UCLA Coach Red Sanders Found Dead in LA Hotel

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Henry (Red) Sanders, head football coach at the University of California at Los Angeles, died Thursday in a Los Angeles hotel.

Sanders, 53, who made the UCLA powerhouses, was found dead next to a bed in a room on a second floor. He was dressed in pants, shoes and socks but was not wearing a shirt.

Homicide Detective R. T. Reid said Sanders apparently died of a heart attack.

A woman who identified herself as Ernestine Drake, told a reporter she was with Sanders when he died.

"He was complaining about the heat," said Miss Drake, who was sitting in a chair a few feet from the body when police arrived.

Sanders, who was Coach of the Year in 1954 when his Bruins shared honors with Ohio State as the top teams in the nation, had just entered the hotel a few minutes before he was stricken.

Miss Drake said she had just been introduced to Sanders when he complained about the hot, humid weather and ordered two soft drinks brought to the room.

"We talked about football," she said. "He asked me if I had seen many games and I said no."

"I didn't even know he was a famous football coach."

"Suddenly, he clutched his chest and rolled over on one side on the bed," she said. "I thought he was sick so I ran outside the room for help. When I returned he was on the floor."

Miss Drake talked to a reporter in the room. Reid and another detective stood by. The man who said he introduced Sanders to Miss Drake reclined on the bed near the body. He identified himself as W. T. Grimes and said he was retired.

State JayCee Meet Opens Here Today

The August meeting of the state board of the Iowa Junior Chamber of Commerce opens today in Iowa City.

The Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce will be host to approximately 300 JayCees and their wives for the 3-day convention.

Plans and projects of the state organization for the next year will be formulated during the conference. Registration will begin today at 5 p.m. at the Hotel Jefferson.

Tonight's program includes an informal meeting, a talk and movies of Iowa football highlights.

Saturday the JayCees plan an early morning golf tournament on the new Finkbine Golf Course, several planning forums, and a noon banquet and address by Lyman Jones, of St. Louis, Mo., vice-chairman of the first U.S. JayCee National Convention in 1919.

Other activities planned by the local JayCees include a barbecue supper at the 4-H Fair Grounds Saturday night and a Sunday morning breakfast and state board meeting.

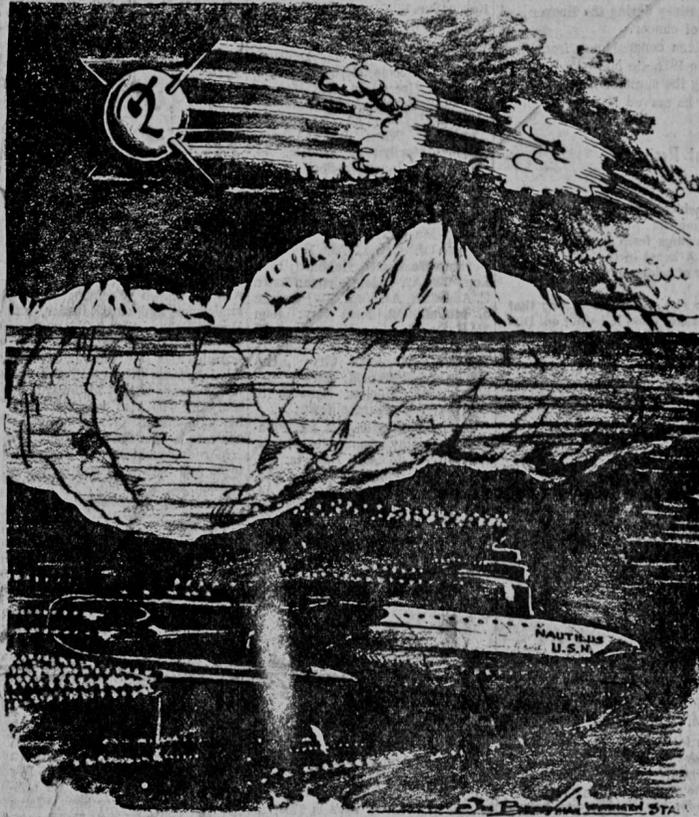

Ted Rittenmeyer, 441 2nd Ave., and C. Robert Cronk, 831 East College, are the co-chairmen for the state meeting.

Independent Study Programs Now Underway at SUI

Summer classes are over at SUI, but some students remain on campus for research under the Independent Study Unit program which began Thursday and will continue through Sept. 10.

SUI graduate students may earn up to four semester-hours of credit - one hour per week of study - to apply toward advanced degrees. The research may be done in some specialized area of the student's field or may be part of his thesis research.

Hot and Humid Weather Grips Wilting Iowa

DES MOINES (AP) - Hot and humid weather scorched Iowa Thursday as temperatures jumped as much as 20 degrees above Wednesday's marks.

At mid-afternoon, Des Moines had a reading of 95, the hottest thus far this season, while temperatures elsewhere ranged from the mid-80s upward.

The Weather Bureau had issued a severe thunderstorm warning for northwest Iowa, but nothing had developed during the late afternoon. There were a few scattered showers in eastern sections during the morning, ranging from a trace at many points to .10 at Ottumwa.

Not much chance of cooler temperatures in Iowa City today, the highs are expected to be in the middle 90s. Scattered showers and thunderstorms tonight should drop the mercury several degrees and the further outlook for Saturday calls for cloudy skies and cooler.

House Shouts Approval Of Compromise Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House shouted approval of a "last chance" compromise farm bill Thursday to break a session-end congressional deadlock over what's best for the farmer.

The House action was accompanied by protests from a handful of critics that it represented a surrender to Secretary of Agriculture Benson and his flexible price support policies.

House members, nonetheless, went along with both Republican and Democratic leaders in accepting the compromise as the only chance of adjusting differences with the Senate and getting some form of farm legislation before adjournment.

The measure also goes far toward the goal plugged by Benson for lower price supports, more planting freedom for farmers and more flexible operation of the agricultural program.

Rep. H. Carl Andersen (R-Minn.) declared the bill offers no help for Midwestern corn growers, and said: "It's a sad day for the farmers of the Midwest when Congress says this is the best it can do for the bread basket of America."

As to the kind of program desired, 35 per cent indicated they wanted no allotments, but loans to everyone based on 90 per cent of the average market price for the last three years. This would be about $1 a bushel in Iowa in 1959.

Little Hope For Airliner Crash Victims

All 99 Aboard Believed to Be Dead

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) - A Dutch KLM Super Constellation carrying 99 persons - 51 of them home-bound Americans - plunged mysteriously into the squally Atlantic Thursday.

There was speculation that there might have been an explosion aboard. This was fed by the fact the crew had not radioed a report of trouble.

Initial hopes that some survived faded Thursday night.

Two French trawlers recovered five bodies and several life rafts from waves pitching about the debris of the $2 million airliner 130 miles off Ireland's west coast.

Other craft, surface and air, rushed to join the search.

Confusion There was confused and alarming talk about the cause of the disaster, the first to hit a regularly scheduled airline over the Atlantic itself since World War II.

Asked to comment on the possibility a bomb had been planted aboard, the KLM station manager at Shannon, Liam Meeling, said: "Very definitely something happened very quickly."

The giant plane, on an economy flight with seats for 95 passengers, was about 90 minutes out of Shannon on a trip from Amsterdam to New York when it went down before dawn.

Meeling said it evidently crashed almost immediately after making its first check call back to the Shannon airport.

In normal conditions a plane could radio if it was in trouble. Even if two of the four engines were disabled, most trans-Atlantic liners, including the Super Constellation, would be able to go on or turn back to the nearest airport.

Prospects Limited The plane had headed into an area where others subsequently ran into a terrific storm. Lowering clouds darkened the sea.

The prospect that anyone had lived through the crash and then the buffeting at sea dwindled after a few optimistic reports.

A French trawler, the Gen. Leclerc, and three British Royal Air Force search planes - first on the scene - reported sighting what they believed to be signs of life. But no one had been found alive when darkness fell.

Commits Suicide by Drinking Acid

Undertaker Arranges Own Funeral

By DON HANESWORTH Staff Writer

A 63-year-old Salem, Iowa, undertaker made his own funeral arrangements and brought his casket to Iowa City where he committed suicide Thursday morning behind the Iowa City Police station.

Earl R. Hevern parked his 1937 hearse in the alley behind the police station and the Hohenschuh mortuary. Then he drank a quantity of pure carbolic acid.

Funeral services will be held at the Hohenschuh Mortuary Saturday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Mr. Russell Hunter, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

A woman walking east through the alley noticed Hevern bent forward over the driving wheel at about 8:10 a.m. and notified police. Hevern was unconscious when officers arrived. He was rushed to Mercy Hospital where he died about 20 minutes later.

In the back of the hearse, police found a casket and grip with a complete set of clothes. Police also found two handwritten notes in the hearse. The first, directed to whoever found his body, requested that the Hohenschuh Mortuary handle the funeral arrangements.

Hevern wrote in his note that he planned to drink acid, and also listed his survivors. Attached to the note was a death certificate filled in except for the cause of death.

The second note was sealed and addressed to his children. It was opened and read Thursday night at the mortuary. "The note gave further details of his funeral arrangements - nothing more," said Delmer M. Sample, funeral director at Hohenschuh.

Mr. Hevern was born Jan. 31, 1895, in Iowa City, the son of Ramsey and Sarah J. Hevern. He took his undertaking training in Iowa City about 1916 under the late Jack Donohue, former director of Hohenschuh's. After the completion of his training he went to Oxford where he was in the funeral business for 25 years, and then moved to Salem.

Mr. Hevern married Viola P. Kelley, Jonesboro, Tenn., in Iowa City in 1915. Mrs. Hevern was killed in an Illinois bus accident Sept. 20, 1956.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Lucille Smoot, Salem; Mrs. Ione Baustian and Mrs. Eileen Horton, both of Davenport; a brother, Claude R. Hevern, 417 Seventh Ave.; and a sister, Mrs. Mabel Hoy, 422 Seventh Ave.

Burial will be in the Oxford cemetery.

Gather Radiation Data

SUI Students to Go North To Launch Dart Rockets

A 2-man rocket firing team from SUI will leave today for the Hudson Bay area, where they will begin launching a series of rockets destined to carry research instruments to altitudes of 40 miles or more.

Don Goedeke, Independence, Mo., graduate student in physics, with the assistance of Pete Chernburg, Sheffield engineering student, will fire 26 Loki II-Dart rockets from the University's IGY base at Fort Churchill.

Some Balloons Up Goedeke and Chernburg will join another group of SUI physicists led by Kinsey Anderson, resident assistant in the SUI Physics Department, and already attempting some of the longest balloon flights ever tried by civilian scientists.

Aimed at gaining more information on radiation effects at high altitudes, research data picked up by the Skyhook balloons will be coupled for comparison with reports radioed from the Dart rockets. Skyhook balloons will gather data at an altitude of 20 miles while the Dart sends information from 40 to 45 miles up.

Twelve Finished Goedeke designed the Dart and the instrument package it will carry. Twelve Darts have been built in the SUI physics laboratories and the others are nearing completion. Chernburg designed the 400-pound launcher which will be used in firing the rockets.

This will be the first attempt by SUI physicists to launch a Dart - an instrument-packed, needle-nosed tube 1 1/2 inches in diameter and 4 1/2 feet long.

The Dart is a "coaster" rocket, relying on the thrust of the five-foot by three-inch Loki to send it on its 40-mile-high journey. The Loki rocket blasts the assembly 5,000 feet into the air within the two seconds before its fuel burns out, at which point the Dart is released and continues its climb.

Designed To Fit Included in the Dart's instruments are a power package, a geiger tube to measure radiation, and a radio transmitter about the size of a flashlight battery. The tiny transmitter was "sub-miniaturized" by Goedeke to fit in the rocket.

Anderson and students Louis Hinton, A3, Davenport; Donald Stilwell, A4, Iowa City, and Donald Enemark, E3, Princeton, Minn., have been at Fort Churchill since the first of the month, but have been unable to launch any balloons because of high winds. During each balloon's flight, expected to last four days, Goedeke and Chernburg will fire two rockets - one with an unshielded geiger tube and one with a shielded tube so that radiation absorption rates at different altitudes may be approximated.

Studies Differ Intense radiation in outer space discovered by SUI students in Explorer satellites seems to have slightly different characteristics than that which has been studied in previous SUI balloon and rocket exploration, University physicists explain. A band of "soft radiation," which seems to be low-energy X-rays, has been found at the balloon and rocket altitudes.

The SUI group will continue their stratospheric probes in the middle of Canada's Northern Lights belt until mid-September. Data collected will be added to that gained last summer in a similar operation at Fort Churchill.

LOKI AND DART rockets, which may give some new clues as to the amounts and types of radiation in the atmosphere, are held by Pete Chernburg, (left) engineering student in physics at SUI, and Don Goedeke, graduate student in physics. The students leave today for Fort Churchill, Canada, where they will fire 26 of the SUI-built Dart rockets in a joint project with other SUI physicists now launching Skyhook balloons at the IGY base.

Says U.N. Unwelcome In Jordan

Surprise Pitch Catches U.S.-Britain Off Base

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) - Jordan jolted the U.N. Thursday by rejecting a widely supported plan to have U.N. forces safeguard Jordanian independence after British troops withdraw.

In a surprise move, Jordanian delegate Abdel Monem Rifai told the 81-nation emergency General Assembly Jordan would not agree under any circumstances to permit either U.N. observers or U.N. military units on Jordan territory.

Jordan's position raised serious difficulties for the United States and Britain. The two big Western Powers were reported drafting a formal proposal for the Assembly putting prime emphasis on replacing their troops in Jordan and Lebanon with U.N. contingents.

Wants Assistance "What Jordan needs and asks for," Rifai declared, "is material assistance to reinforce its own army and security forces."

These were the additional major developments on the second day of Middle East debate in the Assembly:

1. BRITAIN'S Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd hailed President Eisenhower's Middle East proposals as constructive and imaginative. In a mild, conciliatory speech he offered to talk privately with Arab nations on the situation in Jordan.

2. IRELAND proposed the neutralization of the entire Middle East under U.N. guarantee. Foreign Minister Frank Aiken urged also recognition of the right of self-determination for all nations in the area and improvement of Arab-Israeli economic and political relations under a U.N.-sponsored treaty.

3. AUSTRALIA Delegate E. Ronald Walker called for a Middle East commission to investigate and report on outside interference and subversion against countries in the area.

Rifai accused President Nasser of having designs on Jordan and of betraying King Hussein's trust after the King had sided with Nasser all the way in previous Arab agreements. He said Nasser's attitude toward Jordan now is plainly "hostility and enmity."

Malicious Propaganda U.A.R. Delegate Omar Loutfi arose in the blue and gold Assembly Hall immediately to reply to the Jordanian charges.

"This is merely malicious propaganda intended at trying to justify the call on the part of Jordan for British troops now stationed in that part of the world," Loutfi declared.

He said if Jordan is unwilling to accept U.N. contingents, it must make clear whether it wants a permanent British military occupation.

The assembly adjourned until 10:30 a.m. today after holding both morning and afternoon sessions.

U.S. sources said the United States was interested in getting maximum support for a formal resolution based on the 6-point program outlined to the Assembly by Mr. Eisenhower. The United States and Britain were in constant consultation, but no joint resolution has been drawn, the informants added.

Applause for Lloyd Secretary of State Dulles walked over to Lloyd and pumped his hand in warm congratulation at the conclusion of the speech.

Lloyd said Britain was ready to help a U.N. regional economic organization for the Middle East. He noted that Secretary General Dag Hamarskjold stressed the idea of a regional economic organization in his speech at the opening of the Assembly last Friday.

The far-sighted proposals made by President Eisenhower in his speech were a "wise development of these ideas," Lloyd declared.

Security Ring Around Hussein

AMMAN (AP)—Jordan forces loyal to King Hussein closed a maximum security ring Friday around the 23-year-old monarch's palace, public buildings, streets and roads in Amman.

They were clearly being set to cope with any threatening attacks against the King and his sorely beset government.

Today is the Moslem Sabbath.

More Senate Racket Probes

WASHINGTON (AP)— Betty Starrett told the Senate Rackets Committee Thursday she overheard an ultimatum delivered to Dave Probstein, head of an Indianapolis taxicab company, shortly before he disappeared on June 6, 1955.

The blonde secretary testified that in May 1955 Probstein met with three men in the offices of the Aldor insurance agency in Indianapolis and was told to produce certain records by the first week in June "or else."

She identified the men as Allen Dorfman, Phil Goodwin and Alvin Baron of Chicago.

Indianapolis members of the Teamsters Union were intimately connected with Aldor and the now-defunct State Cab Co., both headed at one time by Probstein, Miss Starrett said. She added she considered Probstein only a front man for the companies.

Probstein is now presumed to be dead.

The Rackets Committee, making a broad investigation of labor-management relations, is now concentrating on business operations of the Teamsters Union in Indianapolis. James R. Hoffa, international president of the union, has testified off and on for a week.

Dorfman, a Chicago insurance man, has been linked with the Teamsters in past testimony. Committee investigators identified Baron as an associate of Dorfman and Goodman as a Chicago lawyer.

Miss Starrett's story followed testimony that Hoffa and an associate loaned Probstein $8,000 and, in 1954, put $125,000 of union money into an Indianapolis bank.

The $125,000 has never been touched, and committee investigators testified there has been some juggling bookkeeping in connection with allowing the money to lie in the bank without drawing any interest.

Testifies at Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) told the Senate Thursday the vast majority of the American people would prefer to die rather than surrender in an atomic war.

He said he was shocked beyond expression by a report that the Pentagon has been considering circumstances under which the United States might run up a white flag under nuclear attack.

Brewing Storm
Russell and the Senate's Republican leader, Sen. William F. Knowland of California, took steps to nullify any contract for a surrender study and prevent payments to any agency or person who might have engaged in it.

The head of the Senate's GOP Policy Committee, Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, declared: "People who concurred in this in the Defense Department ought to be fired."

Reaction at the White House was a good deal calmer, but James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, said the President "certainly wouldn't agree to any talk about surrender to the United States."

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (D-Mass.) said he had been informed by the Rand Corp. that a study was initiated in 1951 — which was during the Truman administration — as part of the corporation's long-range research program for the U.S. Air Force. It was completed in a book called "Strategic Surrender."

Frederic Joliot-Curie Dies; Nobel Winner in Atomic Physics

PARIS (AP)— Frederic Joliot-Curie, 58, a Nobel prize winner who mixed Communist doctrine with brilliant achievements in atomic physics, died Thursday.

He had undergone surgery for a severe internal hemorrhage.

For their discovery of artificial radioactivity, Joliot-Curie and his wife, Irene, won a Nobel prize in 1935. Irene, who was a daughter of the discoverers of radium, Pierre and Marie Curie, died of leukemia in 1956. They had two children.

On the eve of World War II, Joliot-Curie explained the process of chain reaction, the basis of all present day applications of atomic science including nuclear weapons.

Mideast Radio Stations Claimed Attacking Nasser

CAIRO (AP)— Egyptian officials said Thursday a battery of secret radio stations is attacking the United Arab Republic generally and President Nasser personally in round-the-clock propaganda assaults.

They listed seven stations and said they believe there are several more.

Officials gave this breakdown of stations: Two on the French Riviera, others in British Aden, Jordan, Lebanon, British Cyprus and Kenya or territory nearby.

Before the revolution July 14 in Iraq, there was another in Baghdad, they said.

Former Majority Leader Of House of Representatives Dies

NEW LONDON, N.H. (AP)— John Q. Tilson, 92, of New Haven, Conn., majority leader in the House of Representatives during the Hoover and Coolidge Administrations, died Thursday of cancer.

He served in the House as a Republican congressman from Connecticut from 1908 to 1912 and from 1914 to 1932. He had practiced law in New Haven since 1893. He was spending the summer here.

An 1891 graduate of Yale University, he served as a professor of parliamentary law there.

Reserve Board Raises Discount Rate; Anti-Recession Move

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Federal Reserve Board Thursday raised the discount rate at the San Francisco Reserve Bank from 1 1/2 to 2 per cent. This reverses the anti-recession policy of lowering the rate to expand credit.

The rate had been 1 1/4 per cent since April.

The discount rate is the interest which the reserve system charges its member banks on borrowings from the parent system. A boost in the rate has the effect of raising interests generally.

The rise reflects a feeling that the brakes need to be put on. Discount rates hit a peak of 3 1/2 per cent in mid-August last year when the boom was drawing to an end.

B-47 Jet Explodes, Air Force Worker Killed

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)— A civilian Air Force worker was killed and 32 civilian and Air Force men injured Thursday in an explosion of an old B-47 medium jet bomber being cut up for scrap at McConnell Air Force Base here.

Suffering only from shock, officials said, was A/2c David Carr, 21, who lists as next-of-kin his mother, Maryester Carr of Dallas Center, Iowa.

Base officials said the man killed was using a cutting torch near fuel tanks in the bomb bay of the plane when the blast came.

Elvis Presley's Mother Dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)— Elvis Presley's mother died of an unexpected heart attack Thursday in a hospital where she was under treatment for a liver ailment. She was 42.

The famed rock 'n' roll singer, home on emergency leave from the Army, was asleep at his $100,000 suburban mansion when his mother was stricken at 3 a.m.

His father, Vernon Presley, 43, was dozing on a cot in the hospital room when he was aroused by the sound of his wife struggling for breath. She died before a physician arrived.

Elvis, called from home, wept at the bedside with his father.

Senators Voice Opinions On Atomic War Surrender

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) told the Senate Thursday the vast majority of the American people would prefer to die rather than surrender in an atomic war.

He said he was shocked beyond expression by a report that the Pentagon has been considering circumstances under which the United States might run up a white flag under nuclear attack.

Brewing Storm
Russell and the Senate's Republican leader, Sen. William F. Knowland of California, took steps to nullify any contract for a surrender study and prevent payments to any agency or person who might have engaged in it.

The head of the Senate's GOP Policy Committee, Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, declared: "People who concurred in this in the Defense Department ought to be fired."

Reaction at the White House was a good deal calmer, but James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, said the President "certainly wouldn't agree to any talk about surrender to the United States."

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (D-Mass.) said he had been informed by the Rand Corp. that a study was initiated in 1951 — which was during the Truman administration — as part of the corporation's long-range research program for the U.S. Air Force. It was completed in a book called "Strategic Surrender."

Saltonstall drew the Senate's attention to a statement issued by the Rand Corp. Thursday. The statement said in part:

"Only If Victorious
"Nowhere do the study or the book deal with any hypothetical U.S. surrender. The question of negotiating with an opponent of the U.S. in a wartime situation is treated solely in the context of a termination of a war in which the U.S. would be victorious."

The problem now, Saltonstall told the Senate, "is to make perfectly clear that no responsible official now, or in any previous administration, is making plans for the surrender of the United States."

47 SUI'owans Awarded Merit Scholarships

Forty-seven Iowans have been granted Merit Award Scholarships at SUI for use during the 1958-59 school year, according to Helen Reich, chairman of the University Scholarship Committee.

Merit Award Scholarships were established in 1945 by the State Board of Regents for students who are resident of Iowa and have completed one year or more of class work at SUI with a "B" average or higher. The $100 scholarships are open to students in the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Engineering, Commerce, Nursing and Pharmacy, and are awarded on the basis of academic achievement and citizenship.

Students awarded scholarships are:

- Franklin T. Adams, A4, Ames;
- Shirley F. Larsen, A4, Atlantic;
- Judith Ann Clark, A3, Cedar Rapids;
- Marcia J. McGovern, DH3, Clinton;
- Raymond G. Peterson Jr., A4, Council Bluffs;
- Nikki A. Smith, A4, Council Bluffs;
- Sandra Jean Nelson, A2, Davenport;
- Karen Sue Willis, A2, Davenport;
- John T. Willis, Davenport;
- Elizabeth Field, A3, Decatur;
- Jane B. Gilchrist, A2, Denison;
- Kay Jean Accola, N4, Des Moines;
- Gretchen Green, A4, Des Moines;
- Corley F. Hamill, A4, Des Moines;
- William Heyman, A4, Des Moines;
- James E. Knox Jr., A4, Des Moines;
- Marilyn J. Klinger, A3, Donnellson;
- Janet Moeller, A2, Durant;
- Nancy L. Daggett, DH3, Fairfield;
- Walter E. Gower, A3, Ft. Dodge;
- Rose Marie Walk, N2, Graton;
- Stephen J. Curtis, A3, Holstein;
- Barbara Boeke, N4, Hubbard;
- Ieva Lemans, A3, Independence;
- Laird C. Addis Jr., A4, Iowa City;
- George J. McCall, A2, Iowa City;
- John M. Price, E4, Iowa City;
- Jane V. Smith, A2, Iowa City;
- William L. Voxman, A3, Iowa City;
- Janet Marlin, A4, Jefferson;
- Harvey Sollberger, A3, Marion;
- Kenneth S. Gerwin, A3, Marshalltown;
- Cherry Buffington, A2, Mt. Pleasant;
- Dorothy Anne House, A4, Muscatine;
- Jo Ann Roberts, A2, Nevada;
- Susanna G. Gilson, A3, Osceola;
- Marian Stephenson A4, Oskaloosa;
- Marilee Olson, A2, Ottumwa;
- Constance Sue Tietge, A4, Walker;
- Jean Schmidt, A4, Waterloo;
- Jack R. Williams, A3, Waterloo;
- Lewis D. Drain, A2, West Des Moines;
- Ruth Hale, A3, West Liberty;
- Eugene F. Luckstead, A3, Wyming.

3 Killed In Auto Accidents

Two persons were killed Thursday afternoon in a head-on collision of a pickup truck and car on a county road seven miles south and two miles west of Shenandoah.

The victims were identified as Wallace Morgan, 75, Farrago, widely known Fremont County landowner and cattle feeder, and Danny Sneypp, 17, of Sidney.

Authorities said the vehicles collided just over the crest of a hill. Sneypp was killed instantly and Morgan, who was trapped inside his demolished pickup, died en route to a Shenandoah hospital.

Morgan's vehicle was thrown 40 to 50 feet backward and landed in a ditch, officers said.

Morgan lived about two miles from the accident scene. Sneypp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sneypp, was a well-known dancer in southwest Iowa and had appeared at fairs and other shows.

DM Boy Killed
A 16-year-old Des Moines boy was killed and three other were injured late Thursday when a car in which they were riding went out of control on a county road near Carlisle southeast of here.

The victim was John Franklin Brown of 1306 East 26th Court, Arnold Waltersman, 16, identified as the driver of the car, was taken to Lutheran Hospital in Des Moines but was not believed seriously hurt. The other boys, Cletus Horcha, 13, and Larry Hodges, 16, were treated at the hospital and then released.

Warren County Sheriff J. C. Richards said the car went out of control on a curve and overturned in a ditch.

Government Files Tax Suits Against Underworld Figure

NEW YORK (AP)— The U.S. Government moved against Frankie Carbo, mysterious figure of the underworld and boxing, Thursday to collect which it says is $750,719 in unpaid taxes and penalties.

U.S. Atty. Arthur H. Christy said that civil suits had been filed simultaneously in federal court here and in the southern district of Florida, where Carbo maintains a home in Hollywood.

The complaint alleges that Carbo owes back taxes since 1944 and failed to report income during the years 1944 through 1946 and from 1949 through 1951 "with intent to evade taxes."

Carbo already is a fugitive from an indictment returned last month by a New York county grand jury, charging him with conspiracy, acting as an unlicensed matchmaker and an undercover manager of boxers.

The complaint alleges that for the year 1945 Carbo owes $725,662. This includes taxes due, fraud penalties of 50 per cent and interest. This would indicate that he owned the Government about $400,000 in taxes for that year.

The U.S. attorney's office refused to reveal the source of Carbo's income.

In the past he has claimed to be a businessman, but would not reveal the nature of his business. He has been called the "underworld czar of boxing," but claimed his only interest was as a fan. His police record, going back to 1915, shows 13 arrests on various charges, but he was convicted only once — on a homicide charge in 1928.

Hurricane Moves Toward Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— The season's first hurricane, with winds up to 145 miles per hour, was reported Thursday about 900 miles east of Martinique, French Antilles.

The San Juan, Puerto Rico, Weather Bureau said the hurricane, named Cleo, was moving west-northwest at about 17 miles an hour and had a well-defined center or eye about 15 miles across.

The hurricane was some 2,400 miles east-southeast of Miami and was reported at about the same time the season's second tropical storm, Becky, flattened out into an easterly wave of squalls.

Lowest pressure at the center of Cleo was 28.35 inches and the Weather Bureau said, "This is a severe hurricane."

"Indications are that Cleo will continue its movement toward the west-northwest at about the same speed during the next 12 hours with an increase in size and intensity," the advisory said.

Vessels in the path of the hurricane were advised to exercise extreme caution and small craft in the leeward and windward islands were told to stay in port.

Marines Leave Lebanon; Fear Jordan Uprising

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)— The first withdrawing U.S. Marines sailed out of Lebanon Thursday as troop movements in Jordan heightened fears of an imminent uprising there against King Hussein.

From 500 to 800 heavily armed reinforcements rushed into Amman, capital of Jordan, to help units of the Arab Legion and spike-helmeted police guarding public buildings.

Rumors have been spreading across the Middle East that the Jordan crisis may come to a head soon.

Britain has 3,000 troops in Jordan. They were called there by Hussein after the fall of Iraq monarchy July 14.

3 Killed In Auto Accidents

WASHINGTON (AP)— Congress moved closed to adjournment Thursday but it still appeared likely that it would not come until next week.

The House knocked off work in the middle of the afternoon while the Senate drove on in another long session.

Much of the Senate's time Thursday was given over to debate stirred up by a report that the Pentagon has been considering the circumstances under which the United States might surrender in an atomic war.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), denounced the very thought of such a thing. Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), said he found no proof that the Pentagon was thinking about any U.S. surrender.

To Consider Social Security
Today the Senate is to take up the Social Security bill, which passed the House July 31 by a vote of 375-2. It would raise Social Security benefits seven per cent, and would increase payroll taxes to pay for the higher benefits.

The Senate Finance Committee, in approving the bill, voted for a study of the financial ability of the states to pay larger amounts for public assistance — commonly called relief. The Eisenhower Administration has talked of a veto if the bill heavily increases the amount the Federal Government grants for public assistance.

Burst of Speed
The Senate showed a burst of speed in using only five minutes to pass a $1,720,115,000 appropriation for military construction projects around the world. A Senate-House Conference Committee will now go to work to adjust the differences between Senate and House versions.

The farm bill passed by the House, by voice vote, was a suddenly-agreed-on compromise described as acceptable by both the administration and congressional Democratic leaders.

Its chief effect would be to prevent sharp cuts next year in planting allowances for cotton and rice farmers.

The House Labor Committee refused to consider two rival bills aimed at preventing labor union leaders from misusing their powers.

This means there will be no general labor legislation this year, unless supporters of the Senate's Kennedy-Ives bill can get that measure through the House under a procedure that requires a two-thirds vote of approval.

PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM
ALGIERS (AP)— Officials administering rebellious Algeria announced this week a $35-million public works program to cover new housing, schools, roads, bridges, and public utilities. It's part of Premier de Gaulle's program to equalize living conditions and opportunities for the North African and French inhabitants.

Journalism Men To Attend Meeting at Missouri University

Six SUI School of Journalism faculty members will attend the annual convention of the Association for Education in Journalism, to be held August 25 through 28 at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.

They are: Professor Arthur M. Barnes, head of graduate study; Professor Lester Benz, head of community journalism; Professor Leslie G. Moeller, director of the School of Journalism; Professor Ellis H. Newsome, head of the advertising sequence; Professor William E. Porter, head of magazine journalism; and Arthur M. Sanderson, instructor in journalism and faculty adviser of The Daily Iowan.

Part of Program
Porter, Newsome and Moeller will participate in the program. Porter will speak on "Mass Communications and Education" and Newsome will present two papers on advertising.

Porter's talk is based on his book which examines the implications to education of the growth and impact of the mass media. The book is a result of a study conducted by Porter for the Educational Policies Commission, a joint creation of the National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators. He will address the opening session of the convention.

Newsome will participate on a panel on the teaching of advertising and will present a paper describing his method of acquainting beginning students in advertising with the field by requiring them to read and report on advertising publications.

He will also read a paper, "A Study of Advertising Merchandising Services of Consumer Magazines in the U.S.," a summary of a thesis by Charles Goeldner, who received the M.A. degree in journalism from SUI last June.

Moeller Will Report
Moeller will report on the "News-paper in the Classrooms of a Free Society" workshop which was sponsored at SUI June 23 to July 3 by the College of Education and the School of Journalism and at the request of the National Education Association. The purpose of the workshop was to aid high school teachers and administrators in planning the most effective use of the newspaper in the classroom to guide students in getting information and making judgments on public affairs. Similar workshops were held later at Syracuse University and at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The AEJ is the national organization of college journalism instructors. About 300 educators are expected to attend the convention.

132 Students Selected for SUI Nursing Class

One hundred and thirty-two students selected members of the 1958-59 freshman nursing class at SUI were announced Thursday by Etta N. Rasmussen, chairman of the College of Nursing executive committee.

Eighteen of the students are transferring into the College of Nursing, five as freshmen, the rest as sophomores. The "transfer" students have previously been registered in the SUI College of Liberal Arts or at other institutions.

Admission to the college is based on motivation for nursing, past academic record, intellectual ability as shown by examinations, personal qualities and physical health. Miss Rasmussen said. Graduates of the 4-year nursing program will receive the bachelor of science in nursing degree.

After passing the Iowa state board examination, they will be licensed as registered nurses in Iowa and will be qualified to practice in hospitals and in public health agencies.

Both men and women may apply for admission to the College of Nursing, Miss Rasmussen explained. Students with some college credit may transfer to the nursing program, and a graduate of an accredited high school may apply for admission as a freshman.

TO FREE PRISONERS

CARACAS (AP)— Interior Minister Numa Quevedo announced all Venezuelan political prisoners will be freed by this weekend. A national election is scheduled Nov. 30.

3 Killed In Auto Accidents

WASHINGTON (AP)— Congress moved closed to adjournment Thursday but it still appeared likely that it would not come until next week.

The House knocked off work in the middle of the afternoon while the Senate drove on in another long session.

Much of the Senate's time Thursday was given over to debate stirred up by a report that the Pentagon has been considering the circumstances under which the United States might surrender in an atomic war.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), denounced the very thought of such a thing. Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), said he found no proof that the Pentagon was thinking about any U.S. surrender.

To Consider Social Security
Today the Senate is to take up the Social Security bill, which passed the House July 31 by a vote of 375-2. It would raise Social Security benefits seven per cent, and would increase payroll taxes to pay for the higher benefits.

The Senate Finance Committee, in approving the bill, voted for a study of the financial ability of the states to pay larger amounts for public assistance — commonly called relief. The Eisenhower Administration has talked of a veto if the bill heavily increases the amount the Federal Government grants for public assistance.

All-Stars Face Detroit Lions Tonight

Lion Gridders 13-Point Choice

CHICAGO (AP) — The collegians will match speed and imagination against the power and team play of the Detroit Lions tonight in the 25th annual All-Star football game. A crowd of 70,000 is expected at Soldier Field. The weather forecast is fair. "We are certainly not going to try to out-muscle them," said Coach Otto Graham of the All-Stars, comprising 52 youths who have finished their college playing days and for the most part are entering professional ranks.

Jim Gibbons
Listed Starter

Coach George Wilson brought the world champion Lions to town Thursday and pronounced his team in top physical condition.

"We'll depend mostly on our more experienced players," he said.

Pros Favored

The collegians have great break-away runners in Jim Pace of Michigan and Bobby Mitchell of Illinois, fine passers in King Hill of Rice and Jim Ninowski of Michigan State, and a batch of good receivers. Out of this combination Graham hopes to fashion an offense that might surprise the Lions. The professional team is a solid 13-point favorite.

The collegians have selected 11 men to receive starting lineup spot-light honors, although actually some are from the offensive and some from the defensive unit. They are:

Gibbons Starts

Jim Gibbons of Iowa and Charles Krueger of Texas A&M, ends; Lou Michaels of Kentucky, and Gene Hickerson of Mississippi, tackles; Gerald Kramer of Idaho and Bill Krisher of Oklahoma, guards; Dan Currie of Michigan State, center; Hill, quarterback; Pace and Bobby Joe Conrad of Texas A&M, half-backs; and Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State, fullback.

Graham, who confesses that "playing is a snap compared to coaching," plans to use two backfields as units. One set will be made up of Hill, Kowalczyk, Pace and Dick Christy of North Carolina State. The other will comprise Ninowski, Mitchell, Jim Taylor of Louisiana State, and Philip King of Vanderbilt.

Tebbetts Quits As Manager Of Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts, the philosopher, quit Thursday as manager of the Cincinnati Reds and Gabe Paul, his boss until that minute, said he didn't blame him.

It was not that he felt that he was not doing a good job, Birdie said in a statement, but that he believed his continued presence as manager would hurt the club owners.

General Manager Paul, reviewing the situation — poor pitching, disappointing hitting, and injuries, declared:

"If I were Birdie, I'd do the same thing."

Tebbetts became manager Sept. 29, 1953, after the season ended. Coach Jimmy Dykes, 62, long-time manager of the Chicago club of the American League, will have charge of the team until a successor to Tebbetts is named.

The club, floundering all season, finally dropped to the bottom of the National League Wednesday night after losing a double header to the Milwaukee Braves.

Birdie, handicapped by laryngitis, read his statement of resignation in a low voice.

"I have resigned my job as manager of the Cincinnati Baseball Club," he said. "This was not an easy decision to make, because I have always felt that a manager should never quit."

Declaring his intention of continuing in baseball, Tebbetts added:

"I am not resigning because of my feeling that I am not doing the job properly, but solely because in my heart I believe that it is better for Cincinnati baseball that someone succeed me."

He said he was being paid for the balance of the season, and that his contract, which through 1959, had been cancelled. He was believed to be getting between $30,000 and $35,000 annually.

Promoter Revises Estimate Of Gate For Patterson Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Youngish Bill Rosensohn, who picked a world heavyweight title fight for his venture into boxing promotion, says he has no worries about the financial prospects of the battle Monday night between Champion Floyd Patterson and Roy Harris.

Lindy McDaniel Joins Brother in Minors

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lindy McDaniel joined his younger brother Von in the minors Thursday as the St. Louis Cardinals optioned him to Omaha of the Triple A American Assn.

The 22-year-old Lindy was 5-7 this season and owned a whopping earned run average of nearly 6.0. Lindy was last used as a starter three weeks ago and pitched in relief only a few innings since then.

Officials Map Successor to Defunct PCC

CHICAGO (AP) — Informal discussions were under way Thursday aimed at setting up a new college association to fill the vacuum created by the collapse of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Various combinations are being discussed, but there was strong agreement on one point — the new league, if formed, will seek a tie-up with the Rose Bowl and the Big Ten presumably will continue to supply a team for the New Year's Day game.

College athletic officials who are here for the All-Star football game tonight sat in on the huddles.

One proposal was for a nationwide league composed of Army, Navy, and the Air Force Academy plus Notre Dame, Miami of Florida, Pittsburgh, Southern California, UCLA, Syracuse, Washington, Stanford, and California.

The service schools and Notre Dame have been notoriously shy in the past of making any conference connections.

A more likely combination would be Southern California, UCLA, California, Stanford and Washington. These are the "big five" of the disintegration PCC and reportedly one of the main reasons the coast league split up was the insistence of these five schools for higher academic standards and entrance requirements.

Still a third possibility would be a league comprising Pittsburgh, Penn State, Army, Navy, the Air Force Academy, California, Southern California, and UCLA.

None of the officials concerned would comment openly on the possibility that a new league might be formed. Under college protocol, while athletic directors and other officials can discuss new conference combinations, a final decision would need to be made at the presidential level.

The Rose Bowl figured prominently in all the discussions. This is one of college football's richest prizes. Entirely aside from the prestige of the game and the receipts from the 100,000-capacity stadium, there are annual revenues of $500,000 from television.

SUI Hurler Signs With Kansas City

DUBUQUE (AP) — Jack Nora, of Dubuque, captain of the 1958 SUI baseball team, said Thursday he had signed a bonus contract with the Kansas City Athletics.

The right-handed pitcher was assigned outright to Little Rock of the Southern Assn. He said he would report there Thursday night. The amount of the bonus was not disclosed.

Braves Top Reds As Usual; Lead Increased to 6 Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — Young Joey Jay allowed the Jimmy Dykes-managed Cincinnati Redlegs only one hit through eight innings but he was lifted in the ninth and Warren Spahn came on to protect a 3-0 victory by the Milwaukee Braves over the Cincinnatians.

The only hit off Jay was a solid single by Jerry Lynch in the sixth but he had control trouble all the way and it was that which finally led to his removal. He walked Ed Bailey to open the ninth and manager Fred Haney quickly brought in Spahn to ward off possible trouble.

The victory enabled the Braves to extend their league lead over the idle Pittsburgh Pirates to six games. And they now have won 11 of 14 games with Cincinnati.

The Braves played from the fourth inning on with rookie Joe Koppe at shortstop. He took over after umpire Bill Jackowski had ordered Johnny Logan out of the game for arguing at the plate.

The Braves clubbed Don Newcombe for a home run, a triple, a double and two singles in the first three innings but could score only twice.

Dodgers 7, Cubs 3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles pulled into a virtual sixth-place tie with Chicago Thursday by beating the Cubs, 7-3, before a drop-in-the-bucket crowd of 6,195, the smallest of the year at the Coliseum.

Duke Snider hit one of the longest home runs ever seen here, a 430-foot drive that cleared the fence in dead center field. Snider hit only one man to turn this trick, hit a similar home run last month. Don Drysdale, the winning pitcher, er, later hit one of the shortest homers ever seen here. It was a line drive that bounced off the metal bar running across the left field screen and then fell into the seats 250-feet away. Gil Hodges scored ahead of Drysdale.

BOSTON (AP) — Enos Slaughter, the tireless Red Sox nemesis, and Tony Kubek batted New York to an 8-2 victory over Boston Thursday in a game of odd bounces.

Pinchhitter Slaughter smacked a 2-run double that ignited a big fourth inning. He remained in the contest when Mickey Mantle was thumbed out two plays later.

Kubek accounted for 3 of the 12 Yankee blows off four Boston pitchers.

Marshall To Head Journalism at Butler

Alan Marshall, visiting lecturer in journalism at the SUI School of Journalism, has accepted a position as associate professor and head of journalism at Butler University at Indianapolis, Ind., starting in September.

Boy's Condition Good Following Auto-Bike Mishap

John H. Lantz, 14, 523 Rundell St., was listed in good condition at University Hospital late Thursday after he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle.

Lantz was riding his bike up to Muscatine Avenue on Court Street at 10:15 Wednesday night and was struck by a car driven by Richard Murray, 17, 1220 Keokuk Street, at the intersection of Muscatine Avenue and Court Street, police reports stated.

Murray was traveling north on Muscatine and made a left turn, colliding with the boy on his bike.

Murray was charged with making an improper left turn, and Lantz was charged with riding a bicycle at night without lights. Both charges were filed in police court.

Murray's car was damaged about $50 in the accident.

degree in journalism from SUI at the August convocation, joined the SUI journalism faculty in September, 1957, as a part-time instructor in the magazine journalism sequence. He previously had held a post as assistant to the president of St. John's College, Annapolis, Md.

Newsweek Editor

From 1936 to 1942 Marshall was on the staff of Newsweek magazine, serving as staff writer and editor of the back-of-the-book section which included the art, books, music, education, radio, and theater departments.

His story, "Death and Transfigurations," was reprinted in Edward J. O'Brien's "Best Short Stories" in 1934. The volume was dedicated to Marshall for having written the best story of the year.

Covered Nuremberg Trials
During World War II he was with the Office of War Information and served in London, Dublin, and Munich. As editor of Heute, an American sponsored newspaper in Munich, he covered the early weeks of the Nuremberg war criminal trials.

Marshall has taught journalism at Boston University, speech at City College of New York, and English at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., and Columbia University in New York.

Ames Would Become Capitol If DM Bombed

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa's state government will carry on from Ames or Iowa Falls in case Des Moines is blasted by a nuclear bomb, civil defense planners said Thursday.

State and regional civil defense officials briefed representatives of all Iowa governmental administrative departments on plans now being formulated to deal with an atomic bomb attack on Iowa.

Each Department Planned
The state officials were told that their departments would be expected to do in case of such an attack, and were asked to submit recommendations for carrying out their part in the program.

The defense officials said that if Des Moines is rendered uninhabitable by a bomb blast, the state government would be moved to Ames. If Ames had to be evacuated, plans are to reestablish the temporary state capital at Iowa Falls.

The officials also recommended that the line of succession for the governorship be extended beyond the present constitutional provision. The Iowa constitution says that the line of succession for the governorship is first to the lieutenant governor, then the president pro tempore of the Senate, then the Speaker of the House.

They urged that it be extended to the secretary of state, attorney general, state auditor, state treasurer and secretary of agriculture, though not necessarily in that order.

Outlines Tasks

William L. Rice of the Iowa survival project planning staff gave this outline of what tasks will be assigned to various state departments in case of attack:

Department of Public Safety—Receiving and disseminating attack warnings, police service, traffic control for evacuation, an emergency communications service and fire rescue service.

Iowa Development Commission—coordinating and directing production of industry, protecting industrial plants from bomb damage and restoring them to production after an attack.

State Health Department—measuring and estimating the fallout hazards, medical care for the civilian casualties.

Attorney General's Office—Intelligence service, including collection, correlation and evaluation of the results of any atomic attack. Also providing legal counsel and advice to civilian defense and government officials.

Secretary of State—Providing personnel for aircraft warning and control centers.

Department of Public Instruction—Supplying information to schools and to the people in their homes on the survival plan and setting up a chaplain service to insure the maintenance of religious affairs.

Work Without Precedent —

What Would Make America Surrender?

J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Anyone who would try to figure what would make America surrender to a foreign foe would have a tough time.

He would work without the guide of precedent, seeking the answer to a question which could never arise unless there were a reversal of American national character.

No matter how the oracles search, there is no clue to such a question among the American entrails spread on the altars of the Meuse-Argonne, the deserts of Africa, the jungles of the Philippines, the crags of North Korea, in the Belgian Bulge, or on the decks of Lawrence, of Decatur or of Jones. Many years ago one of the first men to call himself an American asked a question:

"Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?" A little group of Patrick Henry's own kind answered with a pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor.

With almost nothing else they won one of the most portentous wars in history against overwhelming power, and set a precedent from which their descendants have not swerved.

This people has lived in the full knowledge that the pursuit of liberty is a dangerous thing, and its maintenance a full-time responsibility.

This people loves to play, and to make light, in a superficial way, of dedication. But when the blue chips of life are rolling into the pot, they don't throw down their hands.

Winston Churchill, in the dark December of 1941, spoke of Britons, and of Americans in both Canada and the United States.

"We have not journeyed all this way across the centuries, across the oceans, across the mountains, across the prairies, because we are made of sugar candy," he said.
