

Fraternity Integration No Problem at SUI

No Rule Forbids Limits

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following was written with the aid of information from the Big Ten News Service. A summary of racial relations at other Big Ten fraternities will be printed in a future issue.

Talks with fraternity leaders and University officials here indicate that the problem of Negro integration in SUI fraternity chapters has never come up.

Questioned were presidents of two SUI fraternity chapters whose national organization suspended chapters at Amherst College after Negroes were pledged, the present and past president of the Interfraternity Council (IFC), and Dean of Students M. L. Huit.

Presidents of the Theta Xi and Phi Gamma Delta chapters here reported that their houses had no hand in suspending the Amherst chapters.

Both national fraternities took the action this summer. Theta Xi's national convention voted the suspension in August; the Arhens, 7-member governing body of Phi Gamma Delta, disciplined its chapter in June.

Theta Xi president, Tom Strom, A3, Des Moines, said his chapter had instructed its delegate to vote against suspension, but that he failed to attend the convention.

"He got married at the time of the convention and didn't let us know about it until it was too late to send another delegate."

His chapter told its delegate to vote against suspension, Strom said. "Because we felt that the decision regarding when a chapter shall pledge should be left up to the individual chapter."

"The racial issue was not considered."

SUI's Phi Gam chapter will have a chance during its national convention next summer to vote on the Amherst matter.

"We will instruct our delegates next spring," said Dick Fuhr, A2, Washington, Ia., Phi Gam president. "I can't say how they will be told to vote. We've heard of the incident, but there's not been too much discussion of it around the house."

Regarding the over-all picture at SUI, Lloyd Courter, L2, Boone, last year's president of IFC, said, "To my knowledge, no chapters here have attempted to pledge Negroes."

"So far as I know," he continued, "we have never had any Negroes sign up for rush week."

The current IFC president, Dave Dutton, A4, Ames, said, "The IFC has made no provisions for the matter (Negro integration) at all."

Dutton, a Phi Gam, explained, "It's up to the individual houses. That's where the trouble starts and that's where it's finished."

Such a regulation figured in the affairs at Amherst. The Board of Trustees for the Massachusetts college resolved in 1946 that there be "no prohibition or restriction by reason of race, color or creed affecting the selection of members" of fraternities.

"I would assume there is no such regulation here," Dean Huit said, "because I have never heard of the Board of Regents (the governing body for SUI) making any."

Ronald W. Reskens, SUI fraternity adviser, also said he knew of no rule in effect here similar to the one at Amherst.

The "section chief" for Phi Gamma Delta at the University of Michigan reported that, until 1950, the fraternity had a clause in its constitution limiting membership to Christian caucasians.

Its constitution now judges the merits of potential members on the basis of their "compatibility to the entire fraternity," he said.

The Michigan Daily reported, however, that in a letter to the Amherst Phi Gam chapter, the Archens defined "compatibility" to be taken "not necessarily in terms of individual merit."

The "living room" concept of choosing friends was to be considered in pledging, the student newspaper said.

It quoted the Michigan fraternity official as saying under this concept, a Negro student at a Southern school probably would not be considered "compatible."

PERCHED HIGH in the clouds is the Sphinx observatory. Resting on the craggy peak of the Jungfrauoch in the Swiss Alps, the observatory is where research work is going on by eight research groups in connection with the International Geophysical Year. An additional story was added to the building, sitting atop the 11,332-foot mountain, for the work. Three groups are studying astronomy and geophysics, three cosmic rays, one the glacial features of the mountain, and one meteorology.

Warns 'Hands Off' Syria—

Saudi Arabia Blames West for 'Tension'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Saudi Arabia Wednesday blamed Western nations for Middle East tension and called for a U.N. "hands off" policy toward Syria. Ahmad Shukairy, minister of state for Saudi Arabia, told the 22-nation General Assembly "it is the policy of the West that is destroying ties with the Arabs."

He proclaimed Saudi Arabia's full solidarity with Syria and asserted shipments of Communist arms to that country is no business of the United Nations.

He called for the United Nations to establish an agency to "facilitate the repatriation of Israelis to their former homes."

He said "We do not intend to throw the Jews to the sea," but wish them "a better and happier life in their homelands, where they can settle under U.N. auspices."

Shukairy is a Palestinian Arab who represented Syria at past U.N. sessions.

He is head of the U.N. delegation for Saudi Arabia, whose King Saud is regarded by the United States as a friend in the Middle East.

A British spokesman said the speech "can hardly be regarded as a helpful contribution to the affairs of the United Nations, with particular reference to the Middle East."

A U.S. spokesman said the speech will be given careful study. Shukairy denounced as "sheer

Stop Guard Support

CONWAY, S. C. (AP) — The Board of Commissioners of Horry County Wednesday withdrew financial support of its National Guard units in protest of the use of troops to force school integration at Little Rock, Ark.

The order is effective immediately.

The board, supported by the County Legislative Delegation adopted a resolution which also withdraws the use of county facilities, including Guard armories by any branch of the Federal armed forces, including recruiting units.

The resolution puts the order into effect "until such time as the governing body of Horry County is assured by Federal authorities that the National Guard of Horry County or of South Carolina, will not be used to carry out any proclamation issued by any Federal authority for the use of troops within the borders of this county or state."

Teamsters Refute Charges

Leveled at Hoffa by AFL-CIO

Most of Challenged Delegates Seated

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Teamsters convention Wednesday night overwhelmingly repudiated corruption charges leveled at James R. Hoffa, Dave Beck and other Teamsters bosses by the AFL-CIO.

The AFL-CIO report detailing the charges, based on disclosures before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, was read to the convention. It took about two hours as delegates listened silently.

Then the delegates howled approval of a motion to expunge the AFL-CIO charges from the convention record.

This action followed a move by Jeffery Cohelan, an Oakland, Calif., delegate, to have Hoffa, Beck and others named in the AFL-CIO charges answer to them to delegates. He proposed a union investigation on the charges. This was overwhelmingly rejected.

The voting demonstrated an overwhelming number of the delegates are behind Hoffa and that his election as Teamsters president succeeding Beck was practically certain.

Cohelan's unsuccessful motion for a union probe of the corruption charges against its leaders was seconded by Thomas J. Haggerty, Chicago, one of three candidates opposing Hoffa for the Teamsters' presidency.

After the voting, Hoffa took the convention floor to make a defense of the corruption charges against him. "He had been accused by the Senate Rackets Committee of misusing union funds and using union powers for his own gain."

Earlier, the Teamsters seated the bulk of local union delegates challenged by the Senate Rackets Committee as improperly selected.

The convention okayed credentials of the delegates from about two-thirds of the locals cited by Rackets Committee Chairman John D. McClellan (D-Ark.) as having Civil War Threat, Haitians Ask For Refuge In U.S.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Alarmed by prospects of civil war, Haitians flocked to the U.S. Embassy Wednesday seeking permission to go to the United States.

Many worried Haitians openly advocated the return of U.S. Marines.

The Marines occupied this Caribbean island from 1915 to 1934 — a period of peace and relative prosperity.

This Negro republic has been rocked by political turmoil and bloodshed since December.

Six governments fell in quick succession.

The island is now under the rule of a military junta which seized power in June. This latest unrest arises from the presidential election Sept. 22.

Haiti's relations with the United States took a bad turn this week after the death of an American citizen in the hands of police.

DULLES-GROMYKO TO TALK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will meet here Saturday to discuss international problems including disarmament and the Middle East.

probably violated union rules in naming their representatives.

The action came as Hoffa cleared the decks for showdown voting, expected today for new union officers and control of the giant, scandal-scarred union.

Hoffa continued to be the leading contender to succeed Dave Beck as union president, but faced three opponents who were seeking to combine forces.

For the first time the anti-Hoffa group began proposing cleanup moves on the convention floor as demanded by the AFL-CIO.

The seating of questioned delegates was so stalled up convention business stalled.

Beck, presiding, recessed afternoon proceedings for a big Hoffa demonstration in which it appeared about two-thirds of the delegates participated wearing Hoffa buttons and paper hats.

Union lawyers, hearing new lawsuits challenging any convention decisions or election results, insisted on careful screening of qualifications of questioned delegates.

But the convention seated anyway most of the delegates questioned by McClellan.

About a score of delegates were definitely thrown out, including those from five New York "paper" locals charged by the McClellan committee as being phony union units.

Among those thus ousted were such henchmen of New York labor racketeer Johnny Dio as Harry Davidoff, Joseph Curcio, Harry Reiff and George Snyder.

While throwing out this group, delegates were seated from the Detroit home locals of Hoffa and his union sidekick and business partner, Owen Bert Brennan. Delegates from the Hoffa and Brennan home locals had been specifically challenged in McClellan committee hearings as hand-picked without consulting union members.

Beck announced some 1,600 of the nearly 1,950 delegates had been formally seated.

Hoffa put out a slate of candidates he proposed to carry into union control as vice-presidents, including five incumbents.

Included among those Hoffa proposed to dump from the union hierarchy were current Vice-Presidents William A. Lee, Chicago, and Thomas L. Hickey, New York — the three candidates opposing Hoffa for the presidency.

None of the three has been involved in the union's scandals.

Miami Taxi Drivers Strike Teamsters

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Non-union Miami Beach taxi drivers pulled a strike on Teamsters Union convention delegates Wednesday.

This resort has a number of cab companies, but only one is unionized — by the Teamsters.

The nonunion cab drivers balked at hacking for Teamsters delegates, charging too many favored cabs driven by the one unionized company.

Murray Miller of Dallas, Teamsters southern states chairman and convention host, said the non-union cab drivers boycott was being countered by providing special buses manned by union drivers.

Hold 'er Newt!

EYE-CATCHER OF OLD-FASHIONED DAYS parade last night was this 1911 Hupmobile owned and driven by Clarence Amelon, Hills, Iowa. A brand new Edsel set a sharp contrast to the Hupmobile. Other auto entries included a fire-engine of the early 1900's. All participants in the parade wore clothing of the period. The parade was held in the business district of Iowa City, and was one of the highlights of celebrations slated to end Friday at the pre-game pep rally near Old Capitol.

Fewer Flu Cases Indicate Decline In SUI Epidemic

Student Health reported 75 new cases of flu among SUI students Wednesday. This brings the total cases reported to date to over 750.

The 75 cases reported Wednesday are a decrease of 50 cases from Tuesday's 125, indicating a decline in the epidemic.

However, many previous flu victims are reporting to the health department with colds and coughs, often the result of the flu, said Dr. Chester I. Miller, student health director.

The 75 new cases also include an increased number of respiratory infections which would have normally been classified as colds if it were not for the epidemic that is touring the campus.

Dr. Miller did not say that the flu had reached its crest.

However, the possibility of a future outbreak of the flu is still possible sometime this winter for those who have not had it. People who have previously had the flu should be immune to it a second time, Dr. Miller said.

Dr. Miller hoped that students who weren't afflicted during the current epidemic might have built up enough immunity through association with it to prevent another serious outbreak.

University authorities never have tabbed the wave of illness as Asian flu although a few laboratory tests indicated that some students had the same type of foreign virus that appeared earlier this year at Grinnell.

The total number of students who have sought treatment at the medical center does not include a large number who had respiratory ailments which they treated in their rooming quarters. It did include some flu victims who made a second trip to the center with colds, sore throats and bronchial coughs.

FLU IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A surge of Asian flu was reported in the Milwaukee area Wednesday with absenteeism in some high schools reaching 25 per cent.

'Old Fashion Days' Have Color, Parade

"Old Fashioned Days," sponsored by over 100 Iowa City Merchants, got underway Wednesday morning with an old-fashioned breakfast for store employees.

Iowa City merchants featured special bargains and began giving away the $1,200 in cash and merchandise prizes which will be won by lucky Iowa Citizens during the three-day event.

The biggest Wednesday prize was a 12 cubic foot refrigerator; today it will be a 15 cubic foot freezer.

Antique autos and turn-of-the-century dress added to the color of Iowa City streets in an evening parade.

The festivities will end Friday night with the SUI pep rally, which will be held on the west approach of the Old Capitol at 7:15.

CHINA VISIT OVER

LONDON (AP) — Sixteen young Americans wound up a six-week tour of Red China by smoking a peace pipe at a farewell luncheon Wednesday, the British news agency Reuters reported from Peiping.

They left Peiping by train later for Moscow.

The 16 were among 42 Americans who trekked to Red China after attending a youth festival in Moscow.

The Weather

Clear and Brisk

Clear, brisk weather and continued Indian Summer was the outlook at least through Friday for the state of Iowa.

The weather pattern will continue through today with temperatures ranging in the 70s.

It will be slightly warmer Friday.

A cool air mass poised over western Canada is not expected to hit the northern Plains until the weekend.

Faubus-Ike Both Refuse To Budge

But Adams Still Offers Hope of Agreement

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus stood fast Wednesday on terms of a school integration compromise already firmly rejected by President Eisenhower. The Governor left the next move up to the White House.

"I've given until it hurts," Faubus maintained.

Although neither the Governor nor Eisenhower budged an inch, Sherman Adams, the President's top assistant, said in Washington:

"In our opinion a basis will be found for an early withdrawal of Federal forces from Little Rock."

"I personally believe and certainly hope this will not occur again."

Adams' words offered the only glimmer of hope for any early settlement of one of the grimmest Federal-state conflicts in the nation's history.

Faubus said at Little Rock he was standing pat on his statement of Tuesday night. This was the one rejected by Mr. Eisenhower as inadequate. He wants stronger assurances that the governor will prevent obstruction of Federal court orders for the integration of Central High School at Little Rock.

The White House was an unwilling as Faubus, and press secretary James C. Hagerty said:

"There will be no comment on Gov. Faubus' statement today other than to say that I think the President's statement of last night is more apt than ever."

How is it more apt? Hagerty was asked.

Hagerty replied there were several things, notably that the governor had been quoted as saying it was evident that disorders would follow withdrawal of Federal troops.

Adams was in Chattanooga for a luncheon with Republican leaders on party finance matters in the Southeast.

Of Mr. Eisenhower's calling out the troops, Adams said:

"No American could have done so with more reluctance."

"These things should be considered:

"First, the executive department did not originate the integration plan. Secondly, the Administration is not responsible for the decision of the Supreme Court in this matter."

"But whether we like it or not, it is the law of the land. The President agreed when he took his oath to support and defend the Constitution of the United States as indeed did every governor."

Four Southern governors—Hodges of North Carolina, McKeldin of Maryland, Clement of Tennessee and Collins of Florida — thought they had worked out an agreement Tuesday night.

That collapsed, however, when Faubus' rejection of the proposal failed to satisfy Mr. Eisenhower.

Federalized National Guard troops again patrolled Central High School, where tension rose again Wednesday over the classroom presence of the first nine Negroes ever admitted to a white school in Little Rock.

Two white students spoke of a plan to make school life so miserable

Anti-Red in San Marino

A PISTOL IS READY on his desk as Alvaro Casali, a member of the Communist revolutionary government, looks at papers in San Marino, small republic completely surrounded by Italy. San Marino's Communists, challenged for control by the anti-Reds, have asked the United Nations for help because of what they call a "blockade" of their border by the Italian Government.

Where Do We Go From Here?

A panel of medical men in San Francisco have reached the conclusion that mass immunization for flu doesn't make much sense for two very good reasons: One, only about 20 per cent of the population are likely to get it, and two, the vaccine is only about 50 per cent effective.

They go on to say that it is also likely that we might even have more illness and death from the vaccine than from the flu, ending on the note that hysteria seems to be the driving force behind the popular clamor for vaccine.

agrees. They say that the vaccine is the only way to stop the Asian flu.

When you consider that probably many of the reported Asian flu cases were of 100 per cent "American" varieties, and that the panel of San Francisco experts agreed that the 12 deaths attributed to Asian flu were almost certainly caused by complicating factors, it seems a little silly to spend the money for something you probably don't need.

We've already run the gamut of flu scare. Vaccine scare, anyone?

Brand Name

Senator Olin Johnston (D-S. C.), in a recent letter to Governor LeRoy Collins of Florida, asserted that the NAACP is being supported by Communists and subversive elements.

The NAACP vigorously denies this - as any organization in America today certainly must. To be associated with the word Communist, however unwillingly, is to be given the kiss of death.

It is probably true that the Communists support the NAACP whenever their interests coincide or when they are striving for a particular propaganda effect, but that no more connects the NAACP with the Communist than a similar action by the Communists in supporting Ike's use of troops in Little Rock connects him with the Communists.

Senator Johnston is probably much too smart not to realize this, but as a man with an axe to grind, he obviously chooses to ignore this.

The plain and simple fact is that the most devastating attack you can make on any man or institution today is to brand it with either dirty word communism or socialism.

It really doesn't matter whether or not they are, as long as you can convince people of the "fact" that they are.

A Definition Of Integration Is Badly Needed

By KIRK H. PORTER

We can hardly expect to learn very much very soon about what actually happened at the President's conference with southern governors. It is not enough for them to say they will obey the Constitution. Some of them have said already it is the Supreme Court itself which has disobeyed the Constitution. They ask if the Court is above the Constitution and thus can do no wrong. That question has lurked in the background of our constitutional history for over a hundred years.

Kirk Porter

In its decision the Court did not use the words integrate, or integration. What the Court did was to forbid segregation. Obviously this implies that integration should begin. But there is no law about it except in those States which have voluntarily acquiesced. Much progress has been made already in States where it was thought vigorous resistance might be encountered. And even in some States where state law has not been changed local districts have admitted some Negro children to the schools.

IT MAY BE ANTICIPATED that in some areas State and local authorities will do just as little as they can and still call it integration. They might do very little indeed, put a dozen selected colored children in a school with two thousand and call it integration. And they would hope to leave the situation that way. Thus a tiny group of colored students, perhaps only two or three, could be admitted to every school. Would this fulfill the mandate of the Court? All the Court did was forbid compulsory segregation. The Court decision does not even use the word integration, much less define it. If school authorities merely scatter a few colored students through their schools they might say they have stopped compulsory segregation. Have they?

THIS IS HAIR-SPLITTING and quibbling. But they believe that is what the Supreme Court itself did with the words of the Fourteenth amendment. They may be expected to do it ad infinitum. The practice has begun and has been successful to the extent that judges here and there have approved what may be called "token integration" plans. In Little Rock the advocates of integration had protested a very moderate plan which was scarcely more than token integration with a promise to extend it slowly. The judge overruled the objections and approved the moderate plan.

Judges should not be criticized for approving these token plans for at least, they do involve acceptance of the basic principle. And the judge has no law whatever to guide him. The Supreme Court gave him no rule to follow, and Congress did nothing. District judges are in a very difficult spot.

UNDOUBTEDLY SOUTHERN governors will attempt to get the President to approve moderate, token plans. He will probably be condemned if he does or if he does not. That is the fate of the man who is President. But it is not his business to condemn a given plan or to approve it. If he indicated even half-hearted tentative approval of token plans he would have undercut district judges in given situations who had disapproved them. And his opinion would not have the weight of law in any event. If he expressed disapproval of moderate plans he would undercut other judges. It is to be hoped he will not be caught in such a cross-fire. It is not his business to define the law but to enforce it. It is his business to enforce court orders and he has certainly shown a disposition to do that.

An act of Congress is very badly needed which will define integration at least in general terms. The Supreme Court did not presume to request Congress to pass a law; and it is not the business of the Court to pass a law. But until it is done the President, the district judges, the school authorities, and the department of justice will be tormented with the question: What is integration? Certainly the President should not be pressured into trying to answer it, as I suspect he may have been.

TO THE EDITOR: In Saturday's Iowan, a letter to the editor very adroitly laid our system of values, on the carpet - a system which permitted husky, healthy men vaccine protection against Asian Flu while denying protection to children very susceptible to complications from the illness. Since I am a member of this society which places such an emphasis on winning football, I will accept a part of the blame which is so neatly implied in Hatch's letter.

However, I am no martyr to the cause of football. Who is responsible for putting a higher priority on the football team than on the health and well-being of handicapped children and others who run the greatest risk of complications? Let the official or officials responsible for this decision identify themselves and attempt a justification for such action.

I promised an expose of the Mood Music Racket, and here it is. To begin, let us consider the evidence. Take a long-play record catalog, open it and turn to the 'M' section under "Popular, Jazz, Swing" and then start reading. You will find the following albums available for your enjoyment:

- Music for a Lonely Night
Music for a Sunday Afternoon
Music for Bachelors
Music for Day Dreaming
Music for Expectant Mothers
Music for Listening
Music for Lonely Lovers
Music for My One & Only Love
Music for Sleepwalkers Only
Music for the Engaged
Music from Outer Space
Music for People Who Hate Classical Music
Music for Washing and Ironing
Music to Break a Lease
Music to Change Her Mind
Music to Dream By Music to Love By
Music to Love By (This is evidently a popular thing to do by music)

Music for Courage and Confidence
Music for After Dinner
Music for Dining
Music for Faith and Inner Calm
Music to Work or Study By Music to Help You Sleep
Music for Relaxation
Music for Reading

Someone has suggested that soon the sincere music lovers will have to look for their choice in terms of something like "Music to Listen to Beethoven's Sixth Symphony By."

Potential new albums have been suggested: "Music to Take a Bath By," selections: Scrub, Brother, Scrub, La Mer, the Fountains of Rome; "Music to Argue By" and "Music to Spoil Your Taste for Music."

THIS HAS GONE far enough. Anyone can see, or hear, that these Mood Music albums are guilty of gross misrepresentation. I can personally testify that the "Music for a Sunday Afternoon" is just as good (or bad) when played on Wednesday afternoon, and the "Music to Change Her Mind" is just as useful - no, more useful - for working on a Do-It-Yourself job.

You never know really what selections you'll get on one of these "blind dates." But you can be sure it will include "Tenderly" and the Warsaw Concerto. The arrangements are usually as soupy and heavy on strings as possible without sounding like the record is being played on an automaton instead of a phonograph. I'm certain they use special violin bows, with bow hair a foot thick. Many of them have an annoying habit of fading the music in at the beginning of a selection and fading it out at the end. It sounds as if the conductor doesn't know how to say "Whoah!"

HERE'S HOW TO stamp out this shameful racket: First, never even listen to an album whose title begins, "Music for..." Second, if you must have mood music, stick to conductors and orchestras known for their sense and good taste - such as Andre Kostelantz, Percy Faith, Morton Gould, David Rose, Michel Legrand, Richard Jones, Leroy Anderson, Paul Weston and others. As for specific albums, two of the best mood music albums to be found are those by Mitch Miller, oboe, with Percy Faith and his orchestra. They are titled, "It's So Peaceful in the Country," and "Music Until Midnight."

If percussive sounds and exotic melody are relaxing to you, I'd suggest the two albums by Les Baxter entitled, "Scare du Savage," and "Tambou." Why not be individual and choose background music with a personality to it, such as gypsy violin, Argentine tangos or flamenco guitar? Music from Spain and its former colonies is becoming more and more popular, and although bull-fight music is not especially relaxing, you may find it a new exciting avenue of musical enjoyment.

The Time Dixon Was Right

A Rundown On Ike: Dateline '48

By GEORGE DIXON WASHINGTON - There must be a touch of the self-tormentor in me, because I spent part of my vacation rereading some of my old columns.

I was dismayed to read how many fundamentals I used to be wrong about. However, I didn't start this piece with any intention of sneaking in Rover Boy philosophy. My sole purpose was not to confess to the number of times I had been wrong, but to crow about the one time I was fantastically right.

I covered the Democratic National Convention in 1948, and reported from Philadelphia that a lot of the big Democratic leaders were trying to recruit General Dwight D. Eisenhower as their standard bearer because they were convinced they'd be dead with Harry S. Truman.

At that time I didn't know much about Gen. Eisenhower, except militarily. Naturally, I didn't know whether he was a Democrat or a Republican because he'd never seen fit to declare himself. Nevertheless, I sat down in a back room of the Philadelphia Pen & Pencil Club and wrote:

"The Democratic leaders are putting up a howl that they want General Eisenhower. They are starting a clamor to draft him here. But if I were the distinguished warrior I would not be at all flattered by the clanging of these Democratic leaders. It sounds too much like the wailings of desperation.

"To my perhaps improperly-attuned ear, it is as if these long-time wallowers at the public trough were really gibbering: 'Look, we've got to save our graft any way we can. We'll take anybody; even Eisenhower.'

"They profess to believe that Gen. Ike is the only man to handle the issues of the day. Yet they admit they have no notion of how Eisenhower stands on a single one of these issues.

"It is as ridiculous, on the face of it, as trying to hire a life guard without ascertaining if he can swim.

"For all any Democratic Ikelvelper knows to the contrary, the General may be a Republican; a civil righter; and a tool of Wall Street.

"The Democrats who say they want Ike do not know what opinions he has on foreign policy, if any. Apparently it has never occurred to them to ask him.

"If you want my considered opinion, Ike is only having a mild flirtation with his Democratic wooers. He's like the girl who loves to be courted for the sake of popularity, but knows she will never marry the guy."

If you had been wrong as many times as I have down through the years, you'd want to boast of your prophet triumph too, so bear with me for this once.

'But I've Had The Flu!' Syrian Situation Cooperation Without Adoption?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN DAMASCUS - The Russians, anxious to avoid giving the slightest cause for fright, apparently have administered a rebuke to the Communist leader in this country.

Signs of conflict between the BAATH (Arab Socialist Resurrection) party and the Communists arose during the summer. The Damascus Arab language press says Akram Hourani, the BAATH leader, mentioned in the presence of Khaled Bagdash, Communist leader, that the Communists were a negligible factor in Syria. Bagdash flared and retorted: "We'll soon show you how strong we are."

Since then Bagdash has been to Moscow. Usually when he returns from such junkets, the Communists stage big propaganda welcomes. This time he slipped back unnoticed. His return was not even publicly announced.

BAATH leaders I have talked to have little use for Soviet communism. Michel Aflaq, the angular, slow-speaking philosopher of the BAATH movement, displays a distaste for Soviet exploitation of Communist-ruled countries. But he says whether the Russians come years hence take over Syria does not entirely depend on the Russians - "It depends on us, all the Arabs."

This typifies the feeling here that Syria can cooperate with the Soviet government without having anything to do with Soviet ideology. The Russians try to foster this idea. The Soviet display at the Damascus international fair is big and impressive, ranging from tractors and heavy machinery to an outdoor color movie of the joys of Soviet life.

The Russians have attuned themselves to Arab psychology and are treating Syria as an important nation. Syria's leaders respond with gratitude to the Russians and rising attacks on the United States.

The strongest single personality in the regime, Lt. Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj, seems to be anti-Communist as well as anti-West, but his Arab nationalism makes him pro-Soviet.

Agricultural production this year will be the best in Syria's modern history. The Syrian pound has recovered from the effects of last year's Suez crisis and is back at most at the pre-Suez level.

Syria's leaders, apparently hoping Uncle Sam will learn a lesson, argue that their agreement with the Russians is a strictly business deal and cannot rightly be called aid. It is a loan at low interest to help Syria's economy.

In the revised six-year-plan, originally drawn up in 1954, Syria is undertaking some expensive projects. She has undertaken to pay 54 million Syrian pounds (the pound is rated at 3 1/2 to the dollar) for an oil refinery to be built by the Czechs. The projected Latakia-Gezira railroad will cost about 550 million, even without a planned hydroelectric station. This indicates upped taxes and a strain on the business community.

Syria depends on imports. She has little industry of her own outside textiles, glass and cement. There is no coal and little iron for a heavy industry. The customers for her products and the sources of her imports are in the West.

The cost of living has been relatively easy in the past few years. The man in the street gets along fairly well. There is little unemployment, though a good deal of underemployment. Syria is now looking to Soviet plans, equipment and technicians to help build the base of an economy which, in Foreign Minister Salah Bitar's words, will "provide good jobs and good wages for all."

They may be naive, but Syria's leaders reject the idea that they are also inviting communism and sovietization in some distant year.

SACRE! TOULON, France (AP) - Quintuplets were born Wednesday to a 33-year-old mother but one died shortly after birth.

The mother, Mrs. Camille Christophe, was reported doing well.

The two boys and three girls ranged in weight from 2 pounds to 2.3 pounds each at birth.

Dean Bryan and Wife Honored

Dental College Honors Couple Wed 50 Years

Dean Emeritus Alvin W. Bryan of the SUI College of Dentistry and Mrs. Bryan were honored on their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday at a coffee given at the college by members of the college faculty.

Dr. and Mrs. Bryan were married Oct. 2, 1907, in Correctionville, with Dr. Bryan's father, the late Rev. O. S. Bryan, officiating at the ceremony.

In 1912, a year following his graduation from the SUI College of Dentistry, Dr. Bryan joined the faculty as an instructor. He was named an assistant professor and head of the Department of Periodontology in 1924, and dean of the college in 1932. He served as dean until he became dean emeritus in January, 1957, when he was succeeded by Dean William J. Simon.

A native of Marcus, Dr. Bryan graduated from Rolfe High School. He practiced dentistry in Ruthven for a year after his graduation from SUI in 1911.

Mrs. Bryan was born near New Sharon, graduated from New Sharon High School and Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, and taught school in Correctionville, where the couple met.

The Bryans have two daughters—Mrs. W. E. Reid, Lexington, Ky., and Mrs. F. L. Tallman, Valley Station, Ky.—and eight grandchildren. A twin sister of Dr. Bryan, Miss Ida Bryan, now lives in Emmetsburg.

Dr. Bryan is a past president of the Iowa State Dental Society, the American Academy of Periodontology, the American College of Dentists and the American Association of Dental Schools. He is a fellow of the Iowa Academy of Science, the New York Academy of Dentistry, the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American College of Dentists.

He holds membership in Sigma Xi, honorary scientific society, and Omicron Kappa Upsilon, honorary dentistry fraternity.

Marine Recruiters To Visit Campus

SUI students who have not fulfilled their military obligation may begin to do so Monday and Tuesday, when recruiters for the Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class will be on the campus.

Training under the program consists of two six-week sessions attended during summer vacations from college. Students who sign up will not participate in any Marine drills or classes during the regular school year.

Upon completion of the two summer training programs and after receiving a degree, the trainees will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Major M. W. Snow, Officer Procurement, U.S. Marine Corps, will be on the campus from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. both days to explain the program to interested students.

INTEGRATION OVER

MATOAKA, W. Va. (AP)—Four of Matoaka High School's 10 Negro students returned to classes without incident Wednesday. The anti-integration outbursts of the two previous days appeared to be all but over.

The four arrived in a special school bus and were escorted to the door by state troopers.

Principal Ralph Bird said he was not readmitting those who took part in the demonstrations Tuesday and Monday until he had conferred with them and their parents.

Hawkeye Happenings Today

Currier and Hillcrest will hold a mixer tonight from 6:45 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the south dining room of Currier Hall.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL Human Relations Subcommittee will meet at 4 p.m. today in the Pentacrest Room of Iowa Memorial Union.

THETA SIGMA PHI—Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalism fraternity for women, will hold its first meeting of the year at 4:30 p.m. today in the lounge of the Communications Center.

RECEIVING CONGRATULATIONS on their Golden Wedding anniversary are Dean Emeritus Alvin W. Bryan, left, of the SUI College of Dentistry and Mrs. Bryan, Dr. William J. Simon, present dean of the college is congratulating the couple. The bouquet of flowers which Mrs. Bryan holds was presented by the dentistry faculty at a coffee given in the couple's honor recently.

Fund Drive To Start Here Goal—$39,249

Final plans for the 1957 Community Chest Fund Drive, to be conducted Oct. 7 to 12, were made Tuesday night at a meeting of the Fund Drive Committee.

Nearly 300 persons have been organized into teams to solicit every residence and business house in the Iowa City community in an effort to raise $39,249 to support Community Chest activities in Iowa City, Coralville and University Heights during 1958.

E. R. (Stub) Williams, drive chairman, instructed sub-division chairmen to emphasize to solicitors the use of the pledge card this year to obtain contributions that may be paid in small installments during the course of the year.

Teams of Boy Scouts will get the campaign underway Monday evening, when they will wash windshields of cars parked in the downtown parking lots. Literature explaining the Community Chest drive will be placed under windshield wipers and stickers advertising the Fund Drive will be attached to car bumpers at the time.

On the same day, solicitors will begin knocking on every door to pick up the contributions and pledges for the Chest.

Ten sub-division chairmen attending the meeting reported that they have teams of solicitors organized and ready to go into action. Don Rhoades, 1538 Rochester Ave., although not present at the meeting, notified chairman Williams that his crew was ready to go.

Other sub-division chairmen and their areas of responsibility are: Vernon Nagatz, 407 Bowers St., residential area east of the Iowa River and south of Iowa Avenue; Dr. Wilfred Spector, 1215 Melrose, and Fred Fluegel, 521 E. College St., residential persons; Glenn Jablonski, 1105 Ginter Ave., public and parochial schools; Robert Rollins, 103 Grove St., national firms operating in Iowa City; George Bell, 1425 Franklin, Veterans Administration Hospital; James Stewart, 16 Seventh Ave. N., business places in Iowa City; Dr. Robert Melville, 505 Fifth Ave., and Ralph Bohlin, 609 Third Ave., Coralville residential; John O'Connor, 309 Ninth Ave., Coralville business; and Norman Holzhaepfel, 15 N. Lowell, Iowa City residential area north of Iowa Ave.

Funds for nine agencies are included in this year's campaign goal. They are: The Iowa City Visiting Nurses Association, $11,000; Boy Scouts, $11,000; Girl Scouts, $9,864; USO, $1,000; Iowa Children's Home Society, $1,000; Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, $268; Salvation Army, $1,000; Fund to provide milk, eye-glasses and hearing-aids for needy school children, $1,000, and the American Home Finding Association, $500. Administrative costs for 1958 totaling $2,617 are included in the $39,249 total.

LUTHERAN MEETING
A series of mission studies will be conducted by the United Lutheran Church Women of the First English Lutheran Church of Iowa City.

The first meeting will be tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the parish house. Other meetings will be held on Oct. 11, 25, and Nov. 1.

Resource material for the study will be "Cross and Crisis in Japan" said Mrs. Robert Sutherland, educational chairman.

British Announce Oct. 31 Deadline For Scholarships

Deadline for application for study in England under Marshall Scholarship awards is Oct. 31, the British Information Service has announced.

Great Britain began the Marshall Scholarship plan in 1953 as a token of appreciation for U.S. Marshall Plan aid. Twelve scholarships are awarded annually to American students.

Each award is for $1,540 a year, plus passage to and from the United Kingdom. Married men receive an extra allowance.

Candidates are chosen for their scholastic achievements and character. They must have graduated from an American university and be under 28 years of age on Oct. 1, 1958.

Students must apply directly to the British Consul-General at one of the four regional Consulates. Mid-Western students should apply to the Chicago Consulate.

The names of successful applicants will be announced in April.

Applications for the director and committee of the 1957 Miss SUI Contest are now being received by Miss SUI Pageant Board.

The Pageant Board, composed of the president and two representatives from Union Board, Central Party Committee and Student Council, selected Mark Levensky, A3, Des Moines, as chairman.

The Pageant Board serves in an advisory capacity to the director, and approves all programs for the entire pageant.

The duties of the director will be to coordinate all aspects of the pageant, including publicity, entertainment, contestant participation, selection, and the eventual crowning of Miss SUI.

Applicants for Pageant Director should submit a letter to the Pageant Board containing their classification, grade point average, major field of study, past experience in campus activities, and present activities. All letters of application should be turned in to the Iowa Memorial Union information desk not later than 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Applicants must be present for interviews before the Pageant Board Wednesday, 7 and 9 p.m. They are to meet in the Board Room of the Iowa Memorial Union. Applicants will be interviewed individually. Final selection of both the director and committee will be completed at that time.

Miss SUI will be crowned at the Winter Formal, Dec. 6.

Present Enrollment Figure Totals 10,213

Preliminary enrollment figures for the fall semester of the 1957-58 school year at SUI total 10,213, President Virgil M. Hancher announced Wednesday. The figure is an increase of 312 students over the final enrollment a year ago.

The final enrollment figure for the first semester is expected to reach 10,300 as late registrations are completed, topping the estimate of 10,200 made by University officials during the summer.

13 Bands Set To March at Homecoming

At least 13 marching bands will take part in the SUI Homecoming Parade Oct. 18, according to Fred H. Doderer, chairman of the band committee.

The Keosauqua High School Band was the first to accept an invitation to march in the ninth annual parade, which will include marching bands, floats and a number of antique automobiles, Doderer says.

Other bands which have already indicated that they will take part in the parade include Sigourney, Solon, Brooklyn, Mt. Pleasant, Lone Tree, Lisbon, West Branch, Independence, Tipton and Davenport.

Bands from the University High School and the Iowa City High School and City High's girls drill team will also be in the parade when it winds its way through Iowa City streets.

The members of the 13 bands will be guests of the University for the Iowa-Wisconsin football game the following day and will occupy the 800 stadium seats allotted to high school musicians who march in the parade. Other bands may also decide to take part in the parade even though no further seats will be available in the Iowa Stadium, which has been "sold out" since early August.

Following the parade Friday night, the floats will be on display just east of the Iowa stadium so that Hawkeye-Badger game visitors may inspect them.

WRA's Social Dance Tickets Ready for Sale

Tickets will go on sale Friday in the old Iowa Memorial Union Lobby for social dance lessons sponsored by the Women's Recreational Association. The classes, which begin Monday, will continue through November 25. Eight lessons will be offered for $1.

Dances will be held in the Women's Gym. Beginner lessons will be offered at 7 and 8 p.m. and the intermediate class at 9 p.m.

Mrs. Willard Hartup will be the instructor. Student chairmen are Mary Ann Richard, A4, Muscatine, and Rae Ann Wiegert, A3, Rockford, Ill.

PHARMACY SOCIAL

Members of the student branch of the American Pharmacy Association and students and faculty of the SUI College of Pharmacy met for a social get together in Iowa City Tuesday.

The meeting was intended to acquaint faculty and students and their families with each other.

Dean Louis C. Zopf of the College of Pharmacy presented a number of students with the College's 1957-58 scholarship awards that range from tuition scholarships to $25 cash awards.

SUI Items

THE INTERNATIONAL CLUB will hold an Open House at the International Center on Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m., for all students interested in learning of its program or enrolling in its membership. It is open to all University students.

Members of the club will be present to explain the informal monthly meetings, guide students through the Center, and take in new members.

YOM KIPPUR (Jewish day of atonement) services will be held at the Hill Foundation, 122 E. Market St., Friday at 6 p.m. and Saturday at 5:30 p.m.

Saturday daytime services will be held at Aquadas Achim Congregation, 602 E. Washington St.

ORGANIZING DANCE PROGRAMS for the "Hawaiian Luau" fall party Friday night are Jim Kansaly, A4, Perry, president of Central Party Committee and Mary Bergstrom, A2, Spencer, co-chairmen of decorations. Woody Herman and his Third Herd will provide musical entertainment from 8 p.m. to midnight in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Rushing To Run Through Oct.

Informal rushing for women will last throughout the month of October, according to Miss Helen Reich, advisor to Panhellenic Council.

SUI coeds must be registered at the Office of Student Affairs one week before pledging any sorority, unless they have already registered for formal rush in September.

Freshmen women must be in the upper half of their high school graduating class to qualify them for rush. Upperclassmen must have an accumulative grade point average of 2.0.

Ford's 5-Hitter Wins 1st Series Game, 3-1

Spahn Beaten; Bauer, Carey Get Key Blows

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford, chunky New York Yankee lefthander, whipped Milwaukee's Warren Spahn in Wednesday's World Series opener 3-1 while 69,476 basked in the warm sunshine of a perfect fall afternoon.

Showing complete recovery from the arm miseries that bothered him during most of the regular season, Ford held the National League champions to five hits.

When the embattled Braves, who went into their first series as 8-5 underdogs, threatened in the sixth, Ford calmly blew down three of their toughest right-handed hitters — Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko. The stylish little man struck out Aaron and Pafko and retired Adcock on an easy grounder after walking the first two batters.

Beating Spahn, Milwaukee's 21-game winning ace, was an important step for the Yankees.

Most observers figured 36-year-old Spahn has to win two games to end the Bombers' reign.

The Yanks took this opener in stride, although they lost the services of their slugging first baseman, Bill Skowron, early in the game.

Spahn gave it the big try as the only Milwaukee pitcher with previous series experience. But the crafty veteran just didn't have enough to match Ford. Manager Fred Haney took him out in the sixth after the Yanks had racked up seven of their nine hits. All three runs were charged against Spahn although the last one scored after he had left the game.

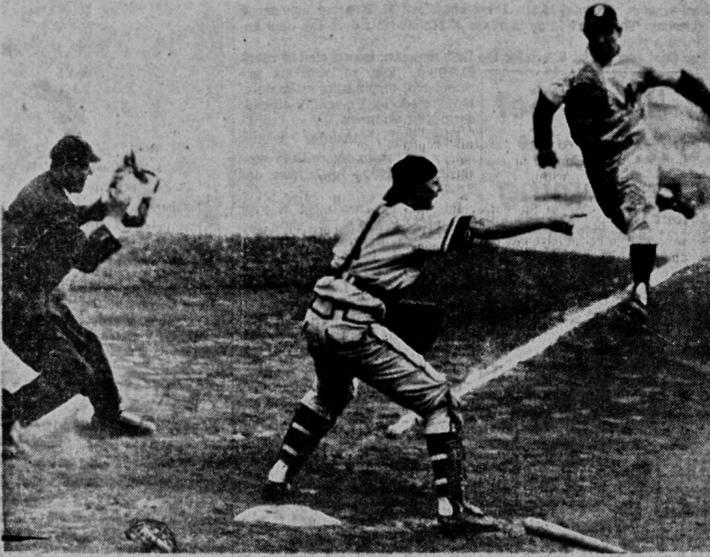

It was a beautifully pitched, scoreless battle for the first 4½ innings until Jerry Coleman, who started at second base instead of young Bobby Richardson, came through with his second hit — a ground single to left past Eddie Mathews.

Two infield outs had shoved Coleman to third when Hank Bauer bruised one of Spahn's pitches for a long double to right center, letting Coleman romp home.

Ford had just escaped after some anxious moments in the top of the fifth due to a dropped throw by Elston Howard at first base on a sure-fire double play. Howard, a catcher-outfielder who never had played first in the majors until last Friday in Boston, had taken over in the third after Skowron had re-injured his back running to first base in the first inning.

Wes Covington's single, Howard's error and a walk to Spahn put Ford in trouble. Covington had been wiped out on Crandall's bounce to Gil McDougald but Crandall was safe on the error. When Ford walked Spahn on four pitches, Milwaukee had men on first and second with two out but Red Schoendienst rapped sharply to Andy Carey for a force on Crandall at third to end the inning.

The Yanks ripped into Spahn in the sixth and chased him. With one out, Howard grounded a single to center. A walk to Berra on a 3-1 pitch brought Manager Fred Haney to the mound to talk with Spahn. He stayed with Spahn.

Carey took one called strike, half attempting a bunt, and singled sharply to center, scoring Howard. Ernie Johnson, a sidearming right-hander, came from the bull pen to face Coleman. With the infield pulled in tight, Coleman dumped a perfect squeeze bunt to ward Johnson. The pitcher, never making a move toward the plate, whirled and threw to first in time to get Coleman as Berra came home.

Casey Lauds Spahn, Ford's Fine Hurling

NEW YORK (AP) — Manger Casey Stengel of the triumphant New York Yankees paid generous tribute Wednesday to the veteran Milwaukee Braves pitcher his sluggers knocked out of the box.

"That Spahn, he pitched a helluva game," said Stengel as soon as he reached his dressing room.

It was obvious the Yankee manager admired the professional artistry of the lanky Warren Spahn. He coupled him in all his praise of his own left handed ace, Whitey Ford, the winner.

"In the clutch Ford can pitch, just like Spahn can pitch," said Stengel.

"Ford pitched himself into one jam and he pitched himself right out again," Stengel remarked concerning the sixth inning. That was when Ford walked the first two men to face him, Johnny Logan and Ed Mathews, and then struck out Hank Aaron, got Joe Adcock to ground out, and struck out Andy Pafko.

"What did you tell him when you went to the mound then," he was asked. "Did you tell him to be careful?"

Casey snorted. "You gotta be careful all the time. He knows that. I just reminded him he still had one base open."

Taking some of the edge off the Yankee victory was the fact that Moose Skowron, the hard hitting first baseman, aggravated an old injury in the first inning and had to leave the game. It is doubtful if he can play again in the series.

Burdette Confident He'll Beat The Yanks In Today's Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Burdette said he was going to beat the Yankees today.

He said it simply, quietly, matter-of-factly. His voice carried no trace of a boast. He wasn't trying to buoy his spirits. He wasn't talking for effect.

"I'm going to win tomorrow," the Milwaukee righthander said. And you could tell he meant every word of it. "I'm going to get even for Hookie here. We've got to keep the room, you know."

Unless you were familiar with Burdette and his sometimes colorful, sometimes quaint manner of speech, his words, except for his reference to winning, had little or no meaning.

"Hookie," of course, is Warren Spahn, Burdette's pitching partner, roommate, pal and constant companion. It is anybody's guess whether the nickname derived from his big curve or his not-so-small nose.

"Keeping the room" was simply Lew's way of saying it was his aim to maintain the superior status of the famous twosome.

"Warren pitched a fine game,"

Burdette said. "He deserved a better fate. But we didn't score any runs for him. Baseball may have changed some but essentially it's the same. You got to have runs to win. I rooted as hard for him to win today as I do for myself. We're always pulling for each other."

The Braves got only three of their five hits off Whitey Ford and no runs in the five and a fraction innings Spahn pitched in a losing 3-1 game.

Burdette turned to Spahn, who, naturally, occupied the adjoining cubicle in the clubhouse.

"How do you feel, buddy?" he asked. "Ready for another crack at 'em?"

"Ready and eager, pal," Spahn replied. "In fact, I'll be more eager to get that second shot at them."

"The Yankees deserved to win," Spahn said generously, "and that Ford is a great pitcher make no mistake about that. He really showed me something. He got into a lot of trouble but he always had enough to get out."

Flu Epidemic Could Be Concern: Evy

Coach Forest Evashevski said Wednesday that the influenza epidemic on the campus has affected the football team to a point where it is a cause of concern.

Evy said that the flu situation may be such that the fourth and fifth teams may see action in Saturday's game against Washington State here.

Wednesday's list of players who had the flu included first string left halfback Bill Gravel, and No. 1 tackle Dick Klein. Mike Hagler, first string right halfback was also missing from Wednesday's practice.

Evy passed up all contact drill and confined practice to dummy scrimmages, the polishing of plays, pass defense and pass offense.

WSC Scout Dan Stavelly reported 77 Iowa players were suited up for the game last weekend and he stopped taking notes when the fourth team went into action.

Sutherland, who has indicated the Cougars will really throw the ball Saturday, put the squad through a workout on fundamentals Wednesday afternoon.

WSC will leave today for Iowa, with a stopover in Denver for practice. The squad will stay at Cedar Rapids.

Nocera Already Drafted by Philadelphia Eagles - 'Nose' Cost Hawks 15, But No One Cared

By ALAN HOSKINS Daily Iowan Sports Editor (Another in a Series)

John Nocera was responsible for one of the few 15-yard penalties that nobody really blamed him for, or really cared about, for that matter.

And that's very seldom when a team is assessed 15 yards and nobody cares. Wonder how this rarity occurred?

Last year, in Iowa's fifth game of the year, at Purdue, the Hawkeyes were trying desperately to hold on to a 21-20 lead in the last two minutes. However, with All American Len Dawson on the throwing end of several passes, Purdue was rapidly moving towards the Iowa goal.

With 1 minute, 25 seconds remaining, Dawson completed a toss to halfback Erich Barnes, who was immediately hit with a jarring tackle by Iowa fullback Fred Harris. Barnes fumbled the ball and Hawkeye Frank Bloomquist fell on it.

Nocera, who was on the bench at the time, could not restrain himself from rushing onto the field and patting Bloomquist on the back, which resulted in a 15-yard penalty against the Hawkeyes for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Nobody blamed Nocera for what every Iowa fan would have liked to have done at that point. The Hawkeyes then killed the clock with quarterback sneaks by Kenny Ploen.

A junior, "Nose," as everyone calls him, moved into the starting role at fullback in Iowa's last game of the 1956 season, or the first game of 1957, depending on which way you prefer to look at Iowa's playing in the Rose Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1957.

John Nocera Liked Iowa Coaches

In that game, John carried the ball only three times, picking up 24 yards, an impressive 8-yard average. However, his work as defensive linebacker was a big factor in the Hawkeyes win.

"Nose" went to Youngstown, Ohio, to high school, graduating in January of 1953. At Youngstown (North), Nocera played against teammate Bob Cummings and made all-city honors.

After graduation, "Nose" came to Iowa for a week, then decided to join the Army. He was in the Army two years, but played no service football.

After the Army, Nocera returned to Iowa. Why'd he pick Iowa? "Well, I liked the coaching staff, mainly," said John.

A physical education major, Nocera plans on entering the coaching ranks, after pro football, that is. He was picked by the Philadelphia Eagles during last fall's National Football League draft.

"I'd sure like to give pro football a try," said John. Asked if there was any chance he might drop out of school after this season and go into the pro ranks, he replied, "No, I definitely won't quit school for pro football. I'll finish next year here."

Obviously, the pro ranks feel pretty strongly towards Nocera to draft him long before his college eligibility was up. Under National Football League rules, pro teams cannot draft college players under any circumstance, until the year their high school graduation class would normally graduate from college.

Had John not been in the Army for two years, he would have graduated with the rest of his high school classmates, which would have been January of 1957, so he thus became eligible for the N.F.L. draft. Another Hawkeye, tackle Dick Klein, has similarly been drafted by the Chicago Bears.

A resident of Hillcrest Dormitory his first two years, "Nose" moved into an apartment with teammate

Geno Sessi this year. As far as outside activities are concerned, Nocera's big weakness is hi-fi recordings.

Nocera regards the Rose Bowl game as his big thrill. "Nothing comes close to it," said John. Incidentally, Nocera rates a Rose Bowl opponent, Joe Francis, who played halfback for Oregon State, as about the best ball player he's faced. "I thought he was a real good boy," said Nocera, "although he didn't get too much of a chance sometimes."

Chances are it was because one of Iowa's linebackers hit him before he got much of a chance to get moving.

Arkansas Damagd By Riots; Troop Use Widely Discussed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A consulting engineer for industries seeking new plant locations said Wednesday that Gov. Orval Faubus' action in the integration controversy here has cost Arkansas thousands of new jobs.

Dr. Charles H. Carpenter of Little Rock said, "The quality of the state government is an important factor to industrialists."

When a governor flouts law and order, it is an indication to them that the government is not a responsible one."

Carpenter did not specify any industry which the state has lost but said that if the integration crisis had not occurred, many large industries would eventually have settled in Arkansas instead of choosing location elsewhere.

Later on Wednesday twenty-five Little Rock business and civic leaders signed a statement urging residents "regardless of their feelings on the subject of segregation" to uphold those who enforce the laws.

The signers called on Little Rock citizens to condemn violence and to join in "daily prayer for guidance and counsel for all who lead our people."

Signatures on the statement included those of Wallace Townsend, Republican national committeeman, and Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.), who attempted to act as a mediator between Gov. Orval Faubus and President Eisenhower in the integration dispute here.

Defense of Troopers
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Brucker Wednesday night accused Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia of defaming Army paratroopers sent to Little Rock, Ark.

Brucker quoted Griffin as saying in a speech that troops of the 101st Airborne Division have been "giving themselves over to abandoned revels that would be horrifying in an occupied enemy country."

The Army secretary added, in a statement: "These allegations by Gov. Griffin sound like those of a demagogue. They are ridiculous, inflammatory and wholly without foundation in fact."

Brucker said many members of the 101st are from the South, and from Georgia.

"They are no different from any other young Americans and they are neither brutal nor are they indulging in 'revels' of any sort," he said.

Brucker said only three of the more than 1,000 Federal troops stationed in Little Rock for the past eight days have been involved in any type of incident.

Goony Birds Star in Wilson's Gay Farewell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson said goodbye to Pentagon reporters Wednesday at a general news conference where the discussion ranged from goony birds to ballistic missiles.

It was Wilson's 80th and last session with the military correspondents.

He announced his resignation will take effect next Wednesday, ending 4 1/2 eventful years as the nation's defense chief.

The secretary also announced a new Air Force order limiting payments to aircraft manufacturers to a strict monthly schedule in order to hold down defense spending.

He said he thought the upward trend of spending had been halted but that military expenditures for the first quarter of a new fiscal year are estimated to be $300 million above the planned amount necessary to keep within a $38 billion ceiling.

It was apparent at the outset of the conference that Wilson, 57, wanted it to be an easy-going, give-and-take session.

He brought his wife along and proudly introduced her to the reporters as "Jessie."

Mrs. Wilson spoke her mind on several occasions during the conference and also tried to heckle her gray-haired husband into telling one of their favorite family stories about the goony birds he had encountered at Midway Island when he accompanied President-elect Eisenhower to Korea in 1952.

Wilson tried to oblige, but he got only as far as "goony birds are a sort of cross between goose and penguins..." The rest of the story was drowned in a burst of laughter.

One reporter, bringing up the integration controversy, asked Wilson whether he thought the U.S. Naval Academy should go ahead with its scheduled football game with the University of Georgia at the Oyster Bowl in Norfolk, Va.

Wilson replied that he didn't know much about football schedules, but he "supposed that such things have been going on for years."

Then he added, "I come from the North and am not so fussy about the business of integration."

Wilson recalled that he went to school "more than 60 years ago with a little colored boy. It didn't hurt me," Wilson said with a kindly grin, and "I don't think it hurt him."

REDSTONE SUCCESSFUL
MISSILE TEST CENTER, CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A missile thought to be the Army's Redstone was fired from here Wednesday.

Russ X-Ray Peeps At Sun

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia plans to put an X-ray camera in one of her baby moons for a new look at the sun, a Soviet scientist said Wednesday.

It would see an eerie picture. The sun's face might be invisible except perhaps for dimples of sunspots. Only X-rays in the sun's tremendous atmosphere — which reaches to the earth — would be visible.

Such a study could explain some mysteries of the sun.

Russia's Dr. Sergie M. Poloskov gave no time table for the moon carrying an X-ray camera or other special kinds of equipment.

It is being worked on, he told a conference of International Geophysical Year (IGY) scientists.

Such moons might be years away, not among the first ones Russia launches.

For Poloskov talked of equipping some moons with instruments that now weigh up to 40 or 50 pounds. This might call for satellites weighing 100 pounds, five times the weight of the first U.S. moon.

Poloskov said a problem is to reduce the size and weight of the instruments and that this is under way.

Describing instruments for earth satellites, Poloskov spoke mostly in general terms but he said technical reports had been printed in Russian and would be given to the U.S. IGY committee for translation into English.

ID Cards Should Be Ready Tuesday

By DALE KUETER
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

The processing of over 10,000 ID cards takes time and patience — a monotonous routine of cutting and stamping. However, the three ladies working on the cards report that they will be ready when fee payments fall due next Tuesday.

Don't be disappointed, however, if you are not issued an ID card. Occasionally, due to mechanical and physical errors, a student will not receive his. In that case, photos are retaken and the card issued later.

ID cards, which admit students at SUI to student health benefits as well as athletic events, concerts and plays, contain the student's name, student number, birthdate and picture.

Processing starts at photo service. Pictures of new students — taken during orientation week — and old pictures of students formerly at SUI are printed on the new ID cards.

The entire roll of identis is then sent to the three women who work in the basement of University Hall.

The ladies, Mrs. P. W. Herrick, 747 Oakland Ave., Mrs. James Gibbons, 410 E. Jefferson, and Mrs. John Runyon, 104 North Park, then have the task of separating and placing the official University seal on the IDs.

Mrs. Herrick said the job wasn't particularly tiresome because amusing peculiarities arise. "Occasionally," she said, "a mixup occurs and two students get the same student number."

Mrs. Herrick said students usually detest their ID picture, but are amused to see how they turn out.

Mrs. Herrick said one of the ladies brings a transistor radio to break up the monotony of cutting and stamping. "Only we can't get the World Series!" she said.

About 3,000 of the ID cards were completed by Wednesday, and the remaining numbers will be done today and Friday.

Poles, Czechs Offer A-Ban To E.-W. Germany

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Poland and Czechoslovakia said Wednesday they would ban nuclear weapons from their territories if East and West Germany would do the same.

Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki first made the offer in a policy speech to the U.N. General Assembly. Czechoslovakia Foreign Minister Vaclav David joined in.

Rapacki declared Poland was making its declaration after consulting others in the Communist-eight-nation Warsaw Pact. This presumably included the Soviet Union.

Of the Warsaw Pact countries, only Czechoslovakia and Poland border Germany.

Rapacki said plans "being made to equip the West German army with nuclear weapons" might compel "threatened nations" to decide for strengthening their security.

He added Poland wanted to present such a development.

David said Czechoslovakia was prepared to associate itself with the Polish move and to "renounce the production and stationing" of atomic weapons on its territory if both Germanies would do that also.

Czechoslovakia is a producer of uranium.

U.S. troops in West Germany have atomic cannon.

But it is not clear whether they have live atomic ammunition too.

Polish Delegate Jerzy Michalowski told U.N. reporters "we know" they have.

Rapacki said his offer would forbid all nuclear weapons — national or foreign — on German soil.

Civil Service Announces Examinations

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Geologist for filling positions paying starting salaries of $3,670 and $4,525 a year in the Geological Survey in Washington, D.C., and throughout the United States. Positions in the Bureau of Reclamation and the Bureau of Mines may also be filled.

To qualify, applicants must pass a written test. In addition they must have completed appropriate college study, or they may qualify on the basis of a combination of such study and experience in geological work.

Applications must be filed not later than December 3, 1957, with the Executive Secretary, Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D.C.

Persons interested in beginning a career in the Federal service are invited to apply for the currently open Federal Service, Entrance Examination.

This examination, which covers a wide variety of occupational fields, is open to college seniors and graduate students, regardless of their field of major study, and to persons who have had equivalent experience. This year, for the first time, college juniors may also compete in the examination.

The next written test will be held November 16, for those who file by October 31. Written tests will also be given on January 11, February 8, March 8, and May 10, and additional tests may be scheduled as the needs of the service require. Applications will be accepted until further notice.

For more information, contact Lester J. Parizek, Iowa City post-office.

Miss Berner said that a large number of staff workers are still needed in copy writing, photography, office work and page selling.

Britain's Gold Reserve Slips, Then Rises

LONDON (AP)—Britain disclosed Wednesday its gold and dollar reserves, the sterling area's lifeblood for trade with the dollar world, tumbled critically during September — but started a late upward climb.

Last month's fall of 292 million dollars was the biggest since the treasury began announcing monthly figures in 1952.

The treasury said the reserves now stand at $1,850,000,000. This is below the two billion dollar mark that many economists regard as the minimum to which the reserves may fall without endangering the pound's value.

The conservative government of Prime Minister Harold MacMillan is pledged to maintain the present value of the pound at $2.80. On Sept. 19, the government raised the bank rate from 5 to 7 per cent.

The move started financial circles — but it was seen Wednesday to have stemmed the downward plunge of reserves. They had reached 295 million dollars by Sept. 19 but then climbed back by three million dollars.

The pound also rallied in world markets after the harsh bank rate move — taken to show the world that Britain intended to protect the value of the pound and halt rocketing inflation in this country.

able for the six Negro girls and three boys that they won't want to continue in Central.

Two of the Negro boys were shoved about and kicked by white male students in the school corridors during the day. However, the two, with their seven Negro classmates, emerged at the end of the day with no visible marks from the encounter.

A court effort to rid Little Rock of Federal troops was launched during the day by Mrs. Margaret Jackson, vice-president of the Pro-Segregationist League of Central High School Mothers. She has two teen-aged daughters in the school.

In Federal District Court here, Mrs. Jackson sought an injunction against the presence of the troops at the high school. She said they were here unconstitutionally, since neither Gov. Faubus nor the state legislature asked Mr. Eisenhower to send them in.

She claimed the troops "did . . . intimidate, mutilate, bayonet and bludgeon private citizens."

During the day also, Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, accused Faubus of double-crossing four southern governors who worked out Tuesday's compromise that fell through.

It was intended to end Federal troop occupancy in Little Rock.

Frank Bane, an aide to the southern governors, flew in from Washington during the afternoon and conferred with Faubus. Neither man would reveal the nature of the discussion.

Faubus denied any double-cross of the governors in a press conference in which he also said heatedly: "I've given until it hurts . . . all that double talk in Washington means is this — they want me to take troops and put bayonets in the backs of students in my state and bludgeon and bayonet my people. I never felt the necessity for this action."

Tot and Dog Safe

TWO-YEAR-OLD RONALD NUTZ and his puppy Tiny are held by Ronnie's mother, Mrs. Selma Nutz, Wednesday after the boy and his dog were found, scratched and full of thistles in a field three miles from his home. Ronnie disappeared from his home shortly before 3 p.m. Tuesday and was sought through the night by bloodhounds, planes and foot searchers. He appeared to suffer no ill effects in spite of his all-night hike.

President, Staff Lead U.S. Prayer For Public Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower went to church Wednesday to lead the nation in prayers for public welfare.

He drove to the National Presbyterian Church with James C. Hagerly, his press secretary, and joined a small congregation which included Secretary of State Dulles and Postmaster General Summerfield.

The Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, pastor of the church, opened the service by reading the President's proclamation setting aside Wednesday as a national day of prayer in which all Americans were invited to join according to their faiths.

Then the pastor invoked divine aid for the nation and its leaders in the solution of their problems, and the gift of "grace to contend always for what is true and right."

Gunman Says Dead Partner Shot Troopers

SCOTTSBURG, Ind. (AP)—The Scott County Grand Jury meets here Thursday to consider a murder indictment against a gunman who insists his dead partner was the trigger man in two trooper killings.

"I got myself in this mess," Victor W. Whitley, 26, told a reporter in the Clark County Jail at Jeffersonville, where he was taken for safekeeping on a preliminary charge of murder.

Sheriff Ralph H. Morris said "sentiment is strong" to bring Whitley to trial and give him the stiffest penalty possible — a death sentence — for the killing of state trooper William R. Kellems, 23, of Scottsburg, Monday night.

Whitley contended his holdup partner, Ralph Taylor, 36, was the one who fired the fatal shots at Kellems and at Dugald A. Pelot, 23, a Michigan state trooper, in an earlier gun battle at Clinton, Mich.

Taylor died of wounds from a gun battle at a North Vernon, Ind., roadblock.

"I guess Ralph was just no good," Whitley said.

Noting that the shooting of Pelot left a baby son fatherless, he added: "A man like Taylor doesn't have any business living."
