Gov. Faubus Accepts Summons Deadlock May Be Broken Without Force

The first great obstacle in the week-long showdown between Gov. Orval E. Faubus and the U.S. Government over integration at the Little Rock, Ark., Central High School was overcome Tuesday when the Governor accepted a summons to appear in federal court Sept. 20.

U.S. Marshal Beal Kidd handed the summons to Faubus on the lawn in front of the heavily-guarded executive mansion at Little Rock.

Gov. Faubus' acceptance of the summons in a quietly dramatic scene indicated that his use of state militia to thwart a Federal court order might be settled legally without resort to force.

It was the first break in a week of legal maneuvering designed to resolve the stubborn issue, a week highlighted by the Governor's de-

Two previous cases of armed resistance to Federal authority by states may provide precedents for the Faubus case. This background story will be found on Page 2.

Kasper Arrested in Nashville For 'Inflammatory' Speeches

Police Also Hold 7 in Dynamiting

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A block buster dynamite explosion smashed a newly integrated grammar school — empty at the time — early Tuesday as racial tension continued to mount beneath an ironclad police clamp-down on segregation demonstrations.

Two SUI Seniors Given Scholarships

Two seniors at SUI have been named to receive $325 Western Electric Scholarships for the coming academic year, according to Helen Reich, chairman of the University Scholarship Committee.

Curtis Le Roy Marsh, Collins senior in engineering, has been awarded the Western Electric Scholarship in Engineering, which is being given for the second time by Western Electric Co. of Chicago.

Paul C. Krapfl, Harpers Ferry senior in commerce, will receive the scholarship in commerce being given for the first time by Western Electric.

A total of 24 persons had been arrested by early evening.

Among them was segregationist John Kasper who was taken into custody in City sought to make bond for some of his followers. Almost simultaneously with Kasper's dramatic arrest an admitted irritant to mounting tension was provided by the report that a Negro had raped a white businesswoman in her store in suburban Madison.

Police said Kasper was arrested on charges based on inflammatory statements he made at a series of segregation rallies, the last of which he conducted from the State Capitol steps Monday night.

Picked up on orders of police chief Douglas E. Hosse, he was charged with disorderly and offensive conduct, vagrancy and loitering. G. H. Aikens, whom police identified as Kasper's body guard, also was charged with vagrancy and loitering.

Police held demonstrators a block away from the six racially mixed schools as they opened to sharply slashed over-all attendance at Tuesday's half day session.

All-day sessions begin Wednesday.

Seven of those arrested were held for questioning in the expert dynamiting of the half-million-dollar Hattie Cotton school.

Three were arrested when they refused to move from the vicinity of one of the schools.

Two others were arrested shortly afterward.

Two teen-agers were arrested Tuesday afternoon in a car answering the description of one reported seen speeding away from the scene of the blast Tuesday morning.

Officers said dynamite detonating wire was found in the trunk of the car and in the homes of some of the others arrested.

The first three arrested, whose car was reported to have contained a detonating device, were held under

Guardsman Summoned

GRIMFACED LT. COL. MARIONA JOHNSON, left, troop commander of the Arkansas National Guard deployed at Central High School, takes a summons served by Deputy U.S. Marshall Bob Powell, right. A like summons was served to Gov. Orval Faubus, ordering him to appear at U.S. District Court Sept. 20 for a hearing on an injunction restraining him from interference with integration at the school.

As to what happens next: "We'll have to wait and see," Hagerty said.

His remarks indicated the administration expects a long court battle over the Supreme Court decision banning segregation in public schools.

In the meantime, it appeared that it plans to leave preservation of law and order to local authorities reinforced by the federal courts.

What kind of backing Eisenhower will give to federal court decisions has not been indicated.

He said he cannot conceive a situation in which he would call out federal troops — that he believes public opinion would make such a step unnecessary.

Of the dynamiting of a Nashville school in which a Negro girl had been enrolled, Hagerty gave this summary of Eisenhower's stand:

"His reaction is the same as the reaction of anyone. He thought it was a terrible thing."

Hagerty said Atty. Gen. Brownell has informed the President action already has been taken at Nashville — that a federal judge has called in the U.S. attorney and the FBI.

The press secretary said he did not know the nature of the Nashville conference.

Eisenhower talked with Brownell by telephone shortly after returning to the Newport Naval Base today from the country club where he played 18 holes of golf, Hagerty said.

Eisenhower kept in touch with the integration crisis even while golfing.

A mobile radio system was ready to receive messages from Brownell and other officials.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson indicated Tuesday he believes the United States could have a reliable intermediate range ballistic missile ready for production within a year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Tuesday that President Eisenhower regards the Nashville school dynamiting as a terrible thing.

But the President, his chief spokesman said, intends to leave the solution of school integration disorders to legal procedures.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, asked about the situation in Little Rock, Ark., where troops have been called out to stop Negro pupils from entering a school, noted the matter is in the hands of a Federal court.

As to what happens next: "We'll have to wait and see," Hagerty said.

cision to stand fast and President Eisenhower's statement he would do all in his power to uphold the U.S. Constitution.

The Sept. 20 hearing will be on the Federal Government's plea for a preliminary injunction against Faubus and two subordinates, State Adj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger and Lt. Col. Mariona E. Johnson, head of the detachment of state militia now on duty at the high school.

The preliminary injunction calls on them to stop interfering with a Federal court order to enroll Negroes in the school.

The Arkansas National Guardsmen stationed in front of Central High School will remain on duty until the hearing, Faubus told a press conference Tuesday.

He added that the Guard force — reduced from 200 to about 100 — would continue to prevent Negroes from enrolling.

He said he cut the number of Guardsmen because tensions have lessened.

Areas around Central High and North Little Rock High were relatively quiet Tuesday but violence and threats of violence came thick and fast in some other Southern states.

At Birmingham's Phillips High School, 1,850 white pupils were evacuated after police and school officials reported receiving an anonymous phone call from a woman that a bomb planted in the building would explode at 10:59 a.m. There was no explosion.

At Montgomery, Alabama, Gov. James E. Folsom said National Guard troops would be used to stop further racial violence only as a "last resort."

At another point in his press conference Folsom said that the "last time" Guardsmen were called out to defy a federal court order "it brought on the Civil War."

He added, "I'm personally opposed to the Civil War."

Soviets Accuse Turkey of Using Troops as 'U.S. Tool'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Soviet Government accused Turkey Tuesday night of massing troops along Syria's frontier as a tool of the United States.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko leveled the charge at a Moscow news conference.

He warned that Syria has friends. "The Soviet Union cannot remain aloof" when Western imperialists wave torches of war, along our frontiers," he said.

He added that Turkey by an unwise military action might plunge "over the precipice."

There was a calm reaction in Turkey, the scene of consultations recently among the Turks, anti-Communist Arab leaders and U.S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Loy Henderson over Syria's leftist swing.

Authoritative sources in Ankara said the Turkish army usually holds frontier maneuvers at this time of year and some units may be engaged in routine exercises near the Syrian border, but these have nothing to do with the Syrian crisis.

A more abrupt response came from a Turkish source to a charge by the Soviet army newspaper Red Star that U.S. military units have landed in Turkey to support anti-Syrian moves.

"This," the Turk said, "is completely and purely imaginary."

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles expressed confidence that the Syrian situation will be settled without war.

He told a news conference that, if fighting does break out, the countries involved could deal with it without assistance by U.S. military forces.

Dulles' conciliatory statement followed a declaration by Deputy Undersecretary Robert Murphy before the annual conference of U.S. mayors in New York Monday that "it . . . would be unwise to underestimate the industrial and military power of our country, and to misinterpret our determination."

In Damascus, leftist newspapers demanded general mobilization and martial law.

Premier Sabri Assali's Cabinet met in urgent session to discuss what it calls anti-Syrian provocations by the United States. But it took no immediate action.

Fresh shooting developed on the Syrian-Israeli frontier.

The Syrian army charged that three armored cars guarding a crew of Israeli tractor plowmen in the demilitarized border zone fired on two Arab villages and killed an Arab civilian.

The Israelis said Syrian positions had shot at plowmen.

There were no Israeli casualties. Veterans of Middle East affairs consider the frontier between Syria and Israel is the pressure spot to watch in the current crisis.

They discount the possibility of armed conflict between Syria and its neighbors.

Nothing would weld together the shattered Arab front more quickly than a new crisis with Israel.

Syria insists the Soviet arms going to its leftist-led army are needed for purely defensive purposes.

The Cabinet session followed a charge by the army that five U.S. warships sailed close to the Syrian coast on Sunday and that unidentified jet fighters flew over a Syrian port on Monday.

The U.S. Navy has denied any of its ships are in those waters.

Jordan announced a hands-off policy toward Syria.

A Syrian newspaper quoted the Saudi Arabian ambassador as saying his country would join Egypt in coming to Syria's aid in any anti-Syrian aggression.

In Cairo the Egyptian newspaper Al Shaab charged the United States has been overcome by a fit of madness that is leading to an attack on Syria.

Syria insists that a control of its armed forces by Leftist officers and the signing of trade and aid agreements with the Soviet Union do not mean this country has turned Communist.

The trade agreements brought Soviet technicians to Syria. But Col. Abdul Hamid Seraj, top-level intelligence officer in the Syrian army, told an Iraq newspaper all but 20 of the Iraq experts have gone home.

A $2,500 grant from the Borden Company Foundation will be used to continue undergraduate research awards in medicine. An annual award of $500 is made to a senior who has done meritorious research during his medical training.

A gift of $100 was accepted through the National Fund for Medical Education from Dr. Alex C. Zarchy, Long Island, N.Y., a 1938 medical graduate of SUI. The gift will be used for general purposes by the College of Medicine.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS
A grant of $400 from Schlegel Drug Stores, Davenport, will provide two tuition scholarships in pharmacy. They have been awarded for the coming year to Jeanette Kiser, Iowa City sophomore, and Allan Lee, Kelly, Mason City junior. This is the tenth year the scholarships have been given.

The Osco Drug Co. of Chicago presented $660 to the SUI College of Pharmacy for three tuition scholarships. Named for the awards are Mary Lee Gingery, P2, Long Grove; Richard Lee Watkins, P2, Anamosa; and Dorothy L. Campbell, P2, DeWitt. The grants are renewable if the student maintains a 2.3 grade average. Miss Campbell will be receiving an Osco tuition scholarship for the second time.

A gift of $2,000 from the Kiwanis Club of Iowa City will be used to establish the Iowa City Kiwanis Club Student Loan Fund. The fund will be administered by the University Scholarship Committee, with interest on loans made from the fund to be added to the principal.

Atomic Power No 'Football'—Loveless

DES MOINES (AP) — Democratic Gov. Herschel Loveless and the Republican Iowa Commerce Commission apparently were agreed Tuesday on one thing respecting use of atomic energy: It shouldn't become a political football.

Their statements were prompted by a commission announcement of partial membership of a committee to study the impact on Iowa of electric power produced by atomic energy.

The Governor, who said he had intended to name a similar group, indicated a belief that the commission has sought to beat him to the draw.

"This is a rather important thing to start playing politics with," he commented.

Commission Chairman John Ropes, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, said when informed of Loveless' statement:

"We think he realizes the importance of this matter and has determined it is too important to make a political football out of it.

We certainly do not have that in mind and we are sure the Governor doesn't either.

"The utility companies wouldn't relish the thought of having a study as important as this become involved in politics.

We are sure the Governor's intentions and ours are in good faith, and that he will cooperate with the commission committee."

Ropes said the commission "will be happy to receive any suggestions the Governor may have, and to appoint other members to the committee that he might have in mind."

NEW YORK (AP) — A new high strength stainless steel for missiles and airplanes was announced Tuesday by Armo Steel Corp.

The company said the new steel "will permit future aircraft and missiles to streak across the sky faster than rifle bullets without suffering damage due to intense air friction heat."

The new steel was designated by Armo as "PH 15-7."

The PH stands for precipitation hardening while the rest of the identification means 15 per cent chromium, 7 per cent nickel and a small percentage of molybdenum.

Armo said planes using PH 15-7 MO will be able to fly in air friction heat of 1,000 degrees, hitting speeds of 2,720 miles an hour or four times the speed of sound.

The unofficial speed record holder, the experimental X2 rocket plane, encountered heat of 700 degrees at 2,260 miles an hour.

As planes fly faster, heat from air friction robs aircraft materials of their strength.

Board of Regents Accepts—

$104,000 In Grants And Awards For SUI

The finance committee of the State Board of Regents accepted $104,345 in gifts and grants recently for SUI, President Virgil M. Hancher announced.

Largest sums were given by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (USDHEW), the American Cancer Society and the Iowa Heart Association.

NURSING GRANTS
The SUI College of Nursing received two grants from the USDHEW — $53,735 to provide for preparation of nurses in the psychiatric area, and $15,000 to be used in integrating psychiatric nursing concepts into medical, surgical, pediatric and obstetrical nursing.

Psychiatric Nursing, the larger grant will provide additional funds for faculty members in the department. The sum is the terminal grant of a series which have supported training in psychiatric nursing at the undergraduate level. Courses in interpersonal relations in nursing for nurses in the general areas as well as for those in psychiatric nursing are included in the training.

The smaller USDHEW grant to the College of Nursing will provide salaries for nursing faculty members with special training in psychiatric nursing.

MEDICAL GRANTS
A total of $20,550 was accepted from the American Cancer Society (ACS) to support research projects in SUI's College of Medicine. The largest grant, $16,050, will be allocated by the College of Medicine for specific cancer research projects.

Dr. J. M. Layton, Associate Professor of Pathology, will use a $2,500 grant from ACS to make a detailed study of cell changes associated with the growth cycles of virus grown in the cells of tissue cultures.

A $2,000 ACS grant was made to Dr. E. D. Warner, Professor and Head of the Department of Pathology, to study the toxic effects of lathyrus peas and related compounds on tissue development and maturation.

Research on the toxic principle of the pea has been undertaken by the scientists in several departments at SUI in recent years. The

Hungary Issue Alive

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge appealed to the United Nations Tuesday to keep alive the issue of Hungary's freedom.

He declared this provides the only hope for reversing "the present grim course of events in that country."

In a 52-minute speech at the opening of the General Assembly meeting, Lodge lashed out at the Soviet Union for using military force to crush the Hungarian revolution.

Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev countered Lodge's statements with charges that "reactionary circles of the United States" were creating a stir over the Hungarian situation in order elsewhere.

He denounced the report of the U.N. inquiry committee as a "false and slanderous concoction."

Lodge urged the 81-nation Assembly to approve a resolution sponsored by 38 of its members which nominates Prince Wan Waihayaken of Thailand as a special representative to pursue U.N. objectives on Hungary.

Curtain Time ... Again!

Conferees Discuss— Credit, Finance, Inflation

For each dollar's worth of merchandise being bought on credit today, there will be three dollars' worth bought by 1975, according to Robert M. Soldofsky, Assistant Professor in the SUI College of Commerce.

Soldofsky made the estimate in a talk at a Conference on Installment Lending Tuesday at the SUI Center for Continuation Study. The two-day meeting was sponsored by the Iowa Bankers Association and the SUI College of Commerce.

If prosperity continues with only normal adjustments necessary, the volume of consumer installment credit will probably be 60 to 100 per cent higher by 1965 than it is today, Soldofsky predicted. He then projected this figure to the 1975 level.

Installment payments are largest in proportion to income in families where the head is between 25 and 34 years of age, the SUI speaker said. Families with children under six years of age have by far the heaviest proportion of payments. The growth of personal income is one major reason why consumer installment credit has grown so rapidly since the 1920's, Soldofsky said. But consumer installment credit has grown from less than four per cent of disposable personal income in 1929 to nearly 11 per cent at the end of 1956. This large increase in buying on credit is seen by some people as a "symptom of progressive moral degeneration," he added.

Soldofsky said the major causes of this increase include the expansion of consumer spending for automobiles and other durable goods, lower down payments and longer periods in which to pay, and development and expansion of specialized consumer lending facilities.

This widespread ownership of consumer durables is evidence of our high plane of living and one important reason for the growth of the demand for consumer durables, he explained.

Peters, married and the father of two daughters, did custom work chopping corn on farms.

In Two Previous Cases Of— State Resistance To Federal Authority

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON — Texas set neighboring Arkansas an example for armed resistance to Federal authority in the turbulent "hot oil" days a quarter century ago. So did Pennsylvania, a thousand miles and a century and a half away.

Texas and Pennsylvania couldn't win. They gave way before the power of the U.S. Supreme Court. Their defeats may be additional precedents for Gov. Orval E. Faubus and his use of the Arkansas National Guard to try to prevent racial integration in a Little Rock high school.

There have been other instances in which states used their military forces to defy the Federal Government or some of its agencies. But the Pennsylvania one brought the first big showdown on the respective power of Federal and state courts. In the Texas case the Supreme Court gave one of its most positive, clear-cut opinions on use of troops to balk a Federal court.

THE TEXAS CASE

The Texas case had its origin in 1931, in the depression days when "hot oil" was being produced in disregard of national and state efforts to hold down output.

A U.S. court enjoined application of an administrative order restricting production.

Gov. Ross S. Sterling proclaimed martial law in several Texas counties which he said were in "a state of insurrection, tumult, riot, and a breach of the peace" because some oil men were engaged in reckless, wasteful production in violation of the state conservation law.

The governor directed Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Walters of the Texas National Guard to take command of the situation and to take steps to uphold the law in accordance with orders from the governor relayed through State Adjutant Gen. W. W. Sterling.

All the wells in the area were

Project Halted After Warning From Erbe

MASON CITY — Work on a controversial Rockwell-Swaledale road project being carried out by the Cerro Gordo County board of supervisors halted abruptly Tuesday after a warning from Atty. Gen. Norman Erbe.

Erbe sent telegrams to members of the board, the county engineer and the county auditor. He said the project procedure is in violation of state law, and that additional work would subject the supervisors to liability on their bonds.

IMMEDIATELY ON receipt of the telegrams, the board ordered the project foreman to stop the work. Involved is a crushed stone base and "stage blacktop" improvement of 9.5 miles between the two towns.

In question is whether the county is conforming to specifications it set when it took bids last July. The board rejected the bids, and started its own project with day labor.

The Iowa Highway Commission asked Erbe to investigate the procedure.

Erbe's telegrams called attention to a law saying that if any supervisor doesn't perform his duties as he should, he is subject to a $100 forfeiture for each offense.

The telegrams listed several points concerned with the project which the attorney general said were in violation of the law. One was that the supervisors failed to see to good faith performance of the work in accordance with specifications.

ANOTHER WAS failure to have work claims sworn to by the claimant and audited and approved by the board.

R. D. Robbins, a board member, said Erbe had never discussed the project with the supervisors and didn't understand their position.

Robbins said further the board had been proceeding under a law which permits a board to carry out a project with day labor if the cost would be less than $5,000. He said the board hoped to do the work for less than $5,000 a mile, and make each mile a separate project.

The board had been told by the county attorney that this procedure probably would be regarded as a subterfuge.

Boundary Group Asks Ruling Is County Vote Needed To Change State Line?

OMAHA — The first official act of the joint Nebraska-Iowa boundary commission Tuesday was to ask a legal ruling from attorney generals of both states to determine if a vote of the people of the various counties involved be needed to change state boundaries.

Iowa State Sen. D. C. Nolan (R-Iowa City) said Iowa has such a constitutional provision but he did not know if it meant between counties within the state and did not govern state line counties.

Nebraska members were not sure whether Nebraska had election provisions on county boundary changes.

The commission named Sen. Frank Hoxie, Shenandoah, Republican, as permanent chairman; Roy Towl of Omaha, secretary, and Louis Pentz, Omaha, vice chairman.

They also decided to include information from the Corps of Engineers in their agenda and adopted basic rules of procedure.

At the suggestion of Reed O'Hanlon Sr., Blair, Neb., attorney and commission member, the group stressed the importance of keeping in mind Engineers' stabilization plans for the Missouri River north of Blair.

"It is logical and orderly," O'Hanlon said, "that when the river is finally stabilized all the land to the east would be Iowa and all the land to the west, Nebraska. That is a broad general target."

The commission will meet again here Sept. 20.

Their findings and recommendations are scheduled for Iowa and Nebraska legislative action in 1959.

Dulles Wants Red Chinese Admitted To U.S. Olympics

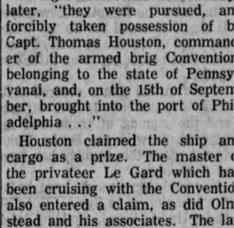

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Tuesday he hopes to find a way to admit Red Chinese athletes to the United States for the 1960 Winter Olympics in California.

He told a news conference the Eisenhower Administration is trying very hard to abide by the Olympic Games concept that there be no discrimination against nations because of race, religion or politics.

Dulles commented on the problem when asked what he thought of the view of Sen. Butler (R-Md.) that the Chinese Red athletes should be barred from Olympic competition.

Butler wrote Dulles urging that the Reds be ruled out on grounds their participation "would be used as a potent propaganda weapon" and be inconsistent with American policy of denying American recognition to the Peiping regime.

The United Nations— Focusing World Opinion On Russia And Hungary

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

The United Nations, having achieved considerable success by sending an ambassador to Israel and Egypt during the Suez crisis, is now considering a similar attempt in behalf of Hungary.

This formula for direct diplomatic negotiations in behalf of the U.N., instead of leaving them to be conducted by individual nations which may have special interests, represents a new concept in international affairs which may be far-reaching.

Russia has proved herself sensitive to world opinion on several occasions, though she has been amenable in few. She bowed in the case of Iran, but never when she considered a vital interest affected. She considers Hungary vital both as a military and political buffer.

Russia is making a great play for the support of nations which are not committed or not directly involved in the cold war. If these countries show themselves sufficiently aroused, the Russians will not leave Hungary, but they might ameliorate conditions.

The Hungarian people under their puppet regime are in much the same position as a woman being beaten by her husband. The world watching through the windows would like to intervene. But how?

The U.N. ambassador idea is one way, plus the general expression of public opinion which this special session of the General Assembly will bring out.

There is talk at the U.N., but no concrete movement, for some direct follow-up on the investigating committee report. A part of this report, and of the United States presentation of the case on opening day, holds that the Kadar Government of Hungary is not only non-representative but illegal.

That opens the door for Assembly refusal to accept the credentials of the Hungarian delegation when the regular session opens.

This would be a slap at the Communists, but it would in one way be an evasion since it is Russia, not the Kadar regime, which is primarily responsible for the reign of terror in Hungary.

The general attitude at the U.N. has been that it is better to keep contact under almost any circumstances.

For instance, Foreign Minister Horvath of Hungary is expected for the General Assembly's regular session. He can learn a very great deal about free world attitudes during such an experience which might never be conveyed to him otherwise.

New Fiction Writers Get Opportunity To Be Published Authors

NEW YORK — Charles Scribner's Sons announced here this week the forthcoming publication of a series of volumes devoted to short fiction by new American writers.

The series is being planned along the lines of Scribner's POETS OF TODAY, the fourth annual volume of which is scheduled for publication on August 16.

The announcement, made to colleges and the trade, was as follows: "Encouraged by the reception given to the POETS OF TODAY series, Charles Scribner's Sons is planning to publish in the fall of 1958 the first of a series devoted to the short fiction of new American writers.

The volume, entitled SHORT STORY I, will include stories which represent the best work of no fewer than two and no more than four authors who are as yet unpublished in book form.

"The series will fill a need in the trade publishing field for a means by which talented writers can be brought, early in their careers, to the attention of the reading public.

"Scribner's will welcome manuscripts of stories or novelettes for the first volume at any time up to January 1, 1958. In order to be representative of a writer's work, each manuscript should total between 80 and 200 pages.

Material to be considered for SHORT STORY I and succeeding volumes should be sent directly to Perry Knowlton, Charles Scribner's Sons, 507 Fifth Avenue, New York, 17, New York."

School Blast—

Arms Charges Made

A NEGRO MINISTER is searched by two policemen after he was told the Rev. Edward W. Jackson brandished a pistol in the face of a mob of segregationists as he escorted a Negro to school in Nashville, Tenn. The Rev. Mr. Jackson said he carried the pistol for other reasons and would not have used it in the school.

Federal Judge Davies Called Human Dynamo

FARGO, N.D. — Friends of federal Judge Ronald N. Davies, who ordered racial integration in Little Rock, Ark., Central High School, sometimes call him a "human dynamo."

To his wife and five children, the 5-foot-1 jurist is a "big man around the house."

Lawyers who know the 52-year-old judge say he is a rapid-fire conversationalist, but slow and deliberate on the bench.

"He's a real family man who can talk to children on their level," Mrs. Davies said of her husband, who is filling a temporary vacancy at Little Rock.

Not the type to putter around the house and yard, Judge Davies prefers to spend his free time with the children reading and listening to records — especially folk music.

"He has a passion for bridge and will stay up all night if the others are willing to go on playing," Mrs. Davies said. The judge will be "very disappointed" if he must miss the weddings of a son and daughter this month.

Judge Davies held only minor elective offices during his career. In 1932 he managed the campaign of Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) in Langer's successful bid for governor of North Dakota.

The two had a falling out later and Langer once referred to Davies as "Little Sir Echo." The rift later healed and Davies had the support of Langer for his appointment to the Federal bench.

Davies was born in Crookston, Minn., and received his early education at Fargo and Grand Forks, N. D. He was graduated from the University of North Dakota in 1927 and received his law degree from Georgetown University in Washington three years later.

He practiced law in Grand Forks from 1930 until his Federal judge appointment in August 1955. He entered the Army as a first lieutenant in 1942 and reached the rank of lieutenant colonel before leaving the service in 1946.

Hoffa refused to comment, saying he was bound to silence by the committee. He admitted he intended to talk at once with Dave Beck, whom he hopes to succeed in the $50,000 job as head of the 2½ million member Teamsters Union.

A moment after Hoffa left the meeting room a committeeman stepped out and said, "where did our president go?"

Without hesitation the man guarding the door replied: "Mr. Hoffa went that way."

Haggerty, first to be called before the committee, refused to detail the questions asked him by the group but said he was "very encouraged." Hickey said he stressed to the committee what he regarded as the main issue: "Whether we are going to stay inside the AFL-CIO or put ourselves in a position where we get kicked out of the organized labor movement."

THREE NEGRO boys were pushed down the steps at North Little Rock High School Monday after making an attempt to enter the school. The three were part of a group of six who later made another attempt to enter the school only to be repelled again by white students and loitering adults. These first signs of the violent nature of the white citizens in the south in regard to integration of schools were a preface to developments Tuesday one of which was the bombing of a school.

Soviet Double Talk Proves Confusing for Red Satellites

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

Torrents of double talk from Russia's current rulers have thrown Moscow's satellite empire into high confusion.

A picture emerges of Nikita Khrushchev intent on reasserting total Soviet domination over Europe's Communist nations while he tries to avoid the label of latter-day Stalin.

ONCE AGAIN the dreary echoes of the Kremlin reverberate through the empire. Communist rulers, playing safe, ape the masters' lead. Romania, Bulgaria and Albania dutifully purge their own "anti-party" groups.

East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary all hail the Moscow purge as another infallible revelation from on high.

For maverick Communists in Poland, discouragement sets in. They had seen in the Kremlin purge of V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and others a prospect of relaxed Moscow pressure.

Hope began to fade in confusion as Khrushchev launched into ambiguous descriptions of the shape of things to come. At one and the same time Khrushchev:

Condemned and condemned Titoism.
Blessed an independent course, and warned there could be no independence from Moscow.

Laid down a policy of more bread and meat — and declared there would be no retreat from the policy which prevented abundance for consumers.

Thus, a year of shock for the satellites is climaxed by a spectacle of Soviet leadership trying to go in all directions at once.

KHRUSHCHEV BEGAN to apply cement to the cracks in the empire by visiting Czechoslovakia, whose regime has the least difficulties. Apparently the most docile of the satellites, Czechoslovakia offered the best platform from which Khrushchev could speak of Communist success without looking too ridiculous.

But the rest of the empire was a sorry picture. Khrushchev's attitude to Yugoslavia, a key to the whole satellite puzzle, points up the raging confusion. Only recently Tito was being accused by the Russians of "revisionism" — a turning away from the path illuminated by Moscow. Tito publicly showed his annoyance.

When the Kremlin purge was announced July 3, to the obvious surprise of the Yugoslavs, Belgrade hailed it as a sign of a resolute stand against the "political practices of the Stalin era" which caused the 1948 break.

But Khrushchev then said while there were "various roads to socialism," there is only one socialism — the Soviet kind. He sneered at Yugoslavia's acceptance of aid from capitalist countries. He frowned on developments such as Yugoslavia's worker councils which have some voice in industrial management. He condemned "liberalism and gradualism," which might be applied to Yugoslav peasant policies. Yugoslav peasants detest collectivization.

All this must have been a shock for Poland's Communists under Wladyslaw Gombulka. Attempting to find their own way, they had copied some of Tito's ideas.

Khrushchev's pronouncements seemed likely to induce a sort of paralysis in the satellite nations while leaders waited to see which way the ball might bounce. The satellites, meanwhile, presented this melancholy picture:

POLAND — Gombulka recently admitted the shocks to the Communist world, beginning with Poznan's bread and freedom riots a year ago and continuing beyond the Hungarian uprising, had seriously weakened Poland's Communist structure, brought ideological chaos and created mutually opposed groups. He described the party as a "convalescent after grave illness." The internal stresses forced him to condemn "revisionism" because of dangers involved in denying Soviet domination.

Economic woe and political confusion grip Poland. There even erupted a series of strikes, hitherto unheard of under Red rule. Gombulka's regime has tried to set up worker councils to ease industrial unrest, though making sure the Communist party would dominate such groups.

Fearful of the Hungarian revolt's long-term effects in Poland, Gombulka echoed Tito in calling the Soviet armed intervention "unavoidable."

But Gombulka criticized Moscow's "harmful practice" of putting too much stress on heavy industry, which he said had had results in Poland.

Hungary — the wave of arrests stemming from the revolution continues, along with a harsh drive against "economic crimes." Almost any offense now can bring the death penalty.

Hungary's puppet rulers saw in the Soviet changes a sign they could not relax the "struggle against revisionism." This meant continued total subservience to Moscow.

The Hungarian farm situation remained serious. Hundreds of thousands of farmers have quit the villages to seek work in the cities. Hungary continues to deport to Russia "troublesome persons." Show trials of revolution leader are in the offing.

East Germany — The Soviet shakeup was a political shock. Stalinists who rule East Germany jumped for the Khrushchev bandwagon, but a purge seemed unlikely for a while.

POPULAR UNREST continues, particularly among younger people who are escaping into West Germany at a high rate.

Czechoslovakia — best off economically of the satellites, and most orthodox of Moscow's viewpoint, the Czechs, too, have many troubles. For example, they admit heavy harvest losses last year. But Czechoslovakia is an important industrial supplier of the Communist orbit, and equally important in Soviet foreign policy. The shipments of arms and industrial goods to the Middle East is a prime example.

There is some ferment in intellectual circles, but it is negligible in comparison with that in Poland and Hungary. In contrast with other Red-ruled lands, there is an abundance of consumer goods.

Romania the Communist regime staged its own copy of the Soviet purge and in faithful compliance, held the same farcical meetings against these purges. The country seems apathetic. But the regime takes no chances. It is concerned by an influx of unorthodox ideas.

Romanian Reds were warned there must be complete acceptance of Moscow.

Bulgaria — most Sovietized of the satellites, Bulgaria probably is the shabbiest, too. Its regime admits to many tens of thousands of unemployed. Almost daily come announcements that young workers are being deported to work in the Soviet Union. Soviet orders for Bulgarian goods remain largely unfulfilled.

Milwaukee Wins Tight One Over Pittsburgh 4-3

BRILLIANT FOR BRAVES - By Alan Maver

Spahn and Turley, Possible Series Foes Lead Majors with Earned Run Averages

NEW YORK (AP)—Southpaw Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves and righthander Bob Turley of the New York Yankees, who quite possibly may be the opposing pitchers in the opening game of the world series next month, lead the major leagues in the earned run ratings Tuesday.

Spahn, who won the National League championship in 1947 with a 2.33 ERA and in 1953 with 2.10, again heads his circuit with a 2.75 mark. Spahn has won 19 games and lost 8 this season. Turley tops the American League with an earned run rate

Irish Working Up For Purdue Tilt

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Stagg never feared Purdue as much as Notre Dame's re-arming football team does. A visit to the Irish campus gives the distinct impression that the Boilermaker opener Sept. 23 may make or break Notre Dame's chances of recapturing past gridiron glory.

University of Florida Versus U.C.L.A. Grid Scramble Called Off

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Sept. 20 football game between the University of Florida and the University of California at Los Angeles has been canceled because of an influenza epidemic among the Florida players. The game was scheduled for Los Angeles.

Bob Woodruff, Florida head coach and athletic director, said Tuesday he and UCLA Athletic Director Wilbur Johns are considering rescheduling the game at the end of the season.

The decision to cancel came as a result of medical advice that many Florida players will not be able to play. Some 65 freshmen and varsity players on the Florida team have come down with the disease since the squad assembled Aug. 30.

Eight have been admitted to the infirmary as late as Sunday and four more Monday.

Woodruff said he and the team physician, W. W. McChesney, met with President J. Wayne Reitz of the university and the faculty chairman of athletics, Phil Constans, about the problem and it was their unanimous opinion the game should be canceled.

UCLA, in the Pacific Coast Conference, winds up its schedule here against the University of Southern California Nov. 23. Florida, in the Southeastern Conference, meets Miami Nov. 30.

Victory Goes To Burdette; His Fifteenth

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Henry Aaron and Eddie Mathews clouted consecutive homers in the fourth inning Tuesday night as the league-leading Milwaukee Braves grabbed a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The homers, Aaron's 40th and Mathews' 31st of the season, gave the Braves a 1957 total of 182, tying the team's all-time record for home runs in a single season. The record was set in 1955.

Mathews also singled home the Braves' fourth run in the seventh inning and opened the scoring in the first when he doubled and came home on a single by Wes Covington.

The timely hitting saved the victory for righthander Lew Burdette who gave 12 hits as he went the route after four successive failures to finish a starting assignment. The Pirates bunched five hits in the second inning in which they scored two of their runs. They got their final run in the eighth.

Burdette, who struck out three and issued no walks, took his 15th victory of the season against eight losses.

The defeat was charged to starter Whammy Douglas, who gave up four hits in 3 1/3 innings and suffered his third defeat against two victories.

Reds 4, Giants 1

CINCINNATI (AP)—The three-hit pitching of Brooks Lawrence and a two-run homer by rookie Joe Taylor Tuesday night helped the Cincinnati Reds to a 4-1 victory over New York's Giants.

Lawrence, notching his 14th triumph against 11 losses, went all the way for the Reds, walking four Giants and fanning two. It was the final appearance of the Giants at Crosley Field this year.

Johnny Antonelli, the crafty Cincinnati southpaw, held the Reds to two scattered hits until the sixth inning.

Then Johnny Temple drew a walk and Taylor, brought up from the Reds' Seattle farm club earlier this season, whacked his second homer of the year over the left field wall.

Cards 4, Phillies 3

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ken Boyer cracked a single with the bases loaded and none out in the 14th inning and St. Louis edged Philadelphia and Robin Roberts, 4-3, Tuesday night to stay 5 1/2 games shy of first-place Milwaukee.

Lindy McDaniel, the fourth and winning pitcher opened the inning with a single. Joe Cunningham followed with another single and took second on the throw from the outfield to third base.

Ed Miksis was intentionally passed to load them up — a maneuver Roberts had used successfully in the 12th and 13th — but Boyer saddled Roberts with his 20th defeat against 9 wins.

Forty players were used in the marathon that ended one minute shy of four hours.

Cubs 9, Burns 2

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Banks hammered a pair of homers, good for four runs, to fuse a 13-hit Chicago Cub attack Tuesday that overwhelmed the third-place Brooklyn Dodgers 9-2.

The Cubs scored three-run clusters in the first, third and sixth innings while pounding four Dodger pitchers and backing rookie Dick Drott to a 14-11 season record. The righthander yielded seven hits and struck out four batters.

Dale Long's two-run double keyed a first-inning blast of three hits and a walk that spelled the end of starter Sandy Koufax.

Banks slammed his 35th homer to lead off the third. Bobby Morgan made it another big inning with a two-run homer.

In the sixth Lee Walls and Walt Moryn singled. Then Banks hit his 36th homer.

Patton Upset Victim In U.S. Golf Tourney

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Ward Wetlaufer, a chubbly collegian from Williamsville, N. Y., sank a 20-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole and then outscrambled Billy Joe Patton for an upset extra-hole victory Tuesday in the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tourney.

In a stirring climax to a long succession of 62 matches, the 21-year-old senior from Hamilton College eliminated Patton, who had been picked to succeed the ineligible Harvie Ward Jr. of San Francisco as America's champion.

One down going to the 410-yard 18th, Wetlaufer sent his second shot to the fringe of the green, leaving him a tricky side-hill putt. Patton punched his shot to 12 feet of the cup.

The match looked over at this point. But Wetlaufer snaked in the difficult putt. Taut and serious, Patton puffed, but missed.

On the 335-yard 19th, Wetlaufer hooked his drive into the rough at the left and Patton, who has a disposition for such things, sliced his tee shot onto a mound of hard ground and gravel under a bunch of trees.

He had a shot for the green but his wedge sent the ball into an embankment and it took him three to reach the green, eight feet away.

Wetlaufer's approach was to the center of the green, some 18 feet from the cup. The New York boy made a 6 for it, but the ball dribbled eight inches past.

Deadly serious, the normally wisecracking Patton measured his assignment for minutes. The ball failed to break and missed by two inches.

Earlier an Arizona dude rancher, a teetotaling whiskey salesman from New Jersey and a 17-year-old college boy had provided second day shockers for the crowd at the Country Club.

Frank Bostock, a 5-foot-5 all-around athlete from Phoenix, using a weird croquet-putting stroke, eliminated Ted Bishop of Weston, Mass., the 1944 national amateur champion, 2 up.

Robert Beirne of Riverton, N. J., a whiskey salesman who has lost 45 pounds in the last few months by eating only one meal a day and avoiding his own products, put the skids under Robert Sweeney. The dapper socialite from Palm Beach, Fla., was runner-up for this title in 1954, fell by a crushing 5 and 4 score.

The college giant-killer was 17-year-old Jack Nicklaus, an Ohio State freshman, who sank two 20-foot putts for birdies on the finishing holes to eliminate Douglas Sewell, the English Walker Cup member, 2 and 1.

The field was reduced to 64 for today's double round of elimination.

Rockefeller Joins Keep D' Bums Plot

NEW YORK (AP)—Hopes for keeping the Dodgers in Brooklyn reached a new high Tuesday with the announcement by Nelson A. Rockefeller that he has been actively engaged since early August in seeking ways and means of keeping the defending champions from moving to Los Angeles.

The announcement followed a disclosure by the Associated Press that Rockefeller had expressed an interest in the Dodgers and had offered to help the team build a stadium in downtown Brooklyn, the area desired by club President Walter O'Malley.

The keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn drive received another boost when city officials learned they could legally condemn the land desired by the Dodgers, then sell it to the club for resale as the site for a stadium. O'Malley has repeatedly said he would keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn only if he could obtain specialized land in the Flatbush and Atlantic Avenues area.

Corporation Counsel Peter Campbell Brown notified Mayor Robert F. Wagner that the city has the right to condemn the site and sell it to the ball club. It has been estimated that condemnation cost for the area would come to about $8 million.

O'Malley is expected to receive a definite answer Sept. 19 when he meets with officials of the Brooklyn Sports Center Authority.

Even before the Rockefeller announcement, Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles told the AP he had been informed that Rockefeller "is the angel" who would purchase the site for a new Dodger stadium in Brooklyn.

"If it is true that Mr. Rockefeller has entered the picture," he said, "I'm very much afraid we don't have much of a chance to get the Dodgers. Mr. Rockefeller can do what neither the city of New York nor the city of Los Angeles is in position to do. A government has limitations, you know."

Mayor Poulson added, however, he had not given up hope and would continue to try to bring the Dodgers to California.

Rockefeller in a prepared statement, said he has had several conferences with O'Malley and his associates, Commissioner of Baseball Ford Frick and National League President Warren Giles.

Hawkeye Gridders Clash in Morning Scrimmage; Injured Players Improve

Two long, hard drill sessions set off the Tuesday grid workout for the Iowa Hawks, with the morning session spent, at least in part, in closely supervised scrimmages.

The morning contact drills pitted the first and second teams against the reserves.

The passing of Randy Duncan and Gene Veit, quarterbacks, stood out as noteworthy as well as the receiving of ends Bob Prescott and Jim Gibbons.

John Noera was on hand for fullbacking duties in the scrimmage after missing most of the heavy work during the last two workouts due to an injured leg.

The first team backfield was rounded out by the presence of halfbacks Mike Hagler and Bill Gravel. Hagler performed especially well and got away for a good rambling run before the whistle sounded.

The second team backfield consisted of Veit, Fred Harris at fullback, and Bob Jeter and Raymond Jauch at the halfback spots.

Harris is showing up well considering the fact that he missed all of the first week of practice because of the illness of his son.

The rest of the morning and the afternoon session was spent in extremely hard drill. The majority of the work consisted of smoothing out plays.

During the afternoon, there was much concentration on defensive work with the Mau Mau's — the reserves — taking the offensive and the first two strings alternating on the defensive end.
