Court Petitioned To Delay Integration in Little Rock

School Board Asks Holdup

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock school board announced Wednesday night it has petitioned the U.S. Eighth Circuit Appeals Court to stay its order which would continue integration at Central High School.

Supt. Virgil Blossom made the announcement after a meeting with Gov. Orval Faubus which lasted nearly two hours.

Faubus said he had a "very friendly and amicable meeting" with Blossom and three school board members. He earlier challenged the board to take quick action on preventing continued integration.

Earlier Wednesday, the governor clashed again with President Eisenhower. He assailed the President's integration statement and declared that if the President expected him to use military forces against Arkansas school districts, "then I must say that my position of last fall is unchanged."

The governor said after the meeting that "the board answered many questions posed by me in a previous statement."

These questions were demands to know whether the board planned any concrete maneuvers aimed at preventing a resumption of school integration at Little Rock next month.

Faubus said the board couldn't answer some of the questions because the answers were not yet known to the board members.

Blossom said of the meeting with Faubus that "we further agreed to explore every legal angle available to the school board with reference to sustaining Judge Lemley's decision" postponing integration here for 2½ years. He referred to U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., who issued the integration delay order June 21 on petition of the school board.

Senate Kills Bill to Curb Powers of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Wednesday killed a bill to curb the power of the Supreme Court. But inflamed controversy over rulings of the court immediately broke out anew.

Suddenly tossed into the midst of the boiling dispute was a proposal by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) to put Congress on record in support of the court's school desegregation decision.

By a roll-call vote of 49-41, the Senate had tabled and thus killed a measure to clip the court's review powers and undo the effects of its decisions in several Communist cases.

Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), a co-sponsor of the bill with Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md.) urged its adoption to check what he called "a runaway wild court" that he said is tearing down the Constitution.

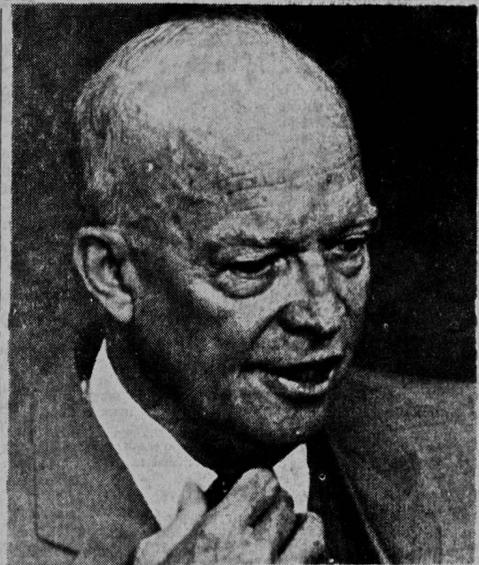

But opponents denounced the bill as punitive and as an attempt to impose the will of Congress on the court. They said it would upset the constitutional balance of power — the judiciary and the legislative branch.

Voting to kill the measure were 30 Democrats and 19 Republicans. Voting to keep it alive were 16 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

As soon as the Jenner-Butler proposal went down to defeat, Douglas moved that Congress express "its full support and approval of recent historic decisions" declaring racial segregation in public schools to be unconstitutional.

He said this would put the real issue out in the open. He called various bills that have been offered to overcome the effects of other Supreme Court decisions just a smokescreen.

Douglas' move caught Senate leaders by surprise. They immediately countered with an attempt to call up another bill that would undo the effect of a Supreme Court decision by restoring to the states the right to enforce their own anti-subversive laws. The Senate agreed to make this bill the pending business.

Ike Won't Support GOP Foes of His Pet Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has banished from his political camp any Republican Congressional candidates opposed to foreign aid, reciprocal trade and defense reorganization.

Mr. Eisenhower said Wednesday that these measures are absolutely vital to the national welfare. He said that where anyone was "completely at loggerheads" with him on those issues, "I would not consider we belonged really in the same local political camp."

The President thus made it clear any candidates in this category needn't seek his help in the fall campaign for control of the Senate and House.

However, he does not expect 100 per cent support from GOP legislators.

"I have never specifically stated that any one man's one vote or one expression was going to put him forever in the category that I could not support," Mr. Eisenhower said.

On other domestic question, Mr. Eisenhower said:

U.S. defenses are the most powerful in history and growing stronger every day; they are completely capable of deterring aggression.

He doesn't know how he could take a tougher stand against inflation without advocating economic controls "I just don't believe in." He defended a 2-point anti-inflation program of calling for business and labor restraint against boosting wages and prices and holding down Government spending.

"Oh, why, of course," he might find the occasion sometime to call on former President Truman to help the Administration. "After all," Mr. Eisenhower said, "he has had a very great and tough experience of his own." However, the President said he didn't want to talk about individuals. And he rejected a suggestion that the National Security Council be expanded to include former presidents.

Mr. Eisenhower fielded a variety of questions on foreign affairs.

Hailing the tentative agreement by scientists of the East and West on ways to police a nuclear test ban, he said this is the sort of thing that could lay the groundwork for a summit conference.

Officials Hint Another Satellite Launching Near

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Increasing activity about the Army's huge Jupiter-C rocket service tower Wednesday indicated the zero hour was fast approaching for another Explorer satellite launching. There was no official announcement but all signs indicated the launching of Explorer V was imminent.

Kerns Leaving Iowa City September 2 for Turkey

ALMOST READY TO LEAVE FOR TURKEY, Prof. and Mrs. Alexander Kern enjoyed a few moments of anticipation with their daughter, Toni, who is now in Lorient, France, for her junior year of high school. The Kerns will leave for Turkey Sept. 2, where Prof. Kern will teach at the University of Ankara.

Alexander Kern, professor of English at UI, and his wife, Jean, will leave Iowa City Sept. 2 for Turkey, where he will teach at the University of Ankara. He has been granted a leave of absence from his post at UI.

Kern will be employed by the University of Ankara, but also will receive a supplemental grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. He will teach American literature.

Another SUI professor of English, Ray B. West, Jr., will be returning this fall from a similar post of Ankara, where he has been teaching since early 1957.

The Kerns' daughter, Toni, is now in Lorient, France, where she will finish her junior year in high school. She is living with a French girl, Dominique le Beuve, who was a houseguest of the Kerns last spring. Toni will join her parents in Turkey in the summer of 1959.

Mrs. Kern, formerly an instructor of communication skills at UI, is now an assistant to the editor of the Journal of Speech and Hearing Research. The Kerns' son, John, will be attending Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Penn., while the family is abroad.

New Drive-In Restaurant Opens Today in Iowa City

The first McDonald's drive-in, self-service restaurant in Iowa City will open today at 812 South Riverside Dr., William O'Brien announced Wednesday. The formal opening will be held Saturday.

The local unit is part of a national organization that has grown to more than 90 McDonald's throughout the United States in less than three years.

The McDonald's units specialize in hamburgers, malts, and french fries.

The local restaurant will be open the entire year and plans to be open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 11 a.m. to midnight on Friday and Saturday.

The new restaurant here will be locally owned by Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien and is the second McDonald unit in Iowa. The other is located in Davenport.

The black-top drive has room for about 60 cars and is completely self-service. There are no car-hops and patrons serve themselves from the restaurant windows. Approximately 20 persons will be employed by the establishment.

Weather

More thunderstorms are expected in Iowa today and tonight with highs in the mid 80s. A weak cool front moving slowly across the state is touching off the rain storms and will bring lower temperatures by late tonight.

Friday's outlook is for mostly fair and mild.

Baker - Des Moines Link Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators developed Wednesday there have been close ties between Teamsters strongboy Barney Baker and Lou Farrell of Des Moines, Iowa. There were suggestions Farrell had been a payoff man for employers.

Under questioning in the witness chair of the Senate Rackets Committee, Baker said he had no recollection of receiving money from Farrell to settle Teamsters strike two years ago against the Midwest Burlap Bag Co., Des Moines.

Farrell's name first came into the hearings when Pierre Salinger, a staff investigator for the committee, said he has traced a lot of telephone calls and found Baker had been in touch with "some of the leading gangsters in the United States" over a long period.

For instance, Salinger said, there were 49 long distance telephone calls at various periods in 1956 and 1957 between Baker and Farrell.

Baker described Farrell as a restaurant owner and dear friend. Salinger termed him a gangster emissary to Iowa from the Capone mob in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smith, operators of the Rambler Motel in Des Moines, swore Baker paid his bill from money in an envelope that looked like an envelope received by employer representative E. J. Weinheimer.

Baker denied Weinheimer paid him $1,000 in $100 bills in three white envelopes to end a Teamster strike at the Escro Motor Exhibitor's Service Co. in McKees Rocks, Pa.

"I never got paid no $1,000," Baker said.

He refused to deny receiving money from Farrell, an employer representative, to settle a Teamsters strike against the Midwest Burlap Bag Co. in Des Moines.

He repeatedly qualified his denials of receiving money or gifts from Farrell by saying "as far as I recollect" or "as far as I know."

"I wish my memory were a lot better," Baker grinned.

"Mr. Chairman," Counsel Kennedy said, "I submit that this man is not telling the truth."

Baker readily admitted staying at the Rambler Motel at the same time that Weinheimer was a guest there. But he said Weinheimer was merely an old friend who came to visit him.

Mrs. Smith told the committee Baker pulled a $100 bill out of a long white envelope to pay his rent. It looked like the same envelope that an express truck had delivered to Weinheimer the day before, she added.

The news electrified delegates as they came out of the Assembly hall after a late afternoon session. No mention was made in the hall itself of the Arab move.

The unexpected show of unanimity among Arab nations caught delegates by surprise.

Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon and Mahmoud Fawzi, foreign minister for the United Arab Republic, attended the private meeting. Other Arab states present included Yemen, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Libya, Jordan and Sudan. They constitute the eight-nation Arab League. Morocco and Tunisia also attended.

Similar to Arab League

The nonaggression guarantees were said to be similar to those contained in the charter of the Arab League.

The Arab nations first announced their intention to work out a peace plan at a private meeting of the Arab-Asian group. The Arab states are members.

The group agreed to withhold action on rival Assembly proposals pending the outcome of the Arab efforts.

All 10 Nations In Agreement Over Mideast

May Be Presented To U.N. Assembly Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — All 10 Arab nations in the U.N. announced with dramatic suddenness Wednesday night, they had reached unanimous agreement on a Middle East peace plan.

The first reaction from Western diplomats was that the plan would win unanimous endorsement of the 81-nation U.N. assembly, and bring the emergency session to an end within 48 hours.

It has been forwarded to Arab home capitals for approval. If this is forthcoming it would be presented to the Assembly today.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned Wednesday night from a 90-minute conference with President Eisenhower in Washington. He consulted immediately with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge on the Arab proposal.

A U.S. delegation spokesman issued this statement:

"The U.S. delegation thoroughly approves the Arab countries trying to deal themselves with the problem of protecting the independence of each of them. So far as the language of the resolution is concerned, the U.S. delegation is studying it carefully."

Main Points

These were understood to be the main points in the Arab plan:

1. REAFFIRMATION of Arab League pledges against noninterference in the affairs of other Arab countries.

2. A REQUEST to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to set up the necessary arrangements to make possible the early withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and British forces from Jordan.

3. A BAN on inflammatory broadcasts beamed from one Arab nation capital to another.

4. AN ECONOMIC development plan along the lines proposed by President Eisenhower in his broad Middle East program, and also suggested by Hammarskjold.

5. A REQUEST for Hammarskjold to report back by Sept. 30 to the Assembly, which will then be in its regular fall session.

High Western sources predicted that if the plan goes through smoothly, the U.S. and British forces may be out of the area by Sept. 30.

The Assembly itself went into a night session on the fifth day of formal debate. It was pressing for windup of the debate by today.

This was the situation in the Assembly before the Arab states acted:

1. The United States remained confident a Western-backed resolution submitted by Norway and six other small countries would win the required two-thirds majority needed for Assembly approval.

2. U.N. diplomats said there was virtually no chance of Assembly approval of a rival Soviet resolution calling for immediate troop withdrawals under U.N. supervision.

ROTC Cadets From SUI Get Camp Awards

Seventeen cadets from the SUI Army Reserve Officers Training Corps have been named Distinguished Military Students following 6-week summer camps at Fort Riley, Kan., and Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

The awards are based on high scores in weapons firing, leadership performance and scores on an examination taken at the close of the camp.

Training Jet Accidentally Shot Down; 2 Injured

CLINTON, Mo. — A training plane was shot down Wednesday by another plane's Falcon missiles.

A spokesman at Richards-Gebauer Air Force Base near Grandview, Mo., said the plane which crashed, a T33 jet trainer, was a target plane in a mock interception. Both men in the T33 parachuted and suffered only minor bruises.

The men in the T33 were identified as Lt. John D. Rice and Lt. Raymond Zuhars Jr. of the 11th Fighter Squadron. The squadron, normally stationed at Duluth, Minn., is on temporary duty at Richards-Gebauer.

The SUI group at Fort Riley was rated seventh of 39 schools at the final camp rating. The cadets will be commissioned second lieutenants and will be assigned to army schools for technical training upon receiving their degrees from SUI.

Three of the students — Robert T. Blank, A3, Garner; John S. Peppers, C3, Exira, and Richard P. Runke, L1, Palos Heights, Ill., also received ribbons for being named "outstanding man" in their platoons at Fort Riley.

McGee Wins in Wyoming Primary; To Oppose Barrett for Senate

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — Fluent Gale McGee has emerged from the Wyoming primary election with the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate job he's coveted 26 years.

McGee, a 43-year-old University of Wyoming history professor, defeated Hepburn T. Armstrong, 37-year-old Lander uranium executive, in the primary but faces a tougher general election foe in Sen. Frank A. Barrett.

Returns from 651 of the state's 689 precincts gave McGee 21,271 votes and Armstrong 14,581. Barrett polled 34,093.

McGee criticized the Eisenhower Administration's foreign policy in the primary campaign.

Other SUI students at the camps were: William R. Burton, C3, Adel; Franklin T. Adams, A3, Ames; Joe W. Williams, C3, Ames; Robert M. Dills, A3, Bouton; Norman Davis, C3, Cedar Rapids; Charles W. U.S. About Ready To Suspend Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON — The United States was reported Wednesday night to be just about ready to announce a temporary suspension of nuclear tests.

An informed source said also that the Government hopes the contemplated temporary halt will lead to permanent suspension under an adequately safeguarded international agreement.

This source, who asked not to be named, indicated a U.S. announcement of a temporary end of nuclear weapons tests will stem from East-West talks which have been going on at Geneva since early July.

Ike Asks Bill To Curb Racketeering

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower made a special plea Wednesday that Congress act before adjournment to curb racketeering, corruption and power abuses in the labor-management field.

At the same time, Mr. Eisenhower said the Kennedy-Ives bill passed by the Senate but killed by the House failed to deal with abuses uncovered by the Senate investigations under Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

Worst Traffic Accident In New Mexico History; 8 Dead

PREWITT, N.M. — Two tourist-laden cars smashed head on near this western New Mexico town early Wednesday, killing eight persons and injuring three others.

Killed in the crash were a father, mother and two children in one family and the parents and one child in another.

It was one of the worst traffic accidents in New Mexico history. The crash, in pre-dawn darkness on U.S. Highway 66, was blamed on driver fatigue.

The President had a statement ready for his news conference but since nobody asked him about labor legislation he issued it afterward. In the statement, Mr. Eisenhower noted that last Jan. 23 he had submitted to Congress a 12-point program to guard against union fund pilfering and keep labor organizations out of the hands of dictators.

Ike Softens Dulles' Warning of War

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower Wednesday softened Secretary of State Dulles' warning that the world faces grave danger of war unless Russia stops indirect aggression against other countries.

Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference the world is headed "for much more trouble but not necessarily a big war" if Russia continues trying to bribe, buy and subvert other nations.

The President's remarks differed sharply in emphasis from those of Secretary of State Dulles, who has been urging immediate U.N. moves to curb Russia's actions.

50 Educators to Attend Okoboji Audio-Visual Meet

To plan educational "retooling" to keep pace with the growth of knowledge, some 50 educators will converge on West Okoboji Lake this weekend for a national conference Saturday through Wednesday.

Now in its fourth year, the Lake Okoboji Audio-Visual Leadership Conference at the Iowa Lakeside Laboratory, will bring together materials from 18 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and Norway.

The conference is sponsored by the Department of Audio-Visual Instruction (DAVI) of the National Extension Association and the SUI Extension Division, with partial support from the Teaching Film Custodians division of the Motion Picture Association of America.

National leaders of DAVI will be among the participants.

"This happened at Okoboji" has become a frequent saying at national meetings for DAVI's full membership, explains Cochran, who is director of the Bureau of Audio-Visual education at SUI and chairman of the Iowa committee for the conference.

Cochran says the conference has become a "sounding board for new ideas and policies," serving as an influential feeder of suggestions to national educational organizations.

Major topics for this year's lakeside deliberations will be pre-service and in-service teacher education, subjects which were elected for 1958 consideration by participants in the 1957 conference.

Participants represent colleges and universities, state departments of education, public school systems and distributors of educational films and other instructional materials.

Senate Sends Ike Public Works Bill

WASHINGTON — The Senate Wednesday completed congressional action on a $1,118,128,835 public works appropriation bill and sent it to the White House.

The Senate gave unanimous approval on a voice vote to a compromise version of the big money bill which carries funds for water projects throughout the country in the year which started July 1. The House approved the bill earlier in the day.

Members of Congress did not anticipate enthusiastic approval of the bill by the President since it includes funds to start planning or construction of many new projects. Mr. Eisenhower had recommended that no money be voted this year to start new projects.

There were reports on Capitol Hill that the Budget Bureau might recommend a veto since the new projects added would involve a total ultimate cost of over $1½ billion.

CRESTON — Only six rural schools in Union County will open for the 1958-59 term, County Superintendent of Schools Thomas J. Moore states. Last year there were 17 rural schools operating in the county.

Small enrollment is responsible for most of the closings. Pupils from these schools will go to town schools in most instances.

AFL-CIO Orders Sweeping Reforms

FOREST PARK, Pa. — The AFL-CIO Wednesday ordered the scandal-tainted International Union of Operating Engineers to institute a series of sweeping reforms or face expulsion.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council ruled that the 285,000 member union has made some progress toward cleaning up corruption revealed in Senate Rackets Committee hearings, but still has to finish the job.

The Engineers are now under the helm of a new president, Joseph Delaney, a life-long friend of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

The union was specifically directed to correct conditions in union locals in Long Island, N.Y., Newark, N.J., Philadelphia and Chicago.

The council, on the recommendation of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee, also ordered the Engineers to bring corruption charges within their union against former President William E. Maloney, and to adopt democratic procedures and strict audit controls over union funds.

Maloney, now critically ill, quit as Engineers President last winter, after Senate hearings in which he was pictured as a tyrant and lavish spender of union funds on himself. Millions of dollars of union funds were said to have been stolen by him and others in the union.

AFL-CIO President Meany said the Engineers could escape penalty and avoid further probes into the union's affairs if they adopt the new cleanup recommendation.

New Outburst Of Terrorism In Lebanon

BEIRUT — A submarine gunner blazed away from a passing car and mowed down two men in a barber shop Wednesday night in a new outburst of terrorism. Earlier, a bomb exploded in the central post office, housing Lebanon's overseas communications center.

Barber Farid Khouri staggered out of the door of his shop and fell dead on the sidewalk. Police said the other man, a customer Khouri was shaving, was wounded. Police blocked off the area.

The shop is in the exclusive waterfront hotel district only a block from where U.S. servicemen were boarding buses after a day of liberty.

It was difficult to determine immediately the cause of the shooting.

A general strike called by Lebanese rebels is still nominally in force in Beirut, but violence slackened off after the election last month of Gen. Fuad Schehab as Lebanon's next president.

Thesis Analyzes Physical Education of Fifth Graders

If Johnny has to climb to the top of the tree to be accepted by his playmates, he may do it, regardless of his parents' attitudes. His parents may approve of physical activity in general—most parents do—and may allow him to climb in the lower branches, but Johnny's standing with his playmates may be more important to him than his standing with his family. That is one conclusion reached by Mary O. Bowman, who studied several groups of fifth grade boys and girls as part of her work toward a Ph.D. degree in physical education at SUI. She received the degree at SUI's August Commencement exercises. Scored Activities Miss Bowman measured children's performances on nine physical activities and also scored children and their parents on "activity attitudes." She was seeking answers to this question: Why do two children with essentially the same physical equipment make different scores on physical performance tests? The answers, Miss Bowman says, could help the teacher to select the most effective methods of instruction and to determine program content. Most children like physical activities, Miss Bowman's study shows, and 96 per cent of the boys

Unity Club Investigated

DES MOINES (I) — Testimony regarding activities of the Iowa Commerce Commission's Unity Club will be submitted to the scrutiny of the Polk County grand jury, Atty. Gen. Norman Erbe said Wednesday. The club, composed of commission employees, has been criticized by the Iowa Legislative Investigation Committee because of its former practice of distributing money collected from its members among the three Republican members of the commission. Practice Discontinued The practice was discontinued last May at the recommendation of the investigating committee. The committee says it feels the practice was a violation of a state law prohibiting solicitation of funds from state employees for political purposes. Erbe issued a brief statement after consulting with Polk County Attorney Ray Hanrahan about the matter Wednesday. He said Hanrahan will submit testimony regarding the club's activities to the grand jury next month. The attorney general declined to name any persons whose activities might be brought before the grand jury.

2 Drowned At Okoboji

SPIRIT LAKE (I) — A man and a 12-year-old girl drowned in West Okoboji Lake Wednesday when the small boat in which they were riding with two other girls capsized in water 70 feet deep. Dead were Harold Mayr, 40, of Harlan, a State Tax Commission employee, and Cheri Markham, one of six children of Dr. and Mrs. William Markham of Harlan. Mayr's daughter, Patsy, 14, and a girl friend, Janet Noble, 12, also of Harlan, clung to the overturned boat until they were rescued. Sheriff Ike Kissinger said the four were riding in a 10½-foot boat powered by a 25 horsepower motor. He said a combination of speed, wind and two-foot waves on the lake made the boat overturn. The Markham girl's body was recovered a short time after the tragedy. Officers from Arnold's Park, Spirit Lake and the lake patrol were dragging for the body of Mayr.

strike in a dispute over the railway's elimination of 123 one-man stations in Iowa and South Dakota — 105 of them in Iowa — Leighty said. He said the union notified the C&NW last December that telegrapher positions as of Dec. 3, 1957 must not be dropped unless both parties agreed. The one-man stations in South Dakota and Iowa were abolished in the last month after approval of public service commissions in both states. The railway said that in some stations business had dropped so much that agents worked only 15 minutes a day, getting the equivalent of $161 hourly pay. To maintain these stations would destroy all incentive for C&NW to improve its equipment and would waste funds on unnecessary personnel, the railway contended. To agree to the union's demands would freeze our operations from now to eternity," a rail spokesman said. "We could do nothing regardless of changes in the industry." He said the railway has not provided jobs for those employees dismissed because of the closing. This is the union's major complaint. The dispute had been under discussion with the National Mediation Board, but the railway and the union were notified Thursday the board was closing its files on the case. The board said no grounds for settlement were in sight, but that the case would be reopened upon request.

Like the Fella' Says—

'Keep a Man Down'

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

The old saying, that you can't keep a good man down, just isn't true.

Adm. Rickover, the Navy's reverse side of the Billy Mitchell case, is going to get promotion and pay, and a medal. He's going to represent the President when his "baby," the atomic transpor submarine Nautilus, is welcomed in New York — a far higher honor than an invitation to the White House announcement of the Nautilus feat, for which he was overlooked.

But time cannot be recaptured, nor the daily feats he might have produced except for his submergence.

Everyone knows good men who have been kept down, either by circumstances or themselves. There's the man, like Rickover and Mitchell, who was born too soon. His ideas may be too advanced to get the support of associates from whom he needs help. His accomplishments may not be recognized at their true value until too late to do him any good.

Right with him is the man who comes just behind other good men in his organization in terms of service. He should have come sooner or later. When his general manager moves out there isn't enough time left for him, and a younger good man gets the nod.

Then there's the good man who is so intent, in such a hurry, that he irritates others and actually interferes with the smooth running of an organization. He wants all the good younger men as his assistants, and all the money for his own projects. He is not so much selfishly ambitious as wanting authority because he considers everyone else too dumb to wield it. He fails to get cooperation, and in the end that gets his men.

There are the good men who cannot sell their ideas and get permission to carry them out. Or they are just plain unlucky. They prepare themselves carefully to take advantage of opportunities, then are sick or on vacation when the chance comes to show themselves.

The snubbing of Adm. Rickover in connection with the White House ceremony was his lucky break, because it attracted attention to his plight. He becomes an exception.

Many organizations make a valiant effort to use all the talent available, but it's still true. You can keep a good man down, and if you don't he's liable to do it himself.

Minneapolis Still Trying For Franchise

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Hearts fluttered for a few hours in big league-craving Minneapolis Wednesday.

Sunny statements hinting at the imminent shift of a major league baseball franchise here set fans aglow. But the city's top emissary in baseball's councils conceded that no club has made any pledges to come to Minneapolis.

Says They Are Close
Gerald Moore, head of the Metropolitan Area Sports Commission, touched off the excitement Tuesday by saying Minneapolis was close to bringing in a big league team.

Moore appeared before the city council to seek approval of a nine million dollar plant for expanding Metropolitan Stadium, the swanky plant built three years ago to attract a major franchise.

Wednesday he repeated what he had been saying earlier, that the city has no big league commitment yet.

No Specific Team
Moore mentioned no club by name. Minneapolis has been negotiating with the Washington Senators for a year, however, and it also has been mentioned as a possible new home for the Cleveland Indians.

In Washington, President Calvin Griffith of the Senators said he had received no new proposition from Minneapolis since before the All Star game.

Griffith has been told by other club owners the American League wants to keep the franchise in Washington. But Griffith does not feel this rules out for good the possibility of a Washington shift.

Indians Deny It
Cleveland officials have consistently denied any intention of moving the club to Minneapolis.

Moore's group is known to have guaranteed Washington at least a million attendance annually for the first three seasons. The Senators have also been approached by representatives from a number of other cities, including St. Paul, Minneapolis' twin.

Moore told the council that no club would consider transferring here unless it has a legal guarantee of adequate seating plus binding agreements on other operating matters.

For that reason Moore asked the city to get behind a $5,750,000 bond issue, mostly to finance enlarging of the stadium from 21,000 to 41,000 seats.

Youths Top 2nd-Seeded Net Team

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Unseeded Darlene Hard and Jeanne Arth, determined youngsters playing their second tournament together, stunned veterans Mrs. Margaret du Pont and Margaret Varner in a women's quarter final upset Wednesday at the National Doubles Tennis Championships.

Darlene, kept from steady competitive action by teaching duties in a girl's camp, and her St. Paul, Minn., teammate, defeated the second-seeded Margarets 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Mrs. DuPont, who won the title last year with Louise Brough, was trying for her share of a 15th straight ladies' doubles crown.

Grimacing from a painful shoulder on his service in the late stages, Bob Howe and his Australian teammate Mal Anderson survived a hairline crisis to pull out a 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 7-5 men's third-round verdict over Argentina's Enrique Morea and Eduardo Soriano.

Otherwise progress was routine on the sun-baked grass courts at the Longwood cricket club.

Akins Beats Smith on TKO In Last Round After Trailing

CHICAGO (AP) — Welterweight Champion Virgil Akins, his face a mask of red from bleeding gashes around both eyes, Wednesday night came alive in the last round with smashing rights and lefts to score a technical knockout over Charlie (Tombs) Smith.

Until the decisive 10th in the non-title scrap, Akins was far behind in points as Smith, a 4-1 underdog, kept popping him with long lefts that made his face gory.

Needing a knockout to win, Akins came out in the 10th like a tiger, and rushed to his 25-year-old Los Angeles opponent with fists churning. He caught him with a steam-

Smith arose but still was in a haze and Akins bore in. He slammed him into a corner and hammered Smith at will.

Referee Frank Sikora finally stopped it at 1:18.

Under the 5-point system, judges Harold Marovitz and Bill Doty had Smith ahead 44-38 entering the 10th round.

Akins looked anything but like a champion throughout most of the nationally televised bout. Smith, ranked eighth by the National Boxing Association, began landing combinations in the second that opened a cut at the corner of Akins' left eye.

As the rounds progressed, Smith poured straight rights and lefts into Akins every time the champ tried to open up. By the fourth, Akins' right eye was bleeding from a similar cut.

His handlers worked feverishly with the cuts. And Irving Slott, the Illinois Athletic Commission doctor, went to the champion's corner to examine him after each round.

Slott said although the wounds were bleeding freely, they were not deep.

Akins, making his first appearance since winning the welterweight crown in the last of an elimination test against Vince Martinez June 6, weighed 150. Smith went in at 148.

The southpaw catcher, who used his first baseman's mitt, was on the job for the last two outs in the Pirates' ninth.

OK in College
Bruce, son of the doorman at the White House, established a pretty fair pitching record at Lyndon State Teachers College, Vt. The President happened to mention the fact to Branch Rickey Sr., who serves as an advisor both to Mr. Eisenhower (in racial affairs) and to the Pirates.

Rickey put an official scout on Bruce's trail. The word was that the 6-5, 180-pounder had both a fast ball and curve of major league caliber. Pittsburgh invited him last winter to its minor league training camp at Jacksonville Beach, Fla., and signed him.

"I recall his first pitch at Jacksonville Beach," says Larry Dorton, who now manages Bruce at

Braves' Lead Cut Full Game As Dodgers Win Again, 2-1

Giants Win, Bucs Split with Cubs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Milwaukee Braves Wednesday night for the 12th time in 18 games, winning 2-1 on the 6-hit pitching of Stan Williams and the long-ball hitting of rookies Joe Pignatano and Norm Larker.

The loss put Milwaukee's league lead to 5½ games over second-place San Francisco.

A crowd of 27,431 watched the Dodgers score their eighth victory in nine games and their third in a row over the Braves.

Williams, a rookie righthander, appeared bent on his first complete game effort since July 11, but was yanked in favor of Johnny Klippstein after the Braves got two men on with two out in the ninth.

Klippstein struck out Del Rice to end the game.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants squeezed by Cincinnati 4-3 Wednesday on key hits by pinch-hitters Ray Jablonski and Bill White and the 3-hit relief pitching of Marv Grissom.

Jablonski doubled in a run in a 2-run fifth inning and scored another in the sixth after smacking his second double. White brought him home in that frame along with Valmy Thomas with a crucial pinch-hit single.

Redleg starter Harvey Haddix had a 3-run lead going into the fifth. Cincinnati had gone ahead on single runs in the third, fourth and fifth.

Pirates, Cubs Split

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs ended a 4-game losing streak with their 10th triumph in the past 33 games by beating Pittsburgh 5-1 in the second half of a double header Wednesday. The Pirates captured the opener 4-2.

The second game was called because of rain and darkness with two out in the Cubs' fifth. The Cubs had two runs across and three on when play was ended after a 37-minute wait.

The opening game success enabled the Pirates to match their entire 1957 victory total by recording their 62nd victory.

The opener ended on a zany note with Dale Long, a left-handed first baseman, catching for Chicago.

Long was pressed into action when Cal Neeman, the Cubs, second and last available catcher, was banished along with Manager Bob Scheffing for protesting a call by plate umpire Frank Dascoli.

The southpaw catcher, who used his first baseman's mitt, was on the job for the last two outs in the Pirates' ninth.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Philadelphia's Willie Jones drove in eight runs with a pair of 3-run homers and a double and Robin Roberts breezed past the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night, 12-2, ending a 7-game Phillie losing streak.

The 31-year-old Roberts, making a comeback this season, took his 13th victory of the season against 11 defeats. His record is more impressive than it looks — he lost three games 1-0 and another 2-1.

Jones, veteran Phillie third baseman, blasted his 12th with two on in the first, knocking out starter Billy Muffett, then hit No. 13 with two on in the third off Nelson Chittum. He smashed a 2-run double off Phil Paine.

ChiSox 10, BoSox 8

BOSTON (AP) — The Chicago White Sox continued their stretch run Wednesday by winning their seventh consecutive game, defeating the Boston Red Sox 10-8.

The victory held the Chicagoans within 10½ games of the leading New York Yankees whom they play tonight.

The White Sox apparently wrapped this one up in the first inning when they scored five runs, driving out the starting rookie left-hander Ted Bowsfield.

However, they were fortunate to win as the home Sox scored four times in the sixth to go ahead 8-7. Jim Landis belted a 2-run homer in the seventh regaining the lead for Chicago which added an insurance tally in the eighth.

Each club used five pitchers who were rapped for a total of 29 hits.

Yanks 7, Indians 1

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees broke a 4-game losing streak Wednesday, defeating the Cleveland Indians 7-1 behind Art Ditmar's 8-hitter. Yogi Berra slammed two home runs for the American League leaders.

The victory was only the third in the past 11 games for the Yankees but it gained them a split in the 2-game series with the Tribe and a 7-4 season edge on Cleveland at Yankee Stadium. Ditmar was the first Yankee hurler to go the route in 13 games.

Berra's homers were his 18th and 19th. It was the first time the stocky catcher hit two homers in one game this year and the tenth time a Yankee had connected twice in the same game.

Tigers 7, Senators 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Al Kaline batted Detroit out of a 5-game losing slump as he hit a pair of 3-run homers and the Tigers defeated the Washington Senators 7-1 Wednesday night.

Kaline's homers were his 12th and 13th of the season, and ended a personal batting slump which saw him get only 6 hits in his past 44 trips, a .136 pace which had dropped his season's average from .318 to .299. He had knocked in only one run in his last 11 games.

Frank Lary benefited from Kaline's hitting heroics, picking up his 12th victory on an 8-hit job. The only Washington run was unearned and came on an error by first baseman Gail Harris and singles by Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon.

Orioles 4, A's 3

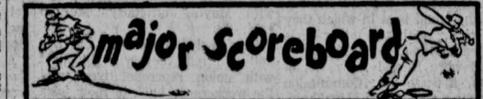

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Nieman brought his bat back to action after five games if idleness due to a hand injury and knocked in three runs with a triple and homer in leading the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-3 victory over Kansas City Wednesday night.

The game turned into a duel between rival sluggers when Bob Cerv also reappeared in the Kansas City lineup after an absence of four days and batted in two runs.

Nieman, who had been out with a bone chip at the base of his right thumb, got in his kicks early.

His 3-bagger off the right field fence came in the first inning after Joe Taylor had singled. Nieman was singled in by Brooks Robinson. The next time up in the third inning, Nieman homered behind Taylor's walk.

Dykes To Finish Season As Cincinnati Manager

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jimmy Dykes will finish out the season as manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs under present plans, General Manager Gabe Paul said Wednesday.

Dykes, who managed the Chicago White Sox for 14 years, and also led the Philadelphia Athletics and Baltimore of the American League, was made acting manager last Thursday after Birdie Tebbets resigned.

Paul said Tuesday that Dykes was not to be considered for the manager job next season, declaring: "I want a young man who can do a long range job of building an organization and whose coaches will be specialized at instructing players at the various positions."

Dykes, who was one of Tebbets' coaches, said in San Francisco Wednesday that he hoped to prove on the current road trip that he deserves a chance to direct the team next season. He is 61 years old.
