Cardinal Stritch Dies at 70

ROME (UPI)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, only American-born prelate elevated to the governing curia of the Roman Catholic Church, died Monday at 6:30 p.m. Iowa time while holding a crucifix before his eyes.

Cardinal Stritch, 70, died of the effects of a stroke and a heart attack a month and a day after he arrived in Rome to head the church's missionary agency.

AS THE CARDINAL DIED there were signs of pneumonia, complicating the heart and circulatory ailments which had afflicted him for the past month.

The scene of Cardinal Stritch's death was a second floor room of the Sanatrix Clinic where he had been failing for the past week. Officials said he apparently was without pain. Relatives and Chicago churchmen were at his side.

Two hours after death came, the Cardinal's body was taken to the North American College, residence of American priests taking advanced studies in Rome. Msgr. Martin O'Connor, of Scranton, Pa., took personal charge of the body as it was transported on a stretcher in an Italian automobile.

Stritch survived amputation of a major portion of his right arm April 28 as a result of an arterial clot. Last Monday he had suffered a cerebral stroke, but he appeared to be recovering until the heart weakened last Saturday.

POPE PIUS XII, who followed the Cardinal's physical trials with deep concern, was immediately informed of the death. Vatican sources said the Pontiff was "most affected" and retired to his private chapel to pray.

The Pope last March appointed the Chicago prelate as pro-prefect, or co-head, of the sacred congregation for the propagation of the faith, the Roman Catholic Church's missionary agency. He was the first American-born prelate ever to be so elevated to the Roman Curia, the select group of Cardinals resident in Rome who help the Pope administer the church.

Stritch's blood system was already affected when he reached Italy last month to assume his post. The complications then developed.

AT HIS BEDSIDE were his two nephews, Father Morris Stritch and Robert E. Stritch, and a group of religious leaders.

"His last act," a church spokesman said, "was to hold the crucifix to his eyes. He looked at it a long time."

Pope Pius XII was deciding where and when the funeral would be held. It seemed likely that Cardinal Stritch's body would be returned to Chicago after impressive services here.

Death was foreshadowed Sunday when the Cardinal was unable to take nourishment of any kind. His pulse and respiration were quickening.

But he remained conscious. Every now and then he would tiredly raise the crucifix he held in his left hand.

THOSE WHO watched over him until the last were Msgr. James C. Hardiman, his secretary; Msgr. Ernest Primeau, rector of the "Chicago House," religious residence in Rome where the Cardinal was to have lived; Msgr. Joseph Howard, vice rector of Chicago House; Msgr. Patrick Hayes, of the Holy Name Cathedral of Chicago; Msgr. Merlin Kearney, of the Immaculate Conception Church of Memphis, and Father MacCormick, of New York.

Before the Cardinal died, priests in his hospital room gave a final blessing.

Find Treptow In Iowa River, Funeral Today

Funeral services for Otto F. Treptow, 57, 815 Oakland Ave., who drowned Saturday evening, will be held at 2 a.m. today. The Rev. Donald F. Hetzler, Zion Lutheran Church, will officiate.

Johnson County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy said Treptow's body was found about 5:45 p.m. Sunday by a crew dragging the Iowa river. Dave Cook, deputy sheriff, Glenn Stimmel and Dean Bebee, both Iowa City firemen, found the body about one mile east of Butler Bridge on Highway 218.

Murphy said Treptow's body was found about 75 feet south of the Wendell Thomas cabin, submerged in 10 feet of water near shore.

COUNTY CORONER George D. Callahan said Treptow's body was apparently an accident.

Mrs. Elizabeth Treptow phoned the Sheriff's office about 9 a.m. Sunday to report her husband missing. She told officers the last time she had seen her husband was approximately 6:30 p.m. Saturday when he left to check the Thomas cabin. He had been to the cabin several times during the week, she said. Information concerning why Treptow was checking the cabin was not available.

OFFICERS investigating Sunday found Treptow's car parked near the cabin but no sign of him. Murphy then called Iowa City Fire Station No. 1 for a boat to drag the river. The dragging started at 3:25 p.m.

Treptow was born in Iowa City April 16, 1901. He married Frances Van Gorp in Iowa City May 27, 1939.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Barbara, at home; stepdaughter, Mrs. Beverly Dolezal, Iowa City; and three sisters, Mrs. A. N. Anderson, Boone; Mrs. Fred Lovetinsky, Iowa City; and Mrs. William Cihlar, Fallon, Nev.

1,100 Yearbooks Yet Unclaimed

More than 1,100 of the 5,750 Hawkeye yearbooks have not yet been claimed according to Wilbur Peterson, assistant professor in journalism and advisor for the yearbook.

Beginning today, they can be picked up in Room 201 at the Communications Center.

If the student leaves school without his Hawkeye, it will be mailed to him upon request and payment of postage, Peterson said. Absolute deadline for picking up the books is August 19.

Dedication of Nuclear Power Plant Marks Peace-Time Atomic Energy Use

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower and a host of dignitaries marked the coming of age of peace-time atomic energy in the United States Monday with dedication of the historic Shippingport nuclear power plant.

By electronic remote control from Washington, the President activated the main throttle valve of the plant's turbine generator, sending electricity surging into the system of Duquesne Light Co.

"It is with pride in what has been accomplished at Shippingport—and with equal confidence in the future—that I now dedicate this Shippingport atomic power station to the cause of scientific progress—to the cause of peace," the President said.

Pro-Western Christian Democratic Party Controls 40 Per Cent of Italian Vote

ROME (UPI)—Italy's pro-Western Christian Democratic Party forged ahead of the Communists and left-wing Socialists by a narrow margin early today.

In the popular votes total for Senatorial offices in the 2-house election, the Christian Democrats had 6,843,183 to 3,748,976 for the Communists and 2,718,946 for the Socialists after 62 per cent of the total vote had been counted.

This gave the Christian Democrats a 2 per cent lead over the extreme left and about 40 per cent of the total. There were more than seven other splinter parties in the running.

Grange Head Criticizes Price Supports; Recommends Domestic Parity Concept

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate hearings on a long-term farm program opened Monday with criticism of Government price supports.

schel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange. He said price supports amount to price-fixing which cannot, in the long run, serve agriculture or the nation well.

Men Notice

SUI coeds will not automatically have their 10:30 hours extended Thursday night, according to Miss Helen Focht, dean of women.

Later leaves must be taken individually this year, Miss Focht said, since the late leave allowance was increased from two to 12 per semester with this understanding.

In the past, it has been the practice to give weekend hours on a night before a holiday.

Trains Run As Bridge Is Repaired

The railroad bridge across the Iowa River north of the Iowa Avenue bridge is being rebuilt while trains continue to use it.

James Gassman, construction inspector for the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railroad, said the rebuilding is necessary because many of the present timbers in the bridge are rotten and unsafe.

Trains now cross the bridge four times a day. Gassman said the bridge project which is being done in stages, may not stop train traffic more than 48 hours.

The trains can be rescheduled if necessary and jobs requiring more than 48 hours will be done during the weekend Gassman said, since there are no trains on Sunday.

The completion date has been set for Sept. 1. The bridge was originally built in the 1903 and a pedestrian walk was added in 1930.

Concrete piers will be poured around tubular steel piers and then the old wooden timbers will be removed and replaced.

A concrete pedestrian underpass on the east side of the river is being planned to enable students and others to walk beneath the bridge. An embankment is to be extended and will cover the present sidewalk making the underpass necessary, Gassman said.

Quad Okays Constitution

The long debated Inter-Dormitory Council (IDC) constitution was passed Monday night by a 33 to 9 vote of the Quad Council. All other dormitories had passed the constitution, and were waiting for the go-ahead from Quad.

The IDC, designed to facilitate coordination and cooperation between dormitories, had met with opposition from Quad Council since December, when the motion to pass the constitution was first introduced.

Opposition to the IDC at first resulted mainly from an opinion by the majority of Quad councilmen that there was no need for a formal organization, since the dormitory presidents had been meeting regularly without a constitution.

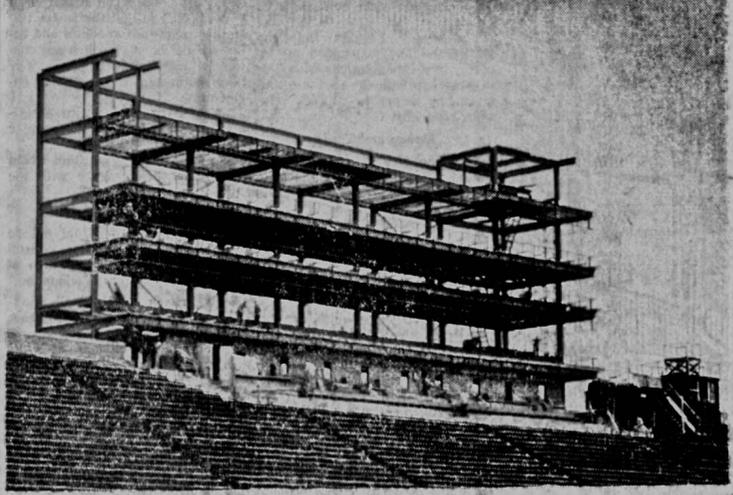

It was thought that a formal Inter-Dormitory Council would rob the individual dormitories of power.

This conflict was more or less resolved, and later opposition centered on a clause in the constitution which delegated the right to select IDC advisers to the Office of Student Affairs. This problem was also ironed out after a talk and discussion with M. L. Huit, dean of students, before the Quad Council at a special dinner meeting Tuesday night.

In other action, the Quad Council voted to amend the Quad constitution so that section advisers would no longer be members of the Council.

Some councilmen thought that the advisers were the backbone of the Council, while others thought that they controlled it.

However, nearly everyone agreed with Art Rogers, C3, Chariton, section adviser from North Tower. "Now it's entirely up to them to decide whether the Council will remain a campus power," Rogers said.

SPORTS WRITERS NO LONGER complain that the SUI stadium has the worst press box in the country. The new structure, to be completed for Iowa's first home game next fall will cost approximately $450,000.—Daily Iowan photo by Darel Hein.

Stemm Case Shut, Says Atty. Tucker

The week-old mystery of how Clarence Stemm, 29-year-old Lone Tree farmer, committed suicide has been explained and the case closed, said Johnson County Attorney William M. Tucker Monday.

Charles A. Barker, assistant county attorney, and Pete Carmichael, agent from the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation, reported that Mrs. Walter Stemm said that Minnie Stemm, Clarence's aunt, found the suicide note Sunday.

The note was on a fence post near the stock tank where the body of Clarence was found, and Minnie kept it, Mrs. Stemm said.

Last week Monday Mrs. Stemm had told officers she found the note on the fence near the house. She also had said she knew nothing of a .22 caliber revolver, but Friday she admitted that Clarence owned the revolver, and said he had ordered it from a Chicago company in 1949.

Johnson County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy and Coroner George D. Callahan were called to the Stemm farm May 18 to investigate the death of Walter Stemm, 62. They found the body of Walter in bed and the body of his son Clarence on the floor near the bed.

Autopsies showed that Walter died of a bleeding ulcer and Clarence by drowning, although he had a .22 caliber "short" slug in his brain.

Authorities spent the week going back and forth between the farms of Walter, Albert, Minnie, and Clara Stemm, all about 11 miles south of Iowa City.

Thursday three agents from the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation took on the case. The bureau performed a ballistics test on the .22 caliber revolver found in a ditch Monday, ran a comparison check on the handwritten note which proved to be in Clarence's handwriting, and completed a paraffin test of Clarence's right hand, which proved he had handled the revolver.

When the Stemm family was confronted by the evidence Friday, Albert Stemm, 64, admitted he found the revolver Sunday and had taken it home. He told authorities he cleaned it and threw it in the ditch early Monday. The revolver was found Monday.

11 Killed in Bomb Blast In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—A powerful time bomb planted by anti-Government terrorists exploded in a crowded street car in Beirut Monday.

Eleven persons were reported killed and 15 others injured. Many of the injured had their legs and arms blown off, and other victims will have to undergo amputation, hospital authorities said. Eyewitnesses said the force of the explosion sent several limbs ripping through the windows of the trolley.

The new violence coincided with reports of a growing Government crisis. Several cabinet ministers were said to have threatened to resign unless pro-Western President Camille Chamoun promised not to run for re-election in September.

Press Box Construction Advancing

Sports writers no longer will have reason to call the SUI stadium press box "the worst in the country."

Starting next fall, sports scribes who cover SUI gridiron feats will be pounding their typewriters in luxury — $450,000 worth.

The new press box, now under construction, will include everything from a special seating section for guests of the Athletic Department to a snack bar for radio, TV, and press people.

THE NEW PRESS BOX is being built in three stories, and will include an elevator from the ground.

The first story is being designed for the working press. There will be facilities there for 57 newspaper reporters, and a machine room where the press association machines will be kept. The first story will include a timers booth, two public address booths.

The second story will be for radio and television. This story will include 10 radio booths, a TV camera area, and the snack bar.

THE THIRD STORY will contain three more radio booths, two photo booths, several dark rooms, and a special seating section for guests of the Athletic Department.

The roof of the new press box will be constructed so that it can be used by photographers.

The new press box will be completed and ready for action for Iowa's first home game next fall, according to George L. Horner, Superintendent of Planning and Construction. That game will be with Texas Christian University, September 27.

ROMANCE?? LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—T. Clement Gaughan, defense lawyer for Charles Starkweather, said Charlie would be ready to go to the chair tomorrow if he could get Carl to sit on his lap.

No Break in Service Continuity—

Airlines Change Is Set For Fall

The transition of Iowa City airline service from United Airlines to Ozark Airlines will take place about September or October, City Manager Peter F. Roan said Monday evening.

Representatives of the city were in St. Louis Monday discussing preliminary plans for the change with Ozark officials.

Roan said the actual change will depend on when the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) issues the official order. Following the authorization from the CAB it will take about 60 days to work out final details, he said.

The preliminary plans call for two flights in each direction into

Pierre Pflimlin Says Civil War Threatens

PARIS (AP)—The French Government plunged Monday into a struggle to block the spreading Gaullist insurrection from engulfing France itself. Premier Pierre Pflimlin declared civil war threatened.

As deputies fought a paper war in the National Assembly over how best to deal with the insurrections in Algeria and Corsica, the big Communist General Confederation of Labor called a general strike for today after hearing that Gen. Charles De Gaulle was coming to Paris for secret talks with Premier Pflimlin. De Gaulle left his country home for Paris by automobile Monday night.

Plum Grove Residents Ask Land Rezoning

A rezoning proposal of land adjoining Plum Grove Acres, a housing development in the south part of Iowa City, points out a need for protective ordinances, Harry Nunamaker, 1406 Plum St., said Monday.

Residents of Plum Grove Acres circulated petitions Monday in protest of a proposal to rezone some land east of the housing development from class A residential to business.

The residents said in their petitions business and industrial development of adjacent land would reduce the value of Plum Grove Acres as a desirable residential area.

The petitions were addressed to the mayor and City Council of Iowa City.

One of the residents, Robert Gardner, 402 Keokuk Court, said there were 156 signers by 5 p.m. Monday.

A group of 40 residents had also pledged money to a fund to obtain legal counsel, engineers and any other expert help they might need, Gardner said.

The land under consideration is owned by the Frantz Construction and Boyd-Rummelhart companies. The land to the west of the housing area is owned by Edward W. Lucas, Iowa City attorney, and is zoned for industrial purposes.

Allen Tesher, a member of Iowa City Planning and Zoning Commission, said the zoning commission has approved the rezoning to business area to the City Council.

He said a public hearing must be held before the Council may take action. Tesher said if the residents opposing the rezoning measure show sufficient strength and are willing to present their views they should receive serious consideration.

Nunamaker said he believed a buffer zone should be set up between the class A residential and industrial areas.

Francois Mitterand, a center group deputy, protested that the Government still was keeping up the fiction that the republic's authority was being legally exercised in Algiers by Gen. Raoul Salan, the French commander there.

Pflimlin has expressed beliefs from the start in Salan's loyalty. But fewer of the deputies shared his faith in the man who himself shouted "Vive De Gaulle" and signed the documents setting up the All-Algeria Committee of Public Safety.

Diplomatic Dilemma

It's difficult to appraise the effectiveness of the job our Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is doing.

He recently asked the House Appropriations Subcommittee to restore some $7 million to the budget for his department in order to provide for "flexibility."

By "flexibility," Mr. Dulles probably means the continued practice of sending traveling "trouble shooters" to areas of crisis.

A broader and more comprehensive program would be to use what money the State Department has, as well as any added monies, to secure men better qualified for their jobs than the rank and file which now represent us abroad.

A book written some time ago by Graham Greene raised a few eyebrows and caused some resentment by picturing an American official abroad as sincere, but little qualified to deal with the realities he encountered on his assignment.

We Don't Agree, Jake

The Iowa state Democratic chairman, Jake Moore, appears to be in a little hot water with his party because of his statement of last weekend.

Aside from the fact that this is an impossibility; that it denies the fact that state schools are based on the belief that some people can't afford private colleges; and that even today the state schools desperately need improvements in their facilities—aside from these facts, there isn't much wrong with Jake's statement.

It's quite clear that as Jake said, he was only trying to get Democrats elected. And it's quite clear also, that Democrats don't want anything to do with Jake Moore when he talks like that.

Everyone from Governor Loveless and Yet Mr. Greene seemed to know whereof he spoke, and judging from the numerous anti-American disturbances lately, it is time we did something to correct the situation.

After all, it is the diplomatic corps upon whom we must depend to represent us competently in our foreign relations, and the most important men in this corps are the ones who actually reside in the country and come into daily contact with foreign nationals.

For this reason, it is disheartening and almost frightening to learn that many of the men who are our emissaries abroad cannot even speak the language of the country in which they reside.

And it is especially disturbing since the Russians send diplomats who not only speak the language of their assigned country, but are well grounded historically, sociologically and economically.

Perhaps a bigger budget for "traveling diplomats" is an answer to the problem, but we're inclined to believe that a better trained staff of career diplomats—men who actually reside in a foreign country—would be a cheaper, more effective, and more permanent step.

SUI's Bob Johnson, the Governor's assistant, on down have repudiated Moore's stand and insisted that the Democratic party was, and always will be on the side of higher education.

We believe this is true, just as we believe it is true of the Republican party. It is the only sensible view.

Yet it is unfortunate that a state political chairman, a high party official, can—in these critical times—make such an assinine statement as:

"We should take a look at what we now have available before calling on Iowa citizens to pay additional taxes for capital improvements which are not needed."

Well, Jake, we've looked—quite closely, and believe us, the improvements ARE needed; and it's encouraging to note that more people, in both political parties, are on our side than are on yours.

'To Hell With Them' Or What's With Us?

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

Instead of yielding to a first reaction of "to hell with them," the United States is adopting an attitude of self-analysis following recent demonstrations against her in foreign countries.

Individual statements and letters to the editors indicate a considerable public feeling of weariness in the long effort to convince the world's peoples that, despite the complexities of trying to be friends with everyone, the nation's intentions are good.

Congress has reacted differently. The Administration foreign aid bill went through the House with far less difficulty than had been anticipated. The Senate is now moving to restore such cuts as were made.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has announced an inquiry, first into relations with Latin America, with the ultimate aim of finding means to improve relations generally.

Money and Trade

That can only mean two things. More money, and acceptance of trade programs as permanent parts of policy rather than as tide-overs from one emergency to the next.

The atmosphere in Latin America is partly attributable to economic policy which for several years has put the Orient and Europe ahead of the home folks.

There is trade trouble with Japan and always the imbalance with Europe. There is a definite Communist policy to promote these troubles, and to take advantage of them with public demonstrations.

Anti-American reactions in Algeria, Lebanon, Formosa and elsewhere have been attributable to other causes—frequently to United States association with colonial or formerly colonial powers.

Downright failure to consider local customs and probable local reaction is another cause. This represents personnel failure and inadequate staffing in both the diplomatic and military services, and unconcern by American free enterprisers.

The Recession

The recession, at a time when the Soviet Communists are making a great show of technical and business progress, also is having an important impact on people's minds.

At the same time, it creates doubt at home about foreign aid programs during economic trouble here.

There is also some feeling that peoples who fail to understand the American way are just too dumb for hope.

Britain's Manchester Guardian touched on it editorially: "Americans like to be loved—and this is one of their engaging qualities. To face the absence of love with equanimity may be one of the requirements of greatness."

HIDDEN ALCOHOLICS

CHICAGO — The alcoholic no longer is represented by the figure slouched on a bar stool.

A research study indicates that the nation's five million chronic alcoholics are of the hidden type—hidden from recognition by family, friends and supervisors.

The analysis for an encyclopedia shows that alcoholics are hidden by their ability to present a fairly normal appearance of personal and social recognition. Consequently management and labor are enlisting psychiatry and programs built around Alcoholics Anonymous to help discover and treat the addicts among two per cent of the United States' industrial workers.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a condensation of an article which appeared in Scripps-Howard News and was written by a rewrite man and general assignment reporter for the Cleveland Press, Al Ostrow. In Mr. Ostrow's own words, he wrote this article as an avid newspaper reader and critic... and also as an American citizen.

BY AL OSTROW: The public address system conked out recently while a school teacher was addressing a group of several hundred parents.

"That's all right," she said, imperiously halting frantic repair efforts. "You'll hear me without that thing. I yell for a living..."

Many American newspapers yell for a living, too. Lately, they've been yelling about sputniks and the American system of education.

Russian firing of the first man-made moon jolted the typewriter thinkers and many of their readers into mid-to-miserable jitters. Then came the front-paged report of a Federal bureau that the Soviet Union has many big, medium and little red schoolhouses which are constantly producing large numbers of fairly competent scientists and engineers.

"What's the matter with American schools?" became the popular journalistic jingle.

Perhaps a better question would be: "What's the matter with the American newspapers?"

The People's Universities Once upon a time, and not so very long ago, most editors considered the press the major arm of the American system of education.

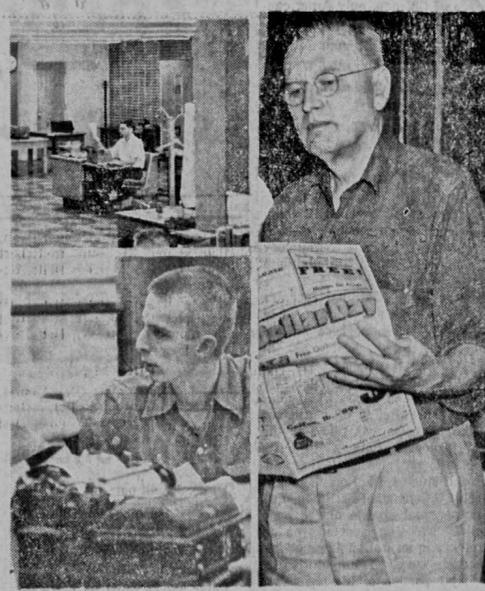

"We reach more people than the public schools," was the proud boast. "The newspapers are the people's universities..."

Arrival of the television era didn't weaken this theory. Television and radio had enormous audiences—but mostly for entertainment, frequently denounced as trashy. Most of the people continued to get most of their ideas and information from their daily newspapers—"the people's universities."

And now, infuriated by the beep of sputniks, the deans of many of these "people's universities" are trying to make a scapegoat out of the American system of education.

This does not suggest that the American system of education is perfect and needs no improvement or critical appraisal. Nor does it imply that reporters and editors enough... And there stands an intelligent writer's savage indictment of the conduct of the press during mankind's titanic struggle to restrain itself from committing suicide with mighty forces made available by humanity's hour of greatest scientific achievement.

Shute credits the press with power to mold the world's destiny. He agrees with an earlier observation of Napoleon Bonaparte, long before bombs, that "hostile newspapers are more to be feared than bayonets." Obviously, Shute's implication that Governments should seize control of the press and determine what information and ideas are disseminated is repugnant to every American newspaperman.

The theory that a Government-bossed press could straighten out the global mess is pure bunk. In some respects, universal imposition of the dangerous doctrine of bureaucratic censorship would be more than the present bragging and threatening over who has a better push button.

Too Late To Change? Perhaps it is too late for the newspapers or any other force to halt the drift and slide toward international hara-kiri.

I don't think so. I am confident that American democracy will gallantly survive whatever storms are on or below the horizon.

The fate and future of a democracy, in which major decisions are made by public opinion, depend on how well the people are informed. Consistently correct judgments must stem from careful evaluation of all available facts and consideration of possibly divergent opinions.

That's the job for the American press to tackle with vigor and enthusiasm: "Give light and the people will find their own way."

I do not suggest that the American press is either futile or useless. Collectively, American newspapers are the best in the world. Some are better than others. Individually and collectively, they are a powerful force for good in most communities.

But they could—and should—do a much better job. American democracy—and all humanity—will benefit immeasurably if both the school system and the "people's universities" are improved.

General Notices must be received at The Daily Iowan office, Room 201, Communications Center, by 8 a.m. for publication the following morning. They must be typed or legibly written and signed; they will not be accepted by telephone. The Daily Iowan reserves the right to edit all General Notices.

THE UNIVERSITY COOPERATIVE BABY SITTING LEAGUE book will be in charge of Mrs. George Dohrer from May 27 to June 10. Telephone her at 4645 if a sitter or information about joining the group is desired.

WOMEN'S GYMNASIUM lockers should be emptied now if they are no longer being used. All now in use should be emptied by 3 p.m., Tuesday, June 10th.

THE FOREIGN LANGUAGE ACHIEVEMENT TEST in French will be given on Wednesday, June 11, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. in room 307 Schaeffer Hall.

THE FOREIGN LANGUAGE ACHIEVEMENT TESTS in German and Spanish will be given on Monday, June 2, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. See departmental bulletin boards for room number.

ALL FIELD HOUSE LOCKERS—must be checked in before June 11th. Lockers not checked in before this date will have locks removed and contents destroyed.

SELECTIVE SERVICE reminder—Prior to the close of the present session, all students desiring deferment for the next academic year should:

- 1. Write to their local draft board requesting deferment and stating that Selective Service Form 109 will be mailed from the Office of the Registrar within 30 days of the close of the current academic year.
2. Liberal Arts, Commerce, Engineering, Law, Nursing, and Graduate students must also complete a "Request for Selective Service Form 109" blank in the Office of the Registrar.

PARKING—The University parking committee reminds student motorists that the 12-hour parking limit applies to all University lots except the storage lot south of the Hydraulics Laboratory.

VETERANS: Each P.L. 550 student must sign a VA Form 7-1996a to cover his attendance May 1-31 and another to cover his attendance June 1-11. Both forms will be signed at the same time. The forms will be available to each individual on the day of his last final examination. Office open hours are 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m. in University Hall. There will be no sign-ups on June 2 and 3. The VA Finance Office has indicated that the May-June benefits may arrive on or shortly after June 20 in a single check. However, if the should have been busily launching space satellites instead of scurrying to beat deadlines and squeeze stories into their limited space budgets.

But the editors who are blatantly blaming American schools and bureaucrats for Russia's technical triumphs might well review the contributions of the "people's universities" to the present state of national and international affairs.

"On the Beach"

Last year, most Scripps-Howard newspapers serialized "On the Beach." Nevil Shute's fictional forecast of humanity's self-destruction in a spasm of nuclear warfare. The Australian author creates a conversation between Peter and Mary Holmes as the last survivors of the human race are perishing in radioactive conortions in his futuristic narrative.

"Couldn't any one have stopped it?" the housewife asks, referring to the fictional flare of nuclear warfare that extinguished centuries of civilization.

"I don't know," Peter replies. "Some kinds of silliness you just can't stop... If a couple of hundred million people all decide that their national honor requires them to drop cobalt bombs upon their neighbors... Well, there's not much that you or I can do about it. The only possible hope would have been to educate them out of their silliness."

"But how could you have done that, Peter? I mean, they'd all left school..."

"Newspapers," he said. "You could have done something with newspapers. We didn't do it. No nation did, because we were all too silly. We liked our newspapers with pictures of beach girls and headlines about cases of indecent assault, and no Government was wise enough to stop us having them that way. But something might have been done with newspapers if we'd been wise enough... And there stands an intelligent writer's savage indictment of the conduct of the press during mankind's titanic struggle to restrain itself from committing suicide with mighty forces made available by humanity's hour of greatest scientific achievement.

Letter to the Editor—

A Clever Plot

TO THE EDITOR:

The misrepresentation of the Administration on the housing situation has led married students to assume that they are considered intellectual "Ookies" (Poor Eggheads). Apparently the Administration has concluded that married students, with their children and their seemingly doubting and questioning natures, are of little value in THEIR long range plans for the University.

Upon this premise they have constructed a plan the intended end of which is gradual removal of this student group from the campus. First, by physically removing the married student beyond the sand-traps of Finkbine Golf links, so that visiting dignitaries may leisurely admire Old Capital Building and Burge Hall, and where from lofty perspective they may view the mighty Iowa river flowing sedately through the campus, without viewing the married student encampments.

Second, by raising the financial burden of the "Ookies," the Administration will discourage many from joining the group until graduation (as some antagonists believe is best), and those foolish few who so join, will be deterred from renting University housing by the present "staff priority policy."

Thus in the long run, any OBLIGATION to provide married student housing will cease to exist.

And third, as a result of the financial gains, a needed, expensive utility plant will be built where it will be needed most, according to the long range plans for future expansion on the campus, beyond the Golf Course.

This plan, this policy, and this attitude the "Ookie" must accept if he wishes to remain at IOWA. However, because of his nature and the "means to an end" plan, he will load up the U-Haul trailer and seek a better center of higher learning far, far, from the banks of the mighty Iowa river. By silence and tenacity the Administration will have survived another crisis.

This plan may lead the way in solving the problem of overcrowding of universities throughout the country. If so, it will be another Iowa victory and bring about the gradual return to the good old college days of pre-World War II.

Ike Not Cooking

By GEORGE DIXON King Features Syndicate

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower isn't cooking any more. He used to be an enthusiastic practitioner of the culinary arts, particularly around the campfire. Every time he sortied to mountain, field, or stream he insisted upon taking over the cooking, treating a variegated assortment of camping companions to pan fried trout, his own special brand of flapjacks, and inch-and-a-half steaks.

He informed his cronies that cooking was his first love. He invariably backed his words with culinary action. He imposed kitchen police upon himself, even when there wasn't a camera within miles. He labored, long and lovingly, over beef stew, vegetable soup, and a specially concocted Eisenhower potato salad that was so pungent it made the eyes of the uninitiated water on the first mouthful.

But the President isn't cooking any more. He was so devoted to the art that he had a grill set up in the solarium atop the White House. For all anyone at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue seems to know, it is still there, but Ike never goes to use it.

The President isn't cooking any more. He cooked for the photographers in the 1952 campaign, and stuffed some of our most stuffable correspondents with flapjacks, sausage and eggs prepared, without aid from aides, over an open fire.

The White House photographers are sorry the nation's Chief Executive isn't cooking any more because he was a great photographic subject with the flapjacks. He had the wrist for it, which stands him so well as golf. He could flip a flapjack so dexterously that the product was almost as good to watch as to eat.

Correspondents who travel with the President wish he would start cooking again, although some of the diet-minded are not quite so nostalgic about the Eisenhower potato salad. Ike used to boil the potatoes, peel 'em while they were still scorching hot and dump them into a vat of vinegar. This rendered them piquant, but failed to do the same for the partakers. After a plate of the President's potato salad they went around with running eyes and puckered mouths that gave them a startling resemblance to freshly-cooked trout.

I don't know why the President isn't cooking anymore.

Installation Paying To Start Next Fall

A major fall problem for many SUI students—that of getting all his fee money together in one lump sum—will be eased next September.

Students who wish to do so may pay their fees in installments, starting with a deposit before Sept. 10 of $50 by graduate, law and resident undergraduate students. Nursing students are to pay $50 deposits within two weeks after admission to the college of nursing.

Deposits of $100 will be required for medical, dental and non-resident undergraduate students, of which $50 is to be paid within two weeks following their admissions, the other $50 by Sept. 10.

Students or their parents will be billed monthly for the unpaid balance in November, December and January for the first semester and in March, April and May for the second semester. Charges for board and room in dormitories and fraternities have been payable on a monthly basis for several years.

The plan was inaugurated for the convenience of parents and students, many of whom receive their income on a weekly or monthly basis, Leonard Breka, SUI assistant business manager explained.

But success of the plan will require prompt payment of the deposits and the installments, he added.

Semester fees at the University now total $110 for residents of Iowa in the SUI Colleges of Liberal Arts, Commerce, Education, Engineering, Pharmacy and Nursing. Non-residents in these colleges pay $250.

Law students pay $130 ($270 if non-resident) and dentistry and medical students $200 ($400 if non-resident). Both resident and non-resident students in the graduate college pay $130 each semester.

SUI Instructor Named to Nuclear Energy Institute

Everett D. Alton, SUI assistant professor of electrical engineering, has been named to participate in a Summer Institute on Nuclear Energy at Purdue University, June 23 to Aug. 15.

Iowa Tennis Team Wins First Big Ten Title

3 Hawkeyes Are Champs As All Place

By DICK LYNES
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa's tennis coach, Don Klotz, sat back in his swivel chair Monday afternoon, received congratulations for his Big Ten champions, and verbally patted "his boys" on the back for their conference victory.

Iowa's tennis team Saturday won its first Big Ten championship in the history of the sport. Iowa scored 57 1/2 points to Illinois' 46 1/2 points. Illinois was the pre-tournament favorite.

Art Andrews won the No. 1 singles title, while Bob Potthast was No. 2 titlist and Joe Martin won the No. 3 singles crown. The Hawkeyes' No. 1 doubles team of Andrews and Potthast, also captured the Big Ten title.

Don Middlebrook, Iowa's No. 4 man, was runnerup, while No. 5 man Bill Voxman and No. 6 man John Stoy were consolation champs.

"The boys did it the hard way," Klotz said. "Of the nine possible drawings, we got Illinois in six of them. Art (Andrews) and Bob (Potthast) drew Illinois men in the first round as did our No. 1 doubles team and they knocked them out. Joe (Martin) eliminated his Illinois opponent in the semi-finals," Klotz said.

"It wasn't one of those occasions where you get the good draw. We simply met and beat the best there was there," Klotz said modestly.

Not only did Iowa play good tennis — it played smart tennis. Martin, the No. 3 singles winner, had to change his game almost entirely in two succeeding matches, according to Klotz. He beat Illinois' Bob Breckenridge — after Breckenridge had defeated Martin during the dual meet season — with soft lobs and tricky spin shots.

However, against Michigan's Bob Sassone, Martin had to change his game radically and defeated Sassone with sharp drives and throwing his opponent off balance at the net.

About Don Middlebrook, who went the entire season undefeated and met his first loss in the finals against a man he had previously beat, Klotz said: "Don was a little tired in that second set. He had played tough matches the day before and it was beginning to tell. He played well but just ran out of steam at the last."

Klotz had high praise for his No. 1 and 2 men. "They played the most beautiful tennis I've ever seen in the Big Ten. Andrews played superlative tennis. I know for a fact that Art didn't make a single point-losing mistake for six entire games. You just can't get much better than that."

Even Carl Noble, Illinois No. 1, and Larry Parchute, both of whom Andrews beat, had praise for Art.

They agreed that neither had played badly. But playing Andrews was just like playing a machine.

For Klotz, the Big Ten triumph marked the culmination of years of coaching ground-work. Three of the six players are charter members of the original group of boys who came up under his instruction, starting at about 10 years of age.

"Andrews and Voxman (Bill) are Iowa City residents. Joe Martin lived here for three summers and played with Art and Bill. I've worked closely with Middlebrook and Stoy a great deal during their tennis careers. They've grown up as part of my plan. I'm boasting when I say this isn't a purchased team," Klotz reflected. The only one on the squad not from Iowa is Potthast, No. 2 singles, who comes from Wisconsin.

In Klotz' immediate future is the NCAA tournament at Annapolis June 16-21. A 4-man team will represent Iowa at that affair.

ISC's Crawford Joins Wilt's Tour

AMES (AP) — John Crawford, outstanding Iowa State College basketball player, said Monday night he will play with Wilt Chamberlain's team on its planned tour this summer.

Crawford, Negro senior from New York City, said the first games would be played in Brazil about July 1. The team's opponent on the tour will be the House of David, he said.

Hawks Have Worst Mark Since 1931

Iowa's baseball team ended the 1958 season with its worst Big Ten mark since 1931, as the Hawkeyes finished last with a 3-12 conference mark. Overall, Iowa won 9, lost 19, and tied 2.

Iowa has won three games in several seasons since, but the Hawkeyes have not had such a poor percentage since 1931, when they had a 1-8 mark.

The 1958 season was a direct turnaround for the Hawkeyes. Last season, Iowa finished second in the conference with a 7-4 record, and lost the title on the last day of the season.

A sweep by Michigan in Saturday's doubleheader sealed the Hawkeyes last place finish. The Wolverines won the opener, 7-3, then came back to take the 7-inning nightcap, 6-5.

Iowa hurler Jack Nora pitched ball for 4 2/3 innings in the opener and hit the Hawkeye's first conference homer of the season. However, the Wolverines scored two unearned runs in the sixth to cut Iowa's lead to 3-2, then sewed up the contest with five runs in the seventh on John Herrstein's homer, two errors, a wild pitch, and a hit.

In the nightcap, Iowa spotted the Wolverines a 4-run lead in the first, then came back with two runs in the bottom of the inning and three more in the second to take a 5-4 lead. But Michigan tied it in the fourth and won it in the seventh.

Iowa, hitting under .200 going into the twin-bill, had one of its better days at the plate, collecting eight hits in each game. Larry Harsch led the Hawkeyes with five hits, three in the nightcap, while Jack Nora had three hits in the doubleheader.

Errors handicapped the Hawkeyes as they were guilty of six miscues in the opener and four more in the nightcap.

Liechty 2nd As Iowa Places 5th In Big Ten Golf

Hawkeye golfer John Liechty fired a 295 to finish second in the Big Ten championship while Iowa finished fifth in the meet.

Shooting consistent golf, Liechty was only two strokes behind titlist John Konsek of Purdue's championship team. It was the Boilermaker's fourth title in six years and ninth in 11 years that a Boilermaker won the individual title.

Liechty had three 74's and a 73 in the meet concluded Saturday at Columbus, Ohio. Clyde Feltes climbed into seventh place by virtue of a pair of 73's on the last day.

Iowa finished with a total of 1,558, 36 strokes behind Purdue.

Dale Hayes and Steve Showers had 316's for the Hawkeyes, while Russell Schrage had a 329 and Frank Judish a 331.

Erskin's 2-Hitter Bests Roberts, Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Right-hander Carl Erskin hurled a two-hitter Monday night to give the cellar-dwelling Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Erskin had a no-hit game going until leftfielder Chuck Essegian smashed a single to left field in the sixth inning. Willie Jones got the only other Philly hit, a single to centerfield in the eighth inning.

Robin Roberts, the loser, gave up six hits, two of them in the fourth when Los Angeles scored both runs. The defeat broke Roberts' three-game winning streak. His record is 4-5.

With two out, Roberts walked Gil Hodges and Gino Cimoli singled to left field. Don Zimmer then blasted a two-run double off the screen in left field.

Homers Beat Cubs

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A three-run homer by Frank Torre and a tie-breaking homer by Eddie Mathews propelled the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday night.

Mathews' leadoff homer in the eighth inning gave the Cubs' Moe Drabowsky his fifth loss against two victories this season. Drabowsky allowed eight hits, struck out four men and issued two walks.

Torre slammed his 2nd homer of the season in the fourth inning after Billy Bruton singled and Mathews walked.

The Cubs pummeled starting pitcher Lew Burdette for 10 hits, including four in the sixth inning when they got their three runs. Burdette issued no walks and struck out none.

Dickson Beats Orioles

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Murry Dickson, who took over in the fourth inning four runs behind, pitched four-hit ball the rest of the way and clouted a lead-off homer in the 10th inning to win his own game Monday as the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Baltimore Orioles 5-4.

Dickson, 41, came on in relief of starter Ralph Terry after Terry tossed a home-run ball, on a 1-1 pitch, to Jim Busby, with the bases loaded.

In the Kansas City half of the fourth Bill Martyn hit a homer with Mike Baxes on base by virtue of a single. The Athletics got another run in the fourth on a double by Hector Lopez, an error and a force-out. Then Harry Chiti led off the fifth for the A's with a round-tripper over the left field fence.

Eagles Get Van Brocklin From Rams

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles Monday acquired quarterback Norman Van Brocklin from the Los Angeles Rams for five first string players and their No. 1 choice in next year's National Football League player draft.

Vince McNally, Eagles' general manager, announced he had traded Buck Lansford, star offensive tackle and guard; Jimmy Harris, a defensive back; and the future draft choice in an effort to plug the weakest link in the club's offensive lineup — quarterback.

The Eagles, in the process of rebuilding under direction of new head coach Buck Shaw, were in desperate straits at the all important passing position. When he took over the club last winter, Shaw's first remark was, "I've got to have a veteran passing quarterback."

McNally said the deal for Van Brocklin, one of the all-time passing greats in the NFL, was three months in the making. He said he had to outbid at least three other clubs to obtain the 32-year-old former University of Oregon star.

The Rams had Van Brocklin on the trading block because of the quarterback's announcement he would not play with the club as long as Sid Gillman was head coach. Van Brocklin said he would remain at his business in Portland, Ore., rather than play under Gillman.

Van Brocklin twice led the NFL in passing and in nine years of pro play has completed 1,011 of 1,897 passes for 16,114 yards and 118 touchdowns. He passed for 20 TDs last year. Shaw is convinced Van Brocklin will give the Eagles the long-ranged passer needed to make the club a winner.

In addition to his brilliant passing, Van Brocklin is one of the top punters in the league, averaging 43.3 yards during his pro career.

Colles, Jones '59 Swim Co-Captains

Co-Captains of Iowa's 1959 swimming team are Jim Coles, freestyle and butterfly swimmer; and Joel Jones, breaststroke and butterfly.

Coach Bob Allen announced Monday that these athletes were elected to succeed Lincoln Hurring and Jake Quick, the 1958 co-captains.

Jones Wins 7th Big Ten Title As Iowa Finishes 6th

Seven Big Ten championships! This is the number recorded by Deacon Jones in his two seasons of competition as a member of the Iowa track team. This number is more than any other Iowa athlete has ever registered.

Deacon added championship number seven in last weekend's outdoor championships at Purdue. Only a case of mononucleosis, which has bothered him since last March kept the eighth championship away from him.

Jones won the mile run Saturday with a time of 4:09.2. He finished 12 yards in front of the second place runner. He came back one hour later for the two-mile run. For six laps he ran with the leaders, trailing Bud Edelen of Minnesota by three yards. He began to fade in the seventh lap, trailing by as much as 10 yards. He dropped to fourth place, until in sheer desperation he forced himself to move back into third place at the finish line.

Deacon won the mile and 2-mile runs in the Big Ten indoor and outdoor championships in 1957 and in the indoor championships in March.

Iowa finished sixth in the team standings with 15 points. Illinois scored 46 points to lead the team scoring. Indiana finished second and Ohio State third.

Tim Hines, senior sprinter was responsible for six of the Hawkeyes' points. He finished third in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. These were the first points ever recorded by Hines in a Big Ten meet. Iowa's other point was scored by Jack Hill, who placed fifth in the mile run. His time was 4:17.8.

24 Mountaineers To Go to Europe

Some of the most exciting mountain climbing in the world awaits 24 members of the Iowa Mountaineers who will leave Iowa City Aug. 2 on the group's second European Mountain Holiday.

Film-Lectures Will Glimpse 6 Continents

A chance to "visit" all six of the world's continents awaits persons who buy season "passports" now on sale for the color SUI Adventure Film-Lectures for 1958-59.

Fifteen Sunday afternoon and evening film-lectures, sponsored by the Iowa Mountaineers, will be presented during the series in Macbride Auditorium. Adult season "passports" for any seven programs will be $4, or any 14 for $7.50. Students and children may see any seven programs for $2.50. Passports may be obtained by writing Film-Lectures, P. O. Box 163, Iowa City.

An intimate glimpse into the lives of people in all parts of the world, from the Swiss guards at the Vatican in Rome to natives in the jungles along the Amazon, is scheduled for the 1958-59 series.

Beautiful scenery, including the majestic fjords of Norway and Sweden, the Canadian Rockies and the islands in the Caribbean Sea will be seen in full-screen color movies.

The film-lecture series will bring some of the top travel lecturers to SUI, including the husband-wife team of Alice and Arthur Dewey, who will show films of their trip through the Hell's Canyon country; Beverly Putnam, who will bring the story of an all-girl African safari, and Stan Middley, an amusing commentator often called the "Mark Twain of the Camera."

Julian Gromer, one of the nation's noted photographers, will present the first program Oct. 26, showing a film on "The Mighty Amazon," the river that is said to equal 20 Mississippi's.

Canin to Tour Europe in June

Stuart Canin, SUI professor and head of violin instruction in the SUI Music Department, will leave Iowa City Sunday to make a concert tour of Germany and Switzerland. He will return to SUI July 2.

He will appear as soloist with the Zurich Radio Orchestra and the Dortmund, Germany, Symphony, and will give radio recitals for the West German Radio Station in Cologne and the Southwest German Radio at Baden-Baden.

Public recitals by Prof. Canin are scheduled for Berlin, Cologne and Freiburg under sponsorship of the America Haus program of the U.S. Information Agency.

The SUI professor gave concerts in Europe while there as a lecturer under a Fulbright grant in 1956-57. During World War II, Canin was soloist and concertmaster with the GI Symphony Orchestra in Germany. He has been concertmaster of the SUI Symphony Orchestra since he joined the University faculty in 1953.

Elect Three Students To Honorary Society

Three SUI students have been named to the National Newman Club Honorary Society, it was announced Sunday night at the annual Newman Club Awards Banquet by Father Andrew J. Barry, chaplain.

Receiving the society's gold keys were Douglas Carrell, M1, Keokuk; Mary Ann Werra, A4, Millwaukee, Wisc.; and Robert Strawn, A4, Gary, Ind.

Nodra Dyson, A1, Elmwood Park, Ill., received the President's Award for being the outstanding new member in the Newman Club.

Newman Club local awards for outstanding service and leadership were presented to Nancy Rhodes, A2, Sioux City; Don Thomas, E3, Clinton; Mary Ann Evans, A2, Garner; Bob Flammang, G, Doniphan, Neb.; Nick Paulus, A2, Rockford; Don Wheeler, A2, West Point; and Miss Dyson.

Special awards were given to Tom Epperson, A4, Magnolia; and Jack Power, A2, New York City.

To Study Dental, Oral Health of Mesquakies

An extensive study of the dental and oral health conditions of the Mesquakie Indians at Tama by dentists from the SUI College of Dentistry will begin soon, Dr. Alton K. Fischer, professor of oral pathology, said today.

Information about the height, weight and body measurements of the Mesquakies is already being gathered by Mrs. Robert Rietz and Eugene Fugle, who have been specially trained for the program at SUI.

"Such information as height and weight is necessary because diseases of the teeth, gums and jaws are often related to disorders of other parts of the body," said Dr. Fischer, who is directing the program.

Extensive studies of this type have often been conducted on other groups of the population, including many Indian groups," Dr. Fischer explained, "but no similar information is available for the Indians of Iowa."

Funds for the project were provided by the United States Public Health Service, which last year made a grant to the SUI College of Dentistry for the study.

The SUI College of Dentistry will provide most of the dental equipment. An X-ray machine to be used in the study was purchased with funds from the federal grant.

"Many of the Mesquakies have shown a keen interest in the project and they have remodeled rooms in the tribal council building to be used for examinations," Dr. Fischer said.

After their teaching duties are completed in June, Dr. Ernest A. Sals, assistant professor of operative dentistry, and James H. Belding and Daniel Spinella, both instructors of stomatology will conduct examinations of the teeth, mouth and jaws.

Each person will be X-rayed and blood examinations will be made by Mrs. Lucy F. Keith, SUI laboratory technologist. This part of the program will be completed by September, Dr. Fischer said.

SHIPS' LAUNDRY
HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP)—Oil tankers can now be cleaned in 24 hours without a 100-mile trek to open sea, thanks to a new "laundry" service instituted at the Bethlehem Steel Co. shipyards here. ## Profitability Is Topic At June Short Course

A new traditional June event of the SUI College of Engineering, the summer management course will be held June 16-18, on the theme, "Keys to Profitability."

Industrial engineers and supervisors of several states will be offered two weeks of concentrated study on how best to coordinate the powers of men, machines, money and materials.

Each day the course will include three hours in the art of communications, one or two general lectures to broaden points of view, and three hours in an option group.

Members of the course this year will select one of four options: technical methods of management engineering, control methods for management, problems of production supervision, and analysis of work methods, motion and time.

J. Wayne Deegan, chairman of the SUI Department of Mechanical Engineering, is course director. Speech professors Orville Hitchcock, SUI, and Ralph Nichols, University of Minnesota, will lead the communications sessions.

General lectures will include: C.

J. Alexopoulos, head of the SUI Botany Department, "Our Greek Friends;" Clark C. Bloom, SUI professor of economics, "Inflation or Deflation;" Dean M. L. Lohmann of the Oklahoma State University College of Engineering, "Management Incentives;" Lloyd Knowler, head of the SUI Mathematics Department, "Statistics in Operations Research;" Scott N. Reger, SUI professor of otolaryngology, "Noise;" and the Rev. Robert J. Welch of the SUI School of Religion, "Radio Free Europe."

Home Economics Department Proves It Practices What It Preaches

Warmth and coolness are the key words for describing the decoration of many rooms in the remodeled SUI Home Economics Department in Machride Hall.

"For the first time students can observe within the department the application of the principles of good interior decoration which they have studied," F. Eugenia Whitehead, SUI professor and chairman of home economics, said.

The small conference room, with its false ceiling of perforated masonite, is decorated in conservative contemporary design. The colors soft rose, brown, beige, and green were chosen to give a feeling of warmth, Miss Whitehead said.

The room is also designed to demonstrate what may be done when one small room must serve as a dining and living room area. The light oak drop leaf table is a small family size which may be extended to entertain larger groups.

The soft rose, millium lined drapes were designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, renowned architect. Indirect lighting, a rose 2-piece sofa, brown lounge chairs, end tables, rose-shaded lamps, and a porridge bowl tweed carpet of beige, brown and green complete the room.

The floor of the large dining room is covered by a wall-to-wall wool carpet of 2-tone green. The figured, window-to-floor drapes are Schiaparelli designed. New lighting and soft green walls finish the decor.

The redecorated hallway features a vinyl tile floor covering designed by W. D. MacKenzie, Cedar Rapids, in soft gold, green, white and gray. The newly painted walls give an impression of light and space under modern lighting.

In other remodeling, two laboratories on the third floor were re-painted in pastel shades to give an impression of coolness, Miss Whitehead said. The textiles and clothing laboratory on first floor was painted wedge-wood blue; the fitting area soft pink.

For Construction in Turkey—

SUI Student Has New Idea

A Turkish graduate student at SUI has no aspirations to revamp the mosques of his country, but he does hope to introduce a new construction concept into the modern buildings of his native land.

A candidate for a master's degree in civil engineering at SUI in June, Osman Hayri Senier believes that a radical pre-cast concrete roof with "pleats" may be especially adaptable to the construction of buildings in Turkey.

Senier designed, built and tested a model of the roof, which is made of concrete segments molded in a corrugated form, in an SUI laboratory as part of his requirements for the master of science degree.

The construction design is not new. A "folded plate" type of steel construction was used for the deck of the Old Iowa Field Grandstand, designed by the late Professor B. J. Lambert, for many years head of SUI's Department of Civil Engineering.

States, but no tests had been made on the concrete constructions before Senier's work on his master's project.

Chesley J. Posey, professor and head of the SUI Department of Civil Engineering, suggested the roof study as something which Senier might be able to adapt to construction in his own country.

"From all indications," Senier says, "this type of roof construction is economical, rapid and strong. In Turkey, where labor is cheap and materials costly, the economy factor would be very significant."

When a building is to be built covering a large unobstructed area, a strong roof is necessary, usually involving costly truss or cantilever types of construction, Senier explains.

perimenting with my model to find out whether this type of construction would be strong enough to cover wide areas," the SUI student says.

Senier's model roof, made of concrete only one inch thick, supported an impressive 400 pounds per square foot on a nine-foot span, four feet wide in tests in the SUI engineering materials testing laboratory.

The model broke under the weight of 14,000 pounds of sand bags and four 50-gallon drums of water, which Senier hastily adapted for test purposes after running out of sand bags.

Howard W. McCauley, associate professor of civil engineering and co-advisor to Senier, said the final breakdown of the model was surprisingly complete — like that of the "one horse shay" and not caused by weakness at any one location.

his wife, Vicdan, whom he met and married in Iowa, though she is a native of Turkey.

She received a doctor of medicine degree from the University of Ankara in Turkey and is now an intern in pediatrics at Mercy Hospital in Des Moines, where the Seniers live at Wakonda village, Apartment 24E.

'Desperate Conditions Exist'

More's Letter Hit

By ANN HARRINGTON Staff Writer
The president of the SUI Young Democrats Monday repudiated a statement on capital appropriations made Friday by Jake More, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.
"I disagree with Jake More's statement saying private schools can fully meet the needs of higher education in the state of Iowa," said Dan Efner, 44, Ottumwa, Young Democrats' president.
"EFNER JOINED GOV. Herschel Loveless and the Johnson County Democratic leaders in repudiating More's statement."
"He seems not only to be unaware of the needs of higher education but also unaware of the position of the Democratic party on this problem. Responsible Democrats all over Iowa, including Governor Loveless, have urged larger appropriations for the three state schools."
"As Democrats and as progressive citizens of Iowa, we must do all we can to secure the needed appropriations for capital improvements," Efner said.

IN THE CONTROVERSIAL letter sent to Iowa Democratic county chairmen and vice chairmen Friday, More accused Republicans of "exaggerating the need for capital appropriations" and asserted that the state's private schools could accommodate from 500 to 1,000 additional students.
"How can the Republican party spokesmen justify all the talk we hear," the letter said, "about the need for capital improvement when we have 22 private colleges and universities, each of which can accommodate from 500 to 1,000 additional students."
More's letter also asked, "Why not take advantage of the capital improvements on the campuses of these 22 schools and universities?"
"EVERYONE IS IN FAVOR of more education," the letter continued. "We should take a look at what we now have available before calling on Iowa citizens to pay additional taxes for capital improvements which are not needed."

John O'Connor and Mrs. Fred Doderer, chairman and vice-chairman of the Johnson County Democratic Central Committee, and Mrs. John Gerber, president of the Johnson County Democratic Women's Club had earlier repudiated the statement.
"The Democratic party in Iowa," they said, "has traditionally supported higher education in Iowa, both public and private."
"WE BELIEVE CHAIRMAN More's statement was a personal opinion which in no way reflects the party's position."
"There are desperate conditions now existing in state-supported schools," the Johnson County people said. "Many of the buildings used daily for classrooms are firetraps or are temporary barracks which are freezing in winter and insufferably hot in summer."
"SUI is not capable of taking care of the present enrollment adequately, let alone the 16,000 students anticipated in the near future."

Engineers Meet To Talk Hydraulic Research Here

The use of laboratory models to check how spillways, propellers, paper machines and other hydraulic structures work with liquids and gases will be the central topic of the seventh Hydraulics Conference of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research June 16-18.
Held every third year at SUI, the conference of 1955 attracted 231 engineers and scientists from 34 states, the District of Columbia and 10 foreign countries. Hunter Rouse, director of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, said.
The conference's 14 invited papers include reports on atmospheric diffusion in air pollution studies, suspended material in streams, model stilling basins, evaporation suppression, flow through highway bridges and culverts, and theoretical prediction in fluid mechanics.
Conference visitors will also view air and water tunnels and instructional apparatus of the Iowa Institute and a University Library exhibit of 400 years of notable writings in the history of hydraulics.

Set 'Madame Butterfly', 3 Plays for Summer

SUI students bemoaning the fact they will have to be in Iowa City for summer school this year can take heart.
The Dramatic Arts Department has announced a schedule of plays which will be produced this summer which should help to alleviate the boredom.
The first play this summer will be Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" Ronald Gee, instructor in dramatic art, will direct the play, which will run July 10-12.

"The Unfinished Luisa" will be presented July 17-19. It is an original play by Joseph Rosenberg, a former SUI student now a member of the faculty at Goddard College, Plainfield, Vt. Rosenberg will be in Iowa City this summer for the production of his play.
As in past summers, the Dramatic Arts Department and the Music Department will collaborate in the production of an opera. This year they will stage Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," July 29 and 30 and August 1 and 2.
The production will be part of the annual Fine Arts Festival, which is under the direction of Earl E. Harper, director of the School of Fine Arts.
The final play of the season will be "The Chalk Garden" by Enid Bagnold, which will be produced August 7-9.

5 Records Set by Navy Interceptor

POINT MUGU, Calif. (UPI) — A Navy Douglas F4D-1 Skyraider Super-sonic Jet has shattered five world aircraft climbing speed records, it was announced Monday.
In its highest climb, the delta-winged fighter-interceptor shot more than nine miles high in a nearly vertical climb in about 2 1/2 minutes.
The Navy said the new marks, which broke four official ones held by France, were set at the Naval Air Missile Test Center here May 22 and 23.
Piloted by Marine Corps Maj. Edward N. LeFaivre, 37, World War II and Korean combat veteran, of Falls Church, Va., the craft gave a "realistic demonstration" of its primary mission of shooting from aircraft decks to high altitudes quickly, the Navy said.
The standard production model craft shot to 15,000 meters, or about 49,212 feet, in 2 minutes, 36.05 seconds in its highest climb. There is no official existing record for the 15,000 meters.
The new marks set included: 3,000 meters (9,842.5 ft.), 44.39 seconds; 6,000 meters (19,685 ft.), 1 minute, 6.13 seconds; 9,000 meters (29,527.5 ft.), 1 minute, 29.81 seconds; and 12,000 meters (39,370 ft.), 1 minute, 51.23 seconds.
These marks broke four records set Feb. 16, 1957, at Istre, France, by Michel Chalarid in a French jet, the Nord 1405 Gerfaut 88: 3,000 meters, 51.15 seconds; 6,000 meters, 1 minute, 17.05 seconds; 9,000 meters, 1 minute, 33.75 seconds; and 12,000 meters, 2 minutes, 17.70 seconds.

His recovery from the amputation was remarkable, and a few days later he was driving around Rome and making daily visits to Chicago House.
On May 18, the Cardinal said his first mass since the operation in the Chapel of Chicago House, assisted by Msgrs. Hardiman and Hayes. He gave holy communion to one of his Italian nurses.
After the mass, he told his religious friends: "It's good to feel like a priest again."
It was his last mass.
The following morning, at 2:30 a.m., the Cardinal suffered a cerebral thrombosis — or blockage of a blood vessel in his brain. It left him half-paralyzed and unable to speak.
The final crisis began last Saturday when he fell into a semi-coma. Weakness of the heart muscle had set in.
There was some speculation that the funeral would take place in the Cathedral of St. John in Lateran, the Mother Church of Christendom. It was there 48 years ago that Cardinal Stritch was ordained a priest.

Theater Presents "Irving" Statues

Eight "Irving" awards were presented at the Iowa City Community Theatre banquet held on Sunday, May 25, at the Hotel Jefferson.
Receiving the statuettes were Marvin Sprague, A2, Iowa City, best actor performance; Mrs. Donald Stribling, Bellingham, Wash., best actress; Thomas E. Koehler Jr., 1505 Plum St., best supporting actor; Mrs. James Moore, Chase Motel, best supporting actress; Mrs. John Schuppert, 641 Morning-side Dr., best direction; Mrs. Dale Ballantyne, 28 Seventh Ave., best costume; and Eugene Weiner, Coralville, best lighting.
The eighth award, a special board of directors Irving for outstanding performance and assistance in the Community Theatre, was presented to Mrs. Hood Gardner, 508 S. Summit St.
The statuettes were given to the theatre's board of directors by an anonymous donor at the opening of the season's final production, "Orpheus Descending."

Armistice Chief Killed in Arab Border Incident

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (UPI) — The Canadian chief of the Israeli-Jordanian mixed armistice commission was shot and killed in a violent border clash Monday while trying to rescue two wounded Israeli policemen pinned down by Jordanian fire.
Col. George Flint died while in a hail of gunfire atop Mount Scopus, the Israeli enclave in Jordanian territory.
He was the highest ranking U.N. official slain in the decade-old Palestine upheaval since the assassination of the U.N. mediator, Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte, in the Israeli sector of Jerusalem on Sept. 17, 1948.
Exactly who fired the shot that killed Flint was not determined. Apparently it was a sniper. Israel claimed it was a Jordanian.
Flint was reported to have succeeded in arranging a ceasefire in the sudden border flareup when he was hit.
Mount Scopus has been a bone of contention between Israel and Jordan for some time. Only last winter, U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold worked out a settlement ending a Jordanian blockade of the Israeli hospital and Hebrew University on its summit.
Both installations still were under Jordanian fire at last report.
Two other wounded Israelis were pinned down in the fire, unable to move and perhaps dead. They were close to the bodies of Flint and the two men he had tried to save.
Three other U.N. observers who tried to reach the wounded got to within 40 yards of them and called out, but received no answer.
Jordanian casualties, if any, were not known.
The clash, which erupted in mid-afternoon, was the first between Israelis and Jordanians at Mount Scopus in several weeks. However, observers long had feared a major clash at the hill, a small enclave of Israeli territory inside the Jordanian border.

Rogers Plans Check Into Senate Delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General William P. Rogers has decided to take a personal hand in the drawn-out fight for Senate confirmation of W. Wilson White as head of the Government's new civil rights division, it was learned Monday.
Justice Department sources said Rogers will express his concern over the long delay at a news conference today. White's nomination has been bottled up in the Senate Judiciary Committee since last January.
President Eisenhower told a news conference May 14 that he had not found a good way to shake the nomination loose.
THE COMMITTEE held two hearings on the nomination last February but has shown no inclination to act.
Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) said Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) wants to question White further after he winds up his Senate Rackets Committee hearings in a couple of weeks.
White was named to the post last Dec. 9 with the rank of assistant attorney general. He has been serving under an interim appointment since that time and has hired 19 lawyers for the newly-authorized civil rights division.
DEPARTMENT sources indicated, however, that White has been forced to act "under wraps" because of the confirmation delay.
They said interested groups such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had not even dropped around to discuss any matters, apparently preferring to wait to talk to the man they are sure will be permanent boss.
These sources said the work of the division will be carried on under the new civil rights law no matter who heads the division.
THE NEW civil rights division now has 10 complaints of negroes being deprived of voting rights. White has declined to identify the communities in which the complaints were made.
The new law gives the Government the right to seek injunctions against restrictions on voting rights.
Southern legislators have displayed some displeasure because White, as former chief of the department's Office of Legal Council, drew up the legal memorandum to justify the Government's dispatch of troops to Little Rock.

paralyzed by the virtual blessing De Gaulle gave the Algiers movement a week ago, the French Mediterranean fleet gave new cause for concern.
FORMER PREMIER Antoine Pinay, the conservative leader who went to see De Gaulle last week, was asked by members of his party to try to persuade President Rene Coty to call Assembly party leaders to a meeting with De Gaulle. Once again they were using the oft-repeated threat of pulling their ministers out of Pflimlin's cabinet in backing up their demand.
The Communist strike call touched off action by other anti-Gaullist forces, which until now have been noticeably quiet. Non-Communist labor unions called their top committees into special sessions but no decision was made immediately on whether to join the Communist strike.

High Court Says Negroes Have Jury Duty Right

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday reaffirmed the right of Negroes in the South to serve on grand juries, ride on unsegregated buses, and attend integrated public schools.
In an opinion day featuring several civil rights decisions, the court also ruled in favor of the individual in cases involving picketing, U.S. citizenship, and union membership.
IN ONE CASE, the high court unanimously set aside the 4-year-old murder conviction of a New Orleans Negro on grounds that Negroes were systematically and illegally excluded from the grand jury that indicted him.
The decision meant a new trial for Freddy Eubanks, who was condemned to death for the slaying of Mrs. Mabel Clarkson, an elderly white woman. The court stayed his execution last June to hear his appeal.
IN TWO OTHER cases, the high court rejected appeals from New Orleans city authorities from court orders banning segregation in street cases and buses and in the public schools. The court acted in brief orders without any written opinion.
In other civil rights decisions, the high court:
— By a vote of 5 to 3, restored the U.S. citizenship of two foreign-born Detroit residents accused of concealing Communist affiliations during naturalization proceedings. The two were Polish-born Stanislaw Nowak, a former state senator, and Rebecca Maisenberg, a native of Russia.
— RULED 6 TO 2 that Paul S. Russell had a right to sue the United Auto Workers (UAW) for damages in Alabama state courts because union pickets prevented him from going to his job during a 1951 labor dispute at a Decatur, Ala., plant. The UAW estimated that the decision would control at least 89 other suits in Alabama alone.
— Ruled 6 to 2 that Marcos Gonzales, a San Francisco machinist, had a right to sue in state court for reinstatement in the International Association of Machinists which, he contended, unjustifiably expelled him in 1950.

Wants Requirements For Excavation Safety

DUBUQUE (UPI) — Donald McFarlane, Dubuque County corner, Monday started a campaign for state legislation to set up excavation safety requirements.
Spurred by three cave-ins in the county in the last seven months — two of which resulted in fatalities — Dr. McFarlane and County Attorney Robert Oeth have prepared a report on a cave-in fatality May 16 at Epworth. It is to be filed with the state.
LeRoy Wray, North Liberty, paid $25 Monday morning for a fine levied May 15 on a charge of failure to keep his car under control while crossing a bridge. He previously gave notice of intent to appeal but this notice was withdrawn when the fine was paid.
Stennis Cooper, St. Paul, Minn., forfeited a $15 bond Monday which was posted Sunday for a charge of passing on a yellow line.
Eli M. Yutz, Kalona, was fined $10 and assessed $4 costs Monday for passing on a yellow line May 18.
Ray Lin Helmsick, Davenport, was fined $10 and paid $4 costs Monday for disorderly conduct at Joe & Leo's Sood.
Howard W. Cook, 534 Clark St., forfeited a $15 bond Monday which was posted Sunday for a charge of intoxication on a public street.

Says Firms Should Tell Merger Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee said Monday merger of the United Press and International News Service pointed up need for passage of his bill to require advance notice of plans to merge.
The New York Democrat, who also is chairman of the Judiciary Committee's Antitrust Subcommittee, issued this statement:
"THE MERGER, agreed to May 16 and kept secret until announced May 24, of the United Press Association and the International News Service is highly important to the American public. The new organization, United Press International, takes over 5,000 papers from the United Press and 3,000 from the International News Service, as well as the international operations of International News Pictures and the still picture service of both wire services.
"The public has an acute interest in any merger that affects the control of the news it receives. It is essential in a Democracy that there be continued strong and healthy competition in the gathering and distribution of news. This is the only means the public has to assure to flow of vital information essential in a Democracy.
