U.S. Troops Flown To Turkey

U.S. Holds Firm In U.N. Despite Mounting Pressure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The United States held firm Wednesday against mounting pressure spearheaded by the Soviet Union for withdrawal of U.S. Marines from Lebanon.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge insisted in the 11-nation Security Council only an international military force can supplant the Marines in the little revolt-torn Middle East country.

The Council postponed action until this afternoon on a U.S. resolution authorizing creation of the international force to protect Lebanon's independence from subversion by President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

A Soviet veto appeared certain. There was no prospect that the Council would approve a rival Soviet resolution urging immediate withdrawal of the Marines.

Even neutral Sweden questioned the necessity of sending U.S. military forces into Lebanon. Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring suggested that the activities of the U.N. observer group be suspended while the Marines are there.

He said Sweden believes the presence of the Marines makes it impossible for the observers to carry out their duties of preventing outside aid from reaching Lebanese rebels.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev read to the Council Wednesday an official Kremlin statement urging the removal of the Marines and warning that the Soviet Union reserves freedom of action in an area deemed vital to Soviet security.

Hancher Tells Iowans To Back Ike

Yet Sees Danger In U.S. Policy

SUI President Virgil Hancher and other Iowa political and educational leaders called on other Iowans Wednesday to support President Eisenhower in his decision to send Marines into Lebanon.

Statements made to the Associated Press by those who were asked for comments were tempered with the feeling that the move could be dangerous.

Cogent Reasons
President Hancher said: "In matters of this sort, our President, the Department of State and the Central Intelligence Agency have information unknown to the general public about the nature and significance of these developments. When the President has leaders in Congress agree that an action must be taken there must be cogent reasons for the action."

"While I deplore the necessity, I would have to endorse what the President has done. I am troubled because of the impending election in Lebanon. Assuming that pro-Arab League leaders would be elected, they might request our withdrawal."

"That would leave us in a rather awkward position, but I assume the President and his advisors believe that contingency will not develop."

Loveless — Murray
Other comments included: Gov. Herschel C. Loveless: "It was a logical action under the circumstances and the President should receive the support we should give the Commander-in-Chief in the time of crisis. The possibility of war always exists and it would be foolish to deny that it is a very grave danger at the present time."

Dr. William G. Murray, Ames, Republican candidate for governor: "The President has extensive sources of information we don't have. His decision is one we should back up 100 per cent. It's a grave decision, but one that was made on the basis of all known relevant factors."

ANOTHER ADAMS PROBE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sources said another series of public hearings appears certain on alleged attempts to gain favors through presidential assistant Sherman Adams. This would be separate from the current inquiry by a special House Commerce subcommittee.

THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE MIDDLE EAST illustrates the importance of the area to the United States, the Soviet Union and the world. Pipelines connect vital oil producing countries with the Western world. Just what Arab nationalists could do to Western Europe's oil supply is explained in the story below by the Associated Press' Tom Whitney. Arabs Could Cause Trouble By Stopping Flow of Oil

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Arab nationalists in Syria, Egypt and Iraq could cause a lot of trouble for Western Europe's industry by cutting the flow of much of the Middle East's oil in retaliation for the American move into Lebanon.

But the free world's oil situation today is a lot less tight than it was during the Suez crisis, when closing of the Suez Canal and sabotage of one of the Syrian pipelines to the eastern Mediterranean caused a petroleum crisis.

For one thing, there is now a large surplus tanker capacity available for any emergency.

For another thing, there is currently available, according to estimates of oil industry officials in New York, a large unused production capacity in U.S., Venezuelan and Canadian oil fields.

American oil industry officials also estimate that West European countries which learned the hard way in the Suez crisis, are now keeping fair-sized oil reserves on hand.

Here are some figures:

Total oil production of the non-Communist world has been running at slightly over 15 million barrels a day during the last 12 months. Of this, slightly over 4 million barrels a day are produced in the Middle East, or about 22 per cent of the free world's total.

About 900,000 barrels a day flow to market through pipelines which cross Syria and Lebanon to the eastern Mediterranean. Arab nationalists with or without the connivance of their Governments could stop this flow very easily—as they did during the Suez crisis—and Lebanese rebels have already threatened to do this.

Another 1 1/2-million barrels a day flows to market through the Suez Canal. President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, if he wished to defy treaty obligations, could cut this off by shutting the Canal to Western tankers. However, American oilmen doubt that Nasser will dare to do this.

If one or both pipelines to the eastern Mediterranean are cut this would cause disruption and difficulties in the oil industry of the free world. It would necessitate a lot of rescheduling of tanker runs and might lead to temporary shortages in some countries.

It would take Iraq's northern production of around 530,000 barrels a day out of world oil supply completely since the pipeline is its only outlet.

But most of the 360,000 barrels a day flowing through Tapline from Saudi Arabia, where Arab oil is the producer, could be lifted from the Persian Gulf.

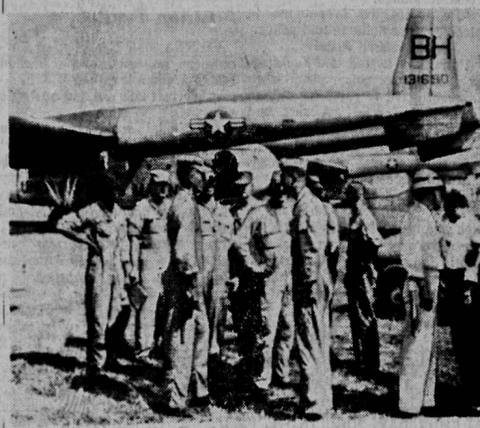

But hanging over the heads of any Arab hotheads, who think they could bring the West to its knees by cutting off Arab oil, is from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 barrels a day of unused capacity in the United States, Venezuela and Canada.

The flow of wells in these three nations has been cut back or is being held in reserve because of oversupply on world markets.

And, as American oilmen point out, if the West needs Arab oil, the Arabs need Western money just as much.

TIRED MARINES rested before boarding transports for an undisclosed destination in the Mediterranean area. Members of the 2nd Marine Division stationed at Camp Lejeune, N.C., the Marines finally climbed aboard the transports at Cherry Point, N.C., a Marine air station. This was the second group to leave from this base. It has not been disclosed whether . . .

. . . these or other Marines, or Army troops—were aboard the C119 Globemaster transports pictured in this AP radiophoto. The crew of these planes milled around the ships after they landed at Capodichino Airport near Naples, Italy, Wednesday. Reliable sources said the planes were carrying either elements of the U.S. 24th Infantry Division or U.S. Marines, en route to Turkey. There was a possibility they were to reinforce . . .

All Forces Poised For Quick Action

Bulletin Soviets Sending Troops To Iranian Border

LONDON (AP) — Tass announced Thursday (their time) Soviet land and air forces will begin military training exercises near the Iranian border Friday.

The maneuvers will be held in the Transcaucasus and Turkistan military districts of southern Russia, according to a Soviet dispatch broadcast by Moscow radio. The broadcast gave no other details.

The area is within striking distance of Iraq and Turkey. Both Iran and Turkey are members of the anti-Soviet Baghdad Pact, of which Iraq was a member before the coup there Monday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An airborne battle group of about 1,600 men landed in Turkey Wednesday night. Officials reported they might be used to reinforce the 5,400 U.S. Marines in Lebanon.

All of the armed services were thus poised for possible quick action.

The Pentagon said, however, there is no plan for the Marines already in Lebanon to take any offensive action.

U.S. military transport planes carrying men of the 1st Battle Group of the 187th Infantry, 24th Division, landed at the big NATO air base near Adana in southern Turkey. A tight security ring was thrown around the base.

Officials in Washington said the Adana base would serve as a staging area rather than a final destination for the troops flown there from their bases in Germany.

The Army, in announcing earlier that the group was on its way to the Middle East, said the advance elements had already been placed under operational control of Adm. James L. Holloway, U.S. commander in chief in the Middle East.

The eventual destination of the troops was not immediately disclosed. Informed officials said that the Army troops might be held in Turkey temporarily while Adm. Holloway determines whether they will be needed to reinforce the Marines already in Lebanon.

Second Group Alerted
The 24th Division has a second airborne battle group which is understood to have been alerted to follow the first group.

In order to plug the gap left by the departure of the force from Germany, the Army was also known to be readying plans for possible trans-Atlantic movement of at least an equivalent number of airborne troops from the 101st Airborne Division or the 82nd Airborne Division in the United States. This decision will await further developments.

Informed officials said the Marines in Lebanon might be reinforced today by United States soldiers. They indicated the battle group in Turkey might be shifted to Lebanon during the day.

The Defense Department announced that additional units of the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, N.C., were being loaded aboard vessels at Morehead City, N.C., and Norfolk, Va. This was described as a readiness exercise. Over a score of helicopters were loaded aboard the carrier Antietam at Norfolk.

But officials did not rule out that the Marines might get orders to head for the Mediterranean as soon as they are ready to go.

Marines from the same home base began landing 5,400 men Tuesday in Lebanon. Backed by the powerful 6th Fleet, one battalion went ashore Tuesday, another on Wednesday, and the third was offshore.

Goldfine Tells Of 43 Calls To Adams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard Goldfine acknowledged Wednesday telephoning Sherman Adams — "a friend you call whenever you see fit" — 43 times in six months.

But the wealthy Boston industrialist continued mum on some matters, despite more warnings of possible contempt from a special House investigating subcommittee.

Goldfine, in the witness chair for the seventh and supposedly next-to-the-last time, described as correct a record of 43 long-distance calls he placed to Adams, President Eisenhower's No. 1 aide. The record showed the calls were made to the White House, Adams' private number and, on one occasion, to Minneapolis when Adams was traveling.

The record covered the period from Nov. 20, 1957 to May 11, 1958, and thus amounted to almost two calls weekly on an average.

"I consider Gov. Adams one of my best friends," Goldfine said. "A friend you call whenever you see fit . . . and he does the same to you."

While the subcommittee neared the end of its marathon questioning of Adams' gift-giving friend — and presumably approached a decision on a contempt citation — the House itself exploded into a new row over the investigators' tactics. The immediate issue was a bitter protest by Rep. Perkins Bass (R-N.H.), against the mention by subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.), of a name identical with Bass' in connection with a company Harris said was a party in a case of apparent political string-pulling. Bass said he had nothing to do with any such thing and that Harris should have done him the courtesy of checking before mentioning his name.

Harris said the name was quoted from a public record, that he explained it might not be the representative's and that he is "willing, ready and in a position to defend any action this committee has taken."

'The Unfinished Luisa'

A poor man hasn't a chance when a beautiful lady begins to disrobe. John Ficca, G. Bloomington, Ill., found this out in a rehearsal of the play "The Unfinished Luisa," which opens tonight in the University Theatre. The lady doing the striptease was Ruth Farstrup, G. Solvang, Calif.

Tickets still are available for all three performances — tonight, Friday and Saturday. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets may be obtained in the East Lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. today and Friday, and from 9 a.m. until noon Saturday.

Students must present their summer ID card and student number card to receive free tickets. General admission is $1.25.

"The Unfinished Luisa" is an original comedy written by former SUI student Joseph Rosenberg. It concerns people who find themselves unable to adjust to a scientific matriarchy.

4 Turkish Educators To Visit SUI

Four Turkish educators are scheduled to arrive at SUI Saturday from New York University as guests of the Department of Business Education.

The four are visiting this country under a program of technical assistance to Turkey, sponsored jointly by the United States International Cooperation Administration and the Republic of Turkey.

The members of the group are Miss Cahide Gursoy, Director, Girls' Institute, Eskisehir, Turkey; Miss Melahat Oral, teacher of shorthand and typing, Ankara Commercial Teacher-Training College; Sabahattin Sertoglu, Assistant Director of Higher Commercial Schools, Turkish Ministry of Education, and teacher of bookkeeping, Ankara Commercial Teacher-Training College; and Ihsan Yener, teacher of secretarial subjects, Ankara Commercial Teacher Training College.

The group will observe and discuss the various methods and techniques of teaching at SUI in the different areas of the business education department.

The Turks will leave Iowa City July 22 for Lincoln, Neb., where they will continue their study tour.

SUI Instructor Plans Varied Trip Around The World

By TOM MAINE
Staff Writer

Although the trip won't be exactly on a shoestring, Vic Bonfig has planned a sort of "do-it-yourself" tour around the world.

Bonfig, an instructor in the University Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, spoke to members of the Iowa City Optimist Club Wednesday about plans for his trip.

He will leave for San Francisco on July 31 and will return to Iowa City in September, 1959. His itinerary includes Hawaii, the Fiji Islands, Australia, Bali, Thailand, India, Africa, the middle eastern countries, and Europe.

Varied Travel Modes
After hitchhiking to San Francisco, Bonfig plans to travel by steamship, railroad and, in Europe, by motor scooter. He will go through central Africa from Cape Town to Cairo by railroad and river boats.

His accommodations will range from friends' homes to youth hostels. Youth hostels charge only 25-30 cents a night, Bonfig said. They offer a bunk in a dormitory and often cooking facilities. The hostels may be in ancient castles, empty school houses or farm homes.

A special pack for Bonfig to carry on his back was built in Glendale, Calif. It weighs five pounds and will carry all of Bonfig's equipment and clothing, except for one camera he will carry over his shoulder.

All of Bonfig's clothing for the trip is lightweight dacron and wool so it can be washed easily. He has designed a portable, aluminum coat hanger for use on his trip, and his silverware and dishes are also made of aluminum.

In outlining some of the problems he has met, Bonfig told the group he secured a Holland driver's license. The Holland license is honored in many countries where a United States license is not.

Bonfig hopes to make the thirteen month trip on $4,000. He has put this money in American dollar traveler's checks which he has sent to four different countries. He will pick up the money as he arrives in each country. He added that he has also made arrangements for emergency funds.

Numerous Credentials
Bonfig has spent months getting a passport, visas for different countries, and an international health certificate.

Bonfig said he is making the trip "to see how people live." A person gets tired if he stays too long in one place, he said. Bonfig has planned the trip for ten years.

He is a native of Ossian. He received his B.A. Degree from Iowa State Teachers College in 1950 and his M.A. degree from Colorado State College of Education in 1951.

Bonfig has been an instructor at the School for Severely Handicapped Children for four years and plans to return to the school after the trip.

Ex-Con Held For Shooting Of Detective

Laverne Zaehring
Held in Slaying

DAVENPORT — An Iowa ex-convict was charged with first degree murder in the slaying early Wednesday of a Davenport detective who sought to arrest him for abducting a Rock Island, Ill. night club entertainer.

Detective William H. Jurgens, 47, was shot twice in the head as he drove to the scene where a fellow policeman had stopped a car in which Laverne L. Zaehring, 29, Davenport, had driven 27-year-old Marilyn Sullivan from nearby Rock Island.

Zaehring was held to District Court without bond on the murder charge. He was released last August from the Iowa prison at Fort Madison where he had been serving a 10-year term for robbery with aggravation.

Orphans Knew Him
Jurgens, father of two daughters, was widely known for his Santa Claus role at Christmas parties for orphans here. He died when two shots were fired through the windshield of his unmarked squad car.

Police Chief Ray Schieser said Zaehring's car had been stopped by Patrolman Ernest Lester after word of the 2 a.m. abduction of Miss Sullivan had been broadcast.

Miss Sullivan said later that Zaehring forced her into his car at knife point. She was accosted when she walked to a parking lot after her evening's work as organist in the Hotel Armstrong cocktail lounge.

"He threatened to cut me to pieces," Miss Sullivan told police. Grabbed Pistol
Patrolman Lester said Zaehring grabbed his police pistol when Lester started to radio for help in making the arrest. A shot had narrowly missed Lester when Jurgens drove up.

Moments after Jurgens was shot, two additional policemen arrived and took Zaehring into custody.

Word of Miss Sullivan's abduction had been given by Mrs. Mayme Schwartz, a waitress at the hotel. She was with Miss Sullivan but fled while Miss Sullivan was being forced into the car. Miss Sullivan is from Cedar Rapids.

Plane Engine Fails; 2 Jet Pilots Killed

DETROIT — Two Naval Air Reserve pilots whose plane engine failed to take off were killed Wednesday when they swerved to avoid a house and crashed.

Dead were Lt. Comdr. Allen Radford Dale, 34, and Lt. Don Leroy Southworth, 32, both of Trenton, Mich.

Officials at the Grosse Ile Naval Air Base said the engine of the S2F Navy jet failed just as the plane cleared base property. The plane swerved to avoid a vacant house at the end of the runway, lost altitude and exploded as it crashed.

Southworth, a native of Fort Morgan, Colo., was the husband of the former Betty Kurtz of Des Moines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kurtz. Besides his widow he is survived by two young sons and a daughter.

FRANCIS O. WILCOX, whose commencement class at SUI was tape recorded, will be heard on Mostly Music at 1 p.m.

NEW YORK — The Soviet Union U.N. delegation complained to police that Bela Balazsi, 39, a Hungarian refugee, shouted obscenities at them while he picketed their Park Ave. headquarters.

In Manhattan Arrest Court Wednesday on a charge of disorderly conduct, Balazsi said he learned the epithet from Soviet forces in Hungary two years ago.

"The Russians used this every day, so I did not think it was too terrible when I yelled it at them," he told Magistrate Robert F. Mahoney.

Mahoney ordered a suspended sentence on Balazsi's promise not to repeat the obscenity.

U.S. Aircraft Violate Austrian Territory
VIENNA — The Austrian Government protested to the United States Wednesday that U.S. military aircraft had violated Austria's air.

An official spokesman said a number of large U.S. transport planes crossed over Austrian territory in the Tyrol during the day from West Germany. They apparently were headed for Italy and possibly the Near East.

The Austrian protest was contained in a note to the American Embassy in Vienna, Austria is a neutral country and is not a member of any Western military blocs.

ROCKFORD MAN HELD

A Rockford, Ill., man was held in the county jail Wednesday after waiving to the grand jury in police court on charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and driving while his license was under suspension.

John H. McKee, was arrested Saturday by a highway patrolman on County Road I, five miles west of Swisher.

McKee was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Ernest Byren Marsolais, A3, Iowa City, is one of the SUI Liberal Arts students who has earned a straight "A" average for the third semester.

Marsolais' name was inadvertently omitted from the story on straight "A" students which appeared in The Daily Iowan Wednesday.

Cuban Rebels Release Four More GI's

GUANTANAMO, Cuba — Four more American servicemen — scrubbed and clean-shaven this time — were flown back to freedom Wednesday after being held 20 days as hostages by Cuban rebels.

They joined seven set free by the rebels Tuesday, who in contrast had heavy beards. Eighteen American Marines and sailors still were in rebel hands in their mountain stronghold 40 miles northwest of this southeast Cuban American Naval base.

U.S. Consul Park Wollam, who worked for weeks to arrange the prisoners' release, reported the rebels apparently intend to continue freeing captives in small batches, and the process might take from four days to a week.

Few At a Time
Rebel leader Raul Castro, brother of the revolutionarily movements top chief Fidel Castro, apparently is avoiding setting all the men free at once in order to stave off a possible big air and land offensive against his forces by the Cuban Government.

The Cuban regime of dictator Fulgencio Batista has refrained from attacking the rebels in the mountains as long as they hold American prisoners.

Men Freed
The four men freed Wednesday are: Lawrence E. Jamison, 21, Bradford, Pa.; Angelo Mpazicos, 20, Bronx, N.Y.; Michael P. McArdle, 18, New York City; Hal C. Worrall, 18, Marysville, Ind.

All are Navy men except Worrall, a Marine. They said the rebels made them take baths and shave before they were allowed to fly out of the mountains in Navy helicopters.

Group in Mountains
A group of 29 sailors and Marines were kidnaped near this base by rebels while returning from a liberty in a bus June 27. The rebels made the Cuban bus driver, who also was freed Tuesday, drive the group into the mountains of eastern Cuba.

The first batch of seven men appeared somewhat thin, but well and cheerful. All had praise for their treatment by the rebels.

Congress Passes Space Agency Bill

WASHINGTON — The House and Senate in quick succession passed by voice votes and sent to the White House Wednesday a bill to create a new civilian space agency.

The agency would be under the direct control of the President. He would be advised by a council composed of eight members in addition to himself, including three experts not in the Federal Government.

The bill gives President Eisenhower just about what he asked of Congress in a new agency to coordinate the nation's growing problems of nonmilitary space exploration. The measure is a compromise of Senate and House bills worked out by a conference Tuesday.

The bill makes provision for the military to control space activities connected with national defense.

Man Watches TV; Slays 3 Daughters

TOWANDA, Pa. — Two members of a posse followed a horse's trail Wednesday until they found and captured a young father who state police later said confessed shooting to death his three young daughters.

Paul Pelton, 19, of nearby Troy, was captured by a state policeman and a farmhand as he lay resting in a wooded area four miles from his farm home. He was armed with three rifles, a hatchet, and a knife but offered no resistance.

State Police Cpl. Joseph Teldan said Pelton signed a statement in which he told of putting the children to bed, then watching a TV mystery show. After a while, the statement continued, Pelton considered for 20 minutes whether to shoot the children.

Fired Just Three Shots
He got up, loaded a rifle, and fired once at each of the tots. He then got on a horse and headed for a mountainous area where he had decided to hide out.

Teldan said Pelton gave no clue as to his motivation, saying: "I don't know why."

Pelton was described by his wife as a devoted husband and father. Teldan described him as a man of good reputation.

Justice of the Peace James Burnett ordered Pelton held without bail for the August Grand Jury.

The bodies of the children were found by Pelton's wife, Margaret, 23, when she returned from the Troy Community Hospital after visiting their other child, Paul, 13 months old, critically ill from asthma.

Dead was the child's twin sister, Pauline; Connie, 2, and Patricia 3.

Follow Tracks
Allen Palmer, a farmhand who worked with Pelton, noticed a horse missing from a barn. He and state police Sgt. Herbert Pecht joined the posse and followed the animal's tracks up a dirt road and through a patch of woods until they found Pelton lying on the ground.

As Pelton stood up to light a cigarette, Pecht fired over his head and called on Pelton to surrender.

Among the weapons Pelton had with him, said Pecht, was a .22-caliber rifle, reported by investigators to be the type used to shoot the three little girls.

The distraught mother said her husband had been a cheerful, devoted husband during their two years of marriage and that he was fond of his children. Patricia was Mrs. Pelton's child by a previous marriage.

Scholastic Trophy Goes To Sig Eps

Sigma Phi Epsilon compiled the highest grade point average among SUI's 20 social fraternities during the 1957-58 school year, according to statistics released Wednesday by George Marx, fraternity scholastic advisor at SUI.

Sigma Phi Epsilon will receive the Sigma Chi traveling trophy which is awarded each year to the fraternity which has the highest scholastic standing for the school year.

The group's house average was 2.422 (about half way between a "B" and a "C" average). The all-fraternity average was slightly higher than the all-men's average for the same period, being 2.29 as compared with an all-men's average of 2.25. The fraternity averages include grades of both active members and pledges.

Sigma Phi Epsilon's active members had the highest average for the year of all fraternities with 2.54, while Sigma Alpha Epsilon had the highest pledge average with 2.36. Sigma Alpha Epsilon was second in house grade point averages with 2.406.

Ranking third through tenth respectively in house grade point averages were Phi Kappa Psi, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Upsilon, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Epsilon Pi, Delta Tau Delta, and Delta Chi.

It's a Bird's Life—4 Sparrow Eggs Win Over Heater
OMAHA — The Russell G. Cahows began their fourth week without their automatic water heater Wednesday and it's for the birds — really.

Last month the family detected gas fumes in the basement. The trouble turned out to be a bird's nest in the chimney. In the nest were four eggs.

If they left the nest, the Cahows couldn't use the heater. But that's the choice they made and since then Mrs. Cahow has heated water on the kitchen stove.

The eggs have hatched and three young sparrows have flown away. When the fourth flies, so will the Cahow's water troubles.

CAP Ordered To Abandon Plane Search

DES MOINES — On advice of Air Force officials the Iowa Civil Air Patrol late Wednesday gave up its search of eastern Iowa for a missing light plane with four Californians aboard.

In an all-out day-long effort the CAP planes scoured a 12-county area between Dubuque and Davenport without finding any trace of the plane or its occupants, two San Francisco brothers, Lester and Richard Weber and their wives.

The 10th Air Force search and rescue group at Milwaukee told the CAP to abandon the aerial search unless new information develops.

The plane dropped out of sight last Friday on a flight from Milwaukee to Des Moines, presumably in the heavily wooded sections of northeastern Iowa or southwest Wisconsin.

Sioux City Sheriff Out On Bond

SIoux CITY — Lewis Hogue, 59, Woodbury County deputy sheriff, pleaded innocent to a charge of arson in Municipal Court here Wednesday and was released on bond for hearing Monday.

Hogue and his wife lived in quarters at the county jail where his wife is the matron.

The Hogue's own farm south of Salix which burned May 10th. The fire then was attributed to tramps in the area. However, about two weeks ago police arrested a Sioux City woman for intoxication. Sheriff Edwin L. Lunde said she accused Hogue of hiring her husband, Emory Logue, to burn down the deputy's house.

Lunde said as an assistant state fire marshal Don Hutchinson investigated and Hogue was suspended.

District Judge To Run On Double Ticket In Nov.

New GNP Figures Indicate Deeper Slump Than Estimated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Government Wednesday put out some revised figures showing the business slump has been a bit deeper than previously calculated.

The new data on gross national product, (GNP) national income and personal income was made public by the Commerce Department. GNP measures total expenditures for goods and services. It is the Government's most comprehensive economic indicator.

All recent estimates of GNP were revised upward. The figure for the first three months of this year was hiked from $422 billion, at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, to $425 billion. This was still the low point for the recession.

GNP hit a peak of $445 billion in the third quarter of last year.

SUI Geologists Camp In The West

Fifteen SUI geology students are now engaged in an eight-week field camp in the Black Hills of South Dakota and the Big Horn Mountains of Wyoming.

The field course, under the direction of Richard A. Hoppin, SUI associate professor of geology, is designed to give students experience in mapping rock formations.

This is the 35th year that such a session has been held. Headquarters for the first five weeks of the session are being held at Sturgis, S.D. The remaining three weeks of the course will be spent in the eastern portion of the Big Horn Mountains in Wyoming.

The area where the group is working, has some of the oldest known rocks in the world. Dating by radio-active minerals recently has estimated their dates between two-and-one-half and three billion years old.

Police said Joseph T. Dolan of Moline parked the car alongside a store building. It started to roll down a slight incline when he got out and Mrs. Krackow became frightened and attempted to jump. The wheels passed over her legs.

Open Hearing On Teamster Practices

A hearing involving alleged unfair labor practices by Teamsters local No. 238 against five Iowa City firms, began Wednesday in Iowa City.

The hearing was brought by a complaint from Boyd and Rummelhart Plumbing and Heating Co. against the union local, charging that a secondary boycott had been established against the Iowa City firms to help construction unions in their efforts to organize workers at Regina High and Mercy Hospital building sites.

The local union is accused of refusing to handle shipments and diverting shipments to the five firms under a "hot cargo" clause.

However, the clause has been ruled invalid by the U.S. Supreme Court and the National Labor Relations Board.

The firms besides Boyd and Rummelhart involved are: Johnson County Ready-Mix Co., Russell Electric Service, Potter Sheet Metal Co., and Frantz Construction Co.

Asks Power To Deny Reds Visas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Wednesday that Congress could deal communism a serious blow by arming the department with authority to prohibit Red agents and couriers from getting U.S. passports.

The department argument was presented to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Robert D. Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, who was called away before he could finish answering questions.

Murphy testified the department is now powerless to stop Communist agents from traveling out of the United States, because of a Supreme Court decision June 16.

The court held that Congress had not authorized the State Department to withhold passports from Communists or others because of their beliefs or associations.

Murphy left the committee hearing, while being questioned by Democratic senators, when he received sudden orders to go to Beirut, Lebanon, at once.

rival at an undisclosed overseas destination in Europe of the first elements of the composite air strike force that flew from U.S. East Coast bases Tuesday.

The troop movements were launched amid a flurry in world capitals highlighted by these developments:

1. SOVIET RUSSIA urged that the United States withdraw the Marines and declared it reserves the right to act "to halt a dangerous situation near our border." A Soviet statement called the American intervention an act of piracy.

2. PRESIDENT NASSER warned in a statement broadcast by Radio Cairo that any aggression against the new Iraqi Republic, set up Monday by pro-Nasser rebels, would be considered aggression against the U.A.R. of Egypt and Syria.

3. PRIME MINISTER Harold Macmillan told Britain's House of Commons the crisis holds grave dangers for the world. He sent Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Defense Chief Sir William Dickson flying to Washington to confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

4. PRESIDENT Eisenhower dispatched troubleshooter Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, by jet plane to Beirut to help American military and diplomatic representatives there end the civil war in cooperation with President Chamoun.

5. BUT REBEL LEADER Saeb Salam was quoted by Radio Damascus as saying he would fight to the end to drive out the Marines, seeking aid "from any source." A British rumor that the rebel commander had ordered a cease-fire was called a lie.

6. JORDAN'S YOUNG King Hussein, who has proclaimed himself new chief of state of the Iraqi Jordan union, appealed in a broadcast to the Iraqi people and Army "to kill mutiny in its cradle and to purify Iraq of traitors."

The airlift from Germany was part of a massive realignment of American military power brought on by the 68-day revolt in Lebanon and the sudden, deadly revolt Monday that unseated the pro-Western Government of Iraq.

There have been recurrent reports that Jordan would follow Lebanon's example and ask for American — and British — military support.

King Hussein's little kingdom, with an Army British-trained and British-equipped, would be more likely initially to look to Britain.

Britain was reliably reported ready to broaden Western intervention in the Middle East by sending forces to aid King Hussein of Jordan if he formally requests them.

British air, land and sea forces from Kenya to Britain were on an alert status or in movement to reinforce Middle East points.

Tension gripped Beirut, but Lebanon's rebels who have been trying to overthrow the pro-Western Government, put up no resistance.

Adm. Holloway said Wednesday night his amphibious expedition had achieved its initial objectives by taking over control of the airport and seaport. He said his flagship, the destroyer Kearney, will arrive today.

If the Marines are attacked, he said, "the law of self-protection always applies, but the Marines' instructions are that they entered Lebanon at the request of Lebanon to support a friendly Government."

Mideast At a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. air-borne troops joined in the military movement poised for possible action quickly in the Middle East. They flew from NATO bases in Germany.

LONDON — Prime Minister Macmillan called his military chiefs and armed services ministers into a midnight conference believed to have been prompted by Middle East developments.

No statement was issued after the meeting. Macmillan had sent Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and defense chief Sir William Dickson flying to Washington for consultation with U.S. officials.

UNITED NATIONS — The U.N. Security Council postponed until 2 p.m. (EST) Thursday a showdown on rival resolutions on Lebanon. The United States held firm against mounting pressure for withdrawal of Marines, insisted only an international military force can supplant them.

A Soviet resolution called for immediate withdrawal of the Marines. Neither resolution appeared to have a chance of passage.

MOSCOW — Soviet Russia called the American intervention an act of piracy and declared it reserves the right to act "to halt a dangerous situation near our border."

CAIRO — U.A.R. President Nasser denounced the landing operation as a "flagrant threat to the Arab states," warned that any aggression against the new pro-Nasser Iraqi Republic would be regarded as aggression against the U.A.R. of Egypt and Syria.

BEIRUT — Fresh landings doubled the Marines' strength in Lebanon. They moved from their beachhead into Beirut and its port area. Rebel leader Saeb Salam was quoted by Radio Damascus as saying he would fight to the end, seeking aid from any source, to drive out the Marines.

Omaha Man Held On Charges Of Murdering 18-Year-Old

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Larry D. Jackson of Omaha entered a plea of innocent Wednesday and was bound over to District Court to face a murder charge in the slaying of Joseph D. Dixon, 18-year-old Omahan. Jackson, not represented by counsel, entered the innocent plea on advice of County Attorney Matt Walsh. Municipal Judge Allan Ardell ordered Jackson held without bond until the next session of the Grand Jury in September.

Jackson, a Negro, said in a statement made public by Walsh Wednesday that he had gone to Carter Lake Sunday night to steal a car. He said he wanted to leave Omaha as he was heavily indebted to his employer.

Dixon and 15-year-old Rita Ficke were parked near the shore of Carter Lake when they were accosted by a gunman.

In his statement Jackson said he ordered the young couple from the car and told them to walk down the dirt road.

Dixon objected, Jackson said, and "got behind the girl to jump me."

"I didn't want to hurt him," Jackson said. He said the girl pleaded with Dixon to walk ahead as Jackson ordered. Dixon replied he "wasn't afraid of a pistol," the statement related.

Jackson said Dixon lunged and "ran right into me." He said Dixon "grabbed my wrist with the gun in it and it went off."

Jackson said the .38 caliber revolver discharged a second time "when he flipped me over his shoulder."

Miss Ficke ran, Jackson said, and Dixon called to the girl to "run and hurry back." The statement said Dixon told Jackson "I'm going to kill you when she gets back."

Jackson said he hid the pistol at the side of a wood fence next door and returned home just before police arrived.

In the 15-page statement, Jackson said "I didn't aim to shoot the boy. I told him all the way up the street I didn't want to hurt him or the girl; all I wanted was my car. I wish he hadn't grabbed that gun."

After his appearance in court, Jackson was questioned by Omaha police concerning some unsolved cases in Omaha.

Indefinite Probation But—

No Suspension For Tommy Bolt

TOMMY BOLT, WHOSE CONVERSION FROM "THUNDER" TO "SWEETNESS" AND LIGHT SHOULD RESULT IN HIS BEST YEAR EVER FINANCIALLY, IN ADDITION TO THAT COVETED U.S. OPEN CROWN.

HIS REFORMATION MAY HAVE A PSYCHOLOGICAL EFFECT ON THE AVERAGE GOLFER TOO. THOSE LONG PUTS THAT RIM THE CUP AND BOUNCE OUT MAY NO LONGER BE FOLLOWED BY BEST-SELLER TYPE DIALOGUE.

Distributed by King Features Syndicate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Open Champion Tommy Bolt was placed on indefinite probation by the Professional Golfers Association executive committee Wednesday night but received no suspension when he promised to make apology for any misconduct.

The committee upheld a $500 fine assessed against the temperamental golfer for what officials called abuse of sponsors in a recent Long Island, N.Y. tournament.

Bolt was fined by tournament supervisor Harvey Raynor after he had picked up in the Piping Rock and Pine Hollow tournaments and, according to Raynor, had made uncomplimentary remarks to tournament officials.

Bolt for an hour Wednesday night, after which the committee discussed the case for another hour before rendering its decision.

The sport's celebrated "Peck's Bad Boy" checked in at the Llanerch Country Club Wednesday night to become the first player since Ben Hogan in 1948 to win both the National Open and PGA titles in a single year.

"I feel strong as a bull," the dour, jet-jawed Open champion said as he shuffled a lavender sport coat and set out on his first tour of the sporty, par 70 layout which will be the target of 166 and, according to Raynor, had made uncomplimentary remarks to tournament officials.

Except for the absence of Ben Hogan, the field matches that of the recent Open in strength and quality. The list includes nine PGA title winners and five National Open champions besides Bolt, plus 56-year-old Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N.Y., who won them both back in 1922.

heavy collection of club teachers — more than 100 of them — eager to impress the home folks with a victory over the big time stars.

This has become more difficult with the shift of this 42-year-old fixture from a match play elimination to the normal 72-hole stroke play competition used in the Open and on the tours.

"Certainly this is the better test of golf," said Lionel Hebert, the pudgy defending champion who won at match play last year.

Among the prime favorites are the ever formidable Dr. Cary Middlecoff, three time winner Sam Snead, and Arnold Palmer, the Masters champion and leading money winner.

Cubs Keep Pace in National With 2 Wins Over Red Legs

CHICAGO (AP) — The upstart Chicago Cubs rode to their seasonal high win streak of five straight Wednesday by sweeping a doubleheader 5-4 and 7-5 from Cincinnati.

It was the Cubs' second doubleheader sweep in four days. They turned this twin trick by thrilling 30,412 paid patrons with a three-run ninth to snare the opener and coming back with another winning three-run spree in the eighth inning of the nightcap to send the Redlegs reeling to their sixth and seventh straight defeats.

The second game loss was a bitter one for Cincinnati since the Redlegs blasted two homers, both by Pete Whisenant, three doubles and four triples in a collection of 11 hits as Brooks Lawrence suffered his seventh setback.
