Ike Asks U.S.-Canadian Unity

Stresses Need For Good Faith

OTTAWA (AP) — President Eisenhower summoned Canada and the United States Wednesday to stand together at a pivotal point in history against the global threat of Communist imperialism.

Hearty, desk-pounding applause greeted him in the Canadian Parliament — often the forum for speeches critical of U.S. policies.

Mr. Eisenhower spoke in the vaulted limestone and oak chamber of the House of Commons, as a highlight of his visit to Canada.

He recognized that frictions and disagreements have marred relations. But he said that through understanding, common sense and give and take "we can find acceptable solutions to any problems which exist or may arise between us."

Dig at Diefenbaker

He offered no specific solutions. At one point, the President took what his listeners considered an unmistakable dig at one idea of Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker — that it could be beneficial if Canada diverted 15 per cent of its trade from the United States to the British Commonwealth.

"I assume that Canada is as interested as we are in the expansion of world trade rather than in its artificial redirection," the President said.

That drew applause from Diefenbaker's opposition, led by Lester B. Pearson.

To reporters who sought his reaction, Diefenbaker remarked: "I never abstract one line out of a speech. I was pleased with the purport of the speech."

In contrast with a small, decidedly unenthusiastic turnout which witnessed the President's arrival from Washington Tuesday, some 10,000 persons showed up when he laid a wreath at the War Memorial at the foot of Parliament Hill Wednesday. They cheered and applauded him.

Sounds Warning

Mr. Eisenhower sounded an old warning in declaring that competition in the economic arena could be the "most bitter and decisive between the free world and Communist imperialism." Canada and the United States, he said, face not only a military threat but also political attacks, and the challenge of a state-controlled economy to the free enterprise system.

The President found no cause to be surprised or disturbed over occasional differences between the two countries.

"We in the United States," he said, "have no more desire than you to seek in our relations with others the silent, sullen unity that elsewhere has been purchased or imposed. The hallmark of freedom is the right to differ as well as the right to agree..."

1958-59 Lecture And Concert Slate Announced

Students at SUI just for the summer may change their minds and register for the fall semester after they hear about the 1958-59 lecture and concert series.

William Adamson, assistant to the director of the Iowa Memorial Union, announced Wednesday that the schedule for the next school year would include four lectures and four concerts.

Guest lecturers will include: Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), Oct. 9; Meredith Willson and his wife, Rini, who will present a lecture entitled "Mirth and Music" Oct. 15; Vincent Price, the screen star, Nov. 13; and Emyln Williams, who will present readings from Charles Dickens Feb. 18.

The lectures are presented primarily as educational features, but they can be and often are entertaining features as well, Adamson said.

The 1958-59 concert series will include programs by the Royal Danish Orchestra, Oct. 27; a concert by soprano Lois Marshall, Feb. 11; a piano duet by Gold and Fildale, April 15; and two concerts by the Minneapolis Symphony, April 1.

Earl E. Harper, director of the Iowa Memorial Union, is chairman of the committee which selects the talent for the concert and lecture series.

Other members of the committee are: John C. Gerber, professor of English; Orville A. Hitchcock, professor of speech; Walter F. Loewing, dean of the SUI Graduate College; Robert S. Michaelson, professor and director of the SUI School of Religion; Leslie G. Moeller, director of the School of Journalism; Philip F. Morgan, professor of engineering; and Adamson.

Talent usually is selected through agents who send information concerning their clients to the committee.

The lecture and concert series at SUI compares very favorably with those of other Big 10 schools, Adamson said.

However, in other schools, the students must pay for their tickets, he said. At SUI a fund is allocated by the University for the lectures and concerts. Tickets are free to SUI students upon presentation of their ID cards.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey To Speak Here Oct. 9

Agreement Reached On China Policy

OTTAWA (AP) — The United States and Canada agreed Wednesday, in top-level conversations, on greater cooperation in the fields of trade with Communist China and safeguards against surprise attack.

This twofold development grew out of a series of conversations between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker and conferences among Cabinet subordinates.

A U.S. embargo on trade with Red China has been a sore point in U.S.-Canadian relations and the two governments now have agreed to consult one another on all cases in which their laws on such trade are out of harmony.

While spokesmen for the two countries left details fuzzy, it appeared the agreement will move in the direction of perhaps permitting Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. firms to send nonstrategic items to the Chinese Communists.

A case in point is a bid from the Chinese Reds to purchase 1,000 cars from the Ford Motor Co. of Canada.

On disarmament and particularly on safeguards against surprise attack, the President and the Prime Minister agreed to put experts of both the nations to work together, in cooperation with those of other free world countries concerned, to study the problem.

Primarily, the aim is to lay the groundwork for a conference with the Russians on the subject, along lines proposed in correspondence between Mr. Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Khrushchev has accepted the idea of examination by experts of possible systems of supervision and control to prevent surprise attacks. His views were similar to those President Eisenhower had expressed earlier.

The effect of Wednesday's agreement will be that Canada and the United States will team up more closely on preparatory work and are publicly announcing their desire to go ahead with negotiations on prevention of surprise aggression.

'Wilderness' Standing Room Only For 1st Summer Play

Standing room only is available for the three performances (8 p.m. today, Friday and Saturday) of "Ah, Wilderness," first play of the summer session.

University Theater officials announced Wednesday night that the only way students can attend the play — if they do not have reserved seat tickets — is to come to the theater a few minutes before the performance and ask for standing room tickets.

Claim Reds Roughed Up U.S. Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said Wednesday night five U.S. airmen who parachuted from their plane which was forced down in Russia 12 days ago were mistreated by civilians before they were taken into custody by local authorities.

A Defense Department spokesman said indications were that the men were "roughed up."

The department would not elaborate on its brief announcement saying a report on the episode was being prepared by the Air Force in Wiesbaden, an American air base in West Germany.

The announcement came after the United States earlier Wednesday claimed inhumane attacks by Soviet jet fighters that forced the unarmed plane down.

Hint of Formal Protest The State Department, describing itself as shocked by the jet fighter incident, strongly hinted it would fire a formal protest to Moscow.

The department also renewed its demand that the Soviet Union intervene immediately to arrange release of nine U.S. soldiers held by East German Communist authorities for the past 32 days.

The State Department's denunciation of the Soviet Union's conduct in the case of the transport plane followed release of the nine-man crew Tuesday. The men were flown to Wiesbaden, an American air base in West Germany. They reported that five of their number parachuted to safety after two jets fired on their transport when it wandered across the Soviet frontier. Four others rode the plane to an emergency landing, escaping seconds before the craft exploded.

Down in Flames The Air Force Tuesday gave this account of what happened: Two Soviet MIG fighters set the unarmed C118 transport afire with their first shots at 15,000 feet. Five crew members took to their parachutes but the other four remained aboard. With the aircraft in flames and headed for a landing with its wheels down, the MIGs made another firing pass on the crippled plane. The burning plane exploded on the ground shortly after the crew members were able to reach safety.

The State Department press officer, Lincoln White, told newsmen the department is collecting pertinent facts, including testimony from the men, before deciding what next step to take.

Goldfine Misses $89,035 Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard Goldfine and his financial secretary told House investigators Wednesday they have no idea what happened to $89,035 in guaranteed bank checks bought by Goldfine companies in the early 1940s but never cashed.

They refused to answer detailed questions about another $232,000 worth of checks bought over the last few years but all redeposited at one time last June 25, after the special House subcommittee's investigation had turned to Goldfine.

Subcommittee members called all this "mysterious... beyond belief."

Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill.), said papers in the committee files show that such an indictment, on a charge of concealing assets in a bankruptcy case, was brought against Goldfine in 1949 and abandoned the following year presumably for lack of evidence. Goldfine was 18 at the time.

But Mack withdrew the whole matter when some members joined Goldfine and his lawyers in protesting.

The Goldfine firms' acknowledged habit of converting cash into certified or bank treasurer's checks which sometimes went uncashed for years inspired some committee members to propose a look at income tax returns for the years in question.

The subcommittee said the total of the checks bought over the years and listed as uncashed at the start of its inquiry was about $777,000.

The group does not now have authority to examine federal income tax returns, but it could seek permission from Mr. Eisenhower to do so.

Goldfine and his tart-tongued blonde secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman, both swore that none of the checks was used in any way to avoid tax liabilities — nor for payments to public officials.

Goldfine referred questions about the $89,035 worth of checks purchased in 1941-43 to Miss Paperman. She testified she had no recollection and no records going that far back.

Thor-Able ICBM Makes Historic Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force shot a Thor-Able ICBM into space Wednesday night and hoped to bring it back alive after the first intercontinental flight of a U.S. ballistic missile.

Fifteen minutes after a mighty Thor-Able rocket blasted out of a great pool of exhaust fire into a starry night sky, the Air Force said the two-stage vehicle appeared to perform satisfactorily.

The mouse was in a secret, highly advanced nose cone of the rocket, which was aimed for a target area 6,000 miles down the south Atlantic test range.

If the tiny rider survived the flight through the thin outer reaches of space and the red-hot plunge back into the earth's dense atmosphere, man will have taken another big step toward his own first venture toward the stars and planets.

An attempt was to be made to recover the nose cone and its little passenger.

Thor-Able is composed of a standard Thor missile topped by a radically modified second stage of the Vanguard satellite rocket.

So far, U.S. rocket experts have been unable to break through the intercontinental barrier with a ballistic weapon.

The Snark, a jet-propelled craft, has traveled 6,000 miles but not through space. It moves only 600 miles an hour—a snail's pace in comparison with the speed of the ballistic missiles.

Intermediate Test A nose cone launched into space last May 18 by the Army's Jupiter rocket survived a 9,000 m.p.h. plunge back to earth and was recovered intact from the ocean. The flight, however, was over an intermediate range of only about 1,600 miles.

The Thor-Able jumped out of a spectacular pool of fire at 9:49 p.m. and was visible about three minutes as it raced across a starry Florida sky.

The first stage appeared to burn about 2 minutes and 40 seconds after the blastoff and the second stage seemed to ignite as planned.

A team of aero-medical specialists was standing by awaiting news of how the mouse — nicknamed "Mia II" — fared on its spin through space.

A mouse also was placed in the first Thor-Able, but died when the rocket fizzled April 23. The Air Force abandoned its search for the nose cone after telemetric contact was lost.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Force ballistic missile division, has announced that mice and later monkeys will be included in each Thor-Able test.

The fate of the animals will shed more light on the problems that face man before he rockets into space himself.

Few Details Released Little official information was released on Wednesday night's firing because the project is bound by tight security measures.

If Thor-Able behaved as expected, the two stages fell away as their fuel burned out, while the nose cone continued toward target.

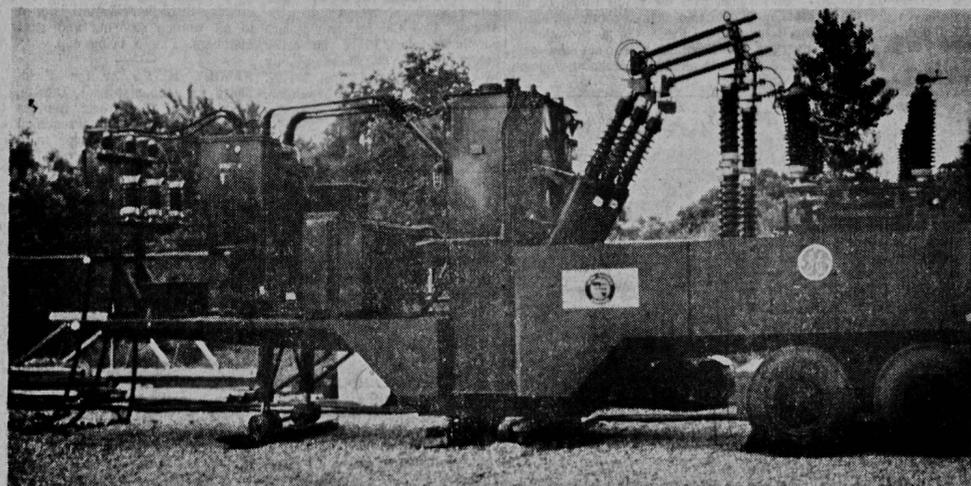

Once back in the earth's confines, a parachute was set to pop open. Thus the nose cone would be eased down gently.

There also was special equipment aboard to aid recovery operations. This gear included a radio transmitter to beep out signals to search units, a dye marker to pinpoint the location, a blinking light, shark repellent and buoys to keep the nose cone afloat.

A string of air force telemetry ships stood by near Ascension Island off the African coast, waiting for a signal from the nose cone.

Weather

Partly cloudy skies with little change in temperature readings are predicted for Iowa City today. Although severe thunderstorms were expected in Iowa City Wednesday, storm warnings were lifted early Wednesday night and the weatherman indicated that the only chance for rain today is a few scattered showers. Further outlook for Friday calls for partly cloudy skies and temperatures in the high 70s.

Huge Movable Transformer Unit in Coralville

THE LARGEST MOBILE SUBSTATION in the United States arrived in Coralville Wednesday to help prevent service interruptions while maintenance work is being carried out by the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company. The substation, a 32-ton unit valued at approximately $100,000, will provide for maintenance as well as emergency replacements of large transformers throughout the local utility's service areas. The substation, located at Coralville adjacent to the Coralville Generating Station, is mounted on a semi-trailer which is hauled by a special tractor. The unit includes a forced oil-cooled three-phase 69,000-13,800 volt transformer with such accessories as a high voltage disconnect switch, low voltage circuit breaker, lightning arrestors and control panel.—Daily Iowan Photo.

2 Iowa Papers Take First Place Awards

DETROIT (AP) — Five Iowa newspapers were among 192 small town papers which received awards here Wednesday night at the opening of the four-day convention of the National Editorial Assn.

The Grinnell Herald-Register and the Garner Leader and Signal were given first place awards for service to agriculture. Grinnell topped newspapers over 2,000 circulation and Garner's award for newspapers under 2,000.

The Montezuma Republican placed second for best use of photographs in papers over 2,000 circulation.

Two Iowa papers placed third in excellence in typography. The Sumner Gazette won its award among weeklies from 2,000 to 5,000 circulation and the Buffalo Center Tribune was third among weeklies under 2,000 circulation.

The NEA, representing more than 5,600 weekly and daily papers, held its better newspaper contests in cooperation with state press associations.

Earl W. Causey of Star City, Ark., and Howard Grossman of Salem, Ind., contest co-chairmen, said the 2,042 entries showed that "our newspapers are setting their goals in various phases of journalism very high and are striving to live up to them."

Individual awards of merit were presented to Herman Roe, publisher of the Northfield, Minn., News and Independent, for long and continuing leadership and exemplification of highest ethical newspaper standards; Edmund C. Arnold, co-publisher of the Frankemuth, Mich., News, for outstanding contributions toward typographic excellence and Earl F. English, dean of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, for his leadership in organizing a freedom of information center.

The association's president, Lowell E. Jessen of Livermore, Calif., presented the award, known as the president's plaque, to English.

Says Decision Forbids Denial Of Passports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department official testified Wednesday that a recent Supreme Court decision wiped out authority to deny passports even to persons known to be spies.

Robert D. Johnson, chief of the passport office's legal division, also said that since the court's ruling on June 16 passports have been issued to approximately 65 applicants who would have been investigated thoroughly under its Communist regulations.

He told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that the court's ruling offered the department no alternative to issuing passports to these applicants.

In its June 16 decision, involving three passport cases, the Supreme Court ruled that passport applications could not be denied to Communists or others because of their beliefs or associations.

President Eisenhower sent legislation to Congress Tuesday asking for authority to deny passports to any Americans whose activities aided Communism during the 10 years prior to the filing of the passport application.

Ike's Brother Accused of Being A 'Moocher on the Government'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Milton Eisenhower the President's brother, was accused in the Senate Wednesday of "mooching on the government" for his personal vacation pleasure. The White House denied it.

At issue was the use of three military aircraft to return Dr. Eisenhower and his 19-year-old daughter Ruth Tuesday from a Wisconsin fishing trip. The Pentagon estimated the cost at about $1,400.

"Convenience of Government" Mrs. Anne Wheaton, associate White House press secretary, said the planes were placed at Eisenhower's disposal for the convenience of the Government and in order to bring the President's brother back to Washington in time for consultations before he sets out Saturday on a good-will tour of Central America.

The tour had been scheduled to start about July 15 but was advanced in date last Monday, at a time when Dr. Eisenhower was fishing in Wisconsin's Land o' Lakes region.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) told the Senate the planes were not made available for any Government purpose.

"Misuse of Tax Funds" "The example of the President's brother mooching on the Government for his personal vacation pleasure is not a good one," Proxmire said. He called it "a cavalier misuse of the taxpayers' funds."

Dr. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, has been assigned to visit Nicaragua, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Honduras, El Salvador and Panama as head of a U.S. study group. He will confer with Central American officials about economic development and other problems.

Rogers Says Crime Drive Still Pending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General William P. Rogers predicted Wednesday several more indictments against big-time hoodlums before the first of the year.

Rogers made the prediction in response to news conference questions about progress of the Justice Department's crime drive kicked off April 10 against the nation's hundred top hoodlums.

The attorney general said indictments against Vito Genovese, reputed Mafia big shot along with 36 others on international narcotics violation conspiracy charges, were part of the drive. He also called attention to the recent Chicago income tax evasion conviction of Paul "The Walter" Ricca.

Rogers refused to answer a series of questions on the investigation of the affairs of Bernard Goldfine, Boston industrialist, and his gifts to Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's No. 1 aide.

"I am not going to comment on the Harris subcommittee investigation at all, or any phase of it, certainly insofar as the investigation is pending. I think if I did it would have the effect of indicting people or not indicting people at a press conference."

James Dixon To Conduct In Greece

James Dixon, conductor of the SUI Symphony Orchestra, will conduct the National Symphony Orchestra of Greece for the second time Aug. 26 on a nationally broadcast radio program.

The SUI musician was invited to return as guest conductor of the Greek symphony following his first appearance directing the group in July, 1956.

Dixon will leave Iowa City July 16 to tour Europe before joining the orchestra in Greece. He will visit Vienna to do private study and also will attend the Salzburg Music Festival in Salzburg, Austria. While at the Salzburg Festival, Dixon will meet Hinnie Voxman and his family, who left for a vacation in Europe Tuesday. Voxman is head of the music department of SUI.

A native of Estherville, Dixon conducted the National Symphony Orchestra on his first trip to Greece in the Herodes Atticus Theatre, an ancient Greek open-air theatre in Athens.

Dixon was no stranger then in Europe. In 1951, he went to England with Dimitri Mitropoulos to study the famous conductor's directing of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra at the British Music Festival. Mitropoulos has performed several times with the SUI Symphony Orchestra as piano soloist under the direction of Dixon.

Iowans Complain Bill Could Create Political Footballs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee was told Wednesday that bridge commissions could be political footballs if appointments were made by governors of the states involved.

Mar. N. Morris, chairman of the Clinton, Iowa, Bridge Commission, said this was one objection to passage of legislation designed to shift the appointment authority from the Commerce Department.

Morris said a provision providing for appointment of members with joint approval of the two governors could bring about "an almost impossible situation."

Charles A. Rehwald, vice chairman of the Muscatine Commission, said the result would be the "ruination of bridge commissions." He said there was no provision to force action if one of the governors refused to make an appointment.

Camera Shy Pet Hawk Under Police Scrutiny

Iowa City Police Wednesday learned of an apparently camera shy hawk.

It seems that an Iowa City family has a pet hawk, and every night between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. the boys go out to shoot birds for the hawk's dinner.

A neighbor complained to the police about the shooting.

At one particular time the neighbor said she saw the boy dangling a wounded bird in front of the hawk, apparently so the father could take a picture of the hawk catching the bird in flight.

The hawk wasn't interested however — perhaps it didn't have its feathers combed — because it flew away.

He came back later, but it was not known whether or not he had his picture taken.

REMINDER TO DRIVERS

Drivers in Iowa City are reminded that in order to have a parking meter tickets cancelled because of faulty meters, the driver must contact the Iowa City Police Department and 9615 and report the meter out-of-order before the ticket is issued.

Drivers reporting a faulty meter after a ticket is issued will have to pay the fine.

In order to get the ticket cancelled, the driver must bring it to the city hall and have it checked off by the secretary at the traffic bureau.

Rebels Free Two More U.S. Civilians

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP) — Cuban rebels freed two more American civilians Wednesday but still held all 30 kidnaped U.S. sailors and Marines and a lone Canadian. Five servicemen had been expected to turn up here.

Navy Impatient The U.S. Navy has become clearly impatient and indicated it might get tough with the rebels.

Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of the Atlantic Fleet and U.S. Atlantic Command, announced at Norfolk, Va., he is flying here Thursday to confer with U.S. diplomats and Navy officials on negotiations for release of the men.

Wright plans to fly back to Norfolk in the afternoon and, if necessary by then, to confer with Washington top officials on Friday.

Rear Adm. R. B. Ellis, commander of the Guantanamo naval base, told reporters wearily Wednesday night: "Mr. Wollam — U.S. consul negotiating with the rebels — advised me he fully expected five sailors to be released today. The delay is due purely to transportation troubles."

Engineers Released The civilians released during the day and brought here by U.S. Navy helicopter are Albert N. Ross, 51, of Houston, Tex., and James D. Best, about 30, of New Orleans and Matthews, Ky. Both were kidnaped June 26 from the Moa Bay Mining Co. camp where they worked as engineers.

Nineteen civilians thus have been returned in the past week from captivity of Raul Castro, area commander and brother of Fidel Castro, rebel commander in chief.

One Civilian Still Captive The only civilian still reported in rebel hands is Richard Sargent, 56, of Toronto, who was kidnaped June 26 from the sugar mill where he worked.

U.S. Vice Consul Weicha returned to the jungle by helicopter Wednesday to rejoin negotiations for release of the servicemen.

Ross and Best seemed to be in vigorous health as they bantered with reporters en route to consult with Navy officials.

Fidel Castro Disobeyed The State Department in Washington reported it was unable to understand why Raul Castro, a 26-year-old lieutenant, refuses to comply with Fidel Castro's order to free his American captives. Fidel's order was in a broadcast heard July 3.

From rebel statements and the accounts of released captives it appears the wholesale kidnappings were undertaken to dramatize the rebel cause and its complaints that U.S. weapons were being used by the Batista government against the rebels. The United States has declared arms shipments were stopped in March and only planes in distress get help at Guantanamo.

Raul Castro has demanded, among other things, official U.S. recognition of belligerent status.

Des Moines Woman Has Baby, Didn't Know She Was Pregnant

DES MOINES (AP) — A baby boy weighing 6 pounds, 12 ounces was born early Wednesday to a Des Moines mother who said she didn't even know she was pregnant.

Little James Edwin Piper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Piper, arrived on the scene at the family home about 1:15 a.m. She and the baby were reported doing well at a hospital.

Mrs. Piper, 38, is employed at the Howe Waste Paper Co. here and worked her usual eight-hour day Tuesday. She said there was no indication of her pregnancy.

Piper, a foreman at the Des Moines Clay Co., said he was "scared and happy" when his son arrived.

Armed Services Committee Goes into Closed Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee abruptly ended public hearings on defense reorganization Wednesday and prepared to go behind closed doors to tackle the House-passed bill to overhaul the Pentagon.

The final witnesses on the controversial measure were three retired four-star officers. Their conflicting views ranged from a let-well-enough-alone caution to a warning that if Congress doesn't act now it will have to take more drastic steps within two years.

After Adms. Arthur W. Radford and Robert B. Carney and Gen. Carl Spatz testified, Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said the committee had canceled plans to select some civilian witnesses for later testimony.

Russian Embassy Receives Two More Mystery Letters

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Embassy said Wednesday night it has received two more letters from mystery writers claiming to be U.S. airmen.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman quickly branded the new letters fakes in the same category as the first one a week ago carrying a threat to drop an A-bomb in the North Sea off the British coast.

The Soviet Embassy said one new letter came from the writer of the first, who signed himself "W" and said he was a pilot. The other signed "A" identified the writer as a member of the crew.

The new letters attacked U.S. nuclear policy.

All were addressed to Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik.

East-West Scientists Conclude Seventh Meeting Cordially

GENEVA (AP) — Scientists from the East and West concluded Wednesday general consideration of the acoustic, or sound wave, method of detecting nuclear explosions.

Then in an atmosphere of cordiality they began to tell each other how their countries collect radioactive products from the air and seek to determine when others have set off blasts.

The scientists began meeting July 1 to consider methods of policing a ban on nuclear weapons tests. They have now gone through seven meetings without an apparent hitch—an unusual accomplishment in postwar East-West relations.

The Soviet Embassy said one new letter came from the writer of the first, who signed himself "W" and said he was a pilot. The other signed "A" identified the writer as a member of the crew.

The new letters attacked U.S. nuclear policy.

All were addressed to Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik.

Iowa High School Students To Give 3 Plays at SUI

A varied theatre diet, including a combination farce and fantasy, a suspense-filled drama and a comedy-character study will be presented next week by Iowa high school students enrolled in the Speech and Dramatic Arts Workshop at SUI.

This is the first year that all of the plays to be presented are full-length, three-act works.

"Full-length plays were chosen to get really challenging roles for all 31 students in dramatic art," explains Willard Welsh, SUI assistant professor and supervisor of the workshop's dramatic arts section.

First play will be "Lo and Behold!" a farce and fantasy scheduled for 8 p.m. July 16. "The Women Have Their Way," a light comedy and character study, will be presented at 8 p.m. July 17, with the dramatic "Twelve Angry Women" closing the series at 3 p.m. July 18.

After Confident Opening — Dixon's Crew Comes Thru' — With Minimum Bruises

A widely-varied program of the SUI Symphony Orchestra under the baton of James Dixon was well-received by a near-capacity audience Wednesday night at the Iowa Memorial Union. The brilliant and often-performed Academic Festival Overture of Brahms provided a confident opening.

In contrast to the full orchestra of the Brahms', Prof. John Ferrell, accompanied by strings, oboes, and horns, presented the Mozart D major violin concerto. Ferrell's straight-forward and clear interpretation was a welcome contrast to some of the over-romanticized violin playing which is so often heard. It is sometimes very refreshing to hear a violin being played well and at the same time as if it were not a virtuoso instrument.

Since Mozart never heard the Tchaikovsky Violin Concerto, violinists should perhaps play Mozart as if they hadn't either. The highlight of the Concerto was the lyrical slow movement in which Ferrell was at his best.

Following the intermission, Debussy's exotic "Iberia" gave the Iowa-born conductor Dixon an opportunity to convey his understanding of perhaps one of the most subtle pieces of twentieth century music. Considering the technical and musical difficulties involved, it must be said that the orchestra came through with a minimum of bruises and scratches. In this regard one should say that technical perfection should not be really expected from this or any other school orchestra. Since the symphony orchestra is probably the most complex instrument ever devised for the production of music, it is not even surprising when one hears professional groups fall short.

After having heard some of the European orchestras, this reviewer feels that the SUI Orchestra certainly could pass for a professional orchestra in many parts of the world. It is the musical enjoyment derived while approximating this perfection which is important.

Strauss's voluptuous "Dance of the Seven Veils" from the opera "Salome" provided a dynamic finale to an enjoyable evening. Despite a notable lack or virility among some of the less prominent members of the violin section, the mood of this capricious-dance was maintained throughout.

The assembling of a full-sized symphony orchestra during the summer session of school is no small problem. Much of the keeping for the orchestra up to strength should be given to its personnel manager and to the several string players who commute from nearby cities to play even though they are not enrolled in summer school.

It is generally felt that the quality of Wednesday night's performance exceeded that orchestra's norm.

(Editor's Note: It should be pointed out that the reviewer, Mr. Hoag, also was a performer in Wednesday night's concert. While this is unusual, the reviewer's professional and academic background gave us confidence to experiment. It was felt that a performer with Mr. Hoag's qualifications could speak with more authority and could more easily spot the virtues and flaws of the performance than a reviewer who was not so thoroughly acquainted with the music and its subtleties.

Man Rescued From Canyon Ledge By Army Mountain Climbing Squad

ANTONITO, Colo. (AP)—A squad of Army mountain climbing experts Wednesday afternoon rescued an Albuquerque, N.M., businessman from a canyon ledge where he had been trapped for five days. A companion died before his body was found Tuesday.

ered 600 feet in a litter to the floor of Conejos Canyon, 30 miles northwest of Antonito. He walked without aid to an ambulance waiting three miles away.

Pfc. Al Lane, 22, of Littleton, N.H. Sanders and Garver were returning with two companions, Robert Shafer, 28, and Fred Bowker, 33, both also of Albuquerque, when they became lost Friday night.

Evy To Head Crippled Child Camp Appeal

Iowa football coach Forest Evashevski will head a special appeal to cities and towns in Iowa to provide funds for a summer camp for the crippled children of the state.

The announcement was made Wednesday by E. L. Peterson, Boone, president of the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Herb Plambek, Farm Director of television station WHO-TV in Des Moines, will head a similar appeal to Iowa's rural areas. The drive will begin this month.

Evashevski's appointment completes the planning for the drive. Almost every home in the state will receive special envelopes containing a message outlining the serious need for a residential summer camp for crippled youngsters.

In accepting the position, Evy said, "It is important that we reach the major portion of the $275,000 as quickly as possible so a site can be selected and construction started. I, for one, believe we should not keep the crippled children of Iowa waiting any longer."

U.S. JET CRASHES

SPANGDAHLEM, Germany (AP)—A U.S. Air Force pilot was killed Tuesday night after he heroically prevented his jet plane from crashing into a German village, the Air Force said.

Two crew members of the RB66 reconnaissance plane also were killed. They tried to escape by ejection in parachutes. Names were withheld pending notification of kin.

The plane had trouble in approaching the runway of a U.S. base at Spangdahlem. It crashed into an open field. The Air Force said the pilot took it away from the little community of Beilingen.

Richard's Night Out

A SHOCKING EVENING is on the program during the play "Richard's Night Out," opening tonight at 8 p.m. at University Theater. The play, directed by Ronald C. Gee, instructor in the Dramatic Arts Department, deals with Richard Miller, 17, a high school senior — and a rebel. Above, Richard, played by Roderick Bladel, G. Moline, III, is seen on a blind date with a showgirl, Belle, played by Dorothy Evans. In a gay night club, Belle disrobes her leg to remove some money from the garter "purse" she uses as the wide-eyed Miller boy watches. —Daily Iowan Photo by Walter Kleine.

Judge Appoints Receiver To Sell Seed in Suit

A receiver for the suit against the Seed Marketing Association and the Douglas Guardian Warehouse Corporation with offices at 1301 Sheridan Ave., has been appointed by District Court Judge Harold D. Evans.

Judge Evans appointed the Iowa State Bank and Trust Company, 102 S. Clinton St., receiver and directed the bank to sell 347,739 pounds of stored before it deteriorates.

Judge Evans ordered the money received from the sale be placed in a special fund pending disposition of the suit.

The suit was started this spring by 27 Johnson County farmers against the Seed Marketing and Guardian Warehouse firms. The farmers are asking $25,000 in exemplary damages and $89,000 for actual damages.

Waterloo Youth Falls from Boat, Drowns in Lake

DUBUQUE (AP)—A Waterloo youth fell from a cabin cruiser and drowned in Freness Lake south of here Wednesday.

He was Jim Hickey, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hickey of Waterloo. The Hickeys were vacationing at the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickey said the boy fell from the bow of the cruiser while riding with his parents. Mrs. Hickey threw him a rope but he missed it and sank from sight.

About 10 minutes later Hickey hailed Ken Gordon, manager of Dubuque radio station KDTH, and Bob Gribben, a station employee, who were passing in another boat, and told them what had happened. They notified the sheriff's office. Sheriff's deputies started dragging for the body.

Boys Transferred to Anamosa Following Protest Uprising

ELDORA (AP)—Supt. H. L. Miles of the Eldora State Boys Trainings School disclosed Wednesday that nine boys have been transferred to the Anamosa's Men's Reformatory for their part in a protest uprising.

Miles said the uprising occurred Monday morning in Cottage No. 7 after resignation of Chaplain Howard Blandau became known.

The Rev. Mr. Blandau says he resigned because he disagrees with the disciplinary approach at the school. He said he favors a positive, restraining technique rather than a permissive one.

Miles said the boys in No. 7 made a shambles of the cottage and started a fight with Harold Sifrit, the cottage father, before order was restored. He claimed Mr. Blandau incited the demonstration.

"We have absolutely full control at the school," Miles said. Chairman Robert Lappen of the State Board of Control visited the training school Wednesday. He later issued a statement in which he said nothing had turned up "that would indicate we should not support the administration of the training school."

Lappen called the dispute involving Mr. Blandau "an unfortunate clash of personalities and ideas."

Gov. Herschel Loveless said it is his policy to support institution administrators "unless there is clear-cut and sufficient reason to the contrary."

Mr. Blandau had said he disagreed with the methods of Frank H. Dickson, 63, the school psychologist. He said Dickson had a "Freudian concept of psychology."

Dickson said Wednesday that this is not so. He said he uses the so-called non-directive approach and "does not attempt to tell anybody how to live or what he must do."

Senate Group Votes Against Ike's Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee lined up 10-5 Wednesday in favor of a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Law. President Eisenhower has asked for five years, and the House has so voted.

There was a 7-5 vote in the committee for three years, and three absentees said later they would vote for three years. The committee has 15 members.

The reciprocal trade program, which was begun 24 years ago, has never been extended for more than three years at a time. Mr. Eisenhower asked for five years on the grounds that this much time would be needed to conduct trade negotiations with the European Common Market now being formed.

Under the program, the President is authorized to negotiate tariff cuts, on a tit for tat basis, with other nations.

Warns Merchants Of Forged Checks

DES MOINES (AP)—Central Iowa merchants were warned Wednesday to be on the lookout for checks forged on Iowa Fibre Products, Inc., of Des Moines.

Police Detective William Marohn said more than 7,000 blank checks carrying the firm's name were stolen from a fire-damaged building which formerly housed the company.

Marohn said one of the checks, made out for $72.58 was cashed last Thursday at a Des Moines tavern.

RUSSIAN FARM PROBLEM

MOSCOW (AP)—A bumper sugar beet crop in the Soviet Union is raising problems.

A decree from the Communist party Central Committee and the Council of Ministers notes an expected beet increase of five to six million tons over last year and a processing plant capacity increase of only one million tons. Farmers are advised to harvest slowly and provide for field storage until processing can catch up.

Casey Says Baseball Better'n Ever

WASHINGTON (AP)—Casey Stengel took an hour off for discourse with U.S. senators Wednesday and told them baseball's conduct is impeccable.

Stengel, the noted banker, oilman, conversationalist and manager of the New York Yankees, didn't say exactly that.

In testimony that never trapped him between bases, the gravel-voiced winner of American League pennants declared baseball is run better than ever.

Every man who goes out has a better home than when he went in," Stengel said in one of his more direct statements.

The 70-year-old Yankee pilot appeared before the Senate Antitrust subcommittee which is considering a House-passed bill to give pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey sweeping exemptions from antitrust laws.

Stengel was only one of an illustrious lineup of witnesses. Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals came over from Tuesday's All-Star Game in Baltimore to put in a plug for baseball's reserve clause, its draft and other practices that some lawmakers have termed monopolistic.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies and Eddie Yost of the Washington Senators, chief spokesmen for major league players in their dealings with club owners, also testified.

Both Williams and Musial testified that if they were starting their baseball careers all over, they would do exactly as they have done.

"The men are happy and satisfied with the way baseball is run," Williams said.

The baseballers drew the largest audience within memory to the subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.). Stengel talked at length, hitting into all fields at once.

Why, Kefauver wanted to know, did baseball magnates want this bill passed if the Supreme Court already has held the sport immune from antitrust laws?

"I wouldn't know," Stengel said, "but I imagine to keep baseball going as high as baseball is as a sport, they have gone into baseball and from the baseball angle."

Kefauver turned the questioning over to another senator.

Stengel also made it partly clear that:

The Yankees win games "because we have 'it' — the spirit of '76 — to put into the ball field."

Baseball is the most honest profession there is.

He has been fired 15 different times by one club or another. He once discharged himself.

In Japan "they are trying to play baseball over there with small fingers."

Cleveland Clubs Leading Yanks, 12-2

NEW YORK (AP)—After leaving nine runners stranded in the first seven innings, the Cleveland Indians opened the floodgates in the eighth and scored seven runs — their biggest single inning of the season — to crush the New York Yankees 12-2 Wednesday night. The rump Indians collected 19 hits, the highest total an opponent has collected against the Yanks this year.

Whitey Ford was the victim of most of the Tribe's blasting. He was charged with the loss, his fourth against 10 victories.

Until the fateful eighth, Ford and Cal McLish engaged in a dandy little pitching duel, with the big Indian far the steadier.

McLish, who was lifted for a pinch hitter in the big inning gave up only five hits in his tenure on the mound. The Yanks scored their only earned run in the second on a booming triple to right center by Bill Skowron, and a fly by Tony Kubek. Don Mossi gave up an unearned tally in the eighth.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Last place Los Angeles continued to cast a curious spell over first-place Milwaukee Wednesday night, belting the Braves 10-3 as stout Steve Bilko homered and drove in four runs. A crowd of 32,337 watched Stan Williams, towering young rookie right-hander, set the Braves down with four hits.

It was his fourth victory in seven decisions.

This was the eighth time the Dodgers beat the Braves in 10 meetings this year.

Bilko got the Dodgers an early lead by cracking a three-run homer in the first inning.

2 Iowa Golfers to Second Round of State Amateur Meet

Two Iowa golfers advanced to the second round of the Iowa amateur golf tournament at Fort Dodge Wednesday. They were Frank James, who will be a sophomore, and John Liechty, a member of the Iowa golf team.

James, the meet medalist, rallied for a 1 up decision over George Lee of Humboldt in 20 holes. Liechty was a 4-3 winner over Mel Gioff of Des Moines. Two other Iowa City golfers, John Peterson and Gene Novotny, both advanced to the second round today.

However, several University golfers were sidelined in Wednesday's action. The list includes, Phil Joselyn, Steve Showers and Dale Hayes.

Leahy demonstrated Wednesday why he has won three Iowa amateur golf titles.

Deadlocked at the end of 13 holes in a spectacular match with 17-year-old Steve Spray, the state junior champion, the Denison school teacher hit two wood shots into the rough on the 535-yard 14th. It appeared he might lose the hole to the tall Indianola youngster.

But Bob, 150 yards out, took his No. 9 iron and "hit the ball as hard as I could." Its journey over two trees ended 4 feet from the pin and Leahy got a birdie 4 to win the hole. He stretched his margin, taking 16 with a par 4 and won 2 and 1 on the 17th.

The 30-year-old defending champion was two under par and Steve was one under for 17 holes in one of the feature matches of the first round of the Iowa Amateur Golf Tournament.

The only real surprise among the 32 opening matches was the 3 and 1 victory by Bob Brown of Eldora over Dr. Charles Uppgraft of Boone. It was the first time the insurance broker had won a match in the championship flight.

With the exception of Spray, the top youngsters moved into the second round. They included James of Grinnell; Jack Rule of Waterloo; Bill Hird of Fort Dodge and Liechty.

Two former champions, however, came through. Herb Klontz, former Hawkeye golfer of Cedar Rapids, won the last six holes for a 1 up victory over Bill Bergman, also of Cedar Rapids. Jack Webb of Atlantic went 2 under in a 4 and 3 triumph over Dr. C. W. Kromer of Waverly.

Louis Dade, 50-year-old Fort Madison golfer, the first Negro to qualify for the championship flight, was a 3 and 2 victor over J. D. Turner of Perry.

Senators to Stay Put; So Says Washington's Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—The board of directors of the Washington Baseball club voted Wednesday against shifting the team to Minneapolis or anywhere else.

Only two days ago Senators' President Calvin Griffith had talked ed with his fellow American League club owners about making a move.

Wednesday, he himself announced that the board has now adopted a resolution saying none of its officers or directors "shall hereafter engage in negotiations or discuss any offers, either oral or written, regarding a transfer."

Griffith's fellow club owners had already made it plain they were against any move out of Washington at this time. Some considered the timing was bad, with Congress now considering legislation affecting baseball. They also pointed to the prestige angles of having a club in the nation's capital. The Senators have been here 58 years.

Griffith recalled that last October the ball club's directors voted against transferring the franchise to another city which "was very anxious to obtain it and had made an attractive offer from a business standpoint."

Griffith did not identify the city, but presumably it was Minneapolis, which during that period had guaranteed the Senators a modern stadium and a million paid admissions for three straight years.

Australian Snaps World 3-Mile Mark

DUBLIN (AP)—Albert Thomas of Australia broke the world three-mile record with a time of 13 minutes, 10.8 seconds Tuesday night.

The accepted record for the distance is 13:14.2 held by Sandor Iharos of Hungary and set in Budapest in 1955.

Thomas, a comparatively unknown young Australian, averaged 4:23.6 for each mile of the grueling race.

Thomas was spurred on by his hard challenging and more famous fellow Australian, Merv Lincoln, a subfour-minute miler.

The race was part of an international track meet in Dublin's Santry Stadium and the crowd howled in frenzy as Thomas raced into world stardom.

Thomas, 23-year-old accountant clerk from Sydney, went ahead at the start of the third mile and steadily drew away from Lincoln. The pocket-sized athlete — he is 5-5½ and weighs 126 pounds — completed two more laps in around 66 seconds each. Then he stepped up his performance to 64 seconds in the 11th lap.

With only 440 yards left, a 66-second lap was enough to put Thomas in world figures. But he streaked around in :42.8 and broke the tape 200 yards ahead of Lincoln. Irishman B. A. Messitt was third.

"Usually I am very nervous," Thomas said later, "but tonight I felt on top of the world. I felt from early on in the race that I would be there or thereabouts."

Valdes Scores TKO Over Harold Carter

SPOKANE (AP)—Cuba's heavy hitting Nino Valdes off to a plodding start, suddenly caught Harold Carter with a wicked right hand and then scored a technical knock-out Wednesday night in 1:40 of the ninth round.

Valdes, a light underdog, dropped Carter with a right-left combination early in the round for an eight-count and then sent him sprawling on his face seconds later.

No Hex on Essig; Still Leads Publix Golfers

CHICAGO (AP)—Don Essig Wednesday shoved the hex of being defending champion and medalist into the background to win a pair of matches with comparative ease and lead 16 survivors into the third round of the National Public Links Golf Tournament.

The 19-year-old former Indianapolis caddy, who can become the first defending titlist and medalist to win the meet since 1929, was three under the Silver Lake course's stubborn par of 36-35-73 in advancing through the first two rounds.

He eliminated Walt Durdle, Peoria, Ill., greenskeeper, 4 and 3 in the morning and trimmed Bill Krause, 4 and 2 in the afternoon.

Essig, who played for the LSU golf team this spring, will meet Dan Sikes Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., in Thursday's third round.

Sikes, a 27-year-old law student in the University of Florida, advanced with a 4 and 3 victory over Leon Radde of Minneapolis and a 2 and 1 decision over Jerry Gollardo of Los Angeles.

Another double round Thursday will set up the 36-hole semifinals Friday. The 36-hole wind-up is Saturday.

This Summer
BE WINTER WISE!

ask your HEATING DEALER to check your GAS furnace — RIGHT AWAY!

Your gas furnace is now 'on vacation' after working harder than usual last winter to keep your house warm and comfortable. So now's the time for that inspection your furnace needs. With a check-up, minor repairs and adjustments can be made before they develop into major problems.

You can relax and enjoy summer living after you set a date with your furnace dealer. There's no rush, no inconvenience, if you arrange the inspection right away. After the Checkup you'll have the assurance that your furnace is ready for the winter ahead.

If your heating equipment needs cleaning, repairs or adjustments, your trained furnace expert will advise you.

Keep your furnace pilot lighted before and after inspection so your furnace will be ready to serve you on the first cool day.

Here are some of the things your heating dealer will do:

- Test furnace with smoke bomb for leakage.
- Check for carbon deposits inside furnace.
- See that furnace vents properly.
- Make certain safety pilot operates properly.
- Re-cement clean-out doors.
- Check filters, oil motor and fan, etc.
