Far East Still Boils

Mountaineers Climb Peaks In Europe

Iowa Mountaineers now on the second European Mountain Holiday sponsored by the organization climbed the highest peaks of four countries in Europe during August. They hope to conquer the top peaks of France and Yugoslavia before returning to the U.S. the middle of September.

Led by John Ebert, one of the founders of the mountain climbing club, 28 Mountaineers on the 1958 outing have climbed in Germany, France, Italy and Switzerland.

Peaks which the Mountaineers have ascended included the Zugspitze in Bavaria; Germany; the Gross Glockner in Austria; Marmalada, highest peak in the Dolomites, Italy; and the Monte Rosa and the Matterhorn, on the border between Switzerland and Italy.

Some of the group climbed the Zmutt Ridge of the Matterhorn in snow and ice conditions.

While staying at Zermatt, a village in Switzerland, the group also watched the filming of a Walt Disney movie, "Third Man on the Mountain."

The Mountaineers will also visit the World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium. The group includes college professors, hospital workers, journalists, housewives, a farmer, and engineers. Several made the first European trip sponsored by the Mountaineers during the summer of 1954.

Teamster Head Will Agree to New Election

Gibbons Was Elected By 76-70 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold J. Gibbons, whose right to run the Teamsters Union in St. Louis has been challenged before the Senate Rackets Committee, said Wednesday he is willing to have a new election.

But he insisted that seven officers of a Tampa, Fla., local — 1,000 miles away — be permitted to vote in it.

It was these seven votes that put Gibbons into office as president of the St. Louis Teamsters Council last January. The final tally was 76-70.

Witnesses before the Rackets Committee have accused the 47-year-old Gibbons of seizing power through a rigged and crooked election.

Gibbons acknowledged to the senators that conceivably he could have violated the union's constitution by allowing the Tampa delegates, all members of a carnival workers local, to cast their ballots after tabulation of the votes from some 20 locals had shown him trailing E. E. Gene Walla for the presidency.

In view of this admission, Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, asked Gibbons whether he would be willing to give up the seven Tampa votes and let the election go to Walla on a 70-69 count.

"O, no," Gibbons replied, apparently startled by the idea.

"But I'm entirely willing to have a new election," he said. The committee did not ask him whether he planned to call one.

Gibbons might lose some of his authority if he lost a second election but he would still have plenty of titles left. He is, among other things, international vice president of the Teamsters, executive assistant to President James R. Hoffa, secretary-treasurer of the Central Teamsters Council and national director of the warehouse division.

Flood, Former SUI Athlete, Ill With Polio

DES MOINES (AP) — E. M. (Bud) Flood, 31, Des Moines car salesman here and former SUI athlete, was reported in "satisfactory" condition Wednesday night at Iowa Lutheran Hospital suffering from polio.

Flood became ill Sunday and entered the hospital Monday. His doctor said Wednesday night he has diagnosed the illness as polio.

The doctor said Flood has a paralysis in one leg and partial paralysis in the other. Flood's wife reported her husband had taken the full series of Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Flood was an SUI letterman in track and football in the 1940's.

U.S. Again Warns Reds 'Don't Attack'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. foreign policy and defense officials discussed the threat fighting in the Far East Wednesday and one of them again advised Red China against starting trouble in the Formosa Strait.

That word of caution came from Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy, who shortly thereafter went into conference with Secretary of State Dulles, Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and others.

Adm. Roland Smoot, U.S. commander in the Formosa area, also cautioned the Red Chinese against touching off a major attack on the National-held islands off the mainland coast.

McElroy, just back from a trip to Chicago, was called to the high level meeting in Dulles' office, along with Twining and Undersecretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles.

"We discussed the Formosa situation," McElroy told newsmen afterward.

No U.S. Policy Disclosed
He declined to say whether the United States would or would not fight to defend the offshore islands if Red China carries out its threat to invade them.

Dulles' meeting with McElroy came near the close of his third day of intensive study of the explosive situation. Dulles flies today to Newport, R.I., to make a personal report to the vacationing President Eisenhower.

The State Department said in a statement that prior to his report to the President, Dulles invited McElroy, Twining and Quarles to give him "their views on the situation in the Taiwan Formosa area."

There was some speculation that Mr. Eisenhower is considering issuing a new statement on the situation. Dulles was reported working on a possible statement, but McElroy refused to discuss this with newsmen.

International Meeting
Earlier, Dulles held a meeting with representatives of the seven other nations allied with the United States in the Southeast Asia Organization — Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand.

It also was announced Wednesday that Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, Air Force vice chief of staff, plans to visit Formosa. But the Defense Department announcement of his trip made no mention of Red Chinese military operations against the offshore islands. It said he was invited by the Nationalist Defense Ministry.

Lemay will leave today from Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland, flying by jet tanker.

If the Reds carry out their threat, Mr. Eisenhower will be faced with a momentous decision: Should the United States fight?

U.S. Committed by Treaty
The United States is committed by treaty to defend the main Nationalist island of Formosa and the nearby Pescadore. But it is left to Mr. Eisenhower to decide whether this defense requires fighting for Quemoy, Matsu and the smaller islands held by the Nationalists within sight of the Communist-dominated mainland.

McElroy was met at Washington airport on his return from a speaking engagement before the American Legion convention.

Questioned about the Red Chinese threat, McElroy said: "We don't want to be rattling sabers and saying we can lick anybody in the world. That is not in our interest."

"Our interest is not to wage war but to deter. It is my judgment that if the Chinese Communists are wise they will be deterred."

Earlier, Smoot told newsmen on Formosa that U.S. help was on the way to Nationalist China. He gave no details. Neither did McElroy, when questioned.

SIGNS BILL FOR DAMAGES
NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower has signed a bill to pay the estate of A. A. Alexander, former governor of the Virgin Islands, $1,131 for damage to household goods in shipment from the possession to Des Moines.

Ray Back From Russian Meeting

Ernest Ray, assistant professor of physics, and Mrs. Ray have returned to Iowa City after attending an IGY meeting in Moscow and vacationing in the Crimea and Europe.

Ray said he received some information from the Soviets about their satellite equipment which "looks interesting," but it is "not digested yet."

Ray said they "thoroughly enjoyed the visit" and had a pleasant vacation.

The Rays left for Russia July 25 after being invited by the Russian Government to attend the Special Committee for the International Geophysical Year.

Ray presented four papers prepared by the SUJ Physics Department. The papers were on Explorer satellite data, aurora radiation, earth's geomagnetic field, and cosmic radiation.

The conference was from July 30 to Aug. 9.

Party Heads Pledge Honest, Fair Campaign

Then Square Off For Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rival national political party chairmen pledged a fair, honest campaign Wednesday. Then they promptly squared off on whether President Eisenhower is a part time chief executive.

But Paul Butler for the Democrats and Meade Alcorn for the Republicans did bury the political hatchet momentarily — mainly in the skull of Democratic Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas.

The national chairmen appeared together — on a smiling, first name basis — at a news conference conducted by Charles P. Taft, chairman of the four-year-old Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

Fair Party Practices
They sat down and signed a code of fair campaign practices on behalf of themselves and their parties, just as the party chairmen had done previously in 1954 and 1956.

One section of the code condemns "any appeal to prejudices, based on race, creed, or national origin."

Alcorn was asked whether he would classify it as dirty politics if the Democrats say Mr. Eisenhower is a part time president. He replied that "I would say it is untrue," and that the code condemns distortions and falsification of fact.

Butler broke in to say: "We don't view the code as restricting us from continuing to make that charge, with some degree of acceptance by the American people."

Alcorn said he has an answer to that but might hold it off until he and Butler engage in a political debate before the Kansas City Press Club Sept. 12.

No Campaign Prejudices
The two chairmen were asked the possibility of keeping appeals to racial prejudice out of the campaign this year in view of the integration problem.

Alcorn said he wouldn't regard the Republicans as restricted in answering any comments the Democrats might make on civil rights or the attitude of Mr. Eisenhower. Nor, he said, would they be restricted in mentioning the views of Faubus or Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) on racial and civil rights matters.

But the Republican approach, Alcorn said, will not be to reply in kind to the type of statement "we have been accustomed to." Asked to clarify that, Alcorn said he had in mind some of the statements Faubus has made which he said don't contribute to solution of the racial problem.

Anything Faubus says on this issue, Butler put in, is not consistent with the attitude of the Democratic party. The party repudiates the governor's statements, he asserted.

Macmillan Cabinet Promises To End Racial Violence

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan's Cabinet declared Wednesday night the law will be enforced with utmost strictness to crush racial violence now flaring in Britain.

At the same time the Government hinted it is considering curbs on the free flow of immigrants to Britain from the Commonwealth countries. Many of the immigrants are colored.

The statement from No. 10 Downing St., the Prime Minister's residence, followed four straight nights of race rioting in London.

The series of disorders centered around the Notting Hill district. Mobs of white teen-agers have launched violent attacks on colored residents — many of them from the West Indies, Nigeria and other Commonwealth countries.

Heavy rain fell on Notting Hill Wednesday night and helped keep it quiet for the first time since last Friday.

Macmillan conferred with Home Secretary Richard Butler over the issue, which has caused widespread indignation among Britons and an official protest from Ghana. The West African Negro nation charged some of its nationals had been assaulted in the riots.

Integration Proceeds Quietly In Some Southern Schools

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Racial integration went ahead quietly in several southern schools Wednesday while legal maneuvers aimed at blocking this social change continued in segregationist strongholds.

The Norfolk, Va., School Board's plea for a delay in school integration until next year was turned down Wednesday by a U. S. district judge.

But Judge Walter E. Hoffman said he may reconsider if the U.S. Supreme Court grants Little Rock, Ark., a 2½-year delay in school mixing or grants a review of that case. In that event, he said, he would entertain a motion to retransfer 17 Negro children the Norfolk School Board planned to assign to white schools.

The Supreme Court will hear arguments on the Little Rock case Sept. 11.

IN ANOTHER VIRGINIA case, a federal judge was told the applications of six Negroes to attend a white school in Arlington County was turned down because of low achievement.

Dr. Barnard Joy, school board member, told U.S. Dist. Judge Albert V. Bryan that was the reason for rejecting the six. He testified Wednesday at a hearing in Alexandria to determine whether 30 Negroes must be admitted to various white schools in the county, across the river from Washington, D.C.

The Arlington County School Board advised teachers that school openings, already postponed from Thursday to Monday, may be further delayed.

Limited mixing of the races proceeded in a number of other Southern states.

AT BIRMINGHAM, Ala., a milling crowd of jeering white men and teen-agers chased Negroes away from the vicinity of Phillips High School, standing guard against any Negro attempts to enroll.

The crowd swelled to more than 150 and remained at the scene for more than four hours until dispersed by police. A white boy suffered a head injury when he said he was struck by a rock thrown by a Negro youth.

Police arrested three white men who they said refused to move on.

AT GREENSBORO, N.C., a small group displaying a Ku Klux Klan banner and a Confederate flag gathered in front of the Gillespie Park School. When five Negro children arrived a white man carrying a KKK banner followed them a few steps and a bystander heckled them. But the five attended the brief opening session without trouble. Three of the five attended the school last year.

The Federal Government was recruiting deputy U.S. marshals in Arkansas for possible use at Central High School if it is reopened on an integrated basis. Reports of the recruiting came from Batesville, Jonesboro, Conway and Damascus.

IN VAN BUREN, Ark., where white students jeered 13 Negroes entering high school Tuesday, the Negroes went to the white school Wednesday with no show of resistance.

In Charlotte, N.C., two of four Negroes who attended white classes last year entered Wednesday without last year's minor demonstrations. One of the others who attended last year was reassigned to a Negro school when the white school was abandoned and the other quit after being harassed by students.

It was just another school day in Kentucky on the second day of classes with four high schools integrating for the first time.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., police arrested the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro who led the boycott of Montgomery buses by Negroes two years ago. King, taken into custody outside the city hall, accused officers of "trying to break my arm." He said they grabbed him by the collar, choked him and "when they got me to the cell they kicked me in."

The officers said King refused to move when they ordered him and a crowd of Negroes away from the city hall where another Negro integration leader, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, was accusing a Negro of attacking him.

King was held 15 minutes and released on $100 bond. He will be given to hearing on a loitering charge Friday in city court.

Largest Grant to College of Nursing—

SUI Gets $405,325 in Gifts

A total of $405,325 in gifts and grants has been accepted by the finance committee of the State Board of Regents for SUI.

Largest gift was $72,812 from the estate of Mrs. Bertha Shambaugh to establish the Benjamin F. Shambaugh Fund in honor of her husband, Professor Shambaugh, who died in 1940, was head of the Department of Political Science at SUI and superintendent of the State Historical Society for many years. Money from the fund will be used for lectures on government and citizenship.

U.S. Grants $195,360

Grants totaling $195,360 to support six projects in the Colleges of Dentistry and Nursing and the Departments of Zoology and Speech Pathology and Audiology were accepted from the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare (DHEW).

Largest of the DHEW grants — $100,000 — will be used by the College of Nursing in a continuing research project aimed at determining what kinds of nursing care give the most benefit to patients. The latest grant brings to $300,000 the support provided by DHEW for the study, which is now entering its third year.

Three separate DHEW grants, totaling $76,519, will be used by the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology. Of this sum, $61,451 will be used for research on the psychological and social aspects of cleft palate problems and for the evaluation of diagnostic procedures in cleft palate.

The studies will be directed by Professor Duane C. Spristerbach. The remaining $14,868 will be used for teaching and training grants in speech and hearing.

The College of Dentistry received $13,321 from DHEW to study ways of instituting educational methods to train dentists in the use of chair-side assistants. Another DHEW grant — a sum of $5,520 — will go to Professor H. W. Beams of the Department of Zoology for a research project on the structure of cellular matter.

Cancer Society Grant

An institutional grant of $33,000 to the College of Medicine was received from the American Cancer Society. The grant will be used to support a number of cancer research projects.

Charles Tanford, associate professor in the Department of Chemistry, will begin a 3-year basic research study on the "configuration of proteins in solution" with a grant of $31,000 from the National Science Foundation. The study will be similar to research which has been underway for several years in the Department of Chemistry.

$20,000 to Old Gold Fund

A sum of $20,000 was accepted from the Old Gold Development Fund to support nine research projects and other objectives of such a nature that they would not ordinarily be accomplished through state-appropriated funds. The latest amount makes a total of $79,204 given to SUI by alumni during the first two and one-half years of fund operation.

A grant of $20,000 from the Parkinson's Disease Foundation will be used for research under the direction of Dr. Russell Meyers, professor and chairman of the Department of Neurosurgery.

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation has provided $10,000 to be used as a loan fund for students in the graduate program in hospital administration.

Dr. John W. Eckstein, assistant professor of internal medicine, will continue a research program in clinical cardiovascular physiology with a grant of $8,500 from the American Heart Association. He is particularly interested in problems connected with shock and congestive heart failure.

The SUI Alumni Association gave $3,971 to help defray the expenses of the Alumni Records office.

An Iowa Heart Association grant of $2,500 will be used to equip a new cardiologic teaching room at University Hospitals. The room will be used to expand teaching facilities in the field of heart disease.

New equipment for the Danforth Chapel at SUI, including altar pieces, hymnals and replacement of the organ, will be financed with a gift of $2,025 from the Danforth Foundation.

"Pioneering in Educational Television," a manuscript by Professor Edwin B. Kurtz, head of electrical engineering at SUI, will be published with a grant of $1,500 from the Educational Television and Radio Center, Ann Arbor, Mich. In 1953, SUI became the first university to broadcast regularly scheduled sight-sound programs by television and radio.

The Cerro Gordo County Heart Association gave $1,000 to help support research by Dr. William E. Connor, assistant professor of internal medicine, on arteriosclerosis.

Pharmacy Scholarships

Seven scholarships for students in the College of Pharmacy will be provided with a gift of $660 from the Osco Drug Co., Chicago, and $440 each from the Schlegel Drug Stores, Davenport, and the Ford Hopkins Drug Co., Chicago.

The Reed H. Harsook Memorial Fund was established with a gift of $625 from Mrs. Carole E. Harsook, Hyattsville, Md., in honor of her husband. The late Lieutenant Harsook, who died in a plane crash in Italy in February, was a 1953 graduate and a former cheerleader at SUI. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harsook of Des Moines.

The Equitable Life Insurance Co. of Iowa provided $500 to establish a Robertson G. Hunter Scholarship, to be awarded to students from Iowa or the Midwest who are interested in actuarial science. Hunter was an actuary with the Equitable firm for many years and is now retired.

An institutional grant of $500, to help defray the research expenses of a fellowship, was accepted from the Rockefeller Foundation. Holder of the fellowship is Bienvenido Santos, a student from the Philippines who is studying in the writers' workshop at SUI.

The Dr. Frank Roberts Memorial Fund will be established with a $429.71 gift from Mrs. Frank Roberts. The fund will be used for loans to medical students. Dr. Roberts, who died last year, was a 1935 graduate of the College of Medicine.

A gift of $50 was accepted from Dr. Allen M. Ito, Honolulu, Hawaii, for the class of 1929 dentistry scholarship fund. Mary Ruth Bedford, Denver, Colo., gave $5 to the Kate Daum Memorial Fund. The late Dr. Daum was professor and head of nutrition at University Hospitals for many years.

More U.S. Aid Promised

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, senior American commander on Formosa, promised Nationalist China Wednesday that more U.S. help is on the way to meet the Communist siege of their offshore islands.

Adm. Smoot said to say how much more U.S. aid is coming to president Chiang Kai-shek's American-equipped forces or whether it would be men, ships or missiles.

Don't Tip Hand
He said he didn't want to tip his hand to the Chinese Communists, who have been promised Soviet help if they need it.

Even as Smoot spoke to newsmen, Communist shore batteries shelled the big Nationalist hospital on Quemoy and pounded the other Nationalist islands near the mainland for the 12th straight day.

Smoot's remarks appeared at least partly designed to bolster Nationalist morale. He addressed himself directly to Chinese newsmen and, praising the Nationalist leaders, urged patience.

"Your Air Force, Army and Navy have planned and prepared to meet these circumstances," he said.

Smoot refused to say whether his pledges of more aid meant the United States would defend the offshore islands.

No U.S. Commitment
There has been no public U.S. commitment to defend Quemoy and Matsu although the United States is pledged to defend Formosa itself. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles undoubtedly will discuss this when they meet at the President's vacation retreat at Newport, R.I., Thursday.

"We will lick them," Smoot said, "but it takes the combined effort of the spirit of Nationalist China and the help of the United States, which is coming, to overcome this immediate situation which is the interdiction of the offshore island by the Communists."

Earlier, the Nationalist Defense Ministry spokesman, Rear Adm. Liu Hui-tu claimed the Communists had not been able to impose an effective sea blockade of Quemoy.

Liu admitted some supply ships had been turned back by Communist patrol and torpedo boats, but others were getting through and "how many I'm not going to let the enemy know."

Questioned about the Red Chinese threat, McElroy said: "We don't want to be rattling sabers and saying we can lick anybody in the world. That is not in our interest."

Earlier, Smoot told newsmen on Formosa that U.S. help was on the way to Nationalist China. He gave no details. Neither did McElroy, when questioned.

French Cabinet Approves Final Text of Proposed Constitution

PARIS (AP) — The French Cabinet Wednesday officially approved the final text of Premier De Gaulle's proposed constitution for a fifth republic. It will be submitted to a nationwide referendum Sept. 28. The Government met for almost five hours and examined the document article by article. De Gaulle is to present it to the nation with a public address and ceremony today at the Place de la Republique kicking off the referendum campaign.

In general the new constitution would give the presidency greater powers and make several provisions for maintaining cabinet stability.

Iowa Corn Crop Nearly Safe from Frost Damage

DES MOINES (AP) — Unless frost comes earlier than normal, more than 80 per cent of Iowa's 1958 corn crop will be safe from frost damage.

This was the estimate Wednesday of the Iowa Weekly Crop and Weather Bulletin which also said: About 90 per cent of the corn has reached or passed the roasting ear stage. This is about 10 per cent behind the average rate of development.

Warmer weather is needed, especially in northern Iowa, to hasten maturity of the corn. Northwestern and extreme northern Iowa need more rain.

Air Force Plane Missing With 17 Aboard

WEISBADEN, Germany (AP) — U.S. Air Force European headquarters Wednesday night reported a transport plane with 17 persons aboard has been missing on flight from Adana, Turkey.

The Air Force said the C130 Hercules transport took off from Incirlik air base at Adana Tuesday on a study of radio wave propagation. It failed to return to the base Tuesday night.

An intensive search was started after the plane became overdue. The plane is in the 7406th Support Squadron based at Rhine-Main air base at Frankfurt, Germany, and was taking part in an Air Force worldwide radio wave study, the Air Force said.

30 Railroads Will Cut Some Freight Rates

CHICAGO (AP) — About 30 railroads serving eight Midwest states will cut freight rates on iron and steel products Oct. 15, the chairman of the railroads' western trunkline rate committee said Wednesday.

George A. Moeller said the reduction would be about 20 to 33 cents a hundred pounds. Traffic in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Nebraska will be affected, he said.

A railroad spokesman said the move was taken to gain additional revenue and to meet competition from the trucking industry.

U.S. Population To Pass 175 Million Mark Next Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The population of the United States will pass the 175 million mark next month, the Census Bureau reported Wednesday.

The bureau released new estimates placing the population at 174,064,000 on July 1, a gain of 2,868,000 since mid-1957.

A recent slight decline in the rate of population growth, the bureau said, is not expected to prevent the population from reaching 175 million in October. The total will include the armed forces overseas.

Magic, Science Being Used To Solve String of Fires

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Both black magic and modern science were being used Wednesday in an effort to solve or stop forever the mysterious fires that have plagued Calvin Tuck and his family.

Police questioned the 32-year-old

Tuck Tuesday about the strange series of fires which have driven him from three houses. They found packages of seed which the Negro man said had been given him by a voodoo doctor.

Tuck said he and his wife visited the practitioner of occult arts at the urging of friends who insisted someone had put a hex on him.

Meanwhile W. L. Sowell, associate state toxicologist, was brought into the case to make a chemical analysis of objects which have blazed up without apparent cause.

Authorities who have been skeptical of the blazes — suspecting an arsonist — hope the analysis will show whether some combustible chemical had been smeared on the items which caught fire.

There have been 32 mysterious fires in and around three houses occupied by the Tucks beginning last week. Police Lt. Ben Cooley saw a quilt burst into flames when he went to the third house to talk with Tuck. County Commissioner Leslie R. Hutto also has witnessed the weird phenomenon.

SUI Drivers Note: Traffic Clerk's Prayer

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — A clerk at the traffic violations desk at police headquarters here had enough. He posted a sign over the window which read:

The tickets were issued. But not by us. So don't come here. And fume and fuss.

Air Force Test Missile Hits Target

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A fiery Bomarc interceptor missile streaked across the Atlantic Wednesday after reportedly being fired remotely from 1,500 miles away.

The swift Boeing missile — which roars in to "kill" an enemy air target at three times the speed of sound — was launched in another test within the SAGE network, the nation's elaborate air defense system, it was learned.

The 15,000-pound weapon climbed into a thick mass of gray storm clouds off the cape after a technician manning a huge digital computer in Kingston, N.Y., pressed a button.

The Air Force confirmed that a Bomarc was launched, but there were no details.

The SAGE network includes a string of radar stations and computers located at strategic spots throughout the country.

The target was a pilotless B17 drone bomber cruising some 300 miles out along the Atlantic missile range.

Longer Life Span Brings More Health Care Problems

As the average person's life span increases, the problem of providing adequate health care for the aged brings a new responsibility for all community health services.

Writing in the bulletin of the SUI Institute of Gerontology, Leon I. Gintzig, assistant professor of hospital administration, said established health service units must work together to provide medical care for the aged.

"Continued emphasis must be applied in the area of preventive medicine, with major efforts being directed toward eliminating the time gap between discovery of the causes and treatment of sickness in the aged," Dr. Gintzig explained.

Care for the aged can be accomplished many times in the home, he said, pointing out that 90 per cent of people 65 or over live in individual homes. He said at least two-thirds of these people will be happier and better off if they can be treated in the home.

Home care for the aged suffering from long-term illness, however, may place a heavy strain on family relationships, he warns, and suggests the alternative of "foster-home" care, similar to the foster-home care placement for children.

Many aged sick, who need more care and attention than can be provided in the home but who do not need hospitalization, may be treated in nursing homes, which offer transitional care between the hospital and private home.

Community diagnostic clinics are the heart of a health program for the aged, Dr. Gintzig said, explaining that the purpose of the clinic is not only to detect disease but also to provide guidance concerning adjustments to aging.

Although medical care provisions for the aged are now inadequate in both quantity and quality, he concluded, "Trends of general hospitals to set up special units for the aged, stricter regulations for nursing homes and the spread of family care programs in individual homes is helping to alleviate what might become a nationwide health problem."

Gunboat, Trawler Collide At Sea During Fishing War

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — An Icelandic gunboat and the British trawler Burfell collided at sea in the fishing war Wednesday.

Tempers heated up, just as they might in a traffic smash ashore, but there was no repetition of Tuesday's hand-to-hand battles.

"Angry words were exchanged," when Iceland's coast guard gunboat Albert crushed the Burfell's trawling tackle. The British fishermen seized bottles and water hoses to repel boarders. It never came to a fight.

Up sailed the royal navy frigate Eastbourne, still carrying nine Icelandic coastguardsmen plucked from a boarded British trawler Tuesday. Its guns were manned.

The gunboat, which charged that the Burfell caused the collision by swerving suddenly, didn't press the issue.

Within Limit The incident was off the northwest coast within the 12-mile limit

Iceland set up Sept. 1 in an effort to keep foreigners out of fishing grounds traditionally trawled by ships of several North European nations.

A war of nerves raged meanwhile on land.

There were reports that the British trawlers operating inside the zone would leave soon.

Leave Thursday With Icelandic newspapers lowering a verbal boom on the British, an official at the British Embassy said it was his understanding the trawlers and British frigates would be gone Thursday.

He did not say they would leave because the fishing was bad or because they were worried. The Icelandic coast guard said they were worried.

In London, the British Admiralty said it knew of no plans for the trawlers to leave Iceland's 12-mile offshore fishing zone.

Trawlers Choice "It is up to the trawlers to decide if they want to move on to other fishing grounds," a spokesman said. "It is certainly not true they are scheduled to leave."

The British Foreign office said it instructed Ambassador Andrew Graham Gilchrist in Reykjavik to lodge a protest with Iceland's government over the boarding by Icelandic coastguardsmen of the British trawler Northern Foam.

Icelandic newspapers printed reports that the British fishermen have called it quits.

The coast guard said the trawler fishermen were getting tired of fishing in Iceland's waters.

Getting Worried "The British royal navy sailors and officers are having fun in our waters, but the skippers of the trawlers are getting worried," an Icelandic spokesman said.

"These skippers know that some day they may have to shelter in one of our ports, and when they do those who have violated our law will be arrested."

He said Iceland is preparing charges against every trawler inside the 12-mile limit and photographic evidence is being gathered.

Extension Illegal From the first, Britain has claimed that Iceland's unilateral extension of its territorial waters to 12 miles is illegal.

SUI Advisors To Begin Special Training Sept. 15

Some 70 advisors for SUI dormitories will begin a special training course Sept. 15 to prepare for their part in helping SUI students make good adjustments to college life. The day-long training sessions will extend through Sept. 20.

Including both graduate students and some mature undergraduates, the advisors are selected on the basis of personality, vocational goals, and academic achievement. Their training is under the direction of Helen E. Focht, counselor for women, and Dirck Brown, counselor for men.

The dormitory advisors act as referral sources or consultants in finding help for students on any type of problem which may arise, from academic to personal. Each advisor is responsible for specific students, being available to them for advice and checking such matters as health, grades and homesickness.

The dormitory advisors receive payment in rebates on their own room and board in varying amounts, depending on the amount of time they give to the program.

In addition to the week of intensive training before the opening of the fall semester, the student advisors will participate in an in-service training program, attending one meeting a week during the school year.

The advisors work under the joint direction of the University Office of Student Affairs and the Office of Dormitory and Dining Services.

Students who will serve as advisors include the following:

Youth Freed In Shooting Of Friend

DAVENPORT (AP) — Robert Colgan Jr., 19, of Anchorage, Ky., who had been held in the fatal shooting of his friend, was released Wednesday without bond in the custody of his father.

Det. Capt. Elmer Petersen said a lie detector test taken by young Colgan Tuesday bore out his version that the shooting of Robert Walker, 19, of Louisville, Ky., was accidental and that he did not know the gun was loaded.

While Colgan remained with his father, an Anchorage insurance man, final disposition of the case will await the outcome of an inquest, Petersen said. The inquest was called for 2 p.m. today by Coroner Kenneth Froeschle.

Walker was the son of J. Leonard Walker, U.S. district attorney for western Kentucky. He, Colgan and William G. Gordon, 24, were book salesmen. They had been living this summer in a house on an acreage in north Davenport, scene of the shooting.

Walker and Colgan had been life long friends and both were interested in hunting and firearms.

Young Colgan said he and Walker were discussing late Monday night whether a revolver or an automatic pistol could be drawn faster and he did not know the revolver he was using was loaded.

Interviewed before his release young Colgan said, "I had no intention to shoot Bob — I can't understand what happened."

The elder Walker, who returned Wednesday from Louisville, told authorities:

"We've lost one young life. I hope another won't be damaged by this tragedy. I could stand this much better if this was an auto accident but losing Bob under these circumstances is more than I and Mrs. Walker can take."

Colgan said he was stunned by the tragedy but would stick by his son.

The body of young Walker will be returned to Louisville but the father said no funeral arrangements had been made.

Gordon, who was in bed at the time Walker was shot, was questioned Tuesday and released.

State To Check Driver Eye Tests

DES MOINES (AP) — The State Safety Department is undertaking a study to find out whether its drivers license vision tests are fair to Iowa motorists.

State Safety Commissioner Russell Brown said Wednesday the department's vision testing committee feels lighting conditions in some of the license examination stations are inadequate for a satisfactory test.

"This is the kind of thing we want to find out," he said. "We want to give a good test and we want to be fair about it at the same time."

The committee at a meeting Wednesday also decided to study new equipment available for testing eyesight. The machines will be demonstrated at the next meeting of the group Oct. 1.

Slow Stead and Jumping Jockey

CHICAGO (AP) — Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Chinese Nationalist President, said Wednesday her country doesn't need American fighting men or money now to defend the island to Quemoy.

Referring to recent stepped-up shelling of the Nationalist Chinese island off Formosa by Chinese onshore batteries, she said: "The Chinese Reds want to see how far they can go in regard to Quemoy. They will go as far as the free world will let them.

"We can defend Quemoy by ourselves for the time being. We do not need American fighting men or your money. When the Reds see they can't go any further, they'll stop."

Madame Chiang, in Chicago to speak to the American Legion convention Thursday, said at a news conference, "The Chinese Reds are not ready for war now. When they are, no appeasement or giving in will do the free world any good."

Earlier, Madame Chiang told the American Legion auxiliary that Red tyranny is at its sharpest focus in the Taiwan Straits off China.

Mme. Chiang, who has been absent from her Formosa home since May, said: "Through incessant artillery fire and bombardment, the Chinese Reds are trying to cow our spirit and ride rough-shod over the ramparts of the free world.

"If this state of affairs is allowed to continue, and specifically the foreign policy pronouncements of the United States are made to look ridiculous in the eyes of the world, then Communist tyranny will overpower not only the non-Communist areas of Asia, but in time the Western Hemisphere as well."

Storm Ella May Return To Hurricane Strength

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ella, still described as a poorly organized storm, was located in the extreme southeast Gulf of Mexico just west of Cuba Wednesday night.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said in its 8 p.m. (EST) bulletin that Ella was moving west northwest about 10 miles per hour. Its highest winds were estimated at between 40 and 70 m.p.h. in squalls extending out 250 miles to the north and east of the center.

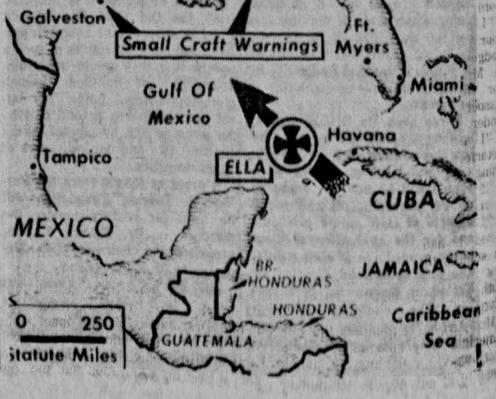

A few squalls were reported still occurring in the Florida keys.

The bulletin said now that Ella is out over the open Gulf it should gradually intensify regaining hurricane force this morning.

The weather bureau said gale warnings displayed south of the greater Miami area through the Florida keys will be lowered later Wednesday.

Storm craft warnings no longer were indicated from Palm Beach southward through the greater Miami area and along the southwest Florida coast from Fort Myers southward, the bulletin said.

Small craft from Galveston to Pensacola were advised to remain in port and interests throughout the northern Gulf of Mexico were advised to watch for further advances.

Reds Hope To Make Moscow Science Capital of World

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

A foreign newsman returned to his post in Moscow after a holiday in his homeland.

"How was the weather?" asked the waiter in his hotel.

"Better than here."

"But we have a Sputnik," the waiter said defensively.

Sputniks were a great morale tonic for the Russian people, who often seem to display a colossal inferiority complex.

They were also a pay-off in Soviet emphasis on science. Seizing the world's imagination, Sputniks focussed attention on Soviet scientific exploits and progress.

The Soviets are secretive about what comes next on any razzle-dazzle scientific stage. It might be a shot for the moon, or the first manned flight into space.

In Name

It's clear the Russians are working hard to make Moscow the science capital of the world, in name if not in actual fact.

One step is inviting a parade of scientific international groups to meet in Moscow, and the invitations have been accepted in the last few years. This summer, top scientists came for sessions of the International Geophysical Year and International Astronomical Union.

Some scientists regard it as a clever move for propaganda.

Moscow can tell the world: Look, the best scientists come here to confer with our scientists, because we are good.

Moscow faces some problems in making the city a world science capital to which visitors will continue to want to come.

Rooms Bugged

Westerners are not happy that their hotel rooms and even their own embassies are bugged with microphones tapping their conversations. Old Moscow hands swear this is so.

And they don't want to be a party to censorship of outgoing news, particularly science news presented by the visitors.

This blew up into an embarrassment for Soviet scientists at the outset of the IGY sessions.

A formal report from Japanese weathermen said Japan got a sharper and quicker rise in radioactive fallout from Soviet nuclear tests than from American. Reason: The radioactive cloud had less distance to travel, so was hotter when it arrived. Their report also blamed Soviet tests for some recent increases in total recorded fallout.

Throttled News

Soviet censorship throttled news correspondents' stories reporting these statements, presented objectively by the Japanese, and by the news accounts.

Foreign correspondents protested to Dr. Sidney Chapman of England, president of the special Committee of IGY.

Dr. Chapman brought up the protest in a formal meeting of the IGY governing bureau. Dr. V.V. Belousov, the Soviet member, appeared stunned. It "was as though he had never considered such a possibility," said one informant.

He swung quickly into action. The Soviet Academy of Sciences took up the matter and later at least some of the accounts were permitted to go through the cable office.

No Horns

Russian students may learn more than science from visiting scientists. They will at least find the visitors haven't got horns.

They will learn something about ways of life in democracies, and freedoms, and research which may go counter to Soviet views.

At the mammoth new Moscow University, guards — usually a trio of women — stand at every entrance, checking identification papers. The student who forgets his papers, we were told, doesn't get into class. Western scientists remark to students not only about such apparent differences in university life, but deeper ones.

There can only be guesses as to what effects these contacts have on students—who are tomorrow's influential Soviet citizens.

Dr. Wallace W. McCrory, professor and head of the department of pediatrics in the SUI College of Medicine, and Dr. Samuel J. Fomon, associate professor of pediatrics, are attending the Ross Pediatrics Research Conference this week at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

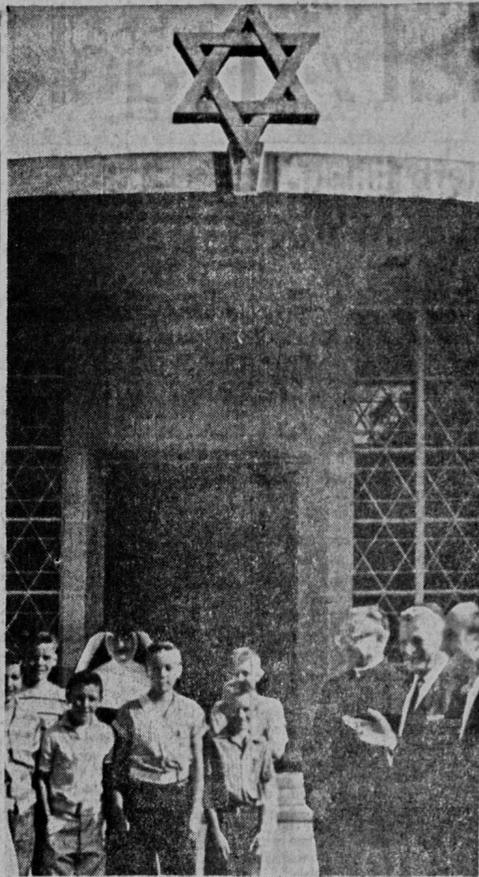

Dr. McCrory will participate in the Symposium on Amino Acid and Protein Metabolism. The symposium is being sponsored by the University of Wisconsin's department of pediatrics and the Ross Laboratories, Columbus, Ohio, to further understanding of the amino acids' role in body building and maintenance.

Herbert Hoover, who has been a former president longer than any man in our history, made a point often overlooked. As a wealthy man, Hoover said he did not need the pension, and would turn it over to charity.

But, he said, "former presidents have deserved, and they have often badly needed, such a pension. No man can make any substantial savings from being a president."

Hoover didn't cite any for instances, but many a former president has had serious financial problems.

Presidential Pension Declared A Step in the Right Direction

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two Black Crows, a vaudeville team of a generation ago, had a routine in which one of them decided not to hire out as U.S. president.

"No future in it," he said gloomily.

The line was delivered for laughs, but like many a laugh-getter, it was also true.

After all these years, the country still hasn't found a satisfactory answer to this question: What should we do with our former president?

Only in one of Congress' final gasps of this session did it even make much of an attempt to find a solution. Congress voted, and bill that would give each president President Eisenhower signed, a $25,000-a-year pension, plus money for a clerical staff.

One Point Overlooked
Herbert Hoover, who has been a former president longer than any man in our history, made a point often overlooked. As a wealthy man, Hoover said he did not need the pension, and would turn it over to charity.

But, he said, "former presidents have deserved, and they have often badly needed, such a pension. No man can make any substantial savings from being a president."

Hoover didn't cite any for instances, but many a former president has had serious financial problems.

The most pitiful was U. S. Grant. Unfortunate in business ventures, dying of cancer. Grant wrote his memoirs to satisfy his creditors. It was a grim race, and Grant barely won. He finished four days before his death.

The most surprising was Thomas Jefferson. Despite the splendor of Monticello, or possibly because of it, Jefferson was in constant fiscal trouble, selling his beloved library, dreaming of a lottery that would make his old age secure.

Or take the description of former President James Monroe: "A stooped old man, clothed in a shiny suit and battered beaver hat, giving every evidence in his facial expression of deep-seated unhappiness."

Or these words of Andrew Jackson: "Poverty stares us in the face."

Well, pensions will take care of situations like that, but we still have no answer as to what is a proper role for a former president.

Both our living ex-presidents have been active, alert men. Hoover and Harry S. Truman have written articles and books, made speeches, kept up a voluminous correspondence; and, in Hoover's case served in various governmental advisory posts.

Other former presidents have followed other pursuits, all the way from William Howard Taft, who became chief justice; to Monroe, who for a time was a justice of the peace.

Jewish Group Leader Named For SUI

Louis M. Sanker, new director of the Hillel Foundation at SUI will be introduced to the Iowa City Jewish community Tuesday night (Sept. 9) at the city-wide celebration of the State of Israel's 10th anniversary of independence.

Sanker also will serve as spiritual leader of Agudas Achim synagogue, site of the Tuesday meeting under the auspices of the Greater Iowa City Committee for State of Israel Bonds. Sam L. Robinson, local communal leader, is chairman of the committee.

Hillel, sponsored by B'nai B'rith, international Jewish service organization, provides religious service for students at SUI and more than 100 other colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Sanker comes here from a similar post at the University of Georgia. He has served with Hillel since 1953, after being rabbi of the Dover Jewish Center in Delaware.

Born in England, he received his Ph.D. from the University of London. A veteran of World War II, Dr. Sanker was the senior Royal Air Force chaplain during the 1939-45 struggle.

He was active in the Jewish community of England, serving as senior rabbi of Leeds, England. Mrs. Sanker accompanied him on his move to Iowa City from Athens.

Principal speaker at the Sept. 9 meeting will be Arieh L. Plotkin of Israel, chief economist of the Israeli consulate in New York City.

Gerald Schwartz, regional manager for State of Israel Bonds in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota, also will speak at the function. He is president of the B'nai B'rith weekly luncheon club in Omaha and past president of the North Dade Zionist District in Florida.

Persons attending the meeting will stay at Hillcrest, men's dormitory. Scientific sessions will be held in the Medical Laboratories building, Robert L. Dryer, associate professor of biochemistry at SUI and coordinator of the program, said.

A highlight of a banquet scheduled for Friday night will be the presentation of the Bischoff Award, given annually by the association to a member for "outstanding achievement" in the field of clinical chemistry.

Talking Game May Develop Into Full Battle in China

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The United States and Red China are rapidly talking themselves into a toe-to-toe position over some little islands which are a matter of prestige rather than military importance.

The whole thing has developed in rather strange fashion.

The Reds have always talked, as Chiang Kai-shek talked before them, of bringing all the islands, including the Pescadores and Formosa, back into China.

They would like to destroy military installations which help interdict important ports. But how much shipping would brave the Nationalist gunboats in Formosa Strait, even without the guns on Quemoy and Matsu, is an open question.

The Nationalist garrison on Quemoy totaled about 50,000 men before the reinforcements which may have added about 10,000. There may be 15,000 more on Matsu. The buildup has not been as large as reports in Washington have indicated. The overwhelming Nationalist strength still is on Formosa under the policy of keeping a strong counterrevolutionary force in being.

But the Reds have marched so far up the hill and become so active that well-informed Chinese in America fear they cannot march back down again.

On the other side of the coin, the United States, in statements by Secretary Dulles and President Eisenhower, by Army Secretary Brucker and the U.S. commander on Formosa, Adm. Smoot, has been emphasizing the importance of the islands to the defense of Formosa.

They have done everything except say outright that the United States will fight with the Nationalists to defend the offshore islands the same as Formosa. Some new statement is expected any time.

Short of an outright promise to fight, the Nationalists would very much like to have more planes, and to be turned loose against the mainland installations from which the Reds threaten air attack. Up to now the Nationalist fliers, despite some Eisenhower talk a few years ago about "unleashing" Chiang Kai-shek, have been restricted to dropping pamphlets and communicating with anti-Communist guerrillas on the mainland.

Animal Love Discussed—

Science Is for Mice, Monks

By GEORGE DIXON

WASHINGTON — I was informed that the nation's leading psychologists were at the Stalter-Hilton talking about love. Well, you know how I am about the tender passion. Lover Boy Dixon, they used to call me in Moose Jaw. So I beat it down to the hotel, all agog, and grabbed the first person I saw wearing a badge.

"Where is this love science?" I panted. "I have a couple of problems I think should be approached from the psychological angle."

"I am not sure they can take your case today," replied the badge-wearer, who turned out to be Mr. Michael Amrine, publicist for the American Psychological Association. "You see, the subject under discussion is mother love."

"I am all for mother love," I retorted hotly. "I think it is a fine thing, especially for mothers."

"But," said Mr. Amrine, "this is mother love for monkeys."

"I might have known it," I muttered, dashed no end. "Everything in science these days is for mice and monkeys. What's the matter with you psychologists; have you given up people?"

Mr. Amrine explained that the American Psychological Association, which is holding its annual meeting in our psycho community, is concerned with whether love can be studied scientifically — through experiments. I asked him how else you would get to know about love, but he said he feared we might be talking about two different things.

He said that the psychologists — who are gathered here to the number of 7,000; each with his psyche — were experimenting with monkeys and had discovered that an infant simian, deprived of its natural mother, will become attached to a substitute "mother" made of foam rubber and terry cloth.

A paper on this subject was delivered by Dr. Harry F. Harlow, of the University of Wisconsin, retiring as president of the APA. Speaking on behalf of the dummy mother, he said:

"It is our opinion that we engineered a very superior monkey mother, even though this position is not held universally by the monkey fathers."

Well, I have no machinery for conducting a public opinion poll of monkey fathers, so I took Dr. Harlow's word for it — and myself to another seminar. In an adjoining room I was fortunate enough to find Drs. James V. McConnell, Allen L. Jacobson, and Daniel P. Kimble, of the University of Michigan, answering a question that has been bothering me for years. They said if you cut a worm in half, both ends will think.

This is invaluable information to possess, because you may be down to half a worm some day and be afraid you have the untimely end. Consequently you might blow a golden opportunity to discuss the major issues of the day with it.

For people who don't cut worms in half — if there be any — the psychologists had an interesting seminar on the convivial habits of lady rats. They said that rats who get loaded on alcohol do not make the best mothers. A paper, succinctly entitled, "The Effects of Prenatal Alcoholism upon Motivation, Emotionality, and Learning in the Rat," was delivered by Dr. Nicholas M. Vincent, of Jacksonville (Fla.) University, who summed up the findings as follows:

"The rats from mothers who had not received alcohol were significantly superior in learning to run a maze. They were quicker, made fewer errors and fewer false steps. Rats whose mothers received a small amount of alcohol daily were less emotional than normal rats, and those whose mothers had received quite a bit of alcohol were more emotional than normal offspring."

I suppose if the psychologists want to waste good liquor on rats, that is their business, and all I will say is "Whither are we drifting?" But I sometimes wish our scientific researchers would get back to humans. People have almost as many emotional problems as varmints.

Iowa Works on Aerial Attack

Little Contact As Hawkeyes Dodge Rains

By LOU YOUNKIN
Sports Editor

Iowa's quarterbacks filled the practice field with flying footballs Wednesday morning on the second day of practice for the 1958 season.

Des Moines senior Randy Duncan, Gary, Ind. sophomore Mitchell Ogio, Muskogee, Okla. senior Olen Treadway and Chicago sophomore Mike Lewis were the hurlers as they quarterbacked the first four teams respectively. All four hit their receivers consistently as most of the morning session was confined to passing.

Missed the Rains

The Hawkeyes were off the field when the three rains hit Iowa City. The second rain, which began about 1 p. m., stopped just before the squad took the field for the afternoon session.

The field was not muddy as the rain seemed to settle the area and the only noticeable effect it had was to make the practice field very warm. As one bystander said, "There will be 500 pounds of beef left out here this afternoon."

The afternoon drills saw head coach Forest Evashevski break his 60-man squad into four elevens and work them on light contact offense and defense with the offense limited almost entirely to running plays. The only changes in the lineups of the first two teams were second team guards, Junior Al Sonnenberg, Collinsville, Ill., and junior Don Shipanik, Chicago, replaced Tom DiNardo and Gerry Novack for the Wednesday practices.

Alternate Plays

Near the end of the day, the first and second teams alternated plays against the reserves. Mixing up their running and passing attacks, they moved the ball well against the subs with Duncan and Ogio hitting on passes and Ray Jauch and Bob Jeter making yardage on the rushing route. Some tackling was allowed for the first time.

Each practice session lasted approximately two hours as Evashevski and his staff work to prepare the Hawkeyes for their opening game Sept. 27 here against Texas Christian.

The Iowa players kept cool heads Wednesday though — whenever they got a break they raided the ice bucket. Some of the ice was for their parched mouths and the rest was stuffed into their helmets.

2 '57 Hawkeyes To Aid Freshmen

Mel Knotts, Burlington and Jon Janda, Cedar Rapids have been named assistant freshman football coaches at Iowa. The announcement was made this week by Paul Brechler, athletic director.

Knotts and Janda will join 1957 Iowa teammate Bill Hoppel as frosh coaches. Hoppel, also from Cedar Rapids, was named head freshman coach last spring, and with his two assistants, graduated in June.

1951 Model and Two 58's

BILL REICHARDT, left, former Iowa fullback star was present during first day of practice for the 1958 Hawkeyes and spent a few minutes talking to two of the present-day Iowa fullbacks — captain John Nocera, Youngstown, O, center, and junior Don Horn, Detroit, Mich. Reichardt was an All Big Ten selection in 1950 and 1951 and won the Big Ten Most Valuable Player award in 1951. He holds the Iowa rushing record of 737 yards gained and most rushes in a season with 178 — both set in 1951. —Daily Iowan Photo.

Berra's 3-Run Homer in 9th Hands Red Sox 8-5 Defeat

Magic No. Now 10 As Mantle Hits His 39th Homer

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra spoiled Boston's strategy by blasting a 3-run homer off lefty Leo Kiely in the ninth Wednesday that gave the New York Yankees an 8-5 victory over the Red Sox.

Berra's 22nd home run scored Enos Slaughter and Mickey Mantle, who hit consecutive singles off righthander Murray Wall with one out. Kiely relieved Wall at this point and Berra tagged an inside pitch deep into the right field seats.

The triumph reduced New York's pennant-clinching number to 10.

The Yanks, helped by Mickey Mantle's 39th home run, had to come from behind to pick up their third success in the 4-game series.

Ryne Duren, who hurled two hitless relief innings and struck out the last four batters, was the winning pitcher.

New York: 012 000 023—2 13

Orioles 4, Senators 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Run-scoring washings in the ninth inning by pinch-hitter Bob Hale and Bob Boyd broke up a pitching duel between Arnold Portocarrero and Vito Valentini and gave the Baltimore Orioles a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators Wednesday night.

Hale's hit, which broke a 2-2 tie, was the third in four pinch-hitting appearances since he joined the Orioles from their Louisville American Association farm team in time for this series. It produced his third RBI.

Boyd's RBI proved to be a big one because the Senators bounced back for one of their own in the last half of the ninth on errors by Brooks Robinson and Al Pilarcik, and Ken Aspromonte's pinch single.

A's 6, Indians 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bob Cerv and Hal Smith homered for two of the Kansas City Athletics' 11 hits Wednesday, and the A's won 6-2, snapping a 4-game Cleveland Indian victory string.

Ray Herbert breezed to his fifth victory limiting the Tribe to five hits, three in the first inning. Larry Doby's homer in the first following Mickey Vernon's double gave Cleveland a short-lived 2-run lead. A first-inning single by Rocky Colavito and Minnie Minoos's double in the fourth and single in the sixth were the only other hits off Herbert.

Kansas City tied the game in the third on singles by Herbert and Hector Lopez and Bill Tuttle's double.

Bob Cerv slammed his 31st home run of the season during a 4-run rally in the fifth inning.

ChiSox 1, Tigers 0

DETROIT (AP) — Frank Lary pitched no-hit ball for six innings but the Chicago White Sox made their only two hits good for a seventh inning run and a 1-0 triumph over the Detroit Tigers Wednesday night.

Dick Donovan bested the Detroit righthander in a pitching duel witnessed by 13,303.

Frequently in trouble, Donovan yielded only five hits — three of them doubles — and squared his record at 12-12.

The second-place White Sox did not get a base hit until Billy Goodman blooped a one-out single to left field in the seventh.

Chicago: 000 000 100—1 2 1
Detroit: 000 000 000—0 5 0

Dodgers 5, Giants 3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Duke Snider's ninth inning homer produced the deciding runs Wednesday night as Los Angeles made it two in a row over San Francisco for the first time this season. The score was 5-3.

Snider had a conference with Manager Walt Alton before going to bat and attempted to bunt twice before slicing one of Alan Worthington's deliveries over the left field screen. It was Snider's 13th homer of the year.

Sandy Koufax came on in relief for the Dodgers in the third and finished the game, picking up his 10th victory. He has lost nine. Koufax struck out six, walked only two and surrendered just two hits.

Worthington suffered his seventh defeat in 18 decisions.

Braves 11, Phils 5

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Adcock pounded a 3-run homer off a sign atop the left-field stands Wednesday night, leading Milwaukee to an 11-5 victory over Philadelphia and moving the Braves a step closer to their second National League pennant. Six of Milwaukee's runs were scored in an eighth inning spurge helped by Phil Repulski.

Rip Repulski hit a grand slammer for the Phils in the ninth.

Until the fateful eighth the last-place Phils tormented Milwaukee lefthander Warren Spahn with seven scattered hits, scoring one and leaving nine runners stranded.

But the Braves' star hurler worked out of his troubles — the Phils loaded the bases in the seventh and left two on in the first and fourth — and sewed up his 18th victory against 10 defeats.

Redlegs 7, Pirates 4

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs erupted for three runs in the seventh inning Wednesday night for a 7-4 victory over Pittsburgh which dropped the Pirates nine full games behind Milwaukee's National League leaders.

George Crowe's single drove in Cincinnati's tie-breaking run in the seventh and pinch-hitter Don Newcombe singled with the bases loaded to drive in two more tallies.

Earlier, two errors by Frank Thomas had helped the Redlegs keep pace with the Pirates in the see-saw game that dragged out for three hours.

Cards 9, Cubs 7

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Brosnan, traded to the Cardinals by the Cubs last May, turned his first appearance against his former teammates into his 10th victory Wednesday as St. Louis leveled Chicago 9-7 in 12 innings.

Brosnan, swapped for third baseman Alvin Dark, yielded four hits, pitching the final four runless innings to give St. Louis its 12th victory in 19 games against Chicago.

Joe Cunningham was the Cardinal's hitting hero, delivering a 2-out, 2-on triple in the third overtime inning to decide the game. It was Cunningham's fourth hit of the game.

Curt Flood singled with two out to set the stage for the winning rally, and went to second on a passed ball. Ken Boyer was purposely passed. Cunningham then tripled, scoring Flood and Boyer.

Herb Elliott Runs Mile In 3:55.4

LONDON (AP) — Australian marvel Herb Elliott ran the mile in 3 minutes, 55.4 seconds Wednesday, only nine-tenths of a second slower than the world record he set less than month ago.

The lanky, 20-year-old clerk sprinted the last quarter-mile in a spectacular 55.6 seconds to beat England's Brian Hewson by about 30 yards.

Hewson, the European 1,500-meter champion, was timed in 3:58.9 as the first five finishers did four minutes or better. Poland's Zbigniew Orywal was third in 3:59.7, England's Derek Ibbotson fourth in four minutes flat and Mike Blagrove of Britain fifth, also in four minutes.

Stefan Lewandowski of Poland was sixth in 4:01.1, Graham Everett of Britain seventh in 4:03.8 and eighth and last was Mike Berrisford of Britain in 4:05.3. Keith Marsden former Cambridge University miler, led through the first half-mile but quickly gave up to Elliott and Hewson. No time was taken for Marsden and he was not considered an official finisher.

It was the second time Elliott has pushed four other men to 4-minute clockings or better.

In unrelenting his amazing 3:54.5 mile at Dublin, Ireland, Aug. 6, he was followed by four men and a lady pedestrian at 1st Ave. West and 6th Street in Cedar Rapids, please call Cedar Rapids EM-5-4091. If out of town call collect.

A crowd of 45,000 in White City Stadium saw Elliott run his tenth mile under four minutes. And he did it in a light rain.
