

Street Approved At School Site

Approval for a street immediately abutting the east side of the new junior high school site was voted by the Iowa City School Board Tuesday night.

The city Zoning and Planning Commission had asked the Board to indicate whether they would prefer the new street immediately next to the site or separated from it by a row of building sites.

The main access to the building will be on the west boundary, but any additional building would make an east access necessary.

27 Acre Tract
The site for the new $1,268,000 junior high school is a 27 acre tract of land north of the Rock Island Railroad tracks and east of First Avenue.

Problems which sometimes arise with residents who have private property next to school property, were cited by Board secretary Robert T. Davis.

Approve Record Budget
The Board gave tentative approval

Russian Education Lectures Today

George S. Counts, professor emeritus at Teachers College, Columbia University, will give two lectures today on the Soviet educational system.

Counts' first lecture will be at 9 a.m. in Macbride Auditorium on "Basic Features of Soviet Education." The second lecture will be at 8 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union on "Meeting the Challenge of Soviet Education."

The evening meeting was originally scheduled to be held in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol but was changed to the Union to accommodate a larger audience.

Counts has toured Russia three times and observed the Russian school system. He has written two books on the subject, "The Country of the Blind" and "The Challenge of Soviet Education."

The public is invited and registrants for the Newspapers in the Classroom Workshop will attend both lectures.

Mexican Music, Art at Festival

An exhibit of Mexican art is now on display in the main gallery of the SUI Art Building. A part of the 20th Annual Fine Arts Festival.

In conjunction with the showing, members of the SUI music faculty will present a concert featuring the work of three Mexican composers tonight at 8 p.m. in the Art Building gallery.

Includes 271 Art Objects
The exhibit includes approximately 271 pieces of sculpture, paintings, prints, photographs and other popular art objects, covering Mexican art from pre-Columbian to modern times.

The display will be open week days from 10 a.m. to 12 a.m., and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Week-end hours are from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The program for the Mexican music concert will include six pieces, with an introductory commentary by Albert T. Luper, as-al of the $1,794,540 budget and set an August 5 public hearing.

The 1958-59 figures are an increase of $573,646.84 over the 1957-58 budget. Nearly $250,000 of the increase was for increased costs of instruction.

Two reports dealing with enrollments and the school census were submitted to the Board Superintendent Buford W. Garner. During the school year 4,103 students were enrolled. Of these 2,728 were in elementary grades, 494 in junior high and 881 in high school.

The preliminary report on the 1958 school census showed 9,008 between the ages of 0 and 21, compared with 7,819 in 1956. In the 7-15 age group, there was an increase from 3,158 to 3,379.

Project School Enrollment
Norman Green, new administrative assistant to Garner, told the Board about his present project of spotting all school children on a census map. Projected figures on school population will be presented at the August 5 meeting, Garner said.

The Board discussed comprehensive liability insurance following the recommendation of a committee of the Iowa City Association of Underwriters.

The board voted approval to the bid of the Fidelity and Casualty company for a total premium of $702.97. The board also approved a recommendation to transfer the district's present automobile policy, covering school owned autos, to the new plan.

Ike, Mamie Cruise On 42nd Anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower, celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary, cruised on the Potomac River Tuesday night and enjoyed a picnic supper of hamburgers and potato salad.

Escaping Washington's sultry heat, the smiling Eisenhowers were accompanied on the cruise by their son and daughter-in-law, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and the younger couple's four small children.

AP correspondent Robert Clark in a dispatch from Guantanamo Bay reported heavily armed Cuban army reinforcements were moving toward Oriente Province, center of rebel activities.

He quoted Rear Adm. R. B. Ellis, commander of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, as saying there had been no word up to Tuesday night from the captors on the American servicemen abducted.

Violin Music, Vocals
John Ferrell, assistant professor of music, and John Simms, associate professor of music, will present three pieces for violin and piano: "Allegro," "Lentissimo," and "Allegro-Allegro vivace-Allegro," by Revueltas.

Mrs. Stephen Hobson, Iowa City, will sing "Five Songs of Childhood" by Revueltas. She will be accompanied by Margaret Pendleton, assistant professor of music.

John Simms will play "Sonatina for Piano" and "36," by Carlos Chavez, and the "Second Piano Sonata, Op. 20" by Rodolfo Halffter.

The concert will close with "Two Little Serious Pieces, for Wind Quintet," by Revueltas. The quintet will include Betty Bang, Robert Humiston, and J. Robert Hanson, instructor of music, Thomas A. Ayres, assistant professor of music, and Eugene Rousseau, G. Iowa City.

Relief from the smothering heat Monday and Tuesday is forecast today by the weatherman who says that temperatures will range in the high 70s and lower 80s. Further outlook for Thursday is for partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures.

Two separate storms struck in Adair County, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. Home rain gauges on the Floyd Strong farm about three miles north of and west of Orient measured the total rainfall for the day at 3.5 inches.

Strong reported his crops were badly washed and ponds and creeks in the vicinity overflowed. Greenfield and Fontanelle, also in Adair County had three inches of rain. Severe lightning knocked out bulbs and fuses at the Wesley Geidel farm near Orient.

Seventy-mile-an-hour winds struck Des Moines late Tuesday afternoon in the midst of heavy downpours that dumped about an inch and a half of rain within about 90 minutes.

Heavy Rains
Burlington received 1.40 inches of rain in 30 minutes with some high wind and hail. Temperatures there dropped in the afternoon from 91 to 73 in five minutes.

About three quarters of an inch fell at Fairfield in a half hour. Street crews were called out to clear away tree limbs and debris from Fairfield streets. Ottumwa had more than an inch of rain.

The electrical storms were part of a pattern which the Weather Bureau said was expected to continue into Wednesday with most of the activity in southwestern Iowa.

The band of heavy rain that hit Des Moines as early evening extended 25 miles west of the city.

Tuesday afternoon temperatures ranged from 91 at Burlington, Spencer and Sioux City to 73 at Des Moines.

Goldfine To Testify Today

Were Adams Gifts Listed As Business Expense?

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators expect Bernard Goldfine to testify today that he deducted as business expenses money he spent on favors for Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

Roger Robb, one of Goldfine's attorneys, said Tuesday night the Boston industrialist will testify as to whether Goldfine's gifts to Adams were deducted for business purposes. But Robb would not go into detail on the testimony.

Rebel Drive To Beirut Turned Back

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An attack with jet fighters, artillery and armored cars halted a rebel stab toward Beirut Tuesday and drove the insurgents back into the hills. The assault apparently erased any immediate threat to the capital's vital airport.

The insurgents also appeared to be weakening on a second major front, at Tripoli in northern Lebanon. Heavy fighting broke out again there Tuesday morning.

Rebels Near Airport
The rebels in the hills overlooking Beirut had moved within five miles of the capital's airport, the only one that can handle jet fighters, before security forces and pro-government irregulars attacked.

First mortars opened up on the rebel entrenchments and jet fighters came in to join in the bombardment.

Then security forces with artillery and armored cars swung into action. They were joined by the irregulars who jammed into trucks and taxis for the forward movement.

Rebels Lost Ground
The rebels, with only small arms and pack weapons, lost ground in the two ranges of hills within sight of Beirut and the airport.

Government forces claimed the rebels suffered heavy casualties. The irregulars admitted the loss of only one man. There were no figures for the regular security troops.

Led by Former Premier
Rebels led by former Premier Rashid Karami around Tripoli showed signs of weakening.

Another battleground was at Sidon, the south Lebanon terminal of an oil pipeline from Saudi Arabia.

On the political front, there was increasing agitation for a stronger U.N. force to help end the rebellion, whose announced purpose is to force out the pro-western Government of President Camille Chamoun.

Neither Harris nor Goldfine could be reached immediately for comment.

Harris said earlier the subcommittee unanimously agreed it had not erred in allowing the principal accuser in the case, Boston lawyer-businessman John Fox, to testify publicly.

Goldfine and Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, have been accused of Fox of telling malicious falsehoods.

Didn't Produce Records
Subcommittee members questioned after the closed testimony session said Goldfine had not come through with records Harris has sought.

Rep. John J. Flynn (D-Ga.) said the subcommittee is very interested in learning whether Goldfine charged off favors to Adams as a business expense on his income tax returns. Those favors included payment of some of Adams' hotel bills, the gift of material for a vicuna coat and the use of an oriental rug.

Adams, chief assistant to President Eisenhower, and Fox, a financier whose ventures included an unsuccessful whirl at keeping the Boston Post alive, also are in flat contradiction about a boast Fox said Goldfine made in Adams' presence. Fox quoted Goldfine as saying Adams never let a friend down and wasn't letting him down. This was at a time when Goldfine was having difficulties with the Federal Trade Commission.

Only Inquired
Adams has said he never did more than inquire about the status of cases before federal agencies involving Goldfine. He denied exerting any pressure or influence.

There was no doubt, after a closed-door strategy session of the House investigating subcommittee, that Goldfine's testimony will be just as public as were the sessions with Fox and Adams.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said the subcommittee discussed the earlier action in turning down a plea by Goldfine's lawyer that it hear Fox behind closed doors, under a House rule requiring such action when testimony defaming someone is expected. The committee's decision has been criticized by Republicans in the House, by Adams, the White House and others.

2 U.S. Officials Missing in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Diplomatic circles speculated Tuesday night that two U.S. consular officials sent into the hills Sunday to seek release of 50 U.S. and Canadian kidnap victims may have been seized themselves.

The speculation was based on information from U.S. Embassy sources that there had been no word of the return of the two officials from rebel territory.

Were to Return Tuesday
The two, Consul Park Wollam and Vice Consul Robert Wiecha, had been expected to return from the rugged hill areas Monday night or early Tuesday to report on their efforts to rebel leaders.

Wollam struck out for the mountains outside the town of Moa Sunday morning and was reported to have made contact with rebel forces. Wiecha was said to have gone into the hills around Guantanamo Sunday afternoon.

Four more Americans were carried off Tuesday by a rebel band in what is considered a blackmail campaign to force U.S. intervention in Cuba. The rebels thus ran up a total of 50 captives—47 U.S. citizens and 3 Canadians—in their kidnap raids that began last Thursday night.

Report Troop Movement
AP correspondent Robert Clark in a dispatch from Guantanamo Bay reported heavily armed Cuban army reinforcements were moving toward Oriente Province, center of rebel activities.

He quoted Rear Adm. R. B. Ellis, commander of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, as saying there had been no word up to Tuesday night from the captors on the American servicemen abducted.

Others Held
Two American managers of the Nicaraguan nickel plant were picked up by a band of eight on Sunday. Two sugar mill executives, an American and a Canadian, were carried off over the weekend.

All the kidnappings occurred in Oriente province, the center of insurgent activities.

Park Wollam, U.S. consul at Santiago in Oriente, has been in contact with Castro's forces seeking the release of the engineers taken captive at Moa. The rebels have said their prisoners would be released soon.

Wind, Rain Lash State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Electrical storms accompanied by heavy rainfall which measured up to three inches in some areas swept over southern and central Iowa Tuesday. Along with the storms were winds that reached up to 70 miles an hour in gusts.

Communities hit by thunderstorms included Des Moines, Burlington, Orient, Greenfield, Fontanelle, Knoxville, Oskaloosa, Fairfield and Ottumwa.

Atom Ban Conference Off to Hopeful Start

GENEVA (AP) — The East-West technical conference on policing a ban on nuclear tests got off Tuesday to a hopeful start.

Fifteen scientists and technicians from eight countries held their formal opening session behind closed doors. They came out with broad smiles.

Session Went Well
Nobel Prize winner Ernest O. Lawrence of the United States said the first session went quite well.

Dr. Yves A. Rocard of France told newsmen there will probably be a technical agreement "because this is an international group of scientists who cannot deny technical realities."

Only a few days ago it appeared the Russians would boycott the talks because of U. S. refusal to agree beforehand that the purpose of the conference was to ban tests.

Dr. James B. Fisk, head of the U. S. delegation, said the purpose of the conference is to "study the technical problems involved in the detection and identification of nuclear explosions."

Soviets Attack Rogers' Speech
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union Tuesday accused an Eisenhower Cabinet member of making crude and slanderous attacks against this country and its foreign policy.

The accusation was directed against U.S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers for a speech he made in Chicago.

Gromyko charged Rogers in Chicago June 21 "went so far as to allege that the Soviet Union was mobilizing massive aggression against the U.S.A. and wanted to wipe it out."

Allies Slash Red Trade Restrictions
LONDON (AP) — Allied nations have agreed to slash the curbs on strategic trade with the Communist world by nearly 40 per cent. About 80 items, Western officials said Tuesday night, will be taken off the banned list.

The 15 Allies at the same time have decided to revise the groundrules of their system regulating trade between East and West.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles told newsmen in Washington that controls on strategic shipments to Russia, Red China and other Communist lands are to be eased.

Goods to be freed from controls imposed during the Korean War in 1951 include chemicals, industrial and agricultural equipment, automobiles and trucks, certain types of metals, electronic items and machine tools, information said.

Officials here expect Britain, France, West Germany and Japan to expand greatly their trade with the Red bloc.

Union Board Sets Dance for Friday
Unlike many other campus activities, Union Board isn't taking a rest this summer. The summer session Union Board members are busy planning a University-wide dance to be held on the Union terrace July 11.

Acting president Bill Pierson, 12, Humboldt, said that Leo Cortimiglia and his orchestra would provide the music.

In case of rain, Pierson said the "summertime mixer" would be held in the River Room of the Union.

Admission is free and anyone is invited.

Work Hand in Hand
Many countries maintain people in the Antarctic, and Hartigan said that Russian and U.S. scientists work hand in hand with the German, Argentine and other experts who are working at the South Pole.

At the newly elected Byrd Station, the lowest temperature in history was recorded at -102 degrees on February 18, 1958. Deeper in the interior of the six-billion-mile area of Antarctica the temperature is thought to be much lower, according to experts.

As one of the members of the party said, "Put a sheet on the wall and sit there for 12 hours and you know just what it's like." A crew charted the course every few miles to keep the group from traveling in circles, for the terrain is the same in every direction — just more snow.

Covering 40 miles a day, the group finally arrived at the base site only to turn around and go back. They had completed their mission. A party of 19 Seabees, including technicians, engineers and mechanics, followed the original explorers and made a camp at the base site to await plane drops of equipment and materials to build the base.

According to Hartigan, the scientific research station is used for studies of the earth's surface, weather and other data that will make great advancements for science.

The Queer Case of 8 for 2

It took only one look at the GOP primary ballot a few weeks ago to know that something seemed a little out of order.

The Iowa Legislative Investigating Committee is currently conducting hearings in Des Moines to explore this rare occurrence...

From the testimony of one witness, a former commissioner, there seems to be indications of collusion between some of the candidates.

The witness, Lewis Jolly, said he tried, among other things, to get a second Tallman in the race for Commissioner.

If this and other testimony involving the offer of a sum of money to Dean Reed to get out of the race is true, steps should be taken not only to prevent its recurrence, but to keep close tabs on the future actions of the commission.

This is not meant as an accusation of wrongdoing by any one member of the commission or of the commission as a whole...

This is merely to point out that the Commerce Commission is not just another state body; it is an important group and will be controlling even larger sums of funds than usual due to the interstate highway program.

The commission members should be very careful to avoid even the semblance of mismanagement of their campaign or their functions, in order to preclude the possibility of actions which might be construed as compromising their integrity or ethical standards.

The primary system possibly is not the best means of choosing candidates for the fall election, but it is the one way, at present, through which the rank and file citizen may select his party representative.

The primaries should be kept clean and free from subtle or overt machinations; and any such machinations should be exposed and the violators disqualified from holding office.

Good Grief! Only 55 Miles

Suddenly the fight is over. Alaska is almost certain to become our 49th state in the near future.

But the supporters of statehood won out, and this huge northern territory with its relatively untapped resources soon will become a full-fledged member of the United States.

Its size, its wealth, its history are all interesting points, but one of the most fascinating facts is that as soon as Alaska becomes one of the United States, the border of this federation will be only 55 miles from Soviet Russia.

of us who are used to thinking of Russia as a land far across the ocean must revise our outlook. It's only 55 miles away.

It's true that Alaska actually hasn't moved closer to Russia, and it's true that in essence it has been U.S. territory for some years. But psychologically, now that it is about to become a part of the United States rather than a possession of the United States, the geography of the situation somehow seems changed.

That much discussed polar route between the two countries - U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. - takes on much more significance. It seems amazing - the United States just 55 miles from the Soviet Union.

Dear Congressman:

June 29th, on the television program "The Ed Sullivan Show," many of the people of this country were treated to a delightful hour of entertainment by the Moiseyev Dancers from the Soviet Union.

We realize that Sol Hurok sponsored this tour, but we also are aware it was arranged by the State Department as part of the cultural exchange between Russia and the United States.

We were lucky, this time. Sullivan and his sponsors spent many thousands of dollars to put the troupe on TV. The show was magnificent.

Unfortunately, the cultural exchange usually means an exchange between foreign countries and - not the United States - but New York City, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles, with a few stops in between.

If you are fortunate enough to live in one of the metropolitan areas you can enjoy the artists and their art. But not if you live in the hinterlands. The province of Iowa is virtually out of it. Television is capable of carrying cultural exchange much further than to just the metropolitan areas. The exuberant Moiseyev Dancers probably did more for Soviet-American relations than any thing since the war. But we shouldn't be dependent upon the whims of commercial sponsors.

The Federal Government spends the taxpayer's money for these exchanges. We pay Iowa and Federal taxes. Would it be "socialistic" to suggest that the Government spend part of our tax money to provide the entire country with foreign exchange entertainment?

We don't think so. We think it would be good sense, money well spent and the best way to take advantage of cultural exchanges.

Congressmen, you gentlemen represent us. You help decide where our money goes. Here's one area in which we think it wise that you act. We ask you to see that we are able to enjoy more of these cultural exchanges.

GEORGE Lehleitner, a New Orleans businessman, beams over map of Alaska content his personal civic project is half completed.

Happy Man Press Agents - Men of Invention

NEW YORK - Among the fascinations of New York the tourist never sees, ranking somewhere between secret sessions in the United Nations and floating crap games in Brooklyn, is an esthetic, hyperthyroid, hydra-headed sect of mad evangelists known as Broadway press agents.

There are many kinds of Broadway press agents—those with brilliant brains, those with creative brains, those with witty brains, with fiendish brains, with no brains. But the one syndrome that unites them is a restless phobia about space.

Press agents have a horror of space being wasted, in print or on the air, on trivia like the H-bomb, or inflation or Khrushchev when, as everyone knows, the world is crying for news about a new snake charmer, play, movie, talking squirrel, hypnotist, hair-restorer, night club or the 10 best-dressed pickled herrings of the month.

Thus, from Broadway's crowded cowpath of culture and corn, the press agents arise to attack the mansions of news in many ways—through the front door, through the back door, through a window with a rusty lock, up from the basement or through a hair-line crack in the wall.

Dreaming of the front page but perfectly willing to settle for the back page, they send out carloads of releases, invent stunts, make announcements, give awards, search the stage doors, the night clubs and-or their brains for news and gags for the Broadway columnists. It is not an easy life.

For example, there is one type of press agent, usually dour-faced, who sits chained in a closet all day dreaming up gags to flow from the mouth of his client into the Broadway columns.

There is big, bearded Jim Mora, probably the most fiendish mind in the business. Jim is the mad man who sold a refrigerator to the Eskimos, sat on and hatched an ostrich egg for "The Egg and I," ran a bull into a Fifth Avenue china shop and startled Park Avenue with a strange limousine.

The steering wheel, gear shift, clutch and brakes of the car had been moved into the back seat, where hidden from view Moran did the actual driving. At a dummy steering wheel in front and apparently driving was an orangutan dressed as a chauffeur. The car was plastered with signs for the play "The Matchmaker."

Moran's big coupe this year, so far, was a "spontaneous" demonstration of anger at the play, "Look Back in Anger." Early in the third act, a woman jumped up from the audience, mounted the stage and slapped an actor playing a woman-hating character. The audience gasped, the management offered to refund their money, the show went on bravely and the stunt made all the papers the next day.

All these people were fictitious. But they all made the papers and did so well other press agents began to steal them for mentions with their clients. There is Eddie Jaffee, Broadway character extraordinaire, now drum-beater for Sugar Ray Robinson and Joe E. Lewis, among others. Eddie's specialty used to be burlesque queens.

Letters to the Editor - What Are Rights of Minority? Legal vs. Moral Justification Relative Freedom

TO THE EDITOR: Since that day earlier this spring when The Daily Iowan rose editorially to defend papal efforts to abridge religious liberty in Italy, I have figured that your inconsistent protests against similar denials of freedom in Hungary were nothing more than Cold War rhetoric.

But even after you proclaimed your unconcern for freedom elsewhere in the "free world" (or, more accurately, the "less unfree world") I was unprepared for your airy dismissal of religious liberty at home. I refer to your editorial, "Laws Apply to Everyone."

The editorialist sets forth a rule: laws apply to everyone, and everyone must obey the law until, by persuasion, he convinces a majority to set aside the old law to accept his position; but until law is altered by constitutional means, violators ought not only be imprisoned for prescribed periods but stigmatized indefinitely thereafter. (This last condition may not be intended to apply universally; the editorialist, influenced by sociologists, probably would not attach the same permanent stigma to convicted felons as to convicted religious dissenters.)

In Massachusetts, a physician violates the law, just as surely as does the pacifist who fails to register for the draft, if he provides birth control information to a patient. He may go to jail, just as certainly even as did the Quaker schoolteacher in West Branch, if he aborts a fetus, even if he believes it necessary to save the life of the patient.

Is this physician to sacrifice the life of his patient while he patiently appeals to the electorate to have the law altered, especially when he knows the law to be based on an article of faith of the majority?

No, I think it is obvious that the physician's responsibility to his patient can conflict with the law, which it must transcend. In short, contrary to your editorialist's simple generalization, there are times, perhaps for all of us, when the assertion that "laws apply to everyone" is an inadequate response to the questing conscience.

Your editorialist fails to see that there is a distinction between legal right and moral justification. In effect, he claims that the precedents of a past which few of us view as the ultimate standard in morality should be the limits of any future ethic. In blunt words, he would sanctify the status quo. I refuse to admit that his contentment with this damned sorry world makes him any more moral than those who dissent.

The editorialist argues that if everyone followed the example of Laughlin there would be unbridled chaos and disorder; Laughlin might, by the same logic, reply that there would also be no war.

The only point there seems to be to this is that everyone isn't going to follow Laughlin's example, but it would probably be a good thing if he did. National security is not going to be jeopardized because one pacifist teaches science and math in the public schools of West Branch, Iowa.

It seems to be your position that the only right a minority has is the right to become a majority. It is your privilege, of course, to assume any posture you wish, but for the sake of form, can't you be a little more consistent?

Wanted: a woman-hating character. The audience gasped, the management offered to refund their money, the show went on bravely and the stunt made all the papers the next day.

Illinois Editor To Address Workshop Session Thursday

Edward E. Lindsay, editor of the Decatur, Ill., Herald-Review, will speak Thursday on "The Newspaper as a Citizen" at a luncheon in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Lindsay, who is also an editor and director of the Lindsay-Schaub newspaper group, will present the final speech of the workshop on "The Newspaper in the Classrooms of a Free Society" now being held on the SUI campus.

He first joined the Decatur Herald in 1923 and served in various capacities, including editor and Sunday editor. He has also been editor of the East St. Louis Journal, the Champaign-Urbana, Ill., Courier, and a director of the Decatur Newspapers Inc.

He has served as president of the American Council on Education for Journalism since 1952 and has served as vice-president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Lindsay is the sixth newspaperman to address the secondary school educators attending the workshop.

The workshop, sponsored by the Youth Reading Study Committee, is one of three being held at U.S. universities this summer. The others will be at Syracuse (N.Y.) University and the University of California at Los Angeles.

The goal of the workshops is to increase the amount and efficiency of the use of newspapers in classroom instruction by acquainting junior and senior high school teachers with the role, functions, and responsibilities of the newspaper in modern society.

Members of the SUI School of Journalism faculty also held sessions on the role of journalism in modern society. A series of special presentations of backgrounds for effective use of newspapers in classrooms were made by members of the SUI Economics, Geography, Political Science, History, and Sociology-Anthropology Departments.

SUI Doctor Wild Writes Textbook

Dr. John B. Wild, assistant professor of internal medicine at SUI is author of a new book entitled "Fundamentals in Cardiology."

A native of England, Dr. Wild is currently on leave of absence from the University, serving with the U.S. Army in France. He is scheduled to return to the SUI faculty next year.

The book, published by Charles C. Thomas of Springfield, Ill., was written for medical students, interns and resident physicians. It brings together for the first time in textbook form many of the recent findings in cardiac catheterization research.

Cardiac catheterizations are procedures in which pressure can be measured and blood samples drawn from the heart itself through a small tube which is guided through veins into the heart chambers.

Analyses of the blood, pressure changes and oxygen concentration help doctors to make precise diagnoses of congenital heart defects and other heart ailments.

2 Paintings Added to Art Collection

SUI's permanent collection of original art — some 200 pieces now valued at more than $100,000 — was enriched this week through the purchase of two paintings from the 20th annual Festival of Fine Arts at SUI.

Bought from a special (non-tax) fund were "Flute Soloist" by Mox Weber and "E" by the late Marsden Hartley, two of 25 prominent contemporary artists whose works will be on display in Iowa Memorial Union through Aug. 13.

Art lovers provide gifts for such purchases at SUI and each investment is recommended by a jury composed of members of the SUI art department, said Earl E. Harper, director of the SUI School of Fine Arts, of the Union, and of the summer festivals.

Both modern and experimental in design and execution, "Flute Soloist," purchased for $7,500, and "E," at $2,000, join such SUI possessions as Max Beckman's "Carnival," bought in 1946 for $4,000 and now valued at $15,000 and Joan Miro's "Rosalie," bought in 1948 for $1,620 and now in market value to $8,000.

"Flute Soloist" makes use of extended black lines and angularity to project an intent musician against a subdued background of grays and blues.

"E" is a composition of bold colors, mixing circular, checkerboard, and other conventional patterns in an abstract structure topped with the letter E. Painted in 1915, "E" is a pioneer work in the modern art revolution in America.

Brown Forms '10-Pointer' Study Group

DES MOINES (R) — Although more than 350 Iowa drivers have had their licenses suspended since April 1 under the point system, a lucky group of 56 motorists with 10 or more points has escaped temporarily a similar fate.

Safety Commissioner Russell Brown said the 56 are a study group, selected on a sample basis, in line with an attempt to make a full research approach to the traffic safety program.

Most of the 56 drivers in the study group, he said, accumulated 10 points on a single violation. The department is making an intensive study of these drivers, including interviews, circumstances of the violation, previous driving record and the like.

Brown said the state wants to determine if it normally receives all the evidence pertaining to the individual case of each driver. It also wants to know if the point system is fair and impartial and to try to learn more about the attitudes and experiences of drivers who get 10 points.

It is possible, he said, that the licenses of all 56 drivers will be suspended when the study ends.

Knowland Asks Congress to Issue Rebels Ultimatum

WASHINGTON (R) — William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), proposed in the Senate Tuesday that the United States give rebel chieftain Fidel Castro just 48 hours to release kidnaped Americans.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, told his colleagues:

"We should tell Castro that unless these Americans are released within 48 hours we will furnish the Cuban government sufficient arms and equipment so that it can enforce the peace," Knowland said.

Mathews' Homer Powers Braves to 1-0 Win over Reds

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Eddie Mathews' fourth inning home run provided the lone tally Tuesday night as the Braves squeezed out a 1-0 decision over Cincinnati behind the 8-hit pitching of Lew Burdette.

Iowa Athletes

Now that all Iowa intercollegiate athletic activity is part of the past, Iowa's spring sport athletes return to the more or less routine of summer living and trying to keep cool. Here's how:

Deacon Jones, who set a new sleepchase record, at the AAU romp two weekends ago, qualified himself for a trip to Russia later this summer.

However, in the meantime, Deacon will work as a junior counselor at Boys Town, Neb. He will also manipulate into his schedule, time to work out prior to his departure for New York on or about July 13 and subsequent arrival in Moscow sometime after July 20. The all-American track and field team should return to America about the middle of August, picking up a meet or two after their departure from the land of Karl Marx and women street laborers.

Hugh Hines, the other NCAA track representative, is a June graduate and is in the process of looking for a job.

The tennis team, recently returned from Annapolis where they finished third at the NCAA have returned to the midwest but that's about where any similarity ends.

Art Andrews is already at Fort Riley, Kan., where he is participating in six weeks of advanced Army ROTC training. He flew directly from Annapolis to Fort Riley following the tournament. If he can get in the practice there in the middle of the Kansas dust bowl, he intends on playing at least part of the summer grass court circuit through the south and middle west.

Bob Potthast is attending summer school with one eye on graduation in August and the other on several Iowa and area tournaments.

He plans to play tournaments at Moline, Ill., Cedar Rapids, Des Moines and scattered others as they appear.

Joe Martin, third Hawkeye at Annapolis, will be working around Iowa City and there is an outside possibility he may wind up teaching tennis to Iowa City youngsters.

That's just exactly what Don Middlebrook is doing this summer. Middlebrook is in Kansas City working as a tennis coach under a fine Kansas City recreational program.

The golfers, recent returnees from the NCAA gathering at Williamsstown, Mass., will be conducting a diversified variety of activities.

John Liechty will play in the state amateur next week and then head for six weeks of summer camp with the Air Force ROTC.

Clyde Feltes is attending summer school and will graduate in August. The only golf tournament he has planned ahead is the Ottumwa city tournament next week, Ottumwa being his home town.

Bud Judish graduated in June with a BFA and is also looking for a job in the commercial art field.

Russ Schrage is working in Waterloo and expects to play a number of summer tournaments.

Three other Iowa golfers are waiting the summer out before being called into the Air Force in August or September. Steve Showers, Dale Hayes and Bob Brandenburg are all four year ROTC men and will be inducted as second lieutenants. Brandenburg did not play in the NCAA.

Minors Suits Bragan

SPOKANE (AP) — Bobby Bragan arrived by plane Tuesday to take over as manager of the Spokane Indians and said he is perfectly satisfied to be back in the minor leagues.

"I just mean I'll have to re-group my troops and start all over again," he said. "You know Napoleon and Robert E. Lee both lost occasionally and nobody ever accused them of not being good generals."

"I'll be back up there one of these days."

Bragan was fired last week as manager of the Cleveland Indians and then was signed to manage the Pacific Coast League Indians here after Goldie Holt was let out.

It was the Milwaukee right-hander's first shutout of the season. The victory made it two in a row for Milwaukee in the current 3-game series and 8-2 over the Redlegs this season.

Mathews' big blow was hit off left-hander Harvey Haddix, first of three Cincinnati pitchers. The Braves were held to only five hits and left 10 base runners stranded.

The Braves pulled away to a 3 1/2 game lead in the National League race as a result of their victory and Los Angeles' 9-3 decision over the second place St. Louis Cardinals.

Burdette, hero of the 1957 World Series, chalked up his sixth victory against six defeats. The Redlegs had beaten him twice this season.

Phils 4, Pirates 2

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Harry Anderson batted in three runs with a homer and single and Ray Semprecht pitched an eight-hitter Tuesday night to lead Philadelphia to a 4-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The win boosted the Phillies into sixth place in the National League, five percentage points ahead of Pittsburgh.

Anderson's blast into the lower right field stands — his 10th of the year — came off starter Bob Friend with Dave Philley on base in the first inning. Richie Ashburn had led off the inning with a double, moved to third on Philley's hit and scored on Philley's infield out.

Home run — Philadelphia, Anderson (10).

Red Sox 10, Senators 5

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Jackie Jensen continued his tremendous slugging by crashing his 24th homer and Ted Williams contributed his 12th Tuesday night in powering the Red Sox to a 10-5 victory over the Washington Senators.

Jensen, who belted 14 homers in June to take over the American League leadership, drilled a liner high into the left field screen for two runs in the sixth.

Williams, finding the range after a slow start, had a pair of singles in addition to his 400-foot blast 12 rows deep into the right field stands with Frank Malzone aboard in the third.

Ted now has hit a homer in each of his last four games. He has boosted his average to .308, his high for the season.

The Red Sox jumped on four Washington pitchers for 15 hits. Malzone and Dick Gernert each had a double and two singles, while Sammy White and Don Buddin each collected a pair of safeties.

Washington 000 020 120 — 5 8 2 Boston 013 303 00x — 10 15 2 Griggs, Valentini (4), Stobbs (5), Spring (7) and Courtney; Delock and White. L — Griggs.

Home runs — Washington, Zauchin (8), Boston, Williams (12), Jensen (24).

Yanks, Orioles Split

BALTIMORE (AP) — Five home runs, two of them by Mickey Mantle, plus some sterling fielding, featured a two-night doubleheader Tuesday night with Baltimore defeating New York 7-5 in the opener, only to lose the second game 2-1 when Mantle's second home run broke a deadlock in the eighth inning.

Mantle gave the Yanks an early lead in the first game with his 15th homer of the season, his first off Baltimore pitching this year. But the Orioles exploded for five runs in the fifth, including Bob Boyd's third home run of the season and singles by Gene Woodling, Dick Williams and Gus Triandos.

Three home runs, accounting for all the scoring, coupled with two Yankee double plays, just about told the story of the second game.

Woodling hit his sixth of the season, 400 feet over the right field fence to put the Orioles ahead 1-0 in the fourth inning. Don Larsen, the winning pitcher, tied the score in the fifth with his third homer of the year, and then Mantle came along with his game-winning blast in the eighth, his second home run of the night and his 16th of the season.

A's 5, Tigers 1

DETROIT (AP) — Ned Garver won his first game in a month when the second-place Kansas City Athletics defeated the Detroit Tigers 5-1 Tuesday night before a Briggs Stadium crowd of 23,546.

The little right-hander, a former Tiger, had lost three in a row since his last victory May 30. He lost his bid for a shut-out on an eighth-inning pinch home run by Bob Hazle.

Bob Cerv hit his 21st home run in the fourth inning and gave Garver a 1-0 lead. The Athletics wrapped it up in the sixth, knocking out Tiger starter Frank Lary who suffered his sixth defeat against eight victories.

Cubs 9, Giants 5

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs greeted young Mike McCormick with a three-run eighth inning Tuesday and wrapped up a 9-5 victory over the San Francisco Giants. Eight homers were hit, two each by rookie Tony Taylor and Ernie Banks of the Cubs.

Willie Mays homered for the first time since June 6, and Daryl Spencer, Bob Schmidt and Ray Jablonski also hit homers for the Giants. All came with none on.

San Francisco had closed to 6-5 with a run in the eighth, and Giant Manager Bill Rigney called on McCormick, his second-line left-hander, to keep the Cubs in check.

But after reliever Glen Hobbie, who preserved the win for starter Moe Drabowsky, struck out, Taylor doubled to left. Alvin Dark lined to Jablonski, but Lee Walls tripled to score Taylor. McCormick walked Banks intentionally but Bobby Thomson spoiled the Giants' strategy with a double that brought home both runners.

Gary Hansen Named New U-High Coach

Gary Hansen, G. Iowa City, has been named athletic director, head basketball coach and golf coach at University High School, Bob Hoff, U-High director of physical education for boys, has announced. Hansen will also take over as line coach for the Blue Hawks football team.

A native of Underwood, Hansen attended Dana College in Nebraska, where he played football, basketball and was a member of the track team. He was graduated from SU after two years in the service.

Hansen taught in the science and physical education departments at U-High last year. He will replace Burt Merriman as head basketball coach. Merriman has coached the Blue Hawks the last two years and is completing work toward a graduate degree at SU.

This will be the first head coaching job for Hansen.

MacKay Out, U.S. Hopes On Althea Gibson

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Barry MacKay plunged out of the men's singles at Wimbledon Tuesday, leaving Uncle Sam's chances for a tennis singles title resting solely on the determined shoulders of Althea Gibson.

Hard fighting MacKay—a victim of inexperience — bowed to Mervyn Rose, crafty Australian left-hander and his own doubles partner, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

This left the United States without a representative in the men's semifinals for the second straight year and proved once again Australia's domination of the game. Three Australians and a Dane—the always surprising Kurt Nielsen—survive.

Miss Gibson, the defending women's champion from New York, skirted the brink of disaster herself before she forged into the women's semifinals on a 6-3, 6-8, 6-2 victory over Shirley Bloomer, Britain's No. 1 player.

The tall Harlem girl was within one point of being down 0-3 in the final set before she finally harnessed her powerful game. She proceeded to reel off six games in a row with the loss of only four points.

Miss Gibson's next opponent will be Ann Hayden, a tomboy Briton who scrambled for every point in upsetting Maria Bueno, the Brazilian stylist, 6-3, 7-5.

Angela Mortimer and Mrs. Suzy Kormoczy, a Hungarian in her middle thirties, qualified for the other semifinal bracket after erasing American opponents. Miss Mortimer won over Mrs. Margaret du Pont of Wilmington, Del., 4-6, 6-3, 10-8. Mrs. Kormoczy ousted little Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., 6-1, 5-7, 8-6. Miss Arnold previously had upset Britain's second-seeded Christine Truman.

In the men's semifinals, it's Rose against Ashley Cooper, the top-seeded Australian champion, and Nielsen against Neale Fraser, another lefthanded Aussie.

Nielsen won on a virtual walk-over when his opponent, Mal Anderson of Australia, quit after dropping the first two sets 6-2, 6-3. He pulled a ligament in his left leg Monday. Cooper survived a five-set marathon with Bobby Wilson of Britain 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 4-6, 7-5.

MacKay, 22-year-old giant from Dayton, Ohio, walked off the center court after his defeat, disappointed but not downhearted.

"You have got to lose to learn," he said. "No excuses for my performance. Rose played too well for me, that's all. My blistered hand was fine and it didn't cramp my style at all."

Gary Hansen Named New U-High Coach

Gary Hansen, G. Iowa City, has been named athletic director, head basketball coach and golf coach at University High School, Bob Hoff, U-High director of physical education for boys, has announced. Hansen will also take over as line coach for the Blue Hawks football team.

MacKay Out, U.S. Hopes On Althea Gibson

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Barry MacKay plunged out of the men's singles at Wimbledon Tuesday, leaving Uncle Sam's chances for a tennis singles title resting solely on the determined shoulders of Althea Gibson.

Hard fighting MacKay—a victim of inexperience — bowed to Mervyn Rose, crafty Australian left-hander and his own doubles partner, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

This left the United States without a representative in the men's semifinals for the second straight year and proved once again Australia's domination of the game. Three Australians and a Dane—the always surprising Kurt Nielsen—survive.

Miss Gibson, the defending women's champion from New York, skirted the brink of disaster herself before she forged into the women's semifinals on a 6-3, 6-8, 6-2 victory over Shirley Bloomer, Britain's No. 1 player.

The tall Harlem girl was within one point of being down 0-3 in the final set before she finally harnessed her powerful game. She proceeded to reel off six games in a row with the loss of only four points.

Miss Gibson's next opponent will be Ann Hayden, a tomboy Briton who scrambled for every point in upsetting Maria Bueno, the Brazilian stylist, 6-3, 7-5.

Angela Mortimer and Mrs. Suzy Kormoczy, a Hungarian in her middle thirties, qualified for the other semifinal bracket after erasing American opponents. Miss Mortimer won over Mrs. Margaret du Pont of Wilmington, Del., 4-6, 6-3, 10-8. Mrs. Kormoczy ousted little Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., 6-1, 5-7, 8-6. Miss Arnold previously had upset Britain's second-seeded Christine Truman.

In the men's semifinals, it's Rose against Ashley Cooper, the top-seeded Australian champion, and Nielsen against Neale Fraser, another lefthanded Aussie.

Nielsen won on a virtual walk-over when his opponent, Mal Anderson of Australia, quit after dropping the first two sets 6-2, 6-3. He pulled a ligament in his left leg Monday. Cooper survived a five-set marathon with Bobby Wilson of Britain 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 4-6, 7-5.

MacKay, 22-year-old giant from Dayton, Ohio, walked off the center court after his defeat, disappointed but not downhearted.

"You have got to lose to learn," he said. "No excuses for my performance. Rose played too well for me, that's all. My blistered hand was fine and it didn't cramp my style at all."

Frick Reinstates Phils' Ed Bouchee To Active Status

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Bouchee, Philadelphia Phillies' first baseman, was reinstated to baseball Tuesday by Commissioner Ford Frick, who said "it was the only decision I could live with."

Bouchee had been under indefinite suspension since pleading guilty to a morals charge in Spokane, Wash., Feb. 20. He was discharged June 4 from the Institute of Living in Hartford, Conn., where he had undergone psychiatric treatment since March 8.

"I have made an exhaustive study of all the evidence," Frick said, "and I am convinced Bouchee is completely cured. All the doctors and the probation officers who have been assigned to this case have recommended his return to baseball. If there was any evidence that he would fall again, I would not have reinstated him. I am assuming sole and complete responsibility."

ChiSox 5, Indians 4

CHICAGO (AP) — Sherman Lollar's run-scoring single in the 11th inning gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

The powerful catcher, who earlier had given the Sox a 4-0 lead with a three-run homer in the sixth inning, singled with one out after Jim Landis had doubled and Ray Boone had drawn a walk from Tribe rookie Jim Grant, Cleveland's fourth pitcher.

Twining Says U.S. Ready To Send Troops to Lebanon

DETROIT (AP) — Nathan F. Twining said Tuesday night the United States is ready to send troops into Lebanon if the situation calls for it. "I don't think there is any question about it," said Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. "We are prepared for any eventuality — all-out war or limited war — right now."

He told a news conference he doubted that nuclear weapons would be used by U.S. troops if they entered the seven-week-old Lebanese rebellion. He said he did not think U.S. intervention in Lebanon would touch off a world war.

Twining was here to address an evening session of the industry missile and space age conference sponsored by the Aero Club of Michigan.

In a speech scheduled for delivery before about 400 Michigan industrialists attending the two-day conference, Twining cautioned that the United States must not forget the cold war in its rush of technological progress.

Oklahoma's 'Drys' Gain Early State Primary Leads

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — W. P. Bill Atkinson, Midwest City millionaire who campaigned behind a team of Shetland ponies, grabbed an early lead for Democratic nomination as governor in Oklahoma's primary election Tuesday night. The campaign was fought against a background of dry vs. wet in constitutionally dry Oklahoma.

In 133 of the state's 3,233 precincts, Atkinson had 6,511 votes. State Sen. George Miskovsky had 4,585, and Tulsa County Atty. J. Howard Edmondson 3,450.

Other leaders in the 11-man Democratic field were William Doenges, former Democratic national committee member, 2,678 and William O. Coe, runner-up in 1954 with 2,443.

Phil Ferguson led the Republican voting in scattered early returns with 528 votes. In the only major congressional fight, former Rep. Victor Wickert led Rep. Toby Morris in the 6th District, 1,654-602.

Atkinson, a builder and Shetland pony breeder, and Doenges are considered dry. Miskovsky had made repeal a major point. Edmondson also has promised to submit the question to a special election.

President Appeals to House Not To Cut Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower appealed anew Tuesday for a bigger foreign aid budget from a House apparently of mind to spurn his plea.

The White House promised a new bid for more money before voting starts on a bill appropriating $3 billion in new aid funds for the fiscal year that just started. This is $872-million less than Eisenhower originally asked and $579.5-million below the ceiling set only last week in a separate authorization.

Some Advocates Pessimistic Privately, however, advocates of larger allotments were pessimistic. Some of them feared a 1-sided vote against amendments to increase funds would lessen the chances for ultimate victory in a Senate-House conference. They assumed the Senate would vote more than the House, as has often happened in the past.

The practical situation is that almost every member of the House is running for re-election this year and the House budget-cutting record is not so impressive as it has been in recent years. A deep slash in foreign aid funds, many members feel, would give them a better economy record.

Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.), floor manager of the bill and chairman of the subcommittee that wrote it, cautioned the House against yielding to what he termed unprecedented pressure for more money. Passman expressed confidence that the cuts would be sustained.

a grave threat to the security of the United States. Dulles hinted that Eisenhower may take his case to the people by radio and television if he believes such a course is necessary.

Congressional leaders of both parties hoped a new appeal from Mr. Eisenhower at his news conference Wednesday would help their fight to restore at least some of the committee cuts. The White House said President Eisenhower would issue such a plea.

4 POINT RECORD LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — John Haessler of Leshara, Neb., is the first freshman ever to chalk up perfect grades in all his classes in the University of Nebraska College of Law.

John, 22, says the record was achieved without any cramming before exams. "If you spend the time reading your notes instead, you'll know a lot more," he said. "Would he like a perfect year as a sophomore?" "I should say not. It makes you too unpopular," John says.

Father and Son File Suits Against County Employee

Two damage suits totaling $46,823 were filed Monday in Johnson County District Court against a county maintenance employee, Leo G. Umbdenstock, 60, 1210 Franklin St.

Ralph C. Cozine and his son Richard, 17, who live on a farm 4 miles east of Iowa City, filed the suits.

The Cozines claim Umbdenstock was operating a county road grader April 8 on the wrong side of a county road located about five miles east of Iowa City.

The Cozines allege that in order to avoid an accident, Richard turned off the county road and his car overturned in a ditch. Richard suffered a fractured pelvis, punctured bladder and other internal injuries, they claim.

Richard's petition, filed by his father, asks $40,000 for Richard's injuries and hospitalization and $400 damages to his car.

Western Officials Reply to Nikita
MOSCOW (AP) — The United States, British and French Embassies delivered Tuesday to the Soviet Government replies to Premier Khrushchev's latest letter of June 11 on a summit conference.

This was the letter in which Khrushchev went over the heads of diplomatic negotiators in Moscow with direct letters to President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Macmillan and French Premier de Gaulle charging the West with stalling on summit talks. Contents of the Western replies were not disclosed.

Go Slow With Hostile Students: McCandless

"It's easy for a teacher to become prejudiced against a student whose test scores show beliefs opposing the teacher's," an SUI professor warned a group attending workshops at SUI for teachers cooperating in an experimental teaching program.

Boyd McCandless, professor and director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, discussed Tuesday authoritarian behavior and tests which indicate the tendency to that behavior.

His listeners were members of the workshops for high school and elementary teachers who are trying to further their understanding of child behavior and their own behavior, and learn how to use this information in their classrooms.

Authoritarianism can be the "intolerance of ambiguity," McCandless said. He explained it as wanting everything to be crystal-clear and in order, white or black, good or bad. "That's the exact opposite of the causal approach," he noted. The causal approach involves looking for the reasons behind one's own behavior and that of others.

Tests for authoritarian tendencies can be valuable to a high school in evaluating its curriculum, McCandless said, but they must be used and interpreted with caution and discretion.

Groups which score high on the authoritarian scale, McCandless said, also tend to be highly prejudiced. One theory holds that prejudice and authoritarianism are matters of simple learning, he said.

McCandless said groups of pupils who tended to be authoritarian were not only highly prejudiced, but also favored strong punishment by the teacher (or other authority figures) and were better behaved when authority was present. But they tended to get into more delinquency when the teacher was out of the room.

Generally speaking, education tends to lower authoritarian attitudes and lessen prejudice, McCandless pointed out, noting that good attitude changes are more likely to occur in a pleasant experience. "A good reason to make classrooms as pleasant as possible," he added.

Early training, if harsh and rigid, may produce authoritarian attitudes the SUI professor explained. McCandless advised against hasty action in dealing with hostile students in the classroom. "It's best to wait and approach a hostile student constructively," he declared, "and it always helps to know yourself and everything you can about your students."

Dulles Deplores Soviet Refusal To Readmit Schorr

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles deplored the Soviet Union's refusal to allow CBS news correspondent Daniel Schorr to return to his post in Moscow.

Dulles told a news conference Tuesday the action demonstrates how very much afraid the Soviet Union is of any exchange of information.

Schorr, CBS newsman in Moscow since September 1955, returned to the United States on leave last Dec. 21, after being assured he would be given a re-entry permit. He has sought to return since February.

The 'Texas Neurosis' Makes Its Appearance

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Three servicemen were rescued by police Monday night after a brisk battle in a bar here.

"We didn't aim to start a fight," the crestfallen soldiers explained. "We only asked the orchestra to play 'Yellow Rose of Texas.'"

Water Show To Be Highlight Of Fourth of July Festivities

Boats will race down the Iowa River July Fourth during one of the many programs scheduled at City Park.

Boats will be raced in nine classes, from the smallest motors and fishing boats, to the largest, unlimited outboard hydroplanes, in this full-scale regatta sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and conducted by the Iowa City Boat Club.

Advance entries promise a full field in some classes for the annual Independence Day races, but there is still room for more entries, Murvin H. Perry, president of the Iowa City Boat Club, said Tuesday.

The racing course will be established on the Iowa River north of the City Park Bridge.

Water skiing stunts and demonstrations have been arranged for between race intervals and a parade of boats will be included in the program.

Water clowns, a radio-controlled model boat, and displays by the local marine equipment dealers have also been planned as part of the program.

The following time schedule has been established: at noon, drivers meeting: 1 p.m., preliminary races; 2 p.m., parade of boats; and 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., final races.

Official descriptions of classes and entry blanks may be obtained from any of the outboard dealers in Iowa City or Coralville.

Trophies will be awarded to the first three places in each class. Little League baseball games to be played in the lower park area at 9 a.m. will begin the Independence Day festivities. Other activities planned by the JayCees include rides and concessions, and a huge fireworks spectacular in the evening.

WSUI Will Air Meier's Lecture Thursday Night

Speaking on the recent French political crisis, Norman C. Meier, SUI professor of psychology will be heard on "Current Opinion" Thursday at 7 p.m. on radio station WSUI.

A recent visitor in France, Meier originally delivered his talk June 24 in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

In the talk he gives his interpretation of events which raised Gen. de Gaulle, white or black, good membership of France and offers some predictions about the future of that nation.

Army Preparing Rocket Shot to Moon: Brucker

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilbur Brucker says the Army is working day and night — independently of other agencies — to get a rocket to the moon.

Brucker told a press conference he was highly confident the Army will be ready to make the moon attempt, which was the first indication from this high a level that the Army was well-advanced on the project.

He said the Army knows nothing of the plans of any other agency.
