

County Alert Due Within Four Days

There will be a test alert within the next four days in Johnson County to try out a new Civil Defense program, Lee F. Blodgett, Civil Defense radio officer for Johnson County, said Tuesday. Civil Defense authorities have revised their warning program because threat from guided missiles and long-range aircraft and recent hurricane warnings by whistles and sirens were not effective, he said. To avoid confusion and panic, people should acquaint themselves with the Civil Defense plans and obey CD police and instructions. The alert signal will be a 5-minute blast by the university powerhouse whistle in Iowa City and the powerhouse whistle and fire siren in Coralville. Things to remember: Do not use the telephone during an alert. This jams the lines and makes telephone communication by CD officials difficult. Tune your standard AM radio to the Conelrad frequency — 640 or 1240 kc for instructions and correct information.

Do not panic if radio becomes silent. Some radio stations will go off the air to switch to emergency radio broadcasting frequencies. The take cover signal will be a blast of not more than three minutes. In the event of a take cover signal get into your home shelter, if you have one.

If you have no home shelter go in the house and close all outside doors and windows. Take cover in the basement or first floor interior. If you are outside seek best possible cover. Stay put until word of all clear is passed. If you notice a bright flash of light take cover immediately.

How Dare You, Sir!

OUTWITTING A MAN is no problem for three women. The Bulgarian officer, played by David Cropp, Emma, Kan., SUI graduate student, searches in vain for the 'Hero,' a Serbian fugitive in this scene from "Arms and the Man." The comedy by George Bernard Shaw will be presented at the SUI Theatre tonight through Saturday. Louka (left), played by Marion Michael, Muncy, Pa., graduate student, keeps an eye on the curtain which hides the fugitive as Jo Gillette, Iowa City junior, in the role of Raina, stands protectively before the drape. Madame Pitkoff (right), played by Carolyn Welch, Wadley, Ala., graduate student, is indignant about the entire proceeding.

Russell Questions Rights Bill Validity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.), challenged a ruling by Vice President Nixon Tuesday that the Senate is debating the correct version of a civil rights bill passed by the House. After the House passed the bill, a clerical error was made in printing the bill. An amendment was placed on the wrong page, and this erroneous version reached the Senate side of the Capitol. But Nixon ruled that the mistake had now been corrected in a routine way and there was no need to send the bill back to the House.

House Votes To Continue Soil Banks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Tuesday reversed its stand of two months ago and voted to continue the Eisenhower Administration's soil bank farm program for one more year. There wasn't even a fight about it. The switch came on a voice vote which passed and sent to the Senate the annual agriculture appropriations bill. Senate approval seems certain. On May 15 the House voted 192-187 to kill the major part of the soil bank plan at the end of this year. Critics charged it was marked by waste and mismanagement. Supporters argued it went into effect so late in the spring of 1956 it hadn't been given a fair trial. The Senate balked at this House action and voted funds to continue full operation of the soil bank. A Senate-House conference committee then drafted a compromise bill, including the soil bank money which was voted on Tuesday. As passed by the House, the bill gives the Agriculture Department some $3 1/2 billion for the fiscal year which began July 1. This was some $365 million less than President Eisenhower had requested and nearly $100 million less than the House voted originally.

House Agrees To Barter with Red Satellites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House agreed Tuesday to permit the Government to barter surplus farm commodities with Communist satellite nations. Abandoning a long stand against Red barter, the House yielded to Senate insistence and accepted the barter provision as part of a compromise bill extending the Agricultural Trade and Assistance Act another year. The barter provision was the principal Senate-House dispute in differing versions of a bill authorizing disposal of another $1,300,000,000 worth of surplus commodities to friendly nations. Repeal of the ban against barter of surpluses with other than "friendly" nations has been sought by the Eisenhower Administration as another step to bolster its policy of aiding nations seeking to break away from Soviet Russia. The compromise approved by the House permits barter with European satellites, but specifically prohibits barter with Russia, Red China or any area controlled by the Chinese Communists. It also prohibits sales of surpluses to Red satellites for the currency of those nations.

Ike Opposes Bill To Prevent Trial Of GI's Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was described Tuesday as "strongly opposed" to a House resolution aimed at preventing trials of American servicemen in foreign courts. Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, told reporters after the weekly White House legislative conference: "There is no question that the President and the Administration are strongly opposed to the bill because they believe that it would be a threat to the United States. The resolution, presented by Rep. Bow (R-Ohio), has been approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee on an 18-8 vote and has built up strong support. The case of GI William S. Girard, whom Japan wants to try for the killing of a woman scavenger on a firing range in Japan, has contributed much to the drive against foreign trials. Bow's resolution would order the President to revise or renounce any 'status of forces' agreements which contain any provisions for foreign jurisdiction over offenses committed by U.S. servicemen stationed abroad.

SUI Professors Return From European Tour

Two instructors from the SUI School of Religion, the Rev. Robert Welch, Roman Catholic priest, and Dr. George Forell, Lutheran minister, are expected to arrive in Iowa City today after an extensive tour of European universities. An Associated Press release Father Welch said he was certain the religious study program could work well in most places, both here and abroad, if it is tried. He added that if it is to be successful, however, the Jewish, Catholic and Protestant faiths must take part from the beginning on an entirely equal basis. The clergymen said they believe the Iowa type of program helps people to a more mature understanding of religion and its importance in two ways: It gives students a chance to learn more about their own religious heritage and helps break down religious intolerance. Both men reported that religious fervor in West Germany, high at the end of World War II, now has declined somewhat because of the "unbelievable prosperity" there. Father Welch said that in East Germany, where there is no religious freedom at present, the fervor is much greater than in West Germany. He said his belief was that the Nazi period has left no lasting effect on the young people of Germany. In churches visited, he said, there was "no absence of young men."

A third Iowa clergyman who took part in the tour, Rabbi Frederick Bargebuh, reportedly went to England to remain for a year of study at the University of London. New High-Energy Jet Engine Fuel Revealed

Will Enable Bomber To Circle the World Without Refueling

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The Defense Department revealed Tuesday the first steps leading to production of a high-energy jet engine fuel it says will enable the giant B-58 bomber to fly around the world without refueling. The fuel, produced by the Olin Mathieson Chemical Co., is called HEF-2. It will increase the efficiency of a jet engine by up to 50 per cent, the company said. The company laid a symbolic cornerstone of a new plant that, when completed, will be the first commercial source of HEF-2. The plant will cost 36 million dollars. It is being financed by the Air Force.

The initial production cost was $5,000 a pound, the company said. When the new plant is in production, in about 20 months, the cost will be $4 a pound. Brig. Gen. Clyde H. Mitchell, deputy director of production, Air Materiel Command, said the fuel gives U.S. air power "amazing deterrent" to any potential aggressor.

Among the practical economies the fuel could make possible, although none was specifically mentioned here, would be the elimination of overseas bases or refueling depots for intercontinental bombers. Mitchell also said the fuel would have some "exceptional peacetime advantages within a decade." The principal one would be greater payload possible for commercial aircraft.

The compromise approved by the House permits barter with European satellites, but specifically prohibits barter with Russia, Red China or any area controlled by the Chinese Communists. It also prohibits sales of surpluses to Red satellites for the currency of those nations.

Federal Legislation Not Needed: Lewis

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis told the House Labor Committee Tuesday there is no necessity for federal legislation on welfare funds. He talked about the liberty and free enterprise on which this nation was founded, of labor unions as free voluntary associations, and observed: "Yet we speak calmly here today of our government adopting measures from which our forefathers fled to populate this country."

He offered some philosophy: "You cannot achieve virtue merely by the enactment of statute, because enactment of a statute does not change the character of men."

The 77-year-old president of the United Mine Workers of America, started off saying: "We find ourselves opposed to the plan for the Congress to enact regulator or punitive legislation affecting welfare funds as established in American industry, more or less in reprisal because dishonest men have committed dishonorable deeds as affecting certain of the welfare funds."

"If there are criminals about that are pilfering from these welfare funds, prosecute them — we have the laws — we have the agencies — we have the information — it's just that simple."

Lewis insisted what was needed was more honesty, not more laws.

Bow's resolution would order the President to revise or renounce any 'status of forces' agreements which contain any provisions for foreign jurisdiction over offenses committed by U.S. servicemen stationed abroad.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House agreed Tuesday to permit the Government to barter surplus farm commodities with Communist satellite nations. Abandoning a long stand against Red barter, the House yielded to Senate insistence and accepted the barter provision as part of a compromise bill extending the Agricultural Trade and Assistance Act another year. The barter provision was the principal Senate-House dispute in differing versions of a bill authorizing disposal of another $1,300,000,000 worth of surplus commodities to friendly nations. Repeal of the ban against barter of surpluses with other than "friendly" nations has been sought by the Eisenhower Administration as another step to bolster its policy of aiding nations seeking to break away from Soviet Russia. The compromise approved by the House permits barter with European satellites, but specifically prohibits barter with Russia, Red China or any area controlled by the Chinese Communists. It also prohibits sales of surpluses to Red satellites for the currency of those nations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was described Tuesday as "strongly opposed" to a House resolution aimed at preventing trials of American servicemen in foreign courts. Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, told reporters after the weekly White House legislative conference: "There is no question that the President and the Administration are strongly opposed to the bill because they believe that it would be a threat to the United States. The resolution, presented by Rep. Bow (R-Ohio), has been approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee on an 18-8 vote and has built up strong support. The case of GI William S. Girard, whom Japan wants to try for the killing of a woman scavenger on a firing range in Japan, has contributed much to the drive against foreign trials. Bow's resolution would order the President to revise or renounce any 'status of forces' agreements which contain any provisions for foreign jurisdiction over offenses committed by U.S. servicemen stationed abroad.

White Jury To Rule on Segregation

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — An all white jury was completed Tuesday in U.S. District Court for the mass contempt trial of 16 defendants in the Clinton segregation case. Defense lawyers called it a "history shaping" trial. The 12 jurors included two women. Four alternate jurors remain to be chosen before the Federal Government begins presenting its case today.

The 16 are charged with criminal contempt of court, on grounds they violated U.S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor's permanent injunction against interfering with court-ordered integration of white and Negro students at Clinton High School. The trial is based on outbursts of violence in November and December which rocked the little town of Clinton, 20 miles northwest of Knoxville, after 12 Negroes were admitted along with about 800 white students in August.

The jury trial was granted in response to a defense motion. On trial are Frederick John Kasper, a White Citizens Council leader from Washington, D. C., and 15 residents of the Clinton area.

The defendants, including a pregnant 19-year-old Clinton house wife, are on trial in what is described as a major test of the power of Federal courts to enforce peaceful integration through the injunction process.

Although all the defendants are being tried together, Kasper has his own attorney while the "Clinton 15" are separately represented by a battery of 18 Southern lawyers. Some of them volunteered to serve without pay.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to ease federal regulation of prices charged by natural gas producers was approved Tuesday by the House Commerce Committee. The ultimate fate of the controversial measure remains a question. House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) told newsmen he believes the bill has a good chance of House passage this year, if everyone who has voiced support for the bill "puts his oar in."

There was considerable doubt, however, that the Senate would get to the bill this session, what with the developing marathon debate on civil rights legislation.

A Taxing Stunt

The July 1 issue of the Industrial Press Service, a new service put out by the National Association of Manufacturers, carried a short statement on "equitable taxes" as follows:

"Our country has become the most prosperous on earth through the individual's right to use his own initiative to gain success and enjoy the fruits of his labor.

Today, that right has been destroyed by the enactment of a socialistic income tax structure that leaves the individual with less and less for more and more work. Heavy taxes on individuals—which go as high as 91 per cent—put a penalty on success and strike at the very freedom that has built our nation.

Rep. A. N. Sallak (R-Conn.) has introduced a bill in the House, designed to end discriminatory taxation by gradually reducing income taxes over a five-year period to a top rate of 42 per cent. This kind of fair taxation would bring back the individual need for economic growth.

Congress should schedule public hearings on the Sallak bill. It has an answer to fair and equitable taxation."

This is a very special plea for a very special set of interests, and represents what remains at large of the notion that the only thing that can motivate a man to work is money. History has shown time and time again that this is not so, although it is doubtless true that monetary inducements are strong and important.

However, we must look to see what the Association of Manufacturers is really saying. First of all, they imply that initiative necessary to growth is being stultified under the present tax situation. Secondly, they say that restoring this "lost" initiative would justify shifting the tax burden now being carried by those in high income brackets onto the low income group — granted a broader tax base, but less able to pay as individuals. It is really a proposal that we allow high income individuals to exploit their economic advantage over the less well-situated lower income groups.

Furthermore, land-owning individuals, who need little incentive or initiative, would also reap the benefits of a higher proportion of the economic pie.

But the real crux of the problem is whether or not initiative is really being stunted. Were this so, the undesirable impact upon the lower income groups might be justified in the interest of national welfare.

But it would be hard to convince anyone who is not in position to reap the benefit of a revision such as the one the Association proposes, that the prosperous, booming economy that is America in 1957, is suffering from a lack of business initiative.

Selected Prejudices

A drama of great importance to civil rights in America is unfolding in Knoxville, Tenn., where the jury for the Clinton segregation trial is being selected.

Albert Cloud, 28, Negro, was dismissed from jury duty after admitting that he couldn't "feel kindly" towards the lone Northern defendant, Frederick John Kasper, Washington, D.C. A move by the defense to have him eliminated because he was not a landholder was denied by U.S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor.

There seems to be nothing else that Judge Taylor could do after Cloud admitted that he couldn't "feel kindly" towards Kasper, although this does not necessarily mean he would not be relatively impartial.

John T. Reynolds, LaFollette, Tenn., was the first juror empaneled, despite the fact that he made the statement that "I don't believe in mixing the races."

Of course Reynolds made no direct reference to any of the principles involved in the case, but it seems apparent that the attitude indicated by his statement will mitigate against impartial consideration of the case as much or more than feelings towards Jasper on the part of Cloud.

No doubt an able attorney could justify — or rationalize — the elimination of one and the retention of the other.

But the important consideration — will the facts be heard and passed on, or is the case already decided — will be one that may have direct effects upon the civil rights program.

If a Southern jury will convict whites for criminal acts done in the name of segregation, then some weight might be given to the resolutions proffered by Southern legislators.

But in the light of past differential justice, and considering the early indications in the present case, this seems most unlikely.

Tell Kiwanians Of Little Babe Ruth League

Frank Bates, football coach at Iowa City High School, told members of the Kiwanis Tuesday, that the Babe Ruth League has as one of its primary objectives the creation of teamwork and sportsmanship among those participating on the teams.

There are 10 teams, each sponsored by an Iowa City service or fraternal organization. Boys participating on the teams are 13-15 years old.

"The main objective of the organization is for the boys to have fun and enjoy the sport," he said. He emphasized the fact that the organization is not a training period for future professional ball players.

"The fun of playing is a worthwhile objective in itself," he said. Bates pointed out that league baseball for youngsters keeps them busy and out of mischief, and helps to develop leadership among the boys, Bates told the audience.

Bates introduced James Sangster, Babe Ruth League coach, as an example of the type of leadership necessary in fostering teamwork among the boys.

Sangster mentioned some of the objectives the organization works for: teamwork, physical and mental coordination along with learning the game of baseball.

He said that the acceptance of a boy as an individual, by himself and his teammates, is very important in reaching the goal for teamwork.

"The boys become more dependable, conscientious, confident and poised while participating in baseball leagues," Sangster said.

Ike's Vacation Home

PRESIDENT AND MRS. EISENHOWER will vacation on Coaster Harbor Island in Narragansett Bay, "when and if" the congressional situation permits, says James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary. The Eisenhowers will occupy the commandant's house at the Newport Naval Operating Base on the island. Whether they make the trip apparently hinges on when Congress might adjourn.

Guam Is Center Of Pacific Defense

By JIM BECKER

Some 70,000 persons live here. About 30,000 are Guamanians, and another 15,000 are Filipinos, hired by the military forces for chores ranging from driving bulldozers to tending bar.

The other 25,000 are sailors and airmen, and their families, plus a scattering of Army and Coast Guard personnel and American civilians.

Mighty Andersen Air Force base, where the swift, swept-wing B-47s of the Strategic Air Command — the supersecret nuclear wing of the Air Force — are stationed, is on the island's northern tip.

The screaming jets make daily practice bombing runs. It seems logical that their nuclear weapons are nearby.

New crews are flown in every 90 days, to replace the ones here. This rotation plan will eventually give every career pilot in SAC intimate knowledge of potential H-bomb targets in the Far East.

The Navy's role here is one of standby readiness. "We have to keep things running, and ready for the enormous expansion that would come if something broke out, here," says Rear Adm. William B. Ammon, Navy commander.

"We have a 300-million-dollar investment on Guam," he said. And he hammers home the point heard throughout the Far East these days—"Guam is American territory, the most western American territory in the Pacific."

Carabaos, the beasts of burden, and high-speed American cars mingle in traffic, over superhighways and dusty jungle paths.

'Check the Court!'

Says To Be Supreme Means To Be Extreme

By JOHN MERRILL

The United States Supreme Court is indeed a busy group of men. That much can be said for it. Led by its freewheeling Chief Justice Earl Warren, it made itself the hero of many so-called "liberal" elements of the nation again when it sapped more power from Congress, gave the green light to communism in the U.S. and perplexed the F.B.I.

In a series of decisions June 17, the Court, with only Justice Tom Clark dissenting, said in effect that it is lawful to advocate overthrowing the government. It challenged the powers of Congress to investigate and it has made it possible for witnesses to smug their noses at Congressional grills.

Earl Warren mounted his pot-stead and charged first in 1954 when he led his Court against 50 years of Supreme Court precedent by declaring that schools should be integrated in the South. Since then he and his boys have ridden boldly into new territories once occupied by Congress and the Presidency. The present Court proceeded to (1) limit the power of the states to pass labor relations laws; (2) smash state laws dealing with subversion; (3) direct that secret files of law agencies at all levels be opened to those charged with violation of the law—including Communist conspiracy suspects and (4) disrupt government attempts to keep persons of doubtful loyalty out of government positions.

Even the President, who "cloaked" Roughrider Warren, is beginning to show signs of irritation with the Court's activity. He is said to have told certain Congressmen that the Court decisions hindering law enforcement should be revoked through Congressional action. And Congress has the power, if the situation comes to a power battle. Article III of the Constitution gives Congress the power to make regulations which could all but make the Court sterile. It seems certain that Congress would be amenable to such action.

The road the Court is traveling seems to have been built when Chief Justice Warren was installed. This road is obviously one that leads to Federal Authority over State and Local Authority. It is sort of a two-headed coin with the Court winning regardless of which way the coin turns up.

This is not a question of certain excesses by Congressional groups. It goes far beyond a McCarthy or an Eastland. It is a situation which threatens to undermine our whole democratic system. It is a Court policy that sows seeds of unrest and friction; it is policy that would cripple Congress and reduce the States to impotent puppets.

There are many among us who say that the Supreme Court is right because it is the Supreme Court. The question might be raised: Which Supreme Court? There are many liberals among us who are already granting Warren a place next to God. The question might be raised: What God? There are others among us who seem to think that the threat of communism in the U.S. is gone. The question might be raised: What have they been reading and to whom have they been talking?

It is easy enough for the Court to hand down its "liberal" decisions. But it's another thing for the nation to implement them, often in the face of public reaction. It is easy enough for the Court to tie the hands of Congress. But it's another thing to watch in silence while subversives undermine the nation. It is easy enough for the Court to go against precedent and tell the law enforcers that they will have to adopt new means in prosecuting law violators. But it's another thing to stop the flow of water through the dam once it's gushing freely.

The Supreme Court has certainly shown that it's determined to be supreme and not only as a court. It is running with the wind of liberalism to its back at the present. But winds change. The nation had better hope that a gentler and more rational wind, as it returns again this way, will find something stable to blow upon.

Two Programs Offer Foreign Study Aid

American students with a yen to travel, a desire to do graduate study abroad and a "public relations outlook" may apply for awards made under two government-supported foreign study programs, the Fulbright Act and the Buenos Aires Convention. Deadline for application is Oct. 25.

Because the objectives of these programs are to promote better understanding of the United States abroad and to increase mutual understanding between the people of the U.S. and the people of other countries, recipients of these awards are considered representatives of the United States and American higher education.

Only U.S. citizens with a college degree or its equivalent are eligible for the awards. In addition, the applicant must have sufficient knowledge of the language of the country to carry out the proposed study and to communicate effectively with the people.

Preference is given to applicants under 35 who have not had previous opportunity for extended study, residence or travel abroad.

Selection is made on personal qualifications, academic record, value of proposed study or research and suitability for placement in an institution of higher learning abroad.

Under the Fulbright program, awards are made entirely in the currencies of the participating countries abroad. They cover transportation, expenses of a language refresher course, tuition, books and maintenance for one academic year. The maintenance allowance is based on living costs and is sufficient for normal living expenses of a single person.

The U.S. Government provides transportation for students studying abroad under the Buenos Aires Convention, and host countries provide tuition, maintenance and sometimes incidental expenses. In certain countries, the maintenance allowance requires supplementation by the grantee.

More details of the programs can be supplied by Fulbright advisers on college campuses. SUI adviser is Wallace Maner.

Alien Voted in U.S. Elections Illegally; Now Naturalized

CHICAGO @—An 85-year-old suburban Wilmette man, who first cast a ballot in 1896 and voted illegally every year until 1940, no longer has any worries. He became an American citizen Tuesday.

Marchant, a retired electrician, said he had voted because he assumed that service in the Illinois National Guard from 1890 to 1893 made him a citizen. But when he registered as an alien in 1940, naturalization officials corrected that assumption.

Baptists Discuss Ways To Strengthen Support

Ways to strengthen support for American Baptist schools and student work is the dominant note of the Conference on Christian Higher Education, in its fifth day at the American Baptist Assembly, Green Lake, Wis. The conference, which began July 6, will close July 11.

The delegates is the Rev. G. Thomas Fattarusi, 230 N. Clinton St., minister to Baptist students at SUI.

At the national convention in Philadelphia, Pa., last May, American Baptists voted authorization for a $7,500,000 national campaign to support Baptist-related colleges and seminaries, student work and the national scholarship program.

The 150 conference delegates at Green Lake—including presidents, deans and public relations personnel of Baptist-related schools, colleges and seminaries and student workers — are devoting a major portion of the time discussing their participation in the campaign. The campaign will be conducted in local churches across the nation in 1959.

Legion Post 17 Has New Commander

Frank Eicher, 517 S. Clinton, was elected to succeed Atty. Emil G. Troit as commander of the Roy L. Chopek Post 17, American Legion Monday.

Other officers include first vice-commander, O. D. Bartholow, 1111 Keokuk; second vice-commander, Cecil Miller, 323 Brown; finance officer, Glenn Houston, 1133 E. Court; chaplain, Robert Seydel, 824 Ronalds.

Carl Miller, 530 E. Bloomington, historian; and executive committeemen, Emil G. Troit, 331 S. Summit and William Vorbrich, 9th Ave., Coralville.

The new officers will take their positions after the annual convention of the Iowa Department of the American Legion to be held in Davenport, August 5-7.

Group Players Will Offer Four Dramas

Theatrical presentations of the 26th annual Workshop in Speech and Dramatic Art for High School Students will be offered to the public at SUI, July 18 and 19.

With traditional footlight staging, two short plays will be given at 7:30 p.m. July 18 in the University High School Auditorium. "Young Lady of Property," a play by Horton Foote written first for television audiences, will be followed by the murder conspiracy scene from "The Madwoman of Chailot," by Jean Giraudoux.

STAGED IN "THEATRE in the round" style with the audience close to the players, features at 3:30 p.m., July 19 will be "The Playgoers," by Arthur Pinero and "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" by Josephina Niggli.

Special programs of events in discussion, debate and acting before television cameras will be free-to-the-public features of the two final days of the 4-week workshop enrolling 74 high school students recommended by their instructors for the intensive training period.

With Ann Wade of Iowa City in the title role, "Young Lady of Property" involves a young heiress' struggles to retain her new inheritance. For the SUI presentation, the scene has been shifted from Texas to Iowa.

CAST MEMBERS include Frank Wetmore, Bedford; Virginia Grell, Garner; Johanna Bunge and Cynthia May, both of Iowa City; Ila Jean Hewicker, Marcus; Susie Shaver, State Center; Cindy Istas, St. Paul, Minn., and James Moody, SUI graduate student from Clear Lake.

Clemma Mosier, Washington, has the title role of the deranged countess in the "death of all wicked men" scene in "The Madwoman of Chailot." Her co-performers are Sidney Blum, Dubuque; John Emery, Ottumwa; Jerilyn Oliver, Williamsburg; Kay Wheeler, Storm Lake; Debby Christy, Glenview, Ill., and Sandy Sorenson, St. Paul, Minn.

IN "THE PLAYGOERS," British comedy in which the master and the mistress try to persuade their servants to attend the theatre on their night off, Frank Wetmore plays the master and Pat Wesenberg, Garner, the lady of the house. In the servant roles are Candy Kabrick, Clinton; Clarke Barnes and Carolyn Jones, both of Iowa City; Kathy Lemon, Oskaloosa; Eva Winter, West Branch, and Cindy Istas.

With a Latin-American setting in which people get fined for quarreling on Sunday, some young ladies bicker for the attentions of Gordon Morris, Washington, who plays the lone young man in "Sunday Costs Five Pesos."

Feminine members of the cast are Ruth Koebel, Iowa City; Karlene Moore, Gibson; Rolena Klahn, Durant, and Ila Jean Hewicker, Marcus.

Police Station Broken Into To Place an Order

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — James Thurman, 22, Tuesday was fined $25 for breaking into the police station at nearby Vicksburg a week ago. In addition, he was ordered to pay for repairing the station lock.

Marshall William Styx testified Thurman told him he broke in to call a Kalamazoo restaurant so it would be sure and have some pizza pie hot and ready when he arrived.

To Hold Business Parley

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower Tuesday invited 1,000 leaders of business, education and research to a Sept. 24-26 conference there on the problems of small business firms.

As announced earlier, the conference called by the President is intended to assist small manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in use of modern methods and techniques in development and improvement of their products, and in increasing their sales.

Tape Library At SUI Used Over State

A library of 2,000 magnetic tape recordings, with program subjects ranging from art to semantics, is available at SUI for use by secondary schools, colleges and adult education groups.

"Iowa Tapes for Teaching" was started in 1952 to provide good educational tape recordings for Iowa schools to supplement other audio and visual materials in the classroom. The service is provided by SUI's bureau of audio-visual instruction.

Schools or other organizations may select recordings from a catalog published by SUI's Extension Division. To receive a recording, the applicant sends a roll of blank recording tape to SUI, the program is re-recorded and the tape returned. There is a 50-cent charge to reach 30-minute recording.

Some Iowa schools are building libraries of magnetic tape programs for use in regular course work, while others order specific programs for special use. The service allows schools to acquire recordings which are always available at the time desired by the teacher.

Programs range in length from 15 to 120 minutes, with the 2-hour programs being recordings of Easter music by the University Chamber Singers, a performance of "Elijah" by the University Chorus and Symphony Orchestra, and music from the All-State Music Camp, which is held each year on the SUI campus.

Among tape recordings most requested are the high school English radio adaptations "Out of My Life," a series of informal essays and thoughts in the words of great writers, past and present, and "Drama of Poetry," a group of 30-minute programs which demonstrates the dramatic quality of the great poets.

Program subjects available for re-recording include art, conservation, child development, English, speech, drama, German, Latin, health, guidance and occupations, history, human relations, international relations, music, science, social studies and semantics.

Fowl Inspection Bill Passes House

WASHINGTON — The House passed and sent to the Senate Tuesday a bill to require compulsory government inspection of poultry products.

Passage was by standing vote of 93-23. A similar bill has been passed by the Senate, which now must decide whether to accept the House version or send the two bills to conference.

The bill would subject poultry and poultry products entering interstate commerce to the same inspection standards which have been applied on red meat for many years. It would not normally affect poultry sold or processed within a state, but would allow the Agriculture Department to require inspection in major consuming areas even on poultry which does not come from outside the state.

Inspections would be handled by the Department of Agriculture which would pay inspection costs estimated at from 10 million to 20 million dollars annually.

Kansan Says He Robbed Small Bank

INDEPENDENCE, Kan. — "I was deep in debt. I needed money desperately," the father of two teen-aged sons said.

Alfred Wesley Ratzloff, 38, a Wichita tinsmith, was held Tuesday on charges of robbing a small town Kansas bank of $3,950 Monday.

"My creditors kept after me, and I didn't have the money to pay them. All I could see was my kids. I knew I had to do something. Something went through my mind. I had to get some money or die, and I didn't exactly want to die. We always lived good and were a nice family. I feel so sorry for the boys. That's the hard part of it. What do you do can't undo."

Ratzloff was arrested on a bus here by the FBI Monday night. His two sons, Keith, 14, and Ronald, 16, were along, all of them en route to Missouri where he had "heard there was some good fishing," Ratzloff said.

He is charged with robbing the Farmers State Bank of Yoder, Kan., which twice refused his request for a loan.

Percy Wylly II, agent in charge of the Kansas City FBI office, said Ratzloff had $524 on him and that $3,030 was recovered from his home in Wichita. His wife is employed.

The pistol he used, Ratzloff said, was an old .22 caliber gun "that wouldn't hardly shoot" and the sack for the money was left over from a family picnic Sunday.

"Something just seemed to push me," he said. "The gun and the sack were so handy."

Eisenhower Picks Navy Base Near Newport For His Vacation Spot

WASHINGTON — A naval base near the summer resort town of Newport, R. L., is the spot President Eisenhower has picked for his "when and if" vacation.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Tuesday the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will vacation on Coasters Harbor Island in Narragansett Bay when and if the congressional situation permits.

Hagerty, Secret Service agents and Capt. E. P. Aurand, the President's naval aide, inspected the site last Friday and recommended it. Aurand originally made the suggestion that the Rhode Island area would be a good place.

The island, on which are the Naval War College and a training base, is accessible by causeways from Newport. The Newport area is famous for its mild and equable temperature.

When and whether the Eisenhowers make the trip apparently hinges on when Congress might adjourn. Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), the Senate minority leader, told Eisenhower earlier Tuesday that the Senate debate on civil rights might run eight weeks, or even longer.

Ottumwa Newspaper Publisher Is Dead From Heart Attack

OTTUMWA — John Huston, 76, publisher of the Ottumwa Courier, died of a heart ailment Tuesday night at St. Joseph Hospital here.

He had been in critical condition since May 17 when he suffered a heart attack at his home.

The veteran newspaperman had been in ill health the past six years but carried on his duties of directing the Courier until the time of the attack.

Huston was born April 3, 1881, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Huston.

His first full time job, at the age of 16, was with the daily and weekly Ottumwa Courier. That was in 1897. Even before that, he had sold papers on the street and delivered them to subscribers.

His employment with the Courier eventually extended to nearly 60 years, longer than that of any other person.

His first duties were in the circulation department, a division of the business in which he became a specialist.

During the years, numerous managers of this department of the Courier, trained by Huston, have gone on to other newspapers in the Lee group and Huston became known throughout the Midwest as an expert in circulation problems.

On The Courier, Huston's starting pay was $4 a week but he steadily advanced and worked in nearly every department. He eventually became advertising manager and later business manager. On the death of James F. Powell, who had been The Courier's publisher for 21 years, Huston was designated publisher in 1928.

He had been active throughout the years in civic, charitable and professional organizations.

He was a director of the Ottumwa Chamber of Commerce for many years and president of the Chamber in 1932. He was Community Chest director in 1932 when it raised more money for Ottumwa charities than ever before or since. He was a Fourth Degree Knight of Columbus.

In the newspaper organization field, Huston was president of the Iowa Press Assn. in 1936 and received its Master Editor-Publisher award in 1950; served for three years as director of the Inland Press and American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

He was a member of the Republican Party and served as a delegate to the national convention of the party at Cleveland in 1936.

The Lee group, founded by the late A. W. Lee, now comprises 10 newspapers, two television stations and two radio stations.

BLACK FISH

TITUSVILLE, Pa. — William F. Cron, city assessor, returned home Tuesday with a fish story that is strictly for the birds.

Cron said he caught a three-pound, large mouth bass last week in Lake Erie just off Port Rowan, Ont., Canada.

When he dressed the fish he found a fully grown blackbird inside.

Iowa Women's Traffic Parley Adopts Plan

DES MOINES — A program for reducing the state's mounting traffic accident and death rate was adopted at Iowa's first statewide women's traffic safety conference Tuesday.

The women formulated the program in 23 workshops, then reported their recommendations to the entire assembly of about 325 delegates.

The recommendations called for:
1. More driver training in high schools with the courses matching certain standards.
2. A daytime as well as a night-time speed limit.

3. Stricter requirements for persons obtaining their first driver's license and for those beyond a certain age.
4. Facilities for retraining of adult drivers, when needed.

5. Women's clubs to be supplied with briefs of proposed traffic legislation written in laymen's language so the organizations can promote legislation they think good.

Each woman carried home with her a two-year program which is a guide for safety work in elementary and secondary schools and for the general public.

The conference was called by Gov. Herschel Loveless and was held in conjunction with his designation of Tuesday as Women Drivers Day in Iowa.

The women also recommended holding another such conference. No date was set.

The recommendations were summarized before the whole group by Miss Alice Mills, director of women's activities for the National Safety Council.

No specific daytime speed limit was recommended. The state recently put into force a 60-mile-an-hour night-time limit.

Some delegates expressed opinions the present high school driver training courses do not reach certain standards.

Earlier Tuesday, the delegates were told to stop being backseat drivers and take the lead in promoting traffic safety.

Paul Jones of the National Safety Council said safety is "natural for women."

"The tremendous job women could do for safety has been greatly and tragically restricted," he said.

Gov. Loveless, in welcoming the delegates, said the state could save millions of dollars "if we didn't have careless drivers."

Three Davenport women, members of an adult group which supervises school crossings, opened the program by carrying in the American flag.

All the women were presented "licenses" making them official backseat drivers.

In receiving license No. 1, Mrs. Herschel Loveless, wife of the governor, said, "You must have been talking to the driver in our house."

MAN WATCHES TV, WIFE ROBBED

BERKELEY, Calif. — Bert George, owner of a sports shop with a mezzanine office, was watching Tuesday's All-Star baseball game on television downstairs. Midway, he heard a thumping and saw his wife, Ernestine, bound and gagged, rolling down the stairs.

Mrs. George told police two bandits tied her and took $45 from the cash register.

Only way she could attract her husband from the TV screen was to go bouncing downstairs, she added.

She was shaken, but unhurt.

Disagreement Among Governors on Rights Of Public To Know

CHICAGO — A survey of state governors indicates some disagreement among them as to how much you have the right to know, as a member of the public, about the public's business.

Specific endorsement of open government by 24 governors was reported by a Committee on Advancement of Freedom of Information sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity.

The committee, headed by V. M. Newton Jr. of Tampa, Fla. Tribune, said that in addition to unreserved endorsement of the principle of open government by 24 governors, "13 others go on record as generally endorsing it."

The committee's report said this attitude is "in direct contrast to the situation in federal government wherein the proceedings of all executive government and much of legislative government are conducted behind locked doors with the press and public barred."

The report quoted six governors who defended the closed executive session as justified in certain phases of government. It said that five declined to express their stands on government secrecy in public.

The committee said it could "only assume that the five governors who chose not to define their policies on open government do not favor it."

Among strong views in favor of open government procedure was that of Gov. George Docking of Kansas, who remarked "after all, the government is the business of the people. They have the right to know everything about what is going on at all times."

Of the governors who favored barring observation by public and press of some phases of government, Gov. A. B. Chandler stressed his Cabinet's closed meetings as "an exception" in generally open state government conduct in Kentucky.

Chandler said, "The absence of reporters encourages the Cabinet officers to speak more frankly about their problems."

The committee report noted that no public expressions were made by Govs. William G. Stratton of Illinois, George Bell Timmerman Jr., of South Carolina, Vernon W. Thomas of Wisconsin, Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa and Edward L. Mechem of New Mexico.

COLLISIONS

Cars driven by James L. Horn, SUI graduate student, and Dr. Horace M. Korns, 414 Iowa Avenue, collided Tuesday morning at 7:58 at the intersection of Iowa Avenue and Gilbert.

Monday evening, cars driven by Robert Stemsrud, 224 South Linn, and George A. Gettle, Palo, collided in the 200 block on Iowa Avenue.

Professor Emeritus Baird Reappointed To Missouri Post

Professor emeritus A. Craig Baird, of the SUI Speech Department, on leave during the past semester to teach at the University of Missouri, has been reappointed to hold a post there for the school year 1957-58, according to Professor Donovan Rhynsbarger, chairman of the Missouri Speech Department.

Baird will temporarily replace Prof. Bower Aly, of the Speech Department, who has resigned. He has been granted an additional leave of absence from SUI so that he can serve as visiting professor of speech and dramatic art at Missouri for two successive semesters.

Baird coached debate at Bates College in Maine until 1925, inaugurating a cross-Atlantic debate with Oxford University in England and winning high praise for his New England debaters from the British press. He joined the SUI faculty in 1925.

The author or editor of some 30 books, including "American Public Addresses, 1740-1952," Baird has written many articles for the Quarterly Journal of Speech, periodical of the Speech Association of America. He was president of the association in 1939.

In 1930, Baird led in beginnings of the annual summer workshop for high school students in speech and dramatic art, held each July at SUI. Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic society, cited him last spring as one of 19 distinguished Americans "who have made outstanding contributions to the welfare of their fellowmen through the ethical and effective use of speech."

Iowa Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DES MOINES — A portion of downtown Des Moines was without electricity for two minutes Tuesday noon when an automatic circuit breaker switch at the Iowa Power and Light Company's Center Street station failed.

Company officials said the break affected only 5,000 of the normal 150,000 kilowatt load and that service was restored when a station employe manually threw the switch and closed the circuit again.

CENTERVILLE — Charges which grew out of what officials said was a series of beer parties last month have resulted in five persons from Centerville and two from Mystic being given sentences.

Also, about 15 Centerville boys and girls, all under 18 years old, appeared in District Court Monday on juvenile delinquency charges. They were placed on probation.

WHITTEMORE — When a tarring machine parked in downtown Whittemore suddenly burst into flames Tuesday afternoon, persons ducked for shelter.

City Engineer Harry Schmeling fearing the machine might explode hooked a jeep onto the front of the wagon and pulled it out of town.

The Whittemore Fire Department followed and extinguished the fire. Cause of the blaze was not known.

DES MOINES — Gov. Herschel Loveless, after a lengthy hearing Tuesday, granted extradition of Bernard H. Mack to Champaign, Ill., to face charge of being involved in a confidence game.

The governor's office said also it is understood that Mack is at liberty under bond in the Mason City area in connection with the charge.

Americans Squelch Nationals' Hot Rally To Win 6 To 5

Win No. 14
Out of 24
For the A.L.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The American League scored three runs in the top of the ninth and then choked off a garrison finish by the National League to win the 24th All-Star game Tuesday, 6 to 5.

A crowd of 30,693 saw the game at Busch Stadium, St. Louis.

The exciting finish overshadowed fine performances by two Detroit Tiger stars, pitcher Jim Bunning and outfielder Al Kaline.

The Americans scored the winning tally in the first half of the ninth on a double by Chicago's Minnie Minoso.

The victory was the 14th in the 24 games for the Americans.

The Americans tied off on Dodger righthander Clem Labine in the ninth to clinch the victory. White Sox pitcher Billy Pierce was credited with a single when Milwaukee's Red Schoendienst failed to hold his grounder at second. Then Schoendienst erred on a slow roller hit by the Yankee's Gil McDougald. A sacrifice moved the runners up one base and Kaline came through with a two-run single. The White Sox' Minnie Minoso followed by doubling in what proved to be the winning run.

A walk to veteran Stan Musial of the Cards started off the bottom of the ninth and the Giants' Willie Mays scored him with a triple. Mays then scored on a wild pitch and pinch hitter Hank Foiles of the Pirates singled. After Pierce walked Cincinnati's Gus Bell, he was replaced by Cleveland's Don Mossi, another southpaw.

Mossi fanned Milwaukee's Ed Mathews but Ernie Banks of the Cubs singled Foiles home. Bell was thrown out attempting to go to third, on a fine throw by Minnie Minoso.

After an air-tight start, the game developed into a wild battle although there were no homers. In addition to six American League hurlers, five Nationals saw action on the mound.

Bunning took the play first by pitching three perfect innings as the American League starter. The six-foot-three-inch righthander was never in trouble as he mowed down the might of the Nationals. Then he departed as required by league rules.

"Kaline was just as spectacular with a great defensive showing and a two-run single in the ninth. Simmons pitched hitless ball in the first inning but ran into trouble in the second. The Yankees' Mickey Mantle beat out an infield hit and Boston's Ted Williams walked. Cleveland's Vic Wertz slashed a single through short on the hit-and-run and Mantle scored.

There was no further scoring until the sixth when the Yankees' Bill Skowron, a non-starter, doubled and scored on Berra's single.

The Nats bounced back in contention against veteran Early Wynn of the Indians in the bottom of the seventh. The Giants' Willie Mays and Cincinnati's Ed Bailey hit one-out singles. Up stepped Gus Bell of the Redlegs as a pinch hitter. Wynn threw seven pitches before Bell socked the eighth for a two-run double.

"It stayed that way until the ninth.

All Star Game — Dressing Room

★ ★ ★ American ★ ★ ★ National — Color

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The outstanding thing about the American League All-Stars today was their pitching.

It was Manager Walter Alston talking in the dressing room of the National League All-Stars just after they had been beaten 6-5 by the Casey Stengel managed American League.

The National League players also were high in their praise of the American League pitching, particularly the job of starter Jim Bunning of Detroit.

The National Leaguers took the defeat without any outward signs of emotion. They poured into their dressing room quietly, most of them with little time to catch trains or planes back to their own teams to resume the hot pennant race.

They munched on box lunches, showered and took off. Alston defended his strategy in the ninth inning when the Nationals rallied for three runs and had the tying run on second only to have "Dodger Gil Hodges, pinch-hitting for teammate Clem Labine, line out to Minnie Minoso in left field.

Minoso earlier had thrown out Gus Bell, who tried to go all the way to third from first on a single by Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs.

Willie Mays, the New York Giants' speed merchant in center field, sized up the defeat quickly for all hands.

"They just got away from us early and we just couldn't catch up—but we tried."

"This was great, sure, but it just doesn't mean as much to me as a regular season game," said Bunning.

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla.—Herb Score, Cleveland Indians pitcher who suffered an eye injury in May when struck by a line drive, will be married here today to Miss Nancy McNamara of Atlanta.

The couple will make their home in Cleveland after a honeymoon trip which will end July 15. Score is to have an eye examination then to determine how soon he can return to baseball.

Andrews Wins Tennis Opener at Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Art Andrews, Hawkeye tennis star, won his first round match against Carl Eltzholtz of Los Angeles in the Western Open Tennis Championships at Town Club here. The sixth seeded netman beat Eltzholtz 6-2, 6-3.

Sammy Giammalva and Berry McKay, seeded third and fourth respectively, made unexpected starts Monday and claimed first round victories in the Western Open Tennis championships at the Town Club.

Giammalva, of Houston, Texas, came up with fine mid-court play to offset several lapses along the baselines and was in control all the way as he defeated Andre Donnedieu, Mexico City collegian playing with the University of Miami, 6-2, 6-2.

McKay, Big Ten champion from Michigan, was master at the net and in control from the backcourt as he ousted Charles Mulcahey of Milwaukee, 6-2, 6-1.

Seventh seeded Crawford Henry of Atlanta beat Milwaukee's Robert Slater, 6-0, 6-1. And Eddie Sledge, eighth seeded player from Dallas, encountered rugged competitor Dick Walke of St. Louis before taking a 7-5, 6-3 victory.

Bliss, a seasoned veteran at 44, got off to a horrible three-over par start at the end of eight holes but thereafter took over the Mason City Country Club course as if he owned it.

Rod picked up birdies on three straight holes starting at the ninth. He scored a 38 for the first nine but sizzled the inside with a 32, four-under par.

Accepting congratulations, Bliss said, "My round wasn't so hot but I had one good nine."

I'M MAKING SOME MONEY FOR YOU, POP

WHAT'RE YOU DOING ALEXANDER?

I SHINED YOUR SHOES FOR YOU, POP

GOOD JOB—THEY LOOK LIKE NEW—HOW MUCH DO I OWE YOU?

HOW MUCH DID YOU PAY FOR THEM, NEW?

EIGHTEEN DOLLARS

WELL—I WON'T CHARGE YOU THAT MUCH

BEING A GUARD AT THIS GATE IS KINDA TRICKY...THINK YOU CAN HANDLE IT?

SURE, SIR, WHAT COULD HAPPEN?

WELL, SUPPOSE THIS GIRL CAME UP AND TRIED TO WHEELIE YOU INTO LETTING HER IN WITHOUT A PASS...WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

WHAT WOULD I DO?
