

Napoleon Wouldn't Be Surprised By the '58 Paris Fashions

PARIS (AP) — Now you can see what the Paris styles look like. In case you have a feeling you've seen something like these high-waisted fashions before, you're right. And it's the Empire period you're thinking of. Seldom have modern modes taken a page so directly from fashion history. The styles were first shown at fashion shows several weeks ago. But pictures could not be published then. They were held up until now in an effort to prevent pirating of designs.

Napoleon wouldn't have been surprised to have seen Josephine wearing one of these 1958 dresses — except that she didn't show her legs with a knee-length skirt. Paris dressmakers have unanimously pushed the waistline high this season, but they just can't agree on hems. The big sensation of the opening shows was the 5-inch drop which went off like a thunderclap in the Dior salons.

Whether fashion will meekly follow young Yves Saint-Laurent, Dior's 22-year-old designer, back to mid-calf skirts remains the big fashion question of the year. All the other French designers, including the mighty Balenciaga, still trim their hems to the knee. It's going to be hard to persuade the girls who have just got around to reefing up their skirts to turn straight around and let them down again.

Audacity is not confined to short skirts either. Necklines, as one breathless fashion writer reported in a London paper, "have never been worn so low in our lifetime." This dare-devil décolletage is based, Balmain hinted mysteriously, on an "interior device." Other dressmakers must share this secret, for they all went in heavily for the bare bosom look. Black is the season's big favorite. But to lighten the funeral mood there is red, vivid pink, blues and greens, to say nothing of a spate of golden lame materials for formal wear. Even for expensive Paris, it is a superexpensive season, with a spendthrift use of sable trimmings and livings, all-over jeweled embroideries, heavy satins and laces. With the Empire season, the dressmakers seem to have produced another of those coups that endear them to the manufacturers. If you think you can put yourself in style simply by hiking your belt to the top of the ribcage — well, just try it. It takes a special cut, and the skirt must hang from the focal point below the bust. The waistline, you'll notice, is still free and easy — the real waist that is — though nobody mentions sashes this season. There are still more than a few baby doll backs around, and some say Saint-Laurent's new curve line is another variation of his trapeze of last season.

intersection. He said Mr. Flynn was traveling north and Miss Eden west when the two cars collided on the east-west road.

Both cars were hurled into a ditch on the north side of the road.

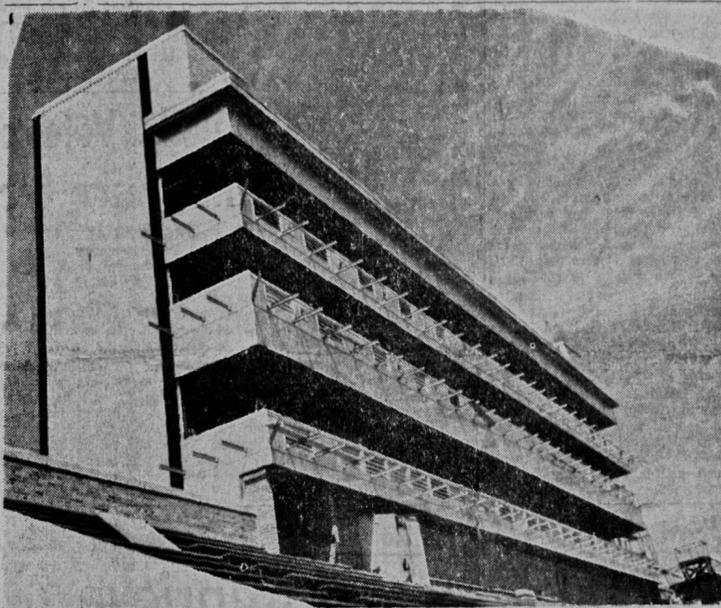

Miss Eden was found on the roadway by passersby who came along soon after the accident. Mr. Flynn was thrown approximately five feet from his car and was found lying in the ditch.

Mr. Flynn was said to have driven to Iowa City over the Sand Road every morning for breakfast. Miss Eden is a waitress in an Iowa City restaurant and was on her way to work when the accident occurred.

It was the 12th traffic fatality of the year in Johnson County.

Reds Shell Island; MIG-Sabre Clash

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Communist artillery roared with a new attack on Quemoy early this morning, the Defense Ministry reported. The barrage followed a slackening in the bombardment of the Nationalist offshore islands Monday.

Defense spokesmen said the new shelling ceased after the Reds fired 68 rounds in 15 minutes. Then at 3 a.m. this morning the Communist guns opened up again. Defense officials said 850 rounds were fired on Little Quemoy and the nearby Tan islets in 20 minutes.

This was the fourth straight day of heavy artillery bombardment of the Quemoy. The Reds turned their artillery on the little island of Tungting for the first time Monday.

Tungting, 17 miles southeast of Nationalist-held Quemoy, was the target Sunday night of what the Nationalists called an attempted Communist invasion. The island is used by the Nationalists as an observation post against Red shipping in and out of the offshore island of Amoy.

U.S. Ships Sail

Eight ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet received orders in Singapore to set sail as the result of developments in the Formosa Strait. Shore parties were ordered back to their ships.

The U.S. Defense Department has alerted the 7th Fleet and other American units in this area to take precautionary defense measures.

The fleet, slated for joint U.S.-Nationalist Chinese maneuvers next month, has been in the Formosa area guarding the island against Communist invasion. The United States is committed by treaty to defend Formosa and the neighboring Pescadore. It could intervene in any Red attack on the Quemoy or the Matsus if President Eisenhower deemed such an assault a danger to the security of Formosa.

Jets Clash

In Monday's action, Red MIG-17s clashed with outnumbered Nationalist jet fighters over the Formosa Strait. The defense ministry said eight Nationalist planes — presumably F86 Sabre Jets — were outnumbered 6-1, but knocked down to MIGs out of the flight of 48. It said all Nationalist planes returned to their base.

The Defense Ministry said Red guns on the mainland and nearby offshore islands Monday lobbed 3,000 shells on Tungting and Quemoy in a bombardment that lasted nearly three hours. The shelling was slight in contrast to the 80,000-shell plastering of Quemoy and Little Quemoy over the weekend. Red batteries on the mainland concentrated on Tungting in the bombardment, the Defense Ministry said, while Quemoy was shelled from the tiny Red islands of Tateng and Hsiaoeng as well as the mainland. The two Red islands are only about 2,300 yards from the Quemoy stronghold.

Fight Eight Minutes

Nationalist air force headquarters at Taipei said the jet dogfight lasted only eight minutes. The Red flight was the biggest yet in any action on the Formosa Strait. Headquarters said one Red jet plunged into the sea about 2,000 feet from the mainland at Weitou. The other crashed west of the Nationalist island of Matsus.

The Defense Ministry said Nationalist warships sank two out of eight Red torpedo boats and may have sunk another in the naval clash that turned back the invasion attempt Sunday night. Five other torpedo boats were damaged, it said.

Two attempts by the Communists to land troops on Tungting were beaten off by the Nationalists in a clash with four gunboats and six landing craft, the ministry said.

Terrorists Gangs Strike France, Algiers

PARIS (AP) — Gangs of terrorist saboteurs struck with the torch and bombs Monday across France and in Algeria in a fanatic outburst of campaigning for Algerian independence.

Nine persons or more were killed in France and 25 in Algeria.

Main targets were big oil storage and railways.

An effort to blow up an ammunition factory near Paris was thwarted.

French authorities reacted quickly with security counter-measures.

Four of the dead were Paris policemen and at least four others were Algerian nationalists in Paris.

In Algiers a grenade thrown at a trolleybus during the Monday evening rush hour wounded 17 persons. A train in the countryside was derailed. Other casualties in Algeria were in the routine give and take of nearly four years of fighting between nationalists and French forces.

Six big oil depots on the French Atlantic and Mediterranean coasts were burned by incendiary attack. Smaller fires broke out in the Paris area.

Electric cables on signal controls along the Orleans Vierzon Railway were cut by saboteurs Sunday afternoon.

In the most spectacular oil fire, at Marseille, 26 firemen were officially reported killed but fire officials later said this information had proven false and all their firemen were counted alive.

Little Rock Delays Opening of School

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday called a special session for Thursday on the Little Rock school segregation crisis but gained additional time for consideration of the involved situation when opening of the school was postponed until Sept. 8.

When the court first announced its rare, off-season term, it did so with the expectation that the schools would open Sept. 2. The question before the court will be whether to allow or forbid a delay in racial integration in the Little Rock schools.

But Monday night the school board postponed the opening of Central High School, as well as other Little Rock schools until Sept. 8.

Remove Pressure

Board President Wayne Upton said it did so in the hope that "this action on our part will remove the pressure of shortage of time for both the Supreme Court of the United States and the Arkansas Legislature."

Negroes sought meanwhile to broaden integration to include a second white Little Rock high school.

The emergency meeting of the nine justices will be only the fifth in four decades.

Violence broke out in the Arkansas capital school a year ago when nine Negroes enrolled at Central High under a federal court order calling for desegregated public schools.

While the postponement of school opening applies to the entire Little Rock public school system, it is intended as a brief measure of pressure in the complicated legal situation at Central. On the eve of a special session of the State Legislature, Gov. Orval Faubus urged the Supreme Court to show patience and grant time in Central's integration crisis.

If it does not, he has prepared legislation to close the schools entirely, to both Negroes and whites. School superintendent Virgil Blossom said the school board had not consulted either Faubus or legislators in the decision to delay the opening of schools.

Blossom told a news conference that two more Negro male students applied during the day for registration at Central High School. A third — a 14-year-old Negro girl — sought admission to hitherto all-white Hall High School.

May Deny Applications

He indicated that their applications will be denied until the Supreme Court decides whether seven other Negroes have the right of immediate reentry to Central High.

The impending Supreme Court decision has sweeping implications. It is expected to provide the first guidance on desegregation methods and timing since the tribunal outlawed racial segregation in public schools more than four years ago and ordered desegregation to proceed with deliberate speed.

It also will have a direct bearing on integration in Norfolk, Va., schools which begin the fall semester Sept. 8.

The Virginia pupil placement board meanwhile denied all Negro applications for transfer to white schools in Arlington and Newport. Some 27 Negroes apparently were involved.

Weather Forecast

Iowa's weather outlook for the next two days calls for more clouds, more showers and more cool temperatures. The forecast for today is widely scattered showers and thunderstorms and highs from 72 to 78.

Hurricane Daisy No Serious Threat to Coastal States

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The season's second hurricane resumed movement late Monday, and at 4 p.m. was reported whirling northward in the Atlantic with its center 250 miles east of Vero Beach on Florida's Gold Coast. A U.S. Weather Bureau advisory said hurricane Daisy would move northwest or north northwest Monday night and should gradually take a more northerly course today. The Weather Bureau said Daisy, with its peak winds at 65 m.p.h., did not appear to offer serious threat to Florida, Georgia or South Carolina coasts, but that all interests in that area and the North Carolina coast should keep in touch with developments.

British Police Hunt Race Riot Ringleaders

LONDON (AP) — Police, working in squads of three, questioned families in Nottingham and London's Notting Hill section Monday in an effort to track down ringleaders of Britain's weekend racial violence. Several persons were picked up for an identification lineup. The trouble erupted Saturday night at Nottingham, an industrial city northwest of London. There 200 white and nonwhites fought with knives, razors, hatchets and clubs in a savage outbreak set off when a white woman was hit in the back as she left a bar. Twelve persons were hospitalized.

AEC Completes Tests Of A-Weapons in Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday it has completed its nuclear weapons tests at Johnston Island in the mid-Pacific and the area is being opened to ship and plane traffic. Johnston Island was the spot where the United States earlier this month exploded at least two missile-mounted atomic weapons as step toward defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles. Some of the high altitude shots were visible in Honolulu 700 miles away. The tests were part of this year's Pacific series, being conducted mainly at Eniwetok and Bikini. The AEC has announced no dates for ending the over-all tests.

8 Indicted for Operating Indiana Gambling Syndicate

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Eight operators of a Terre Haute, Ind., gambling syndicate were indicted by a federal grand jury Monday on five counts of conspiracy and federal excise tax evasion. The indictments were returned before the grand jury completed hearing testimony from more than 160 witnesses in the investigation, now in its third week. The syndicate ran for 10 weeks last fall before U.S. Treasury agents broke it up in a raid Nov. 29. The eight indicted Monday were charged with evading $324,315 in 10 per cent federal excise taxes on gross wagering receipts of $3,263,150.

President Signs Bill Giving Pensions to Presidents, Widows

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill providing pensions for ex-presidents and their widows was signed by President Eisenhower Monday. All former presidents will be entitled to $25,000 a year for life, plus up to $50,000 a year clerical help, free office space and unlimited free mailing privileges. Widows of ex-presidents become eligible for $10,000 a year. Harry S. Truman and Herbert Hoover are the only former presidents living. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson are the widows of former presidents.

Hammarskjold Leaves For Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary Gen. Dag Hammarskjold left by plane for the Middle East Monday night with instructions from the U.N. General Assembly to make arrangements for withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan. He will spend two weeks in the area consulting Arab governments. The 81-nation Assembly, in a unanimous decision Thursday night concluding a 2-week emergency session, asked him to report back by Sept. 30. Hammarskjold and three aides are due in Beirut Tuesday.

Stardust To Power Space Ship

AMSTERDAM (AP) — A space ship flying on stardust was described Monday by an American scientist. It conceivably could approach the speed of light — 183,000 miles a second. It would draw its power from hydrogen gas — stardust — out in space ejected by stars like our sun.

The hydrogen is scarce, but Dr. Bela Karlovitz and Bernard Lewis propose an ingenious system for using it. Dr. Karlovitz, of Combustion and Explosive Research, Pittsburgh, described it to the International Astronautical Federation meeting. The rocket ship shoots out streams of electrons as it speeds through space. This creates a great electromagnetic field, like a doughnut around the ship, stretching out to distances of 500 to 1,000 miles.

The big electromagnetic field runs into a good bit of the hydrogen. The hydrogen atoms are speeded up and kicked backward at higher speed. This reaction pushes the magnetic field forward at higher speed than originally, and the electromagnetic field as it speeded up would, carry the space ship forward at higher speed.

Such a system could cut years from the time needed to reach another star. The nearest star to ours is so distant its light reaches us only after 4 1/2 years of travel. This idea may be far in the future. But then, astronauts only a few years ago were talking imaginatively of shooting satellites into orbit around the earth—and they are up there now.

Eisenhowers Plan Newport Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to vacation at Newport, R.I., again this year. They hope to leave for that resort area Thursday or Friday. How long they stay will depend on the world situation and on whether any domestic crises develop in that country.

It was during a month's vacation at Newport last September that the President suddenly was confronted with the school integration controversy at Little Rock, Ark. It eventually exploded in violence and Eisenhower ordered federal troops into the Arkansas capital to enforce a federal court order for admission of nine Negroes to Central High School. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the duration of Mr. Eisenhower's stay at Newport is indefinite, and that even the President's plans to go still are tentative.

The President's offices will be located again at the U.S. naval base at Coasters Harbor Island, close by the city of Newport. Wilson was convicted of robbing Estelle Barker at her home in rural Perry County the night of July 27, 1957. She told the jury the Negro, who had worked for her as a yardman, choked her, tried to rape her and took $1.95 from her purse.

Although Wilson was unarmed, the prosecutor Blanchard McLeod, said the Negro put Mrs. Barker "in fear of her life." Under the law in Alabama and other states, it is possible, but every effort will be made to correct errors with the next issue.

Curtice, GMC Head, Retires

NEW YORK (AP) — Harlow H. Curtice retired Monday as president and chief executive officer of General Motors Corp., effective Sept. 1. He was succeeded as chief executive officer by Fredric G. Donner, who was elected chairman of the board also.

John F. Gordon was elected president and chief operating officer. The elections were announced by the board of directors meeting in New York.

Curtice, who has headed the giant automobile manufacturing concern since Feb. 2, 1953, reached his concern's normal retirement age of 65 on Aug. 15.

Albert Bradley, chairman of the board since April 2, 1956, also is retiring Sept. 1.

Both Curtice and Bradley will continue as members of the board. The board authorized a modification of the organization structure and designated the chairman of the board as the chief executive officer and a full-time employee of the corporation subject at age 65 to provisions of the retirement plan.

Curtice, who took over direction of the company after Charles E. Wilson resigned to become secretary of defense, started with GM as a bookkeeper in 1914 at the age of 20. He headed the A.C. spark plug and Buick divisions during his career and also served as executive vice president in charge of general staff activities.

Donner, a graduate of the University of Michigan, joined the General Motors financial staff, 32 years ago and became successively assistant treasurer, general assistant treasurer and vice president in charge of the financial staff. Since April 2, 1956, he has served as executive vice president and chairman of the financial policy committee.

Donner has been a member of the board of directors since 1942.

Carnival-Like Crowd Greet USS Nautilus on Homecoming

NEW YORK (AP) — America's bold prowler of the deep, the USS Nautilus, came home Monday a conqueror of underwater speed and geography. And New York thundered a welcome. It was like carnival time on the waterfront as the lithic, atomic-powered submarine returned from her historic mission.

Ship horns and whistles exploded into a cacophony of sound. Fireboats heaved towering fountains skyward. A swarm of helicopters circled overhead. More than 25 vessels, big and small, provided an honor escort. And on the shores of Manhattan,

REAR ADMIRAL Hyman G. Rickover, a pioneer in the development of atomic-powered submarines was welcomed aboard the first atomic submarine Nautilus on its arrival in New York Monday. Rickover was President Eisenhower's personal representative during ceremonies welcoming the sub, which made history with a trip under the North Pole ice cap. Alaska Votes on Statehood; Millionaire Candidates in N.Y.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS New York Democrats and Republicans Monday night topped their political slates for this year's elections with millionaire gubernatorial candidates and neared a decision upon their nominees for the Senate.

Nominating conventions of the two parties made their choices for the governorship race as expected. Gov. Averell Harriman was named candidate for reelection on the Democratic ticket. Nelson A. Rockefeller will enter the lists for the GOP. THE NEW YORKERS set the stage for their senatorial selections Tuesday, while Alaskans at the same time vote on the long debated issue of statehood.

Also, Tuesday, Mississippi Democrats vote to nominate a senator, six congressmen and local officers. As their choice for the Senate, New York Democratic leaders were reported to have just agreed on Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, and the Republicans on Rep. Kenneth B. Keating. Both Wagner and Keating have expressed a reluctance to run for the post and there was still some uncertainty here.

Outside New York, the political situation was this: ALASKA — Most forecasts were that statehood would carry by at least a 2-1 margin. A yes vote on three referendum propositions would mean Alaska would become the 49th state, probably in late December or early January. If any one of the three propositions fails, the statehood act becomes void. Alaskans will vote for the first time for a governor and a secretary of state. MISSISSIPPI — Incumbents Sen. John Stennis and representatives Tom Albertson, James Whitten, Frank Smith and John Bell Williams are unopposed for the Democratic nominations, which are tantamount to election in the state. Rep. Arthur Winstead is opposed by Charles Mosby Jr. and Anee Blakeney. Rep. William Colmer is opposed by Dist. Atty. Boyce Holloman, Wayne T. McClure and William P. Davis. Voters also will decide whether to simplify the process of amending the state's 68-year old constitution.

WORKERS FIND GOLD MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda reports workmen excavating for a new Ministry of Agriculture building have found 22 pounds of gold — coins, medals and nuggets — traced to a pre-revolutionary merchant who lived on the site. The gold went to the Soviet Government. The workers were given municipal decorations for honesty.

Rules Set for Moving 10-Wide Trailers in Iowa

AMES (AP) — Ground rules for movement of oversize mobile homes on Iowa highways were spelled out Monday by the Iowa Highway Commission. The rules, drafted by Safety Engineer Carl F. Schach, place numerous limitations on the so-called "10-wide" trailers. They will not be permitted to move on their own wheels.

In approving movement of the "10-wides" at a special meeting last Friday, the commission said the action was taken as a temporary means of meeting an emergency in the Iowa trailer industry. The special rules provide that: Movement shall be made only on a low-boy truck-tractor semi-trailer combination by licensed vehicles and drivers over routes specified by the State Highway Commission.

Movement may be only between the hours of sunrise and sunset and at speeds not exceeding 35 m.p.h. Special additional permits must be obtained from municipalities and counties for movements on primary and from skyscraper windows, thousands watched and cheered as the valiant sub passed in a 6-mile marine parade.

On its bridge and deck stood the men who had navigated her through a new frontier — penetrating the waters beneath the polar ice cap — and then brought her back across the Atlantic at a record time for submarines.

Warm Welcome Although some European ports had cold-shouldered nuclear-propelled craft and kept them away because of public fear of radiation, there was nothing cold about New York's reception.

"It's terrific," said Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates Jr. "I'm glad to see that New York has given the Nautilus its usual welcome to heroes."

And there were renewed assurances that no possible danger existed. "If the Navy didn't think it was safe, we wouldn't bring it in to our own ports," said Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the main mover behind the building of the Nautilus.

Represents Ike Adm. Rickover, who had been left out of earlier ceremonies in Washington celebrating the Nautilus' achievement, was in the limelight here as President Eisenhower's personal representative.

He boarded the submarine as she entered the harbor. The Nautilus almost hidden by a rain and the sheets of spray from the fireboats, then moved slowly across the harbor and up the Hudson River.

Three Navy destroyers and a flotilla of other honking vessels made a loud, dramatic procession. Off 42nd Street, amid ear-ringing noise from other ships, the Nautilus turned about and glided back down the river and on to a Brooklyn Navy Yard pier, where crewmen debarked into the arms of waiting families and relatives.

The undersea pioneers had been gone for four months. In that time, they had made the first passage beneath the North Pole, and set an Atlantic crossing record of six days, 11 hours and 55 minutes.

"By no means were we wide open all the way," said Cmdr. William R. Anderson, the craft's skipper. "The Nautilus operated as she was designed to operate."

Army Hunts Explorer V

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Army scientists Monday continued their intensive probe into the cause of the latest American failure to orbit an earth satellite. The mighty Jupiter-C launching vehicle performed just as expected when it blasted skyward early Sunday morning carrying Explorer V, a 37 1/2 pound tube.

All four stages functioned smoothly and fired in sequence as the huge rocket blazed into the black Florida sky and angled toward the northeast. But Explorer V became lost after its signal was heard for a full minute. A malfunction apparently occurred just as the satellite was about to achieve orbital direction while spinning along at 18,000 m.p.h.

The latest Army satellite was fired as a backup to Explorer IV which is studying a belt of intense radiation that hovers above the earth starting about 600 miles up.

Death Penalty for $1.95 Robbery—

Wilson May Get Reprieve

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A Negro sentenced to die next week for a robbery, in which an 82-year-old white woman says he tried to rape her, may get a stay of execution.

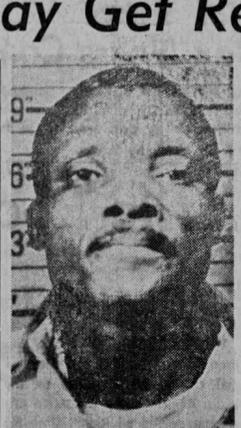

Jimmy Wilson is scheduled to pay with his life Sept. 5 for a robbery in which he got $1.95, but the Alabama Supreme Court, which upheld the verdict, has been asked to reconsider.

A source at the court said Monday that because of the time element, a reprieve probably would be granted even if the tribunal should act before Sept. 5, and turn down the request for a rehearing.

If the request is still pending on Sept. 5, the reprieve will be automatic. The death sentence decreed by the trial jury for the 55-year-old Negro has attracted widespread attention both in the United States and abroad. A spokesman for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People has said the Communists probably will try to make use of it.

Wilson was convicted of robbing Estelle Barker at her home in rural Perry County the night of July 27, 1957. She told the jury the Negro, who had worked for her as a yardman, choked her, tried to rape her and took $1.95 from her purse.

Although Wilson was unarmed, the prosecutor Blanchard McLeod, said the Negro put Mrs. Barker "in fear of her life." Under the law in Alabama and other states,

Jimmy Wilson Sentenced To Die

McLeod said, threatened violence can constitute an element of robbery the same as the use of a weapon.

The Negro had served two prison terms for grand larceny. Alabama law makes no distinction between armed and unarmed robbery. The state supreme court in earlier cases has described the offense as the taking of money or goods of value from another person either by violence or "putting him in fear," with or without a weapon.

Nor does the law, which makes robbery punishable by death, fix any specific amount which must be taken before the offense constitutes robbery.

Elements Add Up The prosecutor also said that although the robbery brought Wilson only $1.95, the amount of money was unimportant because, as he put it, "The elements of the robbery added up to make it a vicious crime."

Juries, which fix the penalty in capital offenses, seldom decree death for robbery in Alabama. Since the electric chair was put into use in 1927, only four men, all Negroes, have been electrocuted for that offense.

The jury that convicted Wilson may have been influenced by Mrs. Barker's story of attempted rape. Perry County, where the offense occurred, has a population ratio of 67 per cent Negro residents and 33 per cent white. It is located in central Alabama about 80 miles northwest of Montgomery.

Wilson is waiting at More Prison Farm to learn his ultimate fate.

No Appeal Both a NAACP spokesman and a court-appointed defense attorney have said there is little likelihood of an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court if the rehearing motion is turned down in the state court.

That would leave the Negro's fate up to Gov. James E. Folsom, who can commute the sentence to life imprisonment. If he did that, Wilson would have to serve 15 years before he would be eligible for parole.

Folsom, besieged by protesting letters and appeals for mercy from across the nation, has refused to discuss the matter while it is still before the state supreme court. If it ultimately reaches his desk, he will grant the Negro a chance to plead for his life at a clemency hearing.

22 Degrees For Creative Work at SUI

A variety of creative works, ranging from a collection of poems to a concerto, were accepted at SUI this month from 22 students who completed the works as part of the requirements for master of fine arts and doctor of philosophy degrees awarded at August Commencement exercises.

Among the major creative works completed by the students were novels, original plays, musical compositions, short stories and scenic and costume designs for plays produced by the University Theatre.

SUI Pioneer in Field
The University was a pioneer among the nation's colleges and universities in the development of a program which offers advanced degrees in fine arts for creative work. The SUI program was started in 1929.

For the person with talent in the fine arts, the SUI program offers the opportunity to achieve a high degree of development and a chance to study under nationally known writing, music, art and dramatic art instructors.

"The Old Men," a novel by John C. Gardner, Jr., Ferguson, Mo., is an example of the type of work completed this summer. It is a complete novel revolving around "man's place in an evil world" and the adjustments man must make to survive in such a world.

Novel to be Published
Clark Griffith, assistant professor of English at SUI, says it is a first rate novel and indicated that it would probably soon be published.

"The Edge of Laughter" is a collection of poems written by Knute R. Skinner, Denver, Colo., and dealing with a multitude of themes. Most of the poems, done over a long period of time, are satirical in intent.

A collection of short stories entitled "The Lost Enchantment" dealing with the theme of the problems faced by youth moving into the world of adulthood was finished by James McNiece, Elizabeth, N.J.

Four Arraigned On Federal Counts

SIoux CITY — The four men involved in a jailbreak at the Woodbury County jail last Saturday were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Wilford Forker Monday on federal charges of jail breaking and conspiracy to break jail.

They waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to the federal grand jury.

Appearing before the commissioner were George A. Mills, 26, of Upper Darby, Pa.; Darwin Coon, 25, of Sioux City; Edward Wallack, 20, of Chicago; and Jerry Silvey, 20, of Long Beach, Calif.

Forker fixed bond at $25,000 each.

Mills and Coon, who were arrested in connection with the $3,000 robbery of a Correctionville, Iowa, bank, last week now are being held on bonds totaling $50,000.

Wallack and Silvey were arrested Aug. 15 at Ashton, Iowa, as being AWOL from the Navy and in possession of a stolen car, now are held on $27,000 bond each.

In Cited Nation — Youngsters Get Bad Break

By ARTHUR EDSON
MONETT, Mo. — This has become a cited nation, which means a lot of youngsters are getting a bad break. They'll never know the fun of growing up in a small town.

This thought comes up every time I return to Monett (Pop. 4,771), a spunky Ozark Mountain town in southwest Missouri where I grew up.

Sure, a city boy or girl has certain advantages.

A youngster raised in Washington, D.C., can, if he chooses, look at the world's greatest pictures in the National Art Gallery, see the great men of this and other countries, listen to democracy in action as some of the world's best, and some of the world's most long-winded, orators perform in the national legislature.

Beyond All Dreams
Any city has attractions beyond the dreams of us former small-town boys.

Yet if the small-town boy is short-changed here, he has other compensations.

Fine Arts Festival Draws Record Crowds for Summer

A primarily "home talent" Fine Arts Festival at SUI drew record-breaking crowds for the summer's program of cultural activities, a look at some of the attendance records reveals.

Although total figures on the attendance are not available, it is estimated that more than 10,000 persons participated in the 20th annual festival. More than 3,200 persons attended three concerts, and 2,400 attended a 4-night sell-out of the Puccini opera, "Madame Butterfly."

The concerts and opera are only two of the five cultural activities presented by the SUI school of fine arts during the 8-week summer session. Three plays at the University Theatre, a lecture series and two art exhibitions were also part of the summer's program.

Earl E. Harper, director of the Iowa Memorial Union and the SUI School of Fine Arts, said that the number of programs distributed indicated that this year's attendance at the art exhibitions was one of the largest to date.

Paintings Shown
One of the art exhibitions, setting the 20th anniversary theme, was a showing in the Union of 43 paintings by 25 well-known artists, most of whom were represented by one contemporary painting and one executed some 20 years ago.

Two of the contemporary works were purchased by the University from special (non-tax) funds and are now in SUI's permanent art collection housed in the Union.

"Flute Soloist" by Russian-born Max Weber was purchased for $7,500, and "E," by the late Marsden Hartley, was purchased for $2,000. The collection now includes over 200 pieces valued at more than $100,000.

Starting around 1940, the permanent collection has grown at the rate of a few new acquisitions each year, generally purchased following summer art shows. Members of the SUI art faculty join Harper in making the purchases from the Union's special funds and gifts.

The Art Department Gallery also showed a comprehensive exhibit of Mexican art which was organized by the University of Michigan Museum staff and leading Mexican galleries and artists. The works ranged from pre-Columbian days to the present and included paintings, prints, sculpture, pottery, and silver and religious works of art.

Ninth Opera
Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," the ninth opera to be performed by SUI students since 1950, was a complete sell-out on the first day of campus ticket sales. Directed by Herald I. Stark, head of the SUI voice department, an 80-member chorus and orchestra performed the opera in Macbride Auditorium. It was produced through the combined efforts of the SUI departments of music and speech and dramatic art.

Over 2,000 persons attended two Union concerts of the All-State Music Camp Orchestra, Chorus and Band. The SUI Symphony Orchestra, with James Dixon conducting, also performed to a capacity audience of 1,200 at the Union.

Three dramatic productions by SUI students were presented at the University Theatre, with each play going to near-capacity crowds three nights. Produced were, "Ah, Wilderness!" by Eugene O'Neill, "The Chalk Garden," by Enid Bagnold, and an original play, "The Unfinished Luisa," by Joseph Rosenberg, a former SUI student from West Orange, N.J.

Varied Programs
The summer session lecture series ranged from a film and talk on the South Pole expedition, "Operation Deep Freeze," by William Hartigan, NBC-TV photographer and correspondent, to "The Conquest of Space," by Willey Ley, rocket expert. Actress Claire Luce presented a program based on an Aldous Huxley essay, "Fashions in Love."

In addition to the festival exhibitions and productions this summer, the Museum of Natural History remained open daily and on weekends with many persons from all parts of the state coming to view exhibits of animals and birds and ethnological materials, including a collection of original Eskimo ivory implements and carvings.

Should U.S. Defend Isles Near Amoy?

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
Renewed Communist bombardment of the Chinese Nationalist islands off Amoy has revived the old argument of whether the United States would, or should or could defend them.

Secretary of State Dulles has resumed the course adopted several years ago, letting the Reds know the United States is very much concerned, but not saying definitely one way or the other.

Ike Made It Clear
President Eisenhower made it clear more than two years ago that Matsu and Quemoy would be defended by the 7th Fleet from any attack which appeared to be directed at them as a preliminary to an attack on Formosa itself. The commitment to defend Formosa is rigid.

Secretary Dulles now says that an invasion of the offshore islands could not be considered a limited attack.

That sounds very much as though such an attack would be considered a thrust at Formosa such as the President had in mind before.

No Specific Attitude
Nevertheless, official statements of attitude toward the offshore islands have never been specific. They lie so near the Red mainland that an all-out attack would be very difficult to stop. As long as they are held by the Nationalists they are outposts against a Red invasion of Formosa.

This makes the American interest more political than military, since Red occupation of the islands would represent a whittling away of anti-Communist positions and raise questions as to the value of American support in the whole Eastern area.

By not making a formal commitment as to their defense, however, the United States retains a choice of action in the light of future circumstances. The islands hardly appear to be worth an all-out war with Red China.

What is happening, then, is that the United States is hoping the Reds will not take risks which might involve the 7th Fleet, but is not committing herself to what might be a losing battle to save them merely for political prestige.

Manly Youth Shows Grand Champion Steer at State Fair

DES MOINES — The Baby Beef Show grand championship at the Iowa State Fair was awarded Monday afternoon for an Angus shown by Tryone Hullinger, 17, of Manly.

The steer named "Toby," weighed 1,103 pounds.

Hullinger's sister Janice won the junior and open classes at the International Livestock Show at Chicago in 1954 with a calf that had not been a high-scorer at the Iowa Fair.

Janice, now an Iowa State College student, was on hand to see her brother win.

"He has worked so hard," she said.

Hullinger's Angus also won first in its breed. The reserve champion Angus was shown by Laurel Lee Mudge of Cleghorn.

The breed champion Hereford shown by Don Miller of Dysart placed as reserve champion in the overall baby beef contest.

Robinson Heads Israel Investment Campaign Here

Appointment of Sam Robinson, 235 Person Ave., Iowa City civic and business leader, as chairman of the local committee for State of Israel Bonds was announced Monday by Mrs. J. Harry Kulakofsky of Omaha, chairman of the bond organization for Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Robinson, long-time head of the United Jewish Appeal in Iowa City, said a community-wide celebration of the 10th anniversary of the independence of Israel will be held Sept. 9 at Agudas Achim Synagogue in Iowa City.

All students, employees and faculty members of SUI are invited to the function, which will feature a speech by a prominent Israeli. The speaker will be announced later this week following termination of an international conference of the Israel Bonds organization in Jerusalem.

"One of the major factors in this dynamic program has been the State of Israel Bonds campaign, which since 1951 has provided more than $340,000,000 in investment capital for every sector of Israel's economy. The Israel Bond drive must raise $75,000,000 this year," Robinson said.

Hawkeyes Open 1958 Drills Monday with 17 Lettermen

9 of 17 Lettered As Backfield Men

By LOU YOUNKIN
Sports Editor

Head football coach Forest Evashevski, his staff and 59 members of the 1958 Iowa Hawkeyes will open drills for the coming season Monday on Press-Radio-TV Day. Evashevski will have only 17 lettermen on hand, however, as he begins his seventh season as coach of the Hawks. And of the 17, nine are backs which indicates the line will have to be strengthened to keep Iowa near the top of the national rankings—a spot they have enjoyed frequently since Evy took over the reins in 1952.

3 Ends Return

At the ends, the loss of All-American Jim Gibbons is cushioned by the return of senior Bob Prescott and juniors Curt Merz and Don Norton. Prescott has played semi-regularly the last two seasons and Norton saw plenty of action last year. Merz, who stands 6' 4" and weighs 220, was outstanding in the Varsity-Alumni game last spring.

From tackle to tackle, however, the loss of All-American Alex Karas, Dick Klein, Frank Rigney, Bob Comings, Don Bowen, Dick Theer Chuck Pierce and Frank Bloomquist will be keenly felt. Evy moved one of his two 1957 centers, gigantic Mac Lewis—6' 6", 280—to right tackle which leaves the capable Bill Lapham to anchor the middle of the Iowa line.

Burroughs Back

John Burroughs, who lettered in 1955 and 1956, is expected to fill the vacancy left by Karas at left tackle. Two-lettermen Gary Grouwinkel and Hugh Drake are top men at the guard positions.

Help for these lettermen in the line is expected to come from ends Dick Livermore, Al Miller and Bill Ringer; tackles Bill Scott, Bob Hain, Charles Lee, Ron Puckett and John Savin; guards Tom DiNardo, Al Dunn, Don Shipanik and Al Sonnenberg; and centers Lloyd Humphreys and Steve Turner.

The Iowa offense will be directed again by quarterback Randy Duncan. A senior, Duncan already owns about every passing record in Iowa history. Olen Treadway saw limited action last year and will be pressed for the No. 2 quarterback slot by Mitchell Olegio, a service returnee sophomore from Gary, Ind.

5 Halfbacks

Evy will have five halfback lettermen returning, Kevin Furlon Bob Jeter, Geno Sessi, Bill Gravel and Ray Jauch. Jauch, however, is the only right halfback among the five and the scholastic future of Gravel is as yet unknown. The Hawks have come up with two outstanding sophomores in the halfback field—John McMeekins and Willie Fleming.

The fullback position seems to be set with Captain John Nocera and junior Don Horn back for duty. Both men are hard runners and better-than-average on defense.

While other men may be added to the squad later, these are the 59 men invited to open the drills Monday. Lettermen are starred. Wants $900,000 If Minneapolis Taken

DENVER—Ed Doherty, president of the American Association, said Monday the Class AAA league would demand at least $900,000 indemnity if Washington, or any other major league baseball club is moved to Minneapolis. "We have two good clubs up there, Minneapolis and St. Paul," Doherty said at league headquarters. "Since the Pacific Coast League was paid $900,000 for San Francisco and Los Angeles, we feel we should get no less for Minneapolis and St. Paul."

American League Attendance Dips As National Shows Rise

NEW YORK—The apathy of American League baseball fans and the enthusiasm of the followers of the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants are reflected in a survey of major league attendance figures.

The survey by The Associated Press in the drawing power at home by the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs.

Senators Show Increase
The figures show a decrease for every American League club except the Washington Senators. The last-place team, which is reported eyeing Minneapolis as a new home for 1959, is only 10,000 ahead of last year's total.

Washington has a home attendance of 389,000—lowest in the majors. The Senators pulled 379,000 customers through the gate in comparable number of home dates in 1957.

Elsewhere, the deficits in the junior circuit range from 2,000 for Detroit and Kansas City to 224,000 for the Chicago White Sox.

Yankees Down 78,000
The New York Yankees, on whom many observers put the finger for the drop in attendance, also have drawn less at Yankee Stadium than a year ago. The Yankees' loss is 78,000 in their first season without the Dodgers and Giants as competitors. Casey Stengel's crew has held a sizable lead in the pennant race for the last three months.

With Baltimore 190,000, Boston 93,000 and Cleveland 77,000 behind their 1957 aggregates, the total American League drop comes to better than 650,000. It's a different story in the National League where the increase is almost 1,200,000.

The Giants, who went over the 1,000,000 mark Sunday and the Dodgers 1,769,000 have a combined increase of almost 85 per cent over their attendance in New York last season.

Pirates, Cubs Up
Pittsburgh, which is headed for its first finish in the first division in 10 years, has boosted its attendance 300,000. The Cubs are up 257,000.

Cincinnati trails its 1957 figure by 271,000. The Philadelphia Phillies have fallen off 124,000. Milwaukee which has paced the senior loop in attendance each year since entering the league in 1953, may finish under the 2,000,000 mark for the first time. The Braves, with a count of 1,537,000, are 155,000 under their pace of a year ago when they set the National League record of 2,215,404.

WGN to Broadcast Iowa-Mich. Game In Midwest Series

The Iowa-Michigan football game Nov. 1 at Ann Arbor, Mich., will be broadcast over radio station WGN, Chicago in a "Midwest Game of the Week" schedule it was announced recently.

The schedule, which is subject to change depending on the progress of the Big Ten championship race, begins Oct. 4 with the Michigan-Michigan State game at East Lansing.

Jack Brickhouse and Vince Lloyd will broadcast the play-by-play with Lloyd also handling the "Football Warmup" show, a 15-minute program preceding game time.

Soviet Athletes Rapped by Pravda
LONDON—Soviet athletes got a sharp rap Monday for falling behind foreign competitors in several branches of sport and for sometimes acting anything but sportingly.

"Some sportsmen display conceit and rudeness, threaten their comrades badly and behave objectionably in everyday life, complained the Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

"Our sportsmen must not be over-confident or rest on their laurels," said a Pravda editorial marking Soviet Physical Culture Day Sunday.

Braves Lead by 8 Games As Spahn Wins No. 17

SAN FRANCISCO—Indestructible Warren Spahn won his 17th game Monday night with a 5-hitter that beat San Francisco 6-1 and increased the Milwaukee Braves' National League lead to eight games.

Spahn, heading for his ninth season as a 20-game winner, baffled the second place Giants. The 37-year-old lefty had a one-hitter until the fifth. He struck out seven and walked five.

A crowd of 21,433 watched the Braves get nine hits off four Giant hurlers in winning their second straight at Seals Stadium.

The Braves tagged loser Mike McCormick and Gordon Jones for five runs in the second on six hits and an error.

Cards 7, Pirates 1
ST. LOUIS—Wally Moon, St. Louis Cardinal left fielder, lashed a 3-run homer Monday night and helped the Red Birds to a 7-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The winning pitcher was Larry Jackson who went the route and gave up eight safeties. The loser was Ron Kline who left for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

The victory gave Jackson an 11-10 record. Kline is even at 12-12. Moon's homer, a clout which cleared the stands, came in the Cards' big third inning. Don Blasingame scored earlier after walking, stealing second and taking third on a Pittsburgh error. He came in on Ken Boyer's double. Cunningham walked and Moon then homered.

BALTIMORE—Al Pilarcik substituted for pitcher Milt Pappas at the plate in the sixth inning and knocked in a run Monday night that won a 6-5 game for the hurler and Baltimore Orioles over the Chicago White Sox.

Pappas received credit for his eighth victory against seven losses although he gave up two runs in the two innings he pitched and allowed the White Sox to tie the score.

George Zuverink, Hoyt Wilhelm and Billy Loes saw to it that the White Sox didn't score again by each pitching a scoreless inning.

The White Sox had tied the score 5-5 in the top of the sixth after trailing 5-1 three innings earlier.

Bob Shaw was on the White Sox mound when the Orioles scored their winning run and absorbed his third loss against five victories.

Dodgers 4, Redlegs 2
LOS ANGELES—Left-hander Johnny Podres pitched his 11th Coliseum victory Monday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers edged Cincinnati, 4-2, before 13,722.

Podres, who has lost eight of nine decisions on the road but dropped only two here, went all the way and gave up eight hits. He walked two and struck out five. The last strikeout was the 500th of his major league career.

The Dodgers, who had a record of 27-20 since the All Star game, have won 10 of their last 13 games. Peter Whisenant socked a 2-run homer for the Redlegs and Gino Cimoli hit one with the bases empty for Los Angeles.

Pete Runnels Leading AL In Comeback

NEW YORK—When the votes for the Comeback-of-the-Year honors in the American League are counted sometime after the close of the season it's a good bet that Pete Runnels of the Boston Red Sox will be among the leaders.

Runnels finished with a .230 batting average last year. Monday he led the junior circuit with a .327 mark. And only five weeks of the regular campaign remain.

Hit in 85 Games
The 30-year-old second baseman has been a model of consistency in 1958. He has hit safely in 85 of the 115 games he's played. Runnels was acquired from Washington last winter for first baseman Norm Zauchin and outfielder Albie Pearson. Zauchin is hitting .238 and Pearson .268 for the Senators.

The final winning percentage is likely to be the lowest in history. In the modern era since 1901, only six American League batting champions have finished under .336.

Cerv Is Second
Bob Cerv of Kansas City is a close second at .323 followed by Harvey Kuenn of Detroit, .321 and Vic Power of Cleveland and Billy Goodman of Chicago, .318 each.

In the National League, the bat has narrowed down to a personal duel between Stan Musial of St. Louis and Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia.

Musial, a 7-time titleholder, batted .500 in last week's games. He increased his average 10 points to .351. Ashburn lost one point to .342.

Aaron Now Third
Hank Aaron of Milwaukee replaced San Francisco's Willie Mays in the No. 3 position. Aaron moved up to .329 while Mays fell to .327.

Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs hit three homers last week, increasing his lead over Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh. Banks has 41 and Thomas 33. In the American League, Mickey Mantle of New York is still on top although he is being closely pursued by Roy Sievers of Washington and Jackie Jensen of Boston.

Mantle's total is 36, Sievers has 34 and Jensen 33.

ELLIOTT SPARKLES AGAIN
BROMMA, Sweden—Herb Elliott, Australian mile marvel, coasted to a 3:41.7 clocking for the 1,500 meters Monday in an outing on a playground track in a Stockholm suburb. The time was equivalent to a 4-minute mile.

It was Elliott's first race since he set a fantastic mile record of 3:54.5 at Dublin two weeks ago.

Antonelli, Ramos Leading In Gopher Ball Derbies

NEW YORK—Every time Robin Roberts gives up a home run he extends his own major league record. The veteran right-hander has yielded 313 since joining the Philadelphia Phillies in 1948 and has led the National League for four consecutive seasons. But this year Roberts has been replaced as the gopher ball champion by lefty Johnny Antonelli of the San Francisco Giants. It's not too late for Roberts to retain his dubious title. But as of now Antonelli is the leader, having given up 28 homers while Roberts has yielded 24.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also disclosed Monday that Pedro Ramos of Washington tops the American League in home runs served with 29. The Senators rightly set a junior circuit record in 1957 by allowing 43.

Antonelli permitted only 19 homers in 212 innings last season. His chief individual tormentors have been Gino Cimoli of the Dodgers, Ramon Mejias of Pittsburgh, Del Crandall and Joe Adcock of the Braves and Pete White-nant of the Redlegs. Each has rapped two homers off his pitches.

Don Newcombe and Harvey Haddix of Cincinnati are right behind the Giant's ace in the gopher ball department with 20. Roberts, who holds the major league record for a single season of 46, is deadlocked for fourth place with Warren Spahn of Milwaukee.

Ramos has been tagged for four of Jackie Jensen's 33 homers. Boston's Jensen also has been a nemesis of Billy Pierce of Chicago, who is runner-up to Ramos in "home runs off." Pierce has yielded 27 gophers and Jensen has three of them.

Early Wynn, also of the White Sox, is third with 22. He followed by Ray Narleski of Cleveland and Jim Bunning of Detroit with 21 apiece.

Yankee Clipper Accepts Position
SAN FRANCISCO—Joe DiMaggio announced Monday acceptance of a job with a manufacturer's representative that will pay him better than his top baseball salary, which has been quoted as $100,000 a year.

DiMaggio, who retired from the New York Yankees after the 1951 season, said he will be executive vice-president of the V. H. Monette Company of Smithfield, Va., which represents 55 manufacturers, mostly food processors, dealing with the armed forces commissary stores and post exchanges.

In the interests of his clients the former outfielder will travel extensively to American bases throughout the world, emphasizing public relations as well as sales.

Roberts has been tagged for four of Jackie Jensen's 33 homers. Boston's Jensen also has been a nemesis of Billy Pierce of Chicago, who is runner-up to Ramos in "home runs off." Pierce has yielded 27 gophers and Jensen has three of them.

Early Wynn, also of the White Sox, is third with 22. He followed by Ray Narleski of Cleveland and Jim Bunning of Detroit with 21 apiece.

Over 1,000 Seek Berths In Golf Meet
NEW YORK—More than 1,000 golfers will attempt today to win berths in the 58th U.S. Amateur Golf Championship. The tournament is scheduled over the Olympic Country Club's Lake Course in San Francisco Sept. 8-13.

The field for the match play elimination will number 200, of which 25 are exempt players. Others must qualify in sectional 36-hole tests.

The total entry was 1,484, the fourth largest turnout in the tournament's history. They will try out in all except three of the qualifying centers today.

Honolulu's tests already have been held. Seattle selected six golfers Monday from 46. Chicago tryouts are slated Wednesday with 99 seeking 11 places.

Exempt players include members of the U.S. Canada and Mexico America's Cup teams, three former champions and three other players who have won other titles.

The U.S. America's Cup players include: U.S.—Billy Joe Patton, Morganton, N.C.; Rex Baxter, Amarillo, Tex.; Charles Coe, Oklahoma City; William Hyndman III, Abington, Pa.; Hillman Robbins, Memphis, Tenn.; Frank Taylor, Pomona, Calif.; Harvie Ward, Jr., San Francisco.

33d Hambletonian To be Wednesday
DUQUOIN, Ill.—Sharpshooter and Emily's Pride, two hot choices, Monday drew the fifth and sixth post positions on the front tier in a field of 14 trotters named for the 33rd Hambletonian.

The premiere trotting stake for 3 year olds will be held Wednesday on the DuQuoin Fairgrounds' fast clay mile oval which horsemen say could produce a two minute mile.

Set by Hoot Mon
This would match the Hambletonian record heat set in 1947 in Goshen, N.Y., by Hoot Mon.

With 14 starters, ten lining up in the front row and the other four tiered behind, the classic will gross its fourth biggest purse of $106,719.24 and carry the second largest winning net of $62,750.92.

The record distribution was in 1953 in Goshen, N.Y., with a purse of $117,117.98 and a winner's jackpot of $63,126.59.

Last Filly to Win
It was won that year by Longshot Helicopter, the ninth and last filly ever to take the sulky sports' Kentucky Derby.

Emily's Pride, trained by 78-year-old Fred Egan and driven by his cohort Flick Nipe, has the best mile time in the field—a 2:00.2-5.

Illinois law forbids pari-mutuel wagering on state fairsgrounds so the Hambletonian, for the second straight year in DuQuoin after becoming a fixture at Goshen, is a betless affair. However, record crowds attend and upwards of 25,000 are expected in the county fair atmosphere Wednesday.
