

"The Communist strategy in Asia is apparent when we review some important facts."

"America has pulled some 'lulus' in the past, but they always rectify their mistakes."

"We must remember there are some 650 million Chinese who are under Russian influence."

"And there are another 80 million Indonesians who are, for the most part, neutral."

"Then there are another 4 to 5 hundred million Indians maintaining a policy of neutrality."

"So far, the free world does not seem to have much support in Asia, does it?"

"The western powers tiny bit of support comes from the Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand."

"So we can see, the Russian's strategy is to control or neutralize the people of Asia."

Romulo Expresses Goal of United World

By JAMES MAGMER
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

When General Carlos P. Romulo stepped from the plane at the Iowa City airport Tuesday afternoon, his first remark was not that of a great statesman. It was about the weather. "This is like Manila weather," he said.

When Romulo met the press in the Pentacrest Room at the Union, he was still talking about the weather. "The last time I came to Iowa City," he said, "in 1953, there was a blizzard."

That Romulo is a statesman became apparent, however, as he discussed the struggle among conflicting forces for world power.

"Neutrality is as great a challenge to the modern statesman as communism," Gen. Romulo said.

In his varied career, Gen. Romulo has climbed from the nipa shacks and tin roofs of his native town of Comiling, near Luzon in the Philippines, to become Brigadier General under MacArthur, fourth president of the U.N. General Assembly, author of the best-selling "I Saw the Fall of the Philippines," and a candidate for the presidency of his country. At present he is the Philippine's Ambassador to the U.S.

The present world struggle, Romulo said, is not between the U.S. and Soviet Russia but between democracy and communism. At the bottom of this struggle, the value of human freedom is involved.

"Neutrality," the General said, "threatens the existence of democracy as much as communism does. When a nation refuses to take sides, it is indifferent to freedom and slavery, to faith and Godliness."

The general pointed out that the neutral nation does not care whether its people enjoy freedom of religion and speech, or endures totalitarianism and brutality.

"The solution to the present struggle," Gen. Romulo said, "lies in a world community of nations. Such a community of nations is the product of a natural evolutionary process. The family has developed into the clan, the city, the state, the federation of states.

"Next in this process," he said, "is the federation of nations. It will take time, but it will come.

"That is why I believe in the U.N. It is a step in the natural evolution of the human society. It is working toward world peace and the brotherhood of man."

To achieve a world community of nations, the general said, each nation will have to give up some of its sovereignty.

"But if the world community of nations is to be rich and creative, the individual nations will have to keep their individual traits of dress, food, and national customs. They will be united in the big concepts of faith in God, freedom, and moral values."

General Romulo cited the decision of President Eisenhower against France and Britain in the Suez affair as one step in the direction of obtaining a world community of nations.

"Eisenhower's decision during the invasion of Egypt was not based on a race issue or on the merits of the individual nations involved. It was decided on the moral principle of right and wrong. We do not countenance unjust aggression."

A hundred years from now, he said, this decision will be considered another stepping stone in the history of man.

Asked, in the light of these statements, if he thinks his work in the U.N. is the most important thing he has done in his long and varied career, the General said:

"I feel that if I have done anything, in the U.N. or anywhere, I have tried to contribute my might to speak for the voiceless people of the world, irrespective of race or creed."

Today, he said, the statesman has to be motivated by a belief bigger than his belief in his country. He has to believe in the value and worth of all men.

Toll Hits 57 Dead in Dutch Airliner Crash

THE HAGUE (AP)—The death toll of a KLM Royal Dutch airliner that plunged flaming into equatorial seas off northwest New Guinea was set Tuesday night at 57.

One of the 12 survivors, a Dutch child, died of burns. All hope was abandoned for the other 56 persons—passengers and crew members—who went down with the plane a few moments after taking off before dawn from Biak for Amsterdam.

It was the biggest disaster in Dutch aviation history.

The liner, a Lockheed Super Constellation named the Neutron, was reported to have broken loose its tail on striking the water five miles off Biak island. All the survivors had been seated at the rear.

Three aboard were Britons, all among the dead. The rest were Dutch. Most of the passengers were government and navy personnel and their families.

Advices from Hollandia, capital of Dutch West New Guinea, said one of the engines had appeared to explode, touching off a fire in the fuel tanks. The pilot evidently tried to make a belly landing.

Armed Forces Cut Of 100,000 Men Approved by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday approved a 100,000-man cut in the armed forces to be carried out within the next six months.

Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson issued the reduction order to the military services after receiving a White House okay to carry out an economy move that Wilson said will save approximately $200 million.

The Army was ordered to absorb one-half the total cut from its authorized strength of one million men. The Navy's reduction quota was 15,000, the Marine Corps' 10,000 and the Air Force's 25,000.

The actual strength of the armed forces on May 31, the last compilation available, was 2,789,642.

A Defense Department spokesman said it was his understanding that the 100,000 cut was based upon this year's authorized strength of 2,800,000 uniformed men and women. The order would thus mean an actual reduction of 89,642 from the latest known total strength.

Wilson, in a memorandum for the President, said the reductions can be made "without materially affecting deployments of major combat units abroad, including those in Western Europe."

In a separate memorandum to the service secretaries, Wilson promised a thorough review of the whole military manpower picture in the fall. And he said an additional reduction of 8,135 officers is planned.

Summer Long Civil Rights Fight Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both sides on the civil rights bill now in Congress expect the issue to take all summer to settle—if it is settled.

President Eisenhower issued a statement Tuesday expressing the hope that, in considering amendments, the senate "will keep the measure an effective piece of legislation."

Specifically, Eisenhower opposed the idea of guaranteeing jury trials in contempt of court cases which grow out of the legislation.

But Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of southern foes of the bill, said: "We are prepared to expend the greatest effort ever made in history to prevent passage of this bill in its present form."

As soon as the House-approved measure reached the floor, Sen. Morse (D-Ore.), moved that it be sent to the Judiciary Committee for a week's study. This motion was defeated 54-35.

Then Sen. Anderson (D-N.M.) promptly called up his amendment to strike out the controversial section 3 of the bill, which would give the attorney general new powers to seek federal court injunctions for the enforcement of all manner of civil rights. Violators of these injunctions could be jailed or fined by federal judges for contempt without a jury trial.

Anderson's amendment thus became the pending matter in the battle over the bill, and the Senate recessed at 6:21 p.m. until noon Wednesday.

Now a determined band of 18 southern Democrats led by Russell is expected to filibuster for weeks against the bill unless its terms are softened greatly by amendments.

Almost all other legislative business in the Senate will be suspended until the civil rights issue is settled. Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said this may take two months.

Hail Ike's Choice Of Wapello Attorney For U.S. Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nomination of Edwin R. Hicklin, 62-year-old Wapello attorney as U.S. District Judge for southern Iowa was hailed by Sen. Thomas E. Martin Tuesday night as "a deserved recognition of Ed Hicklin's grand qualities."

The appointment by President Eisenhower was sent to the Senate where it is subject to confirmation. The appointment was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Both Martin and Sen. B. B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) supported Hicklin's appointment. "He always has had my unqualified support," Martin told a reporter Tuesday.

Hicklin, long prominent in Iowa Republican activities, was the pre-convention chairman of the 1952 Eisenhower delegate campaign in Iowa. He is a former state senator and a veteran of both world wars.

At Wapello, Hicklin said he was "delighted" at receiving the nomination. He said he would "try to be a good judge" and expressed gratitude to Martin and Hickenlooper for their support.

Russia Still Dedicated To Conquest—Romulo

Minister Describes Clinton Race Riot

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Baptist minister gave a blow-by-blow account in U.S. District Court Tuesday of how he got his nose bloodied by a fellow townsman who taunted him with cries of "nigger loving preacher" during Clinton racial disorders last Dec. 4.

It was an oft-told tale, but the Rev. Paul Turner recited it in meticulous detail for the all-white jury. He named his assailant as Clyde Cook, 36, an Oak Ridge plant worker and a defendant in the Clinton segregation trials.

The 34-year-old minister's testimony marked a high spot of the Government's attempt to prove that 14 Tennesseans and northern segregationist John Kasper conspired to violate an anti-violence injunction at integrated Clinton High School.

Testimony heard in the Clinton trial included that of Mrs. Harry F. Miller, a school teacher, who said mobs shouted "catcalls, jeers and filth."

The Government is expected to wind up its case today.

The defense, with more than 80 witnesses under subpoena, may take the criminal contempt case well into next week.

Turner's constant repetition of the words "nigger lover" in describing how members of a mob heckled him touched off volleys of angry objections from the defense.

Turner, pastor of Clinton's First Baptist Church, was attacked on the town square and beaten after escorting six Negro students to the formerly all-white school.

Turner said Cook tried to "jump me" when he started to pass him on the sidewalk.

"I began backing across the street," the minister said. "I kept him away from me by holding my arm out and backing fast."

Someone got behind him and pinned his arms to his sides so that he was "powerless," he added.

"Mr. Cook hit me on the nose with his fist," he related. "The impact separated us by some eight feet."

At one point, Judge Robert L. Taylor ruled that the words "nigger lover" should not prejudice any of the defendants except as bearing on the question of "concerted action" (conspiracy).

Defense lawyer Hansel Proffitt, of Sevierville, Tenn., conducted the cross-examination and questioned Turner sharply as to his own responsibility in the mob violence that December morning.

"Do you think all this would have happened if you hadn't gone out that day?" Proffitt asked.

"That's a speculative question," Turner replied. "I don't know what would have happened."

Government Hopes To Reduce Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower Administration told Congress Tuesday it hopes to save an additional billion dollars by taking another look at plans for 1958 Government spending.

Budget Director Percival Brundage gave this word to the House Appropriations Committee. He told newsmen after the closed session he had no idea at this time just where the hoped-for savings could be made.

Democrats on the committee argued—and Republicans denied—that any savings on the scale mentioned by Brundage would stem largely from congressional cuts in annual appropriations bills.

Brundage was called before the group to explain an "economy" letter sent to all Government department heads on June 28. In it Brundage told the agencies to hold their 1958 spending at or below the 1957 level "to the extent feasible."

Brundage told the committee Government spending in the 1957 fiscal year which ended June 30 is now estimated at between $69.4 and $69.9 billion. Final figures won't be available until September.

President Eisenhower, in his budget submitted to Congress in January, estimated fiscal 1958 spending at about $71.4 billion. Brundage told the committee this figure is now the top estimate and that the Administration is hopeful of holding outlays to $69.4 billion.

When he unveiled his budget, Eisenhower estimated the 1958 surplus at about $1.4 billion. Should spending be held down by a billion dollars, however, this surplus could grow to the point where a tax cut would seem more likely.

Soviet Goal: A Neutral Asia, Close Red Ties

By BARBARA ROBERDEE
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

"We have a peace of one terror—the terror Soviet Russia holds over the heads of the people of the West," General Carlos P. Romulo Philippine Ambassador to the United States, told an SUI audience in the Iowa Memorial Union Tuesday night.

Romulo's lecture on the "New Strategy of Communism in Asia," followed the themes that Soviet Russia is dedicated to global conquest and that Soviet Russia is following the advice of Lenin, who said, "The road to Paris and London leads through Peking."

The new strategy of Communism in Asia, as the General outlined it, is to gain Asia by allying itself strongly to Red China, encouraging other nations to be neutral and convincing the nations of Asia that the West is no longer invincible.

Romulo said, "America has to engage in this struggle. She cannot be complacent because the struggle is ruthless and Godless. The stakes are high. Your national security is at stake. Your way of life is at stake."

Speaking of his own country, Romulo said, "The defeat of America would be our catastrophe, because our national security is tied up with yours."

Romulo said communism gained China in 1948. "When China fell, 650 million Chinese were conquered and lost to you, to democracy; as of tonight—lost."

He said between four and five hundred million Indians proclaim to be neutrals. They are not siding with Russia or with the West. In Indonesia 80 million people are neutral.

"Whatever neutral means," the General said, "it means to be indifferent, but no nation can be indifferent to the fight for freedom."

This means that in Asia there are 650 million people against the West, Romulo said. There are another 550 million the United States cannot list as with them in their life and death global struggle against Russian totalitarianism.

"What do we have left?" he asked. "There are 22 million Philippines who believe in democracy and the American way of life. There are 20 million Thailanders; 30 million Pakistanis. A total of 120 million for you—one billion against you."

Japan, the general said, cannot be counted on. "It is as foolish to expect Japan to become Westernized in seven years as it would be for men in the United States to be wearing kimonos today, had Japan conquered you."

For centuries Asia had believed the armies of the West could not be conquered. It had made the Asians almost cowards. This is no longer so, Romulo emphasized. By propaganda, Russia keeps reminding Asia that for two years

Plan for Finance Study Voted Out by Demos

WASHINGTON (AP)—Voting as a bloc, Democrats on the Senate Banking Committee Tuesday killed President Eisenhower's plan to have a White House commission study the nation's finances.

TOO BUSY ON THE SET to think about the heat wave, are four teenagers getting ready for a dramatic presentation of the 26th annual Workshop in Speech and Dramatic Art at SUI. Frank Wetmore, Bedford, holds the ladder for Cynthia Way, daughter of Prof. Charles May, head of SUI Pediatrics, who is assisted by Pat Wesenberg, Garner, and Sandy Sorrensen (back to camera), St. Paul, Minn.

What is probably the most intensive four weeks of thinking, talking and acting in their young lives will close Friday for 72 teenagers at SUI's 26th annual Workshop in Speech and Dramatic Art for High School Students. Special programs for parents and the general public will conclude the workshop Thursday and Friday.

Forty-eight of the students will compete in 11 rounds of debate on the question of whether U.S. foreign aid should be substantially increased. Debate sessions are scheduled for 2 to 5:15 p.m. Thursday in the Physics Building and for 11-12 a.m. and 1-2 p.m. Friday in Schaeffer Hall.

Counting practice rounds, the 48 will all be veterans by Friday evening of a total of 17 rounds of debate, says Robert Gregg, SUI speech instructor. In addition the 48 will take part in either original oratory (7-8:30 p.m. Thursday, Schaeffer Hall), interpretative reading (8:30-10:30 a.m., Physics Building), or in extemporaneous speaking (9-10:30 a.m., Schaeffer Hall).

The other 24, who are concentrating on dramatic art and stagecraft under the leadership of instructors Willard Welsh and John Paul, will present four short plays in the University High School Auditorium—two with traditional staging at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and two in "theatre in the round" style with the audience close to the players at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

In the Thursday evening program, Welsh will direct "Young Lady of Property" by Horton Foote, and Delmar Hansen, graduate assistant from Manila, will direct the murder conspiracy scene from "The Madwoman of Chailott," by Jean Giraudoux.

In the Friday afternoon playbill, Shirley Gillespie directs "The Playgoers" by Arthur W. Pinero, and Michael Kelly directs "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" by Josephina Niggli. Both directors are graduate students from Iowa City.

All of the 72 workshop members will be seen on closed circuit television Thursday at 11-12 a.m. in the SUI Television Center or on a 11-12 a.m. Friday showing of kinescopes taken earlier in the week. Scenes from the plays "Bernadine" and "Playboy of the Western World" will be featured in the TV showings.

Participating students from Iowa City are Clark Barnes, Carolyn Jones, appearing in "The Playgoers"; Johanna Bunge, Cynthia May, and Ann Wade, in "Young Lady of Property"; and Ruth Koebel in "Sunday Costs Five Pesos."

Toni Kern and Barbara Thomas will take part in the debating and interpretative reading presentations and John Hayek in debate and original oratory.

Thomas Knott, Peter Perret and Joanne Sanderson will compete in the debate and extemporaneous speaking sections.

The Daily Iowan is written and edited by students and is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the University.

Man with the Violin

On this shimmering July evening, the Union will be a welcome spot in which many students will stay cool.

For those of us who love good music, it will be more than inviting, because the SUI String Quartet is giving a performance.

What a delicious way to spend a July evening! Nothing is quite so cooling — moving — interesting as a string quartet.

This will be the last appearance of the quartet this summer. And this will be the last performance of Ramy Shevelov on this campus.

It is hoped that Mr. Shevelov has enjoyed and profited from his stay at SUI. It is hoped that he realizes how much his presence has been appreciated — not only from his students' standpoint, but from all of us who have so raptly listened to him in the preceding months.

Only two words, Mr. Shevelov, visit SUI sometime, and thank you.

An American Institution

From the Houston Chronicle

This is the 16th year of what has become a great American institution — purchasing of United States savings bonds on a mass basis.

It was in 1941 that the government began selling Series E bonds to small investors. It had a twofold defense — to help finance national defense, and to put a brake on inflation by drawing a part of the people's ready funds out of the competition for goods which shortly were to become scarce and in great demand.

The people responded to this opportunity to save small amounts of money, because it was patriotic. Also because it was good business for them.

Now, 16 years later, people are still buying United States savings bonds. It's still patriotic, because the government still has to finance its huge debt. It's still good business for the individual. It's always good business to put aside a part of one's income against a rainy day, or for old age, or for a college education for the youngsters, or for ultimate investment in one's own business.

The savings bonds became the biggest thrift program in history. Today 40,000,000 Americans own $40 billion worth of them.

They helped finance World War II. They helped finance the Korean war. They helped finance government activities of all kinds through the years of deficit spending. And they are still playing a vital role in federal finance even in this time of balanced budgets because the government owes a lot of money and the savings bonds comprise a big slice of the money it owes its citizens.

The people keep buying them even though they can get greater returns on their money elsewhere in these days of rising interest rates. Why do they keep buying them?

For one thing it is such an easy way to save. Small sums, smaller sums than may be put into most other forms of investment, are welcome. The greater number of those who buy do so through the "painless" method of income. But the big reason why people still buy them is because they are the safest investment in the world. Nothing can compare in gilt-edged security with an obligation of the United States government.

The person who invests in United States savings bonds is doing himself a good turn in building himself some capital; is helping his government manage its debt, and is helping us all in that it is anti-inflationary to save instead of spending money in competition for goods.

LIGHT THAT FAILED

CARLINVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Let there be light and there wasn't.

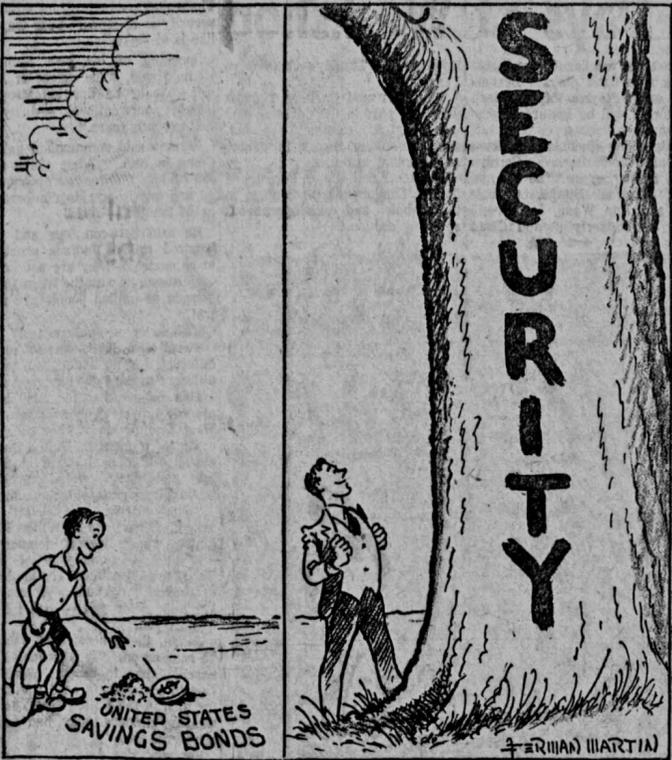

That's how it was when Mayor B. G. Bates threw the switch for the hundreds of citizens assembled to see the new white-way for the business district go on. Darkness remained because of line trouble.

Said Ralph Rutherford, local power company manager, "I've had many disappointments in my life, but none overshadowed this."

FREE OF CHARGE

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Jesse Gilmer knew that the battery of his wife's car at their home in nearby Gaston was dead. He and a neighbor pushed the car for several miles without even a cough. The two men lifted the hood. No battery. Mrs. Gilmer had had it taken away to be charged.

Stalin's Scowl Soviet Propaganda Still Smacks of Stalin Cliches

By WILLIAM L. RYAN Associated Press News Analyst

Nikita Khrushchev will have a tough time convincing the world Stalinism is dead, unless he can change the tune of Soviet propaganda.

The big test of Khrushchev's intentions, so far as the West is concerned, will be whether he can obliterate the ghostly scowl of Stalin which still lurks behind the Soviet new look.

A Khrushchev attempt to revive the 1955 "spirit of Geneva" can be expected. But it will have little effect upon Western statesmen so long as Soviet propaganda continues in its present vein.

At the time of the latest big Soviet purge, the Soviet press and radio had just about reached the height of a violent hate-America campaign which recalled the iciest days of the Stalinist cold war.

For the past year and a half, the echoes of Stalin's time have been so pronounced that one got the impression of a Kremlin hierarchy of divided and confused men who, even if they wanted to, did not dare abandon Stalinism in their domestic propaganda.

The collective leadership, based on a notion that a dictator's heirs can share power equally, now has been swept aside. The world will watch for the effects of this development on Soviet propaganda attitudes. As of now, the Kremlin's propaganda still has the harsh sound of Stalin's trumpets of hate.

The collective leadership added some touches of its own to Stalin's foundations for propaganda. Its frequent glad-handing tours abroad, its accessibility and willingness to be seen and quoted, stand out in sharp contrast to Stalin's secretiveness.

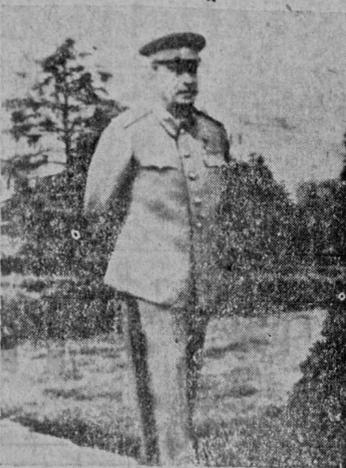

But in the propaganda field, any Kremlin claim to have repudiated the director falls down. The bulk of this propaganda is made up of tested Stalin cliches, with no detectable difference in content or tactics. The dizzying old formula of attack and retreat, of simultaneous threat and blandishment, of alternating smiles and scowls, never has been abandoned.

The cornerstone of Soviet propaganda at home and abroad remains, as in Stalin's day, an insistence that only the U.S.S.R. stands for the prohibition of nuclear weapons and world peace.

While Soviet negotiators give the impression of moving toward agreement on such portentous issues as disarmament, Soviet propaganda attacks American proposals as mere smokescreens for aggression, and American spokesmen as warmongers plotting war on the U.S.S.R.

In Stalin's time, the Communists were infuriated by things like the Truman Doctrine, the Marshall Plan and any other obstacle to bloodless Red aggression. Today's leaders are infuriated by the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East, by schemes like the European atomic energy pool and the European Common Market, all of which might tend to block Red expansion.

In Stalin's later years, President Truman, Gen. George C. Marshall and Gen. Douglas MacArthur were the main devils of Soviet propaganda. Today the principal devils are Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, American generals and American industrial leaders. President Eisenhower is not attacked personally. Often, his Mid-east plan is

Stalin Shadow Still Lurking

dubbed the "Dulles-Eisenhower Doctrine."

The anti-American campaign internally, a hallmark of the Stalinist cold war, produces savage cartoons depicting American leaders as men with bloody hands plotting atomic war. The propaganda singles out men like Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Gen. Lauris Norstad, the NATO supreme commander in Europe and Dulles as special targets for abuse.

They often are depicted to the Russians as puppeteers manipulating the strings of revived Nazism in Germany, with Gen. Hans Speidel, NATO's ground commander, as their tool. Often they are depicted as colonizers of the Middle East and Asia, meeting the angry resistance of the popular masses.

As in Stalin's day, the Russian people are told many times over that capitalism is doomed. Russians are told the American military leaders are bestial men who plot to use humans as guinea pigs. The public is warned frequently in cartoon and newspaper dispatches of American "spies, agents and saboteurs." It hears almost daily that the United States is a police state which cruelly suppresses minorities.

The Soviet people, longing for consumer goods which have been sacrificed to the military and political potential of heavy industry, are told they will surpass the United States soon economically. They were told exactly the same thing 10 years ago.

Externally, Moscow radio carries the word in many languages. Communist parties, Soviet embassies and field offices of YOKS (All-Union Society for Cultural Relations Abroad) elaborate the line according to local conditions.

'Housing' Problem

Identifying with Husbands Can Become Embarrassing

By GEORGE DIXON King Features Syndicate

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressional wives have a chummy custom of identifying themselves politically with their husbands. "When 'we' were campaigning"; "when 'we' got elected", etc. But this can lead to misunderstandings, as Mrs. Albert Gore, the faithful and devoted wife of the junior senator from Tennessee, discovered to her shock.

The Gores' 9-year-old son, Albert Jr., goes to St. Albans, the National Cathedral School for Boys. He came home the other day and startled his mother out of a year's supply of aplomb by asking bluntly:

"Mom, did you ever live with Senator Smathers?"

Mrs. Gore fought for composure. Finally she gritted:

"Why no, dear! Whatever gave you such an idea?"

"My teacher said you did. He said he was told it by Mrs. Smathers."

Pauline Gore had a wild vision of Rosemary Smathers, wife of Senator George A. Smathers, of Florida, spreading slander. But before doing anything too precipitous, she decided to investigate. She drove to the school and bore down upon the master of form C, an earnest young pedant named Lawrence M. Smith.

"Mr. Smith," demanded the Senator's lady, "what is all this you have been telling my son about me living with Senator Smathers?"

"Why, Mrs. Gore," protested the schoolmaster, "I did not mean to imply anything wrong. But Mrs. Smathers did tell me that you lived in a house together!"

"My goodness!" gasped Mrs. Gore. "That sounds even worse. I can't imagine what Rosemary Smathers was talking about!"

"I couldn't either," admitted the teacher. Then he had a sudden recollection and said: "But, come to think of it, you told me the same thing, Mrs. Gore."

"I told you a thing like that?"

"Yes, Mrs. Gore. I happened to mention to you that the Smathers' two sons, John and Bruce, are also in my class. I asked you if you knew Senator Smathers and you replied that you lived in a house together."

The austere proper Tennessee matron was flabbergasted. She cudgelled her mind for an explanation. Finally a great light dawned.

"I've got it figured out!" she cried. "When you asked me if I knew Senator Smathers, I replied: 'Yes, we used to be in the house together.'"

"I mean that he and my husband served in the House of Representatives together!"

Tickets for the comic opera "Albert Herring" will be on sale in the east lobby of the SUI Memorial Union until the final production date, July 27, or as long as the supply lasts. Mail orders will be taken until Monday, William L. Adamson, opera business manager, said today.

Sale hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily and 1 to 5:30 p.m. Saturdays. Each seat in the remodeled and air-conditioned Macbride Auditorium is reserved. Adamson says, and tickets — $2 each — are still available for each of the four performances, July 23, 24, 26 and 27.

Large audiences in past years and the recent air-conditioning of the auditorium resulted in the decision to offer the opera four nights instead of the usual three.

A three-act comic opera written by Benjamin Britten, "Albert Herring" tells the story of a young man crowned King of May because of his virtue, and of his subsequent escapades.

Music director Herald I. Stark, Professor of Music, said the SUI performances will use the composer's exact instrumentation. Written with the music especially for small orchestra and cast, and used single instruments as sections of the orchestra.

Hill Foundation Grants $14,910 for Research

A grant of $14,910 from the Hill Family Foundation, whose annual report was released Tuesday, is being used to evaluate stuttering therapy and research on differential diagnosis, Dr. Wendell Johnson, of Speech Pathology, said.

Professor Johnson heads a program doing research on stuttering problems which has been subsidized for the past five years by the Hill Family Foundation.

MARION — The City Council has appointed Clinton Moyer of Marion as city attorney, effective Aug. 1, the date he resigns as state public safety commissioner.

The council, in acting Monday night, set Moyer's salary at $100 a month — $30 more than retiring City Attorney Morris Allen receives. Moyer also will conduct a private law practice.

Moyer's appointment also stipulates he is to receive two per cent on all improvement contracts made by the city where legal services are required.

DES MOINES — The heat has forced the closing of the Statehouse dome for the summer.

A recent check showed a temperature of 113 inside the dome and there is little ventilation.

Charles Wagner, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said Tuesday the closing was a precautionary move. There have been cases in past summers of persons fainting during the 300-step climb to the top of the dome.

More than 1,000 visitors annually make the dome climb.

DES MOINES — A Sioux City housewife took over the rostrum at the weekly meeting of the Advertising Club of Des Moines Tuesday to give the ad men some consumer-eye views on their business.

The housewife is Mrs. Betty Foxen, wife of a salesman and mother of three children.

Mrs. Foxen singled out "sweeping and implausible claims" as a way of building up consumer resentment.

"It makes us most unhappy for you to treat us as if you think we're gullible or just plain stupid," she said.

Mrs. Foxen warned that another good way to alienate housewives is to angle for the children through advertising.

"No matter what you think, we won't buy anything just because our children think it's a good idea."

DES MOINES — Union officials Tuesday asked for $250-a-year wage increases and a reduction in work hours for all Polk County road workers.

In a letter to the Board of Supervisors, Local 90, Teamsters Union and Local 234, Operating Engineers also asked the county to provide health and accident insurance and changes in seniority and sick leave policies.

Supervisors took the request under advisement.

STRAWBERRY POINT — Milo Letts, 20, Manchester, Tuesday was fined $50 and ordered to pay medical bills of two youths hurt in a gang fight near here last Friday.

Letts pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace R. W. Schug. The medical expenses are estimated to amount to $70.

Charges of assault with intent to do great bodily injury, filed against four youths, were dropped. A sixth youth, Leroy Brooks, Manchester, was fined $15 by Schug for failing to stop at a stop sign.

DES MOINES — No personnel changes were reported Tuesday at a meeting of the Iowa Liquor Control Commission, although a gradual turn-over of liquor store jobs has been predicted since the creation of a Democratic majority on the commission July 1.

The expected increase of Democratic employees will proceed gradually as vacancies occur, commission members have said.

A criticism by Gov. Herschel Loveless that minutes of commission meetings do not contain complete details of liquor purchasing by the commission was mentioned Tuesday by C. J. Burris, new Democratic member of the commission.

Chairman W. P. Housel, also a Democrat, said including all the details would make the minutes too bulky and the details are available in other commission records.

WEST OKOBOJI — The Iowa Conservation Commission, meeting at Gull Point State Park, Tuesday elected new officers for the next two years and fixed dates for the 1957 deer hunting season.

George V. Jeck of Spirit Lake, was named commission chairman to succeed George Foster of Ottumwa, who had served for the last two years. Mrs. Helen Crabb of Jamaica was elected vice chairman.

The deer hunting dates will be 30 days for bow and arrow hunters from Oct. 26 through Nov. 27 and two days for gun hunters, Dec. 6-8. The duration of the seasons will be the same as last year.

The commission provided that all applications for deer licenses will be received in its offices at Des Moines not later than Oct. 14.

CLINTON — More than 100 production workers at the Clinton garment Co. here were thrown out of work temporarily and extensive damage was done to property Tuesday when the sprinkler system at the plant went out of control and flooded the first and second floors.

A large supply of suits and dresses ready for shipment was soaked by water.

Carl Neubauer, the manager of the plant, did not estimate the damage. He said the second floor was flooded so deeply that the floor sagged dangerously, requiring a major repair job. Crews were put to work repairing electrical machines that were flooded.

The cause of the accident was not determined immediately.

It created excitement among the employees who thought it was a real fire alert but all of them evacuated the building safely.

Newbauer said it was not known when complete operations at the plant could be restored.

Injury Crop Looms over PGA Opening

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Defending champion Jack Burke Jr., put his aggravated left wrist to test in a windup practice for the PGA Tournament, then announced "It's okay. Tuesday I'll go for it."

Burke, winner of both the Masters and Professional Golfers Assn. championships last year, opens defense of the latter crown this morning against Gene Marchi, pro of the host Miami Valley Golf Club.

It is one of 64 first round head to head battles involving 128 top flight tournament professionals and little known club teachers.

It will set off a series of eliminations demanding a total of 162 holes in the space of five days. The finals are slated Sunday.

Burke bruised the tendons in his left wrist recently in an accident at home on the day he removed the bandages from his right wrist. This had forced his withdrawal from the National Open Tournament at Toledo a month ago.

If misery loves company, Burke has it. At least three other top-ranked contenders were fighting assorted ailments on the eve of the 29th annual match play wrangle of the professionals.

Sam Snead, seeking his fourth PGA title, complained of bruises in his left arm which he said for a while threatened to halt his tournament career. Former National Open champion Ed Furgol fell through a fence in Montreal, suffering a thigh injury which has kept him out of the last two tournaments. And Chick Harbert, 1954 champion, is getting over the whooping cough and said, "The medicine leaves me weak."

Snead, strong as an ox at the age of 45, is co-favored for the championship with Masters champion Doug Ford, 1955 PGA winner.

Andrews Eliminated From Tennis Meet

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa netman Art Andrews of Iowa City, was eliminated Tuesday in the second round men's singles of the National Clay courts Tennis tournament. He was defeated by Roger Werksman, Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2.

Herb Flam, the defending champion from Beverly Hills, Calif., opened defense of his championship with a pair of victories.

The No. 1 seeded star, who played twice Tuesday because of a late arrival, defeated William Cullen of Southport, Conn., 6-3, 6-4, then knocked off Jerry Dubie, Hamtramck, Mich., 6-4, 6-2.

Rain twice halted play and cut the day's program short. Tournament officials were hoping to get into the third round but had to settle for the finish of second round play.

Flam arrived late because he was busy winning the Nassau Bowl Invitation Grass Courts Tourney at Glen Cove, N. Y., Monday.

There was little action for the tournament's top seeds Tuesday. Australia's Ashley Cooper, the No. 1 foreign seed and runner-up at Wimbledon, ran into some trouble but defeated Gregory Grant of Los Angeles, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Vic Seixas, the No. 2 seed from Philadelphia won by default over William Guilford, Kansas City.

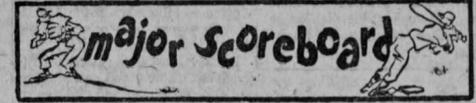

Lucille Davidson of Cedar Rapids, lost by default in the second round women's singles to June Stack, Hamtramck, Mich.

BEAN BALLS aren't necessarily restricted to baseball or so it seems as the tennis ball hit by Ken Rosewall in the rear court looks as though it is taking a flyer off the head of Pancho Gonzales. The ball actually was headed out of bounds over Gonzales' head during the Tournament of Champions at the West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills, N.Y. Gonzales worked Rosewall over Tuesday 6-2, 8-6, 6-4.

New Ambassador

NEW U.S. AMBASSADOR to the U.S.S.R., Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., right, shakes hands with Klementi Voroshilov, president of the Soviet Union, after presenting his credentials as the new ambassador to Russia from the United States. Thompson arrived a week ago in Moscow to assume his duties, replacing Charles E. Bohlen, now U.S. ambassador to the Philippines.

Barr Denies Company Gave Union Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John A. Barr of Montgomery Ward Co. testified Tuesday it is "absolutely untrue" the company gave the Teamsters Union a contract in return for support in a proxy battle for control of the firm.

Barr appeared before the Senate Rackets Investigation Committee at his own request to try to correct what he said was "a great wrong" done by Montgomery Ward. Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) listened to the testimony of the head of the big mail order house and said it seemed to him the whole idea of a company-union deal "falls on its face."

But Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) commented: "It's difficult for me to disassociate the signing of the contract from the proxy fight, to be honest with you."

Montgomery Ward signed a contract with the teamsters on March 31, 1955. Teamsters President Dave Beck was quoted at the time as saying that three weeks later the union would vote Ward stock if it had purchased on the side of the management. The management was in a fight with financier Louis Wolfson for control of the company.

Barr said Wolfson was defeated by 4,100,000 to 1,700,000 and the 12,500 or -14,000 shares of Ward stock purchased by the teamsters was insignificant and inconsequential to the outcome. As the man who was personally in charge of negotiations with the union, he said the way the union voted its stock had no bearing whatsoever on the signing of the contract.

What brought about his bid to testify was the testimony of a Washington lawyer, Alfons Landa, gave the committee May 14. Landa said he had advised Beck he thought the union could get a contract with Ward if the union stock was voted for management in the proxy scrap.

Further, Hoffa swore, he never had any discussion with Hyman I. Fischbach, Miami attorney. He said Cheasty and Fischbach were hired to prepare and present testimony before the committee.

In this and other testimony, Hoffa directly disputed earlier testimony by Cheasty, New York lawyer-investigator, who is the key government witness in Hoffa's trial in Federal District Court.

Hoffa, 44, a vice president of the Teamsters Union and chairman of its Midwestern Conference took the stand after Fischbach had refused to testify as a defense witness.

"In the present posture of this case," said Fischbach, "I will not be a witness against myself."

Hoffa and Fischbach are jointly accused of inducing Cheasty to get a job with the committee and bribing him. They went on trial together June 28, but Fischbach was granted a mistrial last week when his attorney, Daniel B. Maher, became ill.

As Fischbach was called to the stand, Hoffa's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, asked Fischbach whether he knew Cheasty, Fischbach said that until he has an opportunity "to take the witness stand before a jury that can exonerate me of these charges, I am not going to testify."

As Hoffa told it, there was nothing sinister about his employment of either Fischbach or Cheasty.

He said he hired Fischbach as a lawyer, because it had been represented to him by Max Laurie, a Fischbach law associate in Miami and an old friend, that he was "well versed" in the conduct of congressional hearings.

Commission Plans Assessor's Guide

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa tax commission Tuesday announced plans to provide county and city assessors with an official guide to uniform real estate valuations for tax purposes.

Commissioner Martin Lauterbach said the commission has signed a $25,000 contract with J. L. Jacobs Co., of Chicago, Ill., to prepare the uniform assessment manual.

The professional valuation firm will work with the commission and assessors. Lauterbach said, on research and utilization of existing valuation yardsticks. Then the Jacobs Company will prepare the manual.

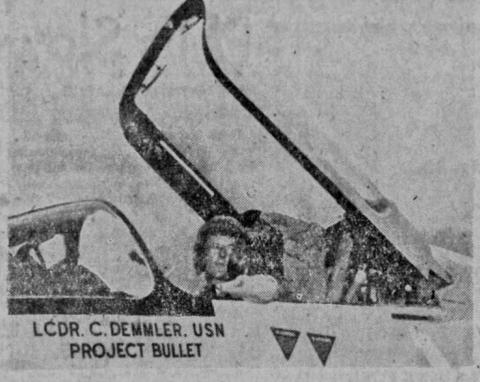

Lauterbach said it is expected preparation of the manual will take at least a year.

Two Men Hurt In Collision Near Riverside

A Riverside resident, Russell Wieland, 16, involved in a near head-on collision of two cars early Tuesday morning, was reported to be in good condition at Mercy hospital Tuesday where he is receiving treatment for injuries resulting from the accident.

The accident occurred on a county road near highway 218 in the vicinity of Riverside. Wieland's car and the one driven by Melvin Havel, 53, also of Riverside, collided on a narrow bridge after heavy dust had been raised by a passing milk truck.

Havel received treatment for chest injuries from a Kalona doctor and was released. Wieland received head lacerations, a head concussion, and possible fracture of the right knee. Both cars were extensively damaged on the front end.

Foreign Aid Bill Loses GI Trial Tie

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) informed the House Tuesday he will not try to tie his proposal to end foreign aid to GIs onto President Eisenhower's bill authorizing foreign aid for the coming year.

Bow's announcement greatly brightened chances for passage of the $3,242,333,000 aid measure, without major change.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said he thinks the bill, already passed by the Senate, will win House passage in just about the form approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The House Tuesday went into its second and final day of debate before starting voting on the bill.

Bow spoke as the author of a resolution which has picked up wide support in the row over the Administration's decision to turn Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard over for a Japanese trial for the shooting of a Japanese woman.

The resolution in its original form would order the President to seek revision of or denounce the status of forces agreements which provide for foreign jurisdiction over some offenses committed by U.S. servicemen abroad.

Bow says GIs should not be deprived of their American constitutional safeguards. The Administration says Bow's resolution would force withdrawal of U.S. troops from all over the world. The House Rules Committee so far has kept the resolution bottled up.

Says Korea Girl Scouts Helped War Refugees

DAVENPORT (AP)—The Girl Scouts of Korea have helped in easing the plight of war refugees, a spokesman for the organization said here Tuesday.

Mrs. Oknah Kim Lah, national director of the Girl Scouts of Korea since 1953, arrived in Davenport for a stay of several weeks. She will then go to New York and Europe.

She said the Girl Scouts helped to distribute rice to refugees following the Korean War and served in orphanages which were overflowing with refugee children.

The organization was started by the American Military Government after World War II and includes 2,000 Korean girls.

Perplexed Gives Up Badge For Monk's Vows

DETROIT (AP)—A young policeman, perplexed over man's troubles and tragedies, is putting aside his gun and badge to become a monk.

A year and a half as a patrolman convinced John W. Weglar, 24, he said, of the great number of people who need religion.

So Weglar is to join the Holy Ghost Brotherhood, a Roman Catholic missionary order, Aug. 1.

"Until I became a policeman," he said Tuesday, "I did not realize what was going on in the world around me."

"But after riding around in a scout car and coming in contact with many different types of people, you begin to wonder."

Mr. Fixit Dies

Ivan W. Sanders, 56, Vinton, the "Mr. Fixit" in the late Ernie Pyle's war book "Brave Men," died at Veterans Hospital here Monday.

Sanders served with the 9th Division in Africa, Sicily and Europe during World War II. It was in Normandy where Pyle met Sanders and wrote the Iowan was a "remarkable character — Mr. Fixit of the 9th Division."

Although he had no mechanical background, Sanders became known throughout his division as the soldier who could fix anything.

Nuclear Stockpile For NATO Viewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering setting up a stockpile of atomic weapons for Western European nations, Secretary of State Dulles disclosed Tuesday.

He said this would be "an act of confidence which would strengthen the fellowship of the North Atlantic community."

He told a news conference a study would show "within the next few weeks perhaps" whether a change in U.S. atomic law would be needed.

"No definite conclusions have been reached," Dulles said, referring to the whole idea.

He got on the subject when a reporter questioned him about America's disarmament negotiations with Russia, Canada, Britain and France.

The question was whether the United States would, in connection with its disarmament proposals, make available nuclear material and weapons to any western nation agreeing to quit trying to make its own atomic weapons.

"We are studying ways whereby, through perhaps a NATO stockpile of weapons and various arrangements of that sort," Dulles said, "there can be assurances to our Allies that if they are attacked, if war comes, that they will not then be in the position of applicants, as far as we are concerned, for the use of atomic weapons," Dulles said.

He said he was not sure who would own the stockpile — suggested it might be placed in the hands of Gen. Lauris Norstad, American commander of NATO military forces.

In the event of war, the President as commander in chief could order Norstad to turn nuclear weapons over to the Allies.

Social Security Payments up 20% In Johnson County

Four per cent of the total population of Johnson County, 1,700 persons, were receiving monthly social security benefits totaling $93,722, at the end of December.

Figures released by Kenneth Reid, manager of the Cedar Rapids social security office, show that this compared with 1,532 persons receiving $73,204 in December, 1955.

The increase resulted partly from the lowering of the age from 65 to 62, when a woman qualifies for benefits, and from the coverage given farmers under the self-employment provision of the law.

Johnson and Cedar Counties are low among the 12 listed in the First Congressional District of Iowa.

Noting that Old-Age and Survivors Insurance coverage has been increased in recent years, Reid pointed out that 75 per cent of men becoming 65 this year will be eligible for social security benefits.

Following is a record of the type benefits being paid retired workers and their dependents and to survivors: Beneficiary Group, Number, Amount: Retired Workers, 1,123, $67,987; Wife or Husband, 289, $9,416; Children, 204, $8,265; Mothers with Children, 37, $1,389; Widow, Widower and Dependent Parents, 127, $6,185.

CORN SUPPORT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that corn price supports be reduced and the important feed grain be freed from planting controls drew sympathetic response from some legislators Tuesday.

But there was some opposition to the price support proposal, and it seemed unlikely Congress would act this year.

Benson, who had been asked for suggestions for improving farm programs, made his proposal in a report to Congress.
