SUI students — through Student Council — set a goal for themselves Monday and hurled a challenge at the rest of the state. The goal — to raise money for the research fund recently established to honor James A. Van Allen, head of the SUI Physics Department and director of instrumentation for the Explorer satellites. The challenge — to raise "twice as much as the whole state of Iowa" has contributed to the fund since it was begun in early February by a committee headed by Paul Franzenburg, Jr., Conrad businessman.

SUI STUDENTS and faculty are invited to send the Van Allen rocket into orbit — right off the top of the Daily Iowan page one! As SUI'owans add fuel to the "Van Allen Scholarship" fund watch this rocket soar each day toward its goal of $1,000—double the amount contributed by the rest of the State of Iowa. Let's give this rocket a $1,000 thrust!

Bill Teter, L.S. Student Council president, said Monday that students will conduct their fund drive Wednesday through Friday on the campus.

A "rocket" in front of Old Capitol — and on page one of The Daily Iowan — will be used to show how much "fuel" is contributed each day.

"We were disappointed when we learned that Mr. Franzenburg and his committee have received about a million dollars' worth of congratulations but only about $500 in cash contributions, for their idea of honoring this famous Iowa scientist," Teter said, continuing, "Our Student Council committee believes that SUI students themselves will respond better than that, and we're out to prove it."

Franzenburg said Monday that checks and cash totaling $480 had been received at the First State Bank of Conrad for the Van Allen Research Fund up to that point.

The fund is still "wipe open" to contributions, he said, explaining that money received will be presented to Dr. Van Allen for use with his students in the future.

Commenting on the Student Council's plan, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher said Monday, "I congratulate the Student Council committee for taking up this campaign, and wish it every success. Nobody can appreciate better than students themselves what it can mean to have financial assistance available when it is needed at some critical point in a student's academic career."

"It is particularly appropriate that our students should undertake to honor and show their pride in one of their own University scientists, whose work — and that of his students — has contributed so much to the success of this nation's satellite research."

Robert Burns, C4, Lake City, Chairman of the Student Council "Van Allen Fund" drive, announced that SUI'owans can contribute Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at any of the following collection points:

North side of Old Dent, Gold Feather Room, Outside University Library, East approach to Old Capitol.

Farnsworth Pleads Guilty, Sentenced To 18 Year Term

WATERLOO — Glenn Ray Farnsworth, accused of sex offenses involving three young girls here since January, was sentenced to 18 years in prison Monday afternoon. The 31-year-old married Marine from Hoi-sington, Kan., described as mild mannered, pleaded guilty to three charges before District Judge George Heath.

Farnsworth was sentenced to 10 years for sodomy, 5 years for assault with intent to commit great bodily injury and 3 years for lascivious acts with a child.

The sentences will run consecutively. Police, after a citywide search, linked him with sex crimes involving a 6-year-old girl last Jan. 17, a 5-year-old Feb. 7 and an 8-year-old last Thursday.

Two of the girls were found disrobed and abandoned on a country road.

A few hours after Thursday's incident Farnsworth was traced to his apartment here and arrested.

Farnsworth made no statement to the court when brought before Judge Heath.

His court-appointed attorney, Fred White, asked that Farnsworth be sent to the penitentiary rather than a mental institution.

He said that at a mental institution Farnsworth would be put in a ward for criminally insane and would receive no psychiatric help.

White said such medical treatment would be available at the penitentiary.

White said with treatment Farnsworth might become a respectable and useful citizen to society.

Farnsworth was stationed for the last two years with the Waterloo Marine Reserve component.

1955 'SUI Mother Of Year' Dies Here

Mrs. Julius Kunik, 51, SUI Mother of the Year in 1955, died Monday at University hospitals. Her death was attributed to cancer. Funeral services are to be held at the Oathout funeral parlor, with burial in Agudas Achim cemetery in Iowa City. In lieu of flowers, relatives request donations to the American Cancer Society.

U.S. Destined For Also-ran Role—Nikita

SZOLNOK, Hungary — Nikita Khrushchev said Monday Americans are good people but destined for second place in the race for world economic leadership.

"Now there are only two countries that compete with one another economically, the Soviet Union and the United States of America," the Soviet boss declared.

"England, France, Germany and the so-called advanced capitalist countries have been left far behind."

In a short time, he said, the U.S.S.R. will take the lead. "What country has the largest number of people getting higher education?" he asked. "Answer, the U.S.S.R."

"What country sent the first Sputnik into the cosmos? They were Socialist Sputniks."

"Who wants to overtake whom in science?"

"The United States of America would like to overtake whom in science? The United States of America would like to overtake the Soviet Union."

That got some laughter out of an otherwise indifferent crowd of 4,000 on a collective farm at Cegled, 40 miles southeast of Budapest.

The speech was one of three Khrushchev on his barnstorming tour of Hungary, the sullen satellite still under occupation by the Soviet army.

He told the Hungarians their 1956 revolution was caused by mistaking the nation's former Communist leaders.

He placed part of the blame on ousted party boss Matyas Rakosi, a Stalinist now in exile in the Soviet Union.

He called ex-Premier Imre Nagy, now believed held at a Romanian resort town, a traitor.

He said he hopes that a just rule will prevent any repetition of the 1956 events.

The crowd was somewhat bigger in front of the town hall at Szolnok, 15 miles farther on. But the loudspeakers were placed so that comparatively few could hear, and no one seemed to care much.

The applause was meager. Khrushchev denied the Soviet Union is exploiting Eastern Europe, but reporters heard some muttered dissent from the Szolnok crowd.

When he spoke of Hungarian wine, a middle-aged woman muttered: "We don't get any."

Fine T'ing! Throw Away Ticker, 'Losee Shirt'

Kenneth N. Koopman, G. Bussey, learned Monday to be a little more careful with what he throws away. He threw away a laundry ticket and ended up "losing his shirt," loosely speaking.

Koopman was fined $7.50 and $5.00 costs in police court Monday morning on charges of illegal disposal of household trash. He was traced through a delinquent license ticket and a laundry ticket found in the trash he dumped along Rockyside Drive.

The ticket was one of four delinquent license tickets Koopman has received this year. He was also fined $5.00 on the license charge.

Don't Rush Tax Cut—Anderson

WASHINGTON — Secretary of the Treasury Anderson Monday counseled against any rush to cut taxes. Instead, he advocated caution and prudence in dealing with the recession.

Anderson spoke in New York City on the eve of the Government's announcement today of March employment-unemployment figures.

The figures were awaited as a key to how the economy is responding now.

Most economists have predicted that instead of the usual March improvement, the jobless figure for the month will show some increase this year beyond the 5,173,000 counted by the Government in February.

Normally unemployment declines about 200,000 from February to March.

Officials hinted the new unemployed total will be between 5,200,000 and 5,300,000, or an increase in the neighborhood of 100,000.

Anderson said the Eisenhower Administration is ready to do whatever is judged helpful to promote the nation's economy, but said the remedies must be aimed at preserving stability and long term expansion.

Anderson seemed to pinpoint stronger sentiment in the Eisenhower Administration against cutting taxes as a tool to reverse the recession trend, particularly in view of the additional pump-priming spending measures before Congress.

U.S. Reproaches Indonesians for Buying Red Arms

WASHINGTON — The United States broke its silence on the Indonesian rebellion Monday and reproached the Central Government for buying Communist arms to kill fellow Indonesians.

"We regret," said a State Department statement, "that Indonesia turns to the Communist bloc to buy arms for possible use in killing Indonesians who openly oppose the growing influence of Communism in Indonesia."

This official view of the situation followed an Indonesian Government spokesman's disclosure that Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia had sold the Jakarta regime a quantity of arms — including Russian-built MIG jet fighters and Ilyushin bombers.

The State Department's statement, issued by press chief Lincoln White at a news conference, was expected to have some repercussions.

In reply to a reporter's question as to whether Indonesia's request for arms was "on ice," White said it was.

He said he could not say in advance what the U.S. reaction might be if the Indonesian rebels requested arms.

He rejected as without foundation charges that U.S. arms already were going to the rebels.

On March 6, U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones declared on his arrival in Jakarta the United States would carefully avoid any interference in the Indonesian crisis.

Batista Arrests 26 Men In Anti-Rebel Campaign

Top Physicist Dies in Crash

WASHINGTON — Dr. Mark M. Mills, 40, a top atomic physicist and expert in jet propulsion, was killed Monday in a helicopter crash at the atomic test site in the Pacific.

Deputy director of the University of California's Radiation Laboratory at Livermore, he was on a mission related to the forthcoming Eniwetok A-tests.

Dr. H. P. Keller, an associate, was injured in the crash. The Atomic Energy Commission said the helicopter was forced down by a rain squall off one of the islands in the Eniwetok Atoll and Mills drowned.

Says Raiders Also Capture Rebel Arms

HAVANA — Raiding squads arrested 26 men in Havana Monday in their campaign to smash rebel plans for a threatened general strike and street warfare.

Police said they seized arms, explosives, shortwave radio gear, a print shop, huge quantities of rebel and Communist propaganda and medical supplies.

The raids — part of a day-and-night search for rebel arsenals — formed one answer of President Fulgencio Batista's Government to the call by rebel leader Fidel Castro Saturday for "total, implacable war between the people of Cuba and the tyranny of Batista."

The bearded guerrilla has yet to make good on his declaration that 50,000 young, armed revolutionaries would rise at his bidding to crush the Batista regime.

Two insurgent columns that Castro sent out last month to tear up communications and transport in eastern Cuba's Oriente Province apparently are fading into the mountains again, leaving behind wrecked bridges and other handicaps to commerce and trade.

On the political front, eight judges of Havana's high criminal courts suddenly asked for retirement.

Their request came four days after Batista's Cabinet put into effect a series of decrees to put down any strikes.

One measure declared any judge ruling against a government official or agency would be fired immediately.

Minor clashes continued between rebel bands and government troops in Oriente Province.

Repulsing an attack on a sugar mill at Niquero, the soldiers killed one rebel and wounded one.

Railway traffic between Oriente and Camaguey was suspended after rebels blew up a string of bridges. The railways administration said building of temporary spans is being rushed, and traffic will be restored in a few days.

Rail service elsewhere was described as normal.

Dock workers at Guantanamo, on the eastern tip of Cuba, stayed away from the waterfront and asked the army's protection. They said they feared rebel attacks.

The Cuban army, which was unable to get in a solid blow at the guerrilla forces while they stayed close to their hideouts, claimed Monday it had isolated one column from the larger rebel force in the Sierra Maestra.

Castro used two bands, said to total about 1,600 men, in the first thrust of the all-out war he declared against Batista beginning Saturday.

The two columns were reported marching Saturday toward Santiago, Cuba's second largest city and the capital of Oriente province.

Later the rebels were reported destroying communications and halting transport around the city, and Castro declared armed rebels were on the march all over the island.

But Batista forces, believed to have thrown 10,000 men into action in Oriente province, claimed a band led by Castro himself had been cut off somewhere in the Sierra Maestra.

Rebel sources say this means nothing, that Castro has been cut off in these mountains ever since he started his revolt in December 1956.

A commune also claimed that the second column, led by Castro's brother Raul, was defeated and forced into the Sierra Cristal, northeast of Santiago and the Sierra Maestra.

The army said the rebels suffered heavy losses in an unsuccessful attack on an army post at Dos Palmas, 25 miles northwest of Santiago.

At Santiago, transportation, communications and business firms seemed to be operating normally.

Begin Viscount Crash Probe

MIDLAND, Mich. — Inspectors waded ankle deep in the muck of a corn field Monday trying to learn why a Capital Airlines Viscount plunged to its fiery end just 20 seconds short of a runway at Tri-City Airport during an Easter night snowstorm.

ALL 44 PASSENGERS and the 3 crew members aboard the Capital flight, bound from New York to Chicago, were killed.

There was no chance of escape as the one and one quarter million dollar British-built plane exploded and burned more than two hours.

Fred G. Powell, investigator in charge of the Chicago office of the Civil Aeronautics Bureau, said on-scene probe would last at least the rest of this week.

An FBI disaster squad has been requested by the airline.

Powell said it is too early to hazard a guess on the cause. He did add that there is no present intent to order grounding of the Viscounts, only foreign-built aircraft flown by a domestic airline.

Here was the scene as Flight 67, with William J. Hull as captain, made its final turn southwest of the airport and entered its final glide pattern at 11:18 p.m.

THE CEILING was 900 feet. It was snowing and blustery. Visibility was three miles. The flight was less than 20 minutes out of Flint's Bishop Airport, just a puddle jump back down the road.

Suddenly the Viscount plunged, smashing on its nose. Nelson Girardin, one of many who saw it, said a blinding flash of orange flame shot at least 100 feet into the air.

Wreckage and bodies spewed over several hundred yards. The main fin of the tail section knifed into the soft ground.

Hull, 44, had been a commercial pilot since April 1941. He had a national reputation for safety over more than a million miles of flying and wrote a safety column for the Airline Pilot, publication of the Airline Pilots Assn.

SOME OF the victims had not planned to be on Flight 67 last night. Eleven of them had waited at Flint for Flight 959. Bad weather closed the field briefly and Flight 959 flew on to Tri-City. The 11 boarded Flight 67 instead.

Three Bay City passengers, Dr. and Mrs. William K. Lee and Mrs. R. D. Carpenter, drove the 40 miles to Flint to board the plane after being told that the weather might make a Tri-City landing impossible.

The crash was the worst air tragedy in the United States since June 30, 1956, when 128 persons were killed in the collision of a Trans World plane and United Air Lines plane over the Grand Canyon.

Capital has flown the four-engine, turboprop Viscounts since July 1955. A spokesman said they have been performing exceptionally well. The last Capital fatal accident was in 1949.

The airline said that prior to last night, its Viscounts had flown 3,829,000 passenger miles without a fatality.

Total of 72 Productions—Slate Play Festival

A panoramic view of drama will be given in the 30th annual Iowa Play Production Festival at SUI April 11-19, according to Ronald Gee of the dramatic arts faculty, executive secretary of the festival.

Casts of 55 Iowa high schools and 17 community groups are registered.

Designed to broaden interest in the theatre, the festival will include a cutting from the Shakespearean comedy, "Midsummer Night's Dream," an old-fashioned melodrama, "Curse You, Jack Dalton," and the fairy tale "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Also on the playbill are comedies, farces, and intense dramas. The festival is divided into two main groups — community and high school presentations, the first for Friday and Saturday.

High school groups for April 16 through April 18. High school casts are grouped in three different classes, according to their school enrollment — A, over 450; B, 151-450; and C, under 150.

Judging the community groups will be Professor Edward L. Kamarek, assistant director of the Wisconsin Idea Theatre, extension division, the University of Wisconsin, Madison. Sharing judging responsibilities for high school plays will be Ned Donahoe, director of theatre, Grinnell College, and Roberta D. Sheets, former director of dramatics, Roosevelt High School, Cedar Rapids.

While the festival is not considered a contest, each play will be given a rating — superior, excellent, good, fair and poor. Outstanding performers will be awarded certificates of achievement.

Among the plays to be presented are six original scripts. The playwrights are Mrs. Alma Hanel, "The Vigilantes" for the Manchester Women's Club; Mrs. Vivian Zimmerman, "Blood Ties" for the Spencer Drama Club; Bill Davidson, "One Big Step," Waterloo Community Playhouse; Mrs. Will Bernstein, "Happy Is the Bride," Oskaloosa Woman's Club; William J. Cameron, "Change???" Mason City High School, and Monty Pitner, "Love Kept My Heart," Harlan High School.

High schools which received superior ratings last year included Iowa City, Ottumwa, Emmetsburg, Harlan, LaPorte City, Maquoketa, State Center, Tama, Waukon, Mount St. Clare Academy of Clinton, St. Mary's High School and St. Patrick's High School, both of Iowa City, and Olds.

Community play groups earning superiors last year were The Players Workshop, Burlington, Iowa City branch of the American Association of University Women; Iowa City Community Theatre; Spencer Drama Club, and Waverly Woman's Club.

The Daily Iowan is written and edited by students and is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the University...

'Who Cares About The Moon... Right Now?'

A Housing Survey

Sometime in the near future a report will be submitted to the Ames City Council concerning the results of a student housing survey being taken by the mayor's committee on housing.

The report will include final tabulations from a questionnaire sent out to 650 married student renters and suggestions for possible action to be taken by the council.

In the preliminary tabulations made so far, some committee members have expressed the opinion that most student renters are satisfied with present housing conditions.

Regardless of the trend indicated by these early returns, we hope that the mayor's committee and the City Council will not neglect the number of married students who expressed dissatisfaction with certain areas of their housing.

For example, in the first 150 questionnaires, 33 persons found some complaint with electrical features. In other significant areas, 23 students were not happy with fire escapes, while 27 had insect or rodent problems.

We do not think it important that the figures indicate that most renters are satisfied with electrical features, for example - what is important is that almost 25 per cent of the married students have found some fault with electrical features.

All of the mentioned areas are important to safety and comfort in living quarters. Thirty-three families living with unsafe or inadequate electrical features means that 33 families are living in hazardous housing units. When the final results of the survey are tabulated this number will undoubtedly be larger.

We feel that the mayor's committee and City Council must consider the survey results, not in view of the indicated trend, but in view of actual figures. Even though the number of students not satisfied with living conditions is not a majority, their safety and well-being is still essential.

If a system of permits and inspections to correct these features is necessary, then this action should be taken. And it seems that in light of the preliminary tabulations, action is warranted. We think all student renters should be able to expect minimum standards of safety and comfort in living conditions. It is not enough to merely conclude that the majority of renters are satisfied, therefore all is well. It would indeed be a tragedy if the majority were not living in good conditions. Now it is the minority that must be considered.

The Daily commends the City of Ames for showing responsibility to married student renters by conducting the survey. We are also happy to see that most student renters have found their living conditions satisfactory.

But we feel that if the efforts of the committee and the council are not to be wasted, the council must conclude these efforts with action that is visibly needed. And because renters have a right to expect safety and comfort in living quarters, this action should be taken without additional rental cost to students.

The Iowa State Daily Editor's Note: SUI hasn't the only married student housing problem.

Unemployment Insurance—

Economic Review And Outlook

JAMES MURPHY Graduate Student in General Business

The present recession raises some relevant questions concerning the various state unemployment compensation laws: To what extent should such laws fulfill the dollar need of carrying unemployed persons through to better days? Should other functions, for example, public assistance, supplemental federal grants, bread lines, help carry the load or should unemployment compensation (insurance) be the sole source of relief? Should the states continue to set their own standards for such laws or should the federal government assume the responsibility of projecting such standards?

Obviously these are weighty queries and are not to be answered in a few sentences. One general issue stands out in each, however, and this concerns the role of unemployment insurance as a means of providing for the security of the unemployed.

Existing state laws were forced into conception when, in 1935 as a part of the Social Security Act, Congress levied a 3 per cent payroll tax on businesses in the U.S. States who were willing to create laws relating to unemployment compensation which met federal standards (such as they were) could offset this tax up to 90 per cent. The federal tax coverage in effect insured that certain broad groups would be protected, and the connotations of the term "unemployment compensation" prescribed the general approach, as did the requirement of making payments through public employment offices. Beyond this, and some guaranty against misuse of the system, the development of the programs was left to the states. In this atmosphere the states developed widely differing laws, that is, the philosophy of the law differed as to benefits, eligibility, disqualifications, and benefit duration. The difference among state laws boils down to either a liberal or a conservative view toward the role of unemployment compensation in our industrial society.

Benefits vary among the states, from $25 to $60 a week. The Iowa maximum is $30 a week. Duration varies from 16 to 30 weeks. Iowa allows payments for 24 weeks. The thinking, in 1935, about benefits amounts generally focused on a 50 per cent of wages figure. When many of the state laws were passed the benefits were pretty close to this desired per cent. Even though the amounts have been, over time, gradually revised upward the payments now do not even closely approximate a 50 per cent payment of average weekly wages. This average wage, for both the U.S. and Iowa, is now well over $80 a week.

The states, over time, have generally liberalized the benefit amount, benefit duration, and eligibility requirements, but have added greatly to the provisions for disqualifying individuals from receiving benefits. This subterfuge may be due to the desire to retain a conservative law while seeming to liberalize it or it may be due to the experience rating provisions by which the employers tax is determined.

In any sense, such restrictive disqualifications do not fit into the total concept of a law designed to fulfill the needs of persons who became unemployed as a result of cyclical conditions which seem to be a part of industrial society. In some states (Iowa included) the disqualification provisions are extremely harsh and essentially inequitable in terms of a liberal law designed to prevent a total loss of purchasing power and enable the unemployed to maintain decent living standards. Ridiculously low benefits are unsatisfactory for the same reason.

President Eisenhower's recent proposal to extend payments for a certain number of weeks (all administration to be accomplished by the separate states) is a reflection of the inadequacy of the present varying state laws. While worthy for its intentions, this proposal can be and has been criticized by many who are concerned with its effect on the possibilities of improving the state laws.

A recent statement emitting from Princeton University and signed by nineteen well-known economists, states that "... the shortcomings of our state-federal system of unemployment insurance do not arise out of a lack of federal funds but, rather out of a long standing lack of federal standards designed to strengthen the capacity of the system to protect our citizens in a period of heavy unemployment."

The AFL-CIO opposes Ike's proposal for much the same reason, that is, not that it would not help those who are now unemployed but that it may prevent any permanent improvement in the existing laws.

Such an improvement is the proposed Kennedy-McCarthy Federal Unemployment Standards Bill. This bill sets those specific standards which were not included in the 1935 Social Security Act. Briefly, it would require that benefits be at least 50 per cent of a person's wage (not to exceed two-thirds of the average weekly wage for the particular state); would widen coverage and eligibility requirements; increase the benefit period to 39 weeks, and change disqualification provisions to more realistically conform to the acceptable reasons for being unemployed.

For Iowa, the passage of this bill would raise the maximum benefit from $30 to two-thirds of the average weekly wage. In November of 1957 this wage was about $84 and consequently the proposed benefits would amount to $56. The bill would also increase the duration of benefits from 24 to 39 weeks, and most desirably, do away with a few completely unrealistic and, in so many cases, quite inequitable disqualification provisions.

If President Eisenhower's plan for temporary relief will deter the passage of such a standards bill it will, in the long-run, do more harm than good. It is high time the inertia of the several states is overcome by setting those standards which will enable the unemployment insurance laws to more effectively fulfill their function.

These standards will also more explicitly suggest the role which unemployment compensation should play in our society. Such compensation should be the primary means of alleviating the distress caused by cyclical unemployment.

Slattery's Slants

I'm a security risk! You could have knocked me over with a feather when I heard that - me, the guy what's been so careful about his connections, never a hasty, ill-considered action, never... But, still, I'm handling a news channel and you never know. I got the first hint of it several weeks ago when my roommate told me "someone" called for me. "No, he didn't leave a message." Three, four, times that happened. Then a couple of people at The Daily Iowan told me there'd been a guy in to see me - "No, he didn't leave a message."

Then last Wednesday, as I was taking a little nap in the apartment, I heard a rap on the door.

It was he. "Mr. Slattery? I'd like a few words with you... about our security program..."

I feebly asked him to come in. I furiously racked my brain for THE misstep I'd taken, where my innocent proings had overstepped the bounds of national security, where I'd...

I was suddenly aware of his voice. "... a hard man to find, Mr. Slattery. I'll be frank with you - You're a security risk!"

Just like that. No preamble, no sly questioning. Blunt, straight to the point, unequivocal.

"Yes Mr. Slattery, you're a security risk. I've heard that you and a couple other fellows are starting a parachute club, and seeing as how you're older than most students - I thought you'd like to talk a little insurance..."

Little (age, not size) Joe Walters, Charles City, Iowa (I spent the Easter holidays there) told me that his buddy's father started the kid on a savings kick when he was just a wee tyke - and he was sixteen before he found out that the coin banks his daddy let him use were the parking meter, gas meter, and bus token machine.

LESSON FOR THE WEEK: A strychnine, saves time!

Discords and Doldrums—

Music Madness on Capitol Hill

By GEORGE DIXON

As if the Democrats and Republicans didn't have enough disharmony already, Rep. Charles O. Porter, of Oregon, is trying to stir up some more - over music.

The freshman Democrat from the Lower House is denouncing the senior Republican in the Senate, Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, for using the Army band at a political party.

The Johnny-come-lately Democrat charges that the ranking Republican indulged in a gross abuse of privilege by having the Army musicians play at a reception that Bridges gave for a group of New Hampshire women.

THE NEWCOMER insists that the veteran should have hired a private band if he wanted to entertain his visiting constituents. Porter has dragged Secretary of the Army Wilbur Brucker into the dispute. He wants Brucker to bill Bridges for the services of the service musicians. The betting is roughly 10,000 to 1 that Porter won't get far with his request.

Brucker and Bridges not only belong to the same party, but the latter is top Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee, which the Army has to woo for every dime of its money. BRIDGES, who has a laudable New England distaste for throwing away his own substance on entertainment, retorts that Porter is being downright "absurd."

The GOP dean points out that he gave his party at the Fort McNair Officers Club and that the Army band would have been wanded to the piccolo if he had called in outside musicians. Senator Bridges might seem to have a point, because I am advised by the Army band that it just loves to play for members of Congress, especially those who can do something for the Army. It must have taken raw, red courage for the band to assume this stand, but then the bandsmen are gallant warriors as well as musicians.

I AM TAKING no side in the dispute for these reasons. The Army band has long made itself available to many peculiar audiences, so why not for a right-thinking group of GOP women?

(2) The musicians have to play some place to keep in practice.

(3) I don't expect to entertain enough females at one time to require the services of a band. I submit this establishes my neutrality.

The only comment I will append is that Rep. Porter seems to have become obsessed with matters musical. The Oregonian has even made a frontal attack upon Marty Emerson, Secretary of the District of Columbia Federation of Musicians, because, in his Washington party-going, he hears songs about Texas, California, Tennessee, and Main, but never about Oregon. Rep. Porter wrote Emerson that Oregon has a "tuneful state song, entitled simply enough 'Oregon, My Oregon' but I am always frustrated" because no band hereabouts ever plays it.

HE ENCLOSED a copy of the "tuneful" offering. I am no music critic, and can pass no judgment on the tunefulness, but I can read words, provided they are not too long, and the lyrics strike me as sheer horror. Unfortunately the words are copyright, so I can't inflict them on you, for which you should be devoutly grateful.

If he isn't nice to me, however, I am going to dump "Oregon, My Oregon" upon Rep. Carroll D. Kearns, of Pennsylvania. He may welcome the diversion, at that, because it might help take his mind off "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Rep. Kearns, who is so far as I can ascertain - is the only member of Congress with a degree of Doctor of Music, suffers every time he hears the national anthem.

HE DECLARES it is pitched so high that no one can sing it. It is pitched in B flat, which any high tenor can sing. But presumably there is a dearth of tenor voters in Pennsylvania.

Doctor Kearns wants it reduced a tone, to A flat - and is prepared to do battle with every tenor in America, if necessary. 'Ol Doc Kearns is a Republican - and possibly he might make a distinct contribution to party solidarity by negotiating a deal whereby the Army band pitches "The Star-Spangled Banner" one note lower in return for the privilege of continuing to play free for groups of GOP women voters.

To The Editor:

(President V. M. Hancher State University of Iowa Dear President Hancher)

At a period of national concern over our lack of scientists and other highly educated laymen, Mr. T. M. Rehder, Director of Dormitories and Dining Services, and the Advisory Committee to him have stated that the University plan ($13,000/unit cost) is the cheapest for any type of married student housing which they have been able to formulate after a two year study involving 35-36 alternate plans.

The plan has been approved by the State Board of Regents and would have married students now living in temporary barracks (rent: $52.50/mo.) contribute monthly $10 now, $6 later, and possibly still more later to finance permanent apartments. As the dormitory policy exists today, faculty and staff members of the University have priority in occupancy, which makes one question if this is actually intended to be married student housing. The married students who could afford the $91/month ($85 rent, $6 utilities), or higher, can find this priced housing in Iowa City, quality uncondemned. It is neither the wealthy nor the parent-supported student who needs University housing. It is the undergraduate, graduate, graduate assistants, and self-supporting married students, who are already carrying a full class schedule and cannot find the time for outside work in order to pay for the rent increase or maintain rent for high-cost housing.

Conditions have changed greatly from the period when the members of the Advisory Committee financed their educations. The members are persons of no doubt great personal integrity and who sincerely believe in their selection. However, in their two-year study of blue-prints and other points involved; they have failed to avail themselves of what the typical married student needs in housing. Let's keep higher education a function of ability to learn, not ability to pay.

Thus, I suggest that the entire housing situation be reviewed. Select a committee of qualified (lawyers, economists, engineers, etc.) alumni to study the problem. They would be removed from the daily pressures of the local landlords and business establishments. Their concern would be for the improvement of SUI, its physical plant, and for the increasing number of married students (possibly their own children) who are expected to enroll here in future years.

The entire problem, which the rent increase and housing plan has uncovered, is no longer a small campus issue. It is a problem which every alumnus, every elected state official, and every individual who is concerned with the need for better education in our state needs to be aware of. It is my firm intention, as a citizen, future member of the Alumni Association, and potential land-owner in Iowa City, to see that interested parties become familiar with the problem. Your speech at the Medical Research Center dedication stressed the importance of education to men who use such buildings. At Ames you stressed the importance of consolidating our educational facilities. There must be acceptable living space for these men and their families to occupy. Surely you must be weighing the number of students to be lost against the 192 luxury apartments to be gained. I feel confident, because of your speeches which I have heard and read, that your beliefs concerning education, and the State University of Iowa in particular, will cause you to give serious consideration to this problem and its potential consequences.

Respectfully, Mrs. John R. Davis 118 Central Park

Daughter Of Lana Turner Still in Jail

HOLLYWOOD — Lana Turner's teen-age daughter was ordered held Monday to await further court action in the fatal stabbing of Johnny Stompanato, a romantic figure in her mother's life.

THE COURT refused to release Cheryl Crane, 14, to either of her parents or her grandmother. She was ordered detained until April 24 when she will appear for a hearing to determine whether she will be made a ward of Juvenile Court.

At that hearing, Cheryl could be completely freed, made a ward of the court and released to her family, or made a ward and placed in a private or a state institution. In juvenile cases under California Law there is no definite pronouncement of guilt or innocence and no fixed sentence.

THE TALL, shy schoolgirl has been in Juvenile Hall since Saturday. She was taken there from the Beverly Hills police station after killing Stompanato, 32, Friday night while he was quarreling with her mother in the actress' pink boudoir. Stompanato was stabbed with a knife.

Lana, her mother, Mrs. Mildred Turner, and Cheryl's father, Stephen Crane, second of Lana's four husbands, were present during the brief hearing at which their request for custody was denied. The hearing was closed to the public and press.

Superior Judge Donald A. Odell said he thought the interests of the child would best be served by removing her from all outside influences.

MEANTIME, Police Chief C. H. Anderson of Beverly Hills said Miss Turner had expressed fear associates of Stompanato might try to exact reprisals against her. "She is especially fearful because of the threats he made against her just before he was killed," Anderson said. "She has not requested a bodyguard but frequent checks are being made at her home."

Government Loses Battle To Costello

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court Monday killed a proceeding to take away New York racketeer Frank Costello's American citizenship.

The unanimous decision, however, left the Government free to start an entirely new denaturalization proceeding against Costello.

IN ORDERING dismissal of the proceeding started in September 1952, the court made no direct reference to allegations of Costello's counsel, headed by Edward Bennett Williams of Washington, that the Government's case was permeated by wire tapping.

U. S. District Judge Edmund L. Palmieri of New York dismissed the Government's complaint, but the U. S. Court of Appeals in New York reversed him.

Judge Palmieri held the Government affidavit supporting its complaint was based on wire tap evidence. He denied the Government permission to amend the affidavit.

IN REVERSING the trial judge, the Appellate Court said that, assuming the original affidavit to be invalid as a result of illegal wire taps, the Government should have been permitted to file a new sworn statement, rather than having its case dismissed outright.

In reversing the Appellate Court, the Supreme Court said in a brief unsigned opinion: "An affidavit showing good cause is prerequisite to the initiation of a denaturalization proceeding. The affidavit must be filed with the complaint when the proceedings are instituted."

THE GOVERNMENT sought to cancel Costello's 1925 naturalization as a preliminary to trying to deport him to his native Italy.

The complaint alleged Costello's naturalization was obtained illegally and fraudulently. It charged the former kingpin gambler had violated the Prohibition Act, failed to pay state and Federal income taxes during the five years preceding his citizenship application, and had concealed a prior criminal record.

Indian Swami to Give Yogi Instruction Here Thursday

Swami Vishnudevanda, internationally-renowned Yogi from India, will give a demonstration of yoga art at SUI Thursday in a class in "Religious Groups of America."

Following the class presentation, the Swami will conduct private and class instructions in yogic exercises in Iowa City and Cedar Rapids. He will give a public demonstration in the Unitarian Church Thursday at 8 p.m.

MARCUS BACH, professor of religion at SUI, met several swamis during his visit to India two years ago when he was doing research among the followers of yoga.

Yoga, ancient Hindu path to "spiritual reality," is supposed to mean "union between the soul of the individual and the supreme soul of the Divine."

HATHA YOGA, of which Swami Vishnudevanda is an exponent, teaches man to attain this union through controlled breathing and physical and meditative exercises.

In addition to the yogic exercises, there are strict rules for the development of health, spiritual culture, self-discipline and self-realization, Dr. Bach points out.

SWAMI Vishnudevanda is now on a world tour. He is professor of Hatha Yoga, Vedanta Forest University, Rishikesh, India. Those interested in studying in private classes with the Swami should contact Dr. Bach.

$500 Journalism Scholarship Open To Highschoolers

A $500 journalism scholarship in honor of Don Eck, for many years executive secretary of the National Editorial Association, will be awarded to a high school senior this spring by the SUI School of Journalism.

The scholarship will be granted to a senior who plans to begin the study of journalism at SUI in the fall of 1958. Applications for the scholarship are now being received, and will be accepted until May 20.

The scholarship has been granted to the SUI School of Journalism by the National Editorial Association Foundation, from funds received for the Don Eck Memorial Scholarship.

The scholarship will be paid at the rate of $100 in the freshman year, $100 in the sophomore year, $125 in the junior year and $175 in the senior year.

Seniors in the top one-third of their high school classes who have shown an active interest in journalism and who plan on journalism as a career, are eligible for this scholarship.

Eck, who had served for a number of years as executive secretary and general manager of the National Editorial Association, died suddenly after the fall conference of the NEA in Chicago in 1957.

Anti H-Bomb Rally Ends In Violence

ALDERMASTON, England — A 4-day anti-H-bomb march wound up Monday in a field beside Britain's nuclear weapons center with a rally and a fight.

It was the first violence since the marchers left London's Trafalgar Square Friday on the 48-mile trek to this quiet country village.

As the straggling, two-mile column of 4,000 persons filed past the locked and guarded gates of the atomic weapons research establishment, a loudspeaker car swung onto the road booming: "You're voting with your feet for Soviet imperialist domination."

Parade organizers hastily drove past the procession urging restraint. For a while the marchers obeyed.

But when the loudspeaker car was driven into the field where the marchers were holding their final rally, part of the crowd surged forward angrily.

THE LOUDSPEAKER suddenly went dead as a tire was ripped loose. The three men in the car climbed out to protest and the crowd closed in.

Despite the pleas of a parade official, fists were swung and noses were bloodied.

The hecklers in the car were Kennedy McWhirter, 34, a geneticist at Oxford University, his journalist brother Norris, and Oxford undergraduate John Legh.

Kennedy McWhirter said later he staged the protest on his own and not on behalf of any political organization.

"Interesting to see this supposedly non-violent demonstration turned to savage violence when the opposite point of view was put to them," McWhirter said.

The march was sponsored by a group of anti-nuclear weapon organizations and supported by a number of leading clergymen, intellectuals and members of Parliament. Hampered much of the way by rain and cold, it was the biggest demonstration so far in Britain for unilateral renunciation of the H-bomb.

THE PROCESSION dwindled at times to 600 persons. Many joined for short stretches along the route and went home at night.

Communists, not much in evidence during the first stages, appeared as the march approached the research station, selling their papers supporting the demonstration.

The marchers were joined by at least 2,000 more persons as they trooped into the field for the final rally.

The reactor consists of two main components — a tank containing enriched uranium fuel and an outer blanket of heavy water. In some unknown manner, part of the uranium seeped into the heavy water.

Scientists at Oak Ridge National Laboratory, where tests of the reactor were begun last December, shut down the experiments as soon as the trouble was spotted.

Earthquake Hits Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — A major Alaskan earthquake was recorded on seismographs around the nation Monday, but its center apparently was in a sparsely inhabited area where chances of damage were remote.

The quake, starting at 5:31 a.m. — 9:31 a.m. Iowa time — swayed light fixtures and toppled goods from shelves but caused no damage.

The Barber's Point Magnetic Observatory in Hawaii placed the quake center on the Alaskan mainland between Nome and Fairbanks.

Economist Sees No End To Family Farm in Iowa

AMES — Earl Heady, production economist at Iowa State College, says the family farm will remain the main farming unit in the Midwest.

But, he adds, the unit will grow, due in part by the use of modern farm machinery.

Heady said Friday economics research shows types of changes that are going on in Iowa tend to strengthen the position of the family farm — for families that remain on the farm.

He said the percentage of corporation farms in Iowa has been steadily decreasing.

Heady added that modern machinery generally means a family will have enough labor to operate more acres than before and also means the family will operate a bigger farm than in the past.

Loveless to Speak at SUI Friday at IAPES Convention

Nearly 100 Iowans, including Gov. Herschel Loveless, are expected to take part in the Iowa Institute of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security (IAPES) Friday and Saturday at SUI.

Gov. Loveless is scheduled to address the group at a Friday luncheon in Iowa Memorial Union, with K. A. Madigan, chairman of the Iowa Employment Security Commission, presiding as toastmaster.

The Saturday luncheon speaker will be George Elleson, Bay City, Mich., international president of IAPES.

Joseph M. Flynn, employee training manager and director of subscriber relations, Look Magazine, Des Moines, will speak Friday afternoon on "Your Public Relations Job."

Other sessions will include dealing with personnel problems, human relations in industry, and development opportunities for clerical personnel.

SUI staff members on the program include Director Jack Culley and John Flagler, program director, of the SUI Bureau of Labor and Management; John Muthard, coordinator of the SUI Graduate Program in Rehabilitation Counseling; and Cleo Casady, assistant professor of Office Management and Business Education.

COMBAT TRAINING. FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AHTNC) — Army Pvt. Lloyd J. Frei, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Frei, 1131 St. Clements St., Iowa City, Iowa, recently completed eight weeks of basic combat training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

THE CHILDREN came as usual with baskets of gaily colored eggs and managed to have a gay time although there wasn't much of the usual sitting on the green lawn.

The President's appearance was a highlight of the day. A chant of "we want Ike," went up from the crowd that had waited near the south portico.

"Mrs. Eisenhower joins me in saying happy Easter to all of you," the President said. The First Lady, wearing a bright yellow coat, threw a kiss to the crowd.

Seven youngsters were lost and found during the day.

Prof. Moeller To Write Encyclopedia Article. Leslie G. Moeller, professor director of the SUI School of Journalism, has been named to write the article on "Newspapers" for the 1958 International Yearbook published by Funk and Wagnalls.

The International Yearbook is produced each year by the publishers of the New International Encyclopedia as a summary of the developments in various fields during the year.

The article by Professor Moeller is to cover newspaper activities, and governmental and other actions affecting newspapers, throughout the world.

Iowa Vs. Luther In Home Baseball Opener Today

Poor Fielding Hurts Hawks At Arizona

Iowa's baseball team makes its home debut today against Luther with renewed confidence after sweeping a doubleheader Saturday over tough Arizona. Iowa had a 2-4 mark against the Wildcats.

The Hawkeyes will meet the Norsemen at 3:30 p.m. on the Iowa diamond. The two teams will play again on Wednesday and Iowa will entertain Western Illinois Friday and Saturday.

Iowa coach Otto Vogel said he will start Ron Drennan against Luther. The big right hander was beaten by Arizona in his only start against the Wildcats, 8-0. He gave up 11 hits in 7 innings on the mound, striking out seven and walking five. Six of the eight runs were earned.

Vogel said Monday he was pleased with the improvement of the Hawkeyes in sweeping Saturday's doubleheader from Arizona, but was very dissatisfied with the Hawkeyes' fielding. Iowa committed 26 errors in the 6-game series.

Vogel was pleased with the showing of three of his pitchers, although he did not get a chance to get a good look at some of his sophomore hurlers. The three who showed up well were Drennan, Capt. Jack Nora, and sophomore Roger Rudeen.

Rudeen hurled a 5-hitter against the Wildcats, Saturday, winning 8-3, after losing earlier in the week despite allowing only six hits. Nora won Saturday's opener against the Wildcats, 9-7, although he was rocked for 14 hits.

Catcher Dick Weatherly led the Hawkeyes in hitting on the Arizona trip. Weatherly was close to the .500 mark for the series. Vogel said the Hawkeye junior probably will get a rest in today's game. Weatherly ruptured a blood vessel in his hand against the Wildcats.

Vogel said the Iowa hitting was better than a year ago on the same trip. "I don't know about the percentages," said Vogel, "but we were hitting the ball much better." Last year's Hawkeyes finished in second place in Big Ten race.

Vogel said he expected to start shortstop Tom Hays in the leadoff position in today's game. He will be followed by second baseman Mike Bougdanos, who missed most of the Arizona games because of a sprained ankle. He is now ready. Batting third will be first baseman Don Rutkowski, with left fielder Fred Long in fourth. Bill DeBlonk, who will handle today's catching chores in place of Weatherly, will bat fifth.

Vogel is not sure who will open at third or right field. Either Glen Van Fossen or Les Zanotti will get the call at third. Van Fossen is a left handed hitter, while Zanotti bats right, so it may hinge on whether Luther starts a left or right hander on the mound.

Al Klinger, Al Scott and Wavern Garner are battling it out for the starting right field job. Veteran Kevin Furlong will open in center and bat eighth with Drennan in the ninth spot.

Vogel expects to start one of his sophomore hurlers against Luther Wednesday. The Hawkeye mentor says he knows nothing about the Norsemen, except they were supposed to play three or four games before today's encounter.

Nora and Rudeen will work Friday and Saturday's games against Western Illinois.

USC Scheduled For 2 Grid Tilts

Athletic Director Paul Brecher announced Saturday that Iowa has scheduled non-conference football games with the University of Southern California for the seasons of 1961 and 1962.

The 1961 contest will be played October 7 at Los Angeles. The 1962 game will be played here October 6. The 1962 game will mark USC's first appearance in Iowa City.

The Trojans and Hawkeyes have met twice before, each winning one game. In 1925, when Howard Jones was coaching the Trojans after leaving Iowa, USC won, 18-0. In 1950, the first year the Leonard Raffensperger regime here, Iowa defeated the Trojans at Los Angeles in a 20-14 surprise.

Pick Machen Over Folley

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Heavyweight Zora Folley, after earning the No. 2 contenders' ranking but not much money in five years of boxing, aims to cash in at the expense of favored Eddie Machen here Wednesday night.

The guarantee of $15,000 or 25 per cent of the net gate will bring the biggest pay day to date for the Chandler, Ariz., boy, but he and Manager Bill Swift see bigger things ahead.

Folley and Machen, the No. 1 contender from Redding, Calif., signed for this fight in hopes the winner can get a crack at champion Floyd Patterson.

The champ's manager, Gus D'Amato, has nixed Machen as a foe and has taken no firm stand on Folley.

The 25-year-old Machen is about 2-1 for the bout slated for 9 p.m. (Iowa time) and nationwide television (ABC). He is undefeated in 24 bouts including 16 knockouts. Folley, 26, has a 39-2-1 record, is unbeaten in his last 17 outings and has stopped 25 foes.

Should the bout go the full 12 rounds, scoring will be on the 10-point must system with the winner of each round getting 10 points and the loser 9 or less depending on his performance.

Chicago Duo Take ABC Doubles Lead

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Christ and Ed Snyder of Chicago took over first place in the doubles standings of the 55th American Bowling Congress Tournament (ABC) Monday with a 1279 series.

Samuel Walker Jr. and Bob Schaeffer, Canandaigua, N.Y., had clung to the two-man lead since April 1 with a 1267 score.

Christ, 42, led the attack with a 236-216-202-654 series. Snyder, 43, a trucking company representative, shot 212-224-189-625.

Ike Will Throw Out First Ball After All

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is going to throw out the first ball after all for the start of the American league baseball season here next Monday.

Previously, it appeared that a presidential trip to Augusta, Ga., for a golfing interlude would bar Mr. Eisenhower's appearance at the opening game. Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters plans for Augusta still are uncertain.

No Cockiness, Skiing, Bruins Are Warned

MONTREAL (AP) — Boston Coach Milt Schmidt laid down a double-barreled edict as his Bruins barged into town Monday to take on the Montreal Canadiens for the Stanley Cup championship of the National Hockey League.

Schmidt's orders: no cockiness; no skiing. The opening game of the best-of-seven series begins here tonight. The second game is to be played in Montreal Thursday. Games three and four will be played in Boston, April 13 and 15.

Schmidt's warning against cockiness was serious. "Last year we knocked off Detroit in the semifinals," Schmidt recalled, "and when we came here we started really talking. The Canadiens promptly knocked us over four games to one."

The ban on skiing wasn't all comedy by any means. After an hour's workout, the Bruins were taken to an inn in the ski-resort area of the Laurentian Mountains, 50 miles north of Montreal.

"I've got a few guys on my club who would be crazy enough to try skiing," Schmidt said. "Wouldn't it be something if one of them broke a leg skiing?"

With the exception of defenseman Doug Mohs, who suffered a back injury against the New York Rangers Saturday, the entire team was on hand for the game.

Coach Toe Blake reported his Montreal team at full strength.

Yanks Simpson Breaks Wrist

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP) — Outfielder Harry Simpson of the New York Yankees suffered a fractured right wrist when hit by a pitched ball in the fourth inning of his club's 20-1 exhibition victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Monday.

Simpson will be out from three to four weeks. X-rays disclosed a fracture of the protruding knuckle on the outside of the wrist. The arm was placed in a cast. The broken bones required no setting, however.

Simpson was hit by a pitch thrown by lefthander Curt Simmons.

Giants, Indians In DM Saturday

Iowa baseball fans will see two big league teams in action in Des Moines, April 12. The Cleveland Indians meet the San Francisco Giants at 1:30 p.m., at Pioneer stadium. The game will be next to the last spring training game of the two clubs. The major league season opens April 15.

Tickets are now on sale at the New Utica, Des Moines. Prices are $1.25 for general admission, $2 for box seats and $2.25 for loge boxes.

Byers Track To Run Race Horses He Owns

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — B. B. Byers, Tyler oilman, said Monday he bought the Charles Town, W.Va., race track in order to have a place to run horses he owns.

He declined to say what he paid for the track he bought from Mrs. Helene W. Boyle, who inherited it from her late husband, Al Boyle.

Palmer Cracks Tradition in Masters' Win

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer is the youngest Masters golf champion in 19 years. And he cracked the tradition that a long apprenticeship must be served over the challenging Augusta National Course before a player can claim a Masters title.

Palmer is 28, and he won this prestige event on his fourth attempt. Byron Nelson was only 25 when he won the 1937 Masters, Horton Smith was 26 when he captured the 1934 inaugural, Ralph Guldahl was 27 when he won in 1939.

Because the hilly, 6,980-yard Augusta National, with its massive, undulating greens, has become such an exciting, pressure-filled test of golf, veterans long have maintained that a player must spend an average of seven years getting the feel of the course before he can hope to win.

This is borne out by the fact

Golf Instruction Will Be Available Starting April 21

The Iowa City Playground and Recreation commission today announced the opening of registration for spring golf classes for men, women, boys and girls.

Herb Klontz, former University of Iowa varsity golfer, will teach the classes which will be held at the driving range of the South Finkbine course beginning Monday, April 21. Chuck Zweiner, SUI varsity golf coach, has assisted in securing an instructor and setting up the classes. The golf program will be supervised by Lee Poynter, recreation commission athletic director.

One class per week for eight weeks will be offered and the instruction fee will be $4.50, which includes the cost for a basket of 50 golf balls per meeting.

The following classes will be opened at the start: Monday, 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. and 5:30 and 6:30 p.m.; Tuesday, 9:30 and 10:30 a.m.; Wednesday, 5:30 and 6:30 p.m.; Friday, 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. Other classes will be added if needed.

Pre-registration is necessary for all participants in the program. Interested persons may obtain further information by calling the city recreation office at number 4350.

that since Sam Snead's first victory in 1949, only veterans such as Snead, Ben Hogan, Cary Middlecoff, Jimmy Demaret, Jack Burke Jr. and Doug Ford have been able to win. Snead and Hogan were 38 when they won their first Masters; Ford and Burke were 33.

But despite his relative youth and inexperience, Palmer came to the 1958 Masters with a battle plan.

"I have studied this course carefully and I'd been thinking about this tournament for some time," the son of a Latrobe, Pa., professional said. "I tried to watch how former winners won and I noted they played conservatively on some holes and gambled on some. I did just that."

Was he gambling on the dogleg 13th, where he scored an eagle-three in Sunday's final round? The two strokes he picked up there enabled him to three-putt the final green giving him a 73 for a 284 total, edging defending champion Ford and Fred Hawkins by one stroke.

"No," the former National Amateur champ said. "I don't consider that a gamble. I got off a good tee shot and had a good position to go for the green. I felt I could send a wood shot home over the creek."

Palmer's No. 3 wood shot sailed true and he holed an 18-foot putt. That eased the pressure considerably.

New Omaha Airway Nears Completion

OMAHA — A 1-way aircraft superhighway system in this area is just about complete.

The system will be ready to operate with completion of a new very-high frequency visual omnirange station near Neola, Iowa, within the next two weeks.

That word came Monday from Elmer A. Gerfen, chief of the radar approach control facility at both Offutt Air Force Base and Omaha Municipal Airport.

"The new station is part of a national plan to create more airways to handle the faster traffic of the jet age," Gerfen said.

The new station will operate in conjunction with a similar station 5 miles east of Offutt and a low-frequency station 5 miles north of the Municipal Airport.

The new station will send out a constant 360 degree radial signal.

ONE STATION will handle all westbound traffic, another all eastbound and the new Neola station will control all north and southbound traffic," Gerfen explained.

The advantages of the new system will be these, he said:

— More traffic can be safely handled in the area.

— More "highways" at various altitudes will be available for through aircraft.

— Intersections in the sky can be established off the regular airways near Omaha. This would enable approaching aircraft to be held in safety in time of flight emergencies or traffic-rush periods.

MEANWHILE, Omaha has become the only city in a dozen mid-west states to control both civil and military aircraft traffic with a combined "rapcon" operation.

"Rapcon-radar approach control permits CAA personnel to hold a tighter rein on incoming, blind-flying traffic.

"We can see the planes on radar and can control descent and climb much closer," Gerfen said. Though the pilots continue to fly by instrument, the planes being watched on the radar screen can be much closer together.

Two accidents were reported to Iowa City police over the weekend.

Janet Davis, 1675 Ridge Road, received treatment for a bruised shoulder in Mercy Hospital Sunday night, after a car in which she was riding struck a pole in the 1100 block of East Court St. The car was driven by Andres Sellweger, 1029 E. Court. Glass and a fender on the car were damaged.

Alfred F. Boyd, 219 1/2 E. Benton, struck an unattended car parked on the 200 block of College St.

Moe Whitebook Opens New Men's Store in Iowa City

College men have one more clothing store in Iowa City this week where they can buy a summer suit, shirt, or any other item of wearing apparel.

Moe Whitebook's Men's Wear, 7 S. Dubuque St., opened Monday and carries a complete line of clothing for the male college student and professor.

Whitebook said the clothing will generally fall in the middle price range and will include both casual and formal wear.

This is the first venture as a store owner for Whitebook, but he was a men's clothing salesman in Iowa City for ten years.

One of the special shop services is a personal guarantee on all merchandise sold, Whitebook said. This includes all brands and labels. He said he has attempted to stock brands which were of good dependable quality.

Jet Tanker Trying For New Record

OMAHA — The Strategic Air Command reported one of its swept-wing Stratotankers took off from Yokota Air Base near Tokyo, Japan, at 2:37 p.m. (Iowa time) Monday in an effort to set a non-stop, nonrefueling record.

The KC135 jet will attempt the 7,662-mile trip in about 15 1/2 hours, arriving over Washington, D. C. at 7:07 a.m. today. The time would be a record for the Tokyo-Washington run.

A SAC headquarters spokesman said the 4-jet tanker might be ordered on to Madrid, Spain, without landing.

This decision, depending partially on prevailing jet stream winds, will be made when the KC135 reaches the Washington area.

The Tokyo-Madrid distance is 11,494 miles, a record distance for a nonstop, nonrefueled flight, the Air Force said.

Iowa City Firemen Put Out 2 Blazes

Two minor fires were reported Monday to the Iowa City Fire Department.

Cruickshank Candidacy Status Hearing to End Today

DES MOINES — District Judge Russell Jordan Monday promised a ruling by noon Tuesday on an injunction action to prevent certification of a Sioux City man as a candidate for nomination for commerce commissioner in the June 2 primary election.

Judge Jordan also ordered attorneys for both sides to give arguments on the law involved at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

THE INJUNCTION is being sought by Commerce Commissioner John Ropes of Onawa to prevent John Hamilton Cruickshank of Sioux City from becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination.

Named as defendant in the action is Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst, who under the law must certify all candidates for the primary election by Tuesday afternoon.

As the hearing opened, Assistant Atty. Gen. Don Swanson, representing Synhorst, told District Judge Russell Jordan the law requires Synhorst to certify all candidates by Tuesday noon.

HE SAID Cruickshank had not been served with a notification to appear at the injunction hearing, that he had not been made a party to the action and that he "might be deprived of his right of candidacy through an action of which he has no official knowledge, and indeed may have no knowledge at all."

He also said Cruickshank would have no appeal if the injunction were to be granted because there would be no time left for an appeal.

SYNHORST testified that 2,937 signatures are needed on nomination papers to qualify a candidate for the commerce commissioner race in the primary election. He said Cruickshank had 3,065, including the disputed signatures.

Of the signatures which have been challenged, Synhorst said 24 appeared without the date on which they were affixed to the petition, and 121 appeared on sheets which ostensibly were notarized on March 27, whereas the signatures were dated March 28.

If all the challenged signatures were thrown out, the secretary of state said, Cruickshank would lack 17 signatures of having enough to qualify for the ballot.

Hints Reds Testing Live Atom Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles said Monday night the Russians may have test launched some long range missiles carrying live nuclear warheads.

Quarles declined to say how accurately the United States can detect Soviet rocket launches. But he said he would be surprised if in the extended Soviet tests this year they have not tested the possibility of putting atomic warheads on long range missiles. He doubted the Soviets have test launched intercontinental range weapons.

Admirals Differ On Sub Danger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two high-ranking admirals have given a congressional committee different estimates of the Soviet submarine threat.

"I want to emphasize that we are not in a 'deadly peril today' or that large numbers of Russian submarines lying off our coast threatening us with missiles," Vice Adm. V. W. Davis Jr. said in testimony Feb. 21 before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover told the subcommittee March 4 the possibility of attack by Soviet submarines firing atomic or hydrogen missiles is "the gravest immediate threat that faces the United States."

Their testimony was made public in a censored form Monday. Davis is deputy chief of naval operations for air. Rickover heads the Navy's nuclear propulsion program.

Davis said the Soviets have no nuclear submarines "except for the bare possibility that they may have one experimental model." Rickover said that "we do not know definitely whether the Russians are working on an atomic-powered submarine threat into proper perspective."

Rickover said about half the Red subs "are long range ones capable of coming close to our coasts."

Rickover said the best way to counter the Soviet submarine threat is "by means of our own nuclear power attack submarines."

He said such submarines primarily intended to destroy enemy undersea craft are even more important than the special submarines being developed to fire the Polaris ballistic missile.

HEALTH CARE FOR AGED
CHICAGO (AP)—Four of the nation's biggest health organizations pooled their efforts Monday to devise a program of adequate health care for the aged at reasonable cost.

The American Dental Association, the American Hospital Association and the American Nursing Association are cooperating in the plan.

To spearhead development of a program, the sponsoring organizations established a joint council to improve the health care of the aged.

Meeting Friday for Parents Of Fall Kindergarteners

Kindergarten roundups for children entering Iowa City and Coralville public schools in September will begin Friday, April 11, and continue into May, it was announced today.

All mothers and eligible children are invited to attend the meeting at the school in their district.

Mrs. Clifford M. Baumbach, city kindergarten roundup chairman, said that the first meeting will be held at 9:45 a.m., Friday, April 11, at Roosevelt School. The school roundup chairman is Mrs. C. H. Parsons.

Other roundup dates and school chairmen are: Henry Sabin, April 22, at 1:45 p.m. — Mrs. Donald Miller; Mark Twain, April 23, 9:30 a.m. — Mrs. Deb Wylder; Coralville, April 24, 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. — Mrs. William Freeman;

Horace Mann, April 30, 2:00 p.m. — Mrs. Leo Evans; Longfellow, May 2, 1:30 p.m. — Mrs. George Devine; Herbert Hoover, May 9, 2:00 p.m. — Mrs. W. C. Bleeker; Lincoln, May 16, 2:00 p.m. — Mrs. Clark Houghton and Mrs. Charles Kent.

The roundups are sponsored by the Iowa City-Coralville Parent-Teachers Association Council. They provide information for the parents of prospective kindergarteners and acquaint the parents and their children with the schools.

Children will attend a kindergarten play session while mothers meet the kindergarten teacher and the school principal. Topics to be discussed will include school routine, goals of the kindergarten program and readying a child for school. Information will be provided about school supplies and clothing.

The health and immunization program will be explained by Mrs. Dorothy Wilson and Miss Jeanne Hatch, elementary school nurses.

Mrs. Baumbach said that parents are asked to bring the children's birth certificates to the meetings. Under present regulations children must be five years old on or before Nov. 15 in order to enter school this fall.

Although the roundups are sponsored primarily for those entering Iowa City and Coralville public school kindergartens, all mothers and children of eligible age are invited. There will be a registration of those expecting to enter local public schools.

Last fall more than 500 kindergarteners entered the seven city public elementary schools and the Coralville school.

Operates Despite Severe Cut

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—A surgeon cut his hand severely in an operating room mishap Monday but went ahead with a 4-hour operation on a seriously injured motorist.

Associates of Dr. William Van Valin said the motorist, who was impaled by a 30-foot length of one-inch irrigation pipe, may recover and that Dr. Van Valin is expected to retain full use of his hand.

John T. Minnick, 36, San Jose, Calif., was in a collision Sunday. One car broke off the pipe, which went through the windshield of Minnick's car and penetrated his left chest.

Dr. Van Valin and Dr. Frank Pedersen reached the scene. They cut the pipe with a hacksaw on either side of Minnick's body, then rushed him to Lompoc Community Hospital for surgery.

Strike Curtails CBS-TV Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—A sudden strike of television cameramen and other technicians against the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) Monday caused cancellation of several live TV shows.

CBS USED films of previous shows in their place. However, with supervisory personnel manning the cameras, the network was able to keep many of its live shows on the air. The CBS Radio Network also was hit by the strike, but there were no interruptions in broadcasts.

The strike was called at 1 p.m. by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, after negotiation with the network in Washington broke down.

SOME 1,300 engineers, cameramen and technicians were pulled off the job in New York, Hollywood, San Francisco, Chicago, Milwaukee and Hartford. Boston and St. Louis also were expected to be involved.

About 800 of the local's members work in New York, and the rest are scattered in the other cities.

A union spokesman said the company's wage offer, with a base pay of $185 a week, is close to what the union wants, and that the basic issue is job security. The previous base pay was $175 a week.

Three live shows originating in New York were cancelled, but "Arthur Godfrey and His Talent Scouts" was set to go on live from New York as usual.

"STUDIO ONE" in Hollywood was cancelled, and a kinescope of a previous "Studio One" drama was substituted.

A network spokesman said dramatic shows, such as "Playhouse 90" and "Climax" on Thursday would be cancelled if the strike is still on because they are too complicated technically for emergency staffs to handle.

However, some live shows from the Coast are scheduled for this afternoon. Tonight's Red Skelton show was cancelled, with a film of an old program to fill in.

Wednesday is the first day of the combined annual 3-day meeting of the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health Association, the Iowa Trudeau Society, and the Iowa Public Health Association.

The 1958 Frances Brophy and Walter L. Biering Awards will be made Thursday evening at the annual dinner. Dr. Franklin H. Top, president of both the Public Health Association and the Tuberculosis Association, will present the principal address.

Other speakers during the meeting include Dr. Floyd Feldmann, of New York, medical director of the National Tuberculosis Association.

There's no more stretching, stooping, straining, hanging up clothes . . . no more red hands chapped by bitter spring breezes. New controls on her modern automatic gas clothes dryer even take over "drip-dry" fabrics!

Ask her about ironing and she'll tell you, "It's a breeze! So much faster when clothes are evenly damp-dried! And, don't forget—my dryer helps pay for itself! We buy fewer clothes and household linens. My children wear clothes, not outgrow them when I can wash, then dry them soft, fluffy and FAST in my automatic gas clothes dryer!"
