International Club Receives Awards

A foreign student, a Burlington student and an SUI organization were presented awards Friday evening at the International Club's Annual Banquet in the River Room at the Iowa Memorial Union.

Edna Montano, G. of the Philippines received the Bose Award; Betty Ann Junk, A3, of Burlington, the Seashore Award; Todd Parker, A3, Des Moines, the Hancher Award for the Interfraternity Council.

THE AWARDS are given each year to the students or organizations in recognition of outstanding work done for the promotion of goodwill and international cooperation on the SUI campus. The awards were presented this year by M. L. Huit, Dean of Students.

Gas War Ends; Texaco Price Again Normal

The gas war in Iowa City seems to be at an end.

The Texaco dealers who precipitated the war almost two months ago brought their prices up to 29.9 cents per gallon for regular, and 33.9 cents for premium gasoline Friday morning.

Cut rate dealers, including Imperial, Superior and Petro-King, have brought their prices up to about two cents below the 30.9 and 34.9 now charged by the major companies. Imperial and Superior dealers said they brought their prices up because of orders from their respective companies.

Most dealers said Friday they thought the gas war was finally over, but they could not say for sure.

Air Force Captain Irwin Flies—

Jet 1500 Miles Per Hour

LOS ANGELES (UP) — A Lockheed F-104A Starfire Jet, piloted by Air Force Capt. Walter W. Irwin, broke the all-time speed record today for operational aircraft when it streaked over the southern California desert at an average speed of 1,404.19 miles an hour.

The jet at times reached speeds of more than 1,500 miles an hour.

The new record is some 200 miles per hour better than the existing mark, set only five months ago. Capt. Irwin said, "I've flown that F-104A more than 1,500 miles per hour, and I feel safer up there in it than I do when I drive a car on freeways."

"It's a beautiful ship — handles superbly. I didn't open it up in today's flight because of temperature. It was 60 below, but that's still too warm. The limiting factor in the speed of this plane could be the temperature. I honestly don't know how fast it could go."

"This is the fastest I've ever flown a plane,

Recorder Aboard Explorer Stops

A 49-day scientific life in space ended Wednesday when SUI Physicist George H. Ludwig's miniature tape recorder aboard Explorer III ceased to answer command signals.

A National Academy of Sciences report said there is evidence the satellite passed through a meteor cloud of Halley's comet on May 7, which knocked out an Explorer transmitter.

THE SIGNALS from the high-power transmitter linked to the tape recorder became successively weaker on May 10, and the recorder ceased to respond on May 14. Th information from the satellite suggested the possibility of damage from micrometeorites it reported hitting on May 7.

Ludwig, research assistant in the Department of Physics, designed and built the recorder which stored up two hours of space radiation information. On command, it reported its "memory" within five to six seconds.

"The recorder had a life-time batting average of better than .800 in responding to interrogations radiated at it once during each orbit," Ludwig said.

It replied to some 500 of about 600 attempted interrogations during the period between its March 26 launching date and May 14, Ludwig said.

THE SECOND transmitter aboard Explorer III is also expected to go dead soon, the Academy said. Its signal to ground tracking stations has been erratic since last Saturday.

The smaller transmitter's signal was picked up again Thursday by stations in Chile and Ecuador.

Scientists said resumption of the signals did not rule out the possibility of a collision between the satellite and the meteorites because the signal was so erratic.

The transmitter still operating sends out a continuous tracking signal. The high-power transmitter relayed information to earth from the recorder "on request."

After the second transmitter goes dead, scientists will only be able to track the satellite through telescopes.

The Academy said Explorer III is expected to plunge back into the atmosphere and disintegrate about

'58 Hawkeye Distribution Wednesday

The Hawkeye yearbook, 1958 version, will be distributed to SUI students beginning Wednesday, according to Jack Hols, G. Burlington, business manager.

Upperclassmen will note that this year students will pick up their copy at the first floor lobby of the Communications Center, instead of at Campus Stores as in previous years.

To obtain a copy of the yearbook students will need their identification cards. A yearbook receipt is not necessary.

The Hawkeyes may be picked up starting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, and from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday, and from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

After May 28 copies may be picked up at The Daily Iowan business office on the second floor of the Communications Center.

Ann Berner, A4, Fort Dodge, editor of the Hawkeye, has chosen "Time" as the theme of the book this year. This theme is carried out in the opening pages and throughout the book on the section pages.

The color scheme used is blue, white, and copper. The yearbook cover is textured black leather with a design in copper and white.

The book contains 428 pages, largest edition in the last few years at SUI.

Policy Statement

By JIM DAVIES
Editor

As usual when a new editor begins his duties with The Daily Iowan, a statement of policy is in order. As have other editors before me, I think I should make clear what I feel the Iowan's chief functions are, and to indicate my attitude toward policy matters.

In the past, The Daily Iowan has often been criticized for presenting only one side of controversial issues. Each party feels it is being discriminated against.

In the main, I feel criticism on these grounds is unjust, yet just as surely, I feel this criticism will continue to be heard.

In this light, may I say: The Daily Iowan, as long as I am editor, will attempt — in its news columns — to report events or developments as they occur, without slanting the facts to favor any group, institution, or individual.

In short, The Daily Iowan will not manufacture the news nor will it allow itself to become the spokesman — through biased reporting — of any group or individual.

The Daily Iowan has a responsibility to its readers, to the University and to itself, and these obligations can all be fulfilled in a like manner — by giving fair representation to all sides of any controversial issue and by keeping its news columns free of bias.

Editorially, The Daily Iowan will align itself with causes it feels to be just, "without fear or favor."

And already some readers are saying, "Yes, but your editorials are censored."

This is not true.

Editorials — and only editorials — are read by the Editorial Advisor, Mr. Arthur M. Sanderson, prior to publication, and are initiated. However, in my experience with The Daily Iowan, not one editorial has been withheld from publication because of the views it expressed.

The Editorial Advisor is just that — an advisor.

He aids the editor by pointing out avenues of thought on an issue

Pflimlin Has Powers To Stop Rebellion

De Gaulle Threatens Algeria Rebels Against Paris, For De Gaulle

ALGIERS, Algeria (UP) — Rebellious French military men and civilians Friday organized an Algeria-wide "Committee of Public Safety" as a virtual rival to the Paris Government. It was committed to support Gen. Charles De Gaulle for French leadership.

The creation of the Committee brought the entire Northwest Africa Overseas Province under the control of the military-civilian junta which seized power in Algiers Tuesday and pushed France to the brink of civil war.

A CROWD of 20,000 swarmed into the center of Algiers shouting "De Gaulle to power." More than half of those in the crowd were pro-French Moslems who streamed out of the Casbah to join the rally. Banners overhead proclaimed "We want to be French."

The banners urged support for generals Raoul Salan and Jacques Massu, the two French commanders, who now control Algeria and are De Gaulle's rivals.

Massu, wearing the battle dress of a paratrooper, told his supporters they have given the world "the most beautiful example of patriotism and foresight in turning on the French civilian regime."

Civilian junta member Leon Delbecque said the Committee was under the "high authority" of Gen. Raoul Salan, the Algerian commander.

THE COMMITTEE took its name from the regime which in the 18th century deposed and guillotined King Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette.

Although Salan technically is the Military representative of the Paris government in Algiers, he has thrown in his lot with the junta.

In an order of the day to the 400,000 troops in Algeria, Salan declared that he intended to exercise "civil and military powers" to maintain order and to carry on the fight against nationalist rebels.

The statement was interpreted as an indication of the determination of the rebellious French officers and settlers to rule Algeria in hopes De Gaulle would assume power in Paris at the head of a "government of public safety."

DELBEQUE CALLED again for DeGaulle's return while defending the junta against charges of "Fascism" in a nationwide radio address.

"The fact that Algeria unanimously appeals to De Gaulle is the strongest proof of our loyalty to (republican) institutions, and the straight reply to accusations that would make Fascists of us."

Delbecque's speech was flavorful.

Assembly Says Crisis Exists Now in France

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP) — The National Assembly Friday night voted a state of emergency in France. The action gave moderate Premier Pierre Pflimlin extraordinary powers for three months to smash a "plot" and head off outright rebellion either by Communists or De Gaulle's.

As the assembly voted heavy guards were strung around the building and 36,000 police, soldiers and guardsmen were geared for instant retaliation against any outbursts in Paris.

Even the Communists, in their fear of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, voted for Pflimlin's demands in the 461-114 vote — one of the widest margins in years in the splintered assembly. Only the rightists voted against the proposal in hopes of restoring De Gaulle to power.

Ruber-stamp passage by the Senate was the next scheduled step.

Pflimlin will have power to curb press and public assembly and new political parties. He vowed to use the powers against both "extremes" of left and right.

The powers were effective both in France proper and Algeria.

The assembly voted against this background:

1. Military officers and settlers in Algiers set up an Algeria-wide "committee of public safety" to rule the territory. It was a virtual counter-regime to Paris and was intended to continue until De Gaulle could come to power.
2. A small plastic bomb exploded outside Pflimlin's home at Hendaye. There were no casualties but the house was damaged.
3. The U.S. army headquarters for Europe at Heidelberg, Germany, put Paris off limits to visiting G.I.'s "until the situation clears."
4. De Gaulle let it be known through a rightist member of the assembly that he would return to power only through "legal" means, not by force.
5. A company of mobilized German troops took up posts in the town of Colombey - Les - Deux - Eglises, where De Gaulle was staying at his country estate. They were to "protect" him — and keep an eye on his visitors.
6. The press reported that even before passage of the emergency laws, several military men in Paris

Charge Arabs Destroying Free Lebanon

From the Wire Services
WASHINGTON — The United States said Friday it expects to complete arrangements soon for providing tanks to Lebanon to help quell riots and Anti-American demonstrations in that strategic Arab nation.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Lebanon Friday night charged the United Arab Republic with attempting to destroy Lebanese independence. Informers said the pro-Western Government of President Camille Chamoun had decided to complain to the United Nations Security Council.

THE SOURCES SAID Lebanon's charges now were being documented and that the official complaint to the United Nations would be announced today.

At the end of a week of turmoil, Chamoun seems to be gaining strength hourly and his opposition is becoming demoralized. An anti-Government general strike has lost its punch and most cities are tranquil again after destructive rioting. Security forces drove rioters from the streets of Beirut and other key cities.

Lebanese planes strafed a donkey caravan carrying weapons and ammunition from the direction of Syria, the Government said.

Chamoun's Cabinet rejected feelers from the opposition for a compromise settlement. Opposition leader Saeb Salam, who supports President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, has found many of his colleagues weakening.

Jobs! Jobs! Jobs! —

"For Graduates Outlook Good"

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said Friday the job outlook for college graduates is "generally favorable" despite the recession.

But he said employers sent fewer recruiters to campuses this spring and are being "much more selective" in hiring.

Mitchell made his forecast in an open letter to the 470,000 collegians who will receive degrees in June. He called the recession a "temporary situation" that would inevitably be altered by forces "already at work within the economy."

"WE MUST not allow the current situation to blind us to the

Cut Feet on Broken Glass In River

The Iowa River may appear inviting these hot Spring days, but Dr. Chester I. Miller, head of Student Health Service, issued a warning Friday.

So far this Spring, nine students have reported to Student Health with cuts on their feet, and some of the cuts were so severe the students had to be hospitalized.

Dr. Miller said there apparently are great numbers of broken bottles and tin cans which swimmers cannot see on the river bed because of the muddy water, or because silt has completely or partially covered the objects.

Cautioning students to use extreme care in their recreation on the river, Dr. Miller said the hazard of drowning is always present and already there have been two injuries resulting from water skiing.

Because of broken glass and tin cans, Dr. Miller urges students to stay off the river bottom, and to "please, regardless of the type of recreation, try to remain constantly aware of the need for water safety."

MOTHER OF THE YEAR

BRUSSELS (UP) — Mrs. David R. Coker, America's Mother of the Year, was the guest of honor today at the American Pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair.

Mrs. Coker, of Hartsville, S. C., lunched with U.S. Commissioner General Howard Cullman and then was guest of honor at a garden party hosted by the Fair Commissioner General's office at the commissioner's official residence on the Fair Grounds.

A Lion Named Passion—

Kills Little Girl At Zoo

WASHINGTON (UP) — A 2½-year-old girl visiting the zoo with her grandfather was seized by a caged lion and decapitated Friday.

The lion pulled the screaming girl through the bars of its cage, despite the grandfather's frantic efforts to save her, and tore her to pieces.

THE LITTLE GIRL was Julia Ann Vogt. She and her 4-year-old sister Judy had come here with their mother from Chilliwack, British Columbia, to visit their grandfather, Harry Jackson.

The grandfather took both girls to the Washington Zoo. Apparently Julia Ann wandered through an opening in an outer barrier and got too close to the lion's cage.

As far as police could determine there was only one witness, Wesley Dildy, 12, who was visiting the zoo with a group of other school children from Princess Anne County, Va.

"The rest of the class was

"She had light brown hair and she quit hollering. The man kept hitting the lion on the head trying to make him stop."

"THE LION started walking around inside with her in his mouth. He was growling. I ran away."

Dr. Theodore Reed, zoo director, said officials could only surmise that the girl wandered through an opening through which equipment is moved.

She evidently walked past several cages occupied by other lions before she was seized by a male lion named Passion. It was from Queenie's cage that keepers recovered the girl's body.

Weather

More rain and cloudiness is forecast for Iowa City today with cooler temperatures and fair skies predicted for Sunday.

Highs today are expected to range from the mid 70's to lower 80's. A stationary front moving northward out of Missouri is expected to touch off more shower activity here today and in eastern sections of the state tonight.

POLICE HELD BACK a group of youthful demonstrators carrying placards who gathered at Chicago's Midway Airport Friday to greet Mikhail Menshikov, Russian ambassador to the United States. 'Smiling Mike' Menshikov Braves Chicago Pickets

CHICAGO (UP) — Sign-waving pickets shouted "Menshikov go home" at Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov today in an "orderly" imitation of the riots which greeted Vice-President Richard M. Nixon in Venezuela.

The climax of the demonstrations at Midway Airport and in Chicago's loop came when a picket threw a sign bearing the "Menshikov go home" slogan into the car carrying the ambassador, his wife, and welcoming dignitaries.

The handsome ambassador, nicknamed "Smiling Mike," shrugged off the incident. Later, in a speech before an overflow audience of 2,700 Chicago capitalists, he offered Russian help in boosting the United States economy out of its recession.

"The Soviet Union and other socialist countries could buy from you large quantities of steel and its products if only normal trade relations existed between the two countries," Menshikov told a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Executives Club.

The audience of businessmen and their wives gave Menshikov a cool reception at first. But he fielded their questions well in a question-and-answer session and got laughs with the confession that there are loud arguments at his family dinner table "but yet we exist and love each other and sometimes we even cooperate with each other."

Menshikov's Chicago visit marked his deepest penetration into the United States and it got off to a bad start when a crowd of 30 picketers met his plane from New York.

A detail of 20 policemen got the Russian Diplomat and his wife to their car without unpleasantness. But then the pickets closed in and a man later identified as V. Samkus pulled his "go home" sign off its standard and threw it into the ambassadorial limousine.

"This is for you, you—" the picket shouted. B. Stuart Westworth Jr., president of the Executives Club, meanwhile plucked the sign from his lap and dropped it out of the car window.

Others in the crowd carried signs saying "Nixon was stoned, how about you?" an "Release slaves instead of Sputniks."

Samkus told newsmen he is a

Choose Third Miss England 'By the Rules'

LONDON (AP) — Britannia may rule the waves, but she doesn't waive the rules for the Miss England beauty contest.

"We're going to choose a Miss England if we have to stay here all night," said competition promoter Eric Morley. "And we're going to stick strictly to the rules."

So they finally launched Miss England III of 1958 — blonde and curvy Dorothy Hazeldine, who is a beauty parlor operator from the grimy Lancashire industrial town of Rochdale. She is 19 years old, 5 feet 7, and, in the usual order, 36-24-37.

Eventually, she will journey to the United States to represent Britain in the Miss Universe competition in California.

Two earlier nominations were nullified. The first winner turned out to be too young — only 16. The second Miss England proved to be married — another disqualification. The earlier competitions also raised the ugly charge that the slim beauties were wearing falsies, wispies and other props.

Morley then ordered every girl to produce a passport showing her age.

"Now," he cautioned, "we come to the issue of what you've got on beneath that bathing suit. The rules say it must be nothing."

Each beauty stripped down before the eagle eyes of Morley's female assistants. Under these inquiring eyes they also wriggled into their abbreviated swim suits.

"Now," said the promoter, "if any girl thinks any other girl is wearing a falsie, now is the time to jolly well speak up."

The silence was so pronounced you could hear the infinitive split.

For 45 minutes the judges judged the 17 girls from all over Britain. The field was narrowed to Miss Hazeldine, who wore a tight-fitting leopard skin suit, a broad smile and nothing else, and two other girls.

"What is your favorite food, fish and chips?" one of the judges asked the eventual winner.

"No," she replied, "I like tripe."

"Fine," said the judge, "it's an old Lancashire dish."

And — she turned out to be the judges' dish.

Gen. Taylor Wants Guard Reorganizing

DES MOINES (UP) — Army Chief of Staff Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today national guard divisions must be reorganized as soon as possible into battle groups capable of fighting an atomic war.

Taylor said the regular Army units already have made the switch to the new "pentomic" idea of five small self-sustained battle groups for each division.

The new organization of all Army units is a necessary "organizational accompaniment" to arming the units with nuclear weapons, Taylor said.

Taylor arrived to inspect the Army reserve training quarters at Fort Des Moines, review an Army Day parade tomorrow, and make a speech.

Taylor told newsmen that the military budget before Congress, calling for reduction of the Army to 870,000 men, was about the lowest the Army could afford.

The Army had "just about reached the leveling-off point" at which additional weapons can no longer make up for further reduction in troop strength, Taylor said.

He declined to pick any potential trouble spots where the army might be called on to fight a "limited war."

"For me to comment publicly on that would bring me into the realm of politics," he said. "However, I do feel the Army must have a flexible, mobile force ready to go anywhere in the world."

He said it would be "disastrous" to think of eliminating the draft as a way of raising troops for armed service. The armed forces could not be sustained without the draft, he said.

Commenting on the launching of the Russians' new satellite, Taylor said it was "significant" because of the size of the rocket engine which must have been used to put it into orbit.

Ray To Speak To Loan Co. Men

Robert Ray, Director of the Institute of Public Affairs at SU, will be the principal speaker when representatives of 262 small loan companies in 72 Iowa counties meet in Des Moines next week.

The representatives will combine business with a look into public affairs during the Iowa Consumer Finance Association convention, May 20-21.

Ray, who recently was moderator for Gov. Herschel C. Loveless' Conference on Juvenile Behavior, heads an organization interested in encouraging citizen participation in affairs of local, state and national government.

Shed Light On Knights Of the Night

CHARLESTON, Ill. (UP) — Eastern Illinois University set out today to track down, unmask, and if necessary expel the mysterious, beer-swilling members of "The Black Knights of the Embarrass."

The university sent out pledges for suspected members to sign. If any student, male or female, refuses to quit the Black Knights, the university said, the next step may be dismissal from school.

School officials also enlisted the aid of city and state police to break up the Black Knights in case they get rambunctious.

For five years, the Black Knights have been meeting under the cover of darkness on the banks of Embarrass River. What goes on at the midnight rambles is a matter of dispute between Dean of Students Rudolph Anfinson and an unidentified spokesman for the Knights.

Anfinson said there are about 82 male Knights and, he suspects, a women's auxiliary. The Knights have held several "big beer parties" along the Embarrass, Anfinson said, and "we have been told that there have been some real fights" at the get-togethers.

Although the Knights are not formally affiliated with the university the dean said, they manage to get publicity in the school paper and "slipped a picture of the organization into our school yearbook with a (Falstaff) beer sign on it."

Townspice have started complaining, Anfinson said, prompting the police alert and a letter to the suspected Knights. The letter served warning that "any student who in the future associates with the Black Knights... will be subject to dismissal from the university."

Anfinson added that no one had been or would be punished for being an ex-Knight. Students who fail to sign the pledge, he said, are being called into the dean's office for discussions.

The spokesman for the Black Knights said the university crackdown may mean the end of the band.

The spokesman, who begged for anonymity, said the Knights will meet next week and decide whether to disband. In the meanwhile, he disputed some of Anfinson's charges.

"We never have had any fighting, we're not a drinking organization, there are only 35 members, and we don't have a women's auxiliary," the spokesman said.

He conceded some drinking goes on when the Black Knights get together and women are not unwelcome.

Expect 30 Iowa Policemen For 2-Week Course

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, currently preaching nightly in San Francisco's Cow Palace, said today his workers would follow up his appearance with a gigantic program of calling on residents in their homes.

Graham told a group of ministers at a breakfast today that the period June 23-26 will be designated for "visitation evangelism."

"I think this plan linking mass evangelism with visitation evangelism marks the dawning of a new era in reaching and holding men for Christ," Graham said.

"When properly done visitation evangelism is the most effective, means we have to win men to Christ."

Graham explained that some 10,000 lay evangelists from 1,000 Bay Area churches will form two-man evangelist teams to call on the church's "responsibility list" — backsliders, new people in the neighborhood, parents of children in Sunday school and others who have shown interest in the church but who are not active members.

"Our real job," he told the ministers, "is to win souls for Christ."

Iowa peace officers who will instruct at the school include Capt. Stanley Davis, Cedar Rapids Police Department; Chief Ollie White and Sgt. Ed Ruppert, Iowa City Police Department; Captain Leonard Sims and Patrolman Max Schmeling of the Iowa Highway Safety Patrol, and T. A. Thompson, Des Moines, chief of the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

Other instructors include William L. Meardon, Iowa City attorney; Kay Oslund, Lincoln, Neb., representative of Remington Arms Co., and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Korean Art On Display in Union Lounge

An art exhibit from Seoul University, Korea, is on display in the Main Lounge and Terrace Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The display, sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee of the Union Board, will continue through June 6.

The exhibit contains 61 items and was completely produced by Seoul art students. It includes scrolls with Oriental brocade borders, oil paintings, textiles, posters, glass and ceramic works, and photographs of the students working on their projects.

The art exhibit was organized through the University of Minnesota and the University Art Gallery, which have an exchange program with Seoul University in the fields of medicine, agriculture, engineering and art.

Graham Is Planning for Home Visits

Representatives named to a commission to study the need for planning and zoning in Johnson County will hold an organizational meeting May 27 at 8 p.m. in the district courtroom at the courthouse, the county Board of Supervisors said Friday.

The commission consists of one representative from each of the county's 21 townships, one from each of the nine incorporated towns and two from Iowa City.

If it finds that zoning is necessary in the county, the commission will determine the type of zoning desired.

The zoning and other work of the zoning commission would be handled by a smaller group appointed later by the board of supervisors.

Representatives to the commission from Iowa City are William L. Meardon and William G. Nusser.

Bids To Be Let Monday For SUI Sanitary Plant Addition

Bids for the construction of an addition which will double the size of the sanitary engineering laboratory at SUI will be accepted up to 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 27, according to George L. Horner, SUI Superintendent of Planning and Construction.

THE 1-STORY addition will be of cement block construction, 30 by 48 feet. It will provide facilities for a laboratory, one office, a shop and space to set up experimental equipment, according to Philip F. Morgan, professor in the SUI Department of Sanitary Engineering.

Funds for the project will come from a $12,000 grant from the U.S. Public Health Service (USPHS) and $12,000 from the University's budget for repairs, replacements and alterations.

THE PRESENT building adjacent to the Iowa City sewage disposal plant on South Clinton Street was built in 1952 as a laboratory for experiments in the relatively new field of sewage and industrial waste treatment, Morgan said.

When the city sewage plant was built in 1934, the University paid 40 per cent of the cost of the system, which serves both the city and the University. At that time, the city set aside two acres of land near the plant for SUI to use for experimental projects dealing with waste disposal.

"IOWA CITY'S cooperation has helped SUI to develop facilities for pilot plant operations which are superior to those of many other educational institutions because of their nearness to the disposal plant," Morgan said.

Since 1952 SUI has received research grants from the USPHS and many industries for experimental studies. In April, the Chicago Pump Company gave the laboratory a grant of $8,758 for a continuing research project and also gave new oxygenation equipment to be used in the new addition for present and later research.

Absentee Ballots Available From County Auditor

Absentee ballots for the June Primary elections still may be obtained from the Johnson County Auditor's office, William L. Kanak, Auditor, said Friday.

Starting May 19, persons who will not be able to vote at the regular primary June 1, may vote in person at the auditor's office.

All absentee ballots should be received before May 30. However, mailed ballots will be accepted up to June 2.

ABSENTEE ballots are placed in the regular election supplies which most voting districts pick up on May 30. If ballots are received after the supplies are picked up, they will be taken to the proper district and counted with the regular election returns.

If you want to vote by mail, you must first file a notarized application with the county auditor, giving name, permanent address in the county, precinct or township you would be voting in, and the party ballot you wish to use.

Upon receipt and verification of the application, the auditor will mail you the ballot. After you have voted, you should put the ballot in an envelope, and have the envelope notarized before it is mailed to the auditor, Kanak said.

THE PROCESS most servicemen go through is slightly different. Their application and ballot usually go to the state auditor, who forwards them to the serviceman's county auditor. They may, however, apply directly if they wish. Any commissioned officer may notarize the application and ballot.

So far this year, the Johnson County Auditor's office has handled one absentee ballot application. They are expecting a few more Monday, when people who will not be able to vote in person June 1, will come into the office to vote.

Applications should be mailed to the county auditor in the county seat of your permanent residence.

Presidential Timbers Lost in Iowa TV Forest

DES MOINES (UP) — Television entertainer Art Linkletter is better known to Iowa farmers than Senators William Knowland (R-Calif.) or John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a farm magazine poll showed today.

Both Knowland and Kennedy are considered possible presidential candidates. Wallace's Farmer and Iowa Homestead magazine said more than 90 per cent of the farmers contacted in a poll identified Linkletter correctly. Fifty-six per cent knew Kennedy, the magazine said.

Track Team Duals Badgers Here Today

Iowa's track team will meet Wisconsin here today in its only home outdoor dual meet of the season. Field events begin at 1 p.m. and running events start at 1:30.

The Hawkeyes defeated Wisconsin and Northwestern in an indoor triangular meet last February.

For the first time in many weeks, every member of the squad is in fairly good shape. The only man who didn't run last week against Minnesota, George White, has recovered from an infected foot and is expected to run in both of today's hurdle races.

Some of the better races of the day should develop in the high and low hurdles, 440-yard dash and the 880-yard run.

In the hurdles, Iowa's sophomore ace Bill Orris and Bob Gerts of Wisconsin should provide the thrills. Orris won both races last week against Minnesota, after recovering from a leg injury received in the Drake Relays. He defeated Gerts in both races in the February triangular at Madison.

Wisconsin sports one of the best 440-yard dash men in the Big Ten in Jesse Nixon. He was outdoor conference champion last spring. He has run the distance in 47.5. Iowa will counter with sophomore John Brown. Brown broke a meet record against the Gophers last week with a 48.2 effort.

In the 880-yard run, it will be Iowa's Ralph Lyle against Austin Cotton. Cotton was outdoor Big Ten champion last spring in his specialty.

The sprint races should be among the strongest point getters for the Hawkeyes. The Iowa attack features senior Tim Hines and junior Tom Burrows. Hines won both the 100 and 200 yard dashes in last week's meet with Burrows finishing second. Both men broke the Iowa record in the 220 and Hines tied the Iowa record in the century with a time of 9.6.

Deacon Jones, still hampered by an attack of the flu, which has troubled him since March, should have an easy time in the 2-mile run. Coach Francis Cretzmeyer said Friday that Jones would run only the 2-mile event against the Badgers.

Tom Peters of Wisconsin will be favored in the shot putt and the discus throw. Iowa will enter Dick Wood and Jim Young against the Badger star. In the high jump the Badgers' Sam Mylin should have little trouble. He has gone 6-5.

Iowa's Joe Camamo, who went 23-3 in the broad jump against the Gophers last week is the favorite in today's meet. The pole vault should be close between Bob Hansen of Iowa and John Quandt and Charles Stutz of Wisconsin.

This is the final preparation for next week's Big Ten outdoor championships at Purdue University for the Hawkeyes.

New Record Probable In 500' Trials

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indianapolis Motor Speedway one-lap record was cracked unofficially twice Friday in rapid succession.

Dick Rathmann of Miami broke the 147-mile-an-hour barrier for the first time and Ed Elisian of Oakland, Calif., immediately turned in the first 148-mile-an-hour lap.

Both were driving cars built by A. J. Watson of Glendale, Calif.—Rathmann a McNamara special and Elisian a Zink special.

The performance promised new official records today in the opening session of time trials for the 500-mile race May 30 and probably will attract a crowd of 100,000 or more.

Rathmann was timed at 1:01.21 for the 2 1/2 miles, or 147,010 miles an hour. Elisian made the circuit in 1:00.75, or 148,148 miles an hour.

The entire 33-car starting field may be filled in the seven-hour session beginning at 11 a.m. (C.D.T.). Gates will open at 7 a.m. in an effort to avoid last year's colossal traffic jam.

Thirty-five of the 56 entries have run practice laps over 140 miles an hour and a dozen have been clocked at 143 or better. Only five of last year's qualifiers could beat 143 in the official 10-mile trials.

The 1956 record of Pat Flaherty of Chicago, 145.596 miles per hour, stood up under last year's assaults after engine sizes were cut from 274 to 256 cubic inches of piston displacement. His best lap, at 146.946, also was unmatched.

Engineers and mechanics have found out how to repair the horsepower they lost in last year's rules change, and the field for the May 30 race is practically certain to be the fastest of the 42 Indianapolis auto classics.

Cars run one at a time in the qualifications. The driver can quit before completing the fourth lap if he isn't satisfied with his speed, but he has only three chances to qualify.

After 33 cars qualify, another driver can make the starting field by turning in a better speed than the slowest earlier qualifier. Then the slower car is "bumped" from the lineup, and the new qualifier moves in at the end of the line.

All-America Track Rating For Deacon

Deacon Jones, versatile Iowa distance runner, has been named to the Amateur Athletic Union's (A.A.U.) All-America Men's track team for 1957, in the steeplechase.

Jones represented the United States in the 3,000-yard steeplechase in the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne.

Iowa Coach Francis Cretzmeyer received word of the appointment Friday.

This is the third honor of this type for Jones. He was named to the 1955 A.A.U. College All-America in cross country and to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's (NCAA) 1957 honor team in the 2-mile run.

Jones, who will be making the final home appearance of his career today against Wisconsin, has won six Big Ten and two NCAA titles while running for the Hawkeyes.

He was Big Ten champion in the mile and 2-mile runs both indoors and outdoors in 1957 and repeated as champion in both events in this year's indoor championships. He won the NCAA cross country title as a sophomore in 1955 and was national champion in the 2-mile run last year.

Due to an attack of the flu, which has held him under par since March, Jones may not be able to defend his outdoor titles in next week's conference championships at Purdue.

Herb Elliott Runs 2nd Fastest Mile

BULLETIN LOS ANGELES (UP)—Smooth-striding Herb Elliott of Australia ran the miracle mile event of the Coliseum Relays Friday night in 3:57.8, second fastest mile of all time and two-tenths of a second faster than the listed world record.

Elliott's time clipped two-tenths of a second off the established world record of 3:58, set by John Landy of Australia in 1954. Derek Ibbotson of England has a pending world record of 3:57.2, but the International Athletic Federation recently tabled his mark pending further study of the pacing in the race.

Favor Tim Tam Today In Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP)—Tim Tam, boasting seven straight victories, will bring the best record into the Preakness since the great Count Fleet in 1943—but he still has 11 rivals in the rich 3-year-old classic at old Pimlico Saturday.

The Kentucky Derby winner and pride of Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm is the favorite to collect a record sixth Preakness Saturday afternoon for the Lexington, Ky. racing empire. Calumet is tied with C. L. Lorillard, who won five from 1878-1882.

If Tim Tam can whip Jewel's Reward, Silky Sullivan, Lincoln Road and the others, the sleek dark bay son of Tom Fool will be the first Derby winner to repeat in the Preakness since 1948. Ten years ago it was Calumet's great thoroughbred—Citation—who swept the Derby—Preakness—Belmont triple crown. Seven of the horses who chased Tim Tam home at Louisville are here, a record number from the Derby.

Engineers and mechanics have found out how to repair the horsepower they lost in last year's rules change, and the field for the May 30 race is practically certain to be the fastest of the 42 Indianapolis auto classics.

Yanks Roll On As Ford Whips Nats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ed Whitey Ford continued his mastery over the Washington Senators as he beat them for the 11th straight time over a four-season span, the Yankees winning 7-2 Friday night before 21,023 spectators at Griffith Stadium.

The chunky blond lefthander held the second-place Senators to eight hits and fanned five.

It was Ford's third victory of the season and his second over Washington.

For five innings the Yankees were blanked by Camilo Pascual. But in the sixth, Hank Bauer doubled, moved to third on Tony Kubek's single and scored on Mickey Mantle's fielder's choice grounder. Before the inning was over, Gil McDougald connected for a two-run homer and the Yankees were on the way.

Pierce Wins First

CLEVELAND (AP)—Left-hander Billy Pierce, a 20-game winner the last two seasons, picked up his first victory of the 1956 campaign Friday night with a steady six hitter as the Chicago White Sox whipped the Cleveland Indians 6-3 in the opener of a four-game series.

Two of the hits Pierce yielded were solo homers by Bobby Avila and Minnie Minoso. He struck out 10 and walked 4. His teammates staked Pierce to a five-run lead before he even walked out to the mound.

Ten men batted for the White Sox in the first inning as they hopped on Cleveland starter Don Ferrarese for their five runs on four hits, a pair of walks and two Indian errors.

Athletics Trip Tigers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Herm Wehmeier, a St. Louis Cardinal cast-off, pitched brilliantly for Detroit through six innings Friday night but in the seventh the Kansas City Athletics drove him from the mound scoring four runs to defeat the Tigers, 5-3.

Wehmeier retired the first 13 Kansas City batters, but with one out in the fifth, Bob Cerv belted his 11th homer of the season—a tremendous belt measuring 528 feet.

Wall's Single In 9th Drops Giants from 1st

CHICAGO (AP)—After three Chicago pinch-hitters had batted in one run each, Lee Walls singled across the winning marker from second in the ninth for a 6-5 Cub victory over the San Francisco Giants Friday.

The loss dropped the Giants into second place a half game behind league leading Milwaukee who was rained out at Cincinnati.

The Cubs' two-run ninth nullified a five-run Giant sixth in which Willie Mays slammed a three-run homer.

Dale Long doubled across the first Cub run in the first and homered with none on in the fourth.

After Bobby Thomson's lead-off single in the ninth brought in the fifth Giant pitcher, Ray Crone, pinch-hitter Bobby Adams doubled Thomson in for a 5-5 tie.

Walls' long single to center brought across Adams after catcher Bob Schmidt failed to hang on to Mays' throw to the plate.

The winner was No. 3 Cub pitcher, Don Elston, who struck out the Giants side in the 8th on 11 pitches. It was Elston's fifth victory without defeat.

Musial, Jones Trip Bums

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The six-hit pitching of Sad Sam Jones and a two-run homer by Stan Musial, the league's leading hitter, gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-0 victory Friday night over the last-place Los Angeles Dodgers. Jones struck out nine.

It was the eighth triumph in nine games for the Cardinals, fighting to offset a miserable start this season.

Jones, now 3-3 for the season, struck out eight in losing to San Francisco April 23 and struck out seven in defeating Chicago 3-2 May 9.

Musial's game-winning home run came in the sixth off loser Johnny Podres, who held the Cards to four hits in the six innings he worked.

Eddie Kasko, who took over second when Don Blasingame of the Cards was ejected from the game in the first inning, delivered a lead-off double to right center, setting the stage for Musial's seventh home run of the year. Musial's drive went over the right field wall onto Grand Avenue.

Simmons Beats Pirates

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harry Anderson's inside the park home run and a circuit clout by Stan Lopata backed up southpaw Curt Simmons' six-hit pitching Friday as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2.

Simmons had one streak from the second through the sixth innings where he set down 14 Pirates in order. By this time t' Phillies, on the strength of the bats of Anderson, Lopata and Rip Repulski, had the game sewed up.

Anderson's homer came in the first with Richie Ashburn aboard. It hit the scoreboard in rightfield, rolled along a catwalk and then dropped back into play.

Iowa Tennis Team Advances Eight to Quadrangular Finals

Iowa's tennis team placed eight men in the finals Friday in the first day of play in a quadrangular round robin at East Lansing, Mich. The Hawkeyes led in all three doubles' places and led in three singles places, and tied for a fourth in a meet with Ohio State, Minnesota and Michigan State.

Minnesota also advanced eight men to the finals.

The Iowa doubles' teams of Art Andrews and Bob Potthast; Joe Martin and Don Middlebrook; and Bill Voxman and John Stoy all held leads over the other three teams Friday and will meet the runnerups in today's finals.

Iowa's top five men advanced to today's finals as Andrews, No. 1 man; Potthast, No. 2 man; and Middlebrook, No. 4 man, took leads in Friday's competition. Voxman, No. 5 man, tied for the lead while No. 3 man Martin was second after the first day of play.

The quadrangular is so arranged that each player meets three opponents in his division. Eight matches are played between each pair of opponents, with a total of 24 matches.

The player with the most wins is paired against the second highest player in today's finals, with the runner receiving four points and the loser three. Likewise, the lowest scoring players are paired with the winner getting two points and the loser one towards total team score.

The doubles' play is similarly set up.

Friday's results:
Singles:
No. 1—Art Andrews (I), 20 wins; Hugh Tierney (M), 13 wins.
No. 2—Bob Potthast (I), 20 wins; Dave Healey (M), 13 wins.
No. 3—Don Hendrickson (M), 16 wins; Joe Martin (I), 15 wins.
No. 4—Don Middlebrook (I), 17 wins; Doug Smith (MS), 13 wins.
No. 5—Bill Voxman (I), 14 wins; Roger Jackson (M), 14 wins.
No. 6—Art Glanakopoulos (OS), 18 wins; Larry Enger (M), 14 wins; John Stoy (I), 12 wins; Jeff Green (MS), 4 wins.
Doubles:
No. 1—Art Andrews (I), 19 wins; Tierney-Healey (M) 14 wins.
No. 2—Martin-Middlebrook (I), 17 wins; Hendrickson-Jackson (M), 14 wins.
No. 3—Voxman-Stoy (I), 15 wins; Radosevich-Mikkelsen (M), 13 wins.

Ben 11-Under Par, Has 2-Stroke Lead In Snead Festival

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Ben Hogan demonstrated Friday he still had the touch which made him one of the world's greatest golfers by taking only 64 strokes to go around the par 70 course round of the Same Snead second round of the Sam Snead Festival.

Hogan's 36-hole total of 129 provided the 45-year-old Texan with a two stroke lead over Gary Player, the 22-year-old South African from Johannesburg.

Player made a strong bid to overtake Hogan, who had started the second round with a one-stroke edge. The youngster took a 65 and missed a couple of short putts for other birdies for a 131 total.

Snead, three-time winner of the past 10 tournaments at his home base, started off even with Player. He dropped a stroke back with a 66 for 132.

Stan Mosel, Essex Falls, N. J., who had matched Hogan's first round 65, couldn't keep the pace. He faded to a 73 and 138 total which dropped him into a tie for eighth place with 36 holes to go in the $10,000 tourney.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The six-hit pitching of Sad Sam Jones and a two-run homer by Stan Musial, the league's leading hitter, gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-0 victory Friday night over the last-place Los Angeles Dodgers. Jones struck out nine.

Gophers Beat Hawkeyes, 5-1

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota boosted its title ambitions in the Big Ten baseball race Friday with a five-run flurry in the first inning that beat Iowa, 5-1.

The victory was Minnesota's sixth against three defeats.

Four walks and three singles off Roger Rudeen accounted for the first inning Gopher production and insulated Minnesota against Glen Van Fossen's fine relief pitching.

Van Fossen took over for Rudeen after the Gophers got all their runs and allowed only two hits and no runs in 7 1/2 innings.

Iowa bounced off to a 1-0 lead in the first when Don Peden doubled off Gopher Sophomore right-hander Fred Bruckbauer, went to third on a wild pitch and then scored on a double by Dick Weatherly.

Rudeen walked the bases full with one out in the Gopher first. Dave Pfeepsen brought in two runs with a single, Dave Lindblom knocked in one with a double and John Erickson sent two more across with a single.

Bruckbauer pitched a steady six-hitter but Van Fossen's relief work was the pitching jewel of the day. He retired 16 men over one stretch and struck out five.

Other new officers are: Paul Hager, A1, Waukon, vice-president; Phil Carter, A1, Des Moines, secretary; Jerry Lutz, A1, Conesville, treasurer; George Ashton, E1, Davenport; and Byron Marsolais, E2, Iowa City, upper class advisor.

Alpha Delta Pi Plans Two Weekend Parties

Alpha Delta Pi social sorority is planning two parties for this weekend. In celebration of the sorority's 107th anniversary, the girls will entertain their alumna at a brunch today at 10:30 a.m. Twenty children from the SUI Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children will be guests at the Alpha Delta Pi chapter house Sunday afternoon between 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. The girls and their dates will be hosts at the annual party.

Pep Club To Get Rally Suggestions

Hawkeye Pep Club will distribute questionnaires Sunday to all SUI housing units and dormitories to obtain suggestions for better pep rally attendance next year. Through a random sampling of the university students, the pep club hopes to find ways to improve interest and attendance at these pre-game affairs, according to Mary Kay Seabury, A3, Council Bluffs, co-chairman of the Pep Rally committee with Errol Zavett, A2, Bettendorf.

Panhellenic Association To Give Tea

The Iowa City Panhellenic Association will give an informal tea May 24 in the University Club Rooms of the Iowa Memorial Union for Johnson County high school seniors who are planning to attend college next year. Mothers of the girls have also been invited. Helen Reich, assistant director of the Office of Student Affairs and SUI Panhellenic counselor, will be one of the speakers. Other speakers include Barbara Russell, A3, Joliet, Ill., president of SUI Panhellenic Association, and Mrs. C. C. Erb, president of the city association. A film explaining the sorority system, entitled "Panhellenic Pictures," will be shown and material about each sorority on campus will be presented to the girls and their mothers.

Miss Oskolkoff's Wedding Plans Are Announced

Vows will be spoken in September by Elvira Oskolkoff, Kalona, and Hugo Ishkanian, G, Iowa City. Miss Oskolkoff is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Oskolkoff, Kalona, and the late Alexej Oskolkoff. She is a graduate of the SUI College of Nursing and is now employed at University Hospitals.

Small Authors Collaborate To Aid Fund

Two budding authors from the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, Eric Tindholm, 12, Calmar, and Rosetta Vanderheiden, 11, Harvey, are ending their collaboration effort to add money to the Van Allen fund with a contribution of approximately $10.00. Eric and Rosetta wrote a story about outer space, and sold copies for 10 cents apiece. Marie I. Tilly, educational psychologist at the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, said a number of requests were received for copies. Some persons sent the children a dollar and requested one copy. Tilly said the children were preparing for the closing of school so new articles have been postponed. She said the children would soon be going home. Eric has written six plays, some of which have been acted out by the children at the school and tape recorded. He is now working on a musical.

Indian Editor Notes 'Lack of Aloofness'

Sudhanshukumar Basu, editor of the Hindustan Standard, Calcutta, India, has been visiting the SUI campus as a guest of the University Theatre. He is in the United States as a participant in the Foreign Leader Exchange program of the U.S. Department of State. Basu spoke at a luncheon of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, Friday noon. Basu told about some of his impressions of America. He said that the American people lack the aloofness of the people of other nations he has visited. He said he is very impressed with the high American standard of living, and with the fact that "Americans aren't swell-headed about their obvious wealth."

BASU

Basu says the untouchables will gradually be trained to operate and produce the machines which have replaced them, and their social status will thus be raised. Basu arrived at SUI Wednesday night. He was guest at a Rotary luncheon Thursday noon. He spent Friday morning at the Communications Center sitting in on several journalism classes. Friday afternoon Basu watched several one-act plays at the University Theatre. He is scheduled to leave Iowa City this morning. Basu has been chief editor of the Hindustan Standard since 1951. The paper is a morning daily English-language paper with a circulation of 45,000. It is published in Calcutta with a New Delhi edition.

Osborn Certified as Specialist in Nutrition

A member of the SUI home economics staff has been certified as a specialist in human nutrition by the American Board of Nutrition. Margaret O. Osborn, associate professor of Home Economics, received her Ph.D. in nutrition at SUI in 1951. She took the examination for certification last year but did not receive her acceptance until this spring. To be eligible for certification a person must have a Ph.D. in a biological science or an M.D. from an approved school.

Instrument Weight Limits U.S. Satellite Experiments

By ROGER DAHMS Staff Writer

The weight limitation placed on U.S. satellite instruments is the main deterrent to some research projects in space, according to SUI Physicist Carl McIlwain.

In comparing the reported Sputnik III instruments to those on U.S. satellites, McIlwain said, "The U.S. is doing everything the Russians are doing with the exception of limitation does not allow."

SPUTNIK III, launched Thursday, weighed 2,925 pounds. The largest of U.S. satellites, Explorer III, weighed 31 pounds.

Five of the experiments aboard Sputnik III are not planned for U.S. satellites in the immediate future because they are too large and heavy.

McIlwain compared the U.S. satellite instruments with the Sputnik III instruments announced by the Soviets. Those not immediately planned by the U.S. and McIlwain's explanations are:

1. PRESSURE OF THE atmosphere in the upper layers. "Even though this may be determined by observing the satellite in orbit, a more precise method is desired. We could have used this instrument, too, but we are not aware of one within our weight limitation."

2. COMPOSITION OF THE upper atmosphere. "We have done such experiments by other means, but these instruments are large and very heavy."

3. CONCENTRATION OF positive ions. "Our present instruments are too large and heavy."

4. COMPOSITION AND variations of the primary cosmic radiation. "These instruments are very large. The SUI cosmic ray laboratory has many instruments the researchers there are using which are launched by balloons and rockets."

5. DISTRIBUTION OF protons and heavy nuclei in the cosmic rays. "These instruments also are heavy. We are using instruments which telemeter information from balloons and rockets."

Those experiments on Sputnik III which are also aboard U.S. satellites are:

1. THE INTENSITY OF THE magnetic field of the earth. "This is aboard Vanguard I."

2. THE INTENSITY OF THE sun's corpuscular radiation. "These instruments will be aboard the next Explorer."

3. MICROMETEORS and temperature inside and on the outside of the satellite. "This is aboard Vanguard I and Explorers I and III."

McIlwain said of one Sputnik III instrument, which measures the magnitude of the electrical charges in the satellite, "We, too, could have but it is not planned."

He questioned the Russian attempt to measure the intensity of the earth's electro-static field. "It is important," McIlwain said, "but it is fundamentally difficult to make such an instrument. This may be only an attempt by the Russians."

The Soviets are using solar batteries and electro-chemical sources of power. Vanguard I is the only U.S. satellite using solar batteries. The Explorers are using mercury batteries, McIlwain said.

SPUTNIK III transmits radio signals on 20,005 megacycles. The U.S. satellites use a frequency of 108 megacycles.

"For our frequency," McIlwain said, "it is necessary to have a line-of-sight path to the satellite to receive the signal."

"On 20,005 megacycles it is possible to pick up the transmission after the satellite goes over the horizon due to refractions and reflections by the ionosphere," he said.

Sweeping Reorganization Of U.N. Announced

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld Friday announced a sweeping reorganization of the U.N. Secretariat. He will assume personal direction of the disarmament problem.

The shift of the disarmament problem was coupled with an announcement that Anatoly Dobrynin, former Soviet diplomat, has been appointed head of the important Department of Political and Security Council Affairs. The department previously handled disarmament questions.

Other changes included:

- 1. Retirement of Benjamin

Cohen of Chile, top Latin American in the Secretariat, as under-secretary in charge of trusteeship.

2. Assignment of Dragoslav Prohitch of Yugoslavia, now under-secretary in charge of the political department, to replace Cohen.

3. Transfer of T. G. Narayanan, an Indian, from the political department to the office of the secretary general as a personal assistant on disarmament.

These changes and several others will take effect July 1. They have been under consideration since Hammarskjöld began his 5-year term April 10.

Algeria—

ed with Anti-Americanism that have flourished in Algeria since early this year. He referred caustically to the "ministry of good offices" which he said would have led to a "diplomatic Diembiophum."

An American-British "good offices" mission tried to get France and Tunisia on speaking terms after French warplanes bombed a Tunisian village in retaliation to the alleged support of the Algerian rebels by Tunisians. Felix Gailard's government fell as a result of his attempt to get national assembly approval of the "good offices" recommendations.

THE "COMMITTEE OF Public Safety" included representatives from the major cities of Oran, Constantine, Philippeville, as well as a number of smaller cities.

Pflimlin—

had been seized and placed under arrest for subversion.

7. More than 16,000 additional police and guards implemented the 20,000-man police force in Paris.

Riot police were everywhere in Paris, a city suddenly without its usual gaiety and grim under a cold, rainy sky.

Pflimlin demanded, and received, powers similar to those enacted for control of Algeria in 1955, permitting him to curb press freedoms, limit public assembly, the right to carry arms and the right to form political organizations.

Four extreme rightist organizations already have been ordered dissolved.

There was no violence outside the assembly, as there was last Tuesday when rightwingers tried to march on the building.

Police cordons and mobile guard units shielded the assembly, the Government made no bones about its determination to smash any insurrection.

IT APPEARED the Government was trying to pressure the rebellious Algerians settlers and troops under Generals Raoul Salan and Jacques Massu who demand De Gaulle or nothing.

It was reported that ships loaded with supplies for the 400,000-man French Army in Algeria were being held up at Marseilles.

The Assembly boomed with animosity between factions as Pflimlin went before it to demand extraordinary power to "smash all the ramifications of this anti-republic plot."

His voice was sharp and incisive. "The republic is facing a plot," he said.

"We have taken and will take further steps to uproot this plot. Our Government has been deliberately and systematically smeared in a campaign aiming at the creation of an insurrectional situation in Algeria and France.

Rightwing deputy Jean Lipkowski, a De Gaulle supporter, visited the General earlier at Colombey-les-Deux-Églises, eased the situation somewhat by announcing that De Gaulle "will place himself at France's service only within the absolute framework of Republican legality."

Another rightist, Jean Louis Tixer-Vignancour, evoked a storm in the assembly and leftwing shouts of "Fascist" when he passionately defended the Algerian rebels and shouted "long live the Algerian revolution."

It appeared for a moment that there would be a brawl, but assembly president Andre Le Troquer restored order, and expressed his "contempt" for Tixer-Vignancour.

THE RIGHTISTS demanded an all-out effort to crush the four-year-old Algerian rebellion. Their main contention was of Pflimlin, with his policy of "negotiating through strength" to end the war, might eventually let the Algerians take over.

Pflimlin attacked both the left and right in calling for extraordinary powers.

He assured Parliament that he would not use the powers "against one side only."

He insisted, "I don't want either extreme (left or right) to approve my bill."

The rightists obliged him. But the Communists, who have denounced De Gaulle as a "dictator" and have called for strikes to express opposition to the General, went along with Pflimlin as the lesser of two evils.

Student Still Unconscious From Plunge

An SUI student who fell from a third floor landing in Schaeffer Hall Thursday night was still unconscious Friday night.

John D. Cox, 23, Newton, suffered a skull fracture and head lacerations when he apparently fell over a third floor banister to a landing midway between the third and second floor, and rolled to the second floor.

There were no witnesses to the mishap, but several people arrived on the scene shortly after it happened.

According to police, Cox had gone to the building to meet James Cameaux, 328 North Dubuque St. and Joan O'Hara, 127 Melrose Ave., instructors in the French Department.

Detective Lieutenant Harland Sprinkle said police were investigating the accident, but that they had not been able to talk to Cox because he had not regained consciousness since the fall.

TABES IN THE WOODS TOKYO (UP) — The U.S. Army Friday called off an intensive search for an Army police car missing for 24 hours with a prisoner and two guards when the vehicle returned to Camp Drake.

The two guards, who set off Thursday to take the prisoner to another camp, said they took a wrong turn and had spent the entire day lost in the maze of Japanese roadways.

Says Caril Was Willing Accomplice

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) — Mass killer Charles Starkweather's confession today pictured his 14-year-old girl friend as the possible knife-killer of a woman lashed to a bed and his eager, loving accomplice in other murders.

For the first time in the two-week trial, Starkweather, 19, lost his composure as he listened to his own account of the January murder rampage in which 10 of a series of 11 victims died.

The red-haired garbage hauler hid his head between his hands while his confession was read to the jury which will decide if he dies in the electric chair.

The portions of his confession read today brought to three the murders which Starkweather says his skinny, big-eyed sweetheart, Caril Fugate, either committed or took part in.

He indirectly accused her of slaying to death Lillian Fencil, a maid in the home of wealthy Lincoln businessman C. Lauer Ward.

Starkweather admitted murdering Ward and his wife — she by a knife thrown into her back and he with gunfire as the businessman tried to flee.

Starkweather took the maid to her bedroom, his confession said, but "all I did was tie her feet and hands at the bedpost. . . she was moaning and groaning so I put a pillow case over her head. Then I went downstairs."

"Caril was upstairs with the maid. She had my knife."

The maid was found stabbed to death. Starkweather has also accused Caril of the murder of Carol King, 16, a pretty Benet, Neb., high school girl, and of pumping bullets into the last murder victim, Marie Collison of Great Falls, Mont.

Both Caril and Starkweather are charged with the murder of Miss King's boy friend, Robert Jensen. The killer's sweetheart is being held in a mental hospital pending a ruling on whether she is old enough to stand trial for her life.

According to Starkweather's confession, Caril witnessed and rejoiced in the murder of her mother, her step-father, and her baby half-sister — the second, third and fourth Starkweather victims.

Starkweather said Caril returned to him after the killings and said "This is what we always wanted."

"What did she mean?" Starkweather's interrogator asked.

"Oh, we had talked about leaving here and Caril said we would if we had to bump them off."

For a week, "Charley" and Caril lived as man and wife in the home of her slain family, he said.

"We was making love all the time," the confession said.

"How often?" "Every night and morning and twice on Sunday."

"Is that actually true?" "Oh, maybe five or six times on Sunday."

The teen-age marauders had a lovers' spat after the massacre in the Ward home, Starkweather said, and "I even gave her a gun and told her to shoot me with it."

Although Caril fled into a deputy's arms when the couple was trapped near Douglas, Wyo., Starkweather said she had never tried to escape from him earlier during the murder rampage.

"She had a gun all the time," Starkweather said in his confession.

Starkweather's show of emotion came when the confession detailed how he threw a hunting knife across a room and into the throat of Caril's 2-year-old half-sister.

His confession was read into the record in a defense attempt to prove that Starkweather was insane during the killings.

Shortly before the trial was adjourned for the weekend, however, Starkweather's father followed a family pattern of insisting that "Charley" was not deranged.

"I don't think he used good judgement," the father, Guy Starkweather, testified.

Mercy Hospital Will Open New Section Sunday Mercy Hospital will celebrate National Hospital week with the opening Sunday of a $275,000 fourth floor section.

The new section, on the east wing of the hospital, is designed as a treatment area for the chronically ill and the long-term patients.

Unidentified Submarine Reported Off Canadian Coast

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — An unidentified submarine was reported seen Thursday night off the west coast of Vancouver Island, the Canadian Navy reported Friday. It ordered a search by planes and a destroyer escort.

The Canadian spokesman did not say how the submarine was spotted.

A few days ago a Canadian fisherman reported seeing two submarines 270 miles upcoast from Vancouver, B.C. The Navy searched but found no foreign vessels.

Will Probe Whether Negroes Denied the Right to Vote

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UP) — J. Ernest Wilkins, Negro member of the Federal Civil Rights Commission, said Friday the group would go to work in earnest next week to discover whether Negroes had been denied the right to vote.

He explained that the long delay in Senate confirmation of the Commission's executive director, Gordon M. Tiffany of New Hampshire, put the 6-member group far behind in its work. Tiffany was approved Wednesday after a delay of nearly three months.

Wilkins also predicted that southern states eventually would "have to give in" to the Supreme Court's school integration order. By 1975, he said, "they will wonder what all the shouting was about."

House Committee Approves Defense Reorganization Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee Friday approved a defense reorganization bill giving President Eisenhower most of the military command streamlining he asked, but less than he wanted in administrative control.

The president served notice that he will try to have the bill reshaped on the House floor to conform more closely with the recommendations he sent Congress two months ago.

He did this in a letter commending the committee's product "by and large."

With relatively minor exceptions, the committee bill would make the changes in the structure of the military establishment which Eisenhower and administration witnesses said were necessary to tighten up and simplify command over the kind of forces that will fight any future war.

Expert Says 1960 Before U.S. Could Launch King-Size Satellite

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UP) — A top Defense Department expert said Friday it would be 1960 before this country could afford to use its big military rockets to launch king-size scientific satellites of "one to several tons."

But Dr. Herbert York, chief scientist of the Advanced Research Projects Agency, said the Russians did not need a "monster" rocket to boost their one-and-one-half ton Sputnik III into orbit Thursday.

It could have been done with a rocket producing as little as 200,000 pounds of thrust using ordinary fuels, he said. Some scientists have said the rocket probably had a half-million pounds of thrust.

Send to Foreign Relations Committee Takes Over Anti-American Probe

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — An inquiry into the rough treatment given Vice-President Nixon on his Latin-American tour was taken over by the full Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday and expanded to cover anti-American violence elsewhere.

The committee decided to broaden the scope of the study to include the recent burning of U.S. Information Agency libraries in Lebanon. It is reported the committee also would look into other recent incidents, but no details were given.

Federal Judge Removed from Office Following Bribery Charges

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Judge Raulston Schoolfield was automatically removed from office Friday after the House impeached him on charges ranging from accepting bribes to protecting gamblers.

The action means the Senate, presided over by Chief Justice A. B. Neil, will try the case. Neil said that would be "soon."

Soviet-Captivating Texas Pianist Back in U.S. with Lilac Bush

NEW YORK (UP) — Van Cliburn, 23-year-old Texan whose piano playing captivated the Russians, arrived home Friday with suitcases full of gifts and a lilac bush to plant on the American grave of composer Sergei Rachmaninoff.

The gangling, bushy-haired pianist, who won first prize in the international Tchaikovsky contest in Moscow, said that he had found Russians to be much like Texans. His conclusion was: "If they like something, they absolutely go crazy, and if they don't like it they tell you so."

Explorer—

the middle of July.

DURING THE 49 DAYS of relay information to earth, the tape recorder gave out at least a half-billion count of cosmic and other radiation information, Ludwig said.

At altitudes of around 1,000 miles, the radiation-exploring apparatus met unexpected counting rates exceeding 35,000 a second, according to an international Geophysical Year report James A. Van Allen gave May 1 in Washington, D.C.

Van Allen, professor and head of the SUI Department of Physics, said Friday the intense radiation is still unidentified positively because the Explorer instruments only count the radiation strikes.

Van Allen said there is strong supporting evidence that the radiation is closely related to that which produces Northern Lights and magnetic storms in the ionosphere.

The radiation is quite likely the result of ionized gas particles shot out from the sun, Van Allen said.

"WHILE WE HAVE direct observations only as far out as 1,700 miles, this radiation intensity may well increase with altitude — perhaps all the way to the sun," Van Allen said.

"It is clear this newly observed radiation must be considered before man ventures into outer space," he said. "But it is not likely to be an insurmountable barrier to space travel."

Surgeon Claims Cure For Parkinson's Disease

NEW YORK (UP) — A leading neurosurgeon Friday presented 100 patients on whom he had operated as proof that Parkinson's Disease can be cured.

Dr. Irving S. Cooper, a professor at New York University Postgraduate Medical School and director of the Department of Neurosurgery, St. Barnabas Hospital, New York, said that the patients, who had the disease or similar nervous disorders, showed marked improvement.

The affliction, also known as "arkinsonism," is an involuntary movement disorder due to disease of the central nervous system.

Cooper, one of the developers of the surgical techniques of chemopallidectomy and chemothalamectomy, first showed films of the patients before surgery and then brought out patients to prove his contention that they could be cured.

The 35-year-old neurosurgeon brought the patients before some 400 medical specialists in nervous disorders from the U.S., Canada, South America and Europe attending a 3-day symposium on basal ganglia surgery for involuntary movement disorders.

Noting that many scientists and medical men still doubt there is a cure for Parkinsonism, Cooper said the patients were evidence of his success with the two surgical techniques.

Chemopallidectomy is a surgical procedure involving the injection of small amounts of absolute alcohol into the brain in the region of the globus pallidus. Chemothalamectomy involves a similar surgical procedure in the thalamic region of the brain.

A needle is inserted into the brain from a point approximately halfway between the ear and top of the skull. The alcohol, when injected, creates a lesion which destroys nerve cells and nerve fibers, thus reducing activities of the centers which produce tremors.

Among the patients was a magician, who, before being operated on, had little control of one hand due to involuntary muscular spasms. Because of this, he was forced to give up his trade. In his post-operative state, the magician's hand was back to normal and he performed a few tricks to demonstrate his recovery.

The patients, part of some 600 involuntary muscular disorder sufferers on whom Cooper has operated, all have been kept under surveillance since their operations which took place from one to five years ago.

Cooper said the patients "proved that it (the cure) lasts for at least five years."

Two other doctors attending the symposium, Henry T. Wycis, clinical professor of Neurosurgery at Temple University, and Ernest A. Spiegel, professor of Experimental Neurology at the university, presented their method for relief of Parkinsonism, known as pallidotomy.

This technique, developed by them in 1957 and first used in basal ganglia surgery a year later eliminates the use of alcohol in the operation. Instead, a stereotactic is used to guide electrodes to the brain, producing coagulation of the tissue.

Spiegel said the electrode method was more accurate than the others. He also contended that alcohol was "very unpredictable" when used in the brain and therefore, dangerous.

Cooper disputed this, however. He said that "nothing in the brain is predictable," but alcohol was reasonably predictable when injected into the brain. He also said he thought his surgical techniques were "the safest of its kind in the world."

Coad and Farm Bureau Prexy in Battle of Words WASHINGTON (AP) — Iowa's only Democratic congressman, Merwin Coad, said Friday the president of the American Farm Bureau threatened to "go to Iowa" to defeat him this fall.

Coad said Charles B. Shuman threatened him in this fashion following a sharp exchange Friday morning over a proposed feed grain referendum during a session of the House Banking Committee.

Shuman had been in the witness chair. Just as the hearing adjourned, Coad told a news conference, Shuman and an aide, John C. Lynn, approached him.

The bespectacled Coad quoted Shuman as telling him: "We're going to take a copy of the hearing transcript to Iowa. You're for a socialized agriculture."

Coad said he denied this, but that Shuman shot back: "Well, you're for Government controls."

"I SAID, 'You are for a Government program, too,'" Coad said. "It's just a matter of degree."

The Farm Bureau generally supports the Eisenhower Administration farm program.

Shuman could not be reached immediately but Lynn said there had been no intent to threaten Coad with political defeat.

"We never enter into any political campaigns," Lynn said. "All Mr. Shuman said was: 'I hope you won't mind if we let the Iowa Farm Bureau know about your philosophy.'"

A reporter asked Lynn what purpose that would have other than to influence the state Farm Bureau against Coad.

Lynn laughed and gave no direct answer.

Burley, 29-year-old Victor Jose Sued refused to sign a booking slip after flunking a sobriety test, officers said. He claimed diplomatic immunity and lunged at a photographer who tried to take his picture.

Says Iowa Continues To Break Iowa-Illinois Licensing Agreement

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter said Friday Iowa has for the past five years violated the Iowa-Illinois truck licensing reciprocity agreement.

In a letter to John M. Ropes, chairman of the Iowa Reciprocity Board, Carpenter said Iowa is charging a $250 compensation tax on the average Illinois motor carrier operating in Iowa "in clear violation of the reciprocity agreement."

"Despite this irregular conduct," Carpenter said, "Illinois has continued to abide by the agreement and has continued to extend reciprocity permits."

Ropes said "the continuation of such hostilities will bring about an immediate breakdown on reciprocal relations."

ed with Anti-Americanism that have flourished in Algeria since early this year. He referred caustically to the "ministry of good offices" which he said would have led to a "diplomatic Diembiophum."

An American-British "good offices" mission tried to get France and Tunisia on speaking terms after French warplanes bombed a Tunisian village in retaliation to the alleged support of the Algerian rebels by Tunisians. Felix Gailard's government fell as a result of his attempt to get national assembly approval of the "good offices" recommendations.

THE "COMMITTEE OF Public Safety" included representatives from the major cities of Oran, Constantine, Philippeville, as well as a number of smaller cities.
