House Approves Government Pay Raise

Hurricane Bertha Loses Its Wind

Storm Abates Before Hitting Gulf Coastline

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tropical storm Bertha, no longer a hurricane, moved inland Friday night and was crossing the path followed by its murderous sister of six weeks ago, Hurricane Audrey.

G. L. Allen, forecaster at the New Orleans Weather Bureau, said Bertha apparently was headed in the direction of Lufkin in east-central Texas.

Allen said Bertha was crossing Audrey's path near Cameron, La., about 7 p.m.

The Weather Bureau's 7 p.m. bulletin located the center of Bertha about 20 miles south of Lake Charles, La.

The bulletin said the highest tide reported along the central Louisiana coast was five feet and the highest wind from a reliable source was 65 m.p.h.

The storm was moving northwesterly about 12 m.p.h. The bulletin said hurricane warnings would remain displayed from Galveston, Tex., to Vermilion Bay, La., and storm warnings on the east Louisiana coast.

The Weather Bureau dropped Bertha's classification to a tropical storm when its winds dropped below 75 miles an hour, the minimum velocity of a hurricane.

Fewer persons appeared in Bertha's way when it reached the Cameron area. Most coastal residents, their stubbornness washed away by Audrey's tides, fled to higher grounds at first warning.

Earlier, tides of five to six feet, more than four feet above normal, were predicted for Galveston and Sabine Pass, Tex., while lesser swellings of three to five feet were forecast for the central Louisiana coastline.

The small fishing and hunting town of Cameron in extreme southwest Louisiana, all but eradicated by Audrey's merciless hammering, was almost deserted. Residents fled to Lake Charles, 60 miles to the north.

Some of the Cajun inhabitants of the marshy coastlands clung to their hardy outlook and chose to battle the tropical menace.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Murphy of Cameron remained. He said he believed "it is my duty to serve the public." But he sent his wife and three children to the safety of Red Cross shelters in Lake Charles.

Cameron Sheriff O. B. Carter estimated about 500 persons were in the city doing rebuilding and rehabilitation work when the first warnings of Bertha came. He said about 15 per cent were evacuated by nightfall Thursday.

Anxiously thinned along a 125-mile front from Vermilion Bay, La., to Galveston, Tex. Forecasters said it would be difficult to pinpoint the spot where Bertha would choose to strike.

Forecaster C. L. Allen said the storm's present path would take it inland around Galveston, or 50 miles either side of the Texas resort city. But he quickly emphasized the whimsical storm could veer to the north and Louisiana, or move to the south and back into the Gulf where it was spawned.

Dulles Spurns Red Nuclear Test Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has sent word to the Kremlin that the United States will never agree to stop testing atomic weapons without a simultaneous agreement to stop making them.

American officials hope this reply to a Soviet inquiry will finally convince Soviet leaders that they have no prospect of winning American, or Western, acceptance of their test-suspension plan. Russia wants to call off tests for two or three years apart from any other step in disarmament.

CAMERON PARISH Sheriff O. B. Carter stands in Cameron's deserted main street, a few hours before Tropical Storm Bertha struck Friday. A boat left stranded in the heart of town by Hurricane Audrey serves as a grim testimonial of this season's earlier holocaust in that area.

Story Told of How Dio Was Paid Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee was told Friday that the old AFL Auto Workers let gangster Johnny Dio Dioguardia and two others set $396,000 as their price for leaving the union.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy thus summed up the evidence just before the senators recessed their hearing for the weekend. The committee is investigating allegations of improper labor-management activities.

The last witness was Earl Heaton, outgoing president of the Allied Industrial Workers (AFL-CIO), the new name of the Auto Workers.

Heaton testified that Anthony Doria, ousted secretary-treasurer of the Allied Industrial Workers, was promised $80,000 if he got out of the union. Doria was involved in welfare fund scandals.

Actually Doria has received only $25,000, plus a union-owned Cadillac, Heaton said, and he is suing to collect on union notes for the balance.

Heaton told the investigators Dio got $18,000 when he left the old union in 1954. It was also testified that Angelo Chicago was allowed to take along a Chicago local with assets of $300,000 when he departed under fire from the UAW.

The committee has produced evidence that Dio, while ostensibly out of the union, retained a firm hand in its affairs behind the scenes.

Heaton also testified that James R. Hoffa, a vice-president of the Teamsters Union, and Dio were "more than speaking acquaintances."

Prodded to say just how friendly Hoffa and Dio were, Heaton said, "Well, that's a matter of degree."

But the witness said he had seen Hoffa and Dio together at labor conventions.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) and other members of the committee are digging for evidence, in advance of Hoffa's appearance as a witness, to buttress their contention that there is a corrupt alliance between Hoffa and Dio.

Heaton, who is 48 but looks much older, testified that as president of the United Auto Workers he raised no objection to paying Dio $18,000 for getting out of the union.

Heaton said Dio demanded $10,000 as his price for quitting the union, but that he upped the date to $18,000 and received that amount.

Soviet Infiltration Reported in Mid-East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Soviet Union is reported infiltrating another section of the Arab world with a supply of arms to the desert kingdom of Yemen. The Russians also may be sending more submarines to the eastern Mediterranean for the Syrian-Egyptian axis.

Britain accused Russia Friday of sending six of seven shiploads of propeller-driven planes, old T34 tanks, troop carriers, artillery and small arms this year to Yemen, a remote realm of 4½ million Arabs on the Red Sea side of the Arabian Peninsula.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said "we understand that about 50 Russian instructors or advisers are in the country," which has been feuding for months with the neighboring British protectorate of Aden.

Few Yemenis are mechanics. Most would obviously need prolonged instruction to make efficient use of planes and motorized equipment.

Similar instruction has been given to the Egyptians and Syrians after they broke the ice by buying Red arms.

Red submarines got back in the news, from Cairo to London. A Syrian source in Cairo said Syria expects to get two small submarines and six torpedo boats as part of a new Soviet aid agreement signed Tuesday in Moscow. The Egyptians took delivery of three submarines last month.

Moscow announcements of the Soviet-Syrian aid agreement did not mention arms. They told only of a wide range of Soviet economic and technical assistance to Syria, which is doing business with the Russians largely on the cuff. The Syrian informant said the aid would amount to $66 to $100 million.

His report of the prospective naval acquisitions coincided with a mysterious voyage by two Polish submarines down Britain's east coast. The British navy shadowed them. There was widespread speculation as to their purpose.

One theory was that they were on their way from the Baltic to the Mediterranean for delivery in the Middle East. This was the same route taken by three Soviet submarines recently handed over to President Nasser's navy at Alexandria.

British Still Refuse U.S. Polio Vaccine

LONDON (AP) — Britain defended its refusal to import Salk anti-polio vaccine today. The government said it couldn't be done in time to halt the serious increase in British polio cases.

Safety tests like those applied to British vaccine would take about three months, a Ministry of Health statement said.

It claimed the British vaccine is "superior in safety and effectiveness" to the American product. Since January, 2,366 polio cases have been reported in Britain.

JACK SOBEL was present when his wife Myra, was sentenced Friday to 5½ years in prison for spying activities for Russia. Sobel was sentenced Sept. 18. Sentencing along with Mrs. Sobel was Jacob Albam.

Mrs. Sobel, Jacob Albam Sentenced

NEW YORK (AP) — Two European refugees who found a haven in this country were sentenced Friday to 5½ years each in prison for spying on the United States for Russia.

At the same time, Col. Rudolph Ivanovich Abel, was held without bail in another federal court on an entirely different spy charge. He was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury in Brooklyn and faces a possible death sentence if convicted.

Sent to prison from U.S. District Court in Manhattan were Jacob Albam, 64, who came here from Lithuania; and Mrs. Myra Sobel, 53, born in Russia. They seemed taken aback by the sentence. The blonde Mrs. Sobel had laughed in court when arrested. Friday she wept.

The pair had pleaded guilty to reduced espionage charges, thus avoiding the possibility of the death sentence under the original indictment. Maximum sentences under their pleas were 10 years each and fines. No fines were levied.

Their cooperation with the government in baring secrets of the spy ring apparently led them to hope for greater leniency. The government also said neither of them was an important cog in a ring headed by Mrs. Sobel's husband, Jack. He is to be sentenced Sept. 18.

Acting U.S. Atty. Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., told sentencing Dist. Judge Richard H. Levett that Mrs. Sobel played the part of a wife doing the bidding of her husband and at no time did she initiate any action in furtherance of the objects of the conspiracy "nor commit any overt act other than at the direction of her husband."

Mrs. Sobel's lawyer, George Wolf, pleaded with Judge Levett to free her on probation for the sake of her 17-year-old son Lawrence.

"If she serves a prison sentence," Wolf said, "he will be without a home and forced to live in Canada with a sister of Mrs. Sobel."

In passing sentence, Judge Levett declared: "I have seriously weighed factors of the national defense involved and have considered the problem of what sentences to impose."

Mrs. Sobel's husband also faces a maximum 10-year sentence when he comes before the court next month. He, too, has cooperated with the government in an attempt to win leniency.

An obscure figure in New York's animal hair products industry, Sobel headed a well-knit international spy ring from about 1944. It fed defense data to Russian agents at clandestine meetings in New York, Paris, Geneva, Lausanne and Vienna.

Abel, 55, who appeared in court in Brooklyn, had no direct connection with the activities of the Sobel ring. He posed for nine years as a Brooklyn artist while, the government said, he collected atomic and military data for transmission to Moscow.

Abel was held without bail for a further hearing Tuesday to give him time to get a lawyer.

A wispy, disheveled man, looking not at all like a top-flight espionage agent, Abel said the Russian government has made no move on his behalf since his indictment.

"That's their business," he told reporters. "I have no intention of getting in touch with anyone."

Wage Hike Still Needs Senate Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — An 11 per cent annual pay raise for the Government's one million white collar workers was approved overwhelmingly by the House Friday despite President Eisenhower's opposition.

The measure was passed by a roll-call vote of 329-58. This was 71 votes more than would be needed to override the presidential veto predicted by some House leaders.

However, the measure must still be approved by the Senate. A bill providing for a 7½ per cent raise is pending in that chamber.

By a 110-71 teller vote, the House defeated a proposal to make the raise 7½ per cent.

In a teller vote, the members march by tellers — one for "aye" and one for "no" — and are counted.

The Iowa delegation was split 5 to 3 in favor of the bill Friday. Voting for the bill were Reps. Cunningham, Hoeven, Schwengel and Talle, Republicans, and Coald, the only Democrat in the delegation.

Voting against were Reps. Gross, LeCompte and Jensen, Republicans.

At 11 per cent, the increase figures out to be about $530 million a year.

Mr. Eisenhower has taken a stand against a general pay increase for Federal workers at this time. He said anything that could add to inflationary pressures should be avoided.

A move to take about 10,000 Federal legislative and judicial employees out of the 11 per cent pay increase bill was defeated by a 126-114 teller vote.

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, assistant Republican floor leader, predicted the bill will be vetoed if it is sent to Mr. Eisenhower in the present form.

Rep. Murray (D-Tenn.) predicted both this bill and a previous pay raise for postal workers "will never become law."

The House has voted to postal workers a $546 across the board annual raise — about 12½ per cent — at a cost of about $317 million. The Senate has not acted on this.

Believe Ice Cubes From Jet Stream

READING, Pa. (AP) — A chemical researcher said Friday the two chunks of ice that fell on the farm of Edwin Groff July 30 may have been blown thousands of miles in a jet stream.

The ice had been kept by Groff in his home freezer since they nearly struck him on the head. The size of the ice cakes—one nearly 50 pounds and the other half that weight—attracted considerable interest in this area.

Airline officials said at the time the cakes were reported that they could not have fallen from an airliner because such planes carry nothing larger than ice cubes and the Weather Bureau said the ice chunks could not be explained as huge hail stones.

Dr. Malcolm J. Reider, head of a chemical research firm, said he sprayed the ice pieces—now melted considerably smaller than when originally found—with distilled water to remove all foreign matter, and then split them to determine the "cleavage planes."

This test and others, Dr. Reider said, indicated the ice was not manufactured but came from atmospheric conditions. A high chloride content, Dr. Reider added, indicated also that the ice came from an area far removed from Reading. To remain intact while traveling such distance, he said, the ice cakes could only have been whipped along by a jet stream—an air current traveling at hundreds of miles an hour.

$3 Billion-Plus Aid Plan Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was presented today with a $3,366,000,000 foreign aid program embodying a first step toward a long-range program of economic help abroad.

President Eisenhower has urged such a program.

Senate and House conferees agreed Thursday on a compromise foreign aid bill, slashed $489,410,000 below the $3,854,410,000 Eisenhower asked for military, economic and technical assistance abroad.

In doing so, the conferees just about split the 500½ million difference between Senate and House totals.

Finals?—No, Preliminaries

FOR SOME PEOPLE, school days were over Wednesday. For others, such as those pictured above, they are only beginning. This group is part of the incoming freshmen and transfer students who took placement tests Thursday and Friday at SUI. Arthur Mittman, temporary Director of Examinations Service, said a little over a thousand students have taken the tests so far this summer. The final group will take their examinations Monday and Tuesday.

A Mere Matter of $25 Million

From the Wall Street Journal

Saudi Arabia is a pretty warm place but nobody there is quite as hot as some Congressmen in Washington are right now about the little matter of $25 million in foreign aid to King Saud.

It seems that when the King was here early this year negotiations were begun to grant Saudi Arabia that much money from the 1957 Foreign Aid funds, and talks were started about where the money could best be spent for the country's economy. Naturally, there were some strings to the spending. The U.S. thought most of the funds ought to go to development of Damman, a port near the U.S. air base at Dhahran. The Saudis were willing to spend some there, but wanted the balance spent for other purposes.

Ambassador Wadsworth made a number of trips to the king's desert palace to try to induce the king to take the money. But the king was reported preoccupied with other matters and the June 30 deadline passed.

None of that makes the Congressmen mad. What has them hot as a Bedouin is the fact that the State Department is back asking Congress to grant the amount of money again in the hopes that King Saud can be induced to accept it.

The International Cooperation Administration was wise to put some strings on the grant, considering the account of one item of foreign aid to Saudi Arabia dug up by the Hoover Commission. In 1953, I.C.A.'s predecessor, the Foreign Operations Administration, asked Saudi Arabia what the U.S. could do to help and the King suggested a vast bathhouse for pilgrims on their way to Mecca.

The bathhouse was to cost around $300,000 and to include steam sterilizers for the pilgrims' robes and prayer rugs. A site was chosen, work was begun and then F.O.A. technicians discovered that there wasn't enough water there to run the steam sterilizers. The project was abandoned.

It may be that some similar strange idea of Saudi Arabia's economic needs led to the lack of agreement which ended in the failure of King Saud to pick up that $25 million check.

But we can understand the King's disinterest in the aid, considering the fact that he takes in some $250 million a year in oil revenues. What we find difficult is the insistence of the State Department that Congress also should insist on giving away that $25 million by making it again available to Saudi Arabia.

And considering all the circumstances, the best thing Congress can do with that unwanted $25 million is to make it and more available to the taxpayers by refusing to appropriate money for foreign aid that foreigners don't want.

Out of Circulation

From the Wall Street Journal

We see by the papers that a Congressional committee plans a study of the impact of Federal spending on the economy.

That's a rather broad subject and we are looking forward to the results of the committee's study. In the meantime, we offer a quick report on the impact of Federal spending on one family's economy.

It knocks a big hole in it. The lady at our house has a number of spending projects planned that would add a little more prosperity to the building trades and the electrical and home furnishing industries, all of which are having their economic troubles these days. Unfortunately this planned spending won't have much impact on the economy because our money's gone to pay for the Government's planned spending.

It's a minor matter, perhaps, but we do note that one of the committee's worries is that a decline in Federal spending would take a lot of money out of circulation. And we just thought we would remind the Congressmen that if they cut the budget and let us keep a little more of our money, we can assure them it won't stay long out of circulation.

"It is common sense that there must be a limit to the upward price spiral, else a loaf of bread will demand a wheelbarrow of currency as it did in Germany after World War I."—KANSAS CITY, KAN., PRESS.

"Mao Tse-tung is now reported to have admitted that 800,000 people were liquidated by his regime up to 1954. The news seems cold in print. But it should be dwelled upon. How many regimes in all history have executed as many as 800,000 human beings?"—FREDONIA, N. Y., CENSOR.

Icebergs Turn Shipping Aside In 'Invasion'

By TOM HORGAN

BOSTON (AP)—A grimly beautiful, white invasion fleet, stealing down from the frozen North, has forced one of the world's busiest shipping lanes to make its annual bend south in obedience to nature.

This invasion of the icebergs has virtually taken over a 300-square-mile area south and east of Newfoundland, where the only ships that wisely brave the clogged waters are those of the International Ice Patrol.

IT IS THIS fleet of ice cutters with help from a detachment of planes that blows the whistle on man's only defense against the wandering islands of ice—adequate warning for the freighters and passenger liners.

Ice is the particular business of Capt. Kenneth S. Davis, commander of the International Ice Patrol, who has just returned after logging more than 800 bergs thus far this year.

CAPT. DAVIS believes this year's ice broken from the Greenland ice cap is the heaviest in more than half a century. In addition, it arrived earlier and is remaining longer than usual.

The ice patrol was begun by the Coast Guard after a berg claimed the luxury liner Titanic and 1,517 lives on her maiden voyage in April 1912.

Such tragedy has not been repeated. Cost of the patrol is shared by the world's principal maritime nations, on a tonnage basis, with Britain picking up the heaviest bill.

THIS YEAR'S ice crop is unusual in some respects. It made its appearance much earlier than average, for one thing, and it consists of solid chunks of ice.

Usually the bergs are filled with "faults"—air pockets and the like, which cause them to melt rapidly after reaching the Gulf Stream. Not so this year—the bergs are slow in melting.

After breaking off the Greenland ice cap, bergs meander about 2½ years, traveling some 2,000 miles and often getting trapped in bays along the Labrador coast before reaching the tail of the Grand Banks as a threat to shipping.

CAPT. DAVIS estimates that only an infinitesimal percentage of the bergs complete the course.

Two cutters, the Evergreen and Acushnet, and three and sometimes four planes—B-17s—are guarding the steamer lanes this year. Usually the patrol ends in mid-July, but Capt. Davis does not see termination before mid-August.

Icebergs are, of course, fresh and not salt, and when afloat in the ocean, approximately nine-tenths of their bulk is submerged.

One recently reported was 600 feet long and 250 feet above the water. Underwater measurement could only be estimated.

Fine Arts Festival—

A 9 Year-Old Tradition

By BARBARA ROBERDEE

Each summer, for the past nineteen years, the School of Fine Arts has presented a Fine Arts Festival. This year's Festival ended Wednesday.

A summer session affair, the Festival includes contributions from the SU1 departments of Art, Music, Band, Dramatic Art and the University Museum.

The Festival, which began in 1938, was originally about two weeks long. For approximately six or eight years, the Festival was held for two weeks and was really considered a "festival." From morning till night, plays, lectures, concerts and operas were presented to the public.

Originally, there was a play scheduled almost every night for two weeks. Now the number of plays has been cut down to four or five a summer.

The Art Department presented exhibitions and also scheduled lectures on different phases of art. Large, important exhibits were brought in from New York and other art centers around the country.

This summer's festival began June 12 and ended with the close of the SU1 summer session. The Nineteenth Annual Fine Arts Festival presented plays, concerts, lectures, and painting and sculpture exhibits.

The highlight of the summer season was an opera which is staged annually. (This is an addition to the Festival, since until recently no operas were given during the summer.) This summer's performance, "Albert Herring," by Benjamin Britten, illustrates the integration of the talents of the Music and Dramatic Art departments.

Two plays have been presented to the public this summer, "Arms and the Man," by G. B. Shaw, and "Very Love," an original play by David Larson, G.

A notable feature of the Festival was a presentation of paintings, sculptures, crafts, and other works of art by professional artists who have earned one or more degrees from SU1.

ings, sculptures, crafts, and other works of art by professional artists who have earned one or more degrees from SU1.

The exhibition was divided between the Main Lounge of the Union and the Exhibition Lounge of the Art Building.

Programs of symphonic, chamber, band and choral music were presented by the Music and Band Departments as their contribution to the Festival. A number of concerts by high school students assembled at SU1 for the All-State Camps were among the early musical events.

Three lectures were scheduled in the summer lecture series. Such distinguished speakers as Dr. Everett R. Clineby, General Carlos P.

Romulo and Ivan T. Sanderson spoke to SU1 lecture audiences.

As a participant in the Festival the Natural History Museum has been featuring both new and old exhibits. Whether one is a naturalist, artist, or curious visitor, he will find the Museum offers an educational and enlightening experience. Among the displays recently installed in Bird Hall Annex are two snow-white birds, the American Egret and Trumpeter Swan.

Special cases throughout the Museum are devoted to such things as extinct species; abnormal coloration in animals; and ethnological materials from all over the world, including a fine collection of original Eskimo ivory implements and carvings.

The Iowa Memorial Union also takes part in the Festival. The spacious Music Room of the Union, with excellent high fidelity equipment and an extensive library of recordings, has been available to the public throughout the summer. Broadcasts of interesting operatic and symphonic programs are received from time to time in the Music Room. In the television room programs have been available every day and evening, in addition to the telecasts of public events of unusual interest presented in the Main Lounge.

Both the present and past administration have taken special pride in building up the Fine Arts School at SU1. Their success in this endeavor is best illustrated by the enthusiastic support accorded the annual Fine Arts Festivals.

REPORT FROM HUNGARY

Vienna, Austria (AP)—The relationship between church and state in Hungary "has very much improved," says Bishop Lajos Ordass, primate of the Hungarian Lutheran Church.

In his first trip outside his homeland since 1948, the bishop who was freed last year from a Red prison told a clerical conference that the Hungarian church was now allowed to do more Christian education work than previously.

U.S. Continues Fight Against Communist Espionage Rings

Assistant Attorney General William F. Tompkins, reporting on the progress made by the Internal Security Division in its fight against Communism and other subversive activity during the first half of the 1957, said activity was highlighted by the smashing of a highly important international Communist espionage ring.

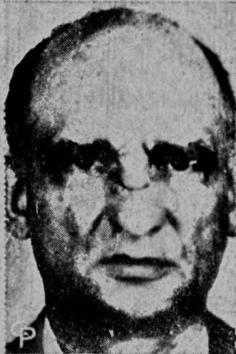

This ring, he said, had members in the highest echelons of the Soviet intelligence service and its activities extended over a period of years.

In other areas, he said, the Division has pressed a driving attack against threats to the nation's security.

Discussing the first six months of 1957, Mr. Tompkins stated: "The Internal Security Division was instrumental in halting the operation of an apparatus of international Soviet agents bent upon obtaining important national defense data and transmitting it to the Soviet Union for its information and advantage."

In New York, Jack and Myra Sobel and Jacob Albam were charged in an indictment, naming Vassili Molev and nine other Soviet officials as co-conspirators, with violating the peace-time espionage statute. Molev, a member of the Soviet Embassy staff in Washington, and entitled to diplomatic immunity, was ordered to leave the United States upon the arrest of Sobels and Albam.

The charges included an attempt to transmit documents, photographs and other information relating to the intelligence activities and armed forces of the United States to the Soviet Union. The defendants in this case have pleaded guilty to one count of the indictment and are awaiting sentence.

"Further contribution has been made to the campaign to eliminate Communist infiltration of organized labor in the United States. In January of this year, James S. West, Edward Joseph Chaka, Andrew Remes, Hyman Lumer, Sam Reed, Eric Reinthal, Marie Reed Haug, and Fred Haug were charged in Cleveland with conspiring to violate the statute by filing false affidavits with the National Labor Relations Board.

In other cases involving the filing of false non-Communist affidavits with the Board, indictments have been returned against Lee Brown, an official of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, Marie Reed Haug, formerly an official of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, and currently an official of the International Association of Machinists Union, and Fred Haug, an official of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Bruno Maze, an official of the United Auto Workers of America has pleaded guilty to filing a false non-Communist affidavit, and Avalo Allison Fisher, an official of the International Woodworkers Local 2-97, has appealed from conviction of this offense as well as a sentence of five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

"Continued efforts of the Division to expose the operation and secure the registration of the Communist party and its front organizations under the Internal Security Act of 1950 have been reflected in the order of the Subversive Activities Control Board that the California Labor School, Inc., register as a Communist-front.

The Board has reaffirmed its order that the Communist Party itself register as a Communist-action organization, and an attempt is being made by the Division to the Supreme Court of the constitutionality of this determination in the Internal Security Act.

CBS To Broadcast Van Allen Interview
A recorded interview between physicist James Van Allen of SUI and Lyman Bryson, director of public affairs for the Columbia Broadcasting Company, is scheduled to go over the CBS national radio network Tuesday at 8:30 p.m., CST.

Pertaining to upper atmospheric research of International Geophysical Year, the interview is a part of the CBS "Do You Know" series. Bryson, prominent New York author and educator, came to the SUI campus for the interview, which was recorded last month in the studios of University radio station WSUI.

Professor Van Allen is now leading a cosmic ray research party aboard the U.S.S. Plymouth Rock, a self-powered floating dock on a supply mission to Greenland and Baffin Island.

With the Iowa scientist are three SUI students—Laurence Cahill, graduate student from Bangor, Me.; Donald Simanek, junior from Walker, and Gary Strine, junior from Tama. The expedition is one of several in different parts of the world involving the Iowa physicists during International Geophysical Year.

Iowa radio stations and the times that they are scheduled to carry the Bryson-Van Allen interview include KGLC, Mason City, 8:30 p.m. Tuesday; WMT, Cedar Rapids, 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, and KRNT, Des Moines, 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 17.

Iowa News Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DES MOINES—Iowa's 1957 corn crop improved so much during this month of July that the estimated production was increased Friday by about 40 1/2 million bushels.

Furthermore, the Iowa Crop and Livestock Reporting Service upped the indicated yield as of Aug. 1 by four bushels per acre over the July 1 forecast.

"The condition of the crop has improved in all areas of the state except the south central and southeast districts," the service said. "The soil moisture has generally been adequate in all parts of the state."

The service estimated the 1957 production would be 577,239,000 bushels. That would be a 11 per cent gain over the 1956 crop. It also would be 6 per cent higher than the 1946-55 average production.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Bernard Glen Flock, 40, Omaha oil refinery worker accused in the fatal beating of a Council Bluffs widow, Friday afternoon was bound over to the grand jury on a second degree murder charge.

Flock pleaded innocent at his arraignment Friday in Municipal Court here in the death of Mrs. Ida Kennedy at her home last Saturday.

Police Capt. Charles Merrimen testified at a preliminary hearing that Flock had signed a statement admitting he had been involved in a fight with the 57-year-old Mrs. Kennedy the morning of her death.

An insanity information brought against Flock was dismissed Thursday by the Pottawattamie County Insanity Commission. The information was filed by his sister.

Flock is being held under $20,000 bond.

GRINNELL—Grinnell college trustees have approved the sale of the Okoboji Summer Theatre building for $2,500 to a building corporation now being formed in the Iowa Great Lakes region.

The Okoboji Summer Theatre Assn. will continue to arrange for dramatic talent while the building corporation, which includes both local and summer residents, will have charge of the property.

Roy J. Smith of Spirit Lake, owner of the real estate on which the theatre stands, agreed to sell at an undisclosed price the property to the corporation on a lease-purchase plan of 10 years duration.

CEDAR RAPIDS—Police Patrolman Richard Staves was acquitted in Municipal Court Friday of a traffic violation charge filed by Police Capt. L.W. Kemington.

Remington accused Staves of failure to yield the right of way when emerging from a private driveway with a police car. Despite Remington's testimony, further testimony and police records showed Staves stopped before emerging, and another car, which had cut in toward the curb, scraped Staves' police car.

INDEPENDENCE—Mrs. Carl Sauer, 60, of Rowley, Iowa, was in fairly good condition Friday at an Independence hospital where she was being treated for injuries suffered in one of a series of accidents.

A hay baler caught fire in a field near Independence Thursday, and as Mrs. Sauer approached the scene her car had a flat tire near the blazing field.

John Manke, 40, Rumpf, S.D., stopped to assist Mrs. Sauer, and as they were getting back into their cars, a car driven by Charles Ihlenfeldt, 22, of Waterloo, collided with the Manke auto, knocking it into the Sauer car.

A lengthy traffic jam developed involving motorists who were going home from the Buchanan County Fair at Independence.

DES MOINES—Ed Hartzler, business representative of Teamsters Local 90, Friday predicted that Iowa delegates will vote for James R. Hoffa for national president of the Teamsters Union.

Hartzler said he believes Hoffa will receive the votes of some 20 Iowa delegates to the union's national convention at Miami Beach, Fla., opening Sept. 30.

"My vote will go for Hoffa," said Hartzler. "He's the best man for the job."

Little opposition has appeared to block Hoffa's path to the presidency.

RED OAK—A total of 125 men and women registered here Friday for the two-day 49th annual convention of the Iowa Blacksmith and Welders Assn. and its auxiliary.

Committee appointments were announced and demonstrations and displays were held Friday. Election of officers by both groups, the naming of the Iowa Blacksmith of the year and a convention banquet are included on Saturday's schedule.

Navy Announces Mothballing Plans For All Battleships

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in its modern history, the U.S. Navy will have no battleships operating at the end of this year.

The Navy announced today that the battleship Wisconsin and 18 other vessels will be placed in mothballs by Oct. 28. This is in addition to 60 others, including the battleship Iowa, which it said Monday will be retired by the end of the year.

The Iowa and the Wisconsin are now the only active battlewagons surviving the trend toward aircraft carriers and other more modern ship types.

The changes were ordered as part of an over-all economy drive designed to hold defense spending for the current fiscal year to 38 billion dollars.

As another part of the drive the Navy announced yesterday a cutback of 10 to 15 per cent in the 254 million barrels of petroleum products it had planned to buy for all the armed services for the year. The saving was estimated at between 115 and 170 million dollars.

Mothballing of 19 vessels was Monday announcement of the re-announced as a revision of the retirement of the Iowa and 59 other ships, including 26 other combat vessels.

Except for the Wisconsin, there was no announcement of the specific types of ships included in the new deactivation schedule.

By the end of this calendar year, the number of ships in the active fleets will be whittled from 967 to 928.

Although the Navy will be forced to retire 79 vessels, it will commission 23 new ships and add 10 that have been modernized.

Professor Whitesel Renamed Chairman Of Fellowship Plans

Russel Whitesel, Professor of Political Science at SUI, has been named to continue as regional chairman for the selection of Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship holders for 1958-59.

The purpose of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowships is to encourage top college students to enter graduate work, preferably with the aim of entering college teaching. Expansion of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation program has been made possible by a grant of $24.5 million from the Ford Foundation.

The foundation expects to award some 1,000 fellowships next year. Five Iowans were among 302 recipients of fellowships for 1957-58.

Members of Prof. Whitesel's committee for the selection of nominees from Region 10 are William Sachse, University of Wisconsin; Robert Stange, University of Minnesota; Robert Irrman, Beloit College, Beloit, Wis.; and Arild Miller, Carleton College, Northfield, Minn. Region 10 includes Iowa, North Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

David L. Mayer, a graduate of SUI holding both B.A. and J.D. degrees, has been appointed Director of the Security Division at Argonne National Laboratory, near Lamont, Ill.

Argonne is operated by the University of Chicago for the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. Mayer has been acting Director of Security at the research and development center since March.

Allocations Made to 19 Departments From the Old Gold Development Fund

Special mid-year allocations totaling $9,129 have been made to 15 SUI departments from the Old Gold Development Fund (OGDF), SUI Provost Harvey H. Davis has announced.

The OGDF was organized by Iowa alumni last year as a channel through which they might provide voluntary financial assistance to their University. Such gifts support projects which could not ordinarily be financed from state ap- propriations.

Dr. Davis said the OGDF council, of which he is chairman, voted to allocate the money contributed so far this year to the Fund, to enable various projects to get under way at once. Final allocations of money received during 1957 will be made to SUI departments at the close of the 1957 Fund year, he said.

Mid-year allocations included a grant of $1,500 to the University Scholarship Committee to provide merit scholarships for deserving students who do not qualify for help from existing restricted funds. Last year 15 Iowa freshmen received merit scholarships from OGDF funds.

An initial allocation of $1,000 was made to a new scholarship loan fund to provide financial assistance to deserving students who need special help. Such students often need the assurance that they will have, not only a scholarship, but sufficient funds to draw upon until they become oriented to their new environment and find employment or other means of supplementing their income. Under the present University loan program, funds cannot be made available to students until after they have registered, Dr. Davis noted.

The Botany Department received $500 to continue a study of vegetation in Iowa. The inter-institutional program of field study will eventually provide a basis for specific recommendations for soil conservation and flood control.

The School of Journalism was allocated $500 for a preliminary study of the impact of press, radio and television upon attitudes and behavior of children.

Prof. Erich Funke was given $300 to continue the development of Translingua Script, a system of code numbers to make communication possible between people who speak different languages.

Another $600 was given to the SUI Institute of Gerontology, to continue the first comprehensive survey ever made of the adult population of an entire Iowa county. From the data obtained retirement plans and activities for Iowa's elder citizens can be formulated.

The School of Religion was given $500 to bring competent scientists, philosophers and theologians to the SUI campus for lectures on the inter-relationships between science and religion. Five lectures will be presented over a three-year period.

These are only a few of the 25 projects which will receive support from the Old Gold Development Fund during 1957.

Alumni dollars will also be used to investigate the relationships between certain parental attitudes and the anxiety levels of children; to support research in medicine, dentistry, education and archaeology; to support a "tissue bank" in the SUI department of surgery; to provide student loans and scholarships; to enable the SUI Library to acquire unusual books and collections, and to support several other special projects and organizations.

Many of the projects receiving mid-year allocations were begun in 1956 with alumni donations. During the Fund's first year of operation 1,320 alumni, throughout the United States, contributed a total of $27,920.21 to Fund projects.

Seven SUI Students Get Old Gold Fund Awards

Seven SUI students with outstanding academic records have been named to receive Old Gold Development Fund Merit Scholarships for the 1957-58 school year, according to Helen Reich, chairman of the University Scholarship Committee.

Students named to receive the scholarships are Robert Mezey, A2, and William Brogan, E4, both of Iowa City; Franklin Katz, A3, Cedar Rapids; Nadine Johnson, A2, Osage; Paul Wuebben, A2, Remsen; LaVerne Cain, A3, Sioux City; Ruth Hale, A2, West Liberty.

Provided by the Old Gold Development Fund, an SUI alumni project, these scholarships cover all basic fees, amounting to $200.

Construction Bids Being Requested

The State Board of Regents asked Thursday for bids on the replacement of the east elevator in the SUI Medical Laboratories and for the construction of permanent bleachers for the SUI Fieldhouse Swimming Pool.

Sealed bids will be accepted until 1:30 p.m., Aug. 21, according to George L. Horner, Superintendent of Planning and Construction for SUI. A public hearing on the proposal will be held at 1 p.m. that day and the bids will be opened at 2 p.m.

The new bleachers at the Fieldhouse Swimming Pool are to replace the "knock-down" bleachers formerly used and now condemned. The new bleachers are to be constructed of pre-cast concrete and will be permanent.

She is a student at the University of Colorado.

Aaron .334 took over the National League batting lead with two-for-five and tied Stan Musial .332 of the Cards for RBI leadership with 57.

John Brodie of Stanford almost matched Conerly's passing skill and Billy Ray Barnes of Wake Forest wiggled his way through the Giant offense to keep the game in suspense almost to the end.

Barnes scored the All-Star touchdown and Paige Cothren of Mississippi kicked two field goals and narrowly missed a third.

Conerly passed for both of the Giant touchdowns, but Ben Agajanian added the spectacular touch with his two field goals for the New York team. He kicked one from 33 yards away in the first period and another from 45 in the fourth.

CHICAGO (AP)—With the instinct of an old fire horse when the alarm sounds, perked-up Sam Sneed showed his heels to the awed younger pros Friday with a second round 69 and a sizzling halfway total of 134 to maintain his lead in golf's biggest money stampee.

The 45-year-old sweet swinger finished his chore in a light rain at Tam O'Shanter.

His 124 represented 10 strokes under par and wheeled him farther ahead in the field of 100 pros prospecting for the game's richest reward—$50,000 in cash and a $50,000 exhibition contract.

Mike Souchak with a 33-37-70 and Shelley Mayfield with 36-34-70 shared third place at 138. Grouped at 139 were Ed Oliver and Tony Holguin, followed at 140 by Bob Rosburg and Arnold Palmer.

National Open champion Dick Mayer and highly favored Gene Littler were among seven checking in at 141. Dow Finsterwald and Bill Casper, two other touted young players, were among those at 142.

Defending "World" champion Ted Kroll was buried at 143 along with Jerry Barber and Jack Fleck, while All American winner Roberto de Vicenzo was an also-ran at 147 and leading money winner and Masters' champion Doug Ford was lost at 148.

The "World" championship winds up 72 holes of pressure shooting Sunday.

Sneed, probably the best-heeled pro in the business, said that one of his main worries Friday was keeping his wallet dry.

"I sweated clear through the thing," he drawled. "Understand now, I don't have any money in it. But I didn't want the ink to get faded on those bills I owe."

Batter Shrugs Off Slump and Bangs 4 Runs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Nieman snapped out a slump Friday night with a home run and two doubles as he drove in all the runs for the Baltimore Orioles in a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

The loss, third straight and fourth in their last five games, left the Yanks four games ahead of second-place Chicago in the American League standings.

Nieman slugged his homer in the fourth off loser Whitey Ford and hit a base-clearing double in the sixth following singles by Billy Gardner and Bob Boyd and a walk to George Kell.

The big outfielder entered the game with a .254 average and one hit in his last 21 times at bat.

CHICAGO (AP)—Nellie Fox kept alive Chicago's diminishing pennant hopes Friday when he twice drove in the game-tying run, then romped home in the 11th inning on Lary Doby's single for a 5-4 uphill White Sox victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Fox' single in the ninth inning scored pinch runner Sammy Esposito to send the game into extra innings with the scored tied 3-3.

The diminutive second baseman also singled home a run in the bottom of the 11th after Detroit had taken a 4-3 lead, then scored the winning marker on Doby's shot to center field.

Hurdler's Wedding Defies AAU Rules, May Bar Him

NEW YORK (AP)—In defiance of the Amateur Athletic Union, Olympic gold medal winner Lee Calhoun was married Friday on the "Bride and Groom" television show to his college sweetheart, Gwendolyn Bannister.

An AAU spokesman said that the moment the 23-year-old athlete appeared on the network show he disqualified himself as an amateur.

Dan Ferris, executive secretary of the AAU, had warned Calhoun a week ago that the commercialized wedding would capitalize on his athletic fame. The couple received gifts worth an estimated $2,500, as well as an undisclosed amount of traveler's checks and plane tickets for a Paris honeymoon.

The AAU has strict rules against appearances on commercialized TV and radio programs.

There was one surprise when the Olympic Games 110-yard high hurdle champion's father, the Rev. Carey Calhoun of the Evening Star Baptist Church, Gary, Ind., married the couple.

NCAA, Big 10 Say Law, Order Reign In College Athletics

CHICAGO (AP)—The chief officers of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. and the Big Ten, in reports to the Nation's football writers, agreed Friday that law and order prevail in the college athletic ranks despite a few rebels.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA and Kenneth L. Tug Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, made statistical reports on their athletic codes before the annual meeting of the Football Writers Assn. of America.

Byers, pointing out that 18 cases of NCAA violation currently are being investigated, still came to the conclusion that "this program has done a tremendous job, in cooperation with the conferences, of establishing law and order in college athletic administration."

Although the Big Ten recently suspended Indiana's new football coach, Phil Dickens, for violating its controversial new financial aid program, Wilson told the writers:

"I think there definitely is a growing acceptance and approval of the plan among our people, as administrators and coaches have had a chance to see it in operation."

The Big Ten plan primarily is pegged on grants for board, room, books, tuition and fees on the basis of need. The need factor is determined by a professional survey of an interested athlete's family means.

A conference school pays the difference between the total cost and what the family presumably can afford — or the whole amount, if the survey certifies it.

The Big Ten also allows full financial aid to athletes with high academic rating. Under the new plan, each Big Ten school was allowed to extend 100 tenders of aid to prospective freshmen athletes. This covered all sports.

Wilson reported that, as of the Aug. 1 deadline for accepting tenders, 911 were extended to 776 boys with a total of 691 acceptances.

The Giants, the National Football League (NFL) champions of 1956, were 10-point favorites. In the end it was their superior team play that tipped the balance despite the performances of Brodie, Barnes, Paul Hornung of Notre Dame, Jim Brown of Syracuse and Jon Arnett of Southern California.

John Matske of Michigan State played a strong game for the All-Stars at center.

The All-Stars scored at the outset after Alex Webster of the Giants fumbled and Wayne Bock of Illinois recovered on the All-Star 45. Barnes carried over from the 2 after Brodie passed to Ron Kramer of Michigan for 10 and to Arnett for 11. Abe Woodson of Illinois scampered around left end for 18 to highlight the drive.

The Giants' first score came at the end of the first period when Agajanian kicked a field goal from 33 yards away. Barnes presented the Giants with the opportunity when he fumbled and Charley Toogood recovered on the All-Stars 25.

There was a two-minute delay in the game when the New York Giants deliberated over a choice of penalties against the All-Stars.

While it appeared to the national TV audience the officials were stymied by an All-Star offside and clipping infraction on the same play in the third period, the delay was in the Giants' decision.

The Giants, who had the ball on their 21 when they punted decided to take a clipping penalty instead of the offside. On the play, the punt return by Clarence Peaks of Michigan State close to midfield was marched back to the All-Star 33 yard line.

The Giants showed real power in the second period. The NFL champions moved 88 yards in only five plays. One of these was a 33-yard pass from Conerly to Webster. Then Conerly passed to Ken MacAfee who caught the ball on the All-Stars' 25 and ran for the touchdown. The play was good for 38 yards.

The All-Stars came back after the Giants took a 10-6 lead in the second period. The collegians swept from their 15 to the Giants' 7 in 10 plays.

Then Cothren of Mississippi kicked a field goal from the 7.

A ruling that Peaks of Michigan State interfered with one of Conerly's passes intended for Frank Gifford paved the way for the Giants touchdown in the third period. This gave the ball to the Giants on the All-Stars' 15 and Conerly promptly passed to MacAfee who was all alone in the end zone.
