

University Edition Almost Ready

To Be Biggest Issue Put Out In 10 Years

The biggest issue of The Daily Iowan University Edition in 10 years will be ready for distribution Aug. 24. Not since 1947, when the University celebrated its Centennial anniversary, has there been more sections and more pages.

This year's 9-section, 72-page edition will cover all phases of University life. Topics will range from descriptions of University departments to how students spend their leisure hours.

The special edition is written, edited and prepared by students in the SUI School of Journalism. Preparation for the publication, headed by Editor Ken Coopman, G. Bussey, Ia., has taken almost a year.

Stories have been written by students in journalism courses, staff members of The Daily Iowan and other SUI personnel. Pictures have been gathered from sources on all parts of the campus.

Prospective SUI students will receive free copies of the University Edition through the University. All others may order copies from The Daily Iowan Business Office for 25 cents. The deadline for mail order copies is Aug. 23. The newsstand price per copy will be 10 cents.

Orders to date for copies of the 1957 edition have come from all parts of the world, including Burma, Argentina, Thailand, India and Panama.

ADVERTISE HELPS pay the expenses of the 72-page University Edition of The Daily Iowan so staffers Dave Bramson, Asst. Advertising Manager, and Darl Carter, Promotion Manager (left), have had added work heaped on their shoulders the past few months.

Johnson Blasts Nixon's 'Jury Trial Propaganda'

Sam Getlan Testifies Says 'Knows Little' Of Bills' Contents

N.Y. Unionist Appears Before Rackets Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sam Getlan, a New York jewelry unionist, swore Monday he had never heard of a "phantom" Teamsters Union which listed him as its president.

Getlan appeared before the Senate Rackets Committee, which is digging into reports that union locals that existed only on paper were manipulated to the benefit of individuals.

Getlan said he could offer no explanation of why his name was used, that "maybe they needed an officer, that's all."

A committee investigator, Paul Tierney, testified that seven phantoms or phantom locals cast 42 votes in the tight 1956 election in New York's Joint Council 26 of the Teamsters Union.

Tierney said Dave Beck, president of the union, issued instructions that the 42 ballots should be counted only if necessary to decide the election.

Tierney said one ballot was cast in Getlan's name, for John O'Rourke for head of the Council.

O'Rourke is a friend of James R. Hoffa, who is in line to succeed Beck as president of the international union. Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Rackets Committee has said that Hoffa persuaded the Teamsters to set up paper locals to put O'Rourke in and to bolster Hoffa's influence in New York.

The committee questioned Getlan ahead of Max Chester, who was allowed to leave a jail cell in New York for the trip here to testify. Chester was said by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy to have been involved in manipulations concerning the former AFL Auto Workers Union.

Chester, Johnny Dio and Samuel Golstein, president of New York Teamsters Local 239, are awaiting sentencing for a shakedown conspiracy against two New York electroplating firms.

SITTING AT THE WITNESS table Monday, Philip Kazansky of Monticello, N. Y., testifies in Washington before the Senate rackets investigating committee during a probe of labor activities in the New York area. Seated in the background listening to Kazansky's testimony is Sam Getlan, secretary-treasurer of a New York jewelry workers local, who also was a witness.

Says 'Knows Little' Of Bills' Contents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) accused Vice-President Richard Nixon Monday of leading "a concerted propaganda campaign against the Senate's jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill."

Johnson said final action on the bill would come Wednesday or Thursday and he predicted:

Flash Flood In New Mexico Drowns Two

LAS VEGAS, N. M. (AP) — A flash flood roared out of the mountains northwest of here Monday, taking at least two lives and washing out three dams in the area.

The flood victims were the Rev. Emil LaPorte, 41, and his daughter, Laura, 10, drowned when their car was caught in a gully and swept downstream by the rushing water.

The body of the daughter was found a short distance from where her father's had been found earlier in the afternoon.

Rev. Mr. LaPorte was a minister at the Southwest Bible Fellowship in Las Vegas, N. M.

He was driving near Sapello, a small community north of Las Vegas, when run-off water from 2.79 inches of rain swept his car from the road.

The bulk of the water from the mountain deluge swept down the Gallinas River which flows through Las Vegas. Three small dams were swept away and added more water to the flood.

Las Vegas itself escaped flooding as river banks held through the city. Low areas to the north and south of the city were evacuated.

All law enforcement officers and National Guardsmen in the area were called out to warn residents along the river of the flood danger.

The speed of the flood was described by a farm family living along the Gallinas north of Las Vegas.

Mrs. Dorothy Tejada told officers her family had driven across the river about two minutes before the rise hit. It was "flowing only a trickle at the time."

The family heard a roar after arriving home and saw the first surge of water coming down the river. The Tejada home, on high ground, escaped flooding.

"There will be a more substantial vote for passage than there was for the jury trial amendment which the vice-president criticized."

The vote for the jury trial amendment last Friday was 51-42. Johnson held an informal news conference to strike back at Nixon's statement, issued after adoption of the amendment, that "this was one of the saddest days in the history of the Senate because this was a vote against the right to vote."

"It is rare when the vice-president starts lecturing a majority of the members of the Senate," Johnson told reporters. "He was here for very little of the discussion of the bill and he knows very little about what was in it."

"Any objective person, who is not playing politics, knows that this bill represents an advance in the field of civil rights."

A high administration source said Sunday President Eisenhower would veto the bill if it reaches him in the form in which the Senate is expected to pass it.

Before the legislation could go to the White House, however, Senate and House versions would have to be adjusted. House GOP leader Martin of Massachusetts has predicted the bill will die in conference.

The controversial amendment provides for jury trials in nearly all cases of criminal contempt arising from Federal court injunction proceedings.

It was attached to a section of the bill authorizing the attorney general to seek Federal court injunctions against any violations or threats of violations of voting rights. Under present law, when an individual violates the terms of an injunction and is charged with contempt of court, he would be tried by a Federal judge without a jury.

The amendment provides for jury trials not only in voting rights cases but in labor disputes and a host of other types of actions.

The jury amendment would also provide for the right of Negro and other affected individuals to serve on Federal court juries whether or not they are qualified as jurors under their own state laws.

Church Leaders Seek Halt To World Nuclear Bomb Tests

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Representatives of most of the world's Protestant, orthodox and Anglican churches Monday urged Government to halt nuclear bomb tests as a trial bid for peace.

Nations should take the step alone if necessary, the Christian leaders declared, to try to break up the atomic arms race.

In a major, long-deliberated action, the World Council of Churches said in a statement the suspension of tests by any Government conducting them could pave the way for international agreements banning the bomb.

"Such mass-destruction weapons inevitably involve spiritual degradation for any nation that uses them," and their continued production raises parallel moral issues, the statement said.

It added that treaties prohibiting such weapons and providing for international safeguards were the objective, but such a program "must proceed by stages."

"We urge that as a first step Governments conducting tests should forego them, at least for a trial period, either together or individually, in the hope that the others will do the same, a new confidence be born, and foundations laid for reliable agreements," the churches said.

COUNCIL OFFICERS were authorized to present the recommendation to the Governments concerned. This would include Russia, the United States and Great Britain, the only three carrying on atomic tests.

The statement was adopted by the Council's policy-making Central Committee without a negative vote. Several, however, abstained. Numerous delegates rose to praise the action.

Batista Foe Launches Nerves War

HAVANA (AP) — Rebel leader Fidel Castro opened a war of nerves Monday against the Government of President Fulgencio Batista.

Apparently beaten in an attempt to topple Batista through a nationwide strike, Castro's followers broke in on private telephone conversations throughout Havana, shouting:

"We have taken the presidential palace." "Long live Fidel Castro."

Meanwhile, Castro's rebel radio broadcast appeals for workers to stay away from their jobs and gave them instructions on how to make Molotov cocktail bombs. Elsewhere, the rebel supporters spread rumors that Batista had been ousted.

But Government reports from all the provinces on this island republic said everything was normal. The Government said there was a general back-to-work movement.

A general strike started in Santiago de Cuba in the eastern province of Oriente last week where rebel sympathizers are numerous and threatened to spread.

Batista ordered a crackdown on strike agitators and saboteurs Sunday and decreed workers not back on their jobs by Monday would lose their jobs permanently.

Batista's opponents, who call him a dictator, had hoped a general strike would win the support of the Cuban Confederation of Labor. They figured the strike would cause so much trouble that Batista's army, or at least part of it, would desert him. This seemed the only way in which Batista could be ousted. But the confederation backed Batista.

Nation Mourns As Ex-Senator George Is Laid To Rest

VIENNA, Ga. (AP) — Flags across the nation and on ships at sea fluttered at half staff Monday while former Senator Walter F. George was laid to rest in a sun-dappled cemetery.

Fellow citizens from offices high and low heard him eulogized as a just man with a heart full of sympathy and humility before God.

The red brick Gothic First Baptist Church of Vienna was full to overflowing during the simple funeral services conducted by the Rev. L. C. Cutts, whose father preached to George.

Cutts based his message on the Old Testament, Mic. 6:8 which says in part: "He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good. And what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

"That passage," said Rev. Cutts, "aptly describes Sen. George."

The pastor said George was a man with "integrity of character, sympathy of heart and an appreciation of the spiritual measures of life."

All this characterized his work in Washington while he strove for peace in a troubled world as chairman of the powerful Foreign Relations Committee.

He favored a strong bipartisan foreign policy and was admired alike by Republicans and members of his own Democratic party.

ROSEMARY KESSLER, age 9, was taken to Mercy Hospital after being struck by a car driven by Mrs. Helen M. Gies, 921 S. Summit.

Rosemary was reported in fair condition Monday evening, with a concussion, face cuts, and leg lacerations.

The accident occurred on North Dodge street Monday afternoon. The girl's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kessler, R.R. 5.

Loveless Suggests Improvements Bill For State Schools

DAVENPORT (AP) — Gov. Herschel Loveless told the Iowa American Legion convention Monday that he believes the Legislature should pass a capital improvements bill for state educational institutions to cover a 10-year period.

In an address, Loveless said that although he recently vetoed capital improvements appropriations bills that doesn't mean he is opposed to new construction to meet state needs.

Loveless said his veto was necessary "because I didn't like a continuation of a 2 1/2 per cent sales tax and I had made a commitment to the people and would not go back on my word."

He also said he believes appropriations for educational institutions should contain provisions for "regulating the efficiency of the schools and their programs."

The governor said he favors what he called "a study of what we are doing wrong and a bill to cover the next 10 years."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson said Monday night "there is no difference of opinion whatsoever" between President Eisenhower and himself on a proposed new budget system.

Change in Red Delegation— Bulganin Losing Out?

BERLIN (AP) — A Soviet Embassy explanation failed Monday to check a growing crop of rumors that Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin is about to be pushed aside in a continuing Kremlin power struggle.

The embassy spokesman in Communist-ruled East Berlin indicated Bulganin is being left out of a Soviet delegation to East Germany this week because the visit is concerned principally with economic questions. The spokesman denied the Premier was off the Bulganin-Khrushchev visitors' team because of ill health.

A Moscow announcement disclosed over the weekend the composition of the Soviet delegation which is flying here Wednesday. Bulganin, constant traveling companion of Soviet Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, was not included. The next ranking member of the delegation is Anastas I. Mikoyan, the Kremlin's top economic expert.

The embassy spokesman was asked if Mikoyan was substituted for Bulganin for political reasons.

"The main things to be discussed are economic questions, and therefore Minister Mikoyan has been included in the delegation," he said.

In Moscow, Bulganin went about his duties as usual. He met with a Tokyo group calling itself the "Japanese Council for Prohibition of Atomic and Hydrogen Weapons" and talked with its six members for more than two hours about the Soviet government position on nuclear weapon tests.

There has been no suggestion as yet that Bulganin has been passed out of the Kremlin hierarchy.

But these developments did little to clear up the growing mystery of his present status.

Most Western experts in this divided city hold the view that Khrushchev dropped the "B" of the famed "B and K" traveling team because the Communist boss is pushing the Premier downward, if not completely out.

Observers in Czechoslovakia and Finland, recent scenes of Bulganin-Khrushchev junkets, have described the 62-year-old Premier as looking worn and tired, raising a suggestion that the trips have had a telling effect on his health. But the Soviet spokesman in Berlin snapped a quick "no" when asked if Bulganin was out of the delegation for health reasons.

Mikoyan, 61, perennial survivor of many a Kremlin shakeup, is a deputy prime minister, and there is speculation now that he might be moved up to the premiership, replacing Bulganin.

Bulganin has not been a powerful figure in the Kremlin. He has been more of a front man for the Communist party, without any great influence in his own right.

Indications of a rift between him and Khrushchev were noted after the June purge of Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and V. M. Molotov, who were ousted from the Kremlin leadership as "anti-party" elements.

Some versions of the struggle inside the ruling party Presidium pictured Bulganin as siding originally with Khrushchev's opponents, and then switching in time to save his own position, at least temporarily.

Nikolai Bulganin About To Be Pushed Aside?

FHA Ups Loan Rate, Down Payment Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — In twin moves to spur home buying among lower and middle income families, the Government Monday cut almost in half the minimum down payment for FHA-insured homes and boosted the interest rate on FHA loans from 5 to 5 1/2 per cent.

And new strict controls were clamped on the amount of discount — or premium — which may be charged borrowers on mortgage loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration or the Veterans Administration.

At the same time, the Federal National Mortgage Assn. (FNMA) announced a new schedule of prices at which it will buy FHA and VA mortgages.

Albert M. Cole, Housing and Home Finance Administrator, said the new housing regulations are aimed at channeling "a larger share of available mortgage investment funds into the financing of lower priced homes without increasing inflationary pressures in our economy."

The higher interest rate, new discount regulations and FNMA schedule go into effect on all loan applications received after today. The lower down payment rate is effective tomorrow.

However, Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.), chairman of the Housing subcommittee of the House, said the FHA interest rate has now been raised so high "there is a serious question in my mind as to whether the whole intent of the FHA program is being nullified."

"The FHA program was designed to permit families of moderate income to buy homes with small down payments at reasonable financing costs," Rains said. "The financing tariff on these loans is now so heavy on the consumer that I think the Congress must restudy the whole FHA program."

The FHA said the new down payment schedule will be 3 per cent on the first $10,000; 15 per cent on the next $6,000, and 30 per cent on amounts over $16,000. For a home costing $10,000, for example, the minimum down payment will be $300, which is $400 less than under the old schedule. For $12,000 it will be $600 down or $600 less than previously; for $15,000—$1,050 down or $900 less; for $20,000—$2,400 down or $800 less.

The old schedule, put into effect last fall, was 5 per cent down on the first $9,000 and 25 per cent down on amounts over that.

The hike in interest rates on FHA guaranteed loans had been expected to coincide with the lower down payments in order to encourage lenders to make more money available for home loans. The housing agency is authorized by Congress to raise the interest rate as high as

Loveless Suggests Improvements Bill For State Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee reportedly has asked all locals of the United Steelworkers to impound ballots used in President David J. McDonald's reelection six months ago.

Letters have been written by committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy to the union's more than 2,500 locals, it was learned, asking that the ballots be preserved.

'Double Take' as Twins— Get Ph.D.s Together

An "accident" will make history at SUI Commencement exercises Wednesday night as twin brothers Dean and Robert Hage receive their doctor of philosophy degrees from the University.

As far as can be determined, the Hage brothers will be the first twins to be granted Ph.D. degrees at the same SUI Commencement, and perhaps the first twins to receive their doctor's degrees from the University.

For the twins it's "accidental" that Wednesday night will mark their first graduation together, from high school or college.

Their paths split at Lake Mills High School when Bob became ill for some months, so Dean graduated a year ahead of his twin. Dean then chose the University of Arizona for undergraduate studies and Bob went to St. Olaf College in Minnesota.

Both received master of arts degrees from SUI, but Bob finished in 1949 and Dean graduated two years later.

Each will receive a Ph.D. degree in educational psychology, but their jobs will not be similar. Bob, formerly on the faculty of Washburn University in Kansas, is associate dean of students at Long Beach State College in California, where he directs the guidance and testing program.

Since March, Dean has been coordinator and psychologist for a research program in Cedar Rapids. The two-year study of education of mentally retarded children is sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education in cooperation with SUI, the Iowa State Department of Education and the Cedar Rapids public schools.

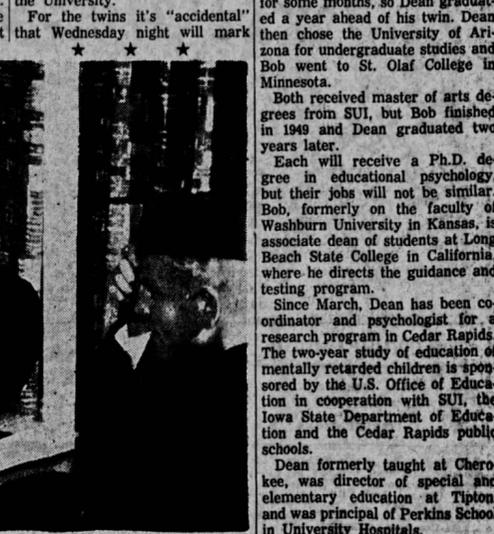

Dean formerly taught at Cherokee, was director of special and elementary education at Tipton, and was principal of Perkins School in University Hospitals.

The Hage twins' paths will separate again when they are graduated Wednesday evening. Bob will return to California, while Dean plans to move to Cedar Rapids to continue his work with the research program.

The Weather Cloudy and Warmer

It looks like the end of the cool spell today as temperatures start reaching for the high 80's once again. Scattered clouds will keep the weather comfortable, however.

NO, ROBERT HAGE hasn't changed — he's starting at his twin brother Dean (left). Bob, of Long Beach, Calif., and Dean, Cedar Rapids, will be awarded their doctor of philosophy degrees in education Wednesday evening at SUI's August Commencement exercises, the first time they will have graduated together. The Hage twins are natives of Lake Mills.

A Note in Passing

We were pleased to note the increased intensity of academic activity so much in evidence the past week-end, made possible by the friendly cooperation of the weatherman and his sultry associates.

Hundreds of students were to be found avoiding the inducements of the swimming pool, the blandishments of the riverbank, and the cool matinee caves in favor of study stations.

Everywhere the voice of the Fertile was heard, intoning messages of the coming of profits into the hand, singing the litany of the lethargic literator and entreating the mercy of the Almighty in the matter of manifest scholastic miscreance.

But soon the feverish worshipping at the shrines and holy places will cease, the sacred passages will lie neglected in dusty bookshelves, and the presently repentant, having known the wrath of the lore, and having been visited with the lore's retribution whereof he shall bear the marks, shall stray once more from the path of academic righteousness.

Which we say is all for the good. Collectively, if not individually, you've worked hard, and you've had a rough summer session, albeit rewarding and no doubt stand in need of a rest—students, professors, administrators and others.

Till' fall relax, all.

Sham of Civil Rights

Right now, there is nothing more to say about a subject that is important to every American regardless of his feelings or cognizance of it—Civil Rights. The Senate has had the last word on Civil Rights for a while.

Why the Senate even bothers with the bill—meaningless as they have made it—is difficult to understand except perhaps they wish to have something to point to when Civil Rights is brought up.

True, President Eisenhower may veto the pitiful shadow of the original bill so that our Government may be spared the ignominy of parading such a farcial apparition on the stage of world opinion—although it cannot be doubted that much damage has been done to American prestige in the eyes of foreigners already by the inability of the Land of the Free to safeguard the basic rights of its citizens, let alone ensure equality.

That Civil Rights need protection cannot be doubted, especially in the light of the FBI report—unfortunately released after the Senate voted on the bill—proving what is common knowledge: that the Negro Southerner is being unlawfully deprived of his voting—and other rights.

If he cannot turn to his Government for legal protection, who can he turn to?

Permanent Emergency Force

From The Milwaukee Journal

By general agreement, the United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF) in the Middle East has proved the effectiveness of such an international group in areas of tension. There have been no major outbreaks since it came between hostile armies of Egypt and Israel. A calmer air pervades the region.

Despite this record, there is a possibility that UNEF may wither away.

It contains only 6,064 men from 10 nations. Indonesia is recalling its 584 next month. There have been reports that 280 Finns and 680 Yugoslavs will be called home. Sweden, Norway and Denmark do not want to keep their 1,000 men in the Middle East indefinitely. India previously indicated intention of withdrawing its 970 men, but recently assured the UN this would not be immediate.

If UNEF is allowed to disband, and no successor force is created, the United Nations again will be unprepared to deal with outbreaks in the Middle East. It will be unprepared against threats of wars elsewhere.

To prevent this, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has adopted a resolution recommending creation of an international force as a permanent arm of the U. N. This force would be made up like the UNEF, of contingents from the smaller nations. It would be ever ready to meet emergencies that threaten the peace and to help in the keeping of armistice and peace agreements.

Backers of these resolutions argue that such a force might have averted the aggression that led to the Korean War. They say it might have prevented the fighting between North and South Vietnam. They suggest that if such a force had been ready to fly into Hungary when that country asked help last fall, the Russians might have hesitated about brutally crushing the Hungarian revolutionaries as they did.

Russian Forgeman

USSR Magazine Depicts A Typical Life in Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE—Below is one of a series of articles appearing in the magazine USSR published by the government of the Soviet Union under a reciprocal agreement between the governments of the United States and the Soviet Union. The agreement provides for the publication and circulation of the magazine USSR in the United States and the magazine Amerika in the Soviet Union.

David Frumhart lives in Rostov. He is a forgeman by trade and works in the big Rostov farm machinery factory. He likes to quote Sholom Aleichem, his favorite author. "Sholom Aleichem writes somewhere," he says, "that a man makes what he wants out of himself. With me it was a little different. My father had a hand in it. He was a forgeman and I took after him. I've never been sorry. The same with my brothers. We all learned the trade from him."

Frumhart doesn't talk much about his family. When the fascists invaded Rostov, they killed off the Jews with methodical brutality. His father was put to death in a gas chamber. His mother and sister, his brother Lev and Lev's wife and three children were all shot and buried in a ditch outside the city.

David went back to his job at Rostov after the war. He worked in the plowshop for some years and then shifted to the combine harvester shop. All told, he has put in twenty-five years of service at the plant.

His job is to make cutting tools—reamers and milling cutters. He likes the trade, he's good at it and it pays well. In addition to his average wage of 1,200 to 1,300 rubles a month, he earns bonuses for efficiency proposals from time to time.

He turned fifty recently and under the new pension law he is entitled to retire. Forge workers, miners, workers in chemical and similar industries are pensioned at that age. The pension he is allowed is 800 rubles a month.

Frumhart is an easy-going kind of man, but on the subject of retirement—for himself anyway—he has very decided opinions. "Who wants to retire? I'm a young man. Ask me again in about twenty years or so and maybe I'll feel different about it."

Frumhart is an active member

DURING 25 YEARS of work, Frumhart has advanced steadily. The shop superintendent says: "If you want a top-notch job, Frumhart is your man."

of the Machinery Makers' Union and for a good many years in a row has been elected to serve on the union's shop committee. His particular job on the committee is to check on safety regulations and equipment and to keep the management on its toes so far as industrial hazards are concerned.

He gets a month's vacation annually with full pay and usually spends it at a health or holiday resort. Last year he went to Sochi, where he took treatment at the Matsesta Valley Sanatorium. Like many other workers, he paid nothing for accommodations and treatment. The bill was paid by the state.

The summer before he stayed at a holiday resort in Gleadzhik, on the Black Sea. He paid 140 rubles for room and board, 30 per cent of the cost of the accommodations. The other 70 per cent came out of the state social insurance fund.

He and his wife Nadezhda will celebrate their silver wedding next year. They have three children: Nina, who is 23, married, and the mother of a four-year-old; Leonid, 19, and Yura, 15.

Nina's husband works in the farm machinery plant. The young couple live close by, in one of the apartment houses built by the factory.

The Frumharts have their own four-room house. This is the second one they've built; the first was destroyed during the war. They lived in a two-room apartment for a while. There wasn't much else available for some time after the

Exports Flip Dulles

By GEORGE DIXON
King Features Syndicate

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Not often does Secretary of State John Foster Dulles betray any perturbation over his department's cultural export program. But the other day he heard of a couple of plays that had been shipped abroad under his imprimatur, and could not stifle a gentle explosion.

Mr. Dulles participated in a very high level conference on his cultural program for Europe. He inquired what manner of enlightenment he was sending to that backward continent and was informed that in recent weeks he and the American taxpayers had shipped the non-pastoral productions "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" and "Damn Yankees" to the benighted savages of Britain, France, Germany and the Benelux countries.

The Secretary of State was so profoundly perturbed by this disclosure that he resorted to spelling. He demanded: "What are we trying to export — 'S-E-X'?"

The Government printing office is kind enough to send me a list of its new publications as they come off the press. I peruse the list of Uncle Sam's best-sellers avidly, but am torn by indecision. They all sound so alluring I can't make up my mind which to order.

A new list came in this morning. By nightfall I had narrowed my choice down to two, but there I stuck. Finally, I turned in desperation to a young lady named Mary-ellen Fitzgerald, who happened to be in the vicinity, and said:

"Tell me, dear Miss Fitzgerald: If you wanted to curl up with a good book tonight, which of these would you select: 'Manual For Septic Tank Practice,' or 'Tests Of A Sprinkler System for Hot-Weather Hauling of Live Hogs in Truck-Trailers.?"

Unhesitatingly, Miss Fitzgerald declared she would prefer the latter. When I inquired why, she asked me what red-blooded American girl, on the threshold of young womanhood and yearning for romance, wasn't interested in hauling live hogs.

I decided to be guided by Miss Fitzgerald's advice, but then I began reading the latest circular from the small business bureau, listing inventions I can manufacture and amass a fortune. Now I am torn again.

I can't make up my mind whether to become rich and arrogant by making a device for unwinding telephone cords, or an adjustable grip for bowling balls.

CHICAGO — Visual education has moved into the doctor's office.

Writing in the current Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. John B. Gregg, Sioux Falls, S.D., an otolaryngologist, told how he uses slide films to show patients exactly what is the matter with them.

He has found that interview time can be cut by one third to one half by using pictures. In addition, pictures help the patient to better understand his ailments. In some cases pictures have helped convince patients of the need for operations and have helped allay needless fears, Dr. Gregg said.

He first used pictures torn from medical publications, but they were cumbersome and soon became tattered from use. He next used a hand slide viewer, but this was time consuming if more than one person looked at the slide. Now he projects the pictures on the wall.

In an average office day, the slides are used two or three times, he said.

Educating patients about medical problems is one of the duties of the doctor, but it is frequently neglected because it is so time consuming, he said. The physician-patient relationship breaks down. By using visual education in the office, "greater understanding can be achieved in less time and with less effort," Dr. Gregg concluded.

Fowl Note on Vanity

LIVINGSTONE, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — The inherent vanity of women is causing headaches among Central African ornithologists.

Each year hundreds of rings, used to mark migrant birds, find their way into native African women's jewelry boxes in the form of necklaces and rings.

A Rhodesian ornithologist, Maj. E. L. Haydock, told the Pan-American Ornithological Congress here that although he had broadcast in four dialects asking Africans to return rings found, not one has been handed to the authorities.

The Africans think that, in killing a ringed bird, they have damaged government property and consequently hide it—after removing the ring.

In this way valuable information on migrant birds is lost to science and jingles its way along a jungle path adorning the neck of some dusky beauty.

LAFF-A-DAY

Overdriving Lights

If you drive 60 miles an hour at night, chances are you're overdriving your headlights.

That's the advice of Edward L. Smith, secretary of the National Safety Council's Committee on Speed.

Smith, a traffic engineer, pointed out that the Uniform Vehicle Code recommends that an auto's bright lights be capable of illuminating an object 350 feet away.

But at 60 miles an hour, a passenger car's stopping distance is 366 feet.

"I'm sure that cars with properly adjusted sealed-beam units meet the requirement of being able to spot an object 350 feet away," Smith said. "And most modern-day cars have sealed-beam headlights. But they are not always adjusted, the lenses or windshield may be dirty."

"A car's lower beam won't meet the requirement. With the low beam, you seldom can see more than 100 feet ahead, especially when the glare of an oncoming car's lights hits you."

Statistics indicate that, nationally, chances of a motor-vehicle fatality at night are three times as great as during the day.

Motorists—whose ability to see at night may be lessened by strong daylight—were warned by the Council not to rely on "blind faith" in driving at night.

Okinawa

Pro-Red 'on Top' in Election Returns

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Conclusive election returns Monday night gave the pro-Communist mayor of the capital city in this strategic U.S. military base a new and stronger hold on his post.

With all but 2,500 of the 45,456 votes from Sunday's balloting counted, Mayor Kamejima Senaga's followers had nailed down 12 seats in the 30-man City Council—double the number they had before.

That will be one more than enough to block another non-confidence vote. The Conservatives, who won 17 seats, would have to wear away two of Senaga's supporters and the lone neutral to oust him.

Political observers thus agreed that Senaga probably has the strength to stay in office until his term expires in 1960.

There was no immediate reaction from U.S. officials, but they were plainly disappointed by the increase in Senaga's strength.

The Army has called him a Communist, but Senaga denies he is a party member.

A Cat and Mouse Game

"YON PUSSYCAT HAS a lean and hungry look" just might be what the mouse is saying to these cats. "Freddy," the white mouse pet of Joe Reynolds, 7, son of Mrs. George Reynolds of Dallas, is the newest of the Reynolds' many pets, which include a rabbit, dog and the two Siamese cats, "Chum," left, and "Magnolia." The cats became curious about the new visitor and began poking their noses into the mouse's screen-top box.

SUI To Present 11 Commissions

Eleven SUI students will be commissioned second lieutenants Wednesday at 6:15 p.m. ceremonies in the University Armory. They will be graduated from SUI at commencement exercises later the same evening.

Col. Max V. Kirkbride, Professor and Head of Military Science and Tactics, will present commissions to these members of the Army ROTC detachment: Frederick C. Bastron, Red Oak; Norman W. Buck, Cedar Rapids; William W. Harrel, Shenandoah; Lawrence K. Perry, Marshalltown; Bernard P. Slofer, Knoxville; Donald K. Bock, Wilmington, Ill.; and William R. Miner, Phoenix, Ariz.

Receiving commissions in the Air Force Reserve will be Walter J. Brewer, Cresco; Rex L. Davis, Okaloosa; Edward G. Leidig, Burlington; and Howard O. Myli, Mason City. Col. Ernest M. Magee, Acting Head of Air Science, said the four probably will go on active duty within a year, as will the new Army second lieutenants.

Edward D. Arbaugh of Persia will receive his Air Force commission in about two weeks, upon completion of remaining course work, Colonel Magee said.

Board of Supervisors OK's County Budget
The County Board of Supervisors approved the 1958 County Budget Monday morning. Total proposed expenditures are $1,742,191, which is $104,834 higher than the 1957 budget.

The estimated amount to be raised through taxation is $971,102, compared with $956,878 for this year. County Auditor William Kanak said the estimated tax rate per $1,000 of assessed value will be $15.41. This year's tax rate was $15.54.

AUTO FOUND
A car stolen from the SUI parking lot behind the Zoology Building on July 27 was reported found by Davenport police Monday.

The 1955 car, owned by student Charles E. Wilson of Cedar Rapids, was found abandoned on the outskirts of Davenport early Monday morning. The police reported there was no evidence of damage.

Bay Baited To Insure Good Fishing for Ike

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — Baiting of Narragansett Bay to insure good fishing for President Eisenhower during his Newport vacation has been done "entirely without White House knowledge or approval," Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Monday.

Hagerty's remarks were made to the Newport Daily News' Washington correspondent after he had been asked for comment on the protest of the Rhode Island League of Salt Water Anglers.

Salt water anglers said baiting or "chumming" — the throwing of chopped fish into the water to attract fish — is unsportsmanlike and contrary to the best interests of conservation.

George W. Lawton, Newport's chairman of recreation and a fish store proprietor, said last week he had been busy "chumming" favorite fishing spots around the harbor to make sure the fish are there when the President drops his line.

SOIL BANK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Monday passed and sent to the Senate a bill to cut red tape in protecting farm acreage allotments of farmers who do not plant their full government allotments under the Soil Bank Act.

The bill would eliminate the present requirement that farmers must notify their county agricultural committees of intention not to plant their entire allotment in order to protect the allotment history of their farm.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—W. W. Clatterbuck, 75, walked into the sheriff's office Monday and told a startled deputy:
"Here's my driver's license." He took a deep breath and went on:
"I've driven for 43 years and never had an accident. But I know my reflexes aren't what they used to be. There are enough bad drivers on the road. I don't want to be another one."
Deputy Ezra Todd paused, then replied:
"You don't have to turn in your license. Just don't drive the next four days."
Deputy Todd said he had noted that the license expires Friday — Clatterbuck's 76th birthday.

DENISON — Two youths who escaped from a Pennsylvania reformatory remained in custody here Monday pending the recovery of one of them from auto accident injuries.

Phillip Morgan, 14, was reported in fair condition at Crawford County Memorial Hospital Monday after being injured last Friday.

His companion, Tom McMumm, 15, was held without charge in the county jail. Sheriff N. P. Cavett said the youth had escaped from a reformatory at Titusville, Pa.

The stolen car which the boys were driving collided with a car driven by Dr. Tyson Long, 32, Denison veterinarian, Cavett said.

Dr. Long and McMumm were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Harold Edward Slattery, 52, Des Moines, was killed Monday afternoon in a car-truck collision four miles east of the junction of Highways 59-100. Slattery's truck collided with the car on Highway 100 which is under construction and closed to traffic.

LINN GROVE — Three persons were injured in a collision of a tractor and semitrailer truck four miles west of the junction of Highways 71-10 near here Monday.

Robert Roberts Sr., 72, and Alfred Erickson, 74, who live about a quarter of a mile from the accident scene, were taking the tractor over to the farm of Roberts' son.

The truck, driven by Dennis E. Long, Lone Rock, started around the tractor and apparently because there wasn't enough clearance, struck it.

Long's wife, a passenger in the truck with him, and Roberts were treated at a Sioux Rapids doctor's office. Erickson was taken to a Spencer hospital and reported in fair condition.

SUI Construction Bids To Be Taken
The State Board of Regents asked today for bids on utilities construction at Burge Hall, new women's dormitory at SUI, and at the new experimental animal quarters to be built at Oakdale Sanatorium.

Sealed bids will be accepted until 1:30 p.m. Aug. 21, according to George L. Horner, superintendent of planning and construction for SUI. A public hearing on the proposal will be held at that time and the bids will be opened at 2 p.m.

The construction at Burge Hall includes the installing of steam and condensate lines and water lines from the service mains to building pipelines. The plans for animal quarters call for construction of heating and return lines from the Oakdale Sanatorium power plant to the building and the connection of those lines to construction in the building.

Total estimated cost of the construction is more than $50,000.

Senate Group Approves Military Public Works
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Subcommittee Monday approved a bill for construction of military public works both here and abroad but released no immediate details.

The committee said it planned to report the measure to the full committee on Wednesday.

The House formally passed a bill to authorize the armed forces to spend $1,676,622,000 for construction.

As sent to the Senate the bill would only authorize the spending. The actual funds would have to be provided in a separate measure.

DM BUDGET
DES MOINES (AP) — A $14,549,747 budget for the year beginning Jan. 1 was adopted by the Des Moines City Council Monday. The figure is $473,001 larger than the 1957 budget and will require a record city tax rate of 32.07 mills to cover it.

BILL PASSED
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Monday passed and sent to the White House a bill authorizing the Interior Department to make a settlement with the Northport Irrigation District in Nebraska for the district's interest in the North Platte project power system.

Nuclear Technology Fellowships Offered

Special fellowships in nuclear technology are again being offered by the Atomic Energy Commission as part of the AEC's general program of helping to ease the shortage of trained nuclear scientists and engineers.

Dean Walter F. Loehwing of the SUI Graduate College says the fellowships are available to students starting their work at the beginning of the second semester or quarter, or third quarter of the 1957-58 year, and will carry stipends of $1,800, plus tuition and dependency allowances. They are open to U.S. citizens who have bachelor degree or in engineering, chemistry, mathematics, or physics, who have completed a course in ordinary differential equations.

Before the fellowship appointments become effective, the applicant must be accepted as a candidate for a graduate degree by an institution participating in the program, Dean Loehwing says.

The fellowship program is administered by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. Forms may be obtained from the Fellowship Office, Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, P.O. Box 117, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Completed applications for special fellowships in nuclear technology should be submitted not later than Oct. 15, according to Dean Loehwing.

Community Theater To Hold Tryouts

The Iowa City Community Theatre will hold tryouts for "Our Town" today and Wednesday, between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., in the Council Chambers of City Hall.

Thornton Wilder's play, "Our Town," will be the first of three productions to be presented during the theater group's 1957-58 season. It is tentatively scheduled for presentation around the end of September or the beginning of October.

Centering in the lives of several people in a small town during the early 1900's, the play requires 18 men and 8 women of varying ages; 3 boys between the ages of 9 and 13; and one girl about 11 years old.

In addition to the larger roles, numerous walk-ons and smaller parts will be cast. Crew members will also be needed to assist with costumes, lighting, promotion, and properties.

All residents of this area, including SUI students, are invited to try out for parts or to become crew members.

Season tickets are available which entitle purchasers to attend three productions by the group.

FINED $25
Merlyn Ralph Edwards was fined $25 and costs Monday after pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct in Iowa City Police Court.

Edwards was charged with behaving in a disorderly manner by using loud, profane, and indecent language at the Campus Grill. He also allegedly pushed Mrs. Sadie Eash, an employee of the cafe, who filed the complaint.

Rumors Fly About A's Ouster of Lou

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Whether Lou Boudreau will be fired as manager of the parachuting Kansas City Athletics is to be decided this week, the Kansas City Star said Monday.

Despite His Ouster Bragan To Manage

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bobby Bragan, who lost his job as field manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday, signed a contract Monday for a similar post with the Almadares club in the Cuban Winter League.

Bragan met with Julio Arcos Jr., general manager of the Cuban club, and discussed the contract terms before signing. The pact reportedly calls for Bragan to receive $10,000.

The former Pirate manager is scheduled to join Almadares in October.

Bums Top Giants Despite Amazing Mays; Indians Stop Yankees' Eight-Game Streak

Garcia Hurls 1st Win Over Yankees, 7-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Garcia beat the New York Yankees for the first time in over two years Monday as Cleveland broke the league-leaders' eight-game winning streak 7-2. The defeat cut the Yanks' margin over idle Chicago to six games.

Don Larsen, who never has won the Indians in his major league career, was the victim of the Tribe's eight-hit attack which included a three-run homer by Gene Woodling in the ninth.

Not since Aug. 3, 1955 had Garcia won over the Yanks. He allowed nine hits, pitching out of trouble in the seventh when he struck out Mickey Mantle and retired Yogi Berra. The Yanks had loaded the bases with only one out.

Again in the ninth, he put down a threat after the Yanks put two on with nobody out. Berra flied out to end the game with the bases full.

Roberto de Vicenzo Cops Winner's Loot At Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO (AP) — Roberto de Vicenzo of Buenos Aires Monday played the last round in a close-to-the-vest 70 for a 72-hole total of 273 to win the $25,000 All American golf crown by four strokes.

The 34-year-old De Vicenzo, who has hauled away more than $13,000 in his five appearances at Tam and finished third twice, had a cool 36-34 final round. He hooked his 70 to previous trips of 69-64-70 for the 15-under-par 273. It was the second lowest 72-hole tally since the meet was inaugurated, matching the 273 of Ted Kroll's "World" card last year and Ben Hogan's "World" effort of 1951.

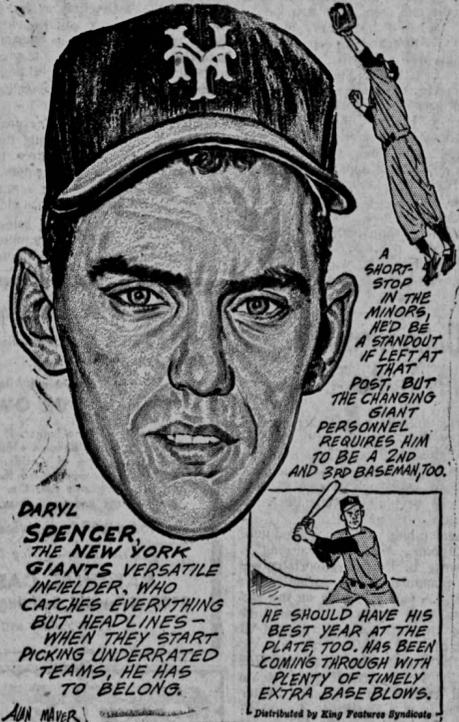

The record, however, is 269 by Byron Nelson in the 1954 All American.

De Vicenzo's triumph was slightly overshadowed by the closing round of 63 by Gene Littler who took second money of $2,300. This 9-under-par figure matched the competitive record of Lloyd Mangrum set in 1948 and if broken would have been worth $10,000.

Needing an eagle 2 on the last hole to shatter the record, Littler pulled out a wedge from about 120 yards away. His ball hit in front of the pin and skidded to a stop 2 1/2 feet away. He dropped the putt for a birdie and a round of 33-30—63.

Sam Snead rolled into third place with a final 36-35—71 for 278 and $1,800. Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., among the non exempt pros who had to qualify for the tourney, finished fourth with 35-36—71 for 27, worth $1,500.

Willie Hit 4 But Didn't Fix 5 to 2 Score

BROOKLYN (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers scored a tie-breaking, fifth-inning run without a hit and went on to defeat New York 5-2 Monday night despite a one-man show by Willie Mays, who had four hits and drove in both Giant runs with his 25th homer.

The Giant centerfielder was a bit of a goat, too, however — with his error giving the Brooks an unearned run and bouncing out to end the game with two men on base.

The third-place Dodgers moved within 2 1/2 games of the National League lead and within two games of second place. It was the only game Monday.

Righthander Ray Crone gave up his only walk to leadoff man Junior Gilliam in the payoff fifth inning. Junior stole second, went to third as Mays made a great run into left to grab Gino Cimoli's long fly, and then hustled home on Elmer Valo's high infield chopper.

River Traveler Aground

ROSELAND, Miss. (AP) — Cuban Jose Cortina, bone weary and chilled after 43 hours in the water, Monday gave up his attempt to swim 300 miles down the Mississippi River.

The one-time Cuban "athlete of the year," now a swimming teacher at Los Angeles, was pulled from the muddy water, gasping and shivering, after making 147 miles. Jose planned to swim to Vicksburg, 300 river miles downstream from Memphis, where he started his marathon Saturday.

All-Stars Nurse Their Hurts As Game Nears, Odds Slip

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars nursed practice wounds Monday, but were encouraged by reports that favoritism of the New York Giants was slipping for the All-Star football game at Soldier Field Friday night.

The odds reportedly dropped from 13 points, to 11, to 10 1/2, and then to 10 against the All-Stars.

The 24th annual All-Star contest, which will be televised nationally (ABC at 7:30 p.m. CST), finds the collegiate squad seeking its eighth triumph in the series and first since a 30-27 verdict over the Cleveland Browns in 1955. The pro champions hold 14 decision, and 2 ties were played.

Heavy work is through for the 48-player, All-Star squad, coached by former pro mentor, Curly Lambeau, and the battered collegians certainly need an easy pace. No fewer than nine players have been injured in practice and several of those may see little or no service Friday night.

Lambeau conducted an all-out scrimmage Saturday and such stars were banged up as fullback Don Shinnick of UCLA; Jon Arnett, Southern California halfback; and Paige Cothren, Mississippi fullback.

Coach Lambeau has kept mum on his intended starting offensive and defensive units, but it appears likely the starting offensive backfield will include sharp-passing John Brodie of Stanford at quarterback, 220-pound Jim Brown of Syracuse and fleet Abe Woodson of Illinois at halfbacks; and hard-smashing Don Bossier of Miami, Fla. at fullback.

Observers agree the current collegiate squad has shaped up much better than last year's unit which was blanketed by the Cleveland Browns 26-0.

Concrete pavements save big money for Iowa taxpayers

Federal funds pay 90% of the cost of the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways. But each state pays the future maintenance costs of these roads. Therefore, local taxpayers will save large sums if these vital main highways are built of the pavement that serves the longest and costs the least to maintain. That pavement is concrete.

Longer Life—Less Upkeep
Official records of many state highway departments prove conclusively that concrete has nearly twice the service life of flexible pavements and costs far less to maintain.

Concrete also the Safe Pavement
The gritty texture of concrete permits quicker, safer stops, wet or dry, night or day. And its light-colored surface reflects more light, providing better nighttime visibility. And it lasts —and lasts—and LASTS!
