CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Vice President Nixon cut short the tag end of his riot-ridden South American good will tour and took off late Wednesday for Puerto Rico. He is due in Washington at 10 a.m. today. Venezuela's government sent out troops, tanks and armored cars to give Nixon and his wife, Pat, a safe sendoff. A bullet-proof limousine was provided for their trip from the U.S. embassy to Caracas airport. It was at the airport that anti-United States demonstrators Tuesday launched their spitting and stoning attack when the Nixons arrived from Bogota, Colombia. Clubs, stones and eggs battered their cars in street rioting. Wednesday police cleared the streets. Nixon planned to have dinner in San Juan with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin. Munoz Marin has been hailed by U.S. senators as an outstanding spokesman for Latin America. The vice president's desire to talk with him may relate to recommendations Nixon is expected to prepare on the basis of his tour. The original schedule called for Nixon to leave Caracas at 12:30 a.m. today. But he had canceled programmed events after the mob violence and spent most of his time at the embassy residence — U.S. territory. With the Puerto Rican stop-over, his return to Washington will conform to the original schedule of 10 a.m. today. He and his party took off at 5:09 p.m. Rumors that he was leaving ahead of time were widespread, but the exact hour had been kept secret. This was to frustrate rioters, though the city was calm and quiet. Nixon stayed at the U.S. Embassy residence, overlooking Caracas, all Wednesday morning. He came heavily guarded into the city for lunch with government leaders at the Circulo Militar, a military officers' club. He was greeted by the junta president, Wolfgang Larrazabal. Nixon's car was escorted by motorcycle outriders. Five truckloads of soldiers followed. Meanwhile, 1,000 U.S. Marines and paratroopers from U.S. bases took up posts in Cuba and Puerto Rico, about three hours flying time from Caracas. They were ordered there by President Eisenhower to protect Nixon if requested by the Venezuelan government. The government gave assurances it could handle the situation, however. Mr. Eisenhower followed up his order with a telephone call to Nixon. He expressed concern for the vice president's safety but was told by Nixon everything was all right and that Caracas was calm and under control. U.S. Air Force men attached to the U.S. Embassy took up the guard around the embassy residence. It is usually handled by Venezuelan forces. Hundreds of Venezuelan troops and police patrolled the nearby road. Venezuelan business leaders and officials of the National Sports Institute called on Nixon. Wives of government leaders and other prominent women called on Mrs. Nixon to express their regrets for the mob violence. Nixon said one of the demonstrators spat in Mrs. Nixon's face. Neither she nor her husband was hurt but Nixon told reporters later he was "covered with spit from head to foot." Six members of Nixon's party and four Venezuelans greeting them were hurt. Venezuelan newspapers denounced the anti-Nixon riots unanimously. But the Communist party said Nixon brought on the demonstration by coming to Venezuela.

Gas War Comes to Halt—30.9 Ordered by 3 Major Outfits

If the price of regular gasoline is not back up to 30.9 cents per gallon this morning, it will be by noon. At least three major oil companies have told their Iowa City dealers to raise their prices to that level, it was learned Wednesday afternoon. They are DX Sunray, Phillips Refining and Standard Oil. These companies have told their dealers here that service stations will be charging their regular wholesale rates as of this morning. Wholesalers have been billing their dealers at a reduced rate during the current price war. Iowa City dealers have been charging 23.9 cents for "brand name" regular gasoline for several months. Several gas station owners said Monday they would raise their prices today, "as soon as the fellow down the street does." Most of the dealers contacted pointed to the Burlington Street Standard Station as the unofficial price leader. That station had taken down its big gas war sign by Wednesday afternoon. There was some indication that the gas war might last until Saturday. Some dealers had not been notified by their suppliers of a return to the regular wholesale rate. There was also some indication that price leaders might not act the first thing this morning. But one station owner said he would be charging 30.9 cents by noon today. All stations owners contacted said the price for regular gasoline would be 30.9 cents once the change took effect. Cut-rate dealers said they will charge two cents less than the rate of "name" dealers.

Five Okayed By Council For SUI Court

Five members of the Student Traffic Appeals Court were approved Wednesday night by the SUI Student Council at its meeting in the Pentacrest Room of Iowa Memorial Union. Those chosen were Keith Burgett, L2, Guthrie Center; Pat Smith, A1, Elmhurst, Ill.; Dave Hoyt, A2, Los Angeles, Calif.; Don Lindholm, A2, Burlington; and Dave Coppin, A2, Elmhurst, Ill. The members of the court were selected from a list of candidates representing dormitories, Inter-Fraternity Council, married students, town men, the Associated Women Students, and professional fraternities. They were approved by the Dean of Students before the council acted upon them. Dunlap explained the basic ideas of the honors program which will provide special recognition to exceptional students. This program will be used in the College of Liberal Arts next year. He said that outstanding students will be given special counseling and work in addition to their regular work. They will be chosen on the basis of entrance tests he said. He explained that such students must take six semester hours of honor work in their major field and maintain a high grade point in all work. The council approved the appointment of Marshall Gonsky, C4, Chicago, Ill., as council secretary, and the appointment of Allen Brennecke, C3, Marshalltown, to the student affairs committee. A report by the Minority group committee showed that college students tend to take a liberal view toward segregation. The council voted to set up a committee to study the report and make a resolution. The council approved a recommendation by the Pep Council to pay a veterinarian to care for Herky Hawk during the football season.

France Moves Slowly To Regain Algeria

PARIS (AP)—The new French Government moved firmly but carefully Wednesday to curb a French parachute general's seizure of power in Algeria. On the French home front it had to cope with fresh rioting and subversive plotting. Premier Pierre Pflimlin assigned complete power in Algeria to Gen.

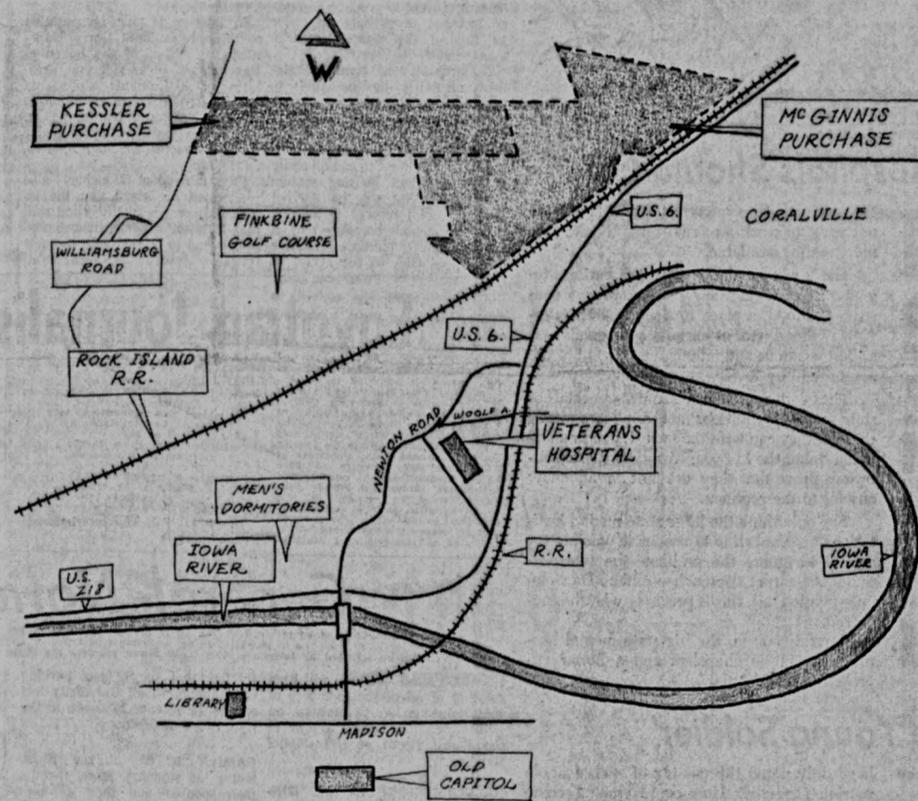

Raoul Salan and told him to maintain law and order after Gen. Jacques Massu took over in Algiers Tuesday night. The Premier announced Wednesday night that Salan has made his first report. Pflimlin said he is convinced the army in Algiers will remain loyal to the Paris Government.

Let School Bonds in '59

A January bond letting date for a new junior high, in accordance with Tuesday's voter acceptance of a $1,448,000 bond issue, was recommended to the Iowa City School Board at its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night. Plans for a rehabilitation of the present building were also discussed. The Lewis C. Kingscott, architectural firm, told the school board that working drawings on the school could not be ready until December of this year and a January, 1959 bond letting date could then be held. Actual construction of the building, he said, would probably begin in March. The building is scheduled for completion in September, 1960. The firm also recommended that the new corridor, heating and electrical installation and other rehabilitation of the present junior high buildings, which were also authorized in Tuesday's election, be scheduled for the summer of 1959. The board tentatively accepted these recommendations and the firm was instructed to proceed with drawings. Representatives of the Iowa City Boosters Club were also heard by the board but no action was taken. Bruce Parker, past president of the club, presented an overall city athletic expansion program which the club proposed to be included in the school budget and supported by tax levy. Robert T. Davis, board secretary, estimated an additional one and a half mill levy to underwrite the program. The plan presented called for a lighted baseball field, athletic equipment storage building, wrestling equipment, a track rebuilding program and other items. The total expense of the program was estimated at $37,720.

Play a Sell-Out

The first three performances of "The Alchemist" are a sell-out, according to Arnold S. Gillette, director of University Theatre. However, tickets remain for the performances next week. SUI students may get tickets for the play by showing their identification cards at the theater reservation desk in the East Lobby of Iowa Memorial Union. The ticket office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. until 12 noon. The public may buy tickets for $1.25. See page 3 for a picture story of preparation for "The Alchemist."

SUI administration was charged Wednesday with deliberate misrepresentation of the facts concerning married student housing by David W. Jones, G, 208 Riverside Park, a member of Married Housing protest group executive committee. Jones made his remarks on radio and television as well as several newspapers. Jones said, "From the very beginning they (SUI administration) said the $10 increase in barracks rent was needed to subsidize the proposed 192-unit Hawkeye Apartments." The married student committee met Thursday with the State Board of Regents and presented figures showing the estimated 1958 net income from barracks housing to be more than the SUI estimated amount needed yearly for subsidizing the proposed apartments. T. M. Rehder, director of dormitory and dining services, was asked by The Daily Iowan whether the money derived from the barracks rent increase would be used solely for future married student housing or for single dormitory housing as well. "That has already been answered. I have no further comment on the subject," Rehder replied. Harry Hagemann, president of the Board of Regents, said Thursday at the Regents' May meeting additional revenue from temporary housing rent would go into the general dormitory funds to be used wherever it was needed. According to the Feb. 28 issue of The Villager, official married housing office publication, the $10 monthly rent increase was necessary to secure loans to build 192 units of Hawkeye Apartments. The same publication said married housing rent was increased more than single student dormitory rent because, "It is necessary for the married student housing part of the SUI student housing system to produce a greater increase in revenue in order to finance the new permanent apartments." Dormitory rent was raised $30 a year and barracks rent was raised $10 monthly. The Dormitory Advisory Council met March 26 with representatives of the married students and repeatedly said there could be no future married student housing unless the rent for temporary housing was increased. SUI officials have said the site for Hawkeye Apartments is the basic problem making the cost of the project more than it would be if the site were closer to Iowa City. There are no utility lines at the present site which is beyond the city limits. The Regents have investigated alternate sites in the north part of Iowa City but no decision has been made to use them.

Navy to Aid Lebanon?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is doubling the size of its amphibious Marine force in the Mediterranean and sending more warships into the area in what appears to be a show of strength to help riot-torn Lebanon. The fleet movements, disclosed Wednesday night by the Navy, came a few hours after the State Department reported it is rushing small arms to Lebanon to help the pro-Western government fight off mobs threatening to overthrow it. About 1,800 of these Marines aboard six ships had been scheduled to return to the United States after their replacement arrived but the Navy said they will remain in the Mediterranean for the time being. Separate from the amphibious force, warships of the Mediterranean 6th Fleet will be leaving ports in the area for the next several days to participate in naval exercises. Announcement of the 6th Fleet movements came as the State Department applauded what it called the courageous efforts of President Camille Chamoun's government to restore order in Lebanon despite five straight days of anti-Western rioting.

350 Openings Ready Next Thursday

A new system which should facilitate a top-notch card section during the 1958 football season, according to Floyd Burns, A2, Arlington Heights, Ill., has been co-ordinated by three members of the SUI Pep Club. The card section will be between the North 20-40 yardlines. SUI students interested in signing up should stop in the East Lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union on Thursday, May 22, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Card section chairmen Mel Lumbard, C3, Des Moines, Jim Thompson, A2, Marshalltown, and Burns have announced that approximately 350 vacancies will be filled on a first-come first-served basis next Thursday. A deposit of $2.50 is required of all students signing up; no checks will be honored. At the end of the football season, $2.00 will be returned and the remaining amount will be used for card section dues. Each person who pays $2.50 will receive a receipt to pick up two badges next fall, one for himself and one for an additional student. Of the 900 seats to be occupied, 200 will be saved for new SUI freshmen. The remainder of the 700 seats should be filled next Thursday by the 350 applicants. The badges will enable the carriers to sit in any seat in the card section for all home games. I.D. cards and badges are to be presented at the ticket office in the Fieldhouse before each game between Monday morning and Tuesday noon. Badges must be presented to receive card section tickets. Each badge will contain a different number which will be checked off a control sheet each week. Badge holders will then be issued tickets for the respective games. According to Burns, there will be a special card section entrance next year which will be open between 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. before each home game. Before entering the stadium, each student will pass a check table where attendance will be taken by badge number. Card tricks will then be presented from 12:30 p.m. until the team comes on the field. Then the cards will be placed in shopping bags and placed under the seats. A new look for the card section will be supplied by black and gold plastic capes worn by each of the 900 members. A block gold "I" will appear on a black background on the capes. The SUI Pep Club feels that this new system should provide for a better card section than in past years, and urges all interested students to sign up.

Weather

Temperatures are expected to be slightly cooler today, averaging 75 to 80 degrees, after highs here Wednesday in the 80's. Skies will be partly cloudy today and tonight. Friday's outlook calls for partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures. The 5-day forecast predicts temperatures through Monday will average four to eight degrees above normal; highs of 73 and normal lows of 52.

New Obstacle on the Summit Road

King Features Syndicate

Large Mental Hospitals Should Go

Professor-emeritus of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School, Dr. Harry C. Solomon, recently recommended abolition of our big public mental hospitals as "obsolescent monstrosities." As he points out, they can be built but not staffed. They become virtual prisons or human maintenance farms — not hospitals, and mock the very rationale for their existence.

the services of the young psychiatrists who do not want to work in "snake-pit" institutions more readily available. The herding of large groups of patients together like cattle—their only treatment consisting of food, a place to sleep and an interview with a doctor at infrequent intervals — is at best a callous and inhuman treatment of the mentally-ill by society-at-large.

'... My Brave Young Soldier'

We've been puzzled and upset for some years now — a vague discontent disturbs our quiet moments. Question. When is Lucky Strike GREEN coming BACK from the war? We remember when it left. How could we forget the pathetic voice, the genuine pathos of the heart-tugging announcement — "LUCKY STRIKE GREEN HAS GONE TO WAR."

have duly noted the passing of such a noble patriot. Defected? How could green become Red? Might as well ask white to be black, or George Washington Hill to be Nikita Khrushchev. Alas (also alack). Our boy has not come back. But we have hope. Some time, somewhere, we expect to hear, afar off, the staccato voice of F. E. Boone being carried on the gentle strains of "Be Happy-Go etc.," crying for all to hear—"LUCKY STRIKE GREEN HAS COME BACK FROM THE WAR."

Educational Solvency

On Tuesday, election day, Iowa City voters justified the confidence in them expressed by School Board members: Once acquainted with the facts, they would make it possible for the Iowa City School Board to provide educational facilities adequate to the needs of Iowa City's growing population.

ested professional survey organization. They all added up to a need for expanded facilities. On the first bond issue election, voters, unconvinced as to the need, said no. The second, a compromise, was — we think — rightly rejected. This time, armed with the facts, pro and con, the voters recognized and provided for the need. The voters' decision should go a long way towards keeping Iowa City educationally "solvent."

Letters To The Editor —

MSH and a Kampf Fire

TO THE EDITOR: It has become obvious that the administration of the State University of Iowa has misrepresented the key facts in the Married Housing issue. From the very beginning they have said that the $10.00 monthly rent increase in the temporaries was needed to subsidize the proposed 192 Hawkeye Apartments. This has been specifically documented on many occasions. We demonstrated at the Board of Regents meeting on May 8, 1958, that the $10.00 increase was not necessary to provide the subsidy. At the Board meeting, President Hancher indicated that the $10.00 increase was not tied in with the Hawkeye Apartments.

housing at Universities must be subsidized either through the system or by the state. In the same article, "(Board President) Hagemann, in answering him (David Jones) said that the funds from the married student temporary housing will not necessarily go directly to the new Hawkeye Apartments as a subsidy but will rather go into the dormitory system fund as money to be used by the entire housing system at SUI, wherever needed — that this is the method that has been used for many years in order to keep housing rents and dorm fees down."

'Needle Talk' by John Sunier

(CONT. FROM LAST WEEK) THE FIRST FOUR symphonies derive their thematic content from the "Lied." The Fifth brings a purely symphonic, and in some instances even autobiographical utterance. It is a rather self-templative work, in structure quite un-traditional, and tonally wandering into great new areas. (The Tenth's adagio, in the same album, wanders even further with great power of sound, and borders on atonality, predicting future travel in this direction by Schonberg and Berg.) The Fifth is built on the motoric impulses of the dance and is characterized by its huge orchestral body in individual clusters of sound in which the brasses predominate. It is in five movements.

Egyptian Journalists Attack Nasser's Tyranny

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Twenty-six Egyptian journalists appealed to the International Press Institute Assembly in Washington to denounce Colonel Nasser's tyrannical suppression of freedom of the press in Egypt. The Appeal, smuggled out of Egypt, was submitted to the Institute by Senator Mahmud Aboul Fath, Publisher of AL-MISRI, and Delegate of Free Egypt Committee, an underground newspaper. The Free Egypt Committee founded in 1956 by all Egyptian political parties, except Communists — who are supporting Nasser's dictatorship — is dedicated to restoration of constitutional and democratic government in Egypt.)

The undersigners, Egyptian journalists, former officers or members of the suppressed Egyptian Press Association, consider it their professional and national duties to expose and denounce... the tyrannical suppression and persecution of the Freedom of the Press in Egypt by Colonel Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Freedom of the press was destroyed when freedom of the people of Egypt was lost. This was in March 1954 when Colonel Nasser and his cohorts, corrupted by power, abandoned their solemn promise to restore constitutional life, and subjected our country to an undefined and ruthless dictatorship. Rejected by the people who, like ourselves, have supported the anti-Farouk military coup only as a short transition to a cleaner and more representative Government, Nasser proceeded to destroy the press to maintain his hated regime. Significantly, on March 14, 1954, the New York Times correspondent in Cairo, reported that "in the opinion of most observers the military regime has failed to build up any real popularity with any significant segment of the population."

the nightmare of Egyptian and foreign journalists alike. 3. A strict censorship machinery under the direction of Major Moustafak El Hamawi has helped isolate Egypt from the civilized world and reduce the local newspapers and the handful of foreign correspondents to instruments of Colonel Nasser's propaganda. A military censor, often an illiterate censor, is attached to each newspaper's office to assure the suppression of all local news or outgoing reports that might conflict with the ideological or political interests of the regime...

The Alchemist

Theatre make-up serves two main purposes: it helps the actor look like the character he is portraying; and it helps him project his facial expressions to the audience.

The first step is a thin cold creme base, so the skin will take the make-up better, and to make it easier to remove make-up after the performance. The creme base is followed by a color base, which determines the basic skin tone.

In the picture sequence above, Barry Fuller, G, Sydney, Australia, demonstrates some of the steps in making-up for his role of the scheming butler, Face, in Ben Jonson's comedy, "The Alchemist," which opens at University Theater tonight.

For the first picture, Barry darkened his eyelashes. Since he is blonde, his lashes and eyebrows would be lost in the rest of the make-up if they weren't darkened. At this point he has already outlined his eyes in black and put a small amount of white underneath, to make them stand out. A similar outlining is used to emphasize the lips.

In the second picture, he has drawn a line to emphasize the plane of his cheekbone.

When all the features of his face have been emphasized or de-emphasized, as required by the character, the make-up is powdered (picture number three) to cut shine, eliminate its greasy appearance, and make his beard stick better.

For the fourth picture, he applied spirit gum to hold part of his beard in place. The beard is made of crepe hair, attached to a net base.

And in the fifth picture, he is shown as he will appear on stage, his make-up and costuming completed.

THE GREAT CAP AND GOWN CONTROVERSY

It will soon be cap and gown time again, so let us, without delay, take up the vexing question: which side of the cap should the tassel hang on?

For many years the practice was to hang the tassel over the front of the cap. This practice was abandoned in 1948 when the entire graduating class of Northwestern University, blinded by tassels hanging in their eyes, made a wrong turn during commencement exercises and ended up at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center where, all unwitting, they were inducted into the submarine service for five-year hitch.

Let us take up the Vexing Question:

There is a growing body of opinion which holds that the tassel should be worn on the same side you keep your Marlboro Cigarettes on. Thus a quick glance will show you where your Marlboros are and save much time and fumbling.

This makes a good deal of sense because when one wants a Marlboro, one wants one with a minimum of delay. One does not relish being kept, even for a second, from the heaps of joy, the bumps of pleasure, the seeds of content, the loads of glee, the lumps of ecstasy, that one gets from that filter, that flavor, that flip-top box.

There is another group, small but vocal, which insists the tassel should hang over the back of the cap. The tassel, they say, is a symbol like the bullfighter's pigtail, signifying honor and courage.

They are wrong. Bullfighters wear pigtails for only one reason: to keep the backs of their necks warm. Do you have any idea what a draft a bull makes when he rushes past you? A plenty big one, you may be sure.

In fact, upper respiratory infections, contracted in the wake of passing bulls, is the largest single cause of bull-ring fatalities. I have this interesting statistic from the Bullfighters Mutual Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut. Incidentally, Hartford, the insurance capital of America, is a delightful city and well worth a visit if you are ever in New England, as northeastern United States is laughingly called. Try to make your visit in spring when the actuaries are in bloom.

But I digress. We were talking about what side to wear the tassel on. An ingenious solution to this problem was proposed not long ago by Humboldt Sigafos, perhaps better known as "The Quoit King of Delaware." An early forer of Mr. Sigafos was granted a monopoly by King George III, on all quoits manufactured in Delaware. Somehow this royal patent was never rescinded and from that day to this, every quoit made in Delaware has been a Sigafos Quoit.

Well sir, Mr. Sigafos suggested that the way to solve the great tassel controversy was to starch the tassel so it stood upright and hung on no side of the cap at all. But I'm afraid that sly Mr. Sigafos was only seeking to broaden his market because after graduation, what can you do with an upright tassel except hurl quoits at it?

© 1958 Max Shulman

The makers of Marlboro have no opinion about what side to hang your tassel on. But with cigarettes, they say firmly: Stay on the light, mild, tasty side... with Marlboro, of course!

BEHIND THE Sports Desk

By Alan Hoskins
Sports of Sorts

Speculation on the new Iowa basketball coach has zoomed in the last day or two. As a result, the picture is even more muddled than it was a week ago.

This sharp increase in speculation has not gone over too well with Iowa Athletic Department officials. Some of the officials are known to be quite disgusted with this speculation, and quite justifiably.

The Iowa officials do not want to announce the names of the candidates and with good reason. Should a coach at some other school be reported interested in the Iowa position, then not to be hired, it would be a bad situation at his college.

People at the college will say the coach is not happy there, etc., and thus ill feelings will be created, both towards the coach and the University of Iowa.

Thus, the Iowa Board in Control of Athletics will not announce the names of candidates. The speculation will probably go on, but against the wishes of the Iowa Athletic Department.

If the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves weren't running true to form this year, the major leagues certainly would be having their most topsy-turvy season in history.

As of Wednesday, the Yankees were in first 3 games in the American League while the Braves were only a half-game out in the National League. Both were at most unanimous picks to win the pennants in their respective leagues.

But how about the other teams picked to finish in the first division. In the American, Chicago, Boston and Detroit were expected to finish in the top four. As of Wednesday, both the White Sox and Red Sox were still battling to see who could be in last place, while the Tigers have won four straight to move up to fourth place.

In the National League, the Cardinals, picked to finish in second place, finally have overtaken the Los Angeles Dodgers, who were picked to finish third, and have moved into seventh place. The Cincinnati Redlegs, expected to finish fourth, are also the second division.

So far, the Washington Senators, San Francisco Giants, and Pittsburgh Pirates have been the big surprises, while the Kansas City A's and Chicago Cubs played around in the first division for a while before hitting recent slumps.

The Giants are dominating the statistics in the National League. In batting, Willie Mays is second with a .427 mark behind the great Stan Musial, while shortstop Daryl Spencer and first baseman Orlando Cepeda are in the top six with marks of .347 or better.

In home runs, the Giants occupy four of the top six spots as Cepeda has nine, with Mays, Spencer and Hank Sauer having eight apiece. In runs batted in, they hold three of the top four spots. Spencer has 27, Mays 24 and Cepeda 23.

Incidentally, a good tip would be not to bet where the Cubs will be after the first month of play. Last year, the Chicagoans lost 12 of their first 15 games. In 1955, they started fast and didn't fall out of second place until July 8.

As a matter of fact, the best idea is not to bet during the first month, anything can happen then. And fortunately for baseball, it does.

BOBBY BRAGAN, the Cleveland Indian manager, who gained a considerable amount of fame for his temper in managing on the West Coast a couple of years ago, did an about face the other day. Tribe outfielder Minnie Minoso was ejected from a game in Baltimore for protesting a called third strike too vehemently in the opinion of umpire Frank Umont.

Usually, one could have expected Bragan to hit the roof, but this time things changed. Bragan said: "Mino gets no sympathy from me."

Bragan was unhappy (a) because Minnie took the pitch and (b) because his dismissal from the premises forced a defensive shift which turned out to be costly.

I NOTICED that the new bonus extra point rule in football got its first big test last week. In the Varsity-Old Timer game at Notre Dame, the Varsity scored with about a minute remaining to make the score, 36-35, in favor of the Old Timers. The Varsity went for the 2-point play and failed, thus losing the contest.

My thoughts on the new rule are that it will be wildly applauded by those fans whose teams are fortunate to win via the new rule, but those on the losing side will yell long and loud. I just hope Iowa uses the new rule to their advantage.

Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty had this comment on the new rule: "Confucious say, he who score many touchdowns, need no worry about extra points."

Jack Kramer Predicts Davis Cup to Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—"I predict in 10 years the Russians will have the Davis Cup all locked up," said Jack Kramer, "and there'll be the devil to pay getting it back."

"I don't agree," quietly commented Perry Jones.

These two giants of the sport, one the pupil of the other, discussed the future of American tennis over the luncheon table Wednesday—and took widely divergent views.

Kramer, the capitalist promoter of the pro tour, is in town laying plans for the big professional tournament at Forest Hills June 14-22. Jones, the new U.S. Davis Cup captain, is here en route to riot-swept Caracas for the United States-Venezuelan match, starting Friday.

"I've been talking to Fred Perry, who is just back from the Soviet Union," said Kramer. "He tells me some fantastic stories of Russian preparations."

"Already there are some 35 clubs with elaborate clubhouses, courts and other facilities better than anything we have. Children, not old men and women, are coming out in droves."

"They are all getting systematic instruction. They are provided smart white uniforms. Those showing promise get special attention. The best athletes are taken from the schools and put onto the tennis courts."

"How are we going to compete with anything like this?"

Jones, a scholarly-looking man in his 60s who is credited with producing such stars as Ellsworth Vines, Don Budge, Pancho Gonzales, Helen Wills Moody, Maureen (Little Mo) Connelly and Kramer in this southern California factory, shook his head.

"Our system still is the best," he said. "I don't agree tennis is in the doldrums. I foresee the day that we, too, will have herds of youngsters clamoring to play the game. As soon as I finish our program in southern California I hope to go into other areas and do the same thing."

Second Edition of Book By Armbruster Published

"Basic Skills in Sports for Men and Women," a widely-used text book written by David A. Armbruster of Iowa, will be off the press in June in a revised edition.

Second revision made of the book, it brings the subject up to date and includes some radical changes. Coach Armbruster, who has handled the required course in physical education here since 1937, has received assistance from other Iowa coaches.

The contributors include Dave McCuskey, wrestling; Don Klotz, tennis; and Charles Zweiner, golf.

Bob Turley Hurls 3rd Straight Shutout

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Turley pitched his third consecutive shutout over Baltimore Wednesday and Mickey Mantle drove in the only run as the New York Yankees defeated the Baltimore Orioles 1-0.

The lone run off loser Billy O'Dell was scored in the fourth inning when Tony Kubek singled, advanced to second on Hank Bauer's infield grounder and trotted home when Mantle banged a line double to right center field.

Turley permitted only four hits, all singles, and struck out seven, as he registered his fifth victory without a defeat. In two previous starts against the Orioles, he turned in 7-0 and 2-0 victories.

Cleveland 9, Tigers 8

DETROIT (AP)—Roger Maris' second home run of the day in a wild ninth inning gave the Cleveland Indians a 9-8 victory over the Detroit Tigers Wednesday at Briggs Stadium.

The Indians scored five times after the Tigers appeared to have things all wrapped up. A Detroit castoff, J. W. Porter, drove in the tying run with a single.

Porter came up as a pinch-hitter in the top of the ninth. A moment earlier, Tiger Manager Jack Tighe had lifted starter Paul Foytack when he walked the first two batters. Cleveland catcher Dick Brown doubled in the run that made it 6-5 before Porter's safety tied it.

In the ninth, Billy Harrell, sent to third as a runner for Brown, streaked for home on the first pitch to Maris. Tiger catcher Jim Hegan had the ball in plenty of time, ran down the line to meet Harrel but the Cleveland player eluded the tag and scored.

Hawk Teams Fans Behave As Dodgers Keep Losing

The spring's final full weekend of dual sports events is set for Iowa teams Friday and Saturday, with seven contests on the schedule.

Only one of these events, however, will occur at Iowa City. This is the dual track meet with Wisconsin, only home outdoor meet of 1958, Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

The baseball team, which won two of its three conference road games last weekend, will hit for further improvement when it meets Minnesota at Minneapolis. A single game is booked for Friday with a double-header Saturday.

Minnesota, a formidable hitting team, now is in third place in the Big Ten standing with a 5-3 mark. Iowa, bothered by mediocre hitting, has 3-6 for a share of ninth place.

In track, Iowa showed fine improvement in beating Minnesota last Saturday, 71-52. Hawkeyes won eight of fourteen events and several Hawkeyes turned in Iowa record performances. The Wisconsin meet here Saturday will be the final tune-up for the Big Ten championships of May 23 and 24.

Iowa's tennis team, which has won seven of eight dual meets, faces Michigan State, Minnesota and Ohio State at East Lansing, Mich. Friday and Saturday. Hawkeyes beat Indiana and Notre Dame last weekend, the victory over the Irish ending a 13-meet Notre Dame winning string.

Bill Virton walked and both raced home on Dick Groat's triple to deep right center.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Unbeaten Warren Spahn turned in an all-around offensive and defensive performance and breezed to his sixth victory Wednesday night as the Milwaukee Braves whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1.

Lefty Spahn struck out seven batters, started two double plays, and contributed a triple in the Braves' two-run fourth inning. He drove in one run and scored another in that frame as the Braves shelved Phil's starter Ray Semproch, who dropped his third game in six decisions.

The Braves did all their scoring in the first half of the game.

Musial's homer came off the Giant's Johnny Antonelli who suffered the loss. Vinager Bend Mizell went all the way for the Cardinals to get the victory.

Celler Continues Baseball Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.), cracking out again at top officials of major league baseball, declared Wednesday a House committee report undermines critics of his sports bill.

He said the report by a bare majority of the House Judiciary Committee "cuts the ground completely from under them."

Celler heads the committee, which split sharply on wording of the bill to establish what professional baseball, football, basketball and ice hockey can and cannot do under Federal antitrust laws.

"THEY CAN have a reserve clause, farm systems, territorial rights, commissioners and all that," Celler told a reporter. "But they cannot have a blank check to do whatever they want, reasonable or unreasonable."

The majority report, however, did not satisfy 15 of the 32 committee members.

Ycaza Cleared, May Ride Jewel's Reward

BALTIMORE (AP)—One of the main Preakness developments Wednesday came out of Belmont Park in New York where the stewards cleared jockey Manuel Ycaza of blame in another disqualification, making him available to ride Jewel's Reward in Maryland's big 3-year-old classic.

The field for the mile and three-sixteenths Preakness Saturday showed 11 probable starters and three who were listed as "possibles" to tackle Kentucky Derby winner Tim Tam, Silky (Himself) Sullivan and the others.

Ivan Parke, who trains Jewel's Reward for Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's Maine Chance Farm, had a worried look earlier as she announced that Liberty Ruler also would start in the race.

Ycaza rode Battle Chant to a half-length victory over Naik in the first race Wednesday at Belmont. Battle Chant bore over on Naik at the start, and as Ycaza continued to whip left hand, his mount again bothered Naik in the final sixteenth.

Battle Chant was disqualified—the fourth time one of Ycaza's mounts had been taken down this season.

Judge Will Rule on Accident Case Involving SUI Students

Testimony on both sides of a case in which Leroy Rath, North Liberty, is charged with failure to keep his vehicle under control while crossing a bridge was heard Wednesday afternoon by Police Court Judge Ansel Chapman.

Judge Chapman said he would announce a decision on the case at the regular police court session this evening.

Ray said that his collision March 21 with a car driven by an SUI student and carrying three other students was brought about by a blowout of the right front tire of his car.

HE SAID THE BLOWOUT caused him to strike the concrete edge of Buckner Bridge, located about one mile north of Iowa City on old Highway 218.

The patrolman who investigated the accident, Howard Shappon, testified that Ray's car was heading north about 10 p.m. when it struck the bridge and swerved across the center line of the road striking the south-bound vehicle driven by Stuart Allen, A2, Glenelg, Ill.

Allen was uninjured in the accident.

Jury Will Hear Local Labor Dispute

A jury hearing to decide if a Cedar Rapids labor union is boycotting the Boyd and Rummelhart Plumbing and Heating Company, 601 S. Gilbert, will be held May 22 at 9:30 p.m.

The owners, Frank A. Boyd and John R. Rummelhart filed the suit in Johnson County District Court Oct. 8, 1957, against the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America Local 238, AFL-CIO.

The plaintiffs claim an injunction should be issued against the union because the union has refused to handle supplies being transported to them by motor freight.

They also claim their company has no relationship to the union and the local does not represent their employees for bargaining.

Plead Guilty Of Assault

Two men who pleaded guilty Wednesday to assaulting a Cedar Rapids man were placed on bench paroles for one year by Johnson County District Court Judge H. D. Evans.

Claude R. Pierce, 21, Cedar Rapids and Quentin L. Hanan, 25, Fredricksburg, in court admitted beating up J. L. Nimmo, Cedar Rapids May 8, on the old U.S. Highway 218, north of the Curtis bridge.

Judge Evans sentenced the pair to one year at the Men's Reformatory, Anamosa, then paroled them.

Petrillo Says He'll Retire

NEW YORK (UP)—James Caesar Petrillo announced Wednesday he was bowing out as president of the powerful American Federation of Musicians union after 18 years of calling the tune for the nation's 250,000 professional musicians.

The peppery little trumpet-player, called "Jimmy" by his friends and "Czar" or "Little Caesar" by his enemies, said that at 66 he was "a tired man" and had been advised by his doctor to take life easy.

A spokesman said Petrillo did not plan to go into complete retirement. He will continue as president of the Chicago musicians local, a post he has held for 26 years, and is expected to stay on as a member of the AFL-CIO executive board.

The duties of master of ceremonies for "Speech Combers Splash," the annual Speech Pathology Department banquet, will be in the hands of James Hardy, G. Iowa City, when the speech pathologists dine together at 6:30 Saturday night at the Izaak Walton League lodge.

The "Splash" will feature skits to be given by the junior and senior classes of the department, and by the graduate and faculty groups. The stuttering team will also present a skit. All skits will be based on the banquet theme, "Speech Combers Splash."

Physicists Translating 180 Miles of Tape

By ROGER DAHMS
Staff Writer

The voices of Explorers I and III, recorded on some 180 miles of tape, are now being graphically translated onto paper tapes at the SUI physics building.

THE ORIGINAL, one-half inch wide magnetic tapes arrived at SUI last week but translation had to await the installing of a large upright tape recorder to read the recorded voice and draw it on a photographic tape.

SUI physicists began the translation process with the new machine on Wednesday. It will take several months for the shipment of magnetic tapes to be read onto the long, six-inch wide photographic tapes and then analyzed by SUI physicists.

The magnetic tape recordings were made at ground receiving stations throughout the world as Explorer instruments measured and telemetered the conditions of space.

The impulses on the magnetic tapes must be drawn on paper before the data can be correlated and analyzed.

INFORMATION already interpreted from other tapes has shown intense radiation above the earth's atmosphere. Some of these findings were translated onto paper tapes at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif.

Other photographic tapes previously worked on were produced here after copying the original, one-half inch magnetic tapes on one-quarter inch tapes and then running the smaller tapes through the photocopying machine.

The new recorder console, which eliminates copying onto smaller tapes, transmits the satellite voice into a small photocopying machine which draws a hairline graph. Each variation in the graph represents a particle strike in space.

From this graph, SUI physicist James Van Allen, Ernest Ray, George Ludwig and Carl McIlwain are able to determine the intensity of radiation in space.

Operating the recorder are SUI physics students Ernest Thieleker, G. and Chris Richards, A3, both of Iowa City. George Carson, physics technician, installed the tape recorder in the basement of the physics building.

Chemist to Speak Here Friday

Dr. John L. Margrave, associate professor of chemistry at the University of Wisconsin, will give a free public talk here Friday on the subject of "High Temperature Chemistry."

Margrave, who will be presented by the Iowa Section of the American Chemical Society, will speak at 7:30 p.m. in Room 321, Chemistry Building.

HIGH TEMPERATURE chemistry has become a chemical specialty of significance mainly in the past ten years, Margrave says.

The important goals of modern high temperature research will be outlined in the lecture. Margrave also plans to tell how chemists, physicists, metallurgists and ceramists have combined their skills to meet modern demands for faster planes, more powerful engines, more efficient nuclear piles, rockets, satellites and cheaper chemical operations at higher temperatures.

MARGRAVE was graduated from the University of Kansas School of Engineering in 1948 as valedictorian with a B.S. degree in Engineering Physics.

In 1950, Margrave completed work for his Ph.D. degree in Chemistry at Kansas. He held an Atomic Energy Commission Postdoctoral Fellowship at the University of California at Berkeley in the High Temperature Laboratory.

Margrave joined the staff of the University of Wisconsin in 1954 and became an associate in 1957. In 1957, he was honored at Wisconsin with a Kieckhefer Memorial Teaching Award for excellence in teaching.

He has been named an Alfred P. Sloan Research Fellow by the Sloan Foundation in both 1956-57 and 1957-58.

Hire New Head For Controversial Spirit Lake Schools

SPIRIT LAKE — Richard Schuchert, 42, of Dike, will become superintendent of the Spirit Lake Community Schools effective July 1, the Board of Education announced Wednesday.

He will succeed Gay Orr, who resigned April 14 as the result of a dispute with some board members over administrative matters. Orr has been elected superintendent of schools at Ringsted.

Schuchert has been superintendent at Dike nine years and previously held similar positions at Joice and Hamilton. He is president of the Iowa Association of School Administrators.

Ten teachers here rejected their newly signed contracts after Orr resigned in the controversy with the school board members.

PHYSICISTS Ernest Ray, assistant professor (left), and Chris Richards, A3, began translating the voices of the Explorers Wednesday.

Jury Hears Starkweather Almost Shot

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—A courageous housewife almost shot Charles Starkweather down but missed and was knifed to death by the 19-year-old mass killer, a confession read at Starkweather's murder trial said Wednesday.

Mrs. C. Lauer Ward, wife of a wealthy Lincoln businessman, missed Starkweather by about two inches as he advanced toward her in the upstairs of her home, according to the confession, made in Douglas, Wyo., after the redheaded killer's capture.

It was introduced by the defense apparently because it detailed to the jury for the first time 10 of 11 killings Starkweather has admitted. The prosecution had limited its case to the murder of Robert Jensen, 17, and skirted around the others.

In conflict with a letter he wrote, Starkweather's confession, written after his capture in Douglas, Wyo., did not accuse Carl of any of the actual killings. It said in fact she did not even know her mother, stepfather and halfsister had been killed until she heard it on the car radio a week later.

The letter had indicated Carl had killed her mother and 2½-year-old baby sister.

Starkweather told of driving with Carl to the home of the Wards the day after he had killed Jensen and Carol King, 16, and dumped their bodies in a storm cave. Mrs. Ward and maid Lillian Fency were at home when the killer forced his way in.

He said the women both "acted nice" until about 2 p.m. when he noticed Mrs. Ward had been upstairs.

"She missed me by about two inches with a .22," the confession said. "Then she just looked at me and backed up and began to run. All I had was that knife so I let it go at her. It stopped right in her back."

"About 6:30 or 7 that night the man came home. I told him not to move. But he did anyway. We was by the basement steps. We got into a fight. He got the gun from me, so I pushed him down the basement steps."

"The gun landed on the floor and went off. He got up and started for it, but I was first. He picked up an iron. And I said if I had to kill him I would so he lay it down. I said for him to walk back up the steps and we would tie him up and leave town."

"He started to walk up the stairs. He got about half way and began to run. I shot him in the back once. I told him the next time would be it. He got to the top of the stairs and ran for the front door. He had it halfway open when I shot him. He was laying there making funny noises."

"I told Carl to get a blanket and cover him up."

Starkweather did not describe the killing of the maid. He said he did not know she had been killed until later.

The confession then told of their drive to Wyoming where the last victim was killed before their capture.

Tension Rises High —

Dixon's Mastery Sustained

— But Where's an Organ? —

By JOHN JANSSON
Asst. City Editor

There were a few empty seats at last night's concert, but there shouldn't have been. The presentation of the Mahler symphony was a deeply moving experience.

Persons not attending missed a truly fine concert. James Dixon's deep understanding of the work was apparent, his control of the orchestra unpretentious but complete, his inspiration of the chorus successful. The undertaking was ambitious; it combined the romantic feelings of Brahms' music, confident bleakness of Sibelius, soaring spirits of Rachmaninoff, quaintness of Mozart, haunting understanding of Bruckner and rubbing dissonances of Stravinsky. Dixon took that combination and molded it into a spiritual treat.

The soloists sang in only two movements; it was only enough to whet the desire for more. Miss Chookasian had a big, resonant tone which was fine when she sang alone, but she overwhelmed dimly Mrs. Eitzen in the duets. Miss Chookasian put herself completely into her singing; no one had any reason to doubt her thoughts when she sang, "I am of God and will return to God." Mrs. Eitzen had a clear, pure tone, but it was cloudy at times compared to her thrilling performance of the Samuel Barber work last year, this was a minor letdown.

The entire symphony pointed to the last movement. It was charged with emotion and sparked with special musical effects, including roving offstage horn, offstage trumpets and rhythm which, while quite ordinary on the surface was actually very tricky. The tension started rising fast in the middle of the movement after a snare drum roll, which started almost imperceptibly quiet and grew into an overwhelming, crashing wave.

The three-part chorus (still no altos) was at least as good as it was for the Christmas concert. The men had a lot of vigor, which weakened, however, in quieter passages. Sopranos had a nice, clean tone, and pronunciation of the difficult German text was easily understood. But the attacks were often very fuzzy and the singing syrupy — probably a result of the mistaken idea that such is necessary when singing about spiritual matters.

The triumphal closing lines were deeply stirring. Nerves tingled with excitement even after the broad, jubilant sustained tones had ended. The final movement was superb, with only one exception — that fool Hammond (I refuse to call it an organ.)

Concert by the SUI Symphony Orchestra and Chorus, May 14, 1958, Main Lounge, Iowa Memorial Union. James Dixon, conductor; Leslie Eitzen, soprano; Lillian Chookasian, contralto. Symphony No. 2, in C Minor ("Resurrection") — Gustav Mahler

Resignation Of Iowa GOPer Demanded

DES MOINES — Resignation of Don C. Pierson of Humboldt from the Iowa Republican Central Committee was demanded Wednesday by the campaign manager of Lt. Gov. William R. Nicholas, who is seeking the GOP nomination for governor.

Henry W. Burma of Allison wrote Pierson and Republican State Chairman L. L. Jurgmeyer that Pierson should resign immediately "for the good of the Republican Party in Iowa."

Pierson, 6th District representative on the central committee, has endorsed Dr. William G. Murray of Ames, Nicholas' opponent for the party's gubernatorial nomination in the June 2 primary election.

Burma accused Pierson of abusing his position on the central committee and added:

"There dare not be cast upon us in Iowa, or anywhere in the nation, the whiplash of executive decree at the polls."

"Your action of open endorsement of a candidate for governor while still a member of the central committee is not only a scar against the mandate of your position and the ethical beliefs of the Iowa Republican Party, but is a serious blotch against the stewardship entrusted to the party by the voters of Iowa in the past."

Orders Study Of Speed Zone Signs

AMES — The Iowa Highway Commission ordered Wednesday that a study be made of the possibility of placing signs on Iowa highways to warn motorists of speed zones ahead.

R. C. Boyd, maintenance engineer, told the commission that since the traffic point system became effective April 1, some law enforcement officers in cities and towns have been arresting motorists for speeding as soon as they pass a speed limit sign.

Suit Probes Validity Of 1884 Deed

A suit to determine the validity of an 1884 land option involving the Sharon Evangelical United Brethren Church has been filed in Johnson County District Court.

THE CHURCH petition was filed against the heirs of Levi Knepp, formerly of Sharon. They include Floyd Kepp (originally Knepp), San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Joe Graber, Elkhart, Ind.; and Dora Fletcher, address unknown.

Also heirs and successors to P. F. Schwimle, Ezra and Noah Yoder, and William Schultz, all formerly of Johnson County, who were trustees of the Parsonage Society of Sharon Center.

The church petition claims they purchased the 5½ acres of the former Sharon Public School Number 5 ground adjoining the church.

THEY SAY the original owner, Levi Knepp, sold the property to the school for $40 in 1884, with the provision that ownership of the land would revert to him when school use of the property was finished, provided he paid the school $40.

Levi Knepp died in the late 1890's. The church is requesting voidance of the option on the basis of the statute of 10 year limitation.
