasury head's depression views were based. He added, in answer to a question, that Humphrey wants to leave the Cabinet and must do so "sooner or later" — though not, he implied, because of any disagreement with the President.

"Feeling fine," as he put it, after a good deal of exposure to the sun in recent weeks, the chief executive put sharp emphasis on this statement: "The monetary policy of this government is mine, and no one underneath me is going to change my policy." He was referring here to a question whether Humphrey's successor might ease the Administration's "tight money" policy.

On Capitol Hill, where strong moves have developed to cut the 1957-58 budget, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas told reporters later he expects "more controversy and more pruning."

Turning to foreign affairs Mr. Eisenhower told 232 newsmen that this country is paying no heed in its defense planning to Soviet threats against various countries to dislodge them from letting the United States set up nuclear weapons bases on their territory.

He said the Russians' recent "open sky" proposal — they'd get the privilege of inspecting Alaska and the western United States by air and grant similar access to an area of the Soviet Union — shows the London disarmament talks are bringing "more honest and hard work" than in the past.

But this specific new proposal, he said, will need careful study because "it isn't merely acreage that is important when you are examining; it is what is in the particular areas is what is."

Guided missiles cropped up first at the news conference. The President was asked: Why shouldn't the Army be allowed to develop weapons with a range up to 1,500 miles? And did he think Col. John Nickerson acted properly in making public the Army-Air Force controversy in this field?

Speaking as an old Army man, Mr. Eisenhower replied, he doesn't see why ground troops should want a weapon whose effects they could not see without the help of an Air Force. And he said the complaint made to him about Nickerson was that the Army colonel "exposed to public view very secret papers of the Defense Department, and not that he argued in public with the Air Force."

Nickerson, stationed at the Redstone Arsenal in Alabama, has been ordered before a court martial on charges of disclosing secret information to unauthorized persons in an effort to stop the Air Force from getting control of Army rocket work. The Pentagon has limited the Army to weapons up to a 200-mile range.

U.S. Gives Jordan $10 Million in Aid

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Deputy Premier Samir Rifai said Wednesday Jordan has reached an agreement in principle that 10 million dollars in U.S. aid will be used to prop up the country's budget.

Harold Nelson, member of the U.S. operations mission in Jordan said later there would be no U.S. objection to using the sum for budget needs as long as Jordan can show it is used for proper purposes.

What's Happening Around The World

WASHINGTON — South Viet Nam's fervently anti-Communist president, Ngo Dinh Diem, was welcomed personally by President Eisenhower Wednesday.

Diem's 4-day state visit began at National Airport with a firm handshake from Eisenhower and a 21-gun salute.

The two chiefs of state will begin business talks Thursday at the White House on a wide range of problems.

ROME — Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski of Poland arrived in Rome Wednesday night to receive his cardinal's red hat in a special ceremony at the Vatican.

It was his first visit to Rome since 1951 and his first venture outside his country since Communist authorities released him from confinement last year.

When Archbishop Wyszynski was made a cardinal in 1953, he declined to come to Rome for the investiture ceremony because he feared Poland's Communist government would prevent his return.

NEW YORK — Orchestra leader Jimmie Dorsey is ill of bursts, and probably will not return to his band for two months, a spokesman said Wednesday.

The spokesman said Dorsey became ill while the band was on a road trip about a month ago. He returned to New York and was hospitalized.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill.—The Farm-all works of the International Harvester Co. here will cut its tractor production from 200 to 175 units a day beginning June 10.

The reduction will result in a lay-off of between 150 and 160 employees. Use of as many employees as possible as vacation replacements will help hold the reduction of the force to that number. The announcement was made by L. M. Gildea, works manager.

He said the move will be made to bring production in line with sales requirements for the summer months.

McLeod Moves Closer To Senate Approval

WASHINGTON — Scott McLeod won a major test Wednesday night when the Senate rejected a motion to return his nomination as ambassador to Ireland to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

A vote on confirmation of the nomination was put off until Thursday. The motion was rejected by a 54-22 roll-call vote. This paved the way for confirmation over outspoken Democratic opposition.

It came after a day of debate in which the State Department security chief was alternately condemned as a "symbol of the witch hunter" and defended as the victim of a left-wing "smear campaign."

"The witch hunter" accusation was made by Sen. Joseph Clark (D-Pa.) who bitterly criticized McLeod's handling of the State Department security program.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, a GOP leader for whom McLeod once served as administrative aide, said the nominee was the target of smears by Communists, pinks, fellow travelers and their associates.

Senate Republican Leader William Knowland (Calif.), confident of enough votes to win confirmation for McLeod, told his colleagues:

"The President told me today he has full confidence in Mr. McLeod and hopes he will be confirmed promptly."

Just before taking up McLeod's nomination, the Senate confirmed by voice vote the nomination of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen to be ambassador to the Philippines.

Clark bitterly condemned McLeod's handling of security clearance of State Department and Foreign Service officers when he went to the department from his former post as administrative assistant to Bridges.

Clark quoted McLeod as having told a reporter in 1954 that, "Congress wanted heads to roll and I let them roll."

HUB-CAP THIEF
Fred Dismar, 160 Central Park, reported the theft of one hub-cap from his 1954 auto to police Wednesday.

Birds Cause Interference Of Radio, TV

Birds' nests, faulty insulators and loose guy wires were discovered as the cause of radio and television interference in the Iowa City area by Iowa Electric Co. officials, Wednesday.

The officials discovered that radio and television interference north of the sub station stopped when a 33,000 volt cross country power line carrying voltage was cut off.

Lee Blodgett, chairman of the Iowa City Television and Radio Interference Committee, said the interference then was traced to the sub station where birds' nests, faulty insulators and loose guy wires were discovered.

The interference, often blamed on radio hams, has been occurring in Manville Heights, University Heights and Templin Park, Blodgett said.

He added the interference has been particularly annoying to the State Police Radio Network.

"The Iowa Electric Co. has assured me they will cooperate in the future to keep their lines maintained so interference will not re-occur," Blodgett said.

SUI Prof Tours Air Force Base

Prof. Harry H. Crosby, acting supervisor of writing in the SUIT communications skills program, was among 15 Iowa educators and business and professional men who toured installations of the U.S. Air Force this week.

Conducted by the Iowa Air Age Education Council of the Department of Public Instruction, in cooperation with the Continental Air Command, the trip was a part of the Air Force fire power demonstration.

The group met with top Air Force officials at Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss., for a briefing on problems of air defense, attack, strategy and personnel qualifications and also flew to a demonstration of bombing and defense equipment.

UN Group at SUI Holds 1st Meeting

Officers of the Iowa City AAUN chapter will be introduced and committees will submit reports at the meeting. A transcribed rebroadcast of a recent closed circuit broadcast of a round table discussion of the UN will complete the evening.

The Iowa City chapter of AAUN was suggested by Eleanor Roosevelt who spoke here two months ago.

$5-Million Suit Filed By Chrysler

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. filed a $5 million damage suit Wednesday against Local 212 of the United Auto Workers Union in the wake of a series of unauthorized work stoppages by the local's 23,000 members in Chrysler's body stamping division.

In addition, Chrysler asked $500,000 a day henceforth for each day in which the local interferes with its attempts to move tool, dies and fixtures from Detroit factories to a new plant at Twinsburg, Ohio.

Both suits were filed in U.S. District Court.

The corporation contended it had an agreement on both equipment and job transfers with the international UAW and that the local's violating it through work stoppages aimed at interfering with transfer of equipment to Ohio. The international is not made a defendant.

Chrysler asked "to immediately direct the officers of Local 212 to cease their obstructive and illegal activities which are in violation of our contract with the UAW."

Local 212 has been demanding written job security for salaried workers in the body division.

Scholarships Open To Grad Students

Twelve Marshall scholarships for two years of study at British universities will be available in 1958 to graduate students, according to Dean Walter F. Loehwing of the SUIT Graduate College.

Offered every year to American citizens under the age of 28 as an expression of the United Kingdom's gratitude for Marshall plan aid the scholarships are valued at approximately $1,500 plus transportation. Awards are made for two years, but may be extended for a third year.

Preference is given to candidates who combine high academic ability with the capacity to play an active part in the United Kingdom university to which they go, according to Dean Loehwing.

Applications for scholarships must be made by Oct. 31, 1957. Interested students should write the British Consulate-General, 720 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11, Ill.

Judgement Refused In District Court

Johnson County District Court Jury returned a verdict for the defendant Tuesday in the first trial of the current term.

The jury refused to grant a judgment of $2,334 to Eugene King in a suit against Arthur Schertz. The suit was brought in connection with damage and personal injuries in an auto crash September 14, 1955.

The jury deliberated just 50 minutes before foreman William E. Davis returned the verdict to Bailiff Al J. Huff.

The second trial of the current term to be heard by the jurors will begin in district court at 10 a.m. today. It will be the suit of Cargo Carriers, Inc., against Arnold Stutzman, Donald Erb, Duane Yoder and Gene Bender in connection with an automobile-truck accident.

The trucking firm is asking damages of $1,260 as a result of the accident March 15, 1956, on the county line road three miles north of Wellman. Stutzman is identified in the petition as owner of the vehicle which, the petition charges, was parked without lights on the road.

Yoder was identified as the driver of the vehicle and the other defendants as passengers.

A third case scheduled for trial this week has been withdrawn from the jury and will be heard in court without jurors, Judge Harold D. Evans said. It is the suit of William F. Gilpin, 308 South Dubuque St., asking for $2,135 damages in a car pedestrian accident last September 29. The defendant, Harold Wegener, cannot be found and his attorney has withdrawn from the case, Evans said.

Other suits settled were those of Luther H. Jones and Florence Jones against Robert Anderson, 830 Ronalds St., and Albert R. Del-mare, R.R. 2, in an automobile accident case.

Jones had asked damages of $11,802 for injuries received in the accident April 10, 1956 on Highway 6. Mrs. Jones asked damages of $5,369 for injuries.

Settled in connection with the same case were petitions by Marion W. Jones, who asked damages of $5,442 for injuries and damage to his car, and Leona Jones, who asked $3,567 for her injuries.

The auto accident suit of A. M. Eash against Maas Enterprises Inc., and James F. Riggan has been withdrawn from trial. Evans said that several witnesses connected with the case are on duty with the army and will not be available to testify.

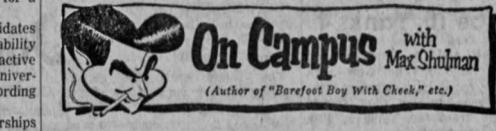

There is a possibility that some highway commission appeals may be moved up to fill the slack period, Evans said.

THE THUNDERING MARCH OF PROGRESS

Today, as everyone knows, is the forty-sixth anniversary of the founding of Gransmire College for Women which, as everyone knows, was the first Progressive Education college in the United States.

Well do I recollect the tizzy in the academic world when Gransmire first opened its portals! What a buzz there was, what a brouhaha in faculty common rooms, what a rattling of teacups, when Dr. Agnes Thudd Sigafos, first president of Gransmire, lifted her shaggy head and announced defiantly, "This here is no stuffy, old-fashioned college. This here, by gum, is Progressive Education. We will teach the student, not the course. There will be no marks, no exams, no requirements. We will break the iron mold of orthodoxy, hey!"

Well sir, forward-looking maidens all over the country cast off their fetters and came rushing to New Hampshire to enroll at Gransmire. Here they found freedom. They broadened their vistas. They lengthened their horizons. They unstopped their bottled personalities. They roamed the campus in togas, leading ocelots on leashes.

And, of course, they smoked Philip Morris. (I say "of course." Why do I say "of course"? I say "of course" because it is a matter of course that anyone in search of freedom should naturally turn to Philip Morris, for Philip Morris is a natural smoke, with no filter to get in the way of its true tobacco taste.)

But all was not Philip Morris and ocelots. There was work and study too — not in the ordinary sense, for there were no formal classes. Instead there was a broad approach to enlarging each girl's potentials.

Take the course called Basic Motor Skills

Take, for example, the course called B.M.S. (Basic Motor Skills). B.M.S. was divided into L.D. (Lying Down), S.U. (Standing Up) and W. (Walking). Once the student had mastered L.D. and S.U., she was taught to W. — but not just to W. any old way! No, sir! She was taught to W. with poise, dignity, bearing! To inculcate a sense of balance in the girl, she began her exercises by walking with a suitcase in each hand. (One girl, Mary Ellen Dorgenicht, got so good at it that today she is bell captain at the Dinkler-Plaza Hotel in Atlanta, Georgia.)

When the girls had walking under their belts, they were allowed to dance. Again no formality was imposed. They were simply told to fling themselves about in any way their impulses dictated, and believe you me, it was quite an impressive sight to see them go bounding into the woods with their togas flying. (Several later joined the U. S. Forestry Service.)

There was also a lot of finger painting and gourd rattling and sculpture with coat hangers and all like that, and soon the fresh wind of Progressivism came whistling out of Gransmire to blow the ancient dust of pedantry off curricula everywhere, and today, thanks to the pioneers at Gransmire, we are all free, every man-jack of us.

If you are ever in New Hampshire, be sure to visit the Gransmire campus. It is now a tannery.

© Max Shulman, 1957

And be sure to light a Philip Morris when you visit Gransmire, or anywhere else for that matter, because Philip Morris is always a naturally perfect companion and brings you this column each week and is ignitable at either end.

Williams Belts 3 Homers To Beat White Sox, 4-1

Ted Increases Homer Total to 9, Batting .474

CHICAGO (AP) — Ted Williams slammed three homers Wednesday — giving him a total of four in his last five times at bat — to power the Boston Red Sox to their fourth straight victory, a 4-1 triumph over the slumping Chicago White Sox.

Taking advantage of a brisk Comiskey Park tail wind, the "Splendid Splinter" lofted solo four-baggers in the first and third innings then cracked a two-run blast in the eighth.

Williams now has collected nine homers for the season. He didn't bag that many last year until July 26, winding up with 24 for the campaign.

With Williams' support, Frank Sullivan coasted to his second decision against as many losses, limiting the White Sox to four hits as the erstwhile leaders absorbed their fifth straight licking but still held second place with a .611 percentage to Boston's .600.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians battered four New York pitchers for 13 hits, including three home runs, to win their second straight from the Yankees, 10-4, Wednesday night.

Three-run homers by Vic Wertz and Gene Woodling and a two-run blast by rookie Roger Maris helped Early Wynn post his third victory.

Mickey Mantle's fourth homer of the season accounted for the first three Yankee runs.

Starter Art Ditmar was yanked in the fourth inning after giving up a walk, three singles, and Wertz' three-run homer.

A NOVEL TAG SYSTEM is employed by Detroit first baseman Earl Torgeson as he slides into first base to retire Washington's Herb Plews in a game at Detroit. Torgeson caught Plew's hot grounder, raced toward the bag but saw he couldn't beat Plews so he slid into the bag beating Plews by a split second. The Tigers rallied to whip the Senators, 13-4, Wednesday, as Tiger hurler Duke Maas picked up his fourth victory of the season.

9 in Row on Hoak's Slam

BROOKLYN (AP) — Don Hoak's bases filled-home run off Don Newcombe in the eighth offset a three run counter blast by Brooklyn in its half of the inning Wednesday night and gave the Cincinnati Redlegs their ninth consecutive victory, 7-6.

The triumph concluded the Reds eastern swing, which resulted in victories in all nine games. Not since 1940 when Cincinnati went on to win the pennant has a team from the Rhineland swept an eastern trip.

The victory boosted the Reds past Brooklyn into second place, by half a game.

Homers accounted for all Cincinnati runs. George Crowe, continuing to do a bang up job filling in for the ailing Ted Kluszewski at first base, drove in Cincinnati's first three runs with a pair of home runs. He clouted his first in the second inning following a walk to Frank Robinson.

NEW YORK (AP) — Catcher Hal Smith drove in six runs with a homer and two singles and the St. Louis Cardinals in general had a happy time at the plate Tuesday in clubbing the crippled New York Giants 13-4.

After trailing 3-0 for three innings, the Cards broke down the Giants' pitching staff with two runs in the fourth, four in the fifth, two in the seventh and four more in the eighth. They fattened their averages with 19 hits.

Stan Musial rapped three singles to increase his career total to 2,812 hits. That tied him with George Sisler for 20th place in the all-time hit parade.

Phil's Rookie Trips Braves

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie righthander Don Cardwell tamed Milwaukee's band of touted sluggers with a seven-hit performance and a near shutout Wednesday night as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Braves 2-1.

The loss reduced the Braves National League lead to one-half game over the upsurging Cincinnati Redlegs who scored a 7-6 win over Brooklyn.

The 22-year-old Cardwell from Winston-Salem, N.C., gave up four doubles and three singles to Milwaukee. But the Braves could get no closer to paydirt than their one-run ninth.

Cardwell weathered his ninth-inning war of nerves like an old pro after giving up doubles to Johnny Logan and Bill Bruton and a walk to Carl Sawatski.

Then, with two out and two men on base, Cardwell struck out Danny O'Connell to end the game.

Degree of Vision Still in Doubt

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitcher Herb Score will see again from the right eye which a line drive smashed Tuesday night, but the degree of vision is now the thing in doubt, an eye specialist indicated Wednesday night.

X-rays will be taken Thursday to further the diagnosis of injury to baseball's most promising young pitcher, who will be 24 next month.

The eye specialist, Dr. Charles I. Thomas, earlier Wednesday had given an encouraging report on the condition of the million dollar Indians' southpaw.

"The eye will be saved," the eye specialist said. "It is beginning to clear up. I can't tell yet the full extent of the damage. Because of the eye hemorrhage it is like looking through a fog."

"Fortunately, the ball struck him flush. It caught the top of the eyebrow bone, the cheek bone and nose. The nose was fractured. It appears the bone structure of the impact absorbed most of the impact that would have destroyed the eye. There is no brain injury."

The doctor gave that report to Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees, who hit the drive that felled Score in the first inning of Tuesday night's game. The specialist said "what signs we could see were encouraging" and spoke of "considerable improvement" overnight.

McDougald, near tears in the dressing room Tuesday night, told a reporter he would quit baseball if Score went blind.

But Wednesday, the Yankee infielder said: "Things look better today." Asked if that meant he was no longer thinking of quitting baseball should Score's injury prove serious, McDougald said that was correct.

But Score sent these words of comfort to McDougald: "Tell him that it's part of the game. It wasn't his fault. I don't hold any grudge or ill feeling at all."

Newsmen, who had been allowed to visit Score at Lakeside Hospital Wednesday morning, reported he was in good spirits.

"I never had pain like this before," Score told them. "It's a new experience for me. When I arrived at the hospital last night I was numb — it didn't hurt very much. But it got worse during the night, and I did not sleep very much."

Indians General Manager Hank Greenberg, who also visited Score in the hospital, said doctors told him there was no dislocation of the lens of the eye, and no sign of detachment of the retina.

He said the hemorrhage is disappearing faster than he had first expected. X-rays probably will be taken Thursday.

Herb Score Not Mad at McDougald

Cobb Blames Lights, Ball For Accident

ATHERTON, Calif. (AP) — Ty Cobb, one of baseball's immortals, blamed the lively ball and artificial lighting Wednesday for baseball accidents such as that which injured Cleveland's young Herb Score.

Score, the Indians' brilliant pitcher, was struck in the right eye Tuesday night by a line drive off the bat of Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees. There is still some question whether Score's vision will be permanently damaged.

After expressing hope that "the boy will be all right," the outspoken, 70-year-old Cobb, one of the game's great hitters, unleashed some swings at night baseball and the lively ball.

"I would say that the accident probably was absolutely due to artificial light," Cobb commented. "Under the conditions, he probably didn't see that ball. Of course, it was unavoidable."

"But the lively ball has done a lot in the way of injuries. I've always been against it."

Dressen to 'Rip Club Apart' If He Accepts Nat Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charlie Dressen was headed back to town Wednesday, saying he'd "rip the club apart" if he accepted a front office job with the Washington Senators.

Dressen was manager of the Senators until Tuesday, when President Calvin Griffith replaced him with Cookie Lavagetto, until then Dressen's top coach.

While getting the heave-ho in his third season, Dressen was offered the vaguely defined upstairs post of "coordinator of player personnel."

In a dispatch from Detroit, the Washington Evening Star quoted Dressen as saying he would "rip the club apart and start fresh," if he stays with Washington.

Woman Learns $120 Won't Go Far

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A woman artist has learned that a citizen can't help reduce the huge national debt by a direct contribution. Artist Sheila M. Martin of suburban Pacific Palisades, who says she is "sick and tired of so much government spending," sent a check of $120 in an attempt to cut down the Federal government's $275-billion deficit. But in Washington Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey said Government law won't let him apply the money to reduce the national debt. He said he would seek Miss Martin's permission to put the $120 into the Government's general fund. Asked about this suggestion Wednesday, Miss Martin told a reporter: "I really don't know about that. I would like to think it over, first." Miss Martin sent her money to Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va.), saying in letter that "no one else will lower it (the debt) so we citizens should at least try."

German Students Give Advice On Tourist Travel in Europe

Advice on European travel in general, and Germany in particular was the feature of the "European Holiday" program, Wednesday night in Shambaugh lecture room. The program, under direction of Hans Myhre, A2, Oslo, Norway, included lectures, movies, and question and answer periods. Dietrich Hartmann, G, Berlin, Germany, spoke on summer travel in Germany. Hartmann said that the most enjoyable and profitable method of travel in Germany is by automobile. He added, however, that the railroad system is very efficient and moderately inexpensive. The advantage of auto travel, he said, is the closer contact with the country and people. Adequate lodgings are available, Hartmann said. He recommended pensions, boarding houses, and youth hostels, as well as the many German hotels which may be found to suit every price range. German food, Hartmann said, is similar to our own in many respects and reasonably priced. The monetary exchange rate in Germany is 4.20 Deutsche Marks

The 'Glamor Grind'

'Never Again,' Says Carol

Back in Iowa, She's Busy Modeling

Carol Morris In Des Moines

DES MOINES (AP) — Carol Morris says she wouldn't go through the "glamor grind" of being Miss Universe again. "It's a wonderful first time experience and I've loved every minute of it," Miss Morris said here Wednesday. "But I wouldn't do it twice. I'd never live to see the second year. The pace is too fast. It isn't as easy as it looks. "None of the beauty winners ever say they'd do it again. So I guess I'm just following the crowd." The 20-year-old Ottumwa beauty, who left the Drake University campus 10 months ago, for the Miss Universe competition at Long Beach, Calif., has traveled more than 100,000 miles since she won the honor. Will she stay in the movies? "That depends on whether they want me," Carol said. "We'll see what happens." As Miss Universe of 1957, Carol was in Des Moines Tuesday and Wednesday to model Catalina swim suits at Younkers department store. She'll travel to 75 cities for the swim suit firm between April 7 and July 1. Carol had a good visit with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Luverne Morris of Ottumwa. They were here to attend a ministerial convention. After modeling a gold lame suit designed especially for her, Carol told the audience: "When I think back to the competition in the Miss Universe competition the only explanation I can give for winning is that I was just lucky or the judges couldn't decide and said, 'Let's just get it over with and give it to this girl from Iowa.'" Carol said she had appeared in two unreleased pictures, "The Man of 1,000 Faces" and "Monolith." She said she's scheduled to appear on the Ozzie and Harriet television show.

May 23 Set For Davenport Youth's Trial

DAVENPORT (AP) — Fred Don Allen, 15, Davenport High School sophomore, will answer to charges of assault with intent to commit murder May 27 when he faces trial by jury in Scott County District Court. Allen was arrested Feb. 22 in connection with a switchblade knife in which Thomas York, 16, of Davenport suffered a stab wound in the lower chest. York recovered. Allen is presently out on $5,000 bond pending his trial. Judge Arthur H. Jansson is scheduled to hear the case. Allen, whose 15-year-old wife gave birth to a daughter while he was being held in Scott County jail, will be represented by Atty. Donald A. Wine. The stabbing incident allegedly arose out of a teen-age argument involving several other youths accompanying Allen and York.

Year's Best by— University Symphony

—Brings Encores
By JACQUI ALPER
Daily Iowan Staff Writer
Band concerts are not usually followed by encores. Conductor Frederick C. Ebbs said Wednesday night after the University Symphony Band concert. But tradition was broken after one of the best performances of the SUI group this year, and the band played Herbert Goldman's march "Iowa." A program of popular favorites was presented to an unusually enthusiastic crowd in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union. The outstanding selection of the evening was Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." Arranged by Ferde Grofe, the "serious jazz" composition featured Prof. Simms of the SUI Music Department as piano soloist. "Displaying a fine technique, Simms was ably supported by the 95-piece band, and the sound they produced was near professional. Selections from "My Fair Lady," with associate conductor John B. Whitlock on the podium, had almost every toe tapping. Included were "With a Little Bit of Luck," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face," a fast tempo version of "Wouldn't It Be Lovely" and other popular tunes from the current Broadway musical hit. "Saga Overture" by Edward Zimmer featured some very good work in the percussion section of the band, as did "Rhapsody in Rhumba" by David Bennett. A change of pace from the marches was Gustav Holst's "First Suite in E Flat." Here the full power of the band was heard in a score that had the flavor of an orchestral composition. Ebbs led his musicians to a thunderous conclusion in Eric Leidzen's "Second Swedish Rhapsody," based on four Swedish folk tunes. The remainder of the program consisted of marches by Jose Franco, Kenneth Alford, and Louis Ganne. Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" with a piccolo solo by Harvey Sollberger, A1, Marion, concluded the program.

SUI Revives Dadaism With Ludwig: Sieber

By WALTER KLEINE
Daily Iowan Staff Writer
Setting values commonly held by many people. Sieber pointed out that people who hold those values cannot see the humor in the situation as long as they are closely involved in the situation. The humor is apparent when the situation is viewed from "outside," in a detached manner. The "I Like Ludwig" buttons, which were begun as an anti-Elvis Presley movement by a New York art student, have become much more than that. "A person can wear a 'Ludwig' button as a protest against several dozen different things," Sieber said. The buttons can be a protest against Presley — or against modern composers such as Alban Berg. They can be an expression of a belief in the superiority of Ludwig van Beethoven — or of classical music in general. They can be a parody of political campaign buttons — or a protest against the wearing of buttons at all. In short, Sieber said, they can be worn for almost any reason you can think of — even to being worn by Elvis Presley fans because they would be the last thing you'd expect to see a Presley fan wearing.

Flood Victims Tell Of Armadillo Diet

DALLAS (AP) — The flooding lower Brazos River closed more highways Wednesday and continued to menace towns and rural areas. Flood victims told Bill Lee of the Angleton Times that they lived on boiled armadillos and turnip greens while marooned three or four days by high water in the Angleton area. Prison authorities expressed fear of a typhoid epidemic among convicts. Several prison farms in the area are flooded. The flood, latest in Texas' three weeks of high water, lapped into a State Prison farm cell block, spread over 100 square miles of land and drove at least 125 families from their homes. It centered around Angleton-East Columbia-West Columbia, less than 50 miles southwest of Houston. The river was 13 miles wide in the area, and was within 2 miles of Angleton. The town is 12 miles from the river bed. Water rose into the lawns of stately old mansions at East Columbia. The Red Cross moved in railway boxcars to care for many refugees, while other flood victims moved in with relatives and friends. Downriver at Lake Jackson, water spilled into a residential section from Oyster Creek, a tributary of the Brazos. The Weather Bureau said there was a threat of heavy rains returning to Texas, where spring tornadoes and floods have caused an officially estimated $85 million in damages. The 5-day forecast calls for local thunderstorms and the Dallas Weather Bureau said the same weather conditions which started the state's floods now exists. Texas Prison authorities were moving to protect convicts from a possible typhoid epidemic. Prison Board Chairman H. H. Coffield expressed fear an epidemic might break out.
