Sleepy Moves; May Play Pro Ball For Bears

Dick (Sleepy) Klein, the Hawkeye's 250-pound tackle, apparently has decided to leave Iowa without finishing his last season of eligibility.

Klein moved his household goods out of Married Student Housing Friday afternoon without notifying the housing office or formally checking out of the University.

Klein declined comment on the move, saying: "I don't want to talk to any reporters or anyone. I just want to leave quietly."

There has been much speculation this week on the star tackle's plans. His Iowa teammates have not seen him and his home telephone has been disconnected.

Hawkeye football coach Forest Evashevski pointed out Thursday that Klein is married and has two children, and suggested that financial troubles might be bothering him.

Commenting Friday, Klein said: "I have been reading in the papers about my financial troubles. I have no more financial problems than other people."

"I'm leaving Iowa City for personal reasons," Klein added.

Klein said he was troubled with ulcers.

Klein again declined comment when asked if he were leaving the University permanently, but did say he still hopes to play professional football.

Klein was drafted a year ago by the Chicago Bears and had said previously he planned to join them following the completion of his college eligibility. Klein is still eligible for another season of Big Ten football.

"Right now," Klein said Friday, "I'm going to Decatur (Ill.) and just rest up for a while."

A brother, Fritz, of Pana, Ill., and a friend helped Klein move his belongings to Decatur, which is about 30 miles from Pana, Klein's home town.

Pentagon Plans No Missile Site Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon considers unfeasible any transfer of the missile testing program from public gaze in Florida to the secrecy of the Pacific.

Reaction to the Vanguard failure last week has included demands for greater secrecy.

The Defense Department position was outlined more than a year ago by Deputy Defense Secretary Donald Quarles. He said a shift to the Pacific was impractical because there was not the closely-linked chain of islands for observation that exists in the Cape Canaveral system and there would be a great problem of operating a shuttle system to move scientists, technicians and equipment.

Tough Kansas State Battles Iowa Tonight

By ALAN HOSKINS
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Iowa's unbeaten Hawkeyes get the job of regaining some of the Big Ten's lost prestige tonight as they battle tough Kansas State, conqueror of two Big Ten opponents.

The Wildcats, rated fifth in the nation by the Associated Press, have knocked off defending Big Ten co-champion Indiana, 66-61, and Purdue, 79-73, earlier this season. Both wins came away from home. Kansas State has also won its only home game this year, a 76-31 victory over Texas Western.

Iowa has beaten Southern Methodist, 65-60, in overtime, and Arizona, 80-63, in the Hawkeyes only two-outings, both at home.

Game time for the contest is 7:35 p.m. Radio Station WSUI will broadcast the encounter.

This is the third meeting between the two clubs, with Iowa winning the two previous games. Last year, the Hawkeyes upset the Wildcats.

STARTING LINEUPS

IOWA KANSAS STATE
Gentry (6-7), F. Booser (6-8)
Gunter (6-8), F. Abbott (6-8)
Swift (6-8), C. Parr (6-9)
McConnell (6-9), G. DeWitt (6-9)

Time and place: Saturday, 7:35 p.m., Ahearn Fieldhouse, Manhattan, Kan.

Radio Broadcasts: WSUI, Iowa City; WMO, Des Moines; KRNT, Des Moines.

85-83. The only other game was a 54-41 Iowa win in 1946.

Kansas State has been pointing at this game. The Wildcats want to avenge last year's loss, and appear to have the talent to do it.

Kansas State holds a decided height advantage over the Hawkeyes. Averaging 6-4½, the Wildcats

Dulles with French Officials

SECRETARY OF STATE JOHN FOSTER DULLES, right, is greeted by French Premier Felix Gaillard, center, and France's Foreign Minister Christian Pineau at Hotel Matignon in Paris Friday. Dulles arrived in the French capital earlier in the day in advance of President Eisenhower.

French Pressure Dulles As Summit Talks Begin

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles arrived Friday for the NATO summit talks and immediately faced a critical problem of the Western Alliance — France's relations with North Africa. As the advance agent for President Eisenhower who arrives Saturday, Dulles met with French Premier Felix Gaillard, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and NATO's secretary general Paul-Henri Spaak.

On the eve of Eisenhower's new drive to restore a unity of purpose among the Allies, Dulles heard Gaillard state his price — support for France's attempt to maintain its influence in troubled North Africa.

French sources said Gaillard and Pineau led off with a demand for a coordinated world policy among NATO members, extending beyond the strict geographical area covered by the treaty.

Their first concern was the recent shipment of arms by the United States and Britain to Tunisia over French protests. France feared the arms would reach rebels fighting French rule in neighboring Algeria. London and Washington said they were trying to prevent Tunisia from turning to the Communist bloc for arms.

French sources said Gaillard urged Dulles to support a policy of close consultation among NATO Allies on all questions affecting other members. The NATO treaty covers Algeria but omits Tunisia and Morocco which the French regard as within their sphere of influence.

Pineau, speaking to newsmen after the French-American session, listed disarmament as one of the main topics before the NATO Council, along with steps to strengthen Allied cohesion. The

Is Gate a Butt Of Frustration?

A fascinating study on the behavior patterns evoked by frustration is currently available to SUI psychologists.

The butt of frustration is the electric gate giving access to the Hillcrest and Quadrangle parking lot. Its numerous trips to the machine and electric shops for repairs have caused some frustration among SUI officials, too.

Damage to wooden arms, electric switches and card supporting posts has cost the University about $100 to date, C. E. Holtcamp, foreman of the SUI machine shop, reported Friday.

"I would estimate the parking gate has been in this shop 10 times since it was put up late last summer," Holtcamp said. "I know that at least twice in one day the wooden arms have been broken off."

Wednesday the machine went to the electric shop, where a quarter was removed from the card slot. The coin had shorted and burned out the electrical wiring.

The parking lot is reserved for students living in the dormitories. They are issued a card to operate the parking gate when they purchase a reserved parking sticker.

have one of the biggest teams Iowa will meet. Should Kansas State coach Tex Winter decide to start 6-8 Wally Frank at forward, in place of regular Hayden Abbott, the Wildcats will average 6-5½ per man.

Frank, only a sophomore, is regarded by Winters as the Wildcat's "number-six regular." He was a standout against both Indiana and Purdue, scoring 13 points against the Boilermakers.

Starting at the other forward will be Bob Booser, 6-8 junior, who was unanimous All-Big Seven last year. Booser is averaging 21 points this year, scoring 27 and 25 against Indiana and Purdue, respectively.

Claims U.S. To Fire Half-Ton Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's missile chief disclosed Friday the United States is planning to put a half-ton earth satellite into orbit. But he didn't say when.

William M. Holaday also told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that the government has given national priority to perfection of the intermediate-range ballistic missile.

"We are accelerating the Atlas program," he added. The Atlas is an ICBM designed to carry a nuclear warhead to targets 5,000 miles or more away. It is being developed by the Air Force.

Holaday was the first witness called when the Senate Group resumed its investigation of why the United States has fallen behind the Soviet Union in some sections of the missile and satellite fields.

He acknowledged that it was a mistake not to use the Army's successful Jupiter-C missile, an IRBM, in an effort to put a satellite into orbit as early as September 1956. The first Soviet Sputnik went up last Oct. 4.

The Army has now been assigned to get a satellite up with a modified Jupiter-C as soon as possible.

AP Digest

TEHERAN, Iran (AP) — A violent earthquake leveled towns and villages high in the mountains of western Iran Friday. Unofficial reports said at least 600 persons were killed and thousands injured.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner took a hand in the five-day subway crisis Friday. Wagner met in private for 50 minutes with Louis Waldman, counsel for the independent Motormen's Benevolent Assn. Wagner said he told the lawyer he wouldn't discuss strike issues until the motormen go back to work.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said Friday the United States in its search for peace welcomes any hopeful sign from the Soviet Union.

Lodge spoke in the 82-nation U.N. Political Committee in reply to a speech Thursday night from Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov proposing a U.S.-Soviet treaty of friendship and peaceful cooperation.

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — Four persons were killed and at least four injured Friday in a flash fire that sent flames mushrooming through a one story building of a rocket fuel plant.

H. G. Jones, plant manager of the Thiokol Chemical Corp., said the fire apparently started in a mixing vat during the manufacture of solid rocket propellant.

Ike Flies To Paris For NATO Meeting

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER waves his hat from the ramp of his plane, Columbine III, before takeoff from Washington National Airport late Friday afternoon for Paris to attend the NATO Summit Conference. Maj. John Eisenhower, the President's son, is about to enter the plane.

Regents Hike Dorm Fees To Pay For New Buildings

SUI dormitory residents will pay $30 more for room and board next year.

Married students living in barracks apartments will pay an additional $10 monthly and residents of SUI's non-boarding dormitory for men (South Quadrangle) will pay $15 more per year.

The rate increases were approved Friday by the State Board of Regents at their December meeting. New rates will take effect at the beginning of the 1958 summer session.

There will be no rent increase for residents of Parklawn, SUI's permanent apartment building, Regents said.

In discussing the proposed increases with the Regents, university officials said they are needed by the self-liquidating housing system to finance dormitory and married student housing facilities now under construction and others planned to meet enrollment increases in the future.

Two such facilities are now being built — Burge Hall for 1,200 women students, and a dining addition to Hillcrest men's dormitory. A third project was approved Friday by the Regents — a 192-unit married student apartment.

The State Board of Regents Friday authorized SUI housing officials to negotiate for financing construction of 192 new permanent apartments for married students and their families.

The proposed "Hawkeye Apartments" would be built on a 240-acre tract a mile west of Iowa City.

The plan authorized Friday is a modification of a plan to build 500 apartments, submitted to the Regents last spring. The Regents approved the original plan in June and authorized SUI officials to seek financing for the project.

University officials told the Regents Friday that they had been unable to obtain sufficient capital to finance the original project, estimated to cost approximately $6 million. By "scaling down" the project to 192 apartment units, which they estimate could be built for $2.6 million, they believe that financing can be obtained.

Present plans call for Hawkeye Apartments to consist of 12 two-story fireproof buildings, each containing 16 apartments. Each apartment will contain a stove and refrigerator, but will otherwise be unfurnished. Heat and water will be furnished, but tenants will pay for their electricity.

University officials expect rent on each apartment to be about $85. SUI currently operates 698 temporary barracks apartments and the 28 permanent apartments in Parklawn.

Boy Injured During Fire In Lone Tree Plant

A storeroom in the Lone Tree Locker Plant, Lone Tree, was damaged extensively by fire Friday afternoon.

The fire was reported by Douglas Abrams, a local tavern owner. Cause of the fire has not been determined, John Smid, fire chief, said.

Don Mullinix center on the Lone Tree basketball team, received cuts on two fingers of his left hand as he helped evacuate furniture from the burning building.

United Air Lines May By-Pass City

United Air Lines was given a Government go-ahead Friday from Washington to stop service to Iowa City.

The Associated Press reported that Curtis C. Henderson, Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) examiner, has recommended that United be permitted to discontinue its flights here.

The air line currently operates eastbound and westbound flight out of Iowa City, both in the early afternoon.

Henderson's report will become final in 15 days if no exceptions are filed. It is expected, however, that some will be filed.

Henderson proposed that Iowa City be made a stop on the Ozark Airlines route between Des Moines and Chicago. His findings came in a case that has been before the CAB since 1955.

United, over the protests of Iowa City, has petitioned CAB for permission to suspend service and consolidate its eastern Iowa operations at Cedar Rapids.

Iowa City and Chamber of Commerce officials gave testimony in hearings at Omaha and Washington during 1956. The city has been served by a cross-country airline for 30 years.

May Have Found H-Power Control

PARIS (AP) — British scientists were reported Friday night to have discovered how to control for peaceful uses the awesome power released in hydrogen explosions.

Diplomats of three nations said Britain's government is preparing to announce soon some details of what has been described as a controlled hydrogen reaction.

In the United States, a leading American scientist said he believes Britain may have found the secret of tapping the heavy hydrogen in ordinary sea water as an unlimited source of power.

The British Atomic Energy Authority reported cautiously several weeks ago that some progress had been made toward harnessing the H-bomb. That announcement said the scientists of both Britain and the United States had made progress in experiments aimed at producing hydrogen power inside a laboratory.

Will Attempt To Strengthen Western Unity

Columbine in No Danger From Atlantic Storms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower took off late Friday for Paris and the summit meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Looking relaxed and smiling broadly, Mr. Eisenhower showed no outward sign of disturbance over heavy anti-NATO propaganda attacks from the Russians, any more than he exhibited any superstition over it being Friday the 13th.

Mr. Eisenhower's admittedly tough job is to strengthen the Western Alliance, which has been shaken by a number of events, including differences between the Allies and Russia's new military-scientific advances.

His big plane, the Columbine III, lifted him and his party from National Airport as dusk gathered. He is due at Paris this afternoon around 3 p.m., Paris time.

Mrs. Eisenhower watched the takeoff standing by the car that brought them from the White House. They had kissed goodbye in the car.

The White House said that only the customary safety precautions were being taken on the flight, even though a bad storm has been raging over the North Atlantic.

Three U.S. Navy ships from the Atlantic Fleet and a Coast Guard ship are stationed in the Western Atlantic on the line of flight, while three British ships and a U.S. Navy destroyer line the eastern end of the route.

The President's pilot, Col. William G. Draper, said that in spite of the storms, the weather forecast given him was the best he had ever had at this time of the year. London weather experts reported flying conditions along the route were fairly good and the plane would have no difficulty due to the storms.

A refueling stop was on the schedule, at Loring Air Force Base in Maine.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and other officials, some American and others from the diplomatic corps, were at the airport to say their goodbyes.

Several hours before takeoff time, Mr. Eisenhower presented an impression of being in exceptionally good spirits. Cameramen made pictures of him and a caller, Ambassador Daniel Ahlming Chapman of Ghana, and reported he joked with them and seemed more alert than he has for some time.

When Mr. Eisenhower helps open the meeting at Paris Monday it will have been just three weeks since he was stricken with a blockage of a small artery in the brain, a mild stroke. His doctors said last Tuesday he was fit for the trip.

The President's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, was among those with him aboard the Columbine.

Indonesian Army Halts Seizure Of Dutch Firms

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia's army chief ordered a halt Friday night to the seizure of Dutch businesses and threatened severe punishment if his orders were disobeyed. The effect of his decree remained to be seen.

The action of Maj. Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, army chief of staff, was announced after President Sukarno, smiling but tense, made a personal appearance to disprove reports that he had been ousted by a triumvirate and made a prisoner of the army.

Earlier, it had been announced that the 56-year-old Sukarno is leaving the country within a week to recuperate from mental and physical exhaustion.

Premier Djuanda, a Socialist nonparty man, asked Parliament to swear in Speaker Sartono, a 56-year-old moderate Nationalist, as acting president, but a government spokesman indicated the Premier and Gen. Nasution actually will run things.

Gen. Nasution's orders to all military commanders directed them to take supervisory control of seized Dutch enterprises in an orderly way and to bring all problems in connection with the supervision to the central military administration and the government.

Quad Queen and Court

The Fence

It's just a matter of safety, good manners and a public relations job.

The fence that now shields the Stadium Park residents from the hazards associated with construction of the new press box is one of those things that may be classified as a necessary evil, and likely to remain right where it is until the press box is finished.

But the manner of handling the situation has left much to be desired. Notification that the fence was to be built was received after the fence was constructed. Complaint brought by a student representative, "you can always move," a student wife reported.

So far the buck has been passed back and forth from the married housing office to the Athletic Department — and no one is "responsible" according to both.

As any neophyte public relations man or psych major can tell, it's not only what you say, but how you say it. And this is precisely where the University — in the person of the married student housing representatives — have fumbled the ball. True, only a half-dozen families are involved, but they have been unnecessarily alienated. It is probably only thoughtlessness, but even so, it should never have happened.

So much for the public relations-good manners part.

Much more important is the SAFETY aspect.

The fire department can reach the blocked-off homes by coming in on Melrose Ave. and driving through the narrow, winding streets. No need to count the obstacles — tricycles and other impediments to a fireman's progress. But at least protection is afforded.

But after-dark walking conditions in the area are an important safety factor that has not been attended to. The area is not well lighted — there is only one light for the whole blocked-off section, and that grossly inadequate to handle the job. There is no path, a particularly unpleasant and even dangerous situation, especially in view of the poor lighting.

The University should immediately: Install sufficient lighting equipment to eliminate all dark areas in the fence area; put in a crushed gravel path for the safety and convenience of the students and families during the construction period, and "escape hatches," that adults can open should be constructed in the protective fence to minimize the danger in case of fire.

Breaches of manners and inadequate public relations efforts we can overlook as human failings and therefore forgivable.

Neglect of safety is quite another thing.

Honor Under Covers

From time to time, books, paintings and sculpture by SUI graduates and staff members are displayed in the foyer of the General Library. Since Wednesday morning, there has been a different kind of display there. It consists of the work done by several undistinguished SUI library users.

In three glass-topped cases is a ragged array of books and magazines. These publications, all from the library shelves, have been robbed of from fractions of pages to more than 19 pages by eager individuals who were too pressed for time — or to lazy — to take notes. Or perhaps they were too strapped financially to make use of the library's Verifax machine which will reproduce a page in 60 seconds for 12 cents.

At any rate, people using sharp-edged tools and free-hand tear, have excised what they wanted from the publications and smuggled their booty successfully out of the library. Much of the stolen material is difficult and expensive to replace, and in the case of some out-of-print and rare books, next to impossible.

Theft in the library is by no means a recent development. Officials report that robbery not only of pages, but of whole books has been going on since the library opened. Library employees, to be sure, are instructed to watch for offenders. But it is nearly impossible for a small number of library workers to keep large numbers of students — many of them hidden in stacks and reading booths — under continual surveillance.

SUI's library is one of the few in the United States using the open stack system. At most university and college libraries, students must submit orders for books to a librarian and wait (often in line) for the librarian to find the books and bring them in from the stacks. This can be time-consuming and — when some of the books turn out to be the wrong ones — frustrating.

The open stack system presupposes a certain amount of good faith among library users. The guard at the library door can't supply the good faith. He can only attempt to keep it present and operating. It is curious that two articles recently cut from magazines dealt with the honor system among college students.

Is Business in a Slump? Depends on Point of View

By GEORGE KAUFMAN Daily Iowan Economics Columnist

The answers one finds in newspapers and magazines to the question of whether the nation is at present in or heading for a business slump, are not only varied but even contradictory. This is not due to the variance of information available to the different observers, but rather to the latter's different opinions on the same facts. The answer therefore depends on which economic indices one focuses attention on.

Those who are optimistic, and these are seemingly in the minority, focus their attention mainly on gross national income which is continuing to rise, in money terms at least; wholesale and retail prices, which are continuing to spiral upward, increased government defense spending, construction and the recent easing of money by the monetary authorities. They also pin their hopes on a record Christmas sales year and increased automobile production which would aid the slumping steel industry.

Those who recognize the multitude of unfavorable factors, they de-emphasize their importance. Fortune magazine analyzes the recent McGraw-Hill capital spending by business survey, which showed a 7 per cent decline in anticipated expenditures on plant and machinery investment for the coming year with respect to 1957, as only a mild indicator of business easing. Comparing the expected decline in capital-goods purchasing with that of past recession eras, Fortune finds that it is smaller than the decline in 1933-34, only half as great as the one in 1948-49, and a fraction of the sharp declines of the 1930's. On the basis of this and other observations, Fortune concludes that "what is now in prospect is no 'slump'." Of course this depends on one's definition of "slump."

Those who are not so optimistic about 1958 are definitely in the majority. They point to the fact that steel production is down by 25 per cent over last year, with operations at only 70 per cent of rated capacity. Total railroad freight loadings, a good measure of business activity since nearly everything produced is also transported sometime from source to market, have declined steadily for many weeks and are down more than 10 per cent from loadings in the corresponding week last year. Unemployment and business failures, which have accompanied all recent slumps, are on the increase. Personal income — an aggregate measure of money in peoples' possession before taxes — and the Federal Reserve Board's index of production — an absolute measure of output — have also indicated a halt to our rapid economic expansion of the past three years.

Though not directly measurable, business atmosphere is an important index. From recent statements of leading businessmen and activities in the stock market, the business atmosphere is one of combined pessimism and wait-and-see. Like many economists, businessmen on the whole are not sure what tomorrow may hold, the indices not being strong enough in either direction to give them a positive indication.

Three important recent observations should be included before our appraisal is concluded: 1. The Federal Reserve Board which only last month reluctantly lowered the discount rate, has followed up this action by open market operations reinforcing the policy of the easing of credit, with favorable results. 2. Automobile production, which is looked upon by many as a definite sign of how matters will go in 1958, has taken a turn for the worse after a good new model year start. Ford alone is planning to lay off over 3,000 employees in the Detroit area.

3. The recession, whether it is here or not, is already being used to explain numerous unfavorable factors, including a new post-war low in movie theatre attendance, and the

Want To Be a Cheerleader? —

4 Loud Men Needed

Cheerleading try-outs to recruit four male members for the present cheerleading squad will be held Monday through Thursday from 4 to 5 p.m. in 321A Schaeffer Hall.

The men selected will begin cheerleading immediately since there are four vacancies on the present squad as a result of four resignations.

The cheerleaders who handed in their resignations last week were: John Ballard, A4, Cedar Rapids; Jerry Harris, A3, Fort Dodge; Pete Usgard, D3, Decorah; Sandy Lohner, A3, Sioux City, the only woman cheerleader resigning.

None of the four who resigned could be reached for comment concerning the cause of their resignations.

Men trying out for the cheerleading positions will be instructed by the male cheerleaders of the squad. Candidates for the new squad will be judged Thursday on their performance.

The new cheerleaders will be chosen by all who were members of the cheerleading squad during this fall semester. The four new members will be announced Thursday, following the try-outs.

Six cheerleaders will lead the SUI fans at basketball games throughout the rest of the year. The squad will consist of the four new members and two of the three remaining women cheerleaders.

The three coeds will alternate. Only two will cheer at each game. The women still on the squad are: Jean Hansen, A3, Cedar Falls;

Carol Farchmin, D3, Kansas City, Mo.; Leri Shadle, A4, Boone. Tom Oblinger, A2, Grand Junction, the only veteran male cheerleader left, will be cheering on the microphone at each game. He will not participate in the cheering of the basketball floor.

Male students from freshman to senior classification may enter try-outs.

A charge of illegal possession of a gambling device was filed Friday against John C. Teufel, 226 E. Burlington St., owner of Joe and Leo's restaurant, police reported.

The gambling device is a pinball machine which gives free games when certain high scores are reached, officers said. The machine was seized about 3 p.m. Thursday while three young men were operating it, police reported.

The youths, who were not identified, told police they had run up a total of nine free games before the officers entered.

Teufel must appear in police court to answer the charge, Detective Lieutenant Harland F. Sprinkle said.

The pinball machine was locked up in a vault at the Johnson county courthouse as evidence.

Regents Name Three To SUI Faculty Positions

DES MOINES — Appointment of three new teachers to the SUI faculty was approved Friday by the State Board of Regents.

During their December meeting the Regents also approved two leaves of absence for faculty members, accepted three resignations, and authorized two changes in appointment.

Dr. Julius G. Baron, chief of radiology service at the Iowa City Veterans Administration Hospital, was named clinical associate professor of radiology in the Iowa college of medicine.

Dipti K. Chatteraj was named research associate in biochemistry. A native of India, he holds bachelor and master of science degrees and a Ph.D. from Calcutta University.

A former Iowa newspaperman, John M. Harrison, Oakland, was named instructor in the SUI school of journalism. Since 1947 the associate editor of the Toledo, Ohio, Blade, Harrison was previously associated with his father in editing and publishing the Oakland Acorn.

Harrison earned a bachelor of arts degree at SUI in 1934. Resignations from the Iowa faculty were accepted for Dr. Dorothy J. Arnold of the psychiatry department, who will enter private practice; Hugh G. Hansen, economics, who will become chief of the agricultural irrigation census in the U.S. Bureau of the Census, and Ralph E. Ellsworth, director of SUI libraries, who will take a similar position at the University of Colorado.

Wendell Johnson, professor of speech pathology and psychology, was granted a leave of absence effective Jan. 1 to serve as a special consultant in the U.S. Office of Education. He will help develop a program of grants for research and for training of professional personnel, designed to strengthen remedial training services for children with speech and hearing handicaps in the nation's schools.

Hunter Rouse, director of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, was granted a leave of absence effective next Sept. 1 to accept a senior post-doctoral fellowship awarded by the National Science Foundation for observation of research in European and British universities.

Dale M. Bentz, associate director of University libraries, was named acting director of the libraries, and Associate Professor Chester A. Morgan was named acting head of the department of labor and management in the SUI college of commerce.

Area Schools Study Merger

Three school districts in Sharon Township voted Thursday night to continue studying school reorganization. Frank J. Snider, county superintendent of schools, said Friday.

Two committees were formed to meet with steering organizations in other districts, he said. These committees will contact officials of the proposed Clear Creek District, around Coralville, and the Mid-Prairie District in Washington Township, Snider explained.

The three Sharon Township school districts are included in a tri-county school area. This area must decide before July 1 in which high school district it wishes to be included.

UCLA, USC, Cal Drop Out of League

Coast Powers Leave After Trouble In PCC

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three big powers of the Pacific Coast Conference — University of California, UCLA and University of Southern California — Friday decided to pull out of the 42-year-old league.

The USC board of trustees set the Trojans' withdrawal date as on or after July 1, 1958.

The board of regents for the California universities at Berkeley and Los Angeles voted to end their membership June 30, 1959.

The action climaxed a year and a half of bitterness within the conference which began in the summer of 1956 when heavy penalties were imposed on USC, UCLA, California and Washington for excessive aid to athletes.

Other conference members are Stanford, Oregon, Oregon State, Washington State and Idaho.

The withdrawals will leave USC, UCLA and California free to give financial aid to athletes on their own standards, to schedule more inter-sectional opponents and to police their own code.

The governing bodies of the three schools said they would fulfill their obligations to the conference until they leave.

Many observers feel that Stanford also will withdraw and that the PCC will be wrecked.

The bitterness of Cal, UCLA and USC against the PCC had intensified since the conference turned a cold shoulder last June to a five-point athletic policy program adopted by the California regents and a similar eight-point program set up by USC.

The immediate status of the Rose Bowl pact between the PCC and the Big Ten was unknown.

Victor O. Schmidt, conference commissioner, said "it is a great disappointment to me and, I am sure, to the whole conference."

The conference's troubles became public scandal when the penalties were slapped on UCLA, USC, Cal and Washington.

UCLA was put on probation for three years, USC and Washington for two years and Cal for one year.

They were fined a total of more than $250,000. UCLA, USC and Washington were denied the right to represent the conference in the New Year's Day Rose Bowl game during their probation.

Nearly 100 football players lost a year of eligibility. The conference later relented and allowed players who had been freshmen in 1955 to play five games in their senior year.

Des Moines Takes Steps To Remain In Western League

DES MOINES (AP) — The new operators of the Des Moines baseball team took steps Friday toward carrying out a plan that would enable the club to remain in the Western League.

The executive committee of Des Moines Enterprises, Inc., decided it needs a few weeks to organize a community-owned club and will ask the league to wait until next month for the city's final decision.

The league meets at Lincoln, Neb. Sunday. Last week President Neal Hobbs said all eight of the 1957 clubs would be expected by that time to declare their intentions for 1958.

Des Moines is now seeking to effect an agreement with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Herb Drey, Des Moines Enterprises president, said extra time would be needed to complete details with the Dodgers and to raise operating capital through sale of stock.

IOWA'S 250-POUND RIGHT tackle, Dick (Sleepy) Klein, is shown moving his household goods preparatory to leaving for Decatur, Ill. Klein apparently has decided to leave school, although he has a year of eligibility remaining. (See story on page one.)

Hawkeye Wrestlers Face Indiana Today

The Iowa wrestlers entertain Indiana today in their first home match of the season. The dual meet will be held in the Fieldhouse court starting at 3:30 p.m.

The Hawkeyes captured two individual championships last Saturday in the Iowa Teachers Invitational wrestling tournament held at Cedar Falls. Gary Kurldelmeier and

Ralph Rieks Hawkeye Point-Getter

Gordon Trapp were winners in the 177-pound and 191-pound divisions, respectively.

Kurldelmeier and Trapp, along with Ralph Rieks, will carry the biggest share of the load against virtually the same team as they had last year. He said their top wrestlers will most likely be Joe Shook (130 lbs.) and Nick Petronka (147 lbs.). Iowa beat Indiana last year in a dual meet, and went on to finish third in the Big Ten. The Hoosier grapplers finished sixth in the conference.

McCuskey said the Iowa squad will be ready to go with the exception of Larry Moser who is out with a sprained ankle. "We expect Larry to be back in action by next week though," the Iowa coach said.

Iowa's outstanding heavyweight grappler of last year, Baron Brenner, will be out of the lineup until the second semester, McCuskey said. Brenner suffered a pulled ligament during the football season.

Little Hawks Tip East Moline

By DICK LYNES
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Iowa City High fought off a fourth quarter East Moline attack here Friday night to win 47-40 over its Mississippi Valley Conference opponent.

The Little Hawks compiled a 40-24 margin early in the fourth period but then had to take the defensive to fight off a Panther rally that narrowed the score to six and seven point margins during the last eight minutes.

A group of East Moline reserves, led by Jim Pierson and Frank Loll, who scored 10 points between them, narrowed the margin to 40-33 and 42-36 before Iowa City went into a partial ball-control game.

Big Ten Rejects Iowa Plan

Iowa Teams In Squad Meets

It's season's opening for the Iowa swimming and gymnastics teams today when they start with intrasquad meets in the Fieldhouse.

Both meets begin at 2 p.m., and since the teams should figure well in Big Ten competition, the results will shed light upon the current prospects. There is no admission charge.

The swimming meet will find the varsity and freshman teams split up evenly and co-captained by star backstroke Lincoln Hurring and diver Jake Quick.

Some of the leading men to watch in each division: Sprinters: Gary Morris, Jim Coles, Bob Pratt, Jim Davidson and sophomore Vince Tolentino; distance: Earl Ellis, Keith Zastro and sophomore Ray Carlson; backstroke Lincoln Hurring; and divers Jake Quick, Bob McNamee and Estel Mills.

The gymnastics meet will pit the varsity members against the freshmen and will determine who will make the opening trip to Denver, Jan. 11, when the Hawks meet the Air Force Academy.

Top men to watch will be Ted Segura and Steve Carlson in the free exercise; Bill Buck on the side horse; Carlson on the horizontal bars; Buck, Carlson and Segura on the parallel bars; Segura and Carlson on the still rings; Carlson, tumbling; and Joe Tim, John McCurdy, Bob Justice, Dick Plato on the trampoline.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten Friday rejected Iowa's attempt to relax the controversial conference financial aid program for athletes by striking the "need" factor from the plan.

The conference approved in other action a proposal that conference football teams be permitted to play 10 games, starting with the 1959 season. The limit is new nine.

The proposal to increase the number of football games any conference team can play is subject to approval by faculty directors of the individual schools.

If no school objects to the plan within the next 60 days, it will stand. If one or more schools do object within that period, then the matter will be suspended until the March conference meeting. At that time, a simple majority vote of the Big Ten athletic organization will decide it.

At the same time, the policy-making faculty representatives tackled another touchy proposal. It was a suggestion by the University of Illinois to put a curb on so-called "stock-piling" of athletes by keeping them in school five years instead of the customary four.

The faculty group called in the athletic directors for a joint discussion of the Illinois suggestion that athletic eligibility be limited to 8 semesters or 12 quarters instead of 10 semesters and 15 quarters.

Under the present rule, it is possible that athletes can be held out of competition, say in their sophomore year, and play three more seasons. The trade name for this practice, said to be growing in college football ranks throughout the country, is "red-shirting."

This is a reference to the red shirts such athletes wear, ostensibly as scrubs, in practice. While drilling daily, however, they don't play in Saturday varsity games.

The rejection of Iowa's proposal to cut the need factor from the financial aid program was entirely expected.

Continued haggling over shaping of the 1962 conference football schedule resulted in deferring this business until the March Big Ten meeting at Campaign, Ill. At that meeting, schedules for 1963 and 1964 also will be considered. The trouble, it was reported, developed from problems in booking suitable home-and-home series. With the 1963 and 1964 cards also to be considered, it was expected these differences can be erased at the March session. The grid coaches and athletic directors Thursday agreed upon a 1961 schedule. Cards up until then were drawn previously.

Hawks Seek Third Victory

ant, he's the team's leading rebounder.

Sophomore Larry Swift, the Hawkeye's leading scorer, will get the call at center. Swift scored 12 points against SMU in the Hawkeye's opener, then came back with a 27-point effort against Arizona.

At guard, senior Jim McConnell and either Earl Nau or Bobby Washington, both sophomores, will get the call.

Also certain of seeing considerable action will be sophomores Mike Heitman and Frank Mundt. The 6-8 Mundt missed the Arizona game with a throat infection, but has recovered.

Others who will probably see action are center Tom Payne, forward George Seaberg, and guard Clarence Wordlaw. Payne, a starter against SMU, is one of the team's best rebounders, while Seaberg and Wordlaw have both looked good in relief roles.

Monday, the Hawkeyes move on to Wichita for a non-conference encounter with the Wheatshockers. Game time is 8 p.m.

Wichita, a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, is regarded as having the potential to be one of the best teams in Shocker history. The Shockers have won three, while losing only to tough St. Bonaventure this season.

Wichita is led by All-Valley guard Joe Stevens, one of the nation's best shooters. Stevens is leading the Shocker scoring with a 17-point average for four games.

Forwards Don Woodworth and Carl Schwartzkopf trail Stevens in scoring, with 13 and 11 point averages respectively. Ev Wessel, 6-9 center, is the fourth leading scorer and one of the top rebounders.
