Temperatures Soar—Same Today

80s!

Highs of near 80 brought fast wardrobe changes for many Iowa citizens Wednesday as the warmest day of the year seemed to make summer clothing the mode.

Southerly winds were part of the reason for the mercury's upward climb.

A Pacific air mass moving southeastward toward Iowa was expected to touch off a few scattered thundershowers in the northwest corner of the state today. Temperatures in Iowa City today are expected to range in the 70's.

Big Ten Greek Gathering Starts At SUI Today

The Big Ten Interfraternity Council-Panhellenic Conference starts today at SUI. Local Greeks are hosts for the first time to such a conference.

"Return to the Decalog," the conference theme, was derived from the ten fraternity policy statements made at the national fraternity conference in 1944. Each of the ten participating schools was to lead a discussion of one of the policy statements.

However, since SUI is not to lead any of the discussions, only nine of the policy statements will be discussed, Sue Fischrupp, A3, Hinsdale, Ill., general convention co-chairman, said.

The nine discussions will be on: rushing, social, scholarship, integration, finance, reciprocal obligations, housing, group ethics and conduct, and Greek government. The omitted discussion was on culture.

The nine visiting schools are to each send six delegates and two faculty advisors making a total of 72 Big Ten visitors to the SUI campus for the conference.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will make the opening speech at 9:15 Friday morning. A conference banquet is to be held at 12:15 in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union. Glen T. Nygreen, dean of men at Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, will give the banquet address.

The delegates will be housed in their respective fraternity and sorority houses in Iowa City.

New Student Council Hears Regents' Housing Directive

SUI Student Council, at its meeting Wednesday night, was informed that the State Board of Regents directed the University to install the meters in the barracks housing units to record the use of electricity.

Under the compromise offered by the Board of Regents last Friday the married students can rent the barracks for $42.50 a month and pay for their own fuel oil, gas and electricity. Ray Moseman, assistant University secretary, and Gerald E. Burke, assistant manager of dormitory operations presented the program to the council.

The council withdrew a resolution which it was scheduled to act on concerning the compromise offered by the Board of Regents.

"The resolution was dropped because in essence it was the same as the plan announced by the University," Len Flander, L2, Iowa City, student body president, said. "The only difference is the sale of the electricity."

The electricity will be sold directly to the students, not through the University, as the resolution suggested.

The council re-affirmed the stand of the old Student Council on the married student housing problem, with numerous amendments.

The stand by the new council is negative. It recommends that the university abandon plans for the Hawkeye Apartments, the same as the old stand did, but fails to offer any suggestion for action by the University to meet the problem. The old council proposed that action be taken similar to that being carried out at Iowa State.

George York, M3, Iowa City, was elected president pro tem of the legislative branch of the Student Council. He was elected by the assembly to preside over its meetings in the absence of Judy Clark, A2, Cedar Falls, vice-president.

Loveless Sees MS Group

Governor Herschel Loveless again reaffirmed his support of the Married Student Housing Group's position in a letter Wednesday to the married student committee.

Two members of the married student committee, Richard C. Clark, G, 204 Finkbine Park, chairman, and David W. Jones, G, 208 Riverside Park, are to meet this morning with Loveless at 10:30 in Des Moines.

Loveless was reported to have said in a letter to Charles Schermerhorn, G, 171 Riverside Park, a committee member, he would do everything possible to hold down the rental costs and the cost of obtaining a higher education.

Loveless said also he had no authority, as governor, to countermand the Board of Regents' approval of the proposed construction of Hawkeye Apartments at SUI and the proposed rental schedule.

Proposed Hawkeye Apartments would cost an estimated $2.6 million to finance and construct and would probably rent at $85 per month plus electricity. Barracks-type housing rent was to have been boosted $10 monthly effective in June to help finance the project.

A group of 281 married students protesting the rent increase signed letters refusing to sign new leases which would obligate them to pay the rent increase.

The Board of Regents passed a resolution Friday offering a compromise rent schedule which reduced the rent from the current rate of $52.50 to $42.40 plus gas, heat, oil and electricity.

Regents Tell MSH $42.50 Plus Utilities

Students who wish to sign leases to pay $62.50 per month rental—including all utilities—for SUI married student housing units may do so April 21 through April 30, an SUI housing official said Tuesday.

An earlier April 11 deadline was extended to April 30 by the State Board of Regents to make it possible for all present SUI married student housing residents to include the cost of utilities in their rent payments for next year, according to Virgil S. Copeland, manager of dormitory operations. Leases signed after April 30 will be at the rate of $42.50 per month for unfurnished apartments with the student tenant paying his own utilities in addition.

Provisions for the new lease system were made in a resolution passed last week by the regents, in an effort to provide opportunity for the individual student to effect a saving in his total cost of housing.

Copeland said that the University is presently working out details of individual utility charges for use when the new system takes effect. It is expected, he said, that the University will contract with heating oil and LP gas suppliers to provide these fuels at bulk rates, with the University subsequently billing the individual student for the amount he consumes. Electrical service will be provided by the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company of Iowa City, and metered separately for each apartment, he said, at rates set by the company.

Until such a time as meters can be installed and billing arrangements made, unfurnished apartment units will be rented at $62.50 per month, which charge will include all utility payments, Copeland said. The "charity-over" will be effected as soon as possible, he said.

Water, sewage, public lights (street lights, etc.), and public school tuition ($4.40 per month) will be included in the $42.50 monthly rental. School tuition has been imposed upon University Dormitory System by legislative enactment; therefore, it cannot be made an optional charge according to a statement issued by T. M. Rehder, director of dormitories and dining services.

Students who have already signed leases calling for them to pay $62.50 per month, including utilities, may have new leases at $42.50 and assume their own utility payments, he said.

The University is studying the feasibility of establishing a program which will make it possible for the student to distribute his monthly gas and oil costs equally over the year, Copeland said.

This will probably be accomplished by making it possible for the user to make an extra monthly payment during the warmer months, which payment will be used to help pay gas and heating

Coal in Them Holes, On H'Way 6 Work

SUI GEOLOGISTS were called in to study a seam of coal which was struck by workers at the highway widening project along Riverside Drive and Newton Road Wednesday.

The vein of low grade soft coal was found in the limestone bank which is being cut away by the highway construction crews. The seam, 3 to 4 inches thick, may extend over a 20 square mile area, but is not considered commercially valuable according to geologists.

THE GEOLOGISTS believe the coal is of a marine type which was laid down about 350 million years ago when this area was covered by a huge shallow sea.

Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up Week

Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week will be April 26 to May 10 in Iowa City.

Sponsored by the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce, the project is aimed at presenting an example of civic improvement for the other citizens of Iowa City to follow, according to a Chamber of Commerce representative.

The Women's Panhellenic Association and Interfraternity Pledge Council will take part in the activities on a project to be announced later.

Mayor Louis Loria urged every citizen to participate in this year's program.

"The general health and welfare of our citizens depends upon good, clean surroundings," he said.

"I most respectfully call upon all citizens to take an active part in this constructive program of community improvement to insure its success," Mayor Loria said.

The Iowa City Jaycees will paint the bath house at the Iowa City Swimming Pool beginning April 26.

The Jonco Jills will place litterbug bags and large barrels at local gas stations for motorists to deposit trash. This project will also begin April 26.

The Coralville Commercial Club will hold its annual trash haul. The club will also construct more picnic tables and plant 500 rose bushes at the Coralville Park.

The Izaak Walton League of Johnson County will work on a project to be announced later.

Dustin Corlette, 509 1/2 Brown St., is general chairman for Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week and William P. Gilpin, 704 12th Ave., is chairman of the publicity committee.

UNEMPLOYMENT

EIGHT STATES claim three out of five of the nation's 5,200,000 idle workers, according to a study of Commerce and Labor department job reports. New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, Massachusetts, Illinois, Michigan and California have three-fifths of the jobless Americans.

Wisecracks About Space Man Flight To Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower took aim at Harry S. Truman Wednesday and said he never would go for a program that might "flood the country with money and shoot prices upward."

Mr. Eisenhower again held back on any immediate tax cut to pump up purchasing power and combat the recession.

He told a news conference he has made his position crystal clear — this business of a tax cut will be taken up when he can be convinced it will be for the benefit of the United States.

The chief executive also erected caution and slow signs in the path of public works legislation, whereas former President Truman is urging heavier spending on works projects.

Truman told a House committee Monday the recession is very serious and proposed a $5 billion tax cut for middle and low-income families. He said this could be offset by wiping out special tax privileges, closing tax law loopholes, and bringing down interest payments on the national debt.

And, of course, Mr. Eisenhower was asked about the views of his predecessor. He said he wasn't commenting on anybody else's recommendations and suggestions — then proceeded to comment.

After restating his position on taxes, Mr. Eisenhower picked out the point of fixing or lowering interest rates on the debt.

This would have to be done by a Federal board, he said, and "it would have to, if necessary, flood the country with money to keep that rate at a sustained basis. This means with that kind of money running around, then prices have to go up."

He said that is a kind of program he, for one, "would never go for."

As for vast public works, the President said that "you have got to be very, very careful about" proposing them as moves to combat recession.

If they all reach an expenditure peak at the same time, he said, remember that "what this country will need to appropriate and take out of the private pocketbook to pay for these things is going to be very great indeed."

"So," Mr. Eisenhower summed up, "I am trying to say: Let's try to be reasonable. Let's try to use some common sense and not just get a Sputnik attitude about everything."

This was the President's fourth weekly news conference in a row—the first time in a year that four have been strung together.

He sent an overflow crowd of working and visiting newsmen into a roar of laughter by putting a question to a questioner.

That was when Carleton Kent of the Chicago Sun-Times noted that Army missile expert Werner von Braun predicted the Army, within a year, can shoot a man in a rocket 150 miles into space and bring him back safely.

Kent asked whether it had been brought to Mr. Eisenhower's attention that Von Braun told a congressional committee a Pentagon go-ahead on the project has been held up three months and that the missile expert fears Russia may send a man into space first.

"Let me ask you — I will discuss this for just a moment — but first I will ask you a question: Do you want to volunteer?" asked the President.

"If I can have time to answer," Kent said, "this spokesman said that they had the volunteers on hand already."

"Oh, I see. You don't have to," Mr. Eisenhower remarked.

Turning serious, he said he has a Scientific Advisory Committee which has listed outer space objectives "and they did not put a manned space vehicle of any kind early."

He said he doesn't question that Von Braun believes a man can be sent into space within a year, and possibly it can be done. But first, he said, he would want to find out whether the advisory committee thought the idea useful.

Historical Society Bids Seen Today

Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. today for the construction of the State Historical Society of Iowa's new building in Iowa City. Costs are estimated at $350,000.

The structure will be located on the northeast corner of Iowa Avenue and Gilbert Street where the former University laundry and music annexes have been razed.

William J. Petersen, superintendent of the society since 1947 and SUI associate professor of history, said that completion of the building should come within nine months or a year.

The society's new building will be constructed of masonry and steel with brick and stone facing. Its dimensions will be 110 feet long, 74 feet wide, and three stories high.

$200,000 was appropriated by the state legislature for the building and the remaining $150,000 was raised by donations among members and friends of the society, according to Petersen.

Reserve stacks eight feet in height of the society's extensive file of newspapers and publications will be stored in the two basement levels of the building.

The main floor will consist of a library, reading and special purpose rooms. One-third of the top floor will be occupied by society offices and the remainder by library stacks.

Finkbine Guests See Silent Ones

Representative SUI men of the present and from the past discussed leadership and just got to know each other Wednesday night as guests of the late William O. Finkbine at the 41st annual Finkbine dinner in Iowa Memorial Union.

"The Importance of Leadership in the American Way of Life" was the long and impressive title of the speeches, by students, alumni and faculty members were more like personal discussions with subjects ranging from the "Silent Generation" to the duty of leaders in American politics.

Robert F. Ray, toastmaster, professor and head of the Institute of Public Affairs, challenged the 1958 Finkbine dinner student guests to speak their minds and tried to warm them up by pointing out they have been called members of the Silent Generation because of apathetic attitudes. Students were asked to clear themselves of the charge, although Ray said he didn't believe it.

Several students immediately denied the charges. Lloyd Couler, L2, Boone; Tom Slattery, G, Daily Iowan Editor, Chicago, led the counter-attack saying they represented no such thing.

But more than 100 men students were noncommittally silent.

Norman A. Erbe, Attorney General and alumni representative, charged the men to use their demonstrated leadership in government, whether local, state or national.

Erbe got a good laugh, thanking the toastmaster for not introducing him as "four-point Erbe." He was one of the first Iowans to lose auto license points for speeding.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher was last to speak, and stressed the importance of leadership.

Each year representative campus men are honored by being invited to the Finkbine dinner as budding campus leaders. Former students who attended the dinners in college days also attend. The dinner is made possible by a grant from the estate of William O. Finkbine, a graduate of the 19th century. He was extremely active in civic and SUI affairs and started the dinners in 1917 in tribute to leaders on campus, hoping they would get to know one another.

$1.8 Billion Highway Bill Signed by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower ended the suspense and signed the $1,800,000,000 highway bill Wednesday.

He found things worth it—precedents he said he wouldn't like to see followed in the future—but decided to go along because of prospects it could be a quick help in creating jobs.

There had been advance indications that Mr. Eisenhower would sign, but no certainty.

Only last Saturday a big Chicago meeting to discuss highway construction was called off because of doubt as to whether the bill would become law.

The bill was pressed chiefly by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) but it had bipartisan backing, notably by Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.). It won 84-4 approval in the Senate and the House voted for it 300-28.

The new law aims at three major goals:

1. To provide new jobs. Gore estimated that the new jobs would swell to 520,000 in time.

2. To get the schedule for the 41,000-mile superhighway interstate network back on the 13-year schedule set for it in 1956. Otherwise, the prospect was for a long stretch-out.

3. To establish a national policy of regulating billboards on the interstate system and giving states incentives to carry out this policy. States agreeing to regulate billboards would get a bonus of 1/2 of 1 per cent of the cost of the interstate sections regulated by the agreement.

The bill is spoken of as a $1,800,000,000 measure because that is the sum it is estimated will be available for construction this year beyond the money previously scheduled. It raises to $5,500,000,000 the amount to be spent this year on the over-all Federal-state highway program.

Signing of the Federal emergency highway aid bill will give Iowa road-building an $18-million shot in the arm.

The Federal Government pays 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate network, the states 10 per cent. Where states go along with the billboard control arrangement, the Federal share will be 90 1/2 per cent.

Mr. Eisenhower's objections were mainly to the bill's provision to drop, for one year, the 50-50 Federal-state division of the cost of work on Federal aid programs outside the interstate network.

The bill provides that for one year, the states need put up only $1 to each $2 of Federal money for primary, secondary and urban Federal-aid roads.

AP DIGEST

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AMBASSADORS of Britain, the United States and France told the Soviet Union Wednesday they are ready to begin talks today on the major issues in preparation for a summit conference. The West and Russia still are not reconciled on what issues shall be discussed and what the diplomats will discuss.

PLAN FOR increasing the power of the secretary of defense was sent by President Eisenhower to the Congress Wednesday in great detail. A congressman immediately denounced the plan as "Prussian-type supreme high command."

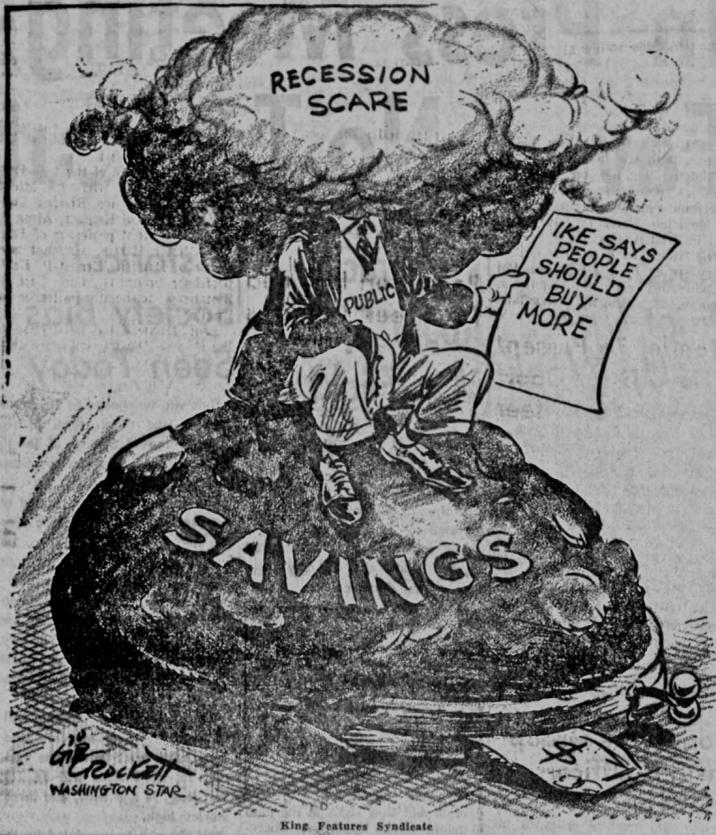

THE HOUSE Wednesday passed and sent to the Senate a one-sentence bill barring Government officials from using a 169 year old Federal housekeeping law as a basis for withholding information from the American people. The Administration is not entirely favorable to the bill.

MARRINER S. ECCLES, Federal Reserve Board chief in the Roosevelt-Truman era, called Wednesday for a tax cut of $6 to $7 billion. His views carry quite a bit of weight in the Democrat-controlled congress.

TOBACCO-CHEWING former governor, Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-N.C.), died on the eve of his 62nd birthday Wednesday in Burlington, N.C., of a heart attack he suffered a week ago. His death reduced the Democratic majority in the Senate to one, 48-47.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR will share the estate of her late husband, Mike Todd, equally with his 28-year-old son by a former marriage, the New York Journal American reported Wednesday. It was previously reported that the estate will total from $3 to $5 million.

Not Getting the Message

Soldiers on Campus

The Army has started a program — education for selected soldiers and WACs — that should have at least two desirable effects: It should encourage more of the capable, intelligent people that today's technical Army needs to stick around a while; as well as develop their intellect, and would open another path to higher education.

The proposal is this: for every three year hitch an individual would agree to serve, the Army would finance one year of college. About 300 persons are slated to start the program.

One big headache the Army has had to cope with is the fact that relatively few personnel with high IQ and technical competency stay in Service when their term is up. They get higher pay on the outside, and since the termination of the GI bill, cannot even balance their two years or so of service against an education later — as post WW II GIs could. And the new arrangement is better for the Army, because few soldiers who take advantage of the GI bill return to the Army when they finish college.

The Army has experimented with higher pay scales, technical ratings, fringe benefits, more pleasant working conditions, geographical guarantees — at least on initial assignment, technical school opportunities, competitive tests for ratings (rather than arbitrary appointment by immediate superiors), dependent benefits and services, prestige and status promotion campaigns, and dozens of other devices calculated to attract and keep better people.

For the most part, they have been unsuccessful. This program college financing is much more likely to appeal to the intelligent person than any of the previously tried schemes.

The taxpayer gets a break — less turnover, lower replacement expenditures (initial training costs are high); and the Army can perform its job better with trained, experienced people. And after all, if we deem it necessary to have an Army, it ought to be the best available for the money.

This looks like a promising way of raising the level of efficiency while providing educational opportunity.

Russia's Cordial—And Vodka Dixon Races To Get Story From Oklahoman

WASHINGTON — Senator A. S. (Mike) Monroney, the blithe six-foot-two giant from Oklahoma, came strolling down a corridor of the Senate Office Building the other day. Literally running at full speed, just to keep abreast of him, was his press secretary, Mrs. Beth Short, who would have to stand on tiptoes to reach an even five feet.

Mrs. Short, the charming widow of the late Joe Short, press secretary to President Truman, was out of breath, but she managed to huff and puff:

"Join us — if you think you can make the pace. The Senator — puff! puff! — has the most wonderful story — pant! pant! — of an encounter with the Russians in Geneva."

I rather you with this long preamble only so that if any of the story seems disconnected and jerky you will understand that I took the notes while running my underized little heart out.

They had just barely checked into their Geneva hotel when they were welcomed by their opposite numbers from the U.S.S.R. with an invitation to dinner.

"Describe them — the way you did for me!" heaved Mrs. Short, who was beginning to bow in the tendons.

"Well," said the Oklahoma man mountain, "one was a big lady, built like a fullback; another was a youngish blonde who really possessed a lot of what it takes. She had looks, and curves in the right —"

"I wouldn't wax so rhapsodic, if I were you," counseled his press secretary. "Tell him about the third members."

"The third delegate," said Senator Monroney, "was the editor of Izvestia."

The solon said he told the Russians that commitments wouldn't permit acceptance of the dinner invitation. To soften the rejection, he invited the Soviet trio to be the guests of the Americans for cocktails. At the cocktail party, the Russians became so insistent upon returning the hospitality that the Americans agreed to be their luncheon guests next day.

"It was the best, and most expensive lunch I've enjoyed in many a day," mused the lawmaker —

"fresh caviar filet of Dover sole, hearts of artichoke, and vodka such as I've seldom drunk. We kept doing a 'bottoms up' —"

"I don't think I would put too much emphasis on that," panted the press-conscious press secretary, who knows Oklahoma.

"Well," resumed Senator Monroney, "everybody was pleasant and completely relaxed. The Russians obviously didn't have a thing on their minds except a determination to be good hosts. They said nice things about our leaders; we tried to return the compliments."

"After the luncheon we rejoined them in interparliamentary session. But halfway through the meeting, a secretary came in and slipped the editor of Izvestia a message."

"After that, the session went to pot. The Russians kept dashing in and out of the room. They relaxed alomh had been replaced by frenzied tension. Moreover they kept eyeing us fearfully."

"Later we learned why. They — including the editor of Russia's foremost newspaper — had just learned that Bulganin had been fired. They were wild with fear that, in all the 'bottoms upping,' they might have inadvertently said something complimentary about the deposed Premier."

'Needle Talk'

by John Sunier

At the start of today's discussion, Berg, IF HE IS an artiste des jazz-hot, he may water down the few original ideas he started with and allow the session to degenerate into a lot of boring, senseless blowing.

A FACT NOT generally known is that you nearly always get more minutes of music for your money on long-hair than you do on jazz discs. A few checks with a stopwatch will show you that most jazz platters contain about 15 minutes to a side, while some classical discs achieve over 30 minutes, especially on chamber music.

Now that 78's and 45's are just about done for, the new speed of 16 1/2 is gaining momentum. The Prestige company has taken some of the Modern Jazz Quartet's old 10-inchers and packed them four-to-a-disc at 16 1/2 speed. Most of the newer factory-built phonographs have four-speed changers, but if yours won't play the new speed you can purchase an inexpensive adapter.

"Talking Books" have been released on the lazy speed for quite some time, but only recently has music been issued this way. It would seem a boon to lovers of quiet jazz who don't own record changers and don't want to change the discs themselves every 15 minutes or so — not to mention the value to just plain lovers.

VOX PRODUCTIONS has released four classical 16 1/2 albums. From what I hear, the $6.95 discs have a sound quality nearly as good as 33 1/3 ones, but the main disadvantage is in the choice of selections to join on one disc which has a capacity of up to two hours.

BUT MORE OFTEN, unfortunately, an artist who might have enough interesting material to put out a 10-inch lp is confronted by the miles and miles of grooves on each side of the 12-inch disc. In an effort to fill out these wide open spaces, the artist makes sounds that ruin the originally good purposes. If he is a classical musician, he will play compositions he has barely learned, or war-horses that are played better by a dozen other artists. Maybe he will stick in selections that make an incongruous balance, such as Tchaikovsky on the other side of Alban

A Fable— The Three Married Pigs

By SIDNEY LANDAU

Once upon a time there were three married pigs. One married pig lived in one-half of a tin hut and paid $52.50 a month including utilities. Another married pig lived in the other half of the tin hut and also paid $52.50 a month. But the third married pig, who was wiser than the other two, lived in a splendid brick dwelling called Pig-Eye Sties. It had fireproof doorknobs. This pig loved his children dearly and paid $85 a month rent. He even bought family-size tubes of Ipana toothpaste because his youngest piglet like the taste. Of course, pigs don't brush their teeth, and when asked why he persisted in buying toothpaste he became very angry and snapped, "The teeth of my children are worth more to me than a few crummy tubes of toothpaste."

EACH MONTH a big, bad wolf came around to collect the rent, and each month the pigs, who were afraid of him, paid the rent. But one month the wolf stopped in front of the first pig's half of a tin hut and said, "If you won't give $10 more this month, I'll huff and I'll puff and I'll blow your hut in." "But why?" squeaked the first frightened pig, "isn't $52.50 enough?"

The wolf thought this was very funny. He laughed so hard he fell down and twisted his ankle slightly. This made him angry. "You have no business to ask," he said finally, "we are giving you an opportunity to help wealthier pigs. We will use your extra $10 to pay for the fireproof doorknobs in Pig-Eye Sties."

Planned Outfits Save Money

First Need Basic Clothes

You won't be one of those women who wail, "But I just don't have a thing to wear" if you get the habit of long-range wardrobe planning, suggests Mrs. Nelle Mercer of the SUI Department of Home Economics.

The object in planning a wardrobe is to provide a becoming and complete costume for any occasion. This does not mean a different costume for each occasion, but garments which are easily coordinated and interchangeable. Buying on impulse is costly. A woman who buys hastily many times gets home and finds she has nothing to go with the new purchase. Planning your wardrobe before buying can save you money in the long run.

The first step in planning or "re-planning" your wardrobe is to establish a basic color theme which will carry through your clothing from season to season and year to year, Mrs. Mercer says. The basic color need not be your most becoming color, but it should be a color which combines with many colors that are flattering to you. Thus, a basic color will be repeated in one basic dress, one basic suit, a coat and at least one set of major accessories — hat, shoes, bag and gloves.

Basic colors are black, navy blue, brown, beige and gray. Of these, perhaps black is the most basic, for not only does it go with more colors but we tire less of it than any other. It provides a perfect background for jewelry and scarves. However, it does show dust and powder easily and looks shabby in a low-grade fabric. Black combines well with black, gray and clear tones of green, yellow, violet, beige, bright blue, aquamarine, red and pink.

Brown is best worn with brown, beige, tan, green, rust, yellow, white, turquoise, light blue, coral, copper, salmon-red, gold, cream and orange.

Navy blue looks good when worn with light blue, jade, green, white, gray, burgundy, cedar, coral, fuchsia, flesh pink, violet, lime, rust orange, beige, cream, and black or blue accessories. Navy blue is more youthful than black. Beige and gray though accepted as basic colors, are not as dressy as the darker basics. Gray is becoming with black, gray, jade, violet, red, yellow, coral, jade green, aqua, raspberry and rust. Beige is pleasing with brown, cocoa, coral, red, black, gold, blue and green.

After you have decided on a basic color which will be carried throughout your wardrobe, you can build the foundation of your wardrobe, "The Basic Six." These six classifications of "musts" for your clothing supply include coats, suits, separates (skirts, blouses, sweaters, weskits), casual shirt-waist or coat dresses, informal dresses and formal evening dresses.

You may enjoy wearing one of these groups more than the other and therefore will have more of one than another. However, it is wise to have at least one costume in each classification, or at least you should be able to "create" from your wardrobe something that will serve as a garment in each.

Mrs. Mercer points out that it is an intelligent consumer who spreads the buying over several years — a coat one year, a suit the next, and an accessory now and then. This will not only ease the budget but will add newness to your apparel from time to time.

Before buying or making anything new, make an inventory of your present clothing situation. Analyze what you have, what you should discard, what needs mending or restyling and finally what you really need to buy. . . . Decide how much wear you can expect from each item of clothing.

PLANNED WARDROBES CAN save a woman's bank account. Basic color combinations is one plan suggested by Mrs. Nelle Mercer of the SUI Home Economics Department. Summer Session Applications Due By June 16

Persons, not yet SUI students, who wish to attend summer session should turn in their requests for admission to the SUI Registrar's Office before June 16. Donald Rhodes, associate director of admissions, said Wednesday.

Students intending to remain through summer session will follow the registration schedule which will be posted.

The Dormitory Assignment Office will accept requests for housing as long as dormitory rooms and housing units are available. Mrs. Imelda Murphy, manager of Dormitory Assignment Office, said.

She said the men and women's dormitories will operate through the summer session. A limited number of married housing units will also be available.

Orientation for the summer session is scheduled for June 16, registration will be June 17 and classes are to begin June 18.

Alpha Kappa Ga Elects Officers

Austa Cozzens, D1, Zeating, is the newly elected president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, professional Dental Hygiene sorority, for the 1958-59 school year.

Other officers are: Marie Daniels, D2, Ames, vice-president; Phyllis Baratta, D3, Des Moines, recording secretary; Jean Livingston, A2, Monmouth, Ill., corresponding secretary; Blanche Lawson, A2, Lincoln, Neb., treasurer.

Big items — coats, suits, skirts, jackets, especially wool — may be expected to last five to seven years. Simplicity of style, quality of fabric, workmanship and the wear and tear you give the garments determine the life expectancy of an article.

Buy as good a quality as you can afford, advises Mrs. Mercer. Have fewer, but better, more wearable garments. Select garments with great care so that each item is suitable to you, wearable practically all year around except for warmest and coldest days and appropriate for many different occasions. Each time you make a purchase decide whether the garment will fit into your wardrobe — in color and style.

27 Teen-Agers Vie Today for Forensics Title

Twenty-seven teen-agers who have written their own speeches will vie today and Friday for the state oratory title won last year by Harlan Hahn of Osage.

The oratory contestants will be among some 600 speech students from 75 high schools taking part in the state finals of the Iowa High School Forensic League through Saturday at SUI.

Other events conducted by SUI speech educators with the help of University students will include debate, extemporaneous speaking, radio and television speaking, student senate, and oral interpretation.

State champions will be announced Saturday in debate, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking with "superior" and "excellent" ratings conferred in other events.

The state finals, involving top speakers selected from six Iowa districts, opened with registration Wednesday noon in Iowa Memorial Union and will close with the annual Ratings and Awards Luncheon Saturday in Iowa Memorial Union.

Schools Hosting Merchants Today

Teachers of the Iowa City school system will play host today to local business and professional men and women at the annual Education - Business Day open house.

Local business people are invited to visit Iowa City schools at any time throughout the day.

In conjunction with the day's activities, the Iowa City Teacher's Association is sponsoring a dinner at the Mayflower Inn at 6:15 this evening. Guests at the dinner will be the business men and women who participated in Business-Education Day in August, 1957.

3 Plays Get Superior Ratings

Three Iowa high schools earned "superior" ratings in the class C division of the 30th annual Play Production Festival at SUI this week.

Class C casts, including schools with enrollments of 150 or less, performed all day Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Groups earning superior ratings from judge Ned Donahoe, director of theatre at Grinnell College, Grinnell, include Olds High School, directed by Mrs. Jacqueline Hultquist; Fonda High School, "Ladies of the Mop," Virginia Hall Ott, director; and Jolley High School, "A Light from St. Agnes," F. W. Heskett, director.

Ratings of "excellent" went to four casts: St. Patrick's High School, Iowa City, "The Red Velvet Goat," directed by Stanley E. Jones; Kalona, "The Happy Journey," Kay Schauland, and Danville, "Old Skin Flint," Mrs. Dale Tucker.

Class B casts, schools with enrollments of 150-450, will present their one-act plays through Friday noon. Class A schools will perform Friday and Saturday.

LIEN AGAINST CROSBY
HONOLULU (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service filed an income tax lien of $40,772 here Tuesday against band leader Bob Crosby. The lien was described as against Federal taxes for 1957. The Crosbys have a $100,000 home in Honolulu.

Navy Dental Officer to Speak At SUI Today

Members of the Junior American Dental Association at SUI and faculty of the College of Dentistry will hear a talk by Capt. W. B. Johnson of the U.S. Navy Dental Corps at a meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in the Dental Building.

Captain Johnson is chief of dental service for the U.S. Naval Hospital, Great Lakes, Ill. His topic tonight will be "Oral Medicine, Oral Pathology and Oral Diagnosis." His talk will be illustrated with colored slides.

Captain Johnson will also speak before the senior seminar group Friday on "The Management and Treatment of Maxillo-Facial Injuries."

TOO FAR FROM HOME
BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — State Police arrested John R. Hirsch, city employee, while he was driving a 1926 Reo truck which belongs to the city. The truck did not have license plates — not even for 1926. Alvin Keller, city finance director, paid the $9 fine and said the truck is used at the water and light plant and is not supposed to be taken from that place.

Matrix Leadership Awards To Be Presented Tonight

Two outstanding women, one an SUI student, the other an Iowa City resident, will receive awards for leadership and service in campus and civic affairs at the annual Matrix Table banquet at 6 p.m. today in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Lady Janet Shipton, daughter of the former British Prime Minister Earl Clement Attlee, will speak at the banquet about her first impressions of the United States. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shipton and their family arrived in this country for the first time in November.

Nominations for the SUI undergraduate award came from the women's housing units and campus organizations. Iowa City women were nominated through club affiliations. The winners have been selected by a committee of SUI faculty members and Iowa Citizens.

The banquet, sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, women's national journalism fraternity, is held annually in honor of women who have been outstanding in both Iowa City and SUI work during the past year. Approximately 140 women are expected to attend.

Decorations for the banquet will center around a British theme, in accordance with Lady Shipton's talk.

Lady Shipton, now on the list of SUI faculty wives, came to this country with her husband, Harold W. Shipton, who has joined the SUI staff as research associate and electronic engineer in the College of Medicine. Their original home was in Bristol, England.

The Matrix Table banquet is held every spring by Theta Sigma Phi chapters throughout the country in honor of the fraternity's founding.

Williams Play Staff Named

The Board of Directors of the Iowa City Community Theatre has announced the staff for the forthcoming production of Tennessee Williams' "Orpheus Descending" ("Something Wild in the Country"). The play is to be given at the Old Eagles Lodge, 23 1/2 E. Washington St., April 30 to May 3.

The production will be the third and final play of the 1957-58 season and is being directed by Robert Spanabel, G. Struthers, Ohio. Miss Martha Hempstead is stage manager and Mrs. John Rushton is bookholder.

Committee heads for the production are as follows: Set design and construction, Joe Zender; ticket sales and advertising, Mrs. Junious "Bud" Tate; publicity and promotion, Mrs. Hood Gardner; make-up and costume supervision, Rosemary Stevens; displays, Richard Webb; poster and program construction, Donald Stribling; green room, Mrs. Junious Tate; lighting, Eugene Weiner; ushers, Mrs. Arthur Kern; photography, Charles Deutsch; music and sound, Thomas E. Koehler, Jr.; house, Joseph Mautz; properties, Elizabeth Beal.

Reservations can be made at the Iowa City Recreation Commission office.

Moeller To Present Accrediting Report At New York Meet

Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI School of Journalism, will present a report on the procedure to be followed in appeals in journalism accrediting procedure, at the meeting of the American Council on Education for Journalism in New York Sunday.

The report has been prepared at the request of the council for the use of the accrediting committee of that organization of which Prof. Moeller is a member.

2 SUIowans Receive Grants For Research

Two assistant professors of political science have received grants from the Social Science Research Council for work this summer, said Kirk H. Porter, professor and head of the Department of Political Science.

John Schmidhauser will attend the Summer Research Training Institute program on the Judicial Process at Madison, Wis., July 7-August 22, under the terms of his grant.

Robert Boynton will participate in another Training Research Institute program on The Analysis of Electoral Behavior, in Ann Arbor, Mich., June 28-August 15.

Reception Planned For Greek Advisers

Greek advisers attending the Big Ten Interfraternity (IFC) Panhellenic Conference at SUI this weekend will be honored at a reception and coffee hour Friday at 3:30 p.m. at the Delta Delta Delta social sorority house, 522 N. Clinton.

Other guests will include alumni council members for SUI fraternities and alumni advisers to local sororities.

Members of the planning committee for the tea are: Mrs. Erling Thoen, Mrs. John Prouty, and Mrs. James Swaner.

Maxwell Heads Chicago Meet

Professor Baldwin Maxwell, head of the SUI Department of English, will be chairman of the Newberry Library Conference in Chicago Saturday.

The conference, which is held annually at the Newberry Library, will examine and discuss the Renaissance Period, Maxwell said. The conference, he said, will draw educators from history, English, philosophy, the arts, and any other study that affected the life of the Renaissance period.

Other members of the SUI English Department who will attend the conference are Rhodes Dunlap, professor of English; Alma B. Hovey, assistant professor of English; Victor Harris, assistant professor of English; Ernest P. Kuhl, professor emeritus, and Curt A. Zimansky, associate professor of English.

Prof. Maxwell has been head of the English Department since 1949.

Bolling's 3-Run Homer in Ninth Beats Chisox, 5-4

Donovan Loses As Detroit Slams 12 Hits

CHICAGO (AP)—Detroit's Frank Bolling blasted a three-run homer on a three-two pitch with two out in the ninth to hand the Tigers a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday.

Although loser Dick Donovan, a 16-6 Sox pitcher last season, was shelled for 12 Tiger hits, it could be said he was beaten by inches.

BOLLING'S DRAMATIC clout hit the yellow-painted steel foul marker on the left field line and was an automatic homer although it bounced back into the field.

The same thing happened on a second-inning homer by Detroit's Charley Maxwell with none on, only his crouched back into the field after hitting the right field foul standard.

Bolling preceded his heroic homer with three straight singles off Donovan.

THE 10-HIT SOX attack against six Detroit pitchers, included a two-run homer by Bubba Phillips off starter Tom Morgan in the second and a none-on homer by Sherm Lollar off Vito Valentini in the fifth.

The winner was the fifth Bengal pitcher, George Spencer, who pitched the eighth inning.

BOSTON (AP)—Boston turned back the New York Yankees 3-1 Wednesday with a combination of Jackie Jensen's two-run homer, Frank Malzone's sharp fielding and the clutch pitching of Dave Sisler.

JENSEN'S FIRST-INNING homer came on the heels of Gene Stephens' single.

Malzone braced Sisler's shaky start with defensive gems at third starter Ray Narleski for four runs and chased him before he could retire a batter in the first inning. He yielded three hits and a walk.

Steve Ridzik, Hoyt Wilhelm, Chuck Churn, Cal McLish and Dick Tomaneck tripped to the mound as Cleveland manager Bob Bragan poured 20 players into the game.

The victory went to young Ralph Terry, who was taken out when the Indians counted two runs in the eighth inning. Tom Gorman halted the rally and finished up.

Banks Could Win N. L. Homer Race

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Shortstop Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs gets a chuckle when anyone compares him with such current sluggers as Hank Aaron and Willie Mays.

Ernie, a slender 170-pounds on a 6-foot-1 frame, just doesn't look like the killer-with-a-bat type.

But Bank's clouting record is no laughing matter.

Twenty-seven-year-old Ernie swatted 43 home runs last year, 28 the year before, which for a two-year stretch totals 71.

That is the same two-year total for the Giants' Mays and one more than Milwaukee's Aaron.

"All I want to do is hit the ball, extra bases, home runs or singles," says Banks.

Last year Banks collected 169 hits, which included 34 doubles and six triples, and he batted in 102 runs. This was 14 more than the next best for the club, by Walt Moryn.

Banks, despite the fact that he is no iron-man in build and is subject daily to a physical beating as shortstop, proved his durability as soon as he was purchased by the Cubs from Kansas City Monarchs late in the 1953 season.

He played the last 10 games of the season, the full slate of 154 in the next two seasons and had a string of 42 consecutive games before it was snapped by a finger infection in August of 1956.

That stands as a Cub team record and a mark for anyone after breaking into a major league lineup.

Ernie is also proud of another record—the five bases-loaded home runs in one season.

In 1955 his home run output of 44 topped the shortstop record.

Viewing this season, Manager Bob Scheffing of the Cubs sees no reason why Banks should not have another great year.

"He reported in good shape. I just hope he remains healthy," says Scheffing.

COVINGTON IMPROVING
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Wes Covington, injured outfielder of the Milwaukee Braves, has shown definite improvement and may be ready for action in about a week, Dr. Bruce Brewer reported Thursday.

The city sinking fund commission notified the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event, that all winning golfers will have to pay the tax.

Golfers did not pay the tax last year. The 72-hole tournament starts today.

Boyd Decisions Neal Rivers in 10-Round Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—A brutal, busy-fisted Bobby Boyd Wednesday night bloodied the nose and left eye of Neal Rivers, slugging out a unanimous 10-round decision in their middleweight battle in the Chicago Stadium.

The gangling Boyd, who two years ago was a No. 1 contender, unloaded about every punch in the book at his shorter opponent but could not come near a knockout.

Rivers, rated No. 8 in the current National Boxing Assn. rankings could not cope with the lanky Chicagoan's superior reach. Boyd, who now is unrated by the NBA, kept punching away without a let-up.

He hammered his Las Vegas, Nev., foe with uppercuts, bojos, overhand rights, straight rights, left hooks, straight hooks and jabs.

Boyd weighed 160 pounds and Rivers 160 1/2.

Judge Frank Clark scored it 50-41 under the five point system. Judge Harold Marovitz saw it 50-44. Referee Bernard Weissman had it 50-42. The Associated Press favored Boyd 48-43.

BAT CHAMPS
The St. Louis Cardinals led the National League in batting in 1957 with a team average of .274. Milwaukee, however, scored the most runs—772.

The veteran pilot crashed while leading the 1956 "500" but escaped injury. He finished fourth last year.

The Novi entry, postmarked ahead of last night's midnight deadline, increased the field to 50 cars.

Robinson Wins Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Silky Sullivan, the race horse, received two first-place votes but Sugar Robinson Wednesday won the March award in the monthly S. Rae Hickok pro athlete of the year poll.

Silky finished ninth to humans in the poll of sports writers and sportscasters. He received 10 points. Points are based on three for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

Robinson, who won the middleweight boxing crown for the fifth time by defeating Carmen Basilio, collected 83 first-place votes and 262 points.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Kansas City pounded six Cleveland pitchers for 14 hits—including a home run and a pair of doubles by Bob Cerv—to whip the Indians 9-4 Wednesday.

Cerv's hitting rampage drove in five runs. The Athletics jumped on starter Ray Narleski for four runs and chased him before he could retire a batter in the first inning. He yielded three hits and a walk.

Steve Ridzik, Hoyt Wilhelm, Chuck Churn, Cal McLish and Dick Tomaneck tripped to the mound as Cleveland manager Bob Bragan poured 20 players into the game.

The victory went to young Ralph Terry, who was taken out when the Indians counted two runs in the eighth inning. Tom Gorman halted the rally and finished up.

BEHIND THE Sports Desk
By Alan Hoskins
Another Scandal?

Is basketball heading for another scandal, similar to the one that shocked the sports world in 1951?

It's a horrible thought, and one most people would probably scoff at—until they hear some of the facts. Jimmy Breslin, in the current issue of Sport magazine, made a check of the game and came up with some unhealthy conditions.

The scandal of 1951 occurred when several college basketball players were paid to shave points. The players did not throw the game, but did make the games closer than the odds had predicted.

For instance, betting odds favored College X to win by eight points. The gamblers got to some of College X's players and arranged for them to shave some points so College X only won by four or five.

Only one or two players were needed, and usually the players went along with the idea. After all, their team was still winning and they got to pick up a nice chunk of money.

Most of the scandal that was unveiled in 1951 centered around games played in Madison Square Garden, although not all of them were there. Some outstanding basketball schools, including Kentucky and Bradley, were involved, and given heavy penalties by the NCAA.

Although no scandals have occurred since then, or any mention of such that matter, existing conditions appear ripe for another one that could ruin basketball.

If another scandal does come up, it's a good bet the professional teams will be involved. A lot of heavy betting is done on the pro games.

MADISON Square Garden is no longer the center of college basketball as it was in 1951. Then, a college basketball doubleheader would automatically draw 18,000. Among the crowd would be hundreds of men who were concerned not only with the result of the game, but the point spread as well.

That situation no longer exists in Madison Square Garden. But a look in the city of Cincinnati, when the University of Cincinnati and all-America Oscar Robertson play, the crowd resembles the old Madison Square Garden gang.

GAMBLING is probably more present now than ever before. A Congressional committee investigating gambling in sports estimated $10,000,000,000 a year is bet illegally on basketball, baseball and football.

Newspapers received part of the blame for the 1951 scandal because they carried the daily point spreads for the games. Newspapers no longer do this, but a reliable line can be found at any bookmakers, or in The Sporting News, or various agencies such as the "Hoosier Basketball Guide," and numerous others.

The big time gambling centers are now Washington, Miami, Las Vegas, and Newport, Ky., according to Sport. Newport, a town with open gambling in night clubs, takes so many bets in a day that it's almost impossible to get the books on the phone.

The system now in use quotes the spread—say one team nine points over another—and you to take your pick. But you must lay 6-5 on your choice. The old method consisted of a 2-point spread which went to the bookmakers, who collected from everybody.

Sport magazine, on several occasions, has received calls from "gambling gentlemen" who claim they knew a certain game had been fixed, but naturally they couldn't prove it.

RECRUITING competition by college basketball coaches has now reached the point where anything might happen. Some of the bids rumored to have been made to Wilt Chamberlain indicate there's a lot more competition for players than is seen by the average sports fan.

If a high school basketball player is exposed to some of the underhanded methods of recruiting practiced by some college coaches, and told it is okay, these same players are just as liable to take a little side money to keep a game a little closer than it ordinarily should.

Whether or not basketball has another scandal remains to be seen. There's a possibility the sport learned its lesson in 1951. A scandal certainly is not inevitable, there are plenty of things that can be said in favor of basketball.

But you still can't overlook existing conditions. Colleges still look for the commercial values of basketball on a big scale; players transfer to more attractive schools, players not scholastically eligible are allowed to play, and there is wild recruiting. Gambling is at a new high.

Anyway you look at it, basketball 1958, has all the earmarks of basketball, 1951.

Iowa Coach Predicts Championship—

Netmen Best in Iowa History: Klotz

4 Lettermen Return from 1957 Squad

By LOU YOUNKIN
Staff Writer

Iowa tennis coach Don Klotz said this year's Hawkeyes have a good chance for their first conference championship in history. "This is the best team we have ever had," he said.

Klotz said his team last year had a good chance to finish among the first three in the conference, but bad breaks dropped Iowa to fifth in the standings. "We had the best dual record we ever had last year," he said. The Hawks compiled an 8-1 record in dual matches during the 1956-1957 season.

Eight men were listed by Klotz as candidates for this year's team. They are Art Andrews, Iowa City; Bob Potthast, Waukesha, Wis.; Joe Martin, Keokuk; Don Middlebrook, Des Moines; Bill Voxman, Iowa City; John Stoy, Waterloo; Milo Larimer, Moline, Ill.; and John Nadig, Des Moines.

Andrews, Middlebrook, Martin, and Potthast are lettermen. Potthast and Martin are seniors while Andrews and Middlebrook are juniors and the other four are sophomores.

Andrews, the mainstay of the team, is a former national junior singles and doubles champion and was a member of the Junior Davis Cup squad in 1954, 1955 and 1956. Last year Andrews won all nine of his dual meet matches and was runner-up to Michigan's Barry MacKay for the Big Ten singles title. MacKay is now under the tutelage of pros Pancho Gonzales and Lew Hoad as a U.S. Davis Cup hopeful.

Potthast, with a serve that has been clocked at 120 miles per hour, won eight of nine dual meet matches last year and was second in the Big Ten No. two singles.

Martin, who has won several Iowa singles titles, compiled a 7-2 dual meet record last year. Middlebrook played No. five last year and was undefeated in dual meet competition.

"Although they lost four of their top six men, Michigan will be our main competition again this year," Klotz said. Michigan has won the conference title the last three years. Klotz also cited Illinois, Northwestern and Indiana as having outstanding teams. "But, if we get the breaks, or at least don't get the bad breaks we got last year like Middlebrook getting sick, we can take it," he said.

Klotz said his team, which opened its season with a 9-0 victory over Bradley Thursday, is set at the first five places with Andrews, Potthast, Martin, Middlebrook and Voxman. "The sixth place is a fight between Stoy, Larimer and Nadig," he said.

The Hawks will travel to Kalamazoo, Mich., for a match with Kalamazoo College Friday and Western Michigan Saturday.

Amateurs of Tennis May Face Limits

LONDON (AP)—Steps were taken Wednesday to put a limit—both in number of tournaments and expense allowances—on the world's touring amateur tennis players, the so-called "tennis bums."

In a blow at widespread amateur violations, the directing committee of the International Lawn Tennis Federation made the following proposals:

1. THAT PLAYERS be limited to 150 days of play each year during which they could draw expense money. Currently there is no limit.

2. THAT EXPENSE allowances be restricted to $11.20 a day, plus travel expenses. Each country now regulates this matter.

3. THAT A BAN be placed on expenses to persons accompanying tournament such as a wife or manager. Exception would be made in case of Davis Cup competition or a team manager appointed by a national association.

4. THAT THE NUMBER of so-called national and international tournaments be restricted to three in each country—one each on grass, hard and covered courts.

The proposals must be approved by the general meeting of the ILTF at Brussels July 9. They would become effective Jan. 1.

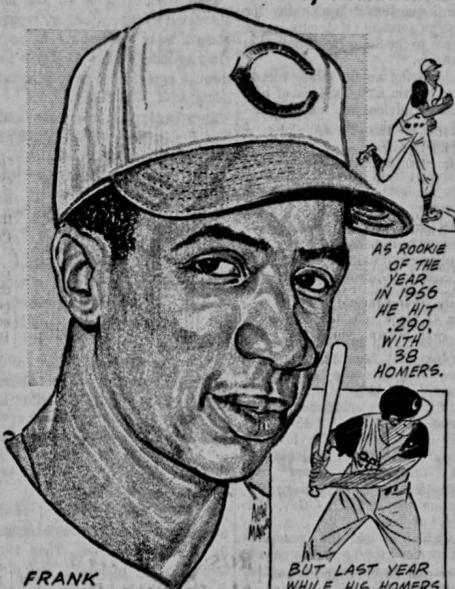

LEAD BOWLERS

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Veteran Eddie Kawolics and young Dick Karas of Chicago bolted into first place in the doubles division of the American Bowling Congress championships Wednesday with a 1,327 series.

Klotz said his team, which opened its season with a 9-0 victory over Bradley Thursday, is set at the first five places with Andrews, Potthast, Martin, Middlebrook and Voxman. "The sixth place is a fight between Stoy, Larimer and Nadig," he said.

The Hawks will travel to Kalamazoo, Mich., for a match with Kalamazoo College Friday and Western Michigan Saturday.

Montreal Loses Top Defenseman; Hurts Cup Chances

MONTREAL (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens came back home Wednesday only to find more bad news in the wake of a sound defeat they took at the hands of Boston Bruins in the fourth game of the Stanley Cup final.

Defenseman Dollard St. Laurent, injured in Boston Tuesday night, was found to have suffered a fracture of the left cheekbone. He will be lost for the remainder of the best-of-seven series.

The Bruins squared the series at two games apiece with their 3-1 win Tuesday and were a jubilant crew when they arrived on the same train as the Canadiens.

The fifth game will be played today and the sixth in Boston Sunday. The seventh, if necessary, will be played in Montreal next Wednesday.

Say Boxing Probe To Take Months

NEW YORK (AP)—Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Wednesday the current investigation of pro boxing will take several months at least.

Hogan made the statement after conferring for two hours with Julius Helfand, chairman of the State Athletic Commission.

Asked who was the object of the probe, Hogan said "there is no objective in terms of individuals."

A New York County grand jury has been hearing testimony for several days from prominent boxing figures.

Correction

Tim Hines, sprinter, and Jim Young, weightman, represented the Iowa track team at the Finkbine dinner Wednesday night as coach Francis Cretzmeyer's appointees for the team. These men were not elected as regular season co-captains of the Hawkeye team as previously reported. Cretzmeyer explained that such an election will be held in June.

SUI Designs New Cosmic Ray Equipment for Use in May

Will Test in Sioux Falls

By ROGER DAHMS
Staff Writer

Newly-designed SUI cosmic ray instruments will make their initial flight sometime in May, said Frank McDonald, assistant professor in the Department of Physics.

The equipment will be sent aloft from Sioux Falls, S. D., and will be attached to a new type of balloon never before used by SUI physicists.

THE EQUIPMENT is a development of an older system McDonald designed, built and has sent into the upper atmosphere 14 times since January, 1955.

"The new equipment is a further refinement in detecting and analyzing primary cosmic rays," McDonald said. The new lightweight balloon is expected to carry the equipment to higher altitudes, possibly above 120,000 feet, he said.

The payload, designed by McDonald last year, is still being built by Louis Hinton, A4, Davenport, student assistant to McDonald. Hinton has built all major parts of the equipment in the physics laboratories.

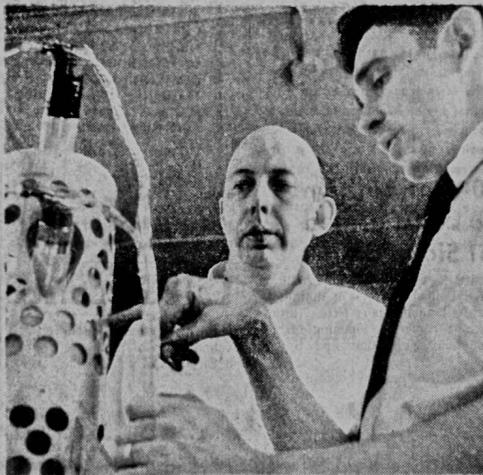

THE INSTRUMENTS will be contained in a bullet-shaped, spun-aluminum gondola. The entire package, in the 5 1/2-foot-high gondola, will weigh about 150 pounds. The older model weighed 130 pounds.

Although the payload will be heavier, McDonald expects it to attain higher altitudes because the lightweight balloon will weigh only 330 pounds. Previous polyethylene balloons used by the physics scientists weighed 660 pounds and reached a maximum height of about 100,000 feet.

AT MAXIMUM inflation, the balloon will be 175 feet wide and contain two million cubic feet of helium. The balloon is expected to rise the 120,000 feet in about two hours, McDonald said.

"These instruments will give us more specific data because of the degree of refinement in recording the cosmic rays," Hinton said.

The equipment will intercept and record the type and velocity of primary cosmic particles. McDonald said it still is not known exactly where these lightweight elements originate.

Most of the primary cosmic rays collide with particles in the upper regions of the atmosphere and produce a spray of secondary cosmic rays.

These are not important to McDonald's research, however, since he is trying to establish the properties of the primary particles only.

GEIGER COUNTERS were used previously to funnel vertically-traveling primary rays into the "telescope" and exclude secondary particles which travel at various angles in relation to the earth.

The new equipment does not include geiger counters which were found difficult to maintain. Instead, a particle must pass vertically through a "telescope" composed of two scintillators and a Cerenkov detector. When it passes through the three instruments, it will be drawn graphically on three oscilloscopes. An oscilloscope is similar to a television picture tube in miniature.

The instruments will indicate the type and measure the velocity of the particle. A continuously-moving 35 m.m. film will record the particle's pulse heights as shown on the oscilloscopes.

HINTON CALLED the instruments an "electronic speedometer" for cosmic particles. The use of the Cerenkov detector is the greatest refinement of the equipment in accurately measuring the velocity of the particles, he said.

Contained in the Cerenkov detector is a piece of lucite which does not interfere with the speed of a particle but does reduce the speed of light, Hinton said.

As the particle enters the lucite it creates a shock wave similar to the wave of water created by the bow of a boat. The shock wave is a flash of light which is "seen" by an extremely sensitive electric eye. The image is then transmitted to an oscilloscope, where the moving film records the particle's velocity.

ATTACHED TO the balloon, but separate from the gondola, a gallon can payload will include a 16 m.m. camera to record the altitude, temperature and time.

After the instruments have been at 120,000 feet for about 10 hours, a signal from a plane tracking the course of the balloon will release them. The balloon will then suddenly rise and burst. The instrument-laden gondola will parachute to earth and be returned to SUI.

"Then the work really begins," McDonald said as he glanced at Hinton.

"It will take about 200 hours to process, chart and correlate the data," McDonald said. "And then we will spend another 80 hours repairing, checking and testing the equipment for the next flight."

State Policy On Criminally Insane Hit

DES MOINES (AP) — Harold Martin, chairman of the Iowa Parole Board, questioned Wednesday the policy of sending criminally insane persons to the State Reformatory at Anamosa.

Addressing an interstate conference, Martin said the lack of psychiatric advice in many cases makes parole of prisoners a "guessing game."

He said there are no full-time psychiatrists at the Fort Madison State Penitentiary or the Anamosa Reformatory.

"IN OUR ADULT penal institutions we have about 2,000 people — all behavior problems — but we do not have a full-time psychiatrist in either institution," Martin said. "If you don't think we have a guessing game you're wrong."

"Certainly in Iowa, there is no question that Anamosa is not the place for a man who is criminally insane," he added.

Martin was a speaker at a conference on the care of the criminally insane attended by heads of mental institutions, psychiatrists and state administrators from more than a dozen states. The meeting was called by Gov. Herschel Loveless.

LOVELESS told the conference that men committed to Anamosa as criminally insane persons are "forgotten people."

"Even after their sentences have expired, they remain in the insane ward because it is considered unsafe to give them their freedom," he said.

Ray Purcell, warden at Anamosa, cited a case in which a man has been in the insane ward for 50 years without any treatment to try to return him to usefulness.

Speakers at the conference agreed generally that in dealing with the criminally insane, protection for the public should come first, and fair treatment of the individual should come second.

But they also agreed that such persons should receive treatment whether it be done in a penal institution or a mental institution.

Among those who addressed the conference were Dr. Hayden Donahue, Oklahoma mental health director; Dr. Henry Luidens, superintendent of the Lima, Ohio state hospital and Iowa District Judge Benet Cullison of Harlan.

TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

Seven persons were fined for varied traffic violations in police court recently.

Clyde Parkyn Satterly, Cedar Rapids, was fined $15 and paid $5 costs Tuesday for speeding the night of April 11.

Bryce E. Adkins, G. Coralville, was fined $5 and paid $5 costs Wednesday for operating a motor vehicle April 15 with an expired driver's license.

George L. Stanley, G. Emmetsburg, was fined $2 Tuesday for driving on the left side of the street in front of the Post Office.

Frank Daskalos, Mason City, and Stanley F. Yerles, Route 3, Iowa City, were fined Tuesday for failing to obey a stop sign. Each was fined $5 and paid $5 costs.

Oliver E. Cavanaugh, Des Moines, was fined $5 and assessed $5 costs Tuesday for permitting a person without a valid operator's license to operate a motor vehicle on a public highway April 12.

David Asplund, Des Moines, was fined $2 Wednesday for driving on the left side of the street in front of the Post Office.

Ohio Prisoner Killed During Jail Break

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A policeman shot and killed one of five prisoners who broke out of the Summit County jail Wednesday.

Three of the men, believed armed with two pistols and two riot guns taken from the jail, are still at large. Police described them as dangerous. The fifth prisoner was captured shortly after the escape.

Virgil Akers, 21, of Akron, was killed by police Sgt. Nick Van Doros when he refused to obey an order to drop a .38-caliber pistol. George Huff, 23, of Reseda, Calif., surrendered when the stolen car in which he and Akers were riding was stopped by police.

A police cruiser forced Akers to the curb minutes later. Akers jumped out and fled, but Huff surrendered.

Akers was killed as he fled from the house of a former girl friend, Maralyn Alexander, 21. The girl had filed the assault to kill charges against him, alleging he attempted to strangle her with a rope last December.

QUADRUPLETS BORN OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A 38-year-old mother of three daughters gave birth to quadruplets Wednesday. Their combined weight was 18 pounds, 7 1/2 ounces.

Three girls and a boy were born to Mrs. Dorothy Hoskins within 13 minutes at Merritt Hospital.

Six Navy 'Spacemen' Doing Well

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The six simulated Navy spacemen undergoing a 7-day test under conditions close to those expected on a flight through outer space were reported doing well Wednesday.

They engaged in such extra-curricular activities as a "hot" poker game in addition to regular duties.

The men entered the sealed pressure chamber Tuesday at 1:14 p.m. Working in shifts they are keeping instrument panels in constant operation. Handling of the controls actually constitutes a complicated test. Results will determine how the long confinement affects their daily efficiency.

Capt. Charles F. Gell, director of the Air Crew Equipment Laboratory directing the test, said the volunteers have been scoring excellently in performance tests.

"As for those not on duty," said Gell, there was a pretty hot poker game going on in there."

The men took a deck of cards and sets of checkers and chess into the 5x8-foot chamber. They took some reading material, including prayer books and religious matter.

The men opened their boxes of standard Marine Corps sea rations, containing three meals for the day. The meals were ham and potatoes, hamburger and chicken with vegetables. All precooked, they were heated on a coil. The ration box also contained fruit cake, sea biscuit, soluble coffee, soluble cream and sugar.

Scientists are able to watch through a 1-way mirror as the men perform in an atmosphere of 55 per cent oxygen, contrasted to the normal 20 per cent at sea level. This duplicates conditions found in flights of 10,000 feet altitude or more.

Each man works 9 1/2 hours, rests and eats 6 1/2 hours and then sleeps 8 hours. The men work in shifts just as they would on a real space flight.

The volunteers are Parachute Rigger Chief Forrest Miller, Swedeland, Pa.; Hospital Corpsman Meredith H. Radcliff, Norrisville, Pa.; Gene G. Metcalf, Danville, Ill.; Thomas W. Hirsch, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Ronald G. Campbell, Warren, Ohio, and Charles H. Hayes, Detroit.

Mezvinsky Elected To Head Memorial Union Board

Ed Mezvinsky, A3, Ames, has been elected president of the Iowa Memorial Union Board at the board's first regular meeting of the 1958-59 term.

Other officers chosen were Dave Fitzsimmons, A3, Boone, vice-president; Bill Pierson, L1, Humboldt, treasurer; and Faron O'Hara, A2, Ottumwa, secretary.

The 15-member board is composed of representatives from every college at SUI. Board members are elected each spring in the all-school elections. The remaining members are appointed by the deans of their respective colleges.

Other members of this year's board are Kay Lund, A2, Dixon, Ill.; Sandy Bierbaum, A3, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Tom Oblinger, A2, Grand Junction, Liberal Arts; Connie Halback, C3, Clinton, and Dean Chippokas, A3, Cedar Rapids, Commerce.

Ed Karl, D1, Sioux City, Dentistry; John Glover, E3, Steubenville, Ohio, Engineering; Dick Luman, G, Ottumwa, Graduate; Howard Wolf, M3, Iowa City, Medicine; Bob Anstine, P3, Pharmacy; and Fran Davis, N3, Knoxville, Nursing.

1958 World Fair Officially Opens Today in Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — King Baudouin will kindle a flame this morning and officially open the 1958 World Fair — the first since the New York World's Fair of 1939-40.

The 27-year-old monarch had better bring along his raincoat because the Brussels Weather Bureau forecasts a cold, rainy day. But the billion-dollar show goes on just the same.

Leonard W. Hall, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, will represent President Eisenhower at the opening of the U.S. pavilion.

"The theme of the Brussels exhibition," said the fair commissioner general, Baron Moens de Fernig, "is: a world balance sheet for a more human world. It should prove the most spectacular event of the century."

Forty-one nations will be showing off their best until the Oct. 19 closing date.

Already the fairground has become an international propaganda battleground with Western free enterprise arrayed against communism.

Side by side sit the big Soviet and U.S. pavilions. They are a study in contrasts.

The Soviet pavilion is heavy. It is clogged with lumbering machinery, tractors, automobiles, engines and Sputniks. On the other hand the Russians will show off their famous Bolshoi ballet and opera, the Moscow Art Theater and its huge troupe of folk dancers. They'll sell vodka and caviar in their restaurant.

The U.S. building is architecturally light, beautiful, spacious and imaginative. Inside, the appeal is subtle. In a superb setting, Main Street, U.S.A., is advertised with a drug store, clothing shop, news stand, mail boxes and lamp posts.

Alone of all the nations the United States is showing some of the things of which it isn't proud — racial problems and traffic congestion. This comes under a section called "Unfinished Business."

Ballistic Weapon Deliveries Backing Europe Defense

PARIS (AP) — The United States told its NATO Allies Wednesday it can begin regular deliveries of medium-range ballistic weapons to back up the European defense shield before the end of this year.

The defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization received a briefing on the highly complicated modern armament aimed at bolstering the firepower of Allied forces manning the ramparts across the center of Europe.

OFFICERS and experts accompanying U.S. Defense Secretary Neil McElroy displayed charts and motion pictures covering all types of new arms, from pocket rockets to the intercontinental ballistic missile with a range of 5,000 miles or more.

In most cases they were dual-purpose weapons, capable of firing either conventional or nuclear explosives. They included ground-to-ground, ground-to-air guided missiles and artillery-type arms.

THE FIRST of the intermediate-range ballistic missiles, capable of hurling nuclear devastation on targets 1,500 miles away, will be in place on a base in Britain before the end of 1958, informants said.

They said the over-all plan is to place American-built Thor missiles on four bases in Britain, beginning late this year and at regular intervals through 1959-60. Talks are going on with continental nations for similar bases, probably in Holland, France, Italy and Turkey.

EARLIER, the ministers approved plans to double existing Allied ground force strength on the continent, and to beef up NATO divisions with nuclear weapons. The Russians are said to have about 175 divisions. These may will get some eventually. The experts feel the difference in manpower is not important as long as Allied firepower has an edge in tactical atomic weapons.

Just Playne Jayne

JAYNE MANSFIELD got an O.K. Wednesday from Judge Elmer D. Doyle in Los Angeles, to take her daughter to Europe with her when she leaves next week to make a picture in London. The actress and her present husband, Mickey Hargitay, will be permitted to take with them 8-year-old Jayne Marie, a daughter by a former marriage. Under a previous divorce agreement, the actress can't take her daughter out of California without permission of the court. —AP Wirephoto.

70-year-Old Local Man Dies of Heart Attack

A. C. Zimmerman, 70, former highway commission maintenance man, died of a heart attack Wednesday afternoon while digging a grave at Memory Gardens, Dr. George Callahan, coroner, said.

Zimmerman lived with his wife Elizabeth at 819 Hudson Ave. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Oathout Funeral Home.

$270,000 Microscope Grant To SUI Zoology Department

The SUI Department of Zoology has been granted $270,000 by the National Institute of the Department of Public Health for an electronic microscope, Jerry Kollros, professor and chairman of the department, has announced.

It will be the most powerful microscope at SUI and the second electronic microscope on the campus. The other instrument is located in the radiation research laboratory in University Hospitals.

The microscope for the Department of Zoology is capable of magnifying about 1/250,000,000 of an inch, according to Kollros.

It will be employed in research by three zoology professors. Analysis of cellular matter will be conducted by H. W. Beams, analysis of sperm structure by Emil Witschi, and study of the outer covering of insects by Eleanor Sliker.

The new microscope will be placed in the annex behind the Zoology Building. The room is now being remodeled for the instrument, which will be installed in about five weeks, Kollros said.

Jungle Women Converted To Christianity, Baptized

WHEATON, Ill. (AP) — A South American jungle woman whose tribesmen slew five American missionaries has embraced Christianity in a baptismal service in Wheaton's Evangelical Free Church.

She is Dayuma, about 25, a Warani Auca Indian from Ecuador. Her tribe lives in a civilization that anthropologists liken to the Stone Age. Two years ago, tribesmen killed five missionaries attempting to preach the Gospel to the little-known tribe.

Dayuma fled from the tribe many years ago, she said, to escape the brutal killings practiced by its members. She was captured by a plantation owner who made her a slave. She met Rachel Saint, a missionary and sister of Nate Saint, one of the five slain.

A year ago the Indian woman was flown to the United States to appear on a television show featuring Miss Saint. Since then she has worked with Miss Saint at the Wycliffe Bible Translator Missionary Station in Sulphur Springs, Ark.

The baptism was administered Tuesday by Dr. V. Raymond Edman, president of Wheaton College and a former Ecuadorian missionary. Three of the slain missionaries were Wheaton graduates, Saint, James Elliot of Portland, Ore., and Edward McCully of Milwaukee.

Elliot's parents and sister and McCully's mother attended the baptismal ceremony.

Judge Denies Jailed Father Held Illegally

The claim of a father of seven children that he is being held in jail illegally was denied in a hearing before Presiding Circuit Court Judge H. D. Evans Wednesday in Johnson County District Court.

Carl Fehrman, 47, electrician for an Iowa City firm, was arrested April 7 by Johnson County Sheriff Albert "Pat" Murphy and Deputy Dave Cook on a warrant from the Circuit Court of Indiana.

The warrant states he is wanted in Indiana on a charge of failure to provide for his children under 14 years of age.

Fehrman contends he has not committed a crime in Iowa and therefore the warrant is not valid.

After hearing testimony and checking the warrant, Judge Evans said he could find no evidence to show the man is being held illegally, and that the warrant is in the proper form. "It was the duty of the Sheriff to arrest this man," Judge Evans said.

Fehrman, unable to post $1,000 bond, was remanded to the custody of the Johnson County Sheriff.

Fehrman's extradition papers are being prepared in Indiana.

Ike Readies Sales Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, facing a stiff fight for his defense organization plan, will personally defend it to the American public in a nationwide broadcast Thursday.

Mr. Eisenhower will speak to a luncheon meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors at 12 p.m. The half hour talk will be carried live by NBC-TV and radio, CBS-TV and Mutual radio. There also will be delayed broadcasts at various times.

The president originally scheduled a talk on foreign policy for the luncheon. But he decided a week ago to talk about his plan to give more power to the secretary of defense and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to streamline military operations.

Multi-Million $ Shopping Center Planned for CR

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — A new multi-million dollar shopping center is planned for Cedar Rapids.

Officials of Sears Roebuck and Co. and Younkers, two developers of the project, said the shopping center will employ about 1,000 persons and will have 400,000 square feet of floor space.

Officials said grading will get underway late this summer or in early fall. Completion of the center is expected in fall of 1959.

Johnson County Tax Receipts Up From Last Year

Tax receipts collected for March amounted to $1,637,174.71, Johnson County Treasurer Lumir W. Jansa reported Wednesday.

The figure for March last year was $1,187,565.94. Jansa pointed out this year's increase was due to higher levies and the addition of new taxable property.

Special assessments totaled $22,831.40. The breakdown showed $9,880.74 for paving; $2,150.37 for the Coralville sewer; $3,795.71 for street improvements in Iowa City; $3,337.63 for sidewalks; $1,127.68 for sewer; $437.15 for University Heights paving, and $100.40 for Iowa City lights.

Miscellaneous collections totaled $438,613.18. Major items were $69,902.82 for secondary roads and $34,965.54 for auto fees.

Delinquent receipts were $1,697.36.

March disbursements included: $478,275.00 for miscellaneous payments; $129,569.64 for warrants paid and $18,193.81 fund transfers.

Interpreting the News — U.S. Entering Pre-Summit Talks with Mixed Emotions

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The United States is entering into preliminary negotiations about a summit conference with important reservations.

The Allied note agreeing that the Western ambassadors should take up the matter with the Soviet Union in Moscow repeats the position that preliminary discussions should establish the possibility of some concrete results.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER expressed his own position at his news conference Wednesday, commenting on Dean Acheson's view that an American president should not get himself involved with the pressure for success which such conferences entail.

There's a great deal in what Acheson says, the President commented; but added he's willing to take the risk if he thinks there's a chance of progress.

THAT "IF" has not yet been satisfied by the Soviet approach. Dulles and Mr. Eisenhower see small opportunity for valid settlements on any specific matters, such as disarmament, as long as the Communists refuse to discuss such fundamentals as German reunification and the future of Eastern Europe.

There is a big question, however, as to how long this refusal will allow the Allies to hold back — how long they will cling to their reservations.

The President says the 1955 Geneva conference was designed to test the possibilities of doing business with the Soviet Union. He admits it didn't produce much.

He says the conference proposed now is different because it seeks agreements.

AT THE SAME time he says it does look like the Soviets, from the way they have handled things, are primarily interested in propaganda.

Thus is created another situation, similar to that of Geneva, in which the Allies will enter a new series of conferences at which they too will be talking for the propaganda record, not admitting that the Kremlin has already closed the door on agreements, but not expecting anything, either.

Wife Charged With Shooting

Mrs. Barbara Wheat

Mrs. Barbara Kahl Wheat, 38, was booked on a charge of assault with intent to murder and held on $15,000 bail in Darien, Conn., Wednesday in connection with the near-fatal shooting of her husband, artist John Potter Wheat.

Police said that she fired three bullets into her husband as their two young children slept in another room.

LOTS OF CATTLE
DES MOINES (AP) — A quarterly record for the number of cattle on grain feed in Iowa feed lots and intended to be sold for slaughter was established as of April 1, the Iowa Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Wednesday. The estimated total on feed was 1,404,000 head.

Women Voters To Study County Government Units

Studies of county level units and services and Iowa City recreation needs for the coming year will be undertaken by the Iowa City League of Women Voters, it was decided at their last meeting.

The political survey, first of its kind to be undertaken in this county, will deal with an analysis of the political and judicial system of Johnson County, county educational and welfare services, administrative units, and the taxation system.

The findings of the League will be published in a pamphlet as was its city government guide in 1955.

The recreation study of the League will be a continuation of the study which has been progressing for a year.

At the last meeting a motion also was passed recommending temporary recreation quarters in the city.

The League also voted to conduct a city survey toward a long term park and play area plan.

In other action, it was decided to extend co-operation to the Iowa City School Study Council in their study of education.

Charge Chariton Policeman With Drunken Driving

CORYDON (AP) — Jim Ryun, Chariton police officer, was under charges here Wednesday of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Bond was set at $500.

Sheriff Lorie Hart, who arrested Ryun late Tuesday night, quoted Ryun as saying he and his wife were en route home after attending a dance at Allerton. Ryun said he and his wife argued and he let her out of the car a short distance west of here.

Ryun then drove into Corydon where Night Marshal Claude Grismore said he saw Ryun's car strike and knock down a Southern Utilities Co. pole on the square.

Dr. Bean Spending Week Teaching at Georgetown

Dr. William B. Bean, professor and head of Internal Medicine at SUL, will serve as professor pro tem today through Wednesday at the Georgetown University Medical Center, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Bean will conduct teaching conferences at the Georgetown University Hospital and at the Georgetown division of the District of Columbia General Hospital.

No Strike Pilots To Meet With Airline Officials

CHICAGO (AP) — The Air Line Pilots Association Wednesday postponed a strike against American Airlines that had been set for a minute before midnight Wednesday.

The union delayed the walkout indefinitely in response to a request from the National Mediation Board to make a new effort to settle differences at a conference today in New York City.

30-Foot Balloon To Be Launched At Sioux City

SIoux CITY (AP) — A helium-filled balloon, 30-feet in diameter, will be launched here Friday afternoon to mark the opening of the Siouxland Exposition and Sports Show.

Harold DeGunter, general chairman for Sioux City's Exchange Club, said the balloon has been named "The Stratolite." It will carry a small bulb which will glow 36 hours.

The balloon is expected to rise 13 miles and possibly travel several hundred miles. The funder will receive $25.

"We don't want anyone to think they are seeing a flying saucer," DeGunter said. He added that Civil Aeronautics authorities had sanctioned the launching.

The exposition will continue through Sunday.

Iowa Farm Wages Show Yearly Gain

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa farm wage rates on a monthly and daily basis were slightly higher on April 1 than on the same date last year, the Iowa Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Wednesday.

Agricultural laborers were receiving an average reported wage of $146 per month with board and room, and $181 per month with housing on April 1. The corresponding payments at the same time last year were $143 and $175, respectively.

Farm labor hired on a per day basis was receiving $7.60 per day with board and room and $9.40 per day without board or room. The respective daily wages a year ago were $7.40 and $9.

FREE CARS DETROIT (AP) — Looking for a major appliance . . . and a free car?

A chain of 10 appliance shops in Detroit Tuesday advertised a free used car with the purchase of a major appliance.

The advertisement said appliance buyers could choose from a selection of 1948 through 1951 and later model automobiles at a used car lot.

School Controversy Rages; Board Urged To Resign

SPIRIT LAKE (AP) — Ed Kennedy, member of the Spirit Lake School Board who is supporting Supt. Gay A. Orr in a school controversy here, said Wednesday he is urging all members of the board to resign.

Kennedy said he hopes the resignations will occur at the next meeting of the board. The meeting presently is scheduled for tonight.

With Kennedy dissenting, the board voted 4-1 Tuesday to accept Orr's resignation. Mayor Jerry Kelly called the board's action disgraceful.

Fifteen teachers had resigned their Spirit Lake teaching posts to express their support of Orr. Wednesday a 16th teacher, Lorimer Alson, also resigned. He said he liked Spirit Lake but that resignations of the others had convinced him it would be difficult to continue as a teacher in the system.

There were indications that the Iowa State Education Association may be asked to send a grievance committee to investigate the controversy.

12 Faculty Appointments Approved

The State Board of Regents has approved 12 new appointments to the SUI faculty and staff.

Other action at the April meeting of the Regents, which was held on the Iowa State College campus, included approval of five leaves of absence, one change of appointment and four resignations.

SIX APPOINTMENTS were approved for the faculty of the College of Medicine. These were: Dr. Charles Shagass, associate professor in the program of expansion of psychiatry at Psychopathic Hospital; Dr. William E. Connor, assistant professor of Internal Medicine; Marlan P. Willis, assistant professor in the Institute of Agricultural Medicine; Dr. Allan L. Fisher, assistant professor of Pharmacology and Dr. Suzan Alkadi and Dr. William A. Bockhoven as instructors in psychiatry.

FOUR APPOINTMENTS in the College of Liberal Arts were: Arnold M. Small, Jr., and Dean E. Williams, assistant professors of speech pathology and audiology; Donald R. Cassidy, instructor in men's physical education, and Reed A. Flickinger, associate professor of Zoology.

Carlyle W. Woodbury was appointed internal auditor in the University business office, and Edgar P. Hickman was named visiting assistant professor of general business in the College of Commerce.

Oscar E. Nybakken, professor and acting head of the Department of Classics, was named head of the department.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE were approved for J. Nelson Reeds, Chemical Engineering; Ruth E. Baldwin, Home Economics; Virginia Miller, Nursing; W. Leigh Sowers, English, and Sam L. Becker, Television Center.

RESIGNATIONS were accepted from Lester D. Longman, head of the Art Department; John Mercer, assistant professor in the Television Center; Peter Buri, assistant professor of Zoology, and Dr. Hammond P. Chen, assistant professor of Pathology.

Van Dyke Attends Discussions On World Affairs

Vernon Van Dyke, professor of political science at SUI, is in California this week to discuss the teaching of international relations.

At Stanford University on Wednesday and today, he will attend a faculty seminar sponsored by the International Studies Committee.

While at Stanford he also will confer with people working on the university's program of teaching and research in the international field.

Prof. Van Dyke will go to San Francisco Saturday, where he will consult with a group experimenting with different methods of teaching international relations under a Carnegie Corporation grant.

Talk Saturday To Promote Student Vacations in Europe

A discussion promoting student summer residence in Europe will be held Saturday, April 19, at 2 p.m. in Room 121A Schaeffer Hall.

Mlle. Renee Menu, official delegate in the United States for the French Educational Travel Program will give an informal talk and answer questions on the plan by which American students can stay in vacation homes in France and Italy.

The Educational Travel Program is a non-profit organization sponsored by the French government which has recently prepared new types of travel plans for American students and teachers.

Through joint arrangements of the French and Italian governments, the trips have been planned so that the students will spend equal time in both countries. For two or three weeks the visitors will live in country villas that have been converted into dormitories, housing up to 40 persons.

The remainder of the stay in each nation will include tours of the main points of interest in the region and opportunities to attend local activities such as the music festival of Aix-en-Provence.

According to Alexandre Aspel, professor of romance languages, the student centers are located in the most characteristic and beautiful parts of France and Italy, including Brittany, the Basque Coast, and the Riviera in France, and an island near Capri in Italy.

Although the program is primarily for recreation and travel for development of cultural understanding, students can combine these activities with summer school courses offered at any summer institute in the region, said Prof. Aspel.

Old Gold Library Display Is Colorful and Costly

Gold! From the stacks and the special collections in the University Library, the books especially attractive for their bindings, typography, or illustrations, have been brought out for the Old Gold Days display "The Beauty of Books" in the Main Lobby.

A number of Spanish works, admired (above) by Gene Mueller, A3, San Bernardino, Calif., and Terry MacPeak, A3, Mason City, are easily recognizable by the intricate designs on the pages of the closed books. Featured in the display are volumes of the works of Shakespeare. Scenes and characters from the plays are hand painted in water colors on the pages of the books. The volumes are a part of the Mark Ranney collection.

Also part of the Ranney collection is the Biography of Napoleon. These volumes, including the binding and covers, were hand made by an Iowan who cut out the text and attached it to the pages of the volumes.

Books bound in silk damask, velvet and gold brighten the glass shelves of the display cases. Among them is a work on Chinese drama bound in silk brocade which depicts birds in shades of blue and lavender on a background of blue flowers and yellow stems.

A collection of engravings made by Paul Revere rests beside two early 19th century travel books.

WSUI Given Public Interest Award for 1957

Radio station WSUI has won the National Safety Council's 1957 Public Interest Award for exceptional effort in traffic accident prevention.

The award was for WSUI's series of ten 5-minute safety programs now eligible to receive the Alfred P. Sloan Award for Highway Safety in the non-commercial educational radio station division.

WSUI's award-winning series of traffic safety programs consisted of interviews with accident victims and a hospital emergency room doctor, and dramatized presentations of highway safety rules and problems. It was produced by WSUI and offered to all radio stations in Iowa, 25 of which aired all or part of the series during the 1957 holiday periods.

NEGOTIATIONS POSTPONED

DETROIT — American Motors Corporation and the United Auto Workers Wednesday recessed bargaining talks, which opened Tuesday, until May 14.

Clinton Lions Club To Hear Sulowan Talk on Eye-Bank

Dr. E. C. Ferguson, assistant professor of Ophthalmology at SUI, is scheduled to speak tonight before the Lions Club at Clinton. His subject will be "Corneal Transplantation," an operation in which the cornea is removed from a healthy eye shortly after a person's death and transplanted to the diseased eye of a living person.

The Lions Club of Iowa helped to establish an Eye Bank at the SUI Medical Center in 1955. The bank serves a coordinating function—getting each donated eye together with the patient for whom it is intended at the earliest possible moment after a donor's death.

The Clinton club has secured more signed donor cards for the bank than has any other club in the state. The cards are used by individuals who wish to will their eyes to the bank for use in corneal transplants or in eye research after the donor's death.

The Question for Us All in These Times: 'WHY ARE YE SO FEARFUL?'

HOW IS IT THAT YE HAVE NO FAITH?

(Mark 4:40)

We said, "In God we trust," but we put our faith in H-bombs and missiles. Now we find that Russia has H-bombs and missiles—and satellites that speed across the American sky.

We assumed that the way to peace is through superior military strength... to deter our "enemy" and back up our negotiators. The Russians have acted on the same assumption. So the frantic competition proceeds. The balance of fear swings between nation and nation. This is no climate for negotiation.

Every man knows in his heart and from experience that peace is not made by terror, nor security by might. Fear builds no homes, and panic plows no fields.

The race for military superiority is futile. The finish line is mutual extermination, and there is no other end.

Let us stop this fatal race. Let us have faith in the strength of freedom and the power of righteousness. This new approach would involve enormous risks. But they are not as great as those involved in continuing to balance on the knife edge of terror. Recognizing man's capacity for evil, we must seek to reinforce his God-given capacity for good.

WE COULD:

1. Cancel our nuclear weapons tests because they are hurting us now and warping the bodies of our grandchildren and because our souls are betrayed when we use our minds to plan the destruction of God's creation.
2. Start disarmament—by steps WE can take because there will be no real peace without world disarmament, and no disarmament unless some nation starts, and because it is wrong to prepare to kill other men.
3. Share our resources more fully because helping people help themselves is a genuine answer to the appeal of communism and because it is wrong to keep so much when two-thirds of the world are sick and hungry.
4. Consider the problems of men more important than the promotion of alliances because a solution in Algeria is more important than NATO, settling refugees in the Middle East is more important than sending arms, and because we are men and we know that men should live in peace and love one another.
5. Strengthen the United Nations as an inclusive and responsible agency for peace because nations in conflict need a common meeting ground and because mankind is indivisible.
6. Seek ways to bring men together across iron and bamboo curtains because everyone would gain from commercial, scientific, cultural and religious contacts and because the major fears of understanding are ignorance and bigotry.

WE COULD... WILL WE?

"Ye can discern the face of the sky; But can ye not discern the signs of the times?" (Matt. 16:3)

There are more ways than one to be a leader

AS OUR NAME clearly indicates, we are in the telephone business.

We own and operate 1,696 central offices in 30 states.

We manufacture telephones, switches, relays and other communications equipment, for our own use—and for the 4,400 other "independent" telephone companies in the United States.

And while — by the yardstick of size — we cannot claim to be the leader, we find ample opportunity for leadership in other ways.

Take the telephone pictured here as an example. It is our own design.

At first glance, it may look quite a bit like other modern telephones.

But you will find three important differences.

The surfaces just above the dial on each side are contoured to guide the mouth-piece-receiver or "handset" into place unerringly.

An extra quarter of an inch is added to the tapered mouthpiece and earpiece.

And the cradle which receives the "handset" is lower in front than in the rear.

The result: It is almost impossible for an "off-the-hook" interruption to service to happen.

This is, as we said, one example of how we seek to do whatever we do better than it has been done before.

And this same ambition guides every phase of our operation, from the development of better equipment for telephone central offices, to the courtesy-training of the people who represent us in dealing with our customers.
