

Van Allen Fund Drive Skyrockets To $412

Just $412 had been collected for the Van Allen Rocket Fund at the two-thirds mark Thursday, so the SUI Student Council has changed its goal to beating instead of doubling the total already gathered, Robert Burns, C4, Lake Park, chairman of the drive, said. "If each student and faculty member would give one dime, we could still reach the $1,000 mark," Burns said. The fund drive ends at 4:30 p.m. today.

A total of $340 was collected Wednesday, and the other $72 Thursday.

"Today definitely will be the best day," Burns said. Students have been exposed to the drive two days now and we will exert a greater effort than during the previous two days.

Burns said the students' response to the Student Council's challenge is still less than expected. "We will, however, beat the rest of the state in the amount collected," Burns said.

The state-wide drive has received contributions totaling $480, according to Paul Franzenburg, Jr., Conrad businessman who initiated the drive early in February.

Collection points today will be at the east approach to Old Capitol, the north side of Old Dentistry Building, the University Library corner and the Gold Feather Room. Booths will be maintained from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

In addition to calling for contributions from students, Burns said that the staff and faculty members also will be solicited today.

"The Board of Regents have said in past rulings that the faculty cannot be solicited for drives," Burns said. "President Hancher has allowed us to solicit the faculty for this drive, however," he said.

Previously, Virgil S. Copeland, manager of dormitory operations, gave permission to set up collection points in dormitories. General University policy states that soliciting is not to be conducted in any of the dormitories.

Soliciting for the fund are 12 volunteers. Larry Albrecht, P1, Hartlev, is in charge of the management of the collection points.

Wednesday night the 19 fraternities and 13 sororities were contacted for contributions.

The amount of money collected for the Van Allen Scholarship Fund is being posted hourly on the "fuel tank" of the three-stage rocket erected in front of Old Capitol. Each donor is given a lapel pin showing he has donated to the fund.

Loveless Will Speak Here to Econ Group

Gov. Herschel Loveless will be luncheon speaker today for Iowa Institute of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security (IAPES) at Iowa Memorial Union.

George B. Elleson, president of the IAPES will be the closing luncheon speaker Saturday.

McElroy Tells Department To Back Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy Thursday warned military officers and civilian members of the defense organization not to make speeches against President Eisenhower's plan for revamping of the Defense Department.

He also issued what appeared to be a broad hint that such officers should resign if they were so strongly opposed to the President's plan that they felt they couldn't work under it.

McElroy spoke out in reply to a question as to how far a military officer could go in opposition without becoming insubordinate.

The secretary, a speaker at the National Press Club, said he felt so strongly on the subject that he had written down his beliefs.

He then read: 1. OFFICIALS TESTIFYING before Congress should give their personal opinions freely and fully if asked for them.

2. "I WOULD THINK IF A MAN of integrity and conscience felt so strongly opposed to the basic policies and programs of his organization that he could not effectively discharge his responsibilities, he would so advise his superiors. I know this is what I would do."

He did not say that such a man should resign, but that appeared to be implicit in his remarks.

In his formal speech, McElroy said he had no desire to become a czar or dictator over the nation's defenses.

HE SAID ALL THAT IS BEING asked in the Eisenhower administration plan for reorganization of the Defense Department is clarification of his authority and a modest flexibility in money matters.

Cheyrl-Stompanato Letters: 'Love ya & miss ya loads'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Love ya & miss ya loads," 14-year-old Cheryl Crane wrote Johnny Stompanato six weeks before, police say, she plunged a knife into his stomach and killed him in the bedroom of her mother, actress Lana Turner.

"I try to think of you when you were here," wrote Stompanato in an unfinished letter to Lana, "and those previous minutes I wasted when my lips were on yours. . . life isn't worth living without you . . ."

The letters were published Thursday in Los Angeles newspapers.

Cheryl's missive to the handsome underworld figure last Feb. 18 while he was vacationing with her mother at Acapulco, Mexico, is the chatty, unsophisticated letter of a schoolgirl.

Last Friday night, police say, Cheryl plunged an 8-inch butcher knife into Stompanato's stomach. Cheryl said she killed him because he was threatening to disfigure or kill her mother, police reported.

An inquest into the slaying of the curly-haired, 32-year-old ex-bodyguard to former big-time gambler Mickey Cohen is scheduled for today. Lana, 38, who saw it happen, will be a star witness. Cheryl has been excused. Her statements to police will stand as her testimony.

Cheryl's letter to Stompanato was published in a copyrighted article Thursday by the Los Angeles Evening Herald-Express. The paper said the missive "was found nestled among the love letters from Lana to Stompanato."

Written in the study hall of the Happy Valley Girls' School, Ojai, Calif., Cheryl's letter, with misspellings, read in part:

"Dear Johnny—
"I just got your letter this morning because I was home for the weekend.
"How have you been? And how is mother?
"Rowenia (her mare) is just fine. I'm not afraid of her anymore and she acts just like she used to last summer. Yes, I still want to take her to Estes Park this summer. I thought for a while that I wouldn't be able to handle

Flander Is Student President

Soph Woman Elected Vice-President

Leonard Flander New Student President

Len Flander, L2, Iowa City, was elected student body president by the legislative branch of the Student Council at its first meeting Thursday night.

Judy Clark, A2, Cedar Falls, was elected vice-president. Under the new constitution she will preside over the legislative branch.

Since there was no opposition, Flander was elected by acclamation. He is treasurer of Delta Theta Phi, professional law fraternity. He is a former member of the Newman Club and Town Men's Association. He was a married student representative on the council before his election. Under the constitution, another married student representative is to be chosen to fill Flander's position.

Royal Turner, E2, Venango, Neb., was chosen by the council to fill the vacancy. Turner finished third in the recent elections for the married student post.

Flander outlined the first action which the council will take. "We will get the new constitution into full operation," he said. "Then we will have to establish coordination between the three branches of the student government and make our committee appointments."

Miss Clark is a member of the Scottish Highlanders, Women's Recreation Association (WRA) and the Forensic League. She is secretary of the WRA.

The legislative branch tabled a motion to affirm the position of the old Student Council on the married student housing issue, pending the results of the poll now being conducted of the married students who live outside of the university housing.

The old council recommended to the university that the present plans for married student housing be abandoned and a more economical plan be adopted.

June Motel Space Filled

Graduating SUI students who haven't made overnight reservations June 12 for their guests better reserve a handy campsite.

A check of hotels and motels has revealed that very little housing is to be had. Motels are now filled for June 12, graduation eve. There are still a few hotel rooms available for that date.

Former SUI students who will return for Alumni Day, June 14, may further complicate the housing picture.

100 Big Hoods Target of New Crime Cleanup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top hundred hoodlums in the blue book of crime are the subject of a new get-tough crackdown on organized crime.

The drive was announced by Atty. Gen. William Rogers who said a special group of former federal prosecutors is being organized in New York City to spearhead the campaign.

Heading the new group will be Milton Wessel, 34-year-old former assistant U.S. attorney now in private practice in New York.

Malcolm Anderson, newly appointed assistant attorney general for criminal prosecution, will direct the over-all effort in Washington.

A number of Government agencies will cooperate with the criminal division's organized crime and racketeering section which has been expanded to handle the coordinated effort.

Rogers said the plan reflects the thinking of crime experts such as J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger, and Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing.

Treasury Department T-Men officials took part in setting up the all-out drive.

"The plan calls for the concentration of information and investigative effort on the racketeers and hoodlums in this country, with the highest priority given to a hundred of the top racketeers," Rogers said.

He noted that the Justice Department has asked Congress for legislation prohibiting interstate transmission of gambling information.

Passage of bills broadening the ban on interstate transportation of gambling machines has also been requested.

Few Tickets For Dorati Symphony

Free tickets being distributed to SUI students for the Tuesday's Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra concert are going fast, according to a ticket desk clerk of Iowa Memorial Union.

Two concerts, at 2:30 and 8 p.m., will be presented by the Minneapolis Symphony under the direction of Antal Dorati.

The program to be heard in the afternoon will be Symphony No. 8 in D Major by Haydn, New England Triptych by William Schuman, "La Mer" by Debussy, and the 2nd suite from "Bacchus and Ariane" by Rouseff.

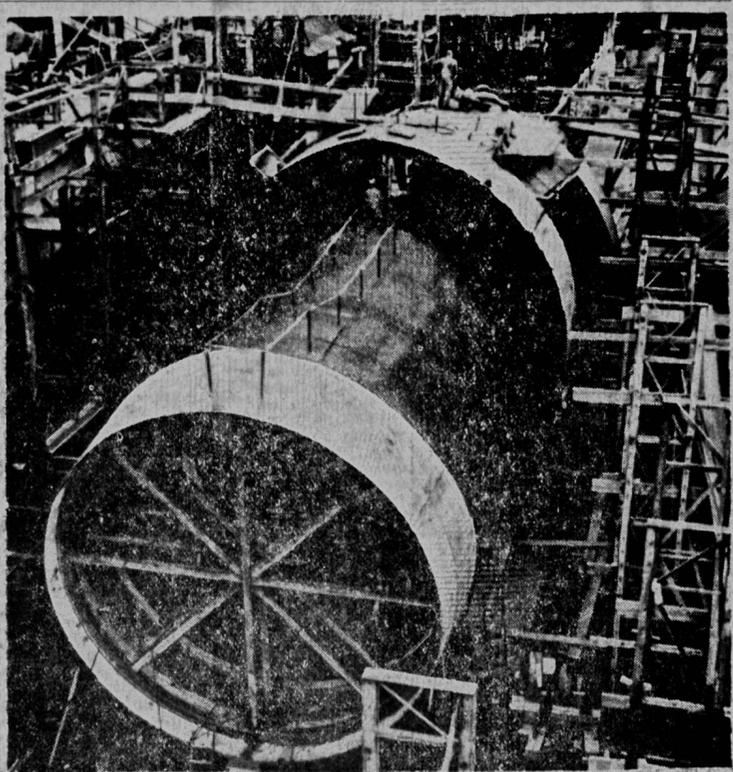

The evening program will consist of Dance Overture by Creston Symphony No. 3, Opus 44 by Prokofiev, Symphony No. 29 in A Major by Mozart, and Slavonic Dances 5, 6, 7, 8, Opus 72 by Dvorak.

Tickets will be on sale again today from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., or Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. On Monday, April 14 from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Tuesday, April 15 from 9 a.m. to concert time.

Tickets will go on sale to the general public at $1.50 per ticket from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Monday.

Cuba War Fizzles; Rebel Strike Flops

By LARRY ALLEN Associated Press Correspondent

HAVANA — With a blaze of gunfire and bomb blasts the Cuban rebels tried and failed again Thursday to ignite full scale revolution against President Fulgencio Batista.

This time the setting was Santiago, capital of rebel-strong Oriente Province.

Government firepower withered the new uprising just as it did Wednesday in Havana where 45 rebels and two policemen died.

Before dawn, youthful gunmen poured onto the street of Santiago, a focal point of Fidel Castro's 16-month-old guerrilla movement, with hopes of setting the spark for a general strike and open civil war.

They fired pistols and machine guns, hurled grenades and gasoline bombs in the main streets.

As in Havana, they hit first at public utility systems, cutting electrical power and other essential services.

But they seemed doomed before they started.

For months, Santiago has been occupied by Cuban troops and national police.

Police machine-guns, firing from rooftops of strategically located buildings, scattered the rebels like leaves in the wind.

There was no way to determine immediately how many rebels fell, or the number of Government casualties.

The uprising died almost as quickly as it started.

Like the Havana incident, it lacked timing and coordination. Outside the main streets, the rebels did nothing.

Spotty strikes mushroomed here and there in Oriente Province — about 500 miles east of Havana. But there was nothing that approached the general strike Castro considers an essential step to topple what he calls the tyranny of Batista. That was true, too, in other Cuban provinces.

Undismayed, the bearded leader's guerrillas continued skirmishing with government troops over a wide section of Oriente. Elsewhere in Cuba, roving rebel bands pursued a campaign of sabotage and isolated killings.

With his plans repeatedly falling astray appeared to have little chance of unseating Batista unless one of two things happens:

1. THAT CUBANS everywhere

Few Married Students Sign New Leases

Richard C. Clark, G, 204 Finkbine Pk., chairman of the married student protest committee, said apparently not all married students are signing new leases according to the suggested renewal schedule.

He said a telephone survey was completed Thursday of the persons who had signed form letters protesting the $10 rent increase for barracks-type housing.

A total of 281 persons signed form letters pledging themselves to not renew leases containing an obligation to pay the increased rent.

FIFTEEN MARRIED students said they had already signed new leases and three more indicated they intend to renew their leases before May 30.

A total of 119 respondents said they would have to be evicted before they would move from their barracks. They said they do not intend to sign new leases unless the SUI administration either changes or definitely proves its position.

The remaining 211 said they do not intend to renew their leases but did not commit themselves to possible eviction.

T. M. Rehder, director of dormitory and dining services was unavailable for comment.

CLARK SAID the committee is now circulating a petition to give persons unable to sign form letters an opportunity to show their support for the married students' position. He said it is trying to get state-wide circulation of the petition.

Clark said that 27 SUI faculty members, three of them department heads, signed the letter sent to President Virgil M. Hancher opposing the rent increase on married student housing. Information on the number of signatures was obtained from one of the signers, Clark said. The figure had earlier been reported as 15.

Hancher Says SUI Expects 16,000 by '70

By The Associated Press

AMES — Married students' complaints about contemplated increases in rents for housing at SUI officially came before the State Board of Regents here late Thursday.

The board will review the matter in further detail at Friday's session.

Dr. Virgil Hancher, University president, said SUI must make room for an enrollment of 16,000 expected by 1970 and according to state law fees from student housing must meet the cost of the expansion.

Mr. Hancher, E. T. Jolliffe, university business manager and Architect George Horner appeared before the regents to explain the university's position.

The complaining married students are these living in the present barracks-type units which now rent at $52.50 to $58 a month and will cost $10 a month more under new leases in June.

About 280 students living in these units have signed a petition refusing to sign new leases at the higher rate.

The university plans to use the additional revenue to finance new, permanent apartment-type buildings which will rent generally for $85 a month.

Dr. Hancher said development of new housing facilities involves new utilities installations which will be costly and in turn higher rents must be charged for all housing for married students.

Under Iowa law student housing fees must bear the entire cost of housing needs.

Married students who signed the petition of protest asked the University to abandon plans for the new housing development which is called Hawkeye Village.

Gov. Herschel Loveless proposed Wednesday that the regents re-evaluate this project and see if something less than Hawkeye Village can be developed.

"We at the university have been very much concerned with the cost of housing for married students," Mr. Hancher said. "It is a problem that has been with us for 12 years."

Mr. Hancher said the new housing project providing 500 apartments will be needed in the next 10 years and there is no room on the present campus to build them.

When told the cost per unit for the first 192 units in Hawkeye will be $13,542 and that $3,345 of this will be the estimated cost of the utilities, board members Roy Stevens of Ottumwa, said:

"It seems a little unfair to charge the utility cost to the students."

The University president replied: "We would be glad to get that $3,345 out of the way. Frankly we don't know where to turn for the answer to that."

The estimated cost of building Hawkeye Village is about $2,600,000. Business Manager Jolliffe told the board it would take about $85 a month per apartment to pay the principal and interest on a 40-year loan for the project.

Horner said the apartment units will not be luxurious. He said without the high cost of a heating plant and providing water, power and sewage facilities the apartment cost would be less than at many other universities.

indictment and conviction for contempt of congress. The conviction is under appeal. Miller's political mistakes are wholly irrelevant to the quality of his art. His plays have virtually no political content. Some of them, such as "Death of a Salesman," "All My Sons," and "The Crucible" are critical of some aspects of American life, but so are many other serious works of art. It is one of the functions of the artist in a free society to criticize men, governments and institutions.

Letters To The Editor-

Student Housing; Fluoridation

TO THE EDITOR:

On the front page of Thursday's Daily Iowan was an article entitled "GOPers Vote Down Married Student Support." In this article it was made to appear that the SUI Young Republicans had voted down a resolution supporting the married students' position in the current housing controversy.

with the real evidence on fluoridation would ever tolerate the addition of sodium fluoride to their drinking water. Therefore the damning facts, as such as possible, are suppressed and distorted by those who advocate fluoridation (often on behalf of fluoride producers).

For reasons which smack of collusion, national medical and dental organizations have endorsed each other's unfounded claims on fluoridation, and preferred to publicize research paid for by fluoride producers rather than the findings of their own members who aren't on big corporation payrolls.

James R. Hootman, L2 President, SUI Young Republicans

TO THE EDITOR: Perhaps the various Deans, Drs., and the one Mr., of the Advisory Committee to the Director of Dormitories and Dining Services would consider printing answers to some questions asked them by the Married Student Protest Group's executive committee.

TO THE EDITOR: With all due respect to the good intentions of The Daily Iowan, the article headed "City Survey Indicates Fluoride Helps Teeth" (DI 4/4/58) appears to be just one more attempt to guide public opinion with pious generalizations from half-truths.

And even the United States Public Health Service has not been able to explain large increases in kidney disorders, heart disease, miscarriages and stillbirths, etc. reported in many fluoridated areas, except to protest that such reports are "misleading and inconclusive."

Question - How do you propose that those students who claim they cannot pay the increased rent, continue their education?

TO THE EDITOR: Have the teeth of Cedar Rapids five-year-olds, for example, really improved fifty per cent as the article claims? Where is the control group in an unfluoridated city to compare?

TO THE EDITOR: Of course the Daily Iowan was only doing its job in covering Dr. Henshaw's talk. Dr. Henshaw was only doing his job in bringing the USPHS gospel to SUI. And now those of the seventy Iowa water plant manager whose communities are unfluoridated will only be doing their jobs as they try to introduce the wonder chemical into their pipes.

Answer - Yes, this is true. Question - Is it true that faculty and staff members will have priority over students in rental of the new housing?

TO THE EDITOR: Obviously few adults familiar with the real evidence on fluoridation would ever tolerate the addition of sodium fluoride to their drinking water.

Engel's Bridge Angles

Michael Engel

Almost all my articles so far have dealt with bidding, neglecting the playing aspect of bridge. Does this imply that bidding is more important than playing, or are they of equal weight? Like the chicken and the egg dilemma, this question is academic in many respects. No one can claim to be a strong player who has not mastered both branches of the game.

NEVERTHELESS, it is a fact that, for several reasons, most writers concentrate on bidding. First, playing is pretty well standardized; there are not diverse systems of playing a hand or theories of attacking the various suit combinations. Second, bidding can be learned out of books, whereas playing is learned at the table. This may be a sweeping generalization, but I believe it holds true in most cases.

Having discussed many basic principles of bidding in the past, I turn my attention in the future to the subject of playing, including both offense and defense. OF COURSE, there is a direct relationship between bidding and playing. When you bid, you are anticipating the final contract, that is, the play. But when playing (or defending) a hand, the bidding must be taken into consideration. Thus, a hand at game may be played quite differently from the same hand played at a part-score.

West opens the king of diamonds and continues with the queen, ruffed by South. South leads a small spade, West winning and returning a third diamond which South ruffs. South now plays the ace of spades, and then plays his high hearts. West can ruff any time he wants to, but South makes the contract since he still holds a trump to take care of the diamonds.

This hand has several novel points. One is that, other things being equal, the length of a trump suit is its key feature. Both South and North realized that the partnership had more spades than hearts, and consequently contracted for game in spades. I venture to guess that most inexperienced players would bid hearts first and wind up at 4H. "Look at those 150 honors," they will state. But the honors are a heavy price to pay for going down at a cold game.

AN EVEN more crucial point, recognized by all experienced players, is this: it is often better to have your strongest suit as a side suit, and a slightly weaker one as the trump. This enables you to force the defense to trump with their high trumps while you run your side suit. Meanwhile you retain control of the hand with your small trumps.

Does this sound paradoxical? Yes, but this is what makes bridge so fascinating. NOTICE THAT at 4H the hand is set. West opens the king of diamonds, as before, continues the suit, ruffed by South's 10. Suppose South draws trumps, taking three rounds. He must then lose the lead twice in spades before that suit is established.

By ANDREW BYERLEY Staff Writer Students became dissatisfied with SUI student housing in 1856. There wasn't any. MOST STUDENTS lived in private homes, which were expensive. Room and board was around $5 a week. Only wealthy students could pay this much in 1856. Students told professors SUI needed a dormitory. In December of 1856 the SUI faculty asked the State Board of Trustees for a men's dormitory. THE TRUSTEES told the Iowa Legislature SUI wanted $20,000 to build a dormitory. Iowa legislators were furious. State senators raged that SUI was already spending too much money. Representatives shouted that SUI probably needed investigating or something. "PROFESSORS ARE spend-thrifts!" shouted someone who had heard all professors were spend-thrifts. The next week the Trustees informed SUI that the Legislature had voted against building a dormitory. Around the SUI campus professors and students scowled and muttered. "LET'S TRY AGAIN," professors said, and for the next two years SUI and the Iowa Legislature battled over the dormitory. Finally, on March 11, 1858, the Legislature gave up. The Legislature gave SUI $10,000, which was enough to build a small dormitory. On June 7, 1858, SUI held a ground breaking ceremony. STUDENTS AND professors stood on the lawn south of Old Capitol. A professor plunged a spade into the ground and the crowd cheered. "We'll build our new dormitory here," the professor said, and by 1861 the building was finished. THE DORMITORY was named South Hall. It was cheaply made and ugly, but no one complained. The rooms rented for $3 a semester. (Based on information found in SUI records).

PRISONERS May Become Work Force DES MOINES (AP) - State Board of Control and State Conservation Commission agreed Thursday to study means of expanding the program of prison labor in state parks.

PRISONERS from the State Penitentiary at Fort Madison and the Men's Reformatory at Anamosa have been doing some work in parks near Fort Madison and Anamosa the last three years.

George Callenius, Board of Control member, said the board and the Conservation Commission decided a joint meeting to form a committee with representatives from the two agencies and the Izaak Walton League. Callenius was named temporary chairman of the committee. The committee will formulate recommendations for using prison labor in other parks more distant from Fort Madison and Anamosa. "This will necessitate some way of getting the prisoners to and from the prisons or establishing some sort of mobile units for them to live in while they're out working," said Callenius. He said the committee will survey other states that have pioneered in this sort of thing. Some states have set up trailer camps near the parks for prisoners. Others have used semi-permanent buildings that can be transported, and others have built permanent camps that can eventually be adapted for public use, he said. Callenius said prisoners picked for park work would be carefully screened. But he said there has been no trouble in the three years of the program. "We have found from experience that these prisoners being used in state parks respond to this probably better than any other rehabilitation that we have had," Callenius said. "It's become such a privilege that the men doing the work are actually policing one another."

WITH HER good offices refused, the United States has not answered the Central Government's appeal for arms to protect itself. There has been no thought of sending arms to the Sumatran revolutionaries. In this circumstance, the Sukarno Government has promoted Indonesia's anti-western feeling into an arms deal with the Communist bloc. The United States pursues a policy of helping peoples who will help themselves. The Soviet Union pursues a policy of taking over peoples who cannot help themselves. If Eastern peoples refuse West-

Greek Houses Have Weekend Of Parties, Formals Planned

By JANE HUBLY
Daily Iowan Society Editor

Another one of those cherished, bee-boop-bee-doo week-ends has arrived, bringing with it a wave of functions that promise to keep many of the campus socialites jumping.

The SIGMA CHI's decided Iowa City wasn't lively enough, so they have rented the Sheraton-Montrose

Hotel in Cedar Rapids for their Sweetheart formal today. The couples will dance from 9 to 12 p.m. to the music of G. Gibson orchestra, taking time out only for the crowning of the traditional Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Some lucky coed will obtain this title and will be officially "crowned" by Steve Peterson, A3, Waterloo, who has the delightful job of social chairman.

Since the DELT formal won't begin until 7 p.m. today at the Mayflower, the boys haven't as yet decided upon the decorations. But the party, their annual spring formal, sounds like a good one, complete with dinner and dancing to the music of the Bobby Watson quintet.

Sometime before the formal ends at 1 a.m., the annual fraternity Queen will be crowned, with two attendants. The fraternity has already voted on their choice of the "favorite" Iowa cutie for 1958.

Saturday will also be a big day, especially at the SAE house. The pledges finally got activated and consequently, are giving the annual pledge party at the chapter house in honor of the event. "Suppressed Desire" is the theme and I suppose it really could be carried out! Couples may attend the party dressed as anything or anyone they ever wanted to be; don't know if this includes Adam and Eve.

The chapter house will be decorated according to the theme, for instance, the dance floor will have a fountain of youth in the center of the room and the basement will be dressed up in a "Gay Nineties" mood, with swinging doors, an old time bar and so on. The SAE's will dance from 9 to 12 p.m. to records at the function.

The NU SIG's believe that any big party deserves a "warm-up," so they're having their "Volk-mann's Contracture" blast Saturday in view of their well-known "Aesculapian Frolic" next Saturday. The party this Saturday will begin at 9 p.m. to the music of Bobby Watson and his band, and end at 12 p.m., providing that anyone has enough energy left to go home.

The med students call the party just a get-together, but you know what those med parties are like!

The DU's are having a party Sunday too, but of a rather different sort. These boys are picking up about 20 crippled children at University Children's Hospital at 2 p.m. and taking them to the chapter house for three hours of party and fun. Each child will have at least one DU and his date to play with him, if not more. Games will be played all afternoon and entertainment will also be given for the five to ten year old kiddies to enjoy. The boys plan to make this party an annual affair and it's certainly worthy of it. Funny thing . . . this party will probably be the most fun of all this week-end.

That's it for this week-end but that's almost enough! Parties are certainly varied, with formals, costume affairs and a wonderful afternoon for crippled children planned. Have fun everybody . . . after all, finals are eight whole weeks away!

SUI Alumna Plans May Wedding

Miss Cornelia Anderson, daughter of Mrs. W. A. Anderson and the late Prof. Anderson, will be joined in marriage on May 31 to Mr. James W. Biggers Jr., son of Mr. James W. Biggers and the late Mrs. Biggers of Chicago, Ill.

The bride-elect is a graduate of University high school and received a degree from SUI in 1957. She is presently employed as a secretary at the University Physics Department and at the Trinity Episcopal Church as an organist.

Mr. Biggers was graduated from the Cathedral Choir School of St. John the Divine and Cranbrook high school. He received both B.A. and M.A. degrees in sacred music from Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., where he was affiliated with Phi Kappa Lambda, honorary music fraternity. He is at present employed as organist-choirmaster at Christ Church in Gary, Ind.

The wedding will take place at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Iowa City.

Chemise Look for Future Hair Styles?

Are hairdos going to the chemise look, too?

That's what one hairdresser says. Carl Swenson, hair stylist at Towners Beauty Salon, told of a trend toward the over-the-face, soft, feather arrangement.

He called the style a "chemise look." This closely resembles the styles of the 1920's but is softer, and more wavy," he said.

Mr. Swenson and another Towners hairstylist, Miss Colleen Cain, recently qualified for the Cedar Rapids Hair Styling Body, a group of Cedar Rapids-area beauty stylists, before which hair styles are modeled and judged on originality, adaptability to model, and workmanship of hairdresser.

Models used by the two local hairstylists were Mrs. Donald Carmon, Finkbine Park, and Mrs. John Fatland, 1101 Yewell St.

Annual Iowa Play Festival Begins Today

The community division of the 30th annual Iowa Play Production Festival is scheduled to begin here today at 10 a.m. at the University Theatre and last through Saturday.

Ronald Gee, SUI drama instructor and festival executive secretary, emphasized that the festival is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

According to Gee, the purpose of the community division of the festival is to "provide an opportunity for adults interested in play production to present their plays and get constructive help from the judges, both for their current play and for the future." He said that it is primarily "a service to Iowa communities."

The judge for the community division is Prof. Edward L. Kamark, assistant director of the Wisconsin Idea Theatre, at the University of Wisconsin.

The plays will be presented at 10 a.m., 2 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. on Friday, and during the same hours on Saturday.

Sixteen groups have entered the competition, including three Iowa City organizations. The Iowa City Women's Club, the Iowa City chapter of the American Association of University Women and the Iowa City Community Theatre will present plays.

The Iowa City Community Theatre will be host to several of the other community theater groups at a party following the final critiques on Saturday. A reception will be held at the old Eagles lodge at 23½ E. Washington St.

The high school division of the festival will begin Tuesday, April 15 and will run through the afternoon of Saturday, April 19. Judges for this section will be Dr. Ned Donahoe, director of theater, Grinnell University, and Roberta D. Sheets, former director of dramatics at Roosevelt High School, Cedar Rapids.

Moeller, Harrison Plan to Attend Journalism Meet

Attending the annual dinner of New York's University of Iowa journalism alumni late this month will be Professor Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI School of Journalism, and John M. Harrison, publisher of The Daily Iowan, who will report on the current program of the school.

A former president of the United Nations Security Council, Dr. Ahmed S. Bokhari of Pakistan, will be the main speaker at the April 23 dinner.

Presently the Director of Information for the United Nations, he will tell the group of problems in his work resulting from the earth satellite launchings, disarmament talks, and other international issues.

The dinner will be held at the Gotham Hotel in New York City.

Court Waits for Records In Local Seed Firm Suit

Books and records of the Seed Marketing Assn., which has a branch at 1301 Sheridan Ave. and the Douglas Guardian Warehouse Corporation of New Orleans had not been filed at Thursday's session of Johnson County District Court, Court Clerk R. Neilson Miller reported late Thursday.

Legal action started Tuesday when the court order was signed by Judge Harold D. Evans as part of the suit being brought by 41 Johnson County farmers who are seeking damages of $59,668 and exemplary damages of $25,000.

Another company also filed a suit for bankruptcy against the two firms in Federal Court at Omaha.

The Johnson County farmers contend that 238,757 pounds of seed was delivered to the Seed Marketing Assn., for cleaning and storage or sale. They charge that the firm placed the seed in storage with Douglas Guardian Co. and then used the warehouse receipts to obtain bank loans. They also name M. M. McCarty as being representative of the two firms.

The second suit, an involuntary bankruptcy petition, was filed in Federal District Court at Omaha Thursday against the Seed Marketing Assn., Inc., of Norfolk, Neb., which is also being investigated by the Nebraska State Railway Commission.

The involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed by Northrup, King and Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., who contend that the Seed Marketing Corporation owes Northrup King $11,707.50 as the result of failing to deliver 43,450 pounds of alfalfa seed paid for by Northrup King in 1957 and 1958.

Chief Federal District Judge Grichard E. Robinson said he has named Donald Ross, Omaha attorney, receiver for the Norfolk firm after the Douglas Guardian Warehouse Corp., requested all the seed in its Norfolk branch be under the jurisdiction of the court.

Applications For Religious Grant Due

Robert Michaelsen, director of the SUI School of Religion, has announced that applications for the Walker Scholarship Grant will now be received in the office of the School of Religion.

The Walker Scholarship Grant was created in 1956 by the late Mr. and Mrs. Myron J. Walker of Iowa City. The grant has as its purpose the assisting of promising students for the ministry in attending a seminary. Applicants must be residents of Iowa, but need not be graduates of SUI.

The selection of those who are to receive aid from this grant is made by the staff of the School of Religion. The staff also aids winners of the grant in selecting a seminary.

Applications forms are available in the office of the School of Religion, 108 MacBride Hall.

Foil Attempt To Seize Korean Plane

SEOUL, Korea — A Korean gunman killed a crewman and wounded two others Thursday in an attempt to seize a Korean air force transport plane in flight and take it to Red North Korea.

Police sources said the gunman entered the cockpit 40 minutes after the plane took off from Taegu in south-central Korea and shot the radioman dead.

As he spun to turn his gun on the pilot, a crewman clubbed his arm. The pilot and the engineer were shot in the arms and legs before the gunman was subdued. The co-pilot then took over the controls and landed the plane at Fyongtain, 40 miles south of Seoul, the flight's destination. Seven Koreans were aboard.

The Korean air force identified the attacker only as a Capt. Choi. They said he is a native of North Korea and some of his family still live there.

North Korean Communist agents forced two American pilots of a South Korean civilian airliner to fly to North Korea Feb. 16. The Reds released the Americans and 24 of the 32 others aboard but kept the plane.

Gymnasts Enter National Meet

Iowa, Penn State, Illini Are Favored

By DICK LYNES
Staff Writer

A nine man contingent of Iowa gymnastic athletes will square off against approximately 20 others schools Friday afternoon as the National Collegiate Athletic Association gymnastics tournament opens at Michigan State.

The Hawkeyes left by train Wednesday afternoon without their coach, Dick Holzhaepfel, who was called away earlier in the week because of a death in the family. Holzhaepfel will join the team in Chicago Thursday where the team spent Wednesday night. They will continue to East Lansing Thursday where they will take a light workout Thursday before the preliminary rounds get underway Friday afternoon.

Buck will replace Joe Tim, Iowa trampoline star who broke his left ankle in two places during the Big Ten meet.

Despite this loss, Iowa is expected to field one of the top trampoline teams in the country, which could go a long way in determining Iowa's finish in the national standings.

Buck is not a novice on the trampoline as he won the national junior championships twice in succession. He has also competed on this apparatus on occasion throughout the season, particularly when the Hawks were involved in triangular competition. Buck will join McCurdy and Justice in this event.

Other events in which Iowa could rack up points are the free exercise, still rings and side horse. Carlsson will compete in the free exercise and Segura on the rings. Buck will come down off the trampoline long enough to defend his Big Ten side horse championship against two former NCAA champions, one of whom is John Davis, Illinois, defending NCAA champion, who Buck defeated for the conference title.

Despite the fact that the Hawks are expected to finish higher nationally than ever before in their history, Illinois, '58 Big Ten team champion, is picked as the team to beat by the men that know, the gymnastics coaches. Following Illinois is Penn State, Iowa, Michigan State and Florida State.

Michigan State has been given the dark horse tag due to the fact they finished third in the Big Ten, have another athlete eligible since the conference meet and the meet is being held on home territory. However, given a certain amount of breaks, Holzhaepfel feels the Hawkeyes could go a long way toward upsetting these selections. Iowa finished fourth last year in the national championships, the highest ever by an Iowa team.

Ten men in each event qualify for the Saturday finals. This is the same procedure that is followed in the Big Ten.

No U.S. Challenge For Aussies, Hoard

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Australia's Lew Hoard is not peeved that he has been asked to help train American Davis Cup prospects. He says the United States can't win the cup anyway.

"It will take more than one man to take the cup from us," the blond Australian blaster said Thursday, referring to the addition of amateur Barry MacKay to the Jack Kramer professional touring troupe.

"MacKay is a good boy and showing a lot of improvement but there is no immediate danger of beating Mal Anderson and Ashley Coper, Australia's cup stars.

MacKay, 22-year-old Dayton, Ohio, star who won a match in the challenge round at Melbourne last year, has joined the Pancho Gonzales-Hoard tour for training purposes.

Covington Responds To Doctor's Treatment

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The orthopedic surgeon treating Wes Covington said Thursday he was pleased with the way the Braves outfielder's injured knee is responding to treatment, but he added that Covington could not play opening day next Tuesday.

Dr. Bruce Brewer said Covington would be discharged from Milwaukee Hospital this weekend and thought the hard hitting fielder would be able to play the following weekend.

Campy Shows Improvement, High Morale

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — His progress is agonizingly slow but his morale is high.

That is the condition Thursday of Roy Campanella nearly 2½ months after his close brush with death in an auto accident not far from his Glen Cove home.

Still paralyzed from the lower abdomen down, the chunky 36-year-old Dodger catching great lies strapped to a turning rack in his bed. A tracheotomy tube still is in his throat to help his respiration.

A BULLETIN ISSUED Thursday by Community Hospital — the first since March 7 — said Roy's general condition has remained the same since the last bulletin. Although he cannot move his fingers he still has slight movement in his wrists and can extend his arms. Bending at the elbow is good as are most shoulder movements.

"His sense of feeling is at the lower abdomen level. His medical condition is satisfactory," the bulletin said. And it added:

"His morale remains excellent and he listens to every baseball game that is being broadcast."

"ROY'S MAKING progress," said Campanella's wife, Ruth. "He still can't do anything for himself but he is able to move his arms a little and he has begun to have feeling in the lower part of his body."

Mrs. Campanella sees Roy three times a day. On a Wednesday visit she was accompanied by Frank Scott, business agent for many major leaguers and a close friend of the Campanella family.

Outside visitors are not permitted but an exception was made for Scott who stayed with Campy for just 10 minutes.

"THAT FELLOW is a revelation," said Scott. "His faith and spirit is the most wonderful thing I've ever seen. For a guy to be in the situation he's in and to be so cheerful is simply amazing. I entered the room feeling miserable but he actually cheered me up."

Campy is convinced he's going to be able to walk again some day. Throughout our conversation he kept saying "I'm going to make it... The Good Lord will see me through... Honest, he speaks with such faith and confidence that you get the feeling he will pull through."

Western Illinois Next for Hawks

Three games with Western Illinois State from Macomb, Ill., victor over the 1957 Hawkeyes in a single game, are next for the University of Iowa's baseball team.

The Iowans, now with a 4-4 record, take on the Illinois nine Friday at 3:30 p.m. and Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in a double-header. Second game of the double-header will be a seven-inning affair.

WESTERN ILLINOIS has played only two games, defeating Iowa Wesleyan, 6-0 and 11-5. Iowa had a 2-4 record vs. Arizona, then whipped Luther earlier this week, 6-2 and 11-8.

Several members of the Western Illinois team which beat Iowa, 10-2 here last season have returned. They include Bill Beal, who was the leader in the win over the Hawkeyes. Beal is scheduled to hurl the first game of the double-header.

IOWA'S LINEUP is uncertain, as Coach Otto Vogel continues to experiment with players prior to the opening of the Big Ten season April 25.

He said that either Roger Rudeen, sophomore, or Ron Drennan, senior, would pitch the opener. Capt. Jack Nora will start the first Saturday game, followed in the second game by either Rudeen or Drennan, whoever did not pitch Friday.

The Iowa coach also declared that he would like to give some action to several other hurlers, if the situation makes this possible.

Remainder of the Iowa lineup is likely to be Tom Haye, ss; either Larry Harsch or Ken Japlon, 2b; either Don Peden or Les Zanotti, 3b; Ron Rutkowski, 1b; Fred Long, lf; Bill DeBlonk or Dick Weatherly, c; Lance Erwin, rf; and Kevin Furlong, cf.

Weatherly is top batter for the eight games, with a great average of .600, 15 hits in 25 times at bat, including three triples. He and Furlong each have seven runs batted in. The team batting average is .238.

St. Louis Coach Respects Celtics

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "We haven't won anything yet," coach Alex Hannum said Thursday as his St. Louis Hawks and the back-to-the-wall Boston Celtics headed here for what could be the final game of their National Basketball Assn. championship playoff.

The Hawks clamped a 3-2 stranglehold on the Celtics in the best-of-seven series with a 102-100 victory at Boston Wednesday night. Game number six is in St. Louis Saturday night.

"We can't afford to relax against a great club like Boston," Hannum stated flatly, while paying tribute to rival coach Red Auerbach's pressing defense.

The full-court press nearly nipped the Hawks at the wire. The Hawks' nine-point lead with two minutes to play wilted under the pressure of the press.

OUT OF DERBY

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Royal Union, Reverie Knoll Farm's Kentucky Derby hopeful, Thursday was declared out of the derby and the Preakness because of an ankle injury. He'll probably make the Belmont Stakes in late June.

"Jockey brand underwear made me Phi Beta Kappa!"

"Amazing scholarship," said the Dean. "Cheating!" cried my fellow students. But I knew the real reason for my becoming an honor student. My tailored-to-fit Jockey brand briefs were so comfortable that naturally I found it easy to study better and get straight A's."

"If your brand is Jockey, you won't need any ponies," I tell my friends. It's true, too. You see, Jockey—and only Jockey brand—uses thirteen separate pieces to provide a perfectly smooth fit. You feel better—and you study better—when you wear comfortable Jockey briefs."

Jockey briefs are the most copied underwear in the world. Be sure you get genuine Jockey brand—they're tailored to fit.

Man In Space Report Given By Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, working on plans some day to send man into space, has given new indications of progress in the preliminary task of launching animal-occupied satellites.

The Air Force disclosed Thursday that it has called for bids for space capsules. These are small containers that can house animals.

Air Force Headquarters referred requests for details to the Air Research and Development Command at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

The ARDC Information Office said the program for experiments in space flights for animals is secret — "We will have nothing to say about it for quite some time."

However, the ARDC Aero Medical Laboratory at Holloman Air Force Base, N. M., has experimented with fruit flies, mice, yeast and onions aboard Aerobee rockets fired as high as 37 miles.

The Air Force has half a dozen chimpanzees, three or four bears and about a dozen medium-sized mongrel dogs penned up at the Holloman laboratory. The bears are to be used in acceleration studies on high-speed tracks, of which the Air Force has several in New Mexico, Utah and Nevada.

Tax Cases Settled Out Of Court

DES MOINES (AP) — More than half of the Iowa income tax cases under investigation by the State Tax Commission recently have been settled voluntarily by the persons concerned, Income Tax Director George Eiseheid estimated Thursday.

"During the past several weeks we had 331 cases under investigation," Eiseheid said, "and at this time probably over half of them have been voluntarily paid and settled without any effort on our part at all."

Stiff Grading Of Teachers Considered

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Soprano Maria Callas said Thursday a cold war exists between her and the management of La Scala Opera and she sings here only under a tacit truce.

Her open admission of cold war — the term is hers — might help to explain the cool reception she got Wednesday night at a La Scala performance that eventually won an ovation.

This is her home town now and La Scala had been considered her home stage. Maria is New York-born of Greek parentage and lives in Milan with her Italian industrialist husband-manager.

Few outsiders suspected a feud with La Scala would be added to her long list of hostilities. But she said frankly that she and the opera fathers here have not been in harmony since last year.

Things have reached a point, she said, where La Scala Supt. Antonio Ghiringhelli no longer greets her when they meet.

Miss Callas fired her broadside the day after her first stage appearance in Italy since she stirred a nationwide controversy Jan. 3. At that time, she walked out in the middle of a season-opening performance of "Norma" at the Rome Opera, saying she had lost her voice. Many Italian newspapers said she had lost her temper. Italian President Giovanni Gronchi was in that glittering first night audience.

Wednesday night she sang the lead in Donizetti's "Anne Bolyn" at La Scala. More than 200 plain-clothes policemen were on hand to watch for any demonstrations.

Callas did not like that. "I was astonished by all the police," she said. "What need was there for them?"

But she said her real dispute with La Scala was not the police turnout.

"It is a long story," she said. "It dates back to last year's Edinburgh Music Festival."

At that time, festival officials said she refused to give a fourth performance. Callas claimed her voice needed rest and that her contract called for only three performances. She went off to the Venice Film Festival.

"They — La Scala officials — wanted me to apologize publicly to Edinburgh officials for quitting," she said. "But my contract provided for three, not four performances."

Another bit of disagreement, Callas said, occurred over the scheduling of Wednesday's performance. She said her contract called for it but then she asked a schedule change to Saturday.

"I returned tired from a trip to Lisbon and needed some rest," she said. "La Scala refused my request. That is all."

SCIENCE MADE SIMPLE: No. 3

Once again the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, bless their tattooed hearts, have consented to let me use this space, normally intended for levity, to bring you a brief lesson in science.

They are generous, openhanded men, the makers of Marlboro, hearty, ruddy, and full of the joy of living, as anyone can tell who has sampled their wares. In Marlboro you will find no stinting, no stinginess. Marlboro's pleasures are rich, manifold, and bountiful. You get a lot to like with a Marlboro—filter, flavor, flip-top box, and, in some models, power steering.

The science that we take up today is called astronomy, from the Greek words astro meaning "sore" and nomos meaning "back". Sore backs were the occupational disease of the early Greek astronomers, and no wonder! They used to spend every blessed night lying on the damp ground and looking up at the sky, and if there's a better way to get a sore back, I'd like to hear about it. Especially in the moist Mediterranean area, where Greece is generally considered to be.

Lumbago and related disorders kept astronomy from becoming very popular until Galileo, an unemployed muleteer of Pamplona, fashioned a homemade telescope in 1924 out of three Social Security cards and an ordinary ice cube. What schoolboy does not know that stirring story—how Galileo stepped up to his telescope, how he looked heavenward, how his face filled with wonder, how he stepped back and whispered the words heard round the world: "Let them eat cake!"

Well sir, you can imagine what happened then! William Jennings Bryan snatched Nell Gwynne from the shadow of the guillotine at Oslo; Chancellor Bismarck brought in four gushers in a single afternoon; Enos Slaughter was signed by the Hanseatic League; Crete was declared off limits to Wellington's army; and William Faulkner won the Davis Cup for his immortal Penrod and Sam.

But after a while things calmed down and astronomers began the staggering task of naming all the heavenly bodies. First man to name a star was Sigafoos of Mt. Wilson, and the name he chose was Betelgeuse, after his dear wife, Betelgeuse Sigafoos, prom queen at Michigan State from 1919 to 1931.

Then the Major Brothers of Yerkes Observatory named stars after their wives, Ursa and Canis, and Witniak of Harvard named one after his wife, Big Dipper, and soon all the stars were named.

Astronomers then turned to the question: is there life on other planets? The answer was a flat, unequivocal no. Spectroscopic studies proved without a doubt that the atmosphere on the other planets was far too harsh to permit the culture of the fine tobaccos that go into Marlboro Cigarettes... And who can live without Marlboro?

College-Industry Conference Scheduled Saturday at SUI

"Tooling for Short Run Applications," a theme with space-age and small-plant implications, will be presented Saturday at the College-Industry Conference at SUI.
The SUI Department of Mechanical Engineering will sponsor the one-day conference, which begins at 8 a.m.
The program will begin with a session in Shambaugh Auditorium on the machining of such light metals as titanium and zirconium. Later sessions will include low-cost dies and jigs, heat treating in the jet and missile age, and tape-controlled jig borers. Emphasis will be on production lots of under 100.
Luncheon talks will be given in the Iowa Memorial Union by H. Dale Long, national vice-president of the American Society of Tool Engineers, Cleveland, and Norman C. Meier, SUI professor of psychology.

The evening address will be given by Air Force Col. Earl MacDonald, Omaha, and Professor K. J. Trigger of the University of Illinois. Colonel MacDonald will speak on "Strategic Air Command Operation and Missile Use."
Wives of the participants will hear Gladys Scott, professor and head of the department of physical education for women at SUI, speak on "Techniques of Relaxation."
William Nusser, Iowa City jeweler, will talk on "Gemology." Demonstrations of synchronized swimming, modern dance, and posture and body mechanics for the housewife will be given.

Sack Look Results In Shirtaal Revolt
TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — The sack look brought a shirtaal revolt to Tuscaloosa High School. Girl students, by agreement, blossomed out in sack dresses and chemises.
The boys answered by wearing white dress shirts with the tails waving in the breeze.
Both sides hinted that the style war will continue.
"The girls see just about how silly the chemise looks," said John Bowers.
Gail Snow, a sack wearer, reported of the boys: "They look like characters out of these magazines you read."
The teachers aren't talking.

SUI Students To Participate In Forensics

Eight students will represent SUI in speech activities during the next four days, it was announced Thursday.
Keith Bergstrom, A2, Audubon, Dorothy House, A3, Muscatine, Kathy Kelly, A2, Newton, and John Voigt, A2, Freeport, Ill., will represent SUI at the National Congress of Delta Sigma Rho at Michigan State University April 11 and 12. Delta Sigma Rho is a national honorary organization.
SUI was one of the founders of the organization in 1906. In 1956, at the 50th anniversary meeting, two Iowans, SUI President Virgil Hancher and Dr. A. Craig Baird, were among 17 members cited for their notable contributions in various fields.
Carol Watts, A1, Muscatine, and Barry Oberstein, A2, Oskaloosa, will participate with two students from the University of Illinois, George Stratton and Grant Eddy, in a symposium on the question, "What is the best way to meet the present recession?" It will take place at 8:30 a.m. Friday in Room 7, Schaeffer Hall.
David Brodsky, A2, Iowa City and Ron Stump, A1, Keokuk, will participate in discussions on pay TV at the University of Michigan and MSU April 14. The discussions are part of the program of the Western Conference Forensics League.

New Albin Liquor Store Stays Open

DES MOINES — An order to hold off on the closing of the New Albin state liquor store was issued by the Iowa Supreme Court Thursday.
The order was issued at the request of the town of New Albin and A. B. Ferguson, a resident, to permit time for an appeal from a Polk County District Court ruling that the Iowa Liquor Control Commission could close the store on April 15.

The Supreme Court order was handed down at a time when state trucks were en route from Des Moines to New Albin to start removing the stock from the store.
The plaintiffs were ordered to file a $25,000 bond to cover any possible loss the commission may suffer in keeping the store open until the Supreme Court completes action in the case.
The court directed the plaintiffs to file the lower court record of the case with the Supreme Court by April 30 and their opening brief by May 12.
It granted the Liquor Commission until May 29 to file an answering brief, after which the plaintiffs will have until June 4 to reply. The cause is to be argued before the court in June.

SUI Women Honored At Hospital

Gamma Alpha Chi professional women's advertising fraternity, and the Red Cross Section of Associated Women Students (AWS) were honored recently at a Recognition Banquet at the Veterans Hospital.

The two groups are members of the Veterans Administration Volunteer Service (VAWS). The 38-member VAWS helps Elbert E. Beaver, recreation director at the hospital, carry out the recreation program for the patients.

Gamma Alpha Chi helps publish two newspapers in the hospital. "The Pulse" is a monthly publication and "This Week" comes out every week. Girls interview the patients, lay out pages of the paper and deliver the finished product to the patients.

The Red Cross Section of AWS puts on variety shows and dancing programs, in addition to visiting the patients in the wards.

Certificates were given to both groups and to the individual members on the recreation program in 1957. Certificates were given for 100, 300 and 1,000 hours of work. Eight members of Gamma Alpha Chi and 48 members of AWS received certificates.

Planted Teeth Held Possible

BOSTON (AP)—Is the time coming when you can go to your dentist and ask, "Can I get a couple of teeth pulled and a couple of new ones planted?"

A distinguished oral surgeon didn't promise it, but he suggested a new kind of future in dentistry when he demonstrated that a patient's teeth can be transplanted from one part of his jaws to fill a toothless gap somewhere else in his mouth. And then he added that a tooth bank to replace diseased or knocked-out teeth is well within the realm of possibility.

Dr. Walter C. Guralnick, Massachusetts General Hospital dental surgeon and instructor in oral surgery at the Harvard School of Dental Medicine, brought two teenage boys and two teenage girls before 150 dentists and oral surgeons of the Harvard dental Alumni Assn. Wednesday night. He showed his fellow dental experts transplanted teeth anchored in their jaws "as hard as rock." They were only four of 50 such young patients who have had such tooth transplants.

In these transplant operations in young people, Dr. Guralnick took out impacted, or buried teeth that had not yet emerged from the gums. Taken out very carefully to save the root, such a tooth is immediately placed in a life-preserving solution.

It is later placed in a new socket cut into a chosen spot in the jawbone, wedged in with bone chips, and the soft tissue stitched together around it. Then dental cement is packed around it and neighboring teeth — remaining until the transplanted tooth becomes firm in its new socket.

Dr. Guralnick says the transplant operation takes no more than half an hour, maybe less. Within three weeks, there is definite firmness and bone tissue is filling in with the chips forming a part of the solid bone tissue of the jaw.

Washington Meet Experiences Told By Miss Jacobi

Carol Jacobi, A2, Clinton, was one of the 164 students who attended the ninth annual Washington Seminar for Lutheran Students held recently in Washington, D.C.

The group heard several addresses in the Pentagon, concerning world affairs, attended sessions at the State Department, and visited the National Press Club. The various meetings which the students attended were chaired by Lutherans in government service.

The annual spring seminar is sponsored jointly by the Division of Public Relations of the National Lutheran Council and the Department of the Public Relations of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Volunteers Awarded

MR. ELBERT BEAVER, Iowa City, head of the recreation department at Veterans Hospital, presents an award to three SUI women for their participation in recreation activities at the hospital. The three women, left to right, are Pam Stenberg, A4, Des Moines; Carol Wetzell, A2, Sterling, Ill.; and Lois Ann Campbell, A4, Newton. —Daily Iowan Photo by Jerry Goldstein.

day, April 14, and from 9 a.m. to concert time on Tuesday, April 15.

1957-58 is the 55th season of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra was originally founded to accompany a Minneapolis singing society, and gave its initial concert on November 5, 1903.

It was organized under the Orchestral Association of Minneapolis, formed to sponsor and support the orchestra.

It is the only major orchestra in America to have its home on a university campus. When the orchestra moved to the Northrup Auditorium on the University of Minnesota campus, it became an integral part of the university life.

Noted as one of the most widely traveled orchestras in America, the Minneapolis Symphony actually plays to people on tour each year than it does at home.

In an ordinary season, for instance, the orchestra on tour presents approximately 70 concerts in more than 50 towns and cities for the enjoyment of more than 150,000 patrons. Its home season consists of approximately 40 concerts which some 165,000 patrons hear.

During the years, it has played in excess of 3,300 concerts in more than 500 cities in all states except New Mexico and Delaware. It has been heard in eight provinces of Canada, and in Havana, Cuba.

Antal Dorati, musical director of the Minneapolis Symphony, is its fifth permanent conductor in its almost a half century of endeavor.

Born in Budapest, Dorati has devoted his entire life to music in all of its forms. Now slightly past 50, he has been a conductor for more than 30 years.

At 18, he started conducting opera in his home town. He spent ten years as musical director of some of the foremost ballet companies of the world. He has conducted the greatest of the symphony orchestras in the United States, in Mexico, in Australia and in Europe.

Both Dorati's parents were musicians. They early recognized the talent of their son. He enrolled in the Academy of Music in Budapest and trained as conductor, pianist, and composer and emerged as the youngest student in the history of the school to receive a degree. Among his teachers were Hungary's most distinguished composers, Zoltan Kodaly and Bela Bartok.

It was in the fall of 1945 when Dorati took over the Dallas Symphony Orchestra which had been suspended during the war. At once, he became a dynamo of organization, traveling 8,000 miles to audition and engage musicians whom he later moulded into a first rate ensemble.

Less than a month following his initial concert, he was invited to record for RCA-Victor, making two albums. These were succeeded in the years following by a number of others.

When Dimitri Mitropoulos, who had been director of the Minneapolis Symphony since 1936, became director of the New York Philharmonic in 1949, Dorati was selected as his successor.

Outside of his duties with the Minneapolis Orchestra during its regular season, Dorati has found time during summer vacation periods to expand his operations and become one of the best known conductors in Europe.

In Holland and Italy in particular, Dorati has become well known as an exacting, imaginative and brilliant conductor.

During the summer of 1953 he extended his guest conducting operations to Stockholm, Sweden, where he directed the orchestra in a concert which was part of the 70th anniversary of the founding of that city. He conducted again in Holland and Italy last summer.

Annual Meet Of Teachers Begins Today

The 36th annual Conference of Teachers of History and Social Studies to be held today and Saturday at SUU will begin at 2 p.m. in Shambaugh Lecture Room. SUU history professor William O. Adye, lotte, professor of social studies John H. Haefner, and Samuel P. Hays, assistant professor of history will preside at the various meetings of the conference.

Speakers for Friday's program include Ray A. Billington, professor at Northwestern University who will speak on "A Meaning for American History: the Frontier Hypothesis Re-examined." William A. Williams, teacher of diplomatic history at the University of Wisconsin will discuss "The Corporation and American Foreign Policy, 1890-1958." "Factors in Modern History" is the topic of Jack I. Hexter, chairman of history at Washington University in St. Louis. During the Saturday morning session in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol visitors can discuss more effective educational programs for history teachers. George B. Carson Jr., director of the American Historical Association's service center for teachers of history, will lead the discussion.

Press Club Celebrates First 50 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Wilson enjoyed the National Press Club's spelling bees. President Harding voted in its elections.

President Taft, bored with White House routine because nobody dropped in, came by the club for a bit of conversation — and a drink of water. Frank Matera is still the club's bartender, and that anyone should ask for water naturally sticks in his memory.

SUCH ASSORTED newsmakers as the actress, Sarah Bernhardt; the wrestler, Frank Gotch; Indian leader Chief Crazy Horse; and the North Pole hunter, Cmdr. Robert E. Peary have been the club's guests.

Four topflight legislators of the time — Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, fiddlin' Bob Taylor of Tennessee, Uncle Joe Cannon of Illinois and Tom Carter of Montana — debated this grave issue for club members: "Resolved, that whiskers are a greater detriment to man than bald heads."

These memories are dredged up because the club is celebrating its 50th birthday.

This is a town a newsman soon learns to go easy on superlatives, but the club advertises itself as "the most famous newspaperman's club in the world."

ON SATURDAY NIGHT there will be a big birthday party, with the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers arranging a show. A special song,

"Golden Jubilee," has been written by Paul Cunningham and Jimmy McHugh.

The club now has 4,632 members scattered all over the world, including 1,021 more or less working newsmen here.

It owns a 14-story building only a couple of blocks from the White House that some real estate men say is worth 15 million dollars.

YET ALL THIS BEGAN in 1908 with 32 reporters and correspondents — and a $32 kitty.

And every president since Taft has joined and paid his dues, except President Eisenhower. No explanation. He simply didn't join.

Oh, well. Even a bustling 50-year-old can't have everything.

Prof. Moeller to Plan Journalism Workshop

Leslie G. Moeller, professor and director of the SUU School of Journalism, has been named to make preliminary plans for a "Workshop on Professional Journalism Education Accrediting Procedures" under sponsorship of the American Council on Education for Journalism (ACEJ). The workshop will review accrediting procedures in preparation for the third cycle of visits to professional journalism schools, to begin in 1960.
