

Iowans enjoyed one of the most pleasant days of the year Thursday and more of it is expected today with highs ranging from the mid 70s to low 80s. The Saturday outlook is for partly cloudy and warmer with chances of showers in the north portion.

Ludwig Terms Explorer IV Results 'Startling'

Means Bad News for Spacemen

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Explorer IV is sending back quite startling revelations about an intense band of radiation far out in space, a project official said Thursday.

Most of the satellite's report is bad news for scientists who hope to rocket a man in space in the next few years.

Radiation Lethal
George Ludwig, an associate in the SUI physics department, said early data from Explorer IV shows that the radiation is lethal. The satellite's sensitive instrument package was developed at the University.

Ludwig said Explorer IV still is relaying exceptionally good signals as it whirls around the globe every 110 minutes, dipping as low as 173 miles and swinging as high as 1,368 miles in space.

Launched July 26 aboard the Army's Jupiter-C rocket, the 37.1 pound satellite is expected to continue in orbit for about five years.

Ludwig said that above 1,200 miles the death rays have come close to swamping the delicate Geiger and scintillation counters within the 80-inch tube satellite.

"Amazing"
"The Roentgen ratings have been amazing," Ludwig said.

The amount of ionization caused by the death rays is measured in Roentgens. The Atomic Energy Commission says that 50 per cent of the people exposed to a total 450 Roentgens of gamma rays will die within a month.

Ludwig explained it still is not known what type of radiation exists in space, but added: "If the rays are electrons, an unprotected man would die after 45 hours of exposure."

Lead Shielding
If they are the more violent proton particles, unprotected man would be dead in only 4 1/2 hours.

One of the Geiger counters inside the satellite is shielded by 1-16th of an inch of lead to enable scientists to compare radiation penetration. The other is open to the full bombardment of the rays.

Ludwig said that above 1,200 miles the radiation was so powerful that there was practically no difference between the amount received by the shielded and unshielded counters.

Iowa City Owens Employees Vote For New Union

Production and maintenance employees at Owens Brush Co. voted Thursday to affiliate with the Iowa City Brush Making Employees Association, a newly organized independent union.

Sixty-eight voters were counted for this new labor group and 23 for Teamsters Union Local 238 of Cedar Rapids. Four ballots were challenged by the Teamsters and were not counted.

The election was conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

Harry Wilford, business agent for Local 238, indicted the union would challenge the election.

Owens, a subsidiary of the Dr. West toothbrush company of Toledo, Ohio, is Iowa City's newest industry.

Big Barney Baker Linked With Diamonds and Love Nest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two surprise witnesses before the Senate Rackets Committee Thursday linked Robert (Barney) Baker with "nearly a quart of diamonds" they said they saw in a Miami love nest.

The story was told by Thomas L. Douglass, a Miami and Hyannis, Mass., jeweler, and B. B. Boers Jr., a Miami real estate man.

Douglass testified he owned a Miami home which he rented to Baker while Baker was there in 1955 to organize the taxi drivers for the Teamsters Union.

He said Baker lived there with Mrs. Ruth Brougher and her former husband, whom the committee identified as Joseph (Threefinger Joe) Sylvester. Mrs. Brougher, 44, has testified she was Baker's girl friend. Douglass commented that it seemed to be a pretty mixed up arrangement.

Arrested in 1952 In Des Moines

DES MOINES (AP) — Guz Zapas, Indianapolis Teamster union official who was questioned last week by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington, was arrested in Des Moines in 1952, Des Moines police detectives recalled Thursday.

The detectives recalled the 1952 case after Zapas, now 40, was questioned by the committee about his connections with Robert (Barney) Baker, Lewis Farrell of Des Moines, and various others.

Des Moines police records show that Zapas—then listed as Gus Sam Zapas of Chicago—and a companion was arrested here Sept. 8, 1952. His companion was Fred Farley, now 54, of Chicago.

The records show the pair was arrested after a Chicago jewelry salesman, here on business, complained he had been followed by Zapas and Farley. The salesman said he was carrying several thousand dollars' worth of uncut diamonds and diamond rings.

Porter To Be Main Speaker At Conference

200 Journalism Educators To Attend

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Teachers of journalism from schools and colleges throughout the nation will attend the annual convention of the Association for Education in Journalism to be held at the University of Missouri Aug. 25 through Aug. 28.

Principal address of the first evening assembly will be by William Porter, associate professor of journalism at SUI, who will speak on "Mass Communication and Education."

50th Anniversary
The School of Journalism of the University is serving as host to the convention, making it the opening major event of a 9-month program observing the 50th Anniversary of the founding here of the world's first school of journalism.

More than 200 journalism teachers and administrators from every section of the country have indicated they intend to be here for the convention.

The program opens with registration at 9 a.m. Monday, Aug. 25, in Memorial Student Union on the University campus, followed by meetings of various committees of the association. The first general assembly of the group will be at 8 p.m. with Dean Earl F. English of the University of Missouri School of Journalism presiding.

Other SUI Iowans
University President Elmer Ellis will welcome the delegates and extend the hospitality of the University for the 4-day meeting.

Other members of the SUI School of Journalism, besides Porter, attending the meeting are: Arthur M. Barnes, professor and head of graduate study; Lester Benz, professor and head of community journalism; Leslie G. Moeller, professor and director of the School of Journalism; Ellis H. Newsome, professor and head of the advertising sequence; and Arthur M. Sanderson, instructor in journalism and faculty adviser of The Daily Iowan.

ELIZABETH FILES SUIT
NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor Thursday filed a $5 million damage suit against three corporations in connection with a plane crash last March that killed her husband, producer Mike Todd.

Douglass, taking up the story, said the diamonds were mostly rings and still bore price tags as though they had just come from stores. He quoted her as saying in Baker's presence:

"Oh, God, this jewelry has got to get to New York tonight."

"It created an idea of where the diamonds came from," Douglass added. He said Mrs. Brougher appeared to be afraid of something at that time and had nailed doors and windows shut with heavy spikes.

Bowers testified that Mrs. Brougher scooped the jewelry back into a box, went into a bedroom with Baker and returned a short time later saying with a sigh of relief: "That's over with." He said he took this to mean Baker was to take the jewels to New York for her.

Baker, a 300-pound teamsters official whose headquarters are in Detroit, has denied ever dealing in stolen jewelry.

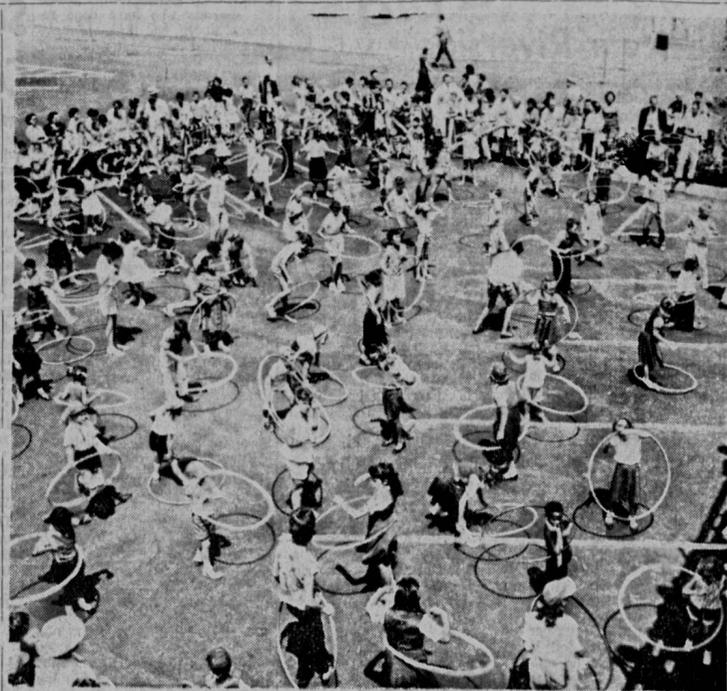

But near the close of Thursday's hearing Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the committee, accused him of committing perjury "over and over" in his testimony.

"Told the Truth"
McClellan asked Baker whether he wanted to change any of his testimony.

After a consultation with his lawyer, George Fitzgerald of Detroit, Baker replied quietly: "Senator, everything that I have said will remain said, and I have told the truth."

Baker listened placidly while Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, gave him a tongue-lashing.

"You have been identified as associated — and closely associated — with the scam of the United States," Kennedy said. "Everywhere you go there has been violence — whenever in Wichita or New York."

Dorothy Moeller Named to Post On Speech Journal

Dorothy Sherman, associate professor of speech pathology and editor of "The Journal of Speech and Hearing Research" announced Thursday that Dorothy Moeller has been appointed assistant to the editor of the journal.

Mrs. Moeller, wife of Leslie Moeller, professor and director of the SUI School of Journalism, will begin her duties Monday.

Mrs. Moeller replaces Jean Kern, who is accompanying her husband to Ankara, Turkey on a teaching assignment.

"The Journal of Speech and Hearing Research" is a technical publication, published quarterly dealing with research in speech pathology, audiology and experimental phonetics.

2 Charged With $3000 Iowa Bank Robbery

SIoux CITY (AP) — Two Nevada prison fugitives were held on federal charges here Thursday in a $3,000 bank robbery at nearby Correctionville where the banker and his wife were given a mixture of chit-chat and harsh threats by the bandit pair.

FBI agent Rayne Thompson signed the complaint charging George Albert Mills of Boston, Mass., and Darwin Everett Coon of Sioux City with four federal bank robbery counts and one of car theft. Both are 26 years old.

At their arraignment, Thompson said they had admitted robbing the Corn Belt State Bank of about $3,000 Wednesday night after forcing bank president P. S. Hart, 48, to open the vault. Both were jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Earlier the pair told Sioux City detectives they saved their way out of prison at Carson City, Nev. on Aug. 11.

Mills was captured in a stolen car at Sioux City about two hours after the robbery. Coon was caught early Thursday at a road block 30 miles south of here, en route to Omaha, Neb. in a chartered taxicab. Authorities said most of the loot was recovered.

The bank president said one of the men visited the bank Wednesday and said he was seeking a location to open a radio repair shop in Correctionville. Wednesday night the pair called at Hart's home. Hart was away fishing but they told his wife Irene they would like to await his return to discuss a business deal.

He said they chatted amiably for 30 minutes until Hart came home. Then, he said, one man drew a gun and the other a knife. Hart was coerced into giving the vault combination.

While one man went to the bank, Hart continued, the other permitted the couple to watch television. It finally was necessary, however, for Hart to go to the bank under duress and open the vault. The Harts were left bound when the men fled. They freed themselves and gave the alarm.

Central High Will Open 'All White'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Central High School, torn by rioting and surrounded by troops during the integration crisis last fall, will open Sept. 2 as "an all-white high school," Supt. Virgil Blossom said Thursday.

The school board was granted a court stay which means the high school can avoid integration until the U.S. Supreme Court rules on the issue.

The board must file its appeal within 30 days in order to make the stay effective but presumably could ask for time after that to perfect its briefs.

Fast-Moving Events
Blossom's announcement climaxed a day of tension and swift developments which saw:

1. The 8th Circuit Court of Appeals grant a stay of its Monday order insisting on integration.

2. Gov. Orval Faubus tell the state's lawmakers to stand by for an emergency session of the Legislature.

3. The governor indicated that he will ask the lawmakers to close the school if President Eisenhower stations troops there as he did last fall. This possibility appeared remote, at least for a period of months.

Faubus, informed of the St. Louis appeals court's stay, still ordered aides to issue the standby call to the Legislature.

The appeals court stay allows the board one month to perfect the appeal to the Supreme Court. Presumably court action could take a period of months after that.

The St. Louis court only Monday overturned a Little Rock district court ruling that Central High School integration be delayed 2 1/2 years.

'Records Transferred'
At an afternoon news conference, Blossom said that if any of the seven Negro students who have been expected to try to re-enter Central High seek to register, they "will be told their records have been transferred back to Horace Mann," the Negro high school. Blossom said that would be true "if the St. Louis court's stay is received by tomorrow as expected."

Asked how long he thought it would be before the Supreme Court would rule, Blossom said the school board is going on the assumption that Central High will open Sept. 2 as an all-white school.

Should the school board take the full 30 days the case would not even reach the Supreme Court before late September and the Supreme Court itself is in summer recess until Oct. 6. Other legal moves could take nearly another month.

The Supreme Court has heard no oral arguments in segregation cases since its 1954 decision calling for "all deliberate speed" in eliminating segregation.

Judge Gradner said the seven members of the court had decided at the time they issued their decision that a stay should be granted if requested by the school board. The 90-year-old Gradner wrote the only dissent.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said the Soviet Union approved the Arab resolution. But he expressed disappointment that it failed to speak of immediate withdrawal of British and U.S. troops. He served notice the Soviet Union would renew its demands for a military exodus if there is any undue delay.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd offered his best wishes to Hammarskjold for a successful conclusion of his newest Middle East mission. He pledged British cooperation on an early evacuation of troops from Jordan.

Prolonged applause rippled through the modernistic blue-and-gold Assembly Hall at the end of each speech by the big power representatives.

Good for Future
"In my judgment," Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand Assembly President, said, "This resolution is good for the organization. It is good for the future work of the secretary general because it affords him the assurance, or the prospect, that he will succeed."

Informed sources have said that a U.N. representative will be assigned to Jordan as a sort of ambassador-reporter for the organization. Jordan has refused to accept either U.N. observers or armed forces on its territory.

Before the vote was taken, Norway withdrew its Western-backed resolution sponsored by six other nations giving Hammarskjold a key role in recommending a Middle East settlement, but avoiding any direct request for troop withdrawals.

The Soviet Union also withdrew its resolution demanding an immediate troop withdrawal under U.N. supervision.

The Arab plan was tentatively approved Wednesday night by all 10 Arab U.N. nations, including pro-western Jordan and Lebanon.

Historic U.N. Session Ends With Rapport

Dramatic Vote Called Victory for U.N. Itself

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations approved unanimously Thursday night a plan to let the Arab nations work out their own way of living together in peace in the Middle East.

The 81-nation General Assembly wound up a drama-packed two weeks emergency session by voting 80-0 in favor of a plan agreed upon previously by all Arab nations in the U.N. The Dominican Republic was absent.

Arab Responsibility
In addition to giving the Arabs chief responsibility for maintaining peace with another, the proposal assigns to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold the task of setting up arrangements for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan.

Plans for economic development of the Middle East would likewise be undertaken by Hammarskjold in consultation with the Arab nations.

The United States, the Soviet Union and Britain all joined in supporting the Arab proposal, made known only Wednesday night.

U.N. diplomats saw the outcome of weeks of Middle East crisis talk as chiefly a victory for the U.N. organization itself.

Until the Arabs acted, the U.N. faced the dismal prospect of winding up with no resolution capable of approval, or at best with a close two-thirds majority approval of a Western-backed resolution that would have lacked vital Arab and Asian-African support.

Problems Still Exist
U.S. Secretary of State Dulles praised the Arabs for reaching agreement among themselves on a peace formula. But he warned it would be folly to expect that Middle East problems were solved with passage of a resolution.

"These problems have deep roots," he declared. "They have explosive aspects which can surprise us at any time."

He said the final answer must be found in actual deeds of the leaders of the Middle East countries. The resolution amounts to a request for moderation on their part, he added.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said the Soviet Union approved the Arab resolution. But he expressed disappointment that it failed to speak of immediate withdrawal of British and U.S. troops. He served notice the Soviet Union would renew its demands for a military exodus if there is any undue delay.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd offered his best wishes to Hammarskjold for a successful conclusion of his newest Middle East mission. He pledged British cooperation on an early evacuation of troops from Jordan.

Waisanen, University of North Dakota, and Thomas S. McPartland, projects director of the Greater Kansas City Mental Health Foundation.

Kuhn will serve as chairman of the session. Significance of the Iowa findings will be discussed at the close of the reports by Jacob W. Getzels, professor of educational psychology at the University of Chicago.

Waisanen's report will be read for him, as he is now en route to Helsinki, Finland, where he will do research and teaching under a Fulbright grant.

In addition to work on the University of Puerto Rico, Rogler is directing a three-year mental health research project sponsored jointly by Yale University and the University of Puerto Rico.

The three-day annual meeting of the American Sociological Society will open Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy was reported Thursday to be launching rockets from high flying aircraft in a program aimed at developing reconnaissance satellites.

Under orders by the Defense Department, the Navy said it could not comment on satellite research. But informed officials said there was such work going on and that it carried the designation: "Operation Pilot."

Reports that the Navy was engaged in a satellite project, under the guidance of the naval ordnance test station at China Lake, Calif., have been published in aviation trade magazines and by the Los Angeles Times. A Times story Wednesday said that satellite launching tries had been made from "Fury" fighters, the Navy version of the Air Force F86.

Asked for comment on the Times account, a Defense Department spokesman said that the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency "has no such program and knows of no such project."

Pressed for further clarification, the department later issued a written comment which ignored the satellite aspect of the Navy activities but said that certain classified high altitude experiments involving both aircraft and guided missiles have been authorized by the top level space agency. The statement said also that the station at China Lake is one of the military installations where such experiments are being carried out.

The purpose in trying to launch satellite vehicles from high-flying aircraft would be to save some of the power required to lift a rocket from the earth's surface, where the air is heavier and the gravitational pull is much greater than it is at altitudes of 45,000 to 50,000 feet.

U.S., Britain May Ban Nuclear Tests

GENEVA (AP) — Scientists of East and West reported to their Governments Thursday that a globe-girdling control system can detect cheating if the world powers decide to ban nuclear tests.

The agreement at the end of a 7-week conference brought speculation that the United States and Britain now may follow the Soviet lead and announce a voluntary suspension of nuclear tests.

In London, the British Foreign Office welcomed the announcement of agreement but gave no hint Britain will call off a new series of tests scheduled shortly in the Pacific.

An informed source said in Washington the United States might announce a temporary suspension of tests in the hope of speeding a permanent international agreement.

Only an effective control system could give the nations observing a test ban assurance that other nations were not secretly developing bigger and better nuclear weapons.

The technical details of the control system worked out here were not announced. The scientists said an unspecified number of fixed control stations on land and at sea could make use of all known detection methods. These stations should be staffed by experts free to make on-the-spot investigations wherever "unidentified events... might be suspected of being nuclear explosions."

In the equipment suggested for the control stations were artificial satellites to check on nuclear tests at high altitudes. Other equipment would check by electro-magnetic, sound, light and radioactive waves and by recording radioactive particles in air and water.

Iowa City Man Shows National Champ Boar

This boar sold in the National Sale for $1,500. To Bert Broek & Sons, Sioux City, Iowa.

Thomas also had a superior group bred gilt.

In the sale, held in conjunction with the show, 58 prize winning animals sold for an average of $277.16.

Chariton Woman Killed in Wreck

BROOKLYN, Iowa (AP) — Mrs. Edith Beardsley, 74, Chariton, was killed Thursday night in a 2-car collision on U.S. 6 near here.

The Powsheik County coroner said Mrs. Beardsley suffered three broken ribs, a broken ankle and wrist which induced a fatal heart attack.

She was riding in a car driven by her grand daughter. A daughter also was in the car. Neither was hurt.

Earl Ostrander, 57, Rock Island, Ill., driver of the other car, was charged with improper passing. He pleaded innocent in justice of the peace court at Grinnell. He also escaped injury.

Authorities said Ostrander was passing another car at the time of the accident.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two gunmen, one wearing a mailman's cap, bluffed their way into a diamond merchant's office Thursday and robbed it of gems in the firm valued at $100,000 to $150,000.

Raymond Sunshine, 40, branch office manager of Harry Winston, Inc., a New York diamond wholesaler firm, said he unlocked the door because a parcel carried by the bogus mailman was too large to pass through a small receiving window.

The parcel carrier and a confederate who had remained out of sight, pushed their way into the fifth-floor office where Sunshine was alone during the noon hour.

The robbers slugged him with a pistol butt, handcuffed, and gagged him, then forced him to lie on the floor, Sunshine said. Then they emptied the safe of diamonds contained in small chamois bags and a small lockbox.

Week's Workshop For IC Teachers

New teachers in the Iowa City public school system began a 2-day orientation program Thursday which precedes the regular week-long staff workshop which opens Monday for all members of the faculty.

Superintendent of Schools Buford W. Garner said that the workshop is devoted to the improvement of instruction in the system as well as for getting acquainted with new members.

In addition to general staff meetings, the teachers are divided into smaller groups where they discuss problems and new ideas, textbooks, training aids and methods of instruction for their particular levels.

Britain Delivers Military Equipment to Indonesia

There Goes No. 40

ERNIE BANKS OF THE CUBS clouted his 40th home run of the season in the eighth inning Thursday against the Pittsburgh Pirates. He hit another homer and a double earlier in the game as he accounted for all the Cubs' runs in a 5-3 victory. Pirate catcher Bill Hall waits for the pitch that never reached him. —AP Wirephoto.

Yanks Win in Clutch Again; Chicago String Halted at 7

Braves End LA Jinx on 4-0 Win

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees junked Chicago's winning streak at seven games Thursday night, defeating the White Sox 6-3 behind the 6-hit pitching of Bob Turley. The big righthander won his 18th with the help of a 3-run seventh inning. It was only the fourth victory in 12 games for the Yankees, who pushed their American League lead to 1 1/2 games over the second-place White Sox in the opener of a three-game set. The Yankees cracked a tie in the sixth as Tony Kubek singled, stole second and came home on Andy Carey's second RBI single. But they didn't nail it until the seventh, when Norm Siebern's single and a walk to Mickey Mantle chased starter Ray Moore. Chicago ... 100 100 000—3 6 0 New York ... 020 001 30x—6 8 0 Moore, Staley (7), Latman (8) and Lollar; Turley (9) and Howard (L) — Moore. Home run — Chicago, Rivera (9).

A's 7, Senators 4

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hector Lopez, a menace to Washington pitchers all season, blasted a pair of homers and a single as the Kansas City Athletics, with six runs in the first two innings, whipped the Senators, 7-4, Thursday night. Lopez homers brought his season's total to 12. Seven of them have come against Washington. His three-for-three Thursday night gave him 26 hits in 71 trips against the Senators and a .366 average for 1958. He has hit a mere .235 against the other six American League teams. Jack Urban, who has never been beaten by Washington in his year-and-a-half major league career, was credited with his third victory against the Senators this season, and his fifth altogether. Kansas City ... 230 100 000—7 12 0 Washington ... 000 002 020—4 9 0 Urban, Tomaneck (8) and Chiti; Valentini, Griggs (2), Conatable (7), Clevenger (9) and Courtney, W — Urban L — Valentini. Home runs — Kansas City, Lopez 2 (12).

crowd of 10,027, Banks added up 40 home runs for the campaign, 26 of them in Wrigley Field, and boosted his runs batted in to 106. Both marks top the National League, and his homer production leads the majors. He has hit safely through 14 games. It was the sixth game in which the wiry Cub shortstop had hit twice for the circuit. He now is only four short of his 1955 mark of 44—a major league record for a shortstop—and is close to Babe Ruth's pace of 60 homers in 1927. Ruth slammed his 40th on Aug. 22 in his 120th game. Thursday was Banks' 122nd game. Pittsburgh ... 010 000 020—3 3 0 Chicago ... 003 010 01x—5 8 2 Law, Smith (6), Blackburn (8) and Hall; Drabowsky, Hobbie (8) and S. Taylor, W — Drabowsky, L — Law. Home runs — Pittsburgh, Thomas (3); Chicago, Banks 2 (49).

Cards 2, Phils 1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Larry Jackson, one-time star of the St. Louis Cardinal bullpen, continued his late season success as a starter by outpitching Curt Simmons for a 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday night. Jackson yielded 10 hits, five of them in the last two innings but held on to get his 10th victory against 10 defeats. It was his fourth straight complete game. He won three of them. Left-hander Simmons, now 6-12, made the Cardinals scratch hard to uncover the few runs Jackson needed. Successive singles by Stan Musial, and Ken Boyer in the fourth put men on first and third, with none out. Musial was trapped between home and third on Del Ennis' infield grounder. Musial delayed long enough in a rundown to enable Boyer to take third and Ennis second. Boyer then scored as a balk was called on Simmons. Philadelphia ... 000 000 019—1 10 1 St. Louis ... 000 110 00x—2 7 0 Simmons and Hegan; Jackson and Green.

Braves 4, Dodgers 0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lew Burdette pulled the Milwaukee Braves out of a 3-game nose dive by stopping Los Angeles on four hits Thursday night. He also slammed his third Coliseum homer as the Braves won 4-0. Burdette also became the first pitcher to shut out the Dodgers at home this year. He snapped their winning streak at four games. Milwaukee got all its runs in the fourth off left-hander Sandy Koufax. Three of the four were unearned. Hank Aaron, who finished the game with a 400 batting average against the Dodgers, led off the inning with his 27th homer. Duke Snider then muffed Joe Adcock's liner to center field and Adcock scored on Andy Pafko's double. Pafko came in when Burdette slapped his homer over the left field screen. Milwaukee ... 000 400 000—4 9 0 Los Angeles ... 000 000 000—0 4 1 Burdette and Rice; Koufax, Klippstein (5), Labine (9) and Pignatano, L — Koufax. Home runs — Milwaukee, Aaron (27); Burdette (3).

Redlegs 8, Giants 1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Big Don Newcombe, back in winning form, limited the San Francisco Giants to six hits Thursday and led the Cincinnati Redlegs to an 8-1 victory. The 6-foot-4 righthander, winning his first game in a month and his third of the season, gave up only one extra-base hit, Leon Wagner's 420-foot homer in the second inning. Only four Giants were left on base. Alex Grammas' bases-loaded double in the first was the key blow off loser Mike McCormick, San Francisco's young lefty who lasted only two thirds of an inning. Cincinnati ... 410 000 003—8 10 0 San Francisco ... 010 000 000—1 6 2 Newcombe and Bailey; McCormick, G. Jones (1), Gle (9), Johnson (9) and Schmidt; L — McCormick. Home runs — San Francisco, Wagner (8). Before a shrieking kids day

Red Sox 8, Indians 6

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox came through with enough timely hits to offset a display of futility in the clutch Thursday night for an 8-6 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The Red Sox combed four Cleveland pitchers for 15 hits and collected 11 walks, but left 16 runners stranded in the sloppily played contest interrupted by rain for 24 minutes in the seventh inning. Boston slugger Ted Williams led six runners stranded as he fled out with the bases loaded to end both the seventh and eighth innings. Williams hit into a double play, grounded out and walked twice in his other appearances. The record for the most men left on base in a nine-inning game is 20, set by the New York Yankees against the Red Sox in 1956. No less than 13 clubs have left 18 stranded in a regulation contest. Cleveland ... 109 101 002—6 11 1 Boston ... 021 011 03x—8 15 1 Woodeshick, Narjeski (5), Ferrarese (7), Grant (6) and Nixon; Brewer, Wall (9) and White, W — Brewer, L — Woodeshick. Home runs — Cleveland, Power (11); Wertz (3); Jackson (1); Boston — Gernert (17).

Turner Favored Over Redl In Television Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweights Gil Turner and Stefan Redl have one thing in common. They like to throw a lot of punches. So there should be plenty of action tonight when the two clash in the 10-round television fight at Madison Square Garden. 8-5 Favorite Turner, 27-year-old Philadelphia veteran of eight years of pro boxing, has been made the 8-5 choice over his 25-year-old opponent, Redl, Hungarian-born and German-reared, now lives at Passaic, N.J. The chunky immigrant has been fighting for only 26 months but he has compiled a fine 20-1 record. His only defeat was a split decision to Gale Kerwin at the Garden last Feb. 14. He has scored 15 knockouts. Redl, a truck driver and carpenter when he isn't boxing, has won three straight since the loss to Kerwin. 35 Knockouts Turner has a 55-17-2 record including 35 knockouts. He is ranked fifth by Ring Magazine and sixth by the NBA. Husky Gil has fought the best welter and middleweights. Only last September he whipped Virgil Akins, now the welterweight champion. Gil still hopes to get a crack at

Swain Fires 76 To Pace Golf Meet

S. S. Swain, North English, fired a 76 Thursday for the low gross honors in the Iowa Seniors Golf Tournament on the new Finkbine course. R. B. DeLa, Washington, won low net honors with a 79 and a six handicap for 73. In the tournament for men 50 years or over, 141 men teed off. The oldest was Dr. A. S. Holaday, Webster City, 81. Class AA, 75 years and over, low gross winner was Jay E. Anderson, Des Moines with an 87. Class AA low net honors went to Dr. A. W. Clow, Washington, who fired an 89 with a 13 handicap for a 76 total.

Orioles 7, Tigers 6

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gus Triandos clouted his 24th homer Thursday night with two runners on base in a 4-run, seventh-inning rally by the Baltimore Orioles for a 7-6 victory over Detroit in their scrap for fourth place in the American League. The Orioles drew even with Detroit by taking the first of their 3-game series. The Triandos drive over the left-center field fence wound up the scoring. Preceding singles by Bob Boyd and Bob Nieman coupled with a walk set the stage for his winning clout off George Susce, loser of his third game out of seven. Joe Taylor accounted for the initial three runs for the Orioles. He singled behind Jim Busby's double in the first, doubled in another in the third and scored on Susce's wild pitch. Baltimore ... 100 401 000—6 10 0 Detroit ... 102 000 40x—7 10 1 Hoyer, Susce (3), Aguirre (7), Morgan (4) and Wilson; O'Dell, Pappas (5), Beaman, L — Susce. Home run — Baltimore, Triandos (24).

Two Upsets Mark Net Tournament

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Two new combinations, Darlene Hard-Jeanne Arth and Alex Olmedo-Ham Richardson, jolted the tennis world Thursday with surprise victories in the national doubles championship. Playing in only their second tournament as a pair, Miss Hard from Montebello, Calif., and Miss Arth from St. Paul, Minn., turned in their second consecutive upset by ousting third-seeded Australians Mrs. Mary Hawton and Mrs. Thelma Long 6-2, 6-2 in a women's semifinal. Olmedo and Richardson defeated the Aussie tandem of Bob Mark and Rod Laver 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 in a men's quarter-final test at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Iowans Fall Back In JayCee Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Steve Spray of Indianola soared to an 83 Thursday and fell 14 strokes behind the co-leader in the International Jaycee Junior golf tournament. Spray, the Iowa Junior champion, was only four strokes back of the leader after Wednesday's first round of the 72-hole tournament. He now has a 36-hole total of 153, being tied with Barry Meerdink of Muscatine who added a 75 to Wednesday's opening 78. Dave Nelson of Clinton took over the lead from his three fellow Iowans with a 149. He shot a 77 Thursday. John Petersen of Coralville needed 80 strokes Thursday for a 152 total.

Mrs. Johnstone Loses In Quarterfinals, 2-1

DARIEN, Conn. (AP) — Defending champion JoAnne Gunderson of Seattle defeated Mrs. Anne Casey Johnstone of Mason City, 2 and 1 in their quarterfinals match of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf championship. Mrs. Johnstone was defeated by Miss Gunderson last year when the pair met in the finals of the same tournament.

Denmark Cancels Visit By Atomic Sub Skate

COPENHAGEN — Denmark canceled Thursday night the U.S. atomic submarine Skate's scheduled visit here next week. Premier-Foreign Minister Hans C. Hansen said top nuclear physicists in this country felt such a visit would bring a potential risk.

Premier Hansen said the Government decided to cancel the visit after advice from the Danish Atomic Energy Commission.

Skate now is heading southeast through the North Atlantic en route to Bergen, Norway, where she is scheduled to arrive Saturday afternoon.

Skate was the second atom-powered submarine to cross the North Pole under the arctic ice cap.

The first, Nautilus, put into Portland, England, after its transpolar voyage and now is crossing the Atlantic submerged en route to New York — and a ticker tape reception.

Premier Hansen said in an interview that the Danish atomic commission had expressed concern over a public discussion about possible risks which he said had taken place in Britain following the visit of the Nautilus to Portland.

In an official statement issued later Hansen said it was probable that a visit here by the Skate would not in itself represent a danger.

However, he added, "in case of an accident, there would be a risk, and under these circumstances, the government has decided to cancel the visit."

In view of nuclear experts attached to the Danish atomic commission, the power plant in the submarine must be considered a nuclear reactor and thus subject to its security rules.

Under these rules a nuclear reactor must be in an isolated place.

Arabs Let Everyone Off Hook—

Won't Do What They Haven't Done

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The Arab nationalists, by agreeing not to do what they claim they haven't been doing, let everybody off the hook in the United Nations debate on the Middle East.

One of the most encouraging signs is that the Arab countries have ostensibly agreed on something among themselves.

This is despite the possibility that, since Nasser's United Arab Republic claims it has not been conducting a subversive campaign against the Governments of Lebanon and Jordan, it will keep right on not doing it with the same disruptive results.

Not End of Trouble
Nobody expects this to be the end of trouble in the Middle East. But nobody could be happier than the Western allies over the way the recent crisis has simmered down.

First, the Soviet charges of aggression have been spiked by the Arab resolution's failure to endorse them. The Arabs merely propose to create a situation in which British and American troops can get out of Lebanon and Jordan without any recriminations or criticism of what has happened.

Even the date on which they ask the U.N. Secretary General to report on the results of his newly assigned negotiations is fortuitous, since it gives the Allies a week to act after the new president takes over in Lebanon.

Resolves Objection
It resolves the Jordan objection to any attempt to substitute U.N. observer forces for the protection given the crown by British troops. Some well-known personality in Amman to report on any violations of the agreement should prove a strong deterrent against a change of heart by Nasser.

It should be obvious that the great cement which pulled together the Arab League, with Tunisia and Morocco, is the expectation arising from the Eisenhower-Hammarskjold proposals for establishing a cooperative agency under the U.N. for economic development of the area.

Propaganda Failure
All the propaganda the Soviet Union has tried to make about imperialism has failed to dampen the self-interest aroused by these proposals.

One of the most interesting angles now will be to watch Communist maneuvers regarding this program. All logic indicates that the Soviet Union will be forced to cooperate in the U.N. program despite the fact that it will definitely work against her world revolution.

But the Soviet Union has proved time after time that it doesn't feel compelled to react according to logic.

If it is forced to pay its money into a truly stabilizing agency it will be the trick of the decade.

Composer Schumann Dead at 44

MINNEAPOLIS — Composer-conductor Walter Schumann died Thursday after undergoing what University of Minnesota surgeons called an operation for "an unusual heart defect."

Schumann, 44, of Beverly Hills, Calif., became best known when he organized his musical chorus, the Voices of Walter Schumann singers, in 1954.

Doctors said Schumann came to the university hospital for emergency surgery. Details of the heart defect were not disclosed.

Schumann was musical director for the Armed Forces Radio Service during World War II and at different times served as musical arranger on Eddie Cantor's radio program and for orchestra leader Andre Kostelanetz.

He wrote the musical score for several motion pictures.

Iowan Third In Plow Match

HERSHEY — Iowa's Lyle Willhoite, 50, placed third in the contour championship at the national plowing matches here Wednesday.

Willhoite, of Wall Lake in Sac County, scored 356 out of a possible 400 points to finish 18 points behind the winner, Charles L. Stamp, 23, of Rock Stream, N.Y., and a meager 8 points behind the runnerup, Charles W. Holub, 43, of Harrisburg, Pa.

The top winner, a bridegroom of five weeks, said he was pretty excited about winning an opportunity to represent the United States in the world championship contest next year in Northern Ireland.
