Truman-Type GOP Upset Predicted

CHICAGO - Mr. Aver Loyd, a Truman-type Republican, predicted Tuesday that the party would lose the presidency to President Kennedy. If so, it would be the greatest upset in history, he said.

Mr. Loyd, a former Illinois governor, said that he was confident that the party would make a comeback in November and regain the presidency.

Loyd, speaking at a meeting of the Progressive Republican movement, said that the party must work hard to win back the support of the working class.

"The overwhelming credit for the victory in 1940 was due to a group of men who were not afraid to take a stand for the principles of the party," he said.

"But if we are unable to win back the support of the working class, we will lose the presidency." he said.
