

Records Kept To Aid Student: Dean Huit

Personnel records kept by the Student Affairs Office on every SUI student are intended to aid the student, not to give derogatory information about him to future employers, M. L. Huit, dean of students, said Wednesday night in an interview. The possible use of the records as reprisals against protesting married students was reported recently by a radio and television station.

Huit said each record contains the usual student information such as hometown, high school grades, parent's names and placement tests results.

Huit said newspaper clippings and "letters to the editor" are also put into the student's record. He said such items may be either complimentary or derogatory. He said raw data such as honors, awards, committees and organizations are sometimes wanted by future employers of students.

He said, unless a student has been a consistent disciplinary problem, derogatory information would be withheld from the appraisal given to employers requesting information.

"Students are not allowed to see their own records, but I'll certainly be glad to tell them what is there," Huit said.

Huit said the records are kept by his office until three years after a student graduates. They are then sent to the Registrar's Office where they become part of a student's summary record.

Huit was asked why "letters to the editor" are made a part of the record. He said, "They help us to evaluate students and, in a very few cases, are sometimes a tip-off to an emotional disturbance."

He said it is the practice of nearly every educational institution in the country to keep such files on their students as a service to employers and to students.

Desi Arnaz Makes $12 Million TV Playhouse Deal

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television tycoon Desi Arnaz announced Wednesday Westinghouse has bought his new series, Desilu Playhouse, for $12 million, one of the biggest deals in TV history.

The program, an hour anthology series of comedy, musicals and dramas, will replace the long-time CBS dramatic hour, Studio One.

The series will beam Monday nights at 10 p.m. in the East, 9 elsewhere.

Arnaz, who rose from bongo beater to millionaire in a decade, made the announcement at a colorful press conference.

CBS-TV President Lou Cowan said the Westinghouse purchase is the biggest sponsor commitment in TV history.

Seven of the 48 programs will be "Lucy specials," hour-long versions of the long-time hit, "I Love Lucy." Arnaz and his wife may appear in some of the other shows, and he will emcee all of them.

U.S. Unfreezes Egyptian Assets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Wednesday unfroze $26 million in Egyptian Government assets in a major move to restore friendly relations with President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

(Ted Lurie, Jerusalem correspondent for the AP said during a talk with Daily Iowan staff members today that he thought that the U.S. move to better U.S.-Egyptian relations by unfreezing assets would have the effect of strengthening Nasser's position and would enormously increase his ability to "bargain" with the Soviets in his so far successful program of playing Russia and the U.S. against each other.)

The announcement followed by some 24 hours Egypt's pledge to pay Britain and France about $82 million to settle the bitter dispute which erupted over Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal 20 months ago.

Council Hears Card Section Plan Report

Badge System To Be Used Next Fall

The legislative branch of the SUI Student Council Wednesday received a report from the Pep Club on plans for a badge system to be used by the card section at next Fall's football games.

A badge system will be used for the first time by the card section. Each member will receive two badges which entitle him to tickets in the card section for the six home football games.

The badges will be used to pick up the tickets for each week's game. The seats will be on a first come, first serve basis, not reserved as the remainder of the student body are.

The legislative branch approved a plan to invite the student body presidents of the visiting team's school to be guests of the SUI Student Council at the home football games.

The Student Council recommended to the Office of Student Affairs that the Inter-Religious Council be accepted as a campus organization. The 9-member council is made up of representatives of the major religious groups on campus.

The Newman Club, Hillel Foundation and Student Christian Council each have three representatives on the Inter-Religious group.

The senate approved the following appointments by Len Flander, L2, Iowa City, student body president, to Student Council Commission chairmanships: Mary Huey, A3, Princeton, Ill., External Affairs; Jack Elkin, A3, Iowa City, Student Government; Cheryl Jenkinson, A3, Decorah, Public Relations; and Bill Sutton, E1, Red Oak, Student Organization.

The council appropriated $25 from its budget for the Bucky O'Connor Scholarship Fund, which was set up in honor of the former Iowa basketball coach who was killed in auto accident April 22.

FARM PRICES UP
KASHINGTON (AP) — A further rise of 1.14 per cent during the month ended April 15 sent farm prices to the highest level since the Eisenhower Administration took office in January 1953.

This increase helped put farm prices nearly 10 per cent above a year earlier and about 18 per cent above the low point during the present Administration — December 1955.

Iowa Citizens Cautioned On Solicitation Forms

Senate Group Recommends Help for RRs

Claim Needed To Avert Catastrophe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee recommended Wednesday broad Government financial backing to stimulate the hard-hit railroads.

The proposal is similar to one put forth by the Eisenhower Administration but goes considerably further.

Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.), subcommittee chairman, said it would avert "a catastrophe in the transportation system."

The big difference is the commerce subcommittee's call for repeal of the 3 per cent excise tax on freight and 10 per cent tax on passenger tickets — action which the railroads have long demanded.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks says this should be considered later along with the question of tax reductions in general.

Both the Administration proposal and the subcommittee recommended Government guarantees for up to $700 million in loans, but there is a difference here too.

The subcommittee would authorize backing for 15-year loans for purchasing new equipment and would allow up to $150 million of the loans to be used for operating expenses.

The Administration plan does not include backing loans to meet operating expenses.

It proposes guarantees on $500 million worth of loans for plant and equipment and $200 million for freight cars.

It's a Dog's Life, NYC Plans Corner Canine Rest Rooms

NEW YORK (AP) — Life in the big city, with its varied forms of progress, Wednesday advanced yet another step — rest rooms for dogs.

Such fixtures are going to get a tryout on the streets of New York.

One of the sensitive issues that must be determined, said Sanitation Commissioner Paul R. Screvane, is what kind of comfort stations the dogs like — and deign to use.

At present, with dogged disregard of the law, they often use elmer, the daily Iowan's canine news editor and weekly columnist, barked hearty approval of the proposed new york city rest rooms for man's best friend, fellow sufferer, giving proper consideration to tastefully constructed stations embodying elements suggestive of the traditional fire-hydrant, to make patrons feel at home, he said that he hoped such stations would not have pay toilets.

the sidewalk. And with 272,000 licensed dogs in the city, it's become quite a problem.

"We sincerely hope to evolve some sort of a stand, station — call it what you will — that will be used by dogs and consequently make for a cleaner city," a department spokesman said.

The matter was studiously analyzed at a conference among department officials and a score of some of the brightest minds in dogdom, experts of humane societies and others alert to canine wiles and ways.

It ended up with the commissioner's decision to install a trial dog toilet somewhere in the city, and see how the dogs respond.

Several models have been designed by department engineers, one of them a 4-by-8 foot sandbox with an awning over it. As an added attraction — for the dogs — the center contains a dummy tree stump or fire hydrant.

However, Screvane said it was the unanimous opinion that a more modern engineering device, with a flushing operation, will be required, lest sand boxes create more debris than they eliminate.

Bill-Like Forms Flood City Businesses

Better Business Bureau Issues Warning

Iowa City merchants Wednesday received a flood of mailings in the form of bills, which actually are merely solicitations for advertising space in The New Classified Business Directory, reportedly to be published in the near future by a St. Paul, Minn. firm.

The invoice-like solicitation resembles the bill for advertising space which will be received soon by many Iowa City business firms from the publishers of the Iowa City Business Directory.

A Better Business Bureau warning received Wednesday by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce points out that to the knowledge of the bureau, there is no established directory firm operating at the address given in the solicitations which reached Iowa City Wednesday.

The warning said that several weeks ago the firm was operating at 1355 Marshall Ave. in St. Paul, but that they have now switched to a new address, 894 Grand Ave., St. Paul.

The Better Business Bureau at Des Moines warned that the form being mailed to business firms looks like a statement for advertising space that has already been purchased.

If businessmen look at the form hastily, says the warning, they may easily think that it is a bill for listing in business or phone directories.

Although the fact that the forms are merely solicitations for advertisements in a new directory is pointed out in several places, the Better Business Bureau says that the form can be misleading and deceptive.

The forms which have been sent to several Iowa communities, including Des Moines, were received by many Iowa City businesses Wednesday. Many businessmen received several different forms.

Some Iowa City businessmen contacted who received several of the forms said that the names of the businesses appeared several times in the Iowa City phone directory. This they said, seemed to indicate that the addresses and other information was taken from the telephone directory, in which a business name may appear in different sections.

The amounts charged for the new directory seemed to range from $12.50 to $45. These amounts are roughly comparable to the charges for advertising in the Iowa City Directory, published by the R. L. Polk Co. of Kansas City, Missouri.

The forms from the St. Paul firm, which are dated April 30, state in several places that the mailing is strictly a solicitation.

In fine print on the back of the form, the statement is made that "this is not a bill, invoice, or renewal of any previous listings with us or any other publication." Iowa City businessmen who were contacted by The Daily Iowan said however that the solicitation closely resembles the many bills which are received by businesses each month.

The Better Business Bureau suggested in the warning that all persons receiving the advertisement who feel that it is misleading should send it with a letter expressing their views to Mr. W. J. Means, Post Office Inspector, Main Post Office, St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

The Iowa City Chamber of Commerce Wednesday suggested that businessmen having questions on the forms call the Chamber office, 9637.

Sales Psychologist Urges Dramatic 10% Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sales psychologist urged Congress Wednesday to refund 10 per cent of last year's income taxes to the people as a dramatic move to snap the country out of the recession.

George Katona, University of Michigan professor of economics and psychology told Senate monopoly investigators Congress should do this to show the Government really means business.

His field-heads the university's economic behavior research program, which studies why and whether people plan to buy.

Variety of Economists Urge Tax Action—

Ike Stands Fast; No Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wide variety of economists urged Wednesday that tax cuts be thrown into the fight against recession, but there was no sign their advice would prevail.

SECRETARY of Commerce Weeks told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention that the Administration is continually discussing the question of a tax cut, but has reached no decision.

On the general question of what is happening now, he and President Eisenhower sounded much alike.

"LONG RANGE, the future looks good," Weeks said. "I believe the economy is leveling out and we will see a pickup by late summer or early fall."

THEIR APPRAISALS came on a day when a panel of university, labor and business economists offered a Senate-House Economic subcommittee some varying views on how to use taxes as a tool with which to fix up the economy.

They coincided, too, with opening of House debate on a Democratic-

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai Stevenson Wednesday joined the ranks of advocates of a tax cut to pep up the nation's economy.

He told a group of touring editors from Europe and Asia that the economic situation calls for prompt measures.

"A tax reduction would have been more effective if taken sooner than it would if taken now," he added.

backed bill to grant $1½ billion in Federal money for the relief of the unemployed.

Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), who prefers the Eisenhower plan of Federal loans to the states to extend the period of unemployment compensation insurance, called the bill drafted by other Democrats "pure, unadulterated, unabridged, unabashed socialism."

Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.) retorted that the cry of socialism and dole is nothing new.

He said it was raised against such things as social security and child labor laws.

ANOTHER development was a report from the Agriculture Department that farm prices increased 1.14 per cent from mid-March to mid-April, reaching a point 9.84 per cent above a year ago.

A new report from the Commerce Department showed that sales and new orders at the manufacturers' level increased last month, but not as much as is normal for this time of year.

Sales of all manufacturers were shown as $26 billion in March compared with February's 24½ billion.

However, sales were down about 2 per cent after adjustment for seasonal factors.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday interpreted a less-than-season drop in unemployment as evidence that the economic decline is flattening out. But the President wouldn't go so far as to say a business upturn is beginning.

Essentially, Mr. Eisenhower read the economic barometer about as he has for several weeks.

And once more he said that a tax cut still requires more study and analysis.

The Commerce Department announced Tuesday that unemployment fell 78,000 between mid-March and mid-April, compared with decreases of about 200,000 in the corresponding periods of the last four years.

The decline was the basis of the first question at the conference — a question whether the President thinks it marks the beginning of an upturn in the economy.

Mr. Eisenhower replied that he didn't think such a categorical statement could be made or that it could be said that "Well, now, we are on the highroad to an advance."

"I do believe," he added, "that there is a very continued and emphatic evidence that the decline is flattening out, and that is, it seems to me, the implication of those figures."

ARCTIC INSPECTION — The President said his proposal for an arctic inspection zone was made seriously and honestly to allay fears about American bombers soaring over the polar regions on practice alerts. He said it was almost silly for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to charge the proposal was a publicity stunt.

CLEAN BOMBS — The whole policy of the United States, Mr. Eisenhower said, is to have cleaner nuclear weapons — that is weapons with less radioactive fallout.

INDONESIA — The American policy in the Indonesian rebellion, Mr. Eisenhower said, is one of careful neutrality and proper deportment all the way through.

Press Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — At his press conference, President Eisenhower discussed the following in addition to the tax cut and economic conditions questions:

PENTAGON REORGANIZATION — The former general said the core of the controversial reorganization plan he placed before Congress is power for the secretary of defense to carry out a unified strategy effectively. Ruling out any compromise on principle, Mr. Eisenhower said that any retreat from the heart of the program, "to my mind, is retreat to a certain degree of defenselessness that is inexcusable."

POLITICS — The President said that "I don't have any responsibility for trying to groom any successor," although he does have a duty to keep Nixon informed on all operations and major decisions of the Government in the event he himself becomes incapacitated for any reason.

RESIGNATION — "I just say this: I took on something that I think is a duty, and I'm going to perform that duty as long as I think I am capable of doing it," the President said.

ARCTIC INSPECTION — The President said his proposal for an arctic inspection zone was made seriously and honestly to allay fears about American bombers soaring over the polar regions on practice alerts. He said it was almost silly for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to charge the proposal was a publicity stunt.

CLEAN BOMBS — The whole policy of the United States, Mr. Eisenhower said, is to have cleaner nuclear weapons — that is weapons with less radioactive fallout.

INDONESIA — The American policy in the Indonesian rebellion, Mr. Eisenhower said, is one of careful neutrality and proper deportment all the way through.

He said he doesn't believe any Americans could possibly be involved in the revolt other than as soldiers of fortune, who always get into rebellions.

Merchants To Underwrite Student Leadership Banquet

The first all-University Leadership Banquet in the history of SUI will be held Thursday, May 8, at 8:30 p.m. in the Main Lounge of Iowa Memorial Union.

The banquet will be financed entirely by the Retail Merchants Division of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce. Approximately 300 student leaders and faculty representatives have been invited in addition to some 200 Iowa City merchants.

CO-ORDINATION of the banquet was handled by Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK) and Mortar Board, honorary scholastic and leadership organizations for SUI men and women.

Tapping ceremonies for new members of ODK and introduction of new Mortar Board members will be the feature of the banquet. Master of ceremonies for the event is Frank R. Kennedy, SUI professor of Law.

JOHN H. HAEFNER, professor of social studies in the SUI College of Education, and Dayton G. Howe, Iowa City merchant, will speak on leadership at the banquet.

ODK President James E. Grier, L2, Ottumwa, said that the purpose of the banquet was to show SUI students that the merchants of Iowa City recognize and put faith in the future leaders of our state.

"This is actually Iowa City's answer to the 'education crisis question,'" Grier said.

Weather

If the warmer weather Wednesday had you thinking May might start out on the right foot, you'll be disappointed by today's weather.

After highs Wednesday in the 60's, the first day of May will see temperatures cooling to a high in the mid 50's. Skies will be partly cloudy, with a possibility of light showers.

Wednesday strong southerly breezes helped boost temperatures into the 60's and deter the threat of more freezing temperatures Wednesday night.

The 5-day weather forecast issued Wednesday predicted that temperatures through Monday will average four to eight degrees below highs of 69 degrees and normal lows of 46 degrees.

Weather

Rainfall may range up to half an inch in showers Thursday and again Saturday or Sunday.

The Problem of Delinquency

Last week The Daily Iowan printed an editorial discussing the problem of juvenile delinquency and some of its salient personal features.

Probably everyone recognizes that there is a problem, and there has been interminable discussion of it.

Our penal institutions are overcrowded. Parole officers are underpaid, overworked, and totally swamped with parolees.

One way to acquire this help without creating a great tax burden is to have a large group of families act as "assistant" parole officers.

The "assistants" could provide an immediate "counselor" and friend for the parolee.

abiding world and could help show the erring member of society the way life can be "inside" the law.

Parolees could be sent all over the nation to places away from the environment where they first got into trouble.

You may ask: "What do I pay taxes for if I have to do this?" But the crime problem is not just one of paying taxes so someone else can do the dirty work.

No matter how you twist and turn, the finger of responsibility will always point to you. You are a part of society.

Letter To The Editor

Has A Hoax Been Perpetrated?

TO THE EDITOR:

Before adding my name to the long list of donkeys who fill in your copy by writing letters to the editor, let me say that I am doing this only in an attempt (which I hope will not prove altogether futile) to calm some of the tempers and quell some of the animosities which have recently arisen as a result of the controversy that has raged back and forth in your columns during the past three months.

This whirlwind of abuse that has greeted the eyes of your readers every morning has created entirely too much rancor on the campus.

A few minutes of quiet reflection would reveal to even the most uncontrolled emotional of these fire-eating controversialists that this whole matter is nothing at all like what it appears to be; and from the very beginning of it, the enlightened should have suspected that something was amiss.

First, from the unswerving single-mindedness of these letters, the ceaseless and untiring repetition of identical words, phrases, and thoughts, the Cato-like persistence with which the same bald ideas are hammered forth in letter after letter, we can infer that they must have all been written by the same individual.

Second, the quality of the prose is so unbearably bad as to make it apparent to anyone who has a mind capable of thinking, that no student capable of passing common skills could possibly have written it.

Furthermore, since one can only find graduate students of this level of intelligence on campuses other than SUI, our argument irrefragably leads us to the inevitable conclusion that this whole business has been a hoax.

I suspect Ron Levin of South Carolina as the perpetrator of this hoax. Levin laudably wanting to help a fellow-poet build up his Iowa City reputation, and wisely realizing that the surest way of harming anyone's reputation would be for him (Levin) to support him (anyone else) by means of the written word, hit upon this device of appearing to damn his friend in order, covertly, to help him.

I have not had opportunity to confront Levin with this evidence that his hoax has been discovered, but perhaps this will be sufficient to warn future would-be jokers not to take advantage of the innocent gullibility of good-natured Iowa students.

Some of you gardeners should be now experiencing one of the great thrills that comes to all gardeners - seeing the first green shoots of your plants pushing their way through the rich soil.

Thinning Plants

One of the first gardening operations after plants have come up is that of thinning. Thinning is merely the process of removing surplus seedlings so that other plants may have room to grow and develop.

Cultivation

Cultivation is the process of keeping the soil loose and friable in the rows between plants.

store a few weeks ago will now come in handy to stir up the soil. The purpose of cultivation is to allow moisture and air to penetrate the soil, and to give plant roots a loose soil structure to grow in.

Watering the Garden

Watering is good for plants. Sprinkling is bad. And the difference between watering and sprinkling is only one of degree.

Staking Plants

Later in the season, some of your vegetables and flowers will grow to be so massive (you hope) that they'll need some form of support to keep from bending or breaking.

Interpreting

Hammarskjold's Move

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

For the first time a secretary general of the United Nations has appeared before the Security Council, in the role of spokesman for world opinion, to take sides on a direct issue between two great powers.

Observers of Dag Hammarskjold's regime, despite his addiction to quiet diplomacy, have been wondering if it might happen, and what might be the contention of both himself and Trygve Lie, his predecessor, that the secretary general is more than merely an administrative officer.

But this is the first time the administrative officer has endorsed one specific resolution as opposed to another. He supported the United States proposal for international inspection in the Arctic as against the Soviet's to the proposed summit conference.

The Soviet Union tried to cut Lie's throat after the Korean business, and he eventually resigned under the pressure. Their new attitude toward Hammarskjold has not yet been revealed.

Herebefore Hammarskjold has seemed to work on the theory that when he took any initiative, as he has a number of times, he not only needed the broad support of U.N. delegates, but must also avoid direct conflict with the United States or the Soviet Union.

His chief efforts have been as mediator, to keep negotiations open. He is such an idealist that close observers doubted he was moved by any thought that the U.S. resolution would be another step, such as the U.N. Emergency Force, in enhancing the authority of the United Nations in keeping the peace.

There were reports at the U.N. Tuesday that Hammarskjold had consulted the Soviet delegation prior to his action, in an effort to avoid what happened to Lie, but these reports were discounted by well-informed observers.

How far can a dedicated and able diplomat go in making the office of secretary general one of world leadership? How much public opinion can he mobilize, and how much effect can it have on deadlocked issues?

Local Panel To Discuss IC Housing

May Fellowship Day Friday will feature a panel discussion entitled, "A Place to Live." The nationally observed service is sponsored by the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.

The Iowa City meeting which is sponsored by the United Church Women, will be open to all women and held at the Congregational Church. It will begin with a coffee hour at 9:30 a.m.

Master of Ceremonies will be Mrs. John Craig, wife of the Congregational minister. Those serving on the panel include Peter Roan, City Manager; J. W. Howe, SUI professor of engineering; Paul Boyd, City Inspector; and Ralph Prusok, SUI director of off campus housing.

The purpose of Friday's panel is to discuss the housing needs and shortages existing within the United States. According to the National Housing Conference, dwelling places for several million families are needed, particularly for the low and middle income brackets.

The panel hopes to get facts on the local situation.

The following denominations will participate in the May Fellowship observance:

Mortar Board Ceremonies To Highlight Mom's Day Weekend

By JANE HUBLY
Society Editor

The selection of the 1958-59 members of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society, will be one of the highlights of the annual Mother's Day weekend at SUI Saturday and Sunday.

The "tapping" will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday on the west approach to Old Capitol. This year's members of the group will stand on the steps of Old Capitol, attired in black caps and gowns. A dialogue will be read, while one member circulates through the audience to find the junior girl she will "tap."

When she places her cap upon the new member's head, both girls will walk to the steps and the new member's qualifications will be read aloud.

The scholastic requirement for junior women eligible for Mortar Board is a 2.75 grade point. The girls are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership and service to SUI. The present Mortar Board chooses the new members, with the help of advisors, faculty recommendations and a vote of all junior women at SUI.

FORMAL initiation for members will be held Sunday morning and will be closed to the public. Another high point of the weekend will be the new tour through the Physics Building beginning at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Seminary Head To Speak Here At Lutheran Banquet

The Rev. A. H. Ewald, president of Wartburg Theological Seminary, Dubuque, will speak at a banquet meeting of the Foundation of Lutheran Students Monday, May 5, at 6:30 p.m. at the Jefferson Hotel.

The banquet meeting is open to the public at $2 per person. Reservations may be phoned to 8-0302.

The foundation serves students at SUI through the Lutheran Student Center, which is directed by the Rev. Donald F. Hetzler.

11:30 a.m. Saturday. Guests will start the tour from Room 108 in the building.

The tour is geared to show interested persons the laboratories of James Van Allen, professor and head of the Physics Department, and his assistants. Anyone may attend, free of charge.

The Mother's Day weekend will unofficially begin Friday when the Seals, women's swimming club, will give the first performance of their water show at 8 p.m. in the Fieldhouse swimming pool.

"Rhythm in Aqua" is the theme of the show and another performance will be given Saturday, at the same time and place. Tickets at 75 cents per person are now on sale.

CANOE CAPERS, sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association, will begin the official festivities at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Students from various housing units are entered in the boating baffle.

Most of the races will be held from near University High School to the Iowa Memorial Union footbridge.

Home Economics Club members will sponsor a coffee hour and open house at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Macbride Hall. Guests will be able to tour the department and see the new electronic oven that has been installed recently, the food laboratories and the weaving loom.

A Mother's Day luncheon, which the whole family may attend, will be given at noon Saturday in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union. Three hundred tickets at $1.50 per person are now on sale at the new information desk in the Union and must be obtained by 5:30 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Anna House of Muscatine, the SUI Mother of 1958, will be honored at the luncheon. Jo Nett Melchert, A4, Clinton, and James Wiese, C4, Schaller, will be presented as the SUI Representative Daughter and Son, respectively.

SUNDAY'S biggest event will be the traditional President's Tea, to be held from 3 to 5 p.m. in the home of President and Mrs. Virgil Hancher. Mortar Board members will be hostesses and the whole family may attend.

The SUI Mother's Day weekend is sponsored by Mortar Board each year to honor the mothers of SUI students. The first Mother's Day program was held on campus in 1928.

Individual housing units and various organizations on campus will also hold several activities during the weekend.

The Young Women's Christian Association (YWCA) will give a tea in the "Y" rooms in the Iowa Memorial Union from 3 to 4 p.m. Saturday. The YWCA's annual projects will be displayed and "Y" members will be hostesses.

During the entire weekend, the Art Building will be open and the University Library will have two exhibits. One will be a coin exhibit and the other a book exhibit titled "Iowa Authors."

Several athletic games also are scheduled this weekend.

Davies Elected Head of Adult Education Group

J. Leonard Davies, SUI Director of the Bureau of Correspondence Study was recently elected president of the Iowa Association for Adult Education.

The Association, at a meeting held at Iowa State College this week, discussed the four chief areas of adult education activity with which it is concerned. They are: (1) public school adult education in Iowa has grown to a total of 172 Iowa Community programs; (2) Service agencies have increased their adult activities in every part of the state with public libraries heading the list in expanded offerings; (3) industry has expanded its related training programs into cooperative general adult education programs in many sections; (4) college and university extension programs have found public calls for service in adult education classes and consultations increasing at a rapid rate.

According to statistics reported at the meeting, 87 million Americans 14 years of age and over, by the last census, had no formal education beyond the 9th grade and these people were finding the requirements of understanding democracy and the technical advancements too difficult without more educational assistance.

Hawkeye Nine To Host Badgers, Cats

Iowa After Initial Win In Conference

A 3-game home stand is next for the Iowa baseball team, as the Hawkeyes Friday and Saturday try to break into the win column of the Big Ten standings.

Games with Wisconsin Friday at 3:30 p.m. and a double-header with defending champion Northwestern Saturday at 1:30 p.m. are scheduled.

Both opponents have 1-2 records in the league, while Iowa stands at 0-3. Wisconsin lost to Purdue, 9-8, then broke even with Illinois, 0-4 and 3-2. Northwestern blasted Illinois, 15-3, in the first league game but then dropped a double-header to Purdue, 16-5 and 8-4.

Iowa's weak hitting, which plagued the Hawkeyes in the non-conference games, presents the same old problem. The team's batting average for the three conference games is .188 and for the season to date .207.

Iowa ranks ninth in hitting, with Northwestern in last place with .174. The Hawkeyes are tied for eighth in fielding, .909 and again Northwestern is tenth, .881.

Coach Otto Vogel said he might pitch Glen Van Fossen Friday against Wisconsin. Van Fossen has done well as a reliever, allowing 15 hits, striking out 18 and yielding no earned runs in 17 innings.

Other Iowa hurlers who will be used include Jack Nora, the captain with a 2-1 record who has hurled 40 2/3 innings and has 45 strike-outs; Roger Rudeen with a 2-3 mark who has allowed only 28 hits in 41 2/3 innings; and Ron Drinnan, now at 1-3, who has pitched 38 1/3 innings and has 33 strike-outs.

Wisconsin, who has a 7-6 record for the season, probably will call upon right-hander George Schmid to pitch. Schmid has a 2-3 record but has struck out 49 batters in 42 1/3 innings, while allowing 28 hits and 15 earned runs.

In the Northwestern double-header, the Wildcats might choose Tom Scheuerman as one pitcher. Scheuerman, one of the Big Ten's best, is a brother of Iowa's Sharm Scheuerman, former basketball star and now Iowa assistant basketball coach.

Northwestern's other pitchers include Nelson Nedde who has a 1-1 record and Bob Miller, 0-1, who lost to Purdue last Saturday.

Top batters for Iowa to date are Dick Weatherly, .350; Don Peden, .276; and Fred Long, .255. Wisconsin's top men are Bill Mallett, .370; Walter Holt, .343; and Ed Canon, .333.

Tigers Blast Ford To Beat N.Y., 10-1

NEW YORK (AP)—Detroit clobbered Whitey Ford Wednesday 10-1 as the Tigers became the first club this season to defeat the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium.

Frank Lary, twice a loser, broke into the winning column with a seven-hitter to snap the Yanks' six-game home winning streak.

The Tigers ripped into Ford for 12 of their 14 hits while Lary mowed down the Yanks without too much trouble.

Al Kaline doubled twice and added a single as everybody in the Tiger starting lineup except Reno Bertoia collected at least one hit.

The Tigers were minus the services of first baseman Ray Boone and short stop Milt Bolling, who were sidelined by mild virus attacks.

Approximately 30 former Iowa football players were on hand Wednesday as the Iowa Alumni team held its first workout in preparation for its game Saturday against the Iowa Varsity.

Only three big names were missing Wednesday from the group expected to play Sunday. The three were Alex Karras, 1956-57 All-America tackle, Mike Hagler, and Eddie Vincent. All three are expected to arrive in time for the game.

The contest, first of its kind to be held at Iowa, will end the 1958 spring drills. The game will start at 1:30 p.m. in the Iowa Stadium. Admission for the game is $2.00 for the general public, while students will be admitted for 50 cents, upon presentation of their ID cards.

The Alumni's first workout was a short one, and preceded a physical examination for each player. All alumni will have to pass a physical exam to be eligible to play. Some of the Alumni will be insured, since they are property of professional football teams and an injury incurred in the contest could mean a great loss to a pro team.

Wednesday's drills saw Jerry Reichow, Kenny Ploen and Chug Wilson operating at quarterback. In the short passing drill, the quarterbacks found able targets in Jim Gibbons, Frank Gilliam, and Ed Tunnell.

Other outstanding Iowa players at the opening drill included Bill Reichardt, Binky Broeder, Bill Hoppel, Frank Bloomquist, Bob Cummings, Don Suchy, and Harold Bradley. Bradley is handling the defense and Reichow the offense. Iowa assistant Jerry Hilgenberg is head coach for the Alumni.

Kentucky Derby May Settle Grudge

A LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The same horses, Tim Tam and Jewel's Reward, have a grudge to settle Saturday in the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby, but different riders will be aboard the highly regarded colts in the great 3-year-old classic.

They'll have to reckon with Silky Sullivan, California's thrilling two-stage rocket, and a gang of others in the 84th running of the mile and one quarter gallop. The latest barn count showed 17 or 18 still being considered as starters, but with a probable lineup of about 15.

However, many observers are confident the Calumet Farm's Tim Tam, and the Maine Chance Farm's Jewel's Reward, will be the two toughest as they were in the Flamingo at Hialeah March 1.

On that afternoon, Manuel Ycaza, the Panamanian jockey, whipped Jewel's Reward furiously down the stretch and the colt played bumps-daisy with Tim Tam for better than an eighth of a mile. Bill Hartack, aboard Tim Tam, claimed foul against Ycaza, and the stewards disqualified Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's colt in favor of Mrs. Gene Markey's horse. Instead of $97,800, Mrs. Graham got only $20,000 for second place, and Ycaza was slapped with a 15-day suspension.

Ycaza was taken off Jewel's Reward April 14, and replaced by Eddie Arcaro, winner in a record of five derbies.

Hartack landed in a hospital with a broken leg last Saturday after a starting gate accident at Churchill Downs. Jimmy Jones, the Calumet trainer, selected Ismael Valenzuela to handle Tim Tam, and they combined to cop the Derby Trial Stakes. Saturday's story might hinge on a 23-year-old Mexican lad riding in his first derby, and a 42-year-old veteran who has appeared in 19 of them.

Revenue Agent Denied Certain Roshek Files

DAVENPORT (AP)—A retired internal revenue agent testified Wednesday he wasn't given access to all the records of the Roshek Bros. Department Store when he started a routine investigation of the company books in 1953.

Donald Ferree was a witness in the federal income tax evasion case.

Also testifying Wednesday afternoon was Mrs. Elaine McGrath, a bookkeeper in the Roshek store.

Asked by U.S. Dist. Atty. Roy Stephenson if he saw anything unusual in the invoices, Ferree replied:

"Yes, I noticed that some of the invoices pertained to work done in the Roshek homes and then billed to the store."

"It appeared to me that the items should have been billed to their personal accounts rather than to the store."

Ferree was referring to John J. Roshek and his brother, Thomas, who was excused from the present trial on account of illness.

Ferree said that after reading the manufacturing firm's invoices, he informed the chief of the internal revenue bureau of what he had found.

Mrs. McGrath explained the bookkeeping system used by the firm in the 1951-53 period covered by the indictment against Roshek. She said John Roshek never had given any direct orders on how entries were to be made in the firm's bookkeeping system.

Cancer Society Awards 50 Grants

MASON CITY (AP)—The Iowa division of the American Cancer Society announced Wednesday the awarding of 50 grants of $500 each to high school seniors, to help finance three years of nurse training.

All of the seniors have agreed to complete their training, not to marry while in training, and to practice the profession in Iowa for two years immediately after graduation.

STOCK MARKET ADVANCES
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged its biggest advance in almost four months Wednesday, more than erasing the declines of the past two days.

Numerous pivotal stocks rose 1 to 3 points carrying the market to new high ground for 1958.

Rails, steels, oils, aircrafts and metals were among the better performers.

TWO JOBS TOO MUCH
OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP)—Holding down two jobs proved the undoing of James D. Debraal, 24, of Menasha. Debraal was sentenced to 90 days in jail Wednesday for driving his motorcycle from one job to another at 115 miles an hour.

APPLIANCE STORE ROBBED
DES MOINES (AP)—Motorized thieves backed a truck up to the rear door of the Kern Appliance and TV Shop some time Tuesday night — and hauled away about $2,000 worth of television sets, radios, and phonographs. The thieves pried open the rear door to enter the building. The store was also burglarized in 1956, and about $800 worth of small appliances taken.

Now Law Violated When Yellow Line Crossed if Passing

DES MOINES (AP)—If you pass another car on the highway and cross any portion of a yellow line in returning to your own lane, it is a violation of the law, the Iowa attorney general's office said Wednesday.

The opinion was issued at the request of Webster County Attorney Arthur Johnson of Fort Dodge.

Johnson said his office has had difficulty for the past two years in interpreting the law on this point.

The opinion said it is clearly illegal to start a pass around another vehicle in a yellow line area, and the Iowa Supreme Court has ruled also that a motorist passing another car must "complete the pass" without crossing a yellow line.

Fire Protectors Plan Des Moines Meeting
DES MOINES (AP)—The National Fire Protection Association has selected Des Moines for its 1959 fall conference, the association informed the Des Moines Convention Bureau Wednesday. The bureau said more than 500 leaders in the fire protection field from throughout the nation are expected for the meeting, Nov. 11-13, 1959.

DRIVE-IN CAN'T EMPLOY YOUTH UNDER SIXTEEN
DES MOINES (AP)—Youngsters under 16 years of age cannot work in a drive-in, even if it serves nothing but ice cream and soft drinks to people in cars, the Iowa attorney general's office ruled Wednesday.

The opinion was requested by State Labor Commissioner Don Lowe, who asked if such an establishment is classified as a restaurant.

Lowe noted that under Iowa law, no person of less than 16 years can be employed in a restaurant. The opinion said any business establishment that serves food for pay, is a restaurant under Iowa law, regardless of whether the food is served to persons in automobiles or at booths or a counter inside the building.

Israel Editor Visits SUI

Ted Lurie, managing director and acting editor of the Jerusalem Post (left), spoke to students and faculty Wednesday about the news situation in Israel.

Obstacles to communication for a news medium in the area. Governments control radio stations and censor news, so that a newspaper might have to get a story about something that happened 50 miles away in another country through London news agencies.

Nixon Praises Argentina's Recent Free Election

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Vice-President Nixon arrived for today's inauguration of Arturo Frondizi as president, and congratulated Argentina on its first free election in more than a decade.

Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, Argentina's provisional vice-president, greeted Nixon and his wife, Pat, on their arrival Wednesday from Montevideo, Uruguay, on the second leg of their goodwill tour.

Nixon said he looked forward to the inauguration of Frondizi, whose administration will replace the military junta that has ruled since dictator Juan Peron was ousted in 1955.

"The inauguration of a new government always is an important event in the history of a country," Nixon said in a speech.

"But it is particularly so when it is not the imposition of the will of a man but the expression of the will of the people through free elections."

Coinciding with Nixon's arrival, Dr. Carlos Alberto Florit, who will be Frondizi's foreign minister, issued a statement saying Argentina's foreign position belongs with the Americas and the west.

9 SUI Physicists Attending Washington Research Conference

Nine men from the SUI Physics Department are attending a meeting of the American Physical Society in Washington, D. C., today through Saturday.

Attending are: James Jacobs, professor; Fritz Rohrlich and Fritz Coester, associate professors; and Richard Carlson and Frank McDonald, assistant professors.

Young Demos To Gather at State Capitol

Two hundred Iowa Young Democrats including 35 from SUI will meet in Des Moines Saturday and Sunday for a 2-day convention at the Hotel Kirkwood.

THIRTY CLUBS are expected to be represented from Iowa colleges and other Young Democratic organizations from throughout the state.

Four SUI convention delegates are state or national Young Democratic officers. They are Robert Fulton, L2, Leon, state democratic newsletter chairman; Samuel L. Pesses, G, Bettendorf, state executive secretary; Dan Elmer, A4, Ottumwa, first district committeeman; and Richard Rausch, A3, Carroll, past-national YD committeeman. Also plans to attend.

A planned address by Herschel C. Loveless, a banquet, and the election of state officers will highlight the convention.

Nelson Lancione, Columbus, Ohio, lawyer, and president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, will address the delegates at the Saturday night $5-a-plate dinner at the Kirkwood Hotel.

STATE OFFICERS will be elected Sunday afternoon. Dan Elmer, A4, Ottumwa, is expected to seek re-election to his first district committeeman post.

Robert Fulton, L2, Leon, said Wednesday he did not plan to seek reappointment to his newsletter post. Samuel L. Pesses, state executive, G, Bettendorf, could not be reached for comment on his plans. The term of Richard Rausch, A4, Carroll, national committeeman, does not expire until 1960.

NO CANDIDATES have announced seeking the state presidency now held by Sherwin Markman, Des Moines, but several candidates are expected by election time.

The SUI Young Democrats at their last meeting voted to bind their delegation by unit rule. The delegation will caucus tonight at 621 Brown St. and again in Des Moines Saturday morning.

Two Professors To Represent SUI In 3-Year Study

Harold H. McCarty, SUI professor and chairman of geography, and Russell Ross, associate professor of Political Science, will represent SUI in a 3-year, 7-state program to study "Urbanization in the Missouri River Basin Area."

Supported by a $39,600 grant from the Ford Foundation, the program will be headquartered at the Governmental Research Center of the University of Kansas. Representatives will meet quarterly for 3-day sessions.

Purpose of the program will be to pool academic, municipal and other resources toward solutions to problems created by industrialization and urbanization in once predominantly agricultural areas, explains Chancellor Franklin D. Murphy of the University of Kansas.

Coralville Annexation Approved by Court

Annexation of three areas to the town of Coralville was approved Wednesday by Johnson County District Court Judge H. D. Evans.

NONE OF THE 28 property owners appeared or filed objections to the hearing Wednesday. Jay C. Oehler, Coralville, requested the court's approval on the basis of the general election Nov. 1957, when Coralville voters approved the annexation.

The areas are: TWENTY LOTS at the north end of Coralville, in the Summit Hills addition, located south of the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway tracks.

They are owned by Bert E. Manville, Clara C. Light, Clara Light, Charles C. Fieseler, Grant Keppler, Richard Tompkins, Ada M. Dietz, Ralph O. Tompkins, Dorothy C. Tompkins, Lloyd E. Bontrager, Reggie Eckhoff and Marilyn Burkett.

APPROXIMATELY FIVE acres forming an island between Fifth St. and Highway 6, near the center of Coralville.

Bill To Curb Court Okayed By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to curb the power of the Supreme Court and undo the effects of some of its decisions in subversion cases was approved 10-5 by the Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday.

Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.) called the bill "an unvarnished attempt to intimidate the nine Supreme Court justices." He said he would fight it every step of the way on the Senate floor.

But Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) praised the committee's vote as "a genuine victory for states' rights."

It would strip the Supreme Court of its authority to review cases involving state regulations governing the admission of lawyers to practice in state courts.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said there was general agreement on the three other sections of the bill "because they are amendatory to existing law."

One section would restore the power of states to pass and enforce their own laws against subversion or sedition.

The Supreme Court has held that states have no right to prosecute people for subversion.

Another section would toughen up the Smith Act to overcome a Supreme Court decision that persons cannot be prosecuted for advocating the forcible overthrow of the Government unless the advocacy is linked to some positive action.

The change would make advocacy itself a felony.

The third section would deny any Federal court authority to review the pertinency of questions asked in congressional investigations of subversive activity.

This would strengthen the power of Congress to punish witnesses held to be in contempt.

Toastmaster's Speech Contest Here Saturday

Toastmasters from throughout Iowa will meet in Iowa City Saturday for their annual spring conference and speech contest.

To Discuss College's Role In Political Process

Iowa college presidents, professors of political science, and political leaders will meet at SUI Friday to consider "academic responsibility in the political process."

The conference is sponsored by the Iowa Citizenship Clearing House in conjunction with the Association of Iowa College Presidents, Robert F. Ray, director of the clearing house, said Wednesday.

Dean Russell Niles of the College of Law of New York University will be the featured speaker at the dinner session of the conference, Ray said.

Arthur Naftalin, director of administration for the state of Minnesota and former professor at the University of Minnesota, will serve as a consultant.

Invited to attend the conference are the presidents of Iowa's 24 colleges and universities, one political science instructor from each school, and the Democratic and Republican county chairmen of the counties in which colleges are located, Ray said.

Institutions to be represented in addition to SUI are: Iowa State College, Ames; Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls; Coe College, Cedar Rapids; Marycrest College, Davenport; St. Ambrose College, Davenport; Luther College, Decorah; Drake University, Des Moines; Clark College, Dubuque; Loras College, Dubuque; University of Dubuque, Dubuque; Parsons College, Fairfield; Upper Iowa University, Fayette; Grinnell College, Grinnell; Simpson College, Indianola; Westmar College, Le Mars; Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant; Cornell College, Mt. Vernon; William Penn College, Oskaloosa; Central College, Pella; Briar Cliff College, Sioux City; Morningside College, Sioux City; Buena Vista College, Storm Lake; Wartburg College, Waverly.

Purpose of the conference is to discuss ways in which colleges and political leaders can work together to improve the quality of political education in our colleges and universities, Ray explained.

For example, the group will consider how students in and out of the classroom can receive practical training and experience in politics that will aid in giving depth to their understanding of the political process, Ray said.

WOW and OH! and AH

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Wow . . . wow . . . wow"—that's about all Lt. Andrew M. Sherling could say Tuesday night after meeting face to face for the first time the pretty girl he's going to marry.

"OH" and "ah" and an occasional sigh were the most articulate things Temmy Moskowitz, 20, the bride to be, had to say.

The 24-year-old airman flew home from the Philippines and the fiancée he had never seen was waiting at National Airport. The buddy of Sherling who started it all, Ira Landsman, was on hand, too.

At Landsman's suggestion, Sherling and Miss Moskowitz started writing about a year ago and fell in love by letter. Their letters saying "I love you" for the first time crossed in transit.

"I had this cute cousin and I thought they'd make a good couple," Landsman said. "But I never dreamed it would go this far."

Cash and Kudos

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS were presented to three senior honor students in the SUI College of Commerce Friday by Dean S. G. Winter.

Donald Grönberg, Danbury (left) received the major award of $250. The other grants went to Brownlie Graham, Brooklyn, Iowa, and Sue Bengt, North Liberty. Grönberg and Graham are majoring in accounting, and Miss Bengt in business education and office management. All held part-time jobs at SUI.

Outer Space Exhibition For Students

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The brains of the Air Force space projects will try to tell 6,000 picked high school students the problems that have to be licked to get a man in space.

From Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the ballistic missile division, to E. R. Quesada, special assistant to President Eisenhower, men who are shooting for the moon will outline their work today.

Backing the verbal discussions is an impressive display of space age rockets and project models, headed by an actual giant Thor missile, set up outside municipal auditorium.

Billed as first of its kind, the conference is sponsored by the Oklahoma Frontiers of Science, a private group interested in boosting science.

The 6,000 invited students are tops in some 400 state high schools. On exhibit are models of rockets cutaways of the kind of missile a man might use to go into space and the suits he'll have to wear. They were created by the orientation group at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio.

The general public Wednesday got a chance to tour the exhibits and gawk at the giant Thor.

By pressing a button in front of each display, a recording reeled off explanations of pressure suits, atmosphere problems and an assortment of other subjects.

MISSING PATIENT RETURNED Herman Greiser, 24, Independence, who disappeared from the University Hospitals Tuesday evening, was returned to the hospital about 1 a.m. Wednesday.

He was seen walking along Highway No. 1 near Hal Dane's road south of Iowa City, by a resident of the area, who summoned the police. Greiser has not yet been discharged, hospital officials said.

Design Exhibition Starts Tuesday—Mobile Shelter Folding Into Tube To Be Shown

A quickly-assembled portable shelter with 100 or more possible uses will be featured in the 10th annual Design Exhibition which will open Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the SUI Art Building.

On display until June 1 in the main exhibition hall at the Art Building also will be furniture, household products, sketches and floor plans for architectural designs, and other studio projects completed by SUI students in basic, industrial, architectural and graphic design classes.

Theme of the 1958 Design Exhibition is "Time Focus."

The all-aluminum mobile shelter, called a Flex-dome, was designed by Stanley Bye, Deerfield, Ill., A4, and John H. Schultz, SUI associate professor of Art and director of the Design Exhibition. Also helping in the construction of the framework was James Hood Gardner, SUI art instructor.

Paving Must Be Done By Football Time

AMES (AP)—Low bids on $8½ million worth of highway work, including $2,720,364 worth of Interstate highway projects, were approved Wednesday by the Iowa Highway Commission.

At Iowa City, where a 3 mile asphaltic concrete pavement widening and surfacing project on U.S. 218 went to Kaser Construction Co., Des Moines, on its bid of $273,847, specifications provide the work shall be finished before the first Iowa football game. Due to a present detour resulting from a paving project on U.S. 6, the U.S. 218 job cannot start until June 30.

The major letting includes $2½ million in bridge and culvert work, $2,153,877 in Portland cement paving, $385,952 in asphaltic concrete paving, $615,351 in asphaltic concrete resurfacing, $1,941,647 worth of grading, and some miscellaneous projects.

Outer Space Exhibition For Students

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The brains of the Air Force space projects will try to tell 6,000 picked high school students the problems that have to be licked to get a man in space.

From Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the ballistic missile division, to E. R. Quesada, special assistant to President Eisenhower, men who are shooting for the moon will outline their work today.

Backing the verbal discussions is an impressive display of space age rockets and project models, headed by an actual giant Thor missile, set up outside municipal auditorium.

Billed as first of its kind, the conference is sponsored by the Oklahoma Frontiers of Science, a private group interested in boosting science.

The 6,000 invited students are tops in some 400 state high schools. On exhibit are models of rockets cutaways of the kind of missile a man might use to go into space and the suits he'll have to wear. They were created by the orientation group at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio.

The general public Wednesday got a chance to tour the exhibits and gawk at the giant Thor.

By pressing a button in front of each display, a recording reeled off explanations of pressure suits, atmosphere problems and an assortment of other subjects.

MISSING PATIENT RETURNED Herman Greiser, 24, Independence, who disappeared from the University Hospitals Tuesday evening, was returned to the hospital about 1 a.m. Wednesday.

He was seen walking along Highway No. 1 near Hal Dane's road south of Iowa City, by a resident of the area, who summoned the police. Greiser has not yet been discharged, hospital officials said.

Design Exhibition Starts Tuesday—Mobile Shelter Folding Into Tube To Be Shown

A quickly-assembled portable shelter with 100 or more possible uses will be featured in the 10th annual Design Exhibition which will open Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the SUI Art Building.

On display until June 1 in the main exhibition hall at the Art Building also will be furniture, household products, sketches and floor plans for architectural designs, and other studio projects completed by SUI students in basic, industrial, architectural and graphic design classes.

Theme of the 1958 Design Exhibition is "Time Focus."

The all-aluminum mobile shelter, called a Flex-dome, was designed by Stanley Bye, Deerfield, Ill., A4, and John H. Schultz, SUI associate professor of Art and director of the Design Exhibition. Also helping in the construction of the framework was James Hood Gardner, SUI art instructor.

Community Play—Something Wild

—In Iowa City—By PAUL GRAY, Guest Reviewer

The Iowa City Community Theatre served up an awfully stiff sentence on the human race last night in the form of "Orpheus Descending," a drama loaded with fierce tears by Terrence Williams.

I found the production lacking in more vital elements than I have time and space to mention here, but I did come away from the playhouse with a feeling of admiration for a rather courageous group of players and for their director, Robert Spanabel.

"This country used to be wild," says Traumatic Tennessee, "the men and women were wild and there was a wild sort of sweetness in their hearts, for each other, but now it's sick with neon. . . . This is the terrible and traumatic truth, and I'm afraid that perhaps an Iowa audience, where this is particularly true will not take to hearing the nature of this 'unusual' kind of realism in their theatre. A couple of loud bravos for the Community Players for opening their big mouths on the stage.

A play which paints people as they are, in other words, one which tells us, however naked and barren it might seem and sound, both the black and the white—and in the shadows and in the light—is "Orpheus Descending." As a work made by human hands it is terror-stricken and it is something wild. . . . In "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" Tender Tennessee was hiding behind a wall of restraint—he wanted so badly and with so much of his heart to tell us something, something we all knew, but God how we wanted to be told. In Orpheus the restraint lifted and what we saw under the cloud was horrible—but God it's true! It's real.

But why does Williams always look at people, at the world, through eyeballs that are seared only by helplessness. I for one say that it isn't true that man is helpless—why in the world doesn't Williams pick himself up off the floor and sing—open up his mouth and sing, the blues, anything! All right, we're in a world full of neon and especially the Iowa man needs a good punch in the heart, but we'll all be damned together if we creak without a note and I just don't believe that there is no music anywhere. Even the dead people gotta keep singing in us—or we're all done.

In a larger sense, what was seen last night was only a reasonable facsimile of the Williams play. This production was too naive sexually, and lacked the lyrical quality the play cried for. Mr. Spanabel's direction lacked originality in this respect but he certainly was not uninspired. He was responsible for several marvelous moments.

A very serious error was committed in the third act, however, the explosive ending went pffiffit . . . Spanabel's lack of clarity caught up with him here.

This naive that I speak of castrated the entire production and left it flat and toneless. A lot of the fault was in the key role as Lauretta Stripling played with a hard heart, and with a touch that froze. Technically, however, this is a fine actress. This was not her role.

I did like Jo Zender who gave her part of the nymphomaniac a sullen quality, playing behind a typical Williams smoke screen. Dennis Hayes, too, had a great many genuine moments. I thought that James Burkhead and Patti Moore, among others, contributed some rather accomplished and colorful characterizations.

The setting by Mr. Joe Zender was quite imaginative under limited circumstances.

This is a play that must be molded by a producing hand that is lovely and delicate—but one that can strike the rodent and slap you where it hurts. This production was too hard and lacked sting but it was done well enough to inform its Iowa audience that there is something real wild existing among all that neon on East Washington Street.
