

Hawks Invade Evanston For Northwestern Homecoming Wildcat Homecoming Fans Hope For Upset

By ALAN HOSKINS
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

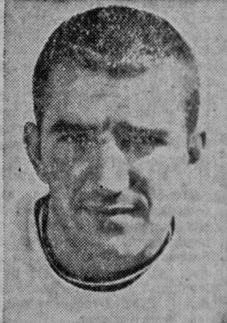

EVANSTON, Ill. — Iowa's unbeaten Hawkeyes, gunning for their second-straight Big Ten football championship, will try to evade the upset bug that has plagued the Big Ten as they battle Northwestern's dangerous Wildcats today.

An estimated 42,000 Wildcat Homecoming Fans will pack Dyche Stadium to see the 27th meeting between the two teams. Game time is 12:30 (Iowa time).

Iowa, undefeated in its two conference games, will be heavily favored to add the victory hungry Wildcats to their list. The Hawkeyes have been favored anywhere from one to three touchdowns, although most experts figure Iowa by at least 14 points.

Although the Iowa-Northwestern series was launched 60 years ago, the two rivals have not met since 1952, when the Hawkeyes upset the favored Wildcats, 39-14. Iowa leads in the series, 15 victories to eight, with three games ending in ties.

As far as statistics go, the Hawkeyes have the whole show. Iowa is the leading team in the nation on offense and has the best defense in the nation against rushing. The Hawks have averaged 455.5 yards per game on offense while holding opponents to a 209 average, of which 58.5 was by rushing.

The Wildcats, in losses to Stanford, Oregon State, Minnesota, and Michigan, have picked up a total of 924 yards against their opponents 1,460 yards. Northwestern has been outscored, 123-39, by its four opponents.

The Wildcats' hopes of upsetting the Hawkeyes center pretty much around the passing of sophomore quarterback John Talley and the ball-carrying of a pair of fleet backs, Bob McKeiver and Willmer Fowler.

Talley ranks as one of the leading passers in the country with 27 completions in 52 attempts for 244 yards. His favorite target is end Fred Williamson, who's been on the receiving end of ten passes, good for 121 yards.

The Wildcats, who have been mainly a running team, will probably take to the air much more today. Coach Ara Parseghian has said that he feels it will be impossible for the Wildcats to run through the Iowa line, so they intend to go over it.

The Hawkeyes pass defense has definitely been Iowa's weak department this year. Opponents have completed 43 of 99 attempts good for 602 yards, or almost three-fourths of the yardage gained against the Hawkeyes.

Leading the Wildcats running attack is 5-4 Bob McKeiver, who's

Hindus Celebrate 'Festival of Lights'

By MARILYN LYON
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

A string of colored Christmas tree lights draped across the eaves of the International Center will mark the celebration this weekend of the Festival of Lights for SUI's East India students.

Each year the students celebrate at SUI their national holiday "Deepavali" ("Festival of Lights"). Although this year the new moon day of the month of Aswin (which determines the date of the holiday) fell on Wednesday, the Indian students will not celebrate until Sunday.

They have planned a private celebration of entertainment and refreshment to take place in the International Center.

The Hindu anticipates the "Festival of Lights" much as the Christian looks forward to Christmas, said Krishan Kapur, ES, Delhi, India.

Hindus all over India and Eastern Pakistan take part in the Deepavali festivities, he said.

In India each home is gaily decorated with lights (hence the name of the celebration) and nearly every family has its own fire cracker display, Kapur said.

The observance of Deepavali is steeped in Hindu legend. In Eastern India, the people worship the image of the goddess Kali, to whom legend attributes the origin of Deepavali.

Kali, so the legend says, slew a dragon on the new moon day of Aswin, and thus brought relief to all peoples of the world.

In northwest India Deepavali is celebrated somewhat like our Christmas. Relatives visit one another and exchange gifts.

In this region the "Festival of Lights" marks the beginning of a new financial year. Businessmen open new accounts. It is a day for wearing new clothes and Lakshmi, the goddess of wealth, is worshipped.

Gambling, illegal during the rest of the year, is practiced for the festival. Kapur said many gamble the whole night away.

Not Reckless; Brakes Failed

A charge of reckless driving brought against Stephen A. Mourer, A4, Council Bluffs, early Saturday, Oct. 19, after his car ran onto the yard of SUI President Virgil M. Hancher's home was dismissed by Police Judge Roger H. Ivie.

Mourer Wednesday told Judge Ivie his brakes failed as he approached the corner of Clinton and Church streets and he was unable to make the turn into Church street.

Mourer's car mounted the curb, crashed through a hedge and up a small flight of steps before coming to a halt near the southeast corner of President Hancher's home.

See 'Godot' Next Week

All reserved tickets for Saturday night's production of "Waiting for Godot" have been given out, University Theater officials reported Friday. Some standing room tickets may be obtained at the theater tonight, they added. Tickets are available for performances next week.

Radar Caught 27 Speeders

Twelve SUI students and 15 other persons were charged with speeding Friday by Iowa City police. All 27 were tagged after passing a speed analyzer in the 200 block on Park Road.

Speeds recorded ran from 11 to 13 miles an hour above the 25 miles per hour limit.

French Frustrated

FRUSTRATION AMONG FRENCHMEN mounted Friday after all of France was hit by a strike of transportation workers. The strike paralyzed the country that has been shaken by a 27-day cabinet crisis. Former premier Guy Mollet was trying to end the crisis by forming a new government. His chances were considered dim. In the streets of Paris rubble piled up high as a consequence of the strike.

Gomulka To Clean Red Party, Calls For Bloodless Purge

WARSAW (AP) — Wladyslaw Gomulka in a major speech published Friday called for a massive bloodless purge of the Polish Communist party.

Out, he said, must go a whole series of antiparty factions and along with them crooks, rakes, speculators, drunkards, brawlers and all those whose inactivity is a "millstone around the party's neck."

Gomulka, the party's first secretary, demanded that the party congress, planned for December to elect a new central committee, be postponed to await his clean-up.

He blamed much of the party's difficulties on its size. He suggested half its present membership of about 1,300,000 might leave.

The first secretary told the opening party Central Committee session Thursday that discussions leading up to the congress could not be held in an atmosphere of doubt about building socialism-communism in Poland.

In the speech, made public Friday, Gomulka also declared such discussions must not be affected by what he called absurd theories about "the geographical position of Poland."

This in effect was an admission that much of the party wants a retreat from communism but believes a retreat will bring down intervention from the neighboring Soviet Union.

It was at just such a meeting of the Central Committee that Gomulka won power a year ago. The Central Committee, in three-day session, was discussing his speech Friday.

The postponement of the party congress came just six months after party leaders decided to hold it in December. The congress elects members of the Central Committee and plots the party's future role.

Gomulka's speech made it clear that his opponents — both progressives who want more independence from Moscow and the Stalinists — still are far from quiet. "In our situation, when there are diverse forces acting against the party's policy, it is not enough just to pass resolutions which have the backing of the majority of party members," Gomulka said.

"Too much of the party's energy is being wasted in carrying these resolutions into effect over the opposition of factors spreading ideological, moral and organizational decay in our ranks."

Soviet Spy Abel Convicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian Col. Rudolf I. Abel was convicted Friday of stealing American military and atomic secrets for Moscow. The maximum sentence is death.

The 55-year-old spy is the first foreign national ever to stand trial for his life on espionage charges in a civilian American court. He also is the highest-ranking Soviet agent ever brought to book in this country.

As he has throughout his trial in Brooklyn U.S. District Court, Abel seemed only mildly interested in the verdict returned by the jury.

As he left the court, Abel puffed out his cheeks and exhaled in a gesture that seemed one of relief at the end of the trial.

Judge Mortimer Byers, who now holds Abel's life in his hands, scheduled sentencing for Nov. 15. "I would have done the same thing," Byers said as he praised the jury's verdict.

No Comments On Syria After U.S.-British Meet

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower gave notice Friday he might fly to Europe to help rally free nations into a "genuine partnership" needed to protect their peoples better from Russia's threats.

The White House disclosed this prospect in a final communique summing up Mr. Eisenhower's three days of talks with Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan on moves to meet Russia's stepped-up military-scientific challenge.

The 1,500-word windup statement calls for a meeting of "special character" by representatives of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty nations in mid-December.

"The arrangements which the nations of the free world have made for collective defense and mutual help are based on the recognition that the concept of national self-sufficiency is now out of date," the Eisenhower-Macmillan statement said.

"The countries of the free world are interdependent and only in genuine partnership, by combining their resources and sharing tasks in many fields, can progress and safety be found. For our part, we have agreed that our two countries will henceforth act in accordance with this principle."

Prime Minister Macmillan left by plane for Ottawa. He said he was "very satisfied" with Mr. Eisenhower's promise to keep "close and fruitful collaboration" between American and British atomic scientists.

The White House said it "would not rule out" the possibility that Mr. Eisenhower and Macmillan would both represent their governments at the forthcoming NATO Council session.

The Council normally meets in Paris, but there was also the possibility it could convene in Washington.

The joint statement frankly linked the need for this partnership to Russian advances during the past few months in the missiles and satellite fields. Without mentioning either of these developments by name, it said:

"We do not ignore the fact that Soviet rulers can achieve formidable material accomplishments by concentrating upon selected developments and scientific applications, and by yoking their people to this effort. Despotisms have often been able to produce spectacular monuments."

The Western leaders added in a more optimistic vein:

"Even despots are forced to permit freedom to grow by an evolutionary process, or in time there will be a violent revolution. This principle is inexorable in its operation. Already it has begun to be noticeable even within the Soviet orbit. If free nations are steadfast, and if they utilize their resources in harmonious cooperation the totalitarian menace that now confronts them will in good time recede."

The Eisenhower-Macmillan "declaration of common purpose," couched in general terms, gave no hint how the leaders proposed to deal with Russia's military, economic and propaganda threats in the Middle East.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, announced he will support any legislation needed to carry out a pooling of scientific knowledge with Britain or other U.S. allies.

The present law limits the sharing of U.S. atomic weapons secrets with others.

DuPont's GM Stocks To Be Distributed

CHICAGO (AP) — The Government today recommended that the Du Pont holdings of 63-million shares of General Motors Corp. stock be distributed to the owners of Du Pont common stock.

The proposal was made by the anti-trust division of the Justice Department. It would allow 10 years for an orderly transfer.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in June that Du Pont illegally controls General Motors through its ownership of 23 per cent of GM's stock — 63 million shares worth approximately 2½ billion dollars.

The Supreme Court sent the case back to Judge Walter J. La Buy in Chicago — where the anti-trust action against E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. began — to determine how much of GM stock should be disposed of by the Du Pont interests.

The Government suggested to Judge La Buy that:

DU PONT holdings of GM stock be transferred to trustees.

The trustees arrange to distribute the stock to owners of Du Pont common stock.

THREE GROUPS would be barred from such distributions:

The Christiana Securities Corp. and the Delaware Realty and Investment Co., both Du Pont holding companies — and stockholders of the Delaware Realty Co.

Business May Go Down, Consumer Prices Up

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — A decline of perhaps one per cent in business activity in early 1958 with a recovery in the second half of the year was forecast by Secretary of Commerce Weeks and his business advisory council Friday.

The group, however, said that there was no reason to fear a recession. They also said there was no intention to ease the present tight money policy of the Federal Reserve System.

At the same time, commissioner of labor statistics Ewan Clague announced in Washington that the cost of living jumped to a record high last month.

The September rise was one tenth of one per cent, with the consumer price index up to 121.1 per cent of the 1947-49 average. The price increase, Clague said, was lower than usual for this time of the year.

Beeping Moon Loses 'Voice'

LONDON (AP) — Sputnik has lost its beep.

Scientists tracking the Soviet baby moon said it was still zipping through outer space around the world and right on course. But radio monitors said it no longer sends out its signals. Neither the beep nor the occasional whistle is heard now.

Apparently batteries powering the radio transmission have gone dead.

"The Russians said the satellite's batteries would last for three weeks, and it is exactly three weeks to the day," said a scientist at the radio observatory at Cambridge.

"The signals have lost intensity over the last week and were a hundred times weaker Thursday night, which probably means that the satellite will now be unobserved unless it is done by radar."

"From our measurements it is coming down by over 2 miles a day at its highest point of orbit, which is in the Southern Hemisphere, but it is more or less the same height over England."

Moscow radio Friday night made no mention of any battery failure on the satellite. It reported only that Russia's man-made moon was still speeding along course.

Weather

The siege of cold weather which pushed into Iowa late Thursday was expected to dominate the weather picture at least through Saturday night.

Skies will be clear but the air cold Saturday and Sunday.

"As soon as he gets his car parked, I'd like you to meet the top U.S. missile expert..."

Valueless Values

There is a rising tide of criticism of current American values - football has become big business, politics has become a dirty word, money has become an end instead of a means, religious has become another juke-box staple, our children can't read (and our adults, not very well), "love" has become a distorted, maudlin, sickly and impossibly inconsistent agglomeration of idealism, mysticism, cynicism, and euphemism and infantile maushikness.

Socialism is held up as a boogie, while many things - quite acceptable definitions of socialism are part of the warp and woof of our lives. We Americans dwell in past accomplishments, indulging in the relatively well known self-delusion called compartmentalization holding patently contradictory and inconsistent viewpoints at one and the same time. One such inconsistent view - much shaken recently - is that America is ultra-superior scientifically to other nations, and that all our "deviously clever" scientists have to do is apply themselves and we'll surge back into undisputed lead in scientific research, as we are now in undisputed lead in accumulation of consumer goods.

But there is one little hitch in the program. Our rewards have gone more and more to those members of our society who can sell, who control factors of production, or who can coordinate the organization - for business, government or research - not the ones who must do the difficult and not IMMEDIATELY productively-remunerative spawework.

Russia, with a logic that is as irresistible as the law of gravity, provides incentive for her best minds to go into the fields of research - social as well as physical sciences, although they do concentrate more on the "pure" scientists. She offers the highest wages, paid vacations, prestige, special privileges, and huge bonuses for successful work. We do not.

Perhaps our cartoon (this page) depicting the top American scientist, missile type, driving a 1912 Maxwell is an exaggeration, but you might very well place the above-average scientist's 1949 flivver next to the above-average salesman's or coaches' 1957 Ford-through-Cadillac.

Is it not time for a values re-evaluation? "The schools are one of the biggest users of tax dollars in the community. Taxpayers who supply those dollars have a right to expect that they be spent locally whenever and wherever possible. . . . These local business concerns not only provide some of the tax dollars but they support and contribute to school activity programs." -SULLIVAN, ILL., NEWS

"... the U.S. Treasury paid $600 million as interest on the $23 billion Social Security trust fund invested in Federal bonds. . . . In short, you've paid social security once when you pay tax - and you pay more on it every time the Government pays interest on those bonds!" -SUMMIT, MISS., SUN

"... Through the mythical 'average' American can buy almost 50 per cent more consumer goods than he could buy in 1929, inflation could play hob with the figures. It already is putting a painful squeeze on some people, and in some degree it is affecting all of us. Inflation, far from being a vague threat, is a real danger that can gobble up our economic advances unless it is kept under control." -TERRE HAUTE, IND., TRIBUNE-STAR

Letter to the Editor

Prof. Has a Good Question

TO THE EDITOR: A SPANK ON THE DIAPERS for those students who think the parking problem important! The solution is simple: abolish student parking lots.

By no means deprive the student of his right to have a car; bring the car boys back remember there is no place near the classrooms to park it. This juvenile business of direct and indirect threats to city and university is performing a tremendous disservice to the prestige of our university.

It merely brings attention to a problem, so defined, by a minority of students with a warped concept of the role of a university. LET US ASK this question. "Why am I attending the university?" The answer given by the university could be quite simple. A university is a seat of learning and accepts the responsibility of the training and sharpening of minds; this is its reason for being.

It also hopes to contribute to the social growth and physical well-being of the student. Now ask the next question. "In what way does the automobile foster these purposes?" The answer can only be negative. Are those who operate and assume responsibility for a car better students therefore? Ridiculous! Is the social prestige gained from squealing around a corner in a convertible more or less prestigious?

ANSWER: the most infantile of our student body knows that the convertible big-shot is a phony. Finally, does the driving to class contribute to the physical well-being? This is too absurd for answer.

GET RID of the parking lots; add to the library; build new laboratories and classrooms; expand the union; set up fifty new tennis courts. Above all apply this misdirected energy in ways which will create a better university; have protest meetings and soap-box oratory concerning the quality of instruction or library inadequacies.

Maybe we could have a vigorous community of scholars with a campus oriented social life, a genuine school spirit, and a recreational program which could rid us of the foam rubber engendered foam rubber bottoms of so many of the people about us.

More Comments-

TO THE EDITOR: The newspaper have certainly taken a fancy to the Sputnik story. Will the story, as is, last until the U.S. enters the fracas? Or when will our newsmen begin exercising your fancy to keep Sputnik alive? I witnessed an incident recently that abruptly broadened the area of Sputnik's influence.

Gala festivities were underway all over town Saturday night, spilled into being by that brave American concoction of celebrations, homecoming. . . . (Americans have hunted for many days and nights that must be celebrated and one could ask whether the manufacturers of celebration goods instigated some of them.)

But, back to Sputnik. As I left one of the more refined gatherings (refined being a party from which the celebrants leave of their own accord and under their own power of locomotion) Sunday morning, a couple of hours before dawn, the cold night air prompted me to look heavenward expecting a storm. Not so. A brilliant, star flecked canopy of black looked down on Homecoming, which, as rocket doth Sputnik, must follow Homecoming. And there, beeping across the sky in a manner that would have added a stanza to our national anthem had P. S. Key witnessed it, was Sputnik.

(And the Russian's red stare, Sputnik's beeping in air, Gave proof through the night That our Ike was no where.)

The sight froze me in my tracks (I missed the bridge trying to cross the Iowa River) and there I was, Sputnik spotting. The last act of this drama, you will say, resulted from the combination of party; an autumn night not long distant from Halloween; and a missed bridge.

The sight of Sputnik excited me, but more than exciting was the conversation I heard. A boy and girl were talking about Sputnik and boy and girl things. Just two voices, coming down from the night's void.

She: There's a nice cloud we can hide in. You talked me into coming up here so we could be together.

He: Hide? When there's something to ride? Just because I got killed driving a car too fast is no sign I've given the sport up.

She: But all my friends are down there. What if you get on that thing and can't get off. I can't get along with these people up here.

He: You're the cause of the two places. You might as well start learning to get along in both of them. Wish it'd come back around.

She: Always talked into things. You won't stay on it from now on will you? Will you come back and show me what you said you would?

He: Women! Thought you'd be like all the rest, but there's been no change. Nothing new. Ever since the beginning, too.

She: Don't say that! I've been hearing that for ages. I thought you were different.

He: Here it comes! I'll be back. Whoopie!

She: Jimmy! Come back! Don't leave me up here. Sains! Aw Hell! Homecoming, Sputnik, and the Iowa River just don't mix.

Rufus Balderdash B (for Billiards) G Gehenna, Iowa (ED. NOTE: Checking under Sputnik spotters in the student directory, we were unable to find the above name listed. It is strictly against our policy to print a letter under these conditions; however, we felt we could not deprive the public of Rufus' homecoming celebration.)

TO THE EDITOR: Speaking about organization - or more specifically - lack of it, I would like to call attention to a timely problem.

For the past two home football games, Gate 21 in the Student Section has not been opened until approximately starting time of the game. The result has been confusion, a feeling of injustice, and two very perturbed crowds of fans; the writer of this letter held a Gate 21 ticket for the Wisconsin game and consequently was a member of the second objecting crowd.

First of all, the congregation in front of Gate 21 is a barrier for other fans attempting to reach their gates. These people have to jump fences and go around other obstacles. This results in much confusion in general.

Secondly, this is merely an error in organizational procedure, or is it "premeditated discrimination" against the student section. Regardless of the cause, which is beyond common knowledge, the problem definitely exists and has permitted more than several hundred of Iowa's most faithful supporters to miss most of the first quarter of the game - an atrocity that would be outrageous even if it had not been the "special" Homecoming game.

With a little bit of leadership, the vociferous crowd would have stormed the gates and overpowered the guardian ticket-collectors. As it was, not a few critics of this event were heard. Probably the more overt rioters were held in check by those mindful of the women and children in the crowd who would have been endangered by such action. Thanks should also be expressed to the fellow in the back of the stands who kept the unfortunate informed of the progress of the game - the kickoff, Iowa's first touchdown, etc.

Possibly somebody could shoot a small amount of oil into the mechanism of the Athletic Department's ticket collecting agency and clear up the situation. Otherwise this could build into a problem that would draw more protests and comments in the D.I. than does Sputnik.

TO THE EDITOR:

How fine it is to see The Daily Iowan editorial staff behave like good little arch conservatives playing at running a real newspaper. For a time I feared that the editorial staff was comprised of radicals who put students' rights ahead of salary. Hearsay has it that in the real world publishers and advertisers control the editorial pages. How progressive it is for the school of journalism to prepare you for the Chicago Tribune rather than fill your heads with respect for ethical practices, community leadership, accurate reporting and other old fashioned nonsense.

The Daily Iowan is again safely dedicated to placating the university administration and the poor local merchants. The weak-kneed Student Council managed to keep their job prospects bright by not leading. The editorial board sagaciously decided to follow suit and lead from the rear.

Unfortunately, several graduate students and a surprisingly large number of undergraduates have sufficient confidence in their abilities to secure vocational opportunities that they have offered to champion a minor cause. By all means squelch this attempt to exert peaceful economic pressure before united student action is dangerously precipitated. (United action could lead to fair play in football seating, married student rentals, local minimum wage control or even original thinking in class rooms. By all means, nip it in the bud. This wild boogey group will antagonize the precious shop keepers. Cool organized action would preclude terrorists' activities of petty vandalism which make both good news material and a chance for editorializing.)

Do not even hint that boycotting can be both pleasurable and money saving. The practice of ransoming student cars will expand and enable you to make nice suggestions for curtailing individual transportation of underclassmen and other second class citizens.

Students seek out Iowa as a proving ground for conformity and a chance to see semi-pro football; stick to the sports page, INS! beauty contests and condemnation of hot headed radicals who will not accept injustice. Leave skillful reporting and student leadership to Missouri and Wisconsin.

Cornell's Culbertson Honored Gets Award For Teaching In Chemistry

The Iowa Section of the American Chemical Society presented Friday night the Iowa Award Medal to Prof. James B. Culbertson, chairman of the Cornell College Dept. of Chemistry at Mt. Vernon.

The award banquet was held at SUI in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Culbertson received the award because of outstanding achievement in teaching. The award was presented by Prof. Stanley Wawzonek, SUI Dept. of Chemistry. Prof. T. Edwin Rogers, chairman of Biology at Cornell College, told of Culbertson's life work and contribution.

Culbertson gave an address following the presentation of the award entitled "Retailing Chemical Education." He said, "Small liberal arts college chemistry instructors are by necessity largely dispensers not producers of knowledge in the field."

Despite the limited amount of time available to instructors in the small liberal arts college they should devote as much time as possible to doing research both in the field of chemistry and in teaching methods, Culbertson said.

"Chemistry is an integral and important part of the liberal education. In the scramble by industry and universities for top flight chemistry students small college teaching needs have suffered severely," he said.

Cornell's biologist Rogers said Culbertson has been active in research work and has encouraged his students to participate in his research programs. He said Culbertson has done research in several midwestern universities including SUI.

Introductory remarks were made by Norman C. Baenziger, asst. prof. in SUI Dept. of Chemistry. He is also the Iowa Section of the American Chemical vice chairman. Culbertson is the Iowa Section chairman.

The presentation was the tenth annual award. It is given in recognition of meritorious achievement in research, teaching, or industry.

NY Times' Sullivan Talks To Physicists

New York Times correspondent Walter Sullivan Friday interviewed physicists doing research at the SUI satellite station. Sullivan is covering all aspects of the International Geophysical Year (IGY) for the New York Times. SUI is one of the three data processing centers for this project.

Sullivan came to Iowa to deliver the first lecture in the 1957 Lecture and Artist series at Cornell University, Mt. Vernon, Friday evening.

Formerly Berlin Correspondent for the New York Times, Sullivan has made three expeditions to the Antarctic. Out of these expeditions came his book, "Quest for a Continent," and his interest in IGY.

Sullivan is the reporter who broke the news of Sputnik to the world. While having dinner at the Russian Embassy in Washington, he received a phone call from his paper, telling him of a rumor of a Russian satellite.

When he asked the Russian ambassadors about the rumor, they confirmed it.

In general, Sullivan said, the Russians are more informative about their scientific projects than they were before. Sullivan says he has never seen Sputnik, but he has heard its "beep."

Police Recover Car Stolen in Muscatine

Iowa City police Friday recovered a car which had been reported stolen earlier in Muscatine, but were still looking for a car reported stolen in Iowa City. The police said they believe the two thefts may be related.

Homer Berven, 837 Dearborn Street, called the police at 9:20 a.m. to report that his car had been stolen. The car is a two-tone green 1955 Oldsmobile, with license number 64-0245.

Mrs. Albert Kondora, Jr., 911 Rundell Street, had earlier notified the police of a car abandoned a few blocks from the Berven home. A Muscatine resident had reported the car as stolen.

Ellis Kondora, shortly before his mother called the police—reported that his car had been ransacked and a purse taken from it.

SUIowan Helps Rate U.S. Schools in Europe

Professor L. A. Van Dyke of the SUI College of Education is a member of a four-educator team now visiting and rating American schools in Europe.

Until late in November the four will visit high schools among the dependents' schools for United States military and civilian personnel from England to Italy, where approximately 80,000 American youngsters are getting their education abroad. The project is under the auspices of the U.S. Army and Air Forces in Europe.

The author of such volumes as "Toward General Education" and "What Good is High School?" Professor Van Dyke is also chairman of the Cooperating Committee on Research for the Commission on Secondary Schools of the NCA.

In 1949-50 he analyzed high school programs in the Philippines as a Fulbright professor under the auspices of the U.S. Philippine Education Foundation.

VEDDY EFFICIENT
The featured speaker for the Young Republican's meeting Thursday night called in before the event and reported he would be unable to attend.

At the meeting, because of a mix-up somewhere along the line, a film failed to arrive in time for showing. Its subject: "Efficient Procedure."

Mountaineers Offer 'Time-Lapse' Film-Talk Sunday

Hi-fidelity music and "lapse time" flowers will be two features of the film-lecture to be presented Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium under sponsorship of the Iowa Mountaineers. Julian Gromer will narrate the all-color film entitled "Atlantic Coast Wonderland."

Special automatic equipment built by Gromer makes it possible to "see" flowers growing 20,000 times faster than normal—to see them blossom from a bud to full bloom within seconds. A custom-made hi-fidelity tape recorder supplies the synchronized music, and sounds that were recorded on the spot.

A cruise down the intra-coastal waterway features "birthplaces" of the early United States—glass-making along Delaware Bay, historic Annapolis, iron work at Charleston, and colonial Williamsburg.

Adult "passports" for any seven programs of the 1957-58 series may be obtained for $4 and passports for 14 admissions for $7. SUI students or children's passports good for seven admissions cost $2.50. Single admission is 90 cents for adults and 50 cents for SUI students or children.

CREDIT LEAGUE SCHOOL
Holding an intensive three-day school this weekend at SUI are chapter leaders of the Iowa Credit League, including directors and board chairmen of the cooperative programs.

Sports of Sorts

Although statistics play a big and important part in college football, quite often they're misleading and must be taken with a grain of salt.

Not that I'm selling short Iowa's nation leading marks. I think the Hawkeyes are very deserving of the number one spot in the nation on both total offense and defense against rushing.

However, a look at statistics often fail to show everything. Purdue proved that at Michigan State last week and chances are, other teams will do likewise this week.

The most interesting statistics this week concerns Colorado's third place standing in total offense in the nation. So impressive is that mark that the Buffs are only 27-point underdogs to Oklahoma!

IOWA FANS should feel very fortunate to have the opportunity to watch the closed circuit telecast of the Iowa-Northwestern game in the Fieldhouse today.

The big TV screen, 12 by 16 feet which has been installed in the Fieldhouse provides excellent reception. I only hope there's enough attendance to warrant the closed circuit telecasts of the Ohio State and Notre Dame games, which figure to be very important.

Incidentally, although there's been no official announcement, it's pretty certain that the Iowa-Michigan game will be televised nationally over NBC next Saturday.

JOHNNY BRIGHT, the former Drake star now starring with the Edmonton Eskimos, recently set a new one year Canadian Western Football rushing record of 1,501 yards to break the former mark held by Eskimo teammate Normie Kwong.

Bright's record is especially impressive when you consider the fact that Canadian football allows no down field blocking.

I have a strong feeling that Johnny would have been equal, successful had he remained in the U.S. and played in the National Football League. He was drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles, but chose Canadian ball instead.

BOB MCKEIVER, Northwestern's small (5-4) but very dangerous halfback, who will be one of the Wildcats main threats against Iowa today, predicts Michigan will upset Minnesota today.

"Michigan's the best team we've played," said McKeiver. Northwestern lost to Minnesota, 41-7, and Michigan, 34-14.

Something's Gotta Give—Title Contenders Battle

Illini at State; Gophers Meet Wolves Today

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—The bunched title hopefuls in the Big Ten football race start hacking away at each other today as the campaign nears the halfway mark.

One unbeaten contender and five once-defeated clubs are involved in three of the four conference games.

The day's program affords only one contest fairly easy to fathom. That's the invasion of Evanston, Ill., by Iowa's defending champion Hawkeyes (2-0), heavily favored over winless Northwestern (0-2).

The loop's other undefeated team, Ohio State (2-0), plays at Wisconsin (1-1) where it's Dad's Day for the "baby" Badgers, the season's surprise team.

Three pre-season favorites, Michigan State (2-1), Minnesota (2-1) and Michigan (1-1), plus dark horse Illinois (1-1), are at the crossroads in the title chase.

MSU, the nation's No. 1 team until its 20-13 upset by Purdue, is host to the Illini, who spilled Minnesota 34-13 in another stunner last Saturday. Minnesota and Michigan struggle for the Little Brown Jug and championship survival in the Gopher Homecoming game.

Two Big Ten teams have outside engagements. Purdue (1-2) takes on spunky Miami of Ohio at Lafayette, Ind. Reeling Indiana (0-3) finally meets somebody in its own class against Villanova although the invading Wildcats rate a touchdown favorite.

Outside the conference, undefeated Notre Dame seeks its fourth consecutive victory against visiting Pittsburgh and buffered Marquette tries to avert its 16th straight defeat in a homecoming fray with Texas Christian.

Figures Show Colorado May Beat Sooners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A look at current football statistics might lead to the belief that Colorado's team, long a difficult rival for Oklahoma to handle, might stop the Sooners' 44-game winning streak Saturday. But don't count on it.

People who observe football professionally know there's more to the game than figures show, and they've established Oklahoma as the nation's No. 1 college team and as favorite to win by about four touchdowns.

Even though Colorado has come within eight points of Oklahoma in three of their last four meetings, some of the others could turn out to be closer and more exciting than the 1957 Sooner-Buffalo clash.

The inevitable conclusion is that if Colorado should win, it would be an upset to obscure all those that happened last week.

Al Lopez Named AL Manager Of Year

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—"I am very grateful. It's a high honor and I'd like to thank the writers."

Al Lopez made these comments Friday when told he had been voted the American League Manager of the Year for 1957 in the annual Associated Press poll.

Relaxing after a torrid season in which his Chicago White Sox made an unexpected challenge for the flag, Lopez said "I really couldn't have done the job without the players. They really put out for me."

Lopez received 83 of the 180 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America. Paul Richards of Baltimore was named on 70 ballots. Casey Stengel of the pennant-winning New York Yankees, last year's Manager of the Year in the junior circuit, got 25 votes. And Pinky Higgins of the third-place Boston Red Sox had the remaining two.

Looking ahead to next season, Lopez said "We are trying to make a couple of trades. We can use another good pitcher and if we can strengthen our staff I think we can stop the Yankees."

The 49-year-old pilot, who was hired by the White Sox following his release by Cleveland a year ago, predicted a great future for outfielder Jim Landis. Landis hit .212 in his rookie campaign.

"I was a little disappointed in him last year," declared Lopez. "But he's going to be a whale of a ballplayer. He's going to play winter ball in Venezuela and I think he'll show a lot of improvement next year."

Football Games Cancelled By Flu

Three Iowa college football games this weekend were called off because of the flu.

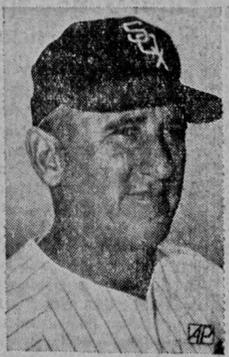

The Iowa Conference game at Luther between Parsons and undefeated Luther, scheduled for today, was cancelled because of illness on both squads. The game will be played later if needed to determine the conference championship.

Buena Vista's Homecoming game with Central College at Storm Lake — also scheduled for today — was canceled and the Graceland-Tarkio, Mo., contest scheduled for Friday night was postponed until Nov. 16.

Eleven more high school games scheduled for Friday night were postponed or cancelled, boosting to more than 40 the number of high school games which will go unplayed this weekend because of the flu.

Swimmers To Start Drills

Coach Dave Armbruster issued his forty-second and last call to start swimming practice at Iowa.

Armbruster, the only man to coach Iowa swimming, will retire after the 1958 season after starting his coaching career at Iowa in 1917.

It is expected that ten and possibly eleven lettermen will head an outstanding Hawkeye swimming squad. Leading the pack will be Co-Captain Lincoln Hurring and Gary Morris, the speedster from Clinton.

The Big Ten championship is scheduled at Iowa this year in nature of a tribute to Coach Armbruster, and all around it looks to be a great year for Iowa swimming.

Busso Over Kerwin In Televised Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Favored Johnny Busso of New York spoiled substitute Gale Kerwin's big time boxing debut Friday night by outpointing the Valley Stream, N.Y., lightweight in a bristling television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Busso weighed 138½, Kerwin 139½.

Promoted from the semi-final after first Paolo Rosi and then Ernie Williams were stricken by the flu, Kerwin was leading until he ran into a flashing left and right to the chin that dropped him for a nine-count in the sixth round.

Hawks After Third Win In Conference

regarded as one of the most dangerous halfbacks in the Big Ten, McKiever has gained 172 yards in 31 carries this season for an impressive 5.5 average. Willmer Fowler at right halfback, has gained 169 yards in 35 carries for a 4.8 average to rank right along side McKiever.

The Iowa attack is geared around quarterback Randy Duncan, one of the leading passers in the nation, and a group of fleet halfbacks, namely Mike Hagler, Bill Gravel, Bill Hoppel, Kevin Furlong, Geno Sessi and Ray Jauch.

In Duncan, the Hawkeyes have come up with a worthwhile successor to Kenny Ploen, last year's brilliant field general. Duncan has completed 30 out of 47 pass attempts for 559 yards and five touchdowns to rank 12th in the nation. Also, Randy's defensive play, ball handling, and field generalship has been quite impressive in Iowa's first four games.

Duncan's favorite target is end Jim Gibbons, who has caught 14 passes, good for 261 yards to rank eighth in the nation.

On the ground, six Hawkeye backs have gained over 100 yards. Leading the group is Mike Hagler with 201 yards for a 7.1 average. Bill Hoppel is second with 162 yards and a 5.6 average, followed by Furlong, Gravel, Jauch, and fullback Don Horn.

Iowa's defensive prowess centers around a line which averages almost 220 pounds per man. Key performers in the big forward wall are Mac Lewis, 289-pound center, and tackles, Alex Karras and Dick Klein, 223 and 250 pounds respectively. Iowa will outweight the Wildcats approximately 15 pounds per man.

Iowa Coach Forest Evashevski has been worried about the condition of the Hawkeyes. Rain has curtailed practice most of the week, causing the Hawks to miss valuable scrimmage sessions. Also, Evy is worried that the Hawkeyes might suffer a letdown, and suffer the same fate Minnesota and Michigan State met last week.

Iowa goes into the contest with an 8-game winning streak. The Hawkeyes are tied with Ohio State for the Big Ten lead with 2-0 marks.

Phils Seek To Televis Games To New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, on the verge of closing a deal for the television of 78 games into New York next season, may have to compete with another National League club for the attention of the metropolitan TV viewers.

The Associated Press learned Friday that the Cincinnati Redlegs have been contacted by a New York television station for the purpose of piping its home games into the vast territory vacated by both the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Redlegs, acknowledged he had been approached several weeks ago but said no definite proposal was made. He asked that the television station not be identified because, as he put it, the conversation reached no further than a preliminary stage.

If the deal between the Phillies and station WOR-TV goes through, as expected, the club will televise a majority of its home games and some of its road games into New York for a reported $600,000 fee.

President Bob Carpenter of the Phillies and Gordon Gray, executive vice president of the station, held their second conference in two days, but were unavailable for questioning.

Despite the secrecy, it was believed that the two parties were in accord and awaited only the approval of other National League clubs and the New York Yankees before making the formal announcement.

The Yankees, it was learned, plan to televise a number of road games back home, in addition to their 77 games played at Yankee Stadium.

ISC Meets Kansas State

AMES (AP)—Iowa State, seeking to regain the edge which until a week ago made it the surprise team of the Big Eight Conference this year, meets Kansas State in a homecoming football game Saturday.

The Cyclones, who, in the words of their coach, Jim Myers, were "simply flat" in a 35-13 loss to Missouri last week, face the same type of Missouri split T defense.

Iowa State must also contend with the passing of Dick Corbin, who cut the Cyclone defense for 170 yards in last year's 32-6 Kansas State victory. The Cyclones have the conference's weakest pass defense this fall.

Kansas State has failed to win a conference game in two starts, losing to Nebraska 14-7 and to Colorado 42-14. But it has a four-game winning streak over Iowa State.

A nationally recognized authority on suspension systems, Mr. Polhemus directs Structure and Suspension Development Group of GM's Engineering Staff, helps guide Chuck in his professional career.

Because engineering is a profession at GM -we offer you a career - not a job. ONE REASON engineering standards at General Motors are so high is that GM recognizes engineering as a profession. And the men who engineer the many different products made by General Motors are respected for the profession they practice. That is why, when you are invited to join General Motors as an engineer, you don't simply take a job—you start a career. It is a career that is rewarding both professionally and financially—starting on your first day of association with General Motors at any one of its 35 divisions and 126 plants in 70 cities and 19 states. During your early days at GM, for example, you work with a senior engineer who guides your career along professional lines. You are also actively encouraged to pursue your education towards an advanced degree. For we at General Motors recognize that, in doing so, you will become more valuable to us and the engineering profession. You are given the opportunity to obtain professional recognition through participation in engineering society forums, presentation of technical papers, winning of patents and other recognition of your accomplishments. And you are also encouraged to take an active role in your community's affairs—because a truly professional man is a good citizen as well as a good engineer.
