WABASH BURSTS THROUGH DIKES; FLOOD SPREADS

VINCENNES, Ind. (UPI) — Two of the three dikes on the Wabash River here were overwhelmed Tuesday night by floodwaters from the swollen Wabash, causing a 30-foot water level rise at Vincennes.

The three dikes, erected at a cost of $3.7 million, were designed to stop flooding, but they are no match for the torrent of water that has been surging through the Wabash Valley since last week's rainfall.

SOLONS PROPOSE MUNICIPAL SHIELD FOR ENFORCERS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two members of the House proposed a municipal shield for enforcers of state and local liquor laws in this city to protect them against narcotics and racketeering charges.

U.S. Rep. John R. Linder, a New York Labor Democrat, introduced the bill, saying New York City is "a capital for racketeers and racketeers' organizations."

Linder said: "I hope this bill will serve as a warning to racketeers that their days are numbered, and that, if they would not admit the truth, they would be forced to the truth."

Linder's bill is similar to a measure introduced in the Senate last week that would provide immunity for witnesses in federal racketeering cases. The Senate measure is sponsored by Sen. Frank M. R. Lauson, a New York Republican.

"It is already happening in my district," commented Linder. "If the state had had the bill in force last year, I would have been able to convince a number of racketeers that they had nothing to fear."

Linder noted the existing restraint on gambling and bootlegging activity within the state, and the local law enforcement agencies have not had the resources to investigate the racketeers.

"The only way to stop such activity is to provide immunity," said Linder. "I believe this bill will encourage law enforcement agencies to get the racketeers to testify against each other."

The bill provides immunity from criminal prosecution for local law enforcement agencies involved in racketeering cases.

"This bill is the only way to stop the racketeers," said Linder. "I believe it will encourage law enforcement agencies to get the racketeers to testify against each other."

Yanks Edge Cleveland 3-2; Giants Pester Pirates 2-1

CLEVELAND — Pitching four scoreless innings to lead the Indians to a 3-2 triumph over the Yankees, Phil Nearer became the latest in a string of Cleveland hurlers to take over the lead in the American League’s 15-43-10 last-place race, the Indians finishing the night with four straight shutout innings.

At Tribune Park, Nearer allowed only five hits and three walks in the second through the fifth innings. He also fanned three, including his last two, in the final frame.

Nearer, who has a 2.88 ERA, has been Cleveland’s best pitcher for several years. He has a record of 5-3 and leads the league in saves with 11.

The Indians are 7-4 in their last 11 games, and Nearer is a major reason for the team’s recent success.
