

THIS GOOD MORNING

DENT. DISSIPATION. BETTER BUY. TRUJILLO'S FOLLY. SOME MORNINGS...

by Don Mitchell

ARE WE GETTING too nice? A long standing tradition has been smashed on campus in an attempt to turn young men into something they are not.

Dent students are henceforth forbidden to sit on the steps in front of the building and watch SUI's pretty lassies amble by. Law students across the street still are able to pursue this avocation.

A note was sent around to all Dental classes recently advising students of the new moral code... with an added admonition to keep the order on the QT.

Oh Lord, what are we coming to? BETWEEN THE LINES. Better follow the big money advice: You Auto Buy Now—'counta the price tag is going to jump in a few months.

Attractions of the 1959 models:—More chrome. —Longer and lower. —Huge depreciation. —More killability.

IN FRANCE there is something for everybody: De Gaulle for the right, the Commies for the left, and a good supply of wine for the middle.

IKE SAYS we are coming out of the recession. He must be right because he has just ordered four new jet airplanes for executive government use.

SOCIETY NOTES. A handful of SUI's grid stars are on tour every Saturday night. They make a round of all the parties, sans invitations, cash or supplies and make quarter-back sneaks at the ice box all night.

THIS CORNER'S campaign urging Greek organizations and others to sponsor foreign students is showing mild success. There are three Greek houses signed up, and two more are checking details—plus Currier Hall Association also checking into arrangements.

It's a tough project to sell, but more and more try it every year, it won't be long until the Greeks and other student groups sponsor as many as 40 foreigners.

DICTATOR TRUJILLO'S young squanders his country's foreign aid on Zsa Zsa Gabor and Kim Novak. Americans are taxed to give the Dominican Republic $1,300,000 a year and bad-mannered Romeo spent a cool million for a year's stay here. He's got a wife and six kids, but what the heck, when in the states do as the stars do.

As long as he's throwing all of our money around, he should be made to take Miles. Novak and Gabor home to ease our suffering a little.

THAT'S THE SPIRIT. In Santa Ana, Calif., the bar keeps are really smart. They've started a cocktail war. That beats gas wars all to heck... the soul being more important than an auto. In some of the gin mills the going rate is down to 35 cents a swill.

Any of that kind of 'soft-sell' among Iowa City tavern owners? STATISTICS. Some 59 have been killed so far in military-civilian air collisions this year. Think of that in relation to almost 700 traffic deaths in Iowa last year.

A NEW GAME called Nada is the rage of eastern college campuses. It's like bridge only you try to lose.

FACTS I'VE LEARNED late in life:—My favorite horse, even though he has red hair like me, can't always run. —Not all Republicans are bad—just the ones who hold public office. —Sometimes you can't even please half the people. —Not all mornings are good.

GOOD MORNING. Weather The outlook for today calls for partly cloudy skies with a moderate wind. The highs will be between 78-83. The low Tuesday night was in the mid-50s.

The forecast for Thursday is for partly cloudy skies with warmer temperatures. CARDINAL STRITCH ROME (UP) — An American doctor attending Samuel Cardinal Stritch Tuesday night expressed cautious optimism on his chances of recovery from the cerebral stroke the Cardinal suffered Monday.

Doctors said Stritch, 70, appeared to have weathered without complications the first 30 hours of the critical 40-hour post-stroke period.

Ike Asks Offensive To Help Business

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower called Tuesday night for a nationwide offensive to promote a business upturn. He said the recession appears to be slowing down, but cautioned against a disastrous wage-price spiral.

The President also promised again that certain decisions will be taken shortly in the field of taxation, with respect to the economic slump, which he said is not ended by any means.

PRESS SECRETARY James C. Hagerty told newsmen in response to questions that the President's remarks about an early decision on taxes should not be interpreted as meaning necessarily that the administration will advocate a cut.

The decision, when it comes, still could be either for or against a tax reduction, Hagerty added. Mr. Eisenhower's optimism and confidence in America's future was tempered by a note of warning. He urged both business and labor union leaders to guard against "another dismal sequence of ever-rising costs and prices."

American consumers, he cautioned, will express resentment "in ways that are clear and painful" unless future wage and price hikes are justified by increased productivity.

Without such justification, the President said, the whole economy will suffer. IN AN ADDRESS prepared for delivery at the economic mobilization conference of the American Management Assn., the President again called on private business to assume a major share of the job of restoring full prosperity in the United States.

Mr. Eisenhower spoke to about 2,000 American business leaders attending the mobilization conference at the Astor Hotel. His speech also was broadcast coast-to-coast on television and radio.

Hawkeyes Can Be Picked Up Today

Approximately 3,250 copies of the 1958 Hawkeye yearbook will be ready for distribution today from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

SUI students may pick up their copy at the first floor lobby of Communications Center, just inside the south-west door.

To obtain a copy of the yearbook students will need their ID cards. A yearbook receipt is not necessary.

The Hawkeyes may also be picked up from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday, and from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. next Monday and Tuesday.

5,750 Hawkeyes were printed this year. Nearly 600 will be sent to high schools, and approximately 1,800 will be given to graduating seniors.

Plans are already being made for next year's Hawkeye. Greta Lienbach, 43, Rockwell City, editor of the 1958-59 yearbook asks that those interested in staff positions file applications at the second floor lounge of the SUI Communications Center from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. tonight.

The Communists, renouncing for the moment their opposition to the 4-year-old war in Algeria, joined with the other anti-De Gaulle factions in the divided Assembly to give Pflimlin the powers he demanded by a vote of 475-100. The majority was even greater than that given to Pflimlin last week when he asked for emergency powers on the one hand and the danger of a Communist uprising on the other.

Pflimlin won the extension of emergency Algerian powers after grimly warning that "there is no possibility of avoiding Civil War" unless France maintains unity with Algeria.

Will Follow O'Connor Style Of Basketball

Will Be Youngest Coach In Conference By TOM BURROWS Staff Writer

Milton "Sharm" Scheuerman, 24-year-old protege of the late Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, was selected to be SUI's new basketball coach late Tuesday afternoon.

Sharm, as he is known to Iowa fans, who saw him play ball with Iowa's "fabulous five" Big Ten champions of 1955 and '56, was officially notified of his selection as head coach by George S. Easton, chairman of the Board in Control of Athletics by phone at 6:20 Tuesday night.

Scheuerman was personally chosen by O'Connor to serve as freshman basketball coach and then assistant varsity coach after he graduated from SUI in 1956.

O'Connor was killed in a car-truck collision near Waterloo April 22.

Mrs. Jane O'Connor was one of the first of the many friends to visit the Scheuerman home after the announcement was made.

Iowa's Athletic Director Paul Brechler in making the announcement said: "We feel we have a coach well qualified to carry on the tradition of fine Iowa basketball. We contacted many applicants, interviewed some and made our decision as that best for the University, the state, and the squad."

"Although Sharm is young, he is a mature thinker and capable of handling men. The Athletic Board felt that as an assistant and scout he had learned much and that he will do justice to the job ahead."

Scheuerman, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Scheuerman of Moline, Ill., was married to the former Karlen Sutton of Clinton in 1956. The couple have one 10-month old son, Tom.

He will be the youngest basketball coach in the Big Ten. When asked if he had expected the job, Scheuerman said, "I had hoped that I had a better chance than most of the papers thought I had."

Scheuerman said that he would continue the style of basketball that he learned under O'Connor. "That's the kind of ball I know best and play best; it would be foolish to change right now," he said.

He said that he had plans at COACH — (Continued on Page 4)

BLUE RIBBON FEATURE

Hancher Discusses Education

Where Do We Stand Now?

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher By DON MITCHELL Managing Editor

The explosion over American education sparked by a Russian earth satellite has cooled now, but education is still our prime project.

From the one-room country schoolhouse to the great universities, where do we stand now? Answers to some of education's biggest questions are given here by President Virgil M. Hancher, in an exclusive interview with The Daily Iowan.

Widely acclaimed in education circles as a champion of the American educational system and a firm believer in the liberal arts, Dr. Hancher has been called one of the great state university presidents in the United States.

He will be chairman of the Educational Policies Commission from 1958 to 1960 after being nominated for the post by Harvard University president James B. Conant.

Mr. Hancher was chairman of the American Council on Education from 1955 to 1956 and was president of the National Association of State Universities in 1953.

Mr. Hancher received his A.B. degree from SUI in 1918 and a Juris Doctor in Law here in 1924. He was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford and received his A.B. and M.A. degrees there in 1922 and 1927. He holds seven honorary doctorate degrees.

A Phi Beta Kappa scholar, Mr. Hancher was conducting a successful corporation law practice in Chicago when he was called to the University in 1940.

In the question and answer interview, Dr. Hancher says the American system of education is a superior system and he has expressed some fear that the liberal arts may be overrun in our quest for more scientists.

Q. What place is there for liberal arts in the scientific world? A. "I think that the thing to keep in mind is that the sciences are a part of liberal education and we shall need people of a broad perspective as well as deep insight in the future, perhaps more than in the past."

"Science is doing a valuable service telling us more about the nature of the world in which we live and enabling us to predict what will happen in physical and biological realms."

"On the other hand, we all need as we always have, the insight of religion, philosophy, drama, poetry and literature generally, as well as the graphic and plastic arts for breadth of mind and greatness of soul."

"There should not be a separation of scientific knowledge on the one hand, and literature and aesthetic on the other."

"Further, as our capacity to utilize scientific devices for destructive purposes increases, we need to keep in mind the beneficial uses of science for the increase of dignity of the individual and the cultural richness of the society."

Q. It is possible in the quest for science education necessary to national security, that liberal arts will be overlooked or simply given survey treatment? A. "Yes, I think it is a real and alarming possibility. The first reaction to Sputnik I seemed to be one of admiration for the Russian system which produced it. One might have thought there would be an immediate drive to require every school boy to have four years of physics, five of chemistry and six of mathematics."

"This attitude was dangerous and foolish because it seems quite clear that the U.S. could have launched a satellite of the Explorer type before Sputnik I if those in high places had thought that a satellite should be launched with the utmost speed."

"It is my hope that now we have sufficiently recovered our equilibrium so we can survey our educational system calmly and collectively, making wise changes and conserving good features of our present system."

Q. Do you feel that the extensive Government financial aids proposed by the Administration will interest more students in science? A. "Yes, I think this is true, but I'm afraid too many people proposing financial aids are overemphasizing the power of money in this connection."

Q. Is lack of tuition funds a major problem with those who might want to enter science? A. This may be a serious problem in individual cases. It is obvious that there are many potential scientists who have enough money. There are, however, marginal cases where financial troubles may keep a man from becoming a first rate scientist. If a young man of great ability had financial trouble he might need money for more than himself, he might have to support a family.

"Problems in this area are very complex and will not be solved by any single rule of thumb."

Q. Is it possible that Government controlled scholarships to the universities will become political plums or part of a localized spoils system? A. "It is possible, although one safeguard may be the

Sitting Pretty This Fall

Although the baseball season is just getting into full swing, it's not too early to begin thinking about the Hawk's home football games this fall . . . and where you'll be sitting.

One thing - you'll be sitting pretty if you're one of the 350 lucky students who get in line first at the Union Thursday morning to sign up for the card section.

Beginning at 8 a.m. in the East Lobby, 700 seats between the 20 and 40 yard lines will be allotted to 350 SUI students. Students will sign date or a buddy with them to the game.

A deposit of $2.50 is required, but you'll be refunded all except 50 cents of this at the end of the season. For this $2.50 deposit, you will be issued a receipt to pick up two badges before each home game in the fall.

The badge and an ID card will admit you to any seat in the card section, and there will be a special card section entrance open between 11:30 and 12:30 before each game.

This year, each student card section rooster will be given a black cape with a gold "I" on it which should provide for a colorful and effective card section, something SUI has lacked for too long.

In addition to the 700 seats allotted Thursday, 200 seats will be reserved for 100 freshmen to sign up for in the fall.

So this is YOUR chance. If you want to be sitting pretty at this fall's home football games, get to the Union early Thursday and sign up for what promises to be the liveliest Hawkeye card section in recent years.

Foreign Students In Housing Units

There's a vocal minority here on campus (at least we hope it's a minority), which sticks tenaciously to its pet prejudices come stones or high honor.

One of The Daily Iowan columnists has been conducting a running campaign to get housing units to sponsor foreign students here on a one-per-housing unit basis.

We heartily endorse this plea on the grounds that it is one of the few ACTIONS we here at SUI can take which will make itself directly felt in this country's relations with foreign peoples.

With anti-American riots in Lebanon, with Vice-President Nixon getting stoned and spat on in Peru and Venezuela, with the initiation of a Canadian Get-Tough-With-The-U.S. policy - with these and other indications that the United States is at least a few points behind in the global football game, we can think of no other way to gain so much at so little cost.

Yet from some of the personal letters received here at the office, it seems evident that a certain minority feels that sponsoring foreign students in housing units means advocating inter-racial marriage, pledging inferior human beings into self-styled elite groups, and all sorts of things the prejudiced mind terms evil.

Yet from its very beginning, our country has been enriched by a variety of cultures and peoples. Eating, talking, enjoying leisure time with students from other countries not only will help them get a clearer picture of the American way of life, but also will help us understand many of the problems unique to them.

It is all very well to hold a United Nations Day, to quote lofty phrases of friendship; but action, not talk, is the basis on which we will be judged by the people of foreign nations.

It's interesting to note that the vilest letter we received was anonymous, and the author admitted he was taking a coward's way out. We're at least thankful the letter writer realizes what he is.

Elmer's Last Bark

By Jerry Goldstein

things down at the city dog pound got a little out of paw. Last week, as an after thought on my 'message' for the week, I gave the box score on canines in greek houses.

one of the canine wonders told me . . . "sure, we are man's best friend, but some of those greeks are not men yet." well, kiddies, have no fears, for I went to bat for you again. I explained that some will never become men mainly because they belong to a sorority.

another pink-eyed lilly of the pound said that she wasn't against taking baths . . . but says she . . . "can you just picture 40 or more monsters coming home at different times and one by one deciding that I need a bath?" I was almost stuck here, but then I remembered back to the days when I was given a few baths. It always amazed me to see how wet my human got and how dry I remained. It does a dog's heart good to see a human in town work together, we might be able to really clean up the greek system.

it took about four or five hours of some fast barking to convince the Iowa city canines that a fraternity or sorority house is a good place to live. now that they are all ready to go and make the best of it . . . I say . . . greeks, go canine! surprise your housemother! delight your cook! and by the way . . . this is a great way to get back at the house manager.

now let me discuss some of the advantages. first of all, if you get one the size of benny (phi delts st. bernard) three or four of you can ride him to class. you can even put a keg around his neck and tell him to meet you between classes for that refreshing glass of milk. nothing picks you up in the morning like a good glass of cow juice.

if the university complains when your canine companion follows you into class, just tell them to go ahead and expel you. but don't forget to add that when you become rich and famous, they don't have to bother running after you with their honorary degrees. this gets 'em every time.

i think that a suggestion to the larger houses is in order now. to you i suggest getting a dachshund. the reason for this is quite logical . . . more of your members can pet it at the same time.

for those of you who are on the foreign kick, i have a small list of dogs that will keep you happy. german shepherds, mexican hairless, alaskan huskies, german short-haired pointers, french poodles, english bulldogs, and the most foreign of all . . . heinz 57. you see, dogs can make anyone happy.

one bit of advice before i close, don't cry over spilled milk . . . it only makes it salty for the dog. Spooooo go canine, greeks. if you need any help in finding just the right dog for your house . . . let me know. like i've said before, I know the boys at the city dog pound.

P.S. YES, ALL CAPITALS!!! THIS IS DONE AS A REBELLIOUS ACT - ALSO AS MY LAST ACT. STUDENTS . . . ELMER (THAT'S ME) HAS BEEN CANNED, FIRED, KICKED OUT BY THE TAIL. WITH MY LAST BARK, I WOULD LIKE TO QUOTE FROM GRANVILLE HICK'S BOOK, "SMALL TOWN."

. . . I am aware that I have said and can say little that hasn't been said before. It seems to me, however, that there are certain ideas that many persons profess to accept, but that few act upon. One way of disposing of an awkward fact is to say "everyone knows that." Perhaps everyone does, but what difference does that make if nobody takes the knowledge into account?

MY ACCOUNT BOOK IS BULGING. I QUOTE MR. HICK'S BOOK BECAUSE I BELIEVE WHAT HE HAS SAID IS TRUE. IF I HAVE MADE YOU LAUGH, I AM HAPPY. IF MY SARCASTIC TONE HAS HIT YOU BELOW THE BELT, I AM EVEN HAPPIER. SOON NOW I WILL ARF, ARF FOR FOR THE LAST TIME AND AS MY TAIL SLOWLY DESCENDS BEHIND THE DAILY IOWAN PRESSES I REMAIN YOUR CONSCIENCE - A FLEA BITTEN, BROKEN DOWN MONGREL, ALWAYS HUNGRY, SLEEPY, BITTER AND OUT OF A JOB.

The problems of higher education present concern over the mobilizing of our best brains for the common good."

Q. Who should select Government scholarship students?

A. "I should think the selection of these scholars should be left in the hands of people in the colleges who are accustomed to this type of thing."

Q. Should selection of these scholars be made of a basis of need or a basis of ability?

A. "Certainly it is to be hoped that selection will be based on ability with the extent of the award being determined by the need. Perhaps some could be given the honor of winning the awards even though no money is needed, with no cash award. The money could then be passed on to someone who really needs it."

Q. Should scholarships be apportioned in equal numbers to each institution, or should the most students go to the schools offering the best science courses?

A. No I don't think they should be apportioned in equal numbers to each institution.

"I would be disposed to think perhaps some middle ground should be chosen which would guarantee that the institution to which the scholar went would be of good calibre. They should be distributed - one school may be better in physical sciences and another better in biological sciences."

Q. What difference, if any, will there be between public and private institutions regarding the Government scholarships?

A. "If the scholarships are low in amount, they wouldn't cause much trouble. If they are high enough to pay for the full cost of the institution, I would expect the scholarships to be awarded to public institutions which are under public control and audit, or I would expect the private schools to submit to public audit or accountability."

Q. Has Iowa industry been hurt by lack of students entering science?

A. "I think not, because I think a great number of science students have left this state for other states."

"When equal opportunities are made available in Iowa, these students will remain in Iowa."

Q. How far has science education come since you were an undergraduate student?

A. "It has become increasingly attractive, especially to men. When I was a student, relatively few men were attracted to physics and chemistry as a career. Now there are tremendous possibilities. This means that there has been a large expansion of this curricula in colleges and universities. Development of atomic fission - first the atomic bomb and then the peaceful use - has enormously stimulated interest in science in the last 12 years. I expect the earth satellite will do the same."

Q. How much money is necessary for the operation of the State University of Iowa?

A. "We feel that an institution of character and high standing as the State University of Iowa should have operating funds to enable it to perform in the same manner as the top 15 universities in the United States."

"At the May meeting of the Board of Regents the board unanimously adopted a resolution that at least $68 million would be needed to meet the building needs of the three state institutions for the next 12 years."

"The goal as stated in the resolution could be achieved in one of two ways: either by a special session of the legislature to propose a bond issue to be authorized by the people in a referendum vote at the November election this year, or an appropriation for buildings of at least $26 million by the legislature when it meets next in January 1959 and the submission of a bond issue proposal for the balance of the $68 million to the people at the general election in November of 1960."

"There are sound reasons for this approach. We have a small adult working population in relation to a large school and college population. It seems unfair to burden the current adult population with very large annual appropriations for a purpose that is to be spread over half a century. Buildings which we need to construct will be utilized by thousands of students yet unborn."

"A second reason for this approach is that it would provide with a steady flow of funds, thereby avoiding expensive patch-work repairs and needless stop-gap alterations. Inconveniences can be tolerated if it is known that they will end in two to five years, but when there is no assurance of a terminal date for the near future demands and for short term improvements and alterations, we encounter many problems and real planning under these circumstances is virtually impossible."

"In my judgment, the University has spent many thousands of dollars in repairs and alterations which could have been avoided if we had had a consistent flow of funds for alterations and new buildings since the end of World War II. In all of this we have seen an example of being 'penny wise and pound foolish.'"

"The University, the Board of Regents, successive governors and legislatures have quite rightly placed emphasis on greater salaries rather than buildings. We have had to emphasize salaries because our schedules were low. On the other hand, in order to attract and keep faculty members of high calibre, it is necessary to have good offices and research equipment.

"On several occasions, we have offered relatively high salaries, only to be turned down by prospective faculty members because they have wished to stay in new buildings even at a lower wage, rather than be in cramped and overcrowded facilities."

Q. Do you foresee a time when public education institutions on all levels will price themselves out of the business and people will refuse to pay more taxes for them?

A. "No, if our people keep in mind what their ancestors and past generations have understood . . . that the door to education at all levels must be kept open. If we ever get to the point where wealth, social position or political pull are the only passports to education, America will have lost its ideals and its dreams."

"When that day comes, we will have no good influence on the world and there would be no reason to worry about what would become of us."

Q. Are today's schools being built with too many frills at higher cost than is necessary for a functional plant?

A. "With building costs so high . . . new construction is almost prohibitively high, it is important that the taxpayer get a lot of value for each dollar spent. The human spirit flourishes on beauty quite as much as on utility. It is conceivable that the spires of Oxford were the wisest investment the British people ever made."

"They serve no utilitarian purpose. They have, however, lifted the aspirations of countless generations of public servants, scholars, bishops, poets and writers."

"Were they worth the cost?"

"The Wise Teacher once said 'man does not live on bread alone.'"

Q. Is it possible that students on all levels are being given too much vacation time in the summer?

A. "In all discussions having to do with the length of the school year, it should be borne in mind that there is value in periods of vacation. I am not the one to say that present periods are too long or too short. We do know that the accelerated medical training in World War II produced more failures than that of any other period."

"It is reliably reported that it takes nine months to produce a baby and the process cannot be accelerated to advantage of baby or parents. The same applies generally to formal education. I am more concerned about a good result than a hasty one."

Q. Is it a hindrance to high school students and others in lower grades to be absent from school for the entire summer?

A. "If we are going to run summer schools, that would be the time to teach driver training, baton twirling, swimming and other things that often take up the school year. That would leave the school year for more academic pursuits."

Q. Are student minds likely to be more active during those years when they are in high school?

A. "Nature has wisely provided that those are the learning years. If we don't take advantage of them and encourage these students, we shall sustain a loss. I never remember thanking those in my early years who forced me to study and to learn great literature, but now I thank God I was encouraged."

Q. Of what value is a foreign language to a student who will not use it in later life?

A. "First, I can say that the study of a foreign language gave me a better understanding of my own language. Translations from one language to another gives the student an understanding of the precise meaning of words in his own language. Good acquaintance with a foreign language helps students escape from provincialism."

Q. Is there a trend now to use foreign languages more than in the past?

A. "There is a trend to use them more now than in the past. In the Netherlands you might only live 50 miles from where a different language is spoken. We have uses now for foreign languages we did not dream of not too many years ago."

Q. At what age should students begin to learn a foreign language?

A. "At his mother's knee. To most Americans, until quite recently, all languages were dead languages . . . quite remote. That is not at all true today."

Q. Should a young person with no desire to attend college or a university be encouraged to attend a technical school, if he is so inclined?

A. "One of the most remarkable things about human beings is their diversification of talents. For some, abstract thinking comes easier than to others. Indeed, this is necessary to a college student. There are those on the other hand, whose gifts would better suit them to attend a technical institute. There will be still some who do not wish to go to school."

Q. Is it possible that too much emphasis is being put on the credit or semester hour by the system and the student instead of mastery of subject matter?

A. "Yes, I think that it is. The person who has 126 hours (SUI's College of Liberal Arts graduation requirement) and thinks, therefore he is educated is in for a big surprise. I would like to see formal general education completed with the end of the sophomore year. Then the student could become well grounded in his chosen field. I think any student would be better equipped to meet the world if he is master of one subject. This is better than to have a melange of courses for a minimum number of hours for a major. In other words, we should have general education for breadth and perspective and a special area for depth and scholarship."

Q. Is it good for a student to help himself through school by working?

A. "I know of people who think every student should work his way through school. I never worked in school except for a class I taught when I was in law school. I felt my education was important enough to be given my full time."

"I think our standards should be set with no regard to those who work. Scholarships, loans or other funds should be available for these students who now have to work. I suspect most of those who have worked their way would have preferred full time study, had it been their lot."

Q. What would be the effect if each state institution in Iowa were governed by a separate board of regents?

A. "We had that in Iowa until 1909 and that created such an unsatisfactory condition that the governor and legislature set up one board for the three institutions."

"The nine members on the board are given a great responsibility. They must spend at least two days a month on board business and have other meetings with the institutions and they must constantly study the course of education generally."

"This makes it difficult for the single board to advance a single institution."

"Where separate boards exist, as in Oklahoma, North Carolina and other places, there has been a tendency to create a 'super-board' to coordinate the other boards."

"Viewing the situation from every angle, I am convinced that having a single board is the best way in Iowa."

"As long as the Board of Regents continues to be made up of high minded people who serve from a sense of public duty and who act without political motives, our system will continue to be the best."

Q. How free should a student be to choose his own courses?

A. "A student from elementary school through college, in a free society, in consultation with his parents and competent advisors, should be free to pursue his interests, whether music, science, social science or the humanities."

"This should not give him the right to an unfettered selection of courses. Basic to all is comprehension of the mother tongue. Furthermore, there must be enough general education to make the student at home in the world."

"The purpose of education is to bring the student up to date in the world so there should be good grounding in general education."

"As a student grows older he should be allowed to develop competence in those areas of his interest. But if his major is music, it is quite proper that his advisor would select the courses in music he would take and their sequence."

"He may not always agree with the choices, but he will avoid remedial and grievous gaps in his knowledge if he is required to proceed by those familiar with the field so he will fulfill requirements for proficiency in the field."

Q. What can be done to motivate students to attend college, other than scholarships?

A. "The thing that will most quickly motivate students to go to college is a respect by them and by society for learning."

Q. What can be done to keep Iowa's most valuable resources — her students — in Iowa?

A. "What Iowa needs most to keep her most valuable resources is an economy extensive enough to give them employment."

"A deeper reason will be the realization of businessmen, professional people and the citizenry in general, that the best brains in the long run are the cheapest brains because they produce more."

"New York is in many ways our greatest city. There are few fields which don't take their cues from New York."

"Why?"

"In the earliest days it was not our largest city, nor was it our largest sea port. I don't know any one who can explain all the reasons why it is our greatest city."

"But, a reason may be that beginning in and about 1830 to 1850, and more accelerated now, it has made an effort to recruit people of the very first ability. Law firms and banks and great industries all recruit. If you get enough smart people in an area they will create wealth. They will do even far more than that in culture and the arts."

"If Iowa wants to keep its best people here, Iowa's businesses, law firms and industries, and everything else, should not let the best brains go all across the country, but hold them here."

"If we retain enough intelligent people in our state they will create wealth and the kind of society we would like Iowa to become."

House Sub-Committees Approve Education Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — House education experts voted Tuesday to set up a $1 billion Federal scholarship and loan program to step up the output of scientists and other space-age specialists.

Eight members of two House education subcommittees, meeting jointly, unanimously put their stamp of approval on a compromise between President Eisenhower's aid-to-education recommendations and more sweeping Democratic proposals.

The legislation must be approved by the full education committee before it can be sent to the House floor for action.

The bill was designed to enable the United States to keep pace with Soviet technical and scientific education in the missiles-satellite era. It would set up a 4-year program to provide gifted students with Federal scholarships, loans, and fellowships. It also would authorize other aids to bolster public school courses in science, mathematics and foreign languages.

The compromise science bill would authorize:

- 1). 25,000 Federal scholarships of up to $1,000 annually to help bright but needy students go to college.
- 2). An expenditure of $40 million the first year and $60 million annually for the next three years.
- 3). Federal grants of $60 million annually to improve science, mathematics and language equipment.
- 4). Grants of $10 million annually to improve public school teaching in these fields.

Happy Sharm Greet Friends, Talks Basketball

Neighbors, Phone Calls Deluge Home

By DICK LYNES
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

A very happy, a very confused Milton Scheuerman ran from one end of his home to the other Tuesday evening, answering the phone, posing for pictures and talking seriously about Iowa basketball. Sharm, who prefers that name to Milton, had just been notified that he was the new Iowa basketball coach, succeeding the late former coach, Frank (Bucky) O'Connor.

His appointment comes just four days after his 24th birthday, May 16, and less than two years after he was graduated from the University with a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

As such, Sharm is the youngest varsity basketball coach in Iowa history. He is also the youngest basketball coach in the Big Ten and without a doubt, probably one of the youngest coaches in the nation.

Friends and relatives throughout the state also knew of his appointment and his phone jangled endlessly as they called in their congratulations.

His mother, who had come to the Scheuerman home at 717 Dearborn earlier in the day to take care of Thomas, the Scheuerman's 8-month old son, held the sleepy-eyed child while Carolyn Spahn, 44, Mapleton, in whose wedding Karlen, Sharm's wife, will be bride's maid, warmed milk for the six o'clock feeding.

Mrs. "Bucky" O'Connor was there to wish her husband's successor the best. She left after friends arrived at the home. Her husband died in an automobile crash near Waterloo April 22.

A smiling Nolden Gentry, center and co-captain on the basketball team, dropped by to congratulate the new coach. Sharm and Nolden almost immediately began talking basketball.

"I'm very happy with the selection," quipped Nolden in a broad smile as Sharm stood near him, hands on his hips.

Sharm who was dressed in a blue shirt and blue khaki pants, asked Daily Iowan photographer Johann Moore if he should change into a suit. He didn't have time as the phone rang again.

Sharm said that he was completely in the dark about his selection until Dr. George Easton, chairman of the Board in Control of Athletics called him about 6:20.

"I had hoped I'd be in the picture for the job a lot more than the papers had mentioned. Other than that I didn't know much more than what I had read. Most papers had been mentioning the big name college coaches and it made me wonder," Scheuerman said.

The Scheuerman's had planned on going to Des Moines today. They had tickets for the stage production "Auntie Mamie." Sharm's mother had come to take care of young Tom.

When the phone wasn't busy, Sharm was trying to reach his brother, Tom, a student at Northwestern University, but was unable to. Tom, top Wildcat baseball pitcher, was in Chicago trying out with the White Sox Tuesday evening.

While he could, Sharm talked seriously about Iowa basketball. "I plan to continue much as Bucky would have done. That's the way I've played, that's the way I've learned and I can't think of any reason to change. Anyway, it won't be Bucky; now we'll see what it will do for me."

Sharm's wife, the former Karlen Sutton of Clinton, was equally as busy as she greeted well-wishers, ran back and forth to the kitchen to check the milk-warming process and attended to her son. "I don't know what to say. It's all so wonderful. What is there to say?"

Sharm doesn't know when he officially takes over the new position despite the fact that the appointment was effective at once. His first job will be that of recruiting.

Yankees, Giants Post Wins; Maintain Leads in Standings

DETROIT — The Baltimore Orioles, sparked a pair of home runs by Bob Nieman and a key catch by right fielder, Al Pilarcik, turned back Detroit 6-4 Tuesday and extended the Tigers' losing streak to six games.

CLEVELAND — Bob Riverboat Smith, a 30-year-old rookie left-hander, pitched a three-hitter Tuesday night as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians 6-3.

PHILADELPHIA — The St. Louis Cardinals, driving toward a contending spot in the National League race, defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 5-0 Tuesday night for their 11th victory in their last 13 games.

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates blasted out of a five-game losing streak Tuesday night with a flurry of long hits, posting a 12-3 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

CINCINNATI — San Francisco's Giants finally wrenched free from a tie game with an eighth-inning uprising good for two runs and a 4-2 victory Tuesday night over Cincinnati's Redlegs.

KANSAS CITY — Ned Carver doled out 10 hits Tuesday night but lusty hitting by his Kansas City teammates gave him his fifth pitching victory as the Athletics downed the Washington Senators 7-3.

MILWAUKEE — Duke Snider, at peace with the Dodgers once more, crashed an 11th-inning, pinch-hit double that scored the deciding run Tuesday night as Los Angeles took a 6-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

present in regard to hiring an assistant and would make no major decision until he had a chance to confer with Athletic Director Brechler.

Scheuerman has been on the road a great deal lately talking to freshmen basketball prospects. Scheuerman scored a total of 596 points in 71 games as a regular guard in his three seasons with the Hawkeyes. In his senior year Scheuerman was credited by O'Connor as being the "smart tactician" that helped Iowa win so many games. Iowa was second in the National College basketball tournaments that year.

"Sharm is cordial, friendly, intelligent and very personable," Athletic Director Brechler said. "His fine personal integrity and the fact that he is an Iowa graduate were considered by the Athletic Board as strong points in his favor."

Cards Give Up Al Dark for Cub Pitcher

ST. LOUIS — The sixth-place but rising St. Louis Cardinals reinforced their pitching staff Tuesday by acquiring right-handed hurler Jim Brosnan from the Chicago Cubs in return for veteran shortstop Al Dark.

No money changed hands, the Cards front office reported. The Red Birds said they intend to insert the 28-year-old Brosnan, 3-4, into their pitching rotation immediately. Lindy McDaniel and Vinegar Bend Mizell, two other starters, have had their troubles lately.

THE TRADE was the first major deal engineered by freshman General Manager Bing Devine of the Cardinals. Devine took over the reins from Frank Lane, now Cleveland general manager.

The deal had been a conversation piece between Cub and Cards officials for six weeks. The 35-year-old Dark, in his 13th season as a big leaguer, has been in and out of the Cardinals lineup this season. Just before the trade Manager Fred Hutchinson had him on the bench in favor of bonus baby Dick Schofield, who covers more ground and has a stronger throwing arm.

Dark's last four times at bat were in pinch-hitting roles and he delivered base hits each time to raise his average to .297 for the young season.

IN PITTSBURGH where the Cubs opened a two-game series with the Pirates, Chicago Vice-President John Holland said Dark will play at third base. He added:

"We felt that Alvin could give us the experience on the infield that we need."

shortly after the trade was announced to join the Cardinals in Philadelphia where they take on the Philadelphia Phillies.

DARK, ONE OF the best hit-and-run men in the game, came to the Cards from the former New York Giants in 1956 in a multiple-player trade in which he and Red Schoendienst of the Cards were the key men. Schoendienst is now with Milwaukee.

Dark, a former halfback at Louisiana State University, batted .285 in his first season with the Cardinals and was instrumental in lifting them into the first division for their seventh-place finish in 1955. He takes a National League lifetime average of .292 to the Cubs.

Brosnan started in the Cubs minor league organization in 1947. His big league career mark is 11-14 and includes a 4-1 edge over the Cardinals.

In eight starts this year his 3-4 record showed 5 1/2 innings pitched, 18 earned runs, 29 walks and 24 strikeouts for a 3.18 ERA.

Faculty Football Tickets Available

University faculty and non-academic personnel connected with the University must apply for their I-Books for next fall's six home football games May 19-23.

Price of the books is $10.50. Applications for the six reserved seats should be mailed to the Athletic Ticket Office, accompanied by cash or checks. Applications will not be accepted if brought to the ticket windows.

Only people whose name appears on the full time University budget September 1 are eligible for the books. Those joining the staff between May 23 and September 1 can apply at the time of their employment.

People leaving the staff before September 1 will be given a refund of their payment.

In a statement issued Tuesday, Paul W. Brechler, Director of Athletics, said that attempts would be made to seat any number of people in a group who apply together. One person is eligible for two books unless two persons in the same family work for the University, then the limit is two books per family.

Contributions to O'Connor Memorial Fund Total $2,135

Contributions to the scholarship fund established at Iowa in memory of Coach Frank "Bucky" O'Connor now total $2,135.15, according to university officials. Donations have come from 159 contributors in Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Missouri.

The Frank "Bucky" O'Connor Memorial Scholarship Fund was established at the request of Mrs. O'Connor, who asked that contributions be sent in lieu of floral remembrances. The fund has continued to grow in tribute to O'Connor and his high ideals and standards.

The fund is to be used for scholarships for Iowa students, with preference given to members of the basketball or golf teams. They will be awarded by the University committee on scholarships, students aid, and awards.

O'Connor also was coach of the Iowa golf team from 1949 through 1956.

University President Virgil M. Hancher said Tuesday that he was pleased with the response to the fund from throughout Iowa and neighboring states, and that its continued growth is expected. He said that organizations in various communities are known to be engaged in activities in behalf of the fund.

Contributions should be sent to the University Business Office, with checks or money orders made payable to the Frank "Bucky" O'Connor Memorial Scholarship Fund.

JUDICIARY Poo's, DeHoogh, Lupton, Bittle
SECRETARY Danials, Spielman, Ward, Pillard, Fassero, Thorson, Karrys, VonVoltenberg, Steinmaus, Lauman

New Type of Dorm Government

An experiment in SUI student government will be initiated Thursday when three sets of officers will be selected for the 900 women who will live in Burge Hall next year.

THE DORMITORY, which eventually is slated to hold 1,200 occupants, will be divided into three houses. A president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and judiciary chairman will be selected for each house. Officers for a fourth house will be selected in 1959 upon its completion.

The plan is an experiment, according to Miss Edith McClusky, assistant head counselor at Currier, because it will give an opportunity for expansion and flexibility. A constitution will not be drawn up until experience has shown that type of government is needed.

THE PURPOSE of this arrangement according to Miss Anne Toogood, A3, LeGrange, Ill., member of the Burge Hall planning committee, is to provide a flexible program which will enable every girl to participate according to her interest.

"Since there will be only 300 girls in each house," she said, "there will be an opportunity for closer contact and greater participation in town and campus activities."

Initial plans for this government were made by a planning board selected by straw vote at a meeting of campus women several weeks ago. Screening of applicants and formulation of the slate of officers was acting as an impartial advisory body at the request of this planning board.

CAMPUS WOMEN who plan to live in Burge next year are eligible to vote for three candidates for each office. The three candidates receiving the highest number of votes will again, at the request of the planning board, confer with AWS to decide which house they will govern.

Other committee chairmen and representatives to campus organizations will not be selected until next fall.

Candidates nominated are:

President: Frances Focht, A3, Atlantic; Peggy White, A2, Madrid; Marie Danials, DX, Ames; Linda Spielman, A2, Cedar Rapids; Beverly Wendhausen, A2, Davenport.

Vice-president: Kay Ackerman, N1, Iowa Falls; Georgina Abdeely, A2, Cedar Rapids; Carol Moscherosh, A1, Libertyville, Ill.; Ralphene Ward, A1, Mt. Pleasant; Priscilla Pillard, A2, Anamosa; Norma Nilsson, A3, Centerville.

Secretary: Joann Poo's, A2, Newton; Doris DeHoogh, N2, Sheldon; Anna Karrys, A2, Iowa Falls; Judith Von Voltenberg, A1, Cedar Rapids; Barbara McNeil, A1, Wapello; Nancy Cook, A1, Muscatine.

Judiciary: Karen Lorenz, C3, Western Springs, Ill.; Florence Bobrove, A7, New York, N.Y.; Coyia Fassero, A2, Midlothian, Ill.; Margaret Thorson, A2, Charles City; Jo Erickson, A3, Kanawha; Ann Lumry, A3, Shenandoah; Pam McClain, A2, Waterloo.

Treasurer: Karen Lupton, A2, Cedar Rapids; Pat Bittle, A1, Harlan; Kay Steinmaus, A2, Fort Dodge; Marianne Lauman, N1, Harburg; Elaine Hochstetler, A1, Kalona; Dolores Sutter, A1, Roselle, N.J.

Hoover Lauds Nixon's South American Trip

NEW YORK (UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover told Vice-President Richard M. Nixon Tuesday he thought Nixon's recent trip to South America was "one of the best things that's happened in years" because it called attention to the plight in Latin American relations.

Nixon said after a 30-minute talk with Hoover that the 83-year-old former president told him the tour "altered the whole hemisphere, including even the United States, to the power and the intent and the tactics of the Communist movement in the hemisphere."

The vice-president said Hoover told him "there is nothing wrong in our policy that some attention won't cure." Hoover said it was not primarily a question of what the United States was doing but a "woeful lack of understanding of U.S. motives," Nixon said.

He said Hoover gave him "some constructive suggestions with regard to U.S. policy in Latin America."

Nixon visited Hoover in the former president's suite in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel where he is recuperating from a recent operation. Hoover said later he was "highly pleased" that the vice-president had taken the time to visit him.

Mooty - Increase State School Aid

CRESTON (AP)—Rep. W. L. Mooty of Grundy Center, Tuesday night stated he favors increasing state school aid "to the extent possible," provided that efficiency is fostered whenever possible through reorganization.

A candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, Mooty warned against school reorganization that would "usurp local powers or responsibilities."

In remarks prepared for a Creston speech he said "It is far better that these changes come about gradually and by local consent than that they be crammed down the throats of reluctant citizens by Government decree from Des Moines or, still worse, from Washington."

May Curtail Milton's Central American Tour

WASHINGTON (UP)—Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower's scheduled good-will tour of Central America may be revised because of the threat of anti-American violence, it was learned Tuesday.

Sources said, however, that President Eisenhower's brother definitely will go through with the six-nation trip, planned before the recent mob violence against Vice-President Richard M. Nixon in South America.

Milton, president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, is scheduled to leave June 15 for Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Honduras, and Guatemala.

Colonel To Speak To Aviation Group

The newly formed SUI Aviation Education Organization (AEO) will have Col. M. McLaughlin, senior Air Force advisor for the 10th Air Force District, as speaker Thursday for the last meeting of the school year.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Pentacrest Room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

McLaughlin helped form air organizations at Drake University and Iowa State College, Stan Anderson, A4, Omaha, an SUI member of AED, said Tuesday.

The SUI association has been active since its founding in March.

Anderson received one of the top 25 pilot awards at the National Intercollegiate Flying Association (NIFA) meet earlier this month in Minneapolis.

Three association members will attend a meeting in Des Moines today on Education for Aviation.

Next fall the SUI flying organization hopes to plan and organize and NIFA meet to be held in Iowa City.

Williams To Conduct Symphony Tonight

Clifton Williams of the University of Texas music faculty will conduct the SUI Symphony Band in three of his compositions in a concert tonight at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union.

SUI STUDENTS may get tickets until concert time by showing their identification cards at the Lobby Information Desk in the Union or at Whetstone's Drugstore.

Two of the works which Williams will conduct received the Ostwald-American Bandmasters Association awards in 1956 and 1957.

Williams will share the podium with Frederick C. Ebbs, assistant music professor and director of University bands, who will direct the group in six other compositions on the program.

THE FIRST number on the program is "Fantasy on Portuguese Folk Songs" by Ostransky, a 1951 graduate of SUI.

The second composition will be "Capriccio Concitato" by William Rivard, G. Iowa City.

"Antiphony for Winds" by Keckley will be the third number.

WILLIAMS will conduct the next three numbers on the program, his own compositions, "Solemn Fugue," "Fanfare and Allegro," and "Symphonic Suite."

The last portion of the program consists of three national marches, an English march by Alfred (March from "The Bridge on the River Kwai"), "Colonel Bagby," "Gerona," a Spanish march by Lope, and "Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa.

Second Hoffa Trial Starts; Jim Faces Wiretap Charge

NEW YORK (UP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, went on trial for the second time Tuesday on charges of conspiring with two other defendants to spy on union hirelings by installing wiretaps at the Detroit headquarters of the union.

The first trial of Hoffa, Owen Bernard Brennan, president of Detroit Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, professional wiretapper, ended in a hung jury last December.

A jury of seven men and five women was selected Tuesday for the retrial before Federal Judge Thomas F. Murphy.

U.S. Attorney Paul W. Williams charged in his opening statement that Hoffa paid Spindel $8,000 for installing the wiretaps. Spindel, he said, demonstrated how to use the equipment to both Hoffa and Brennan.

Williams said Hoffa and Brennan had both admitted discussing conversations they had overheard, and using the information "to their own ends."

Williams warned the jurors that the defense would try to show that the union headquarters was "bugged," which is not done through the use of wiretaps. He said the defense also would claim that telephones were not involved in the "bugging."

He told the jurors that they would have to determine whether the equipment installed constituted a wiretap to overhear the conversations of assistants.

Williams claimed the alleged wiretaps were installed because Hoffa and Brennan feared the nature of testimony that might be given by subordinates to a Senate investigating committee, or a grand jury which was then holding hearings.

The Government charged that the conspiracy began on Jan. 1, 1953, and continued until the three men were indicted last year.

Won't Join Soviet Bloc, Tito Says

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito has told Moscow that Yugoslavia will not join the Soviet-led bloc, and further attacks on this country can harm the Soviet's prestige, Communist sources said Tuesday.

These sources said both positions were outlined in a letter Tito sent to Moscow in reply to one from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. The Soviet leader reportedly demanded that Yugoslavia join the Soviet bloc.

The Yugoslav reply has not been published here. Reliable sources say it was drafted last weekend by the party's Politburo and signed by Tito.

Kennedy To Teach Law This Fall at Michigan

Frank R. Kennedy, SUI professor of Law, has been granted a leave of absence by the Board of Regents for the fall semester to teach in the Law School of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

He will teach Constitutional Law and Creditor's Rights subjects, which he has taught at SUI since 1940.

Kennedy came to the SUI College of Law in the fall of 1940.

Married Three Months, Rep. Burdick, 79, Asks Annulment

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Usher Burdick (R-N. D.), 79, said Tuesday he filed suit to annul his 3-month marriage to the former Mrs. Jean Rodgers, a 30-year-old divorcee who worked briefly in his office.

He said he had filed suit in a Cass County, N. D., district court, contending that the Feb. 28 marriage was not binding because it never was consummated and because Mrs. Rodgers' Reno, Nev., divorce from her first husband was not valid.

IT WAS the third marriage for Burdick, a well-to-do North Dakota rancher, and the second for Mrs. Rodgers. She is the mother of a 4-year-old son.

The annulment action was filed by his son, Quentin, a lawyer, at his instruction, Burdick said.

"I don't even know what's in the complaint," Burdick said, "but I suppose it's a good complaint because I've got a good lawyer handling it."

BURDICK STILL is convalescing from an ailment which kept him confined to a hospital bed until about two weeks ago. He was in the hospital when he announced his wedding plans in February.

The congressman said he had not seen Mrs. Burdick for about 10 days. He said she moved out of their small two-story brick residence in Washington after he told her about his annulment plans.

"I don't charge her with desertion," he told a reporter with a chuckle, "I might take a notion to desert myself."

Sitting in his office in his shirt sleeves with a cigar in his mouth, the white-haired congressman professed amazement to find he was back in the news again. He told reporters he thought "you fellows would leave me alone" after he announced last month he would not seek re-election.

Burdick decided not to seek re-election after his son announced he would run against his father on the Democratic ticket.

AT THE TIME of his marriage, Burdick said he thought Mrs. Rodgers was "stupid" to marry him. He had met his bride when she was working in the House post office. Later she worked briefly in his office as a mimeograph operator.

Burdick said that since leaving him Mrs. Burdick had telephoned their home to ask an aide about his condition. But she did not divulge where she was staying.

"I don't suppose I'll see her until the trial starts," Burdick said. He said he had not discussed any financial settlement with Mrs. Burdick.

Ford Expects Neither Strike, Lockout If Contracts Expire

DETROIT (UP) — Ford Motor Company told its employees Tuesday that it expects neither a strike nor a lockout if no settlement is reached when auto contracts expire in 10 to 12 days. In an "Information Bulletin" to its 14,000 management employees, Ford said it appeared there either will be (1) an agreement on a new contract or (2) the United Auto Workers (UAW) will tell its members to stay on the job without a contract. FORD SAID it is willing to permit work to continue without a contract. But it warned against union "harassment of the company in the form of slowdowns, work stoppages, sabotage and other interferences with the process of normal operations." The Ford statement was prepared by Vice-President John S. Bugas, its top negotiator. Ken Bannon, head negotiator for the Union at Ford, replied that Bugas' report was a company attempt to excuse Ford for any shutdowns that occur after June 1. Bannon said Ford either wants an excuse to shut down in the face of large stocks of unsold new cars or intends to take advantage of workers unprotected by a contract. Ford said if there is no contract, it will send instructions to management representatives telling them how to carry out their duties toward production workers. It said management meetings will be held concerning these instructions. Ford's statements pinpointed the situation shaping up as present contracts covering 600,000 production workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler near expiration. General Motors' contract with the UAW terminates May 30. Ford and Chrysler contracts terminate at midnight June 1. THE UNITED Auto Workers has already virtually ruled out a strike. It sent instructions to its General Motors locals to prepare to work without a contract. Then UAW President Walter P. Reuther held a meeting last Tuesday with Ford out procedures for working without a contract. The Ford Motor Co. bulletin to management employees sounded like the result of this meeting.

Following graduation, scholarship recipients must repay 25 per cent of the grant, which amount goes back into the scholarship fund for future awards.

Two men escaped serious injury Tuesday in a truck-auto collision about six miles southeast of Iowa City on Highway 6.

The driver of a pick-up truck, Donald P. Lacina, 21, R.R. 4, Iowa City, was treated for a head cut by an Iowa City physician and released.

V. F. Dwyer, 37, West Liberty, driver of the 1958 station wagon, was unhurt.

Both men were riding alone at the time of the collision. The station wagon was badly damaged on the left side and rear. The front of the pick up truck was damaged.

OK Rights Group Members

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Federal Civil Rights Commission approved the membership of two grass roots committees in Texas and Indiana Tuesday to serve as Civil Rights observers and local fact finders.

The Commission reported that similar citizens advisory committees will be set up within a month in Virginia, Florida, Illinois and New Hampshire.

It hopes to eventually have advisory committees in each of the 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico. They will participate as observers at hearings on Civil Rights matters in their areas.

Gordon M. Tiffany, commission staff director said the response from persons approached to serve on the committees had been "encouraging" and interest was widespread.

Fine Trujillo Aide For Drunken Driving

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — A misdemeanor drunk driving charge brought a fine and suspended 5-day jail sentence to an aide of Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. of the Dominican Republic.

Trujillo's 29-year-old secretary, Victor Sued, was fined $263.

Police said they arrested Sued last Friday after they saw him driving his car erratically.

The first committees are being chosen from areas in which commission members reside. Tiffany said there had been no attempt to set up committees first in southern states.

The Commission has received 205 complaints — most of them dealing with equal protection under the law. Tiffany said the complaints showed a lack of understanding of the commission's role and above all its limitations.

He noted that none of the complaints was notarized or supported by necessary evidence.

Robert G. Storey, vice chairman of the Commission and Dean of Southern Methodist Law School, handicapped the 9-man Texas advisory committee which includes one Negro. He said he had started out with a list of 100 names and had tried to pick a "representative" group.
