Federal-Local Little Rock Integration Plan Proposed

Would Take Sting From Intervention

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The federal government Tuesday suggested a cooperative federal-local plan for preserving order at Little Rock, Ark., in event the U.S. Supreme Court denies delay in school integration there.

The plan which emphasizes cooperation between local and federal authorities within limits of their respective responsibilities, was seen as a move to take the sting out of claimed federal intervention in state affairs.

It involves use of injunction proceedings against those opposing integration by unlawful acts. A letter to Little Rock city and school officials from Atty. Gen. Rogers said the primary duty for maintaining peace rested with state authorities.

"Will Be Helpful"

But Rogers said the U.S. marshal's staff at Little Rock has been enlarged and the marshal and his deputies would function "in a way which will be helpful to you."

He expressed the hope effective use of city and state police, along with cooperation by the Justice Department, could prevent mob violence and disorder.

Rogers did not try to anticipate action the Supreme Court may take after it hears arguments on the Little Rock school case Thursday. The high court will review an Arkansas District Court order postponing integration at Central High School 2.5 years.

The white student boycott of the Van Buren, Ark., high school ended Tuesday but a student spokesman said the boycott would be resumed if Negroes returned to class. Thirteen Negroes enrolled at the school have stayed away since last Thursday after the boycotters threatened to keep them out by force.

College Integrates

Another segregation barrier fell when Louisiana State University's new commuter's college at New Orleans registered two Negro students Tuesday (see picture). A federal judge Monday ordered the college to abandon segregation.

Federal Judge John Paul Tuesday ordered 10 to 24 Negro applicants admitted to white elementary schools in Charlottesville, Va., and two of nine Negroes admitted to the city's high school. The school board contended that most of the Negro applicants were below the attainment levels of the schools to which they asked to transfer.

At Owensboro, Ky., U.S. District Judge Henry Brooks ordered U.S. marshals to be present Wednesday morning at an integrated school in Madisonville. The judge said he acted because of reports of racial friction at the Pride Avenue elementary school, which was integrated this year.

Places Closing

The Warren County High School at Front Royal, Va., faces automatic closing under Virginia law, if not granted a stay in a federal order to admit 22 Negroes. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond said in Richmond. The state will ask the U.S. 4th Circuit Court at Baltimore for such a stay Thursday.

Efforts of Clennon King, Negro minister in Gulfport, Miss., to break the color barrier in schools there, led him on a campaign of fasting and prayer. He announced he would remain in his church until a Negro family offers to enter a child in a white school. He had planned to enter one of his own five children but his wife took them to her home in Woodbine, Ga., after receiving numerous telephone threats.

Army Will Ask 11,000 Draftees for November

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will ask for 11,000 draftees during November.

This is the same monthly draft quota as for September and October. As usual, the Navy Marine Corps and Air Force made no requests to Selective Service.

The November call will bring the total to 2,385,432. The highest for this year was February through May, with calls of 13,000 each month.

Twelve Reported Killed in Alaska Airplane Crash

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An Air Force C47 transport plane carrying 19 persons crashed and burned on takeoff at nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base Tuesday. The Air Force said 12 of those aboard died. Witnesses said the twin-engine craft had reached an altitude of about 800 feet when it veered to the right and dropped to the ground, exploding into flames on impact.

The plane, on a routine courier mission to remote military outposts in this huge northern territory, was equipped with combination wheels and ski type landing gear.

The names of the dead were not available.

Icy Stare at Integration

ONE OF THE FIRST TWO NEGRO students to register at the new Louisiana State University in New Orleans, Josephine Eli, 17, drew stares as she waited in line among white students during registration process Tuesday. A federal court injunction issued Monday forbid the University to continue a policy of not registering Negro students. The Eli girl and one other student registered Tuesday while the remainder of some two dozen Negroes appearing Tuesday morning returned home to await the day for their places in an alphabetical system. Registration was without incident. —AP Wirephoto.

Garner Will Get School Plans Monday

Bids To Be Let In January

More detailed plans and drawings for the new Iowa City junior high school and rehabilitation of the present Junior High are expected to be presented to the Iowa City Board of Education on Monday.

Buford Garner, superintendent of schools, told the Board Tuesday night that Lewis C. Kingscott, architectural firm from Davenport, would be in his office Monday to continue the discussion of plans so that bids on the two projects in the $1,448,000 bond issue could be let in January.

Ready in 1960

Actual construction of the new $1,268,000 junior high school is not expected to begin until March. The building is scheduled for completion in September, 1960.

At its regular meeting Tuesday night, the Board also discussed future problems of school districting in Iowa City.

A special meeting was called by the Board to discuss future planning and particularly problems involved with organizing districts for the elementary schools.

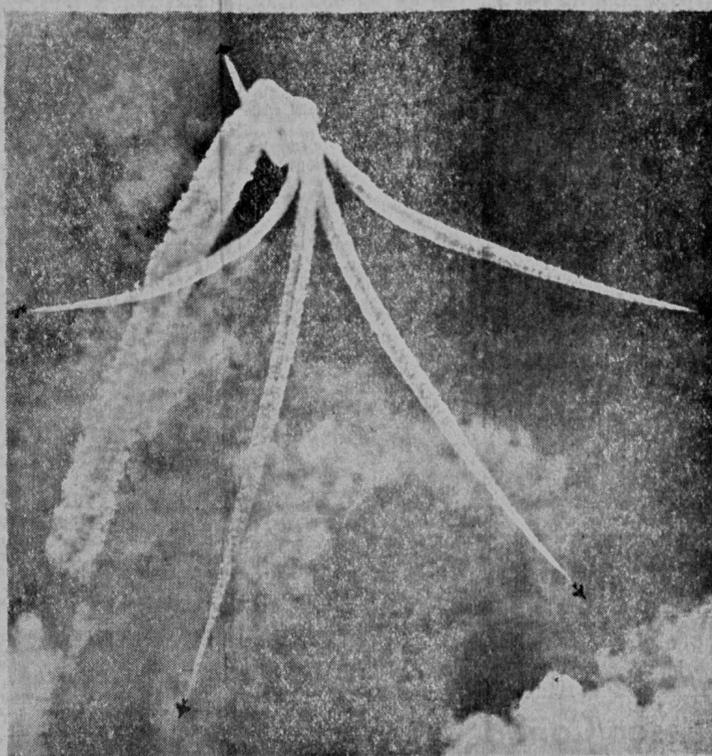

The special meeting was scheduled for Sept. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the Junior High School cafeteria. At that time the Board expects to discuss a "spot map" locating projected school enrollment as indicated by the 1958 census of children up to the age of five.

Enrollment Increase

In a report on the opening of Iowa City Schools, Garner told the Board that the total enrollment to date was 4,063, an increase of approximately 200 over last year's enrollment.

Garner showed the Board a set of curriculum outlines, the efforts of the various school principals and of the administration office this past summer.

Iowa City is one of the first schools in the state to have a set of complete curriculum outlines, Garner said, and for the first time every department in the school knows what the other departments are doing.

Fifi Beginning To Act Like A Woman

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A new area of suspicion developed in the tropical Atlantic Tuesday while storm Fifi drifted along on a path that will take it well east of the U.S. mainland.

Latest area of circulating winds which a forecaster said "can potentially develop into a tropical storm" was about 500 to 700 miles east of the Windward Islands and 2,000 miles southeast of Miami.

Winds there were estimated at about 20 miles an hour and blowing counterclockwise.

Mr. Eisenhower Says—

Ouch!

Ouch!

Ouch!

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower reacted Tuesday to the Democrats' election victory in Maine with an attitude that could be summed up: Ouch! I hope we can do better in November.

White House press secretary said Mr. Eisenhower feels the Republican party took a beating "and there is not use disguising it."

Hagerty was a bit vague on whether chief presidential aide Sherman Adams, who became an indirect issue in the Maine campaign, would keep his job with a congressional election coming up in November.

Adams, like the defeated Maine GOP Sen. Frederick C. Payne, accepted costly gifts from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine. Adams has denied, however, that he did anything for Goldfine in return beyond making routine inquiries to government agencies with which Goldfine was in trouble.

Asked if Payne's defeat by Maine's Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie threatened Adams' position Hagerty replied: "I don't know — I haven't any comment."

He said later, however, that he would stand by previous statements to the effect that he knows of no plans for Adams to quit or be fired. Mr. Eisenhower has said that while Adams had been imprudent in taking favors from Goldfine he nevertheless has the highest regard for Adams' integrity and besides: "I need him."

The summer White House also announced Mr. Eisenhower will go to Ligonier, Pa., Sept. 26 to attend a bicentennial celebration at the restored Ft. Ligonier.

States' Rights Candidate Wins Election in South

Sen. Spessard Holland, who championed states' rights and urged a vigorous approach to segregation, won re-election over Claude Pepper Tuesday night in a hard-fought Florida Democratic primary.

Returns from 1,163 of 1,880 precincts gave Holland 286,465 and Pepper 221,813.

Pepper, seeking a comeback after his 1950 defeat, was leading in populous Dade County (Miami) as expected, but his margin there was less than he expected.

The Florida primary was one of 10 in as many states to practically wind-up the picking of candidates for the November elections.

Briefly, here's what other states were doing:

Tuitions

Don't Forget! Today Is Deadline For Deposit

Today is the day — a tuition deposit is due at the Treasurer's Office, room 2 University Hall, by 5 p.m.

Returning SUI students who are residents of Iowa must pay $50 of their fall tuition, and non-resident students and students in medicine and dentistry must pay $100.

Because of a new program initiated this semester at SUI, a tuition deposit is required of all students.

Registration materials will not be distributed to students until the fee deposits have been made.

After today's initial fee deposit, students may pay their fees on the installment plan or in one lump sum.

Students who elect the installment plan will be billed for the unpaid balance on Nov. 1, Dec. 1 and Jan. 1 for the first semester.

A $5 penalty will be assessed for failure to pay an installment within 12 days after the billing date, with dismissal from SUI for failure to pay an installment within 20 days after the billing date.

Refunds for students cancelling registrations before Jan. 1 will be made on the basis of the number of instructional days remaining in the semester.

Semester fees at SUI now total $110 for residents of Iowa in the SUI Colleges of Liberal Arts, Commerce, Education, Engineering, Pharmacy and Nursing. Non-residents in these colleges pay $250.

Law students pay $130 ($207 if non-residents) and dentistry and medical students $200 ($400 if non-residents). Both resident and non-resident students in the Graduate College pay $130 per semester.

Kansas City Will Cure Car Jams By Ousting Cars

KANSAS CITY (AP) — What's the remedy for a chronic traffic jam that clogs the streets in a city's downtown area?

It's simply, say Kansas City planning officials—just eliminate the traffic.

And that's exactly what they hope to do. Plans under consideration would close off a large downtown area to vehicular traffic. The streets would be converted to landscaped parkways for pedestrians only; public parking would be provided on the fringes of the area, and in the very distant future, moving sidewalks may carry shoppers to their destinations.

For years downtown Kansas City has been fighting a losing battle with suburban shopping centers, a circle of slums has effectively isolated the 10-by-17-block area from attractive residential districts, and narrow midtown streets, many with dead ends, have strangled motor traffic.

Now the city, with a big assist from the state and federal governments, is carrying out a $260 million program to erase these blights.

Slums are being ripped down to make way for new buildings and parking lots. Construction has started on a superhighway loop which eventually will rim the business district and from which widest spokes will extend to the center of downtown.

Weather Forecast

Partly cloudy and cooler temperatures are on the schedule for Iowa City today. The mercury readings are expected to be in the mid 70's. Further outlook for Thursday calls for increasing cloudiness and warmer temperatures.

U.S. Admiral Forecasts A Tough Time

Chinese Reds Still Shelling Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Stormy weather in Formosa Strait stopped the U.S. 7th Fleet—called the biggest single naval force ever deployed by any nation in peacetime—from convoying the supply run to beleaguered Quemoy Tuesday.

The fleet commander, Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley, acknowledged that the Chinese nationalists are going to have a tough time dealing with Communist shore guns which threaten to cut Quemoy's lifeline.

Convoy Canceled

Nationalist convoy set to sail in daylight under U.S. 7th Fleet escort was canceled. Beakley said this was due to the weather, and not the threat of Red Chinese guns which blew up a supply ship Monday during a record bombardment of more than 53,000 shells. Another supply ship turned back.

The Reds kept up a sporadic artillery bombardment of Quemoy and its satellites.

This made aircraft landings on Quemoy hazardous.

Associated Press correspondent Gene Kramer, who flew into Quemoy aboard a Nationalist C46 during a Red barrage, said shells landed a few hundreds away from the craft set down on a beach airstrip with newsmen and Nationalist officers.

The plane later took off with wounded Nationalist soldiers. Kramer's plane had turned back on one approach to Quemoy when the pilot said, a flight of Red MIG jets was sighted.

Ammunition Problems

The Defense Ministry said Nationalist guns answered Red gunfire but it refused to disclose the intensity of the return barrages. It seemed the Nationalists did not match the Reds round for round because they are wary of wasting ammunition.

The Nationalist command in Taipei was still waiting for a green light from U.S. authorities to carry out bombing raids on Red batteries on the mainland.

Nationalist broadcasts to the mainland told civilians to move away from coastal areas, an indication the Nationalists still hope to carry out their threat of bombing raids on gun positions.

Dulles Hedges On Quemoy Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles Tuesday raised the prospect of American concession, perhaps affecting the future of embattled Quemoy, if Red China agrees to a cease-fire in the Formosa area.

At a news conference, however, he avoided spelling out in advance what these concessions might be.

But, he said any dependable no-shooting pledge by the Peiping regime would "be certainly a very constructive new element in the situation which might have further consequences."

Dulles called for an immediate start of talks in Warsaw between the U.S. and Red Chinese ambassadors in an effort to ease Formosa tensions before they explode into a broader conflict.

He coupled this appeal for negotiation with the strongest on-the-record comments yet by an administration leader hinting the United States would fight to help Nationalist China repel any invasion of Quemoy, an island only a few miles off the Chinese mainland.

Dulles voiced confidence, however, there would be no war in the Far East if the American people stand firm and united behind the Eisenhower administration's policy. Dulles stressed the stakes involved in these words:

"What's involved is not just two pieces of real estate, Quemoy and Matsu.

"What's involved there is the whole position . . . of the free world in the western Pacific and the vital interests of the United States . . ."

In his discussion of the Formosa crisis, Dulles disclosed the Administration would switch diplomatic strategy in the Warsaw discussions both sides have agreed to.

Chance, Impulse Led to Death Of Kidnaped Stenographer

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—"I just couldn't stand seeing someone else have a good time," the confessed slayer of a pretty 18-year-old girl muttered Tuesday.

Floyd Robertson, 25, a cement worker, a few minutes earlier signed a written statement that he raped and shot blonde Marjorie Schneider to death in a mountain canyon Sunday night.

He shot up the automobile in which the girl sat with her escort and another couple, robbed them and then ordered the girl to get with him as the others fled into the darkness at his command.

The girl was shot three times in the head. Her body was found in a crude grave in Cache la Poudre Canyon 34 miles west of Fort Collins Monday.

Chance, Impulse — born of husband and wife quarrel — led to the tragic end for the stenographer who had gone out on a movie and driving date with Ellsworth Frank, a Colorado State University student, and a married couple.

Sheriff Ray Sheerer said Robertson, father of three children told him he quarreled with his wife Saturday night and left the house.

He returned two hours later, got his .22-caliber rifle and left again. He had a few drinks of whisky, he said, then went to a beer tavern and stayed there until it closed early Sunday morning.

Then he began driving about aimlessly and finally came upon Frank's car parked on a road bordering the Horsetooth Reservoir southwest of Fort Collins.

Acting purely on impulse, Robertson said, he began shooting out the lights and tires of the car.

Flat Tire

Then Robertson forced the girl into his car and ordered her to drive northward toward mountain country. After they had gone about 30 miles, a tire went flat.

The kidnaper then forced the girl to submit to him, the statement said. A little later as he worked on the tire, the girl began running down the road.

"The sheriff said Robertson told him 'I should tell you: I'm sorry I'm such a crack shot but I'm gonna have to do this.' Then I shot her."

Robertson said he wrapped the girl's body in a quilt and a rubber poncho and carried it up a steep slope, finding a burial place between two boulders.

But Dist. Atty. Mark Smith and other officers questioned this part of the story. They theorized the girl might have been killed far from where the body was found, beneath piled logs and rocks.

Miss Schneider was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Schneider of Wakeeney, Kan.

Prof. Spence Honored by Ex-Students

Kenneth W. Spence, head of the SUI Psychology Department, was honored last week in Washington, D.C., by former students who have received Ph.D. degrees in psychology or child welfare from SUI.

The group presented an engraved watch to Spence at the Iowa Spence Reunion Dinner, held during the national convention of the American Psychological Association and contributed approximately $1,000 to a fund to be used in honor of the SUI psychology head for scientific publications or for an award to be set up in the field of experimental psychology.

Mrs. Spence received a gold bracelet from the group.

In making the presentation to Spence, Neal Miller, James Rowland Angell professor of psychology at Yale University, recalled some of the honors won by the SUI professor. These included selection as the only psychology professor to be invited to give the Silliman Lectures, a series of scientific talks at Yale, and his inclusion among three recipients named in 1956 for distinguished contributions to science.

Presiding at the program following the dinner was Norman Garzey, recipient of a Ph.D. in psychology from SUI, who now is professor of psychology at Duke University.

In his remarks of acceptance at the dinner, Spence noted that SUI Ph.D. graduates have published more papers in scientific journals in psychology in the last 20 years than graduates of any other university in the country.

More than 100 SUI graduates, faculty members and wives attended the dinner. During the 20 years he has been on the SUI faculty, Spence has directed the work for Ph.D. degrees of more than 55 students. Six of this group are now heads of psychology departments in universities or colleges, and 16 are full professors of psychology. Others are psychologists in government and industry.

Spence has been head of the SUI Psychology Department since 1942.

First Show Brings Fix Charge in Austria

VIENNA (AP)—Austria also has a TV quiz scandal.

An American-type quiz show "Twenty One" was inaugurated last week. Already there are charges that the main winner, a woman doctor, was coached in advance.

The program producers have denied the charges.

Two Vienna newspapers Tuesday headlined reports that the woman, who walked off with a $400 prize, admitted she was well acquainted with the program moderator.

SUI Prof Reads Paper In Venice

Gustav Bergmann, professor in SUI's Department of Philosophy will present a paper at the 13th International Congress of Philosophy, which will open Friday in Venice, Italy.

"On Time" will be the subject of Bergmann's paper. In it he will deal with the nature of time, arguing for relational theory.

The SUI professor is one of three Americans widely known in Europe who were selected by the American Philosophical Association to attend the meeting. Funds to send the three to the meeting in Italy were provided by the American Council of Learned Societies of which the American Philosophical Association is a member.

Bergmann's works are particularly well known in Italy, where Ferruccio Rossi-Landi has been responsible for discussion of phases of the SUI professor's philosophy in Italian journals and collections of essays.

The SUI professor will return to Iowa City Sept. 22.

3 1/2 Inches of Rain Fall in Creston During Hour

CRESTON (AP)—A heavy storm of cloudburst proportions dropped about 3 1/2 inches of rain in about an hour in the Creston area late Tuesday.

Rainfall in the city of Creston where the water was eight inches deep in some residential areas, was officially reported as three inches.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was part of a severe disturbance that moved across southern Madison and Union counties and then moved into Taylor and Ringgold counties.

Stevenson Attacks GOP Foreign, Integration Policies

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai Stevenson came back from Europe Tuesday, calling recent U.S. foreign policy "clumsy, erratic and self-righteous."

The 2-time Democratic presidential candidate said he didn't think Red China would go to war for Formosa. But he added that settlement of Formosa's future cannot be indefinitely delayed.

Stevenson also criticized President Eisenhower on the school integration issue, spoke optimistically of Democratic chances in coming elections and generally covered a wide range of political topics in an hour-long interview at Idlewild Airport.

Schwengel Declines Chance To Participate in Debates

DAVENPORT (AP)—Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) said Tuesday he has been forced to decline the invitation of State Sen. Thomas Dailey (D-Burlington) to participate in a series of debates on courthouse steps.

Schwengel is a candidate for re-election from the 1st District, while Dailey is his opponent.

The congressman said that since his arrival home after an extra-long session of Congress, he has found "some very serious problems to which I must give high priority."

Denison School District Defeats School Building Plan

DENISON (AP)—The Denison Community School District Tuesday defeated a proposal to build a new elementary school at Denison on an approximate cost of $524,000. The vote was 976-699.

The voting was conducted at Denison, Deloit, Buck Grove and Kirton.

This was the third time the issue had been presented to the voters. The number favoring the issue was 58.3 per cent with 60 per cent needed for passage.

A proposal to transfer 3.73 acres of land to the Eventide Home for the Aged carried by a 1,289-366 vote. This is an area project and is non-profit and non-sectarian.

Group Told Segregation Has Serious Implications

OMAHA (AP)—The chairman of New York City's commission on Intergroup Relations told the National Urban League Tuesday that segregation reeks serious psychological havoc on both the segregated and the segregators.

Because of this there is urgent need to apply new psychological tools to deal with causes and effects of prejudice, Dr. Alfred J. Marrow said in an address to the inter-Racial League. The league seeks solutions to economic and social problems of city Negroes.

On the issue of segregation, Dr. Marrow said "In the South the white children will ultimately be more damaged than the Negro children."

Benson Confident GOP Will Gain in November

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson expressed confidence Tuesday the Republican party will pick up congressional seats in Midwest farming areas next November.

He told a news conference he hoped that Republicans would work a little harder as a result of the licking they took in Maine Monday.

"The Maine results do not scare me," Benson said. "I am confident we will pick up seats in farming areas. Farmers are pleased with the present combination of an increased volume of crops, better prices and good harvesting weather."

Benson was asked for his views on what part, if any, the relations of presidential assistant Sherman Adams with industrialist Bernard Goldfine had on the Maine voting.

"I am not inclined to go into the Adams matter," he said. "That's a White House matter."

But Benson was pressed to say whether he approved or disapproved of Adams' acceptance of gifts from Goldfine.

Benson said that he had found Adams to be a man of integrity and great ability and "I have high regard for him."

"Then you approve of his actions?" the reporter persisted.

"I am not approving of every action of every man," Benson replied. "I believe Mr. Adams said he perhaps had acted unwisely. Every man makes some mistakes. I have made some and I suppose you have, too."

Benson also said he has had more bids to help party candidates than he could handle.

He said that many of these requests had come from Republican candidates for Congress. To a specific question he said there had been one request from Iowa and a couple from Minnesota.

GOP Loss in Maine Leads To Call for Adams Ouster

Official Says Ike's Aide May Resign 'in Few Days'

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the aftermath of a shattering Republican defeat in Maine, GOP candidates were reported swamping party leaders Tuesday with fresh demands for the ouster of presidential assistant Sherman Adams.

One influential administration official said Adams' resignation could be expected within a few days as a result of the thumping defeat of GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne in Maine's warmup balloting in the contest for control of Congress.

Another official on the same level said no final decision had been made. He added, however, it looked as though Adams would have to go or face official repudiation by some GOP campaign organizations.

Fishing Somewhere

Adams, who has been under fire for accepting costly favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine, was reported fishing somewhere in New England and could not be reached for comment. Adams has acknowledged he got in touch with government agencies which Goldfine was having troubles but denied he had exerted any influence in behalf of his benefactor.

However, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty stood on his previous statements that he knows of no plans for Adams to quit or be fired.

Payne, who also accepted favors from Goldfine, was soundly beaten in his try for re-election by Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie.

Upset Dope

The voting Monday also saw the Democrats topple Republican Rep. Robert Hale and upset the dope by hanging on to the governorship. Hale was a member of the House subcommittee which investigated the Adams-Goldfine case and recommended the Goldfine contempt citation voted by the House.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said in a statement the Maine results showed the voters are "ready to repudiate a Republican party which boasts of prosperity with five million people out of work and whose titular head vetoed Democratic measures to provide jobs for the idle."

"The voters are also ready to repudiate the favoritism and gift-taking by the man who runs the executive branch when the President is not at his desk," Butler said.

Demand Ouster

Apparently Republican candidates on the firing line in other states agreed with Butler's estimate. There was what was described as an explosion of telephone calls and messages to GOP national headquarters demanding that Adams go.

Hagerty reported that Mr. Eisenhower felt the Republican party took "a beating and there is no use disguising it."

GOP National Chairman Meade ALCorn conceded that "We took a beating — and a bad beating — in the Maine election." But he disputed contentions that the results indicate a Democratic trend in the nation.

Eddie Fishers Have Trouble; Liz Implicated

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Trouble developed Tuesday in the story-book marriage of Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds, presumably because of Elizabeth Taylor.

Fisher returned home from New York and after a 2-hour "family discussion" with Debbie this joint statement was issued:

"We are having a misunderstanding. We hope to work it out. We have nothing further to say."

In recent days there have been recurrent reports that Fisher was becoming romantically interested in the glamorous young widow of show producer Mike Todd. They have been seen frequently dining and dancing together in New York.

Fisher arrived at 3:30 a.m. by plane but went to the home of a friend near the airport before seeing Debbie and their children.

"At the home Fisher issued this statement: 'We are now in the middle of a family discussion and I have nothing further to say at this time.'"

In New York before taking a plane for Los Angeles, Miss Taylor, widow of show producer Mike Todd, was asked about stories hinting the Fishers were breaking up because of her. "I'm not interested in that kind of garbage," she said.

In Los Angeles Miss Reynolds issued this rather cryptic statement through her studio before Fisher showed up: "I am deeply shocked from what I have read in the papers and there is nothing further I can say at this time."

New York Cafe Society has been buzzing about Fisher and Miss Taylor.

The two families have been friends for years. Miss Reynolds and Fisher were close friends of Todd who was killed in a plane crash last March.

Fisher, who has been fulfilling singing engagements in the East, has dined and danced frequently in New York night spots with Miss Taylor.

Climbers On Top Peak In Europe

A group of Iowa mountaineers reached the top of Mont Blanc, highest mountain peak in Europe, last week.

The climb was without incident, except for a delay of 24 hours during the group's descent at the high hut on the climbing route. A bad snowstorm held the group at that point, since it caused dangerous conditions in a narrow steep canyon on the route. Mont Blanc is in the Alps in southeastern France, on the Italian border.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ebert of Iowa City were in the group which climbed the French peak. Ebert, one of the founders of the mountain climbing club, is the leader of the trip. He is chief engineer at radio station WSUI.

Now on the second European Mountain Holiday sponsored by the organization, the climbers also planned to ascend La Meije, one of the most difficult rock climbs in the French Alps, and then head for climbs in Yugoslavia.

Part of the group are scheduled to fly from Brussels to London Sunday and to New York the next day. The rest will return home the following weekend.

Since they left the United States early in August, the Mountaineers have also climbed the highest peaks in Germany, Austria, Italy and Switzerland.

SUI To Host Rehabilitation Study Conference

New ideas to help the handicapped will be presented at a Vocational Rehabilitation Management Conference, which will open Thursday at the SUI Center for Continuation Study.

Seventeen supervisory members of the Iowa Division of Vocational Rehabilitation will attend the conference, which is the first on the University's fall program of continuing education.

Sponsored by the state rehabilitation agency, the conference will be conducted by the SUI Bureau of Labor and Management. Presiding at the meeting will be U. K. Reese, Des Moines, assistant director of the Iowa Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Topics for the conference will include counseling of clients, description of techniques and workshops in problem solving and discussions workshops in human relations problems.

Speakers from the Des Moines office will include J. L. Starkweather, state supervisor of Old-Age Survivors Insurance services; Mrs. Juliet Saxton, training center supervisor, and William Bird, physical therapist.

Representatives of the Bureau of Labor and Management participating will include Jack F. Cully, director of the bureau; John J. Flagler, research associate and program director, and Walter Wentz, research assistant.

Wentz recently joined the SUI Bureau of Labor and Management after serving two years as assistant professor and head of the Department of Business and Economics at the College of Emporia, Kan. A 1949 graduate of SUI, he will begin study on a doctor of philosophy degree in commerce this fall.

Takes Fifth

LIZ RENAY FLASHED A smile as she arrived to talk to government agents Tuesday about her friendship with underworld figures. She was censored for an hour with agents but afterwards said she invoked the Fifth Amendment three times in declining to answer questions about $40,000 worth of funds supposedly received from Anthony Coppola, former bodyguard of slain New York mobster Albert Anastasia.

Fight Set For Iowa Labor Post

DES MOINES (AP)—A showdown fight for the presidency of the Iowa Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, officially developed Tuesday with the nomination of Ray Mills for re-election, and Vernon Dale to oppose him at the organization's state convention here.

Mills, 56, of Des Moines, former head of the Iowa AFL, has been president of the federation since the labor groups merged in 1956. Dale, 56, of Muscatine, is federation vice president-at-large and formerly was Iowa CIO president.

The convention will elect officers Thursday with contests also on tap for the federation's other salaried offices.

For two posts as vice president at large Henry Carter, 39, of Des Moines, formerly of Burlington; Donald Q. Lewis, 34, of Council Bluffs, and James Caffrey, of Des Moines, were nominated. Incumbents Dale and Wilton Seymour, of Des Moines, did not seek re-election as vice presidents-at-large.

Carter is labor representative on the State Employment Security Commission. Lewis is president of the Council Bluffs Building Trades Council. Caffrey is business representative of the Rubber Workers.

For secretary-treasurer, incumbent Carl Baum, 54, and Paul M. Larsen, 33, of Waterloo were nominated. Baum, formerly of Keokuk, is a member of the Grain Millers Union. Larson is secretary of the Black Hawk Union Council.

Jack McCoy, 23, of Ottumwa, was nominated without opposition and thus elected as executive vice president.

All officers elected will serve one year terms starting Oct. 1. The president's salary is $8,000 a year. The executive vice president and secretary-treasurer each receive $7,000 annually.

Mills was nominated for re-election by George Weiny, of Keokuk, who said Mills "kept up together under one roof after living separately for 20 years."

Dale was nominated by Edris H. Owen, of Newton. He said Dale would be "aggressive, progressive and fearless in leadership."

District vice presidents elected at caucuses were Mike McDonald, Bettendorf, District 1; John Grogan, Dubuque, District 2; Fred Peterson, Waterloo, District 3; Jake Minecks, Ottumwa, District 4; Ben Jeffries, Des Moines, District 5, and Merle Morrison, Sioux City, District 6.

Delegates from Dubuque said they were going to protest election of Grogan, an incumbent, on a claim of "illegal procedures." Andrew J. Frommelt, of Dubuque, caucus chairman, said Grogan defeated Gerald Ketchum, Cedar Rapids, 28-21.

State Sen. Edward J. McManus, of Keokuk, told the convention that what he called carnival sideshow type of legislative investigation is an encroachment upon the function of the courts.

McManus said in his prepared remarks that Congress and state legislatures make use of investigating committees to obtain information necessary for preparing and enacting wise and needed laws.

But he said such committees have abused their powers, particularly on the federal level, and thereby gained notoriety.

"Only too frequently have we witnessed the carnival sideshow of these committees, unconcerned by the rules of evidence, parading before the public... breaks of hearsay, irrelevance, charges, countercharges and innuendo which have destroyed the reputations of innocent citizens," he said.

"Such abuses have come about generally when the legislative branch, through its special committees, has marched boldly into the constitutional domain of the judicial branch."

McManus said the remedy for such legislative evils is the election to Congress and to state legislatures men of personal integrity and "men with a sufficient knowledge, understanding and love for the principles upon which our government was founded to recognize these principles and conduct themselves according to them."

Dag Arrives In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold arrived from Amman Tuesday night on his Middle East peace mission amid reports he had failed to bring agreement between King Hussein and President Nasser on Jordan.

The U.N. secretary general, who came to the Middle East two weeks ago at the request of the General Assembly, kept silent on his progress.

"We never comment on that," a U.N. spokesman said.

A diplomatic source in Amman said Jordan's dispute with Nasser's United Arab Republic was deadlocked. The informant said Nasser has refused to give the guarantees Jordan asks to halt alleged U.A.R. interference in Jordan's affairs. The diplomat added that Jordan will not ask British troops to leave until Nasser gives these assurances.

After alighting from his U.N. plane, Hammarskjold drove from the International Airport to a Beirut beach-front hotel in a convoy of white-painted U.N. automobiles.

Hammarskjold's arrival was greeted by conflicting Lebanese press reports as to what Beirut leaders are going to demand.

Some papers said they would ask that U.S. troops be replaced with an international police force. The newspaper Al Nahar said President-elect Faud Chehab opposes such a force "on both international and Arab grounds."

Both Jordan and Lebanon have charged that the U.A.R. shipped men and arms across their borders in an attempt to overthrow their pro-western governments.

Try Again in '58 Elections—

Clean Campaign Pact Flops

By GEORGE DIXON
WASHINGTON — Two years ago, the chairman of the Republican and Democratic national committees squeezed together in front of a desk and signed the equivalent of a blood oath that they would contain no smear campaigns. By election day, candidates in 25 states looked as if they had rolled through an oil-changing pit. The 1956 oath was exacted by the Hon. Charles P. Taft, chairman of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee. But the Hon. Charles P. Taft, chairman of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, is not easily discouraged. He coaxed the chairmen of the two major political parties to squeeze in front of another desk the other day and sign a no-smear contract for 1958. This togetherness orgy was held in a soundproof chamber at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel called the Council Room. This turned out to be an appropriate name for the meeting place because the two leaders did everything but whang each other over the head with peace pipes. Mr. Taft, former Mayor of Cincinnati and brother of the late Senator Robert A. Taft, began by stating that he was not present in the role of peacemaker. I wish to go on record as averring that this proved to be one of the most conservative statements I've ever heard. Few understatements get pushed so far under. The unsmearable ink on the pure

A Confused Mind Would Help To Understand China Problem

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
There's a deal of meaning these days in the saying that if you are not confused, you just don't understand the situation. Take, for instance, the situation with regard to Red China. Secretary Dulles says the United States is about to go into detailed diplomatic negotiations with a government with which it has no diplomatic relations. That's a minor matter. Whether the negotiations would go any better if there were diplomatic relations is a hypothetical question. Britain has diplomatic relations with Peiping but her representatives there seldom seem to get to first base. About all the new negotiations will prove on this point is that by ignoring red tape relations can go on without relations. Some people argue that if the United States had recognized the Peiping government long ago, and Red China had been admitted to the United Nations, she would have been subjected to public pressure which might have, as sometimes seemed to be the case with the Soviet Union, affected her actions for the better. Longtime Ally That is probably true. But it would have involved the U.N. status of Nationalist China, longtime ally which the Western powers have not been willing to consign to outer darkness. Yet there is a strong feeling among students of the subject that when Chiang Kai-shek is gone, a solution will be found through the rise of Formosan nationalism. Something he had to subjugate when he established his headquarters there. The belief is that a new nation will be formed, with U.N. membership for itself alone, and with its security guaranteed by the organization just as the security of South Korea has been guaranteed. In the meantime, Dulles admits that the alliance with Chiang prevents a completely free hand for the United States in bargaining with the Reds over Quemoy and the other offshore islands. This is theoretical, of course, since the Nationalists, having no other visible means of support, would have to drop them if the United States said drop them. American Support That would, however, raise a strong question among other nations in comparable positions as to the long-term value of American support. It would foster the idea that they'd better be making settlements with international communism while settlement making is good. The type of detailed negotiations with the Reds to which the secretary refers, involving their renunciation of force as a means of attaining their political objectives, suggests preparedness to pay them in some way. But to pay them is to submit to blackmail under the present threat of force, and to weaken the moral structure with which the United States attempts to buttress all of its actions. Now, if you are sufficiently confused, you may be able to understand the negotiations if and when they begin.

Suggestions Given for Buying Coat

If you need to buy a basic coat when you replenish your wardrobe this fall, these suggestions given by instructors of clothing classes at SUI will help you choose a practical garment which will "go well" with your dresses, suits and accessories. Of course the expensive items of your wardrobe should be purchased first, the SUI instructors advise. This means you should select your basic coat before dresses, suits and shoes before hat. A basic topcoat chosen with care can be worn the year around, the SUI instructors say. If your budget allows but one coat for all seasons, choose one neither too dressy nor too tailored. The coat should be simple and classic in design and should button, with the buttons matching the coat in value. An extra lining which can be zipped out will transform a winter coat to a spring garment. The chesterfield, though classic, is more tailored than some other straight lines. Some flared styles can be worn with both full skirts and straight, while the coat with a straight line is likely to go better with straight skirts. To insure a wrinkle-free garment which will hold its shape, buy an all-wool coat, well tailored and beltless. Shawl collars and cardigan styles are soft and more versatile than pointed lapels or capes. Kimono or dolman sleeves are roomy enough to wear over a suit. Avoid flares in skirts and shapes in sleeves which will "date" the coat. Large patch pockets are more sportlike in appearance than welt pockets. Your coat will be more serviceable if it is in your basic wardrobe color — black, navy blue, brown, grey or beige — or at least related enough to harmonize with other parts of the wardrobe. Flecked tweeds, chinchillas, plaids and camel's hair fleeces belong with sports clothes. Therefore a coat in one of these materials would not be as basic as a gabardine, flannel or monotone tweed coat.

Mehaffey Bridge on Sunday

THE MEHAFFEY BRIDGE again! One of the most popular bridges in the Iowa City area, the Mehaffey Bridge is once again in the news. On Sunday, when the above picture was taken, over one hundred cars were lined up along the two approaches to the bridge to watch local boaters and water enthusiasts. After the heavy rain Sunday night, the approaches to the bridge were covered with water and Monday the bridge was closed because of high water. The army corps of engineers has taken steps for the immediate removal of the Mehaffey Bridge. Removal of the bridge has been delayed because members of the Mehaffey Bridge Committee have stated that closing the bridge would cut the direct route between Solon and North Liberty. Members of the Iowa City Boat Club have argued that the bridge should be closed so that the reservoir could be raised to allow boating, recreation and conservation. Members of the Boat Club have planned a meeting next week with Rep. Fred Schwengel to discuss development of picnic and public access areas along the reservoir. —Daily Iowan Photo.

United Nations May Settle Fishing Limit Question

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Five Nordic countries — including Iceland — Tuesday called for a solution of the question of territorial and fishing limits "within the framework of the United Nations." A communique issued after a 2-day meeting here indicated support for a proposal at the UN General Assembly to discuss these questions at a new international conference. The meeting was held by the foreign ministers of Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Finland and ambassador Thor Thors from Iceland.

7-Month Low Reached for Unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported Tuesday unemployment dropped 600,000 in August to a 7-month low of 4,699,000. The decline fell short of seasonal expectations. Because the drop percentage-wise, wasn't as large as normal for this time of year, the seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment rose. In fact, the rate equalled its postwar high of nine years ago.

Taking seasonal factors into account, the unemployment situation actually has made little or no recovery from the impact of the recession. It has held fairly steady for seven months, in contrast to rises in many other economic indicators. Total employment reached a seasonal high in August up to 65,367,000 from July's 65,179,000. Farm employment held steady. Manufacturing payrolls scored a larger-than-seasonal gain. Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell, in summarizing the August jobs picture, said "The drop in unemployment occurred primarily among young workers who found jobs and students who withdrew from the labor market — normal developments for this time of year. There was no significant change over the month in the number of unemployed adult workers." The number of unemployed was the lowest since January when 4,494,000 Americans were out of work. Nonfarm employment rose for the second straight month, up 240,000 to 50 1/2 million. The manufacturing segment was up 300,000 to 15 1/2 million.

Cabled Flowers Becoming Business in 126 Countries

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Everything seems to have an international smell these days, including flowers. Suppose you yearn to send posies to a friend in, say, the Sudan of Africa. Could you? Well, the directors of Interflora, a worldwide florist organization, are meeting here, and naturally they're eager to answer your question. Of course, you could. Two florists are standing by in far off Dakar, just hoping you'd care. Interflora was made up of 22,000 florists in 126 countries throughout the world. While most of us were going our unsuspecting ways more than two million dollars in floral orders were cabled across oceans and continents last year. "And we haven't scratched the surface yet," Jack Shearn of London was saying. "It's worth about 25 cents."

Containers Mean Much to Consumer

DES MOINES (AP) — The companies which make cardboard containers for food and household supplies are trying to make the containers more attractive because a pretty package often means more than what's inside, a container company official said Tuesday. He is Ralph E. Eckerstrom, 36, director of the design department of a Chicago container manufacturing corporation. He was in Des Moines to address the Advertising Club of Des Moines. "The amount of impulse buying by the housewife is amazing," Eckerstrom said in an interview. BOLD THIEF PIEDMONT, W.Va. It was money posted as bond.

From Shearn, it can be reported: Most Popular That, the world over, the rose is the most popular flower. "The rose somehow seems to have a romantic attachment to it everywhere. The red rose is a symbol of love." The florists argue flowers are the perfect gift, not only for lovers but also for business houses trying to make an impression. "The chap may not drink or smoke," Shearn said, "but flowers cannot cause offense." That, rather than try to keep up with fluctuating currencies, the florists figure everything in an imaginary coin called the "flourin." "It's worth about 25 cents."

Pirates Gain Half-Game on Doubleheader Sweep

Edge Giants 4-3 and 2-1, Trail by 6 1/2

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A pinchhit single by Ted Kluszewski in the ninth inning scored Bill Mazeroski from second and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 victory over San Francisco Tuesday night after the Pirates squeezed out a 4-3 victory over the Giants in a play-off of a suspended game.

The double victory widened the second place Pirates lead over third place San Francisco to 4 1/2 games.

With the score knotted at 1-1 in the regularly scheduled game, Mazeroski led off the ninth with a double down the right field line. Dick Groat was given an intentional walk. The next batter, catcher Bill Hall, had a one-ball one-strike count when Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh sent in Kluszewski to bang his game-winning single.

Credit for the victory went to Eloy Face, the Pirates' ace relief hurler. He relieved starter George Witt.

Stu Miller started for the Giants but was yanked in the eighth for a pinch-hitter.

A single by Frank Thomas scored the winning run in the eighth inning of the suspended game. It was called July 27 because of Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew law.

Braves 3, Redlegs 2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An error by George Crowe with the bases loaded in the ninth inning gave the Milwaukee Braves a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday night.

Despite the victory, the Braves' margin over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League race shrank from 7 games to 6 1/2.

Eddie Mathews began the Braves' ninth inning comeback with a single and moved to second on Henry Aaron's single. Frank Torre failed in two attempts to sacrifice, then singled to score Mathews with the tying run and sent Aaron to third. A walk to Andy Pafko filled the bases and brought in Brooks Lawrence as a replacement for Newcombe.

Lawrence got Bill Bruton on a pop to shortstop and pinchhitter Del Crandall on a foul to first base, but Crowe let pinchhitter Wes Covington's easy ground ball go between his legs and Aaron ran home with the deciding run.

Phils Win Two

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies broke their 7-game losing streak with a pair of victories Tuesday night over the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Phils took the regulation contest 4-3 after winning a curfew-suspended game 6-2, on Wally Post's grand-slam home run in the 10th inning.

Jim Hearn was credited with his fifth win in the abbreviated contest.

In relief of Curt Simmons, he allowed three hits in four innings, including Elmer Valo's pinch single in the ninth which scored Gil Hodges with an unearned run that sent the game into the tenth.

Play had been suspended in the bottom of the sixth on July 27 with the Phils leading 2-1.

In the regular contest, the Phils, trailing 3-2 picked up three runs off starter and loser Sandy Koufax in the sixth.

Valo appeared again as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning of the regular contest and when Jack Meyer sent him down swinging for the 23rd strikeout of the game. It tied a National League record set three times previously.

Indians 9, Yanks 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland poured across eight runs in a fifth inning that rain made the final one Tuesday night and whipped the New York Yankees 9-2. Catcher Russ Nixon drove in four Indian runs with two homers and a double and got two of his big hits in the big fifth-inning rally.

Nixon's homer started the game-winning rally and his 2-run double was the last act before the thunderstorm. After a wait of a full hour, the game was called off.

All scoring up to the Tribe's big fifth was on third-inning home runs. Mickey Mantle boosted his league-leading total to 40 by hammering one 410 feet over center field fence after Tony Kubek doubled. Nixon's homer in the Indian half of the third was the only Cleveland hit in the first four frames:

New York	002 000	—	2 5 1

Chi Sox 4, Bo Sox 1

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie outfielder John Callison and veteran pitcher Henry Wynn led the Chicago White Sox to a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night.

Callison, making his first major league appearance, had a perfect night at bat with a walk and three hits including a pair of doubles. One of his doubles was the key blow in a 3-run sixth which carried the White Sox to victory.

Wynn picked up his 14th triumph against 13 losses and limited the Red Sox to three hits as the second place White Sox opened up a game and a half lead over

Majors Agree on Bonus Rule, Favor Revising Draft Laws

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The major leagues Tuesday agreed to restore a bonus rule, recommended the revision of the player draft laws and set up machinery for realignment of the minor leagues.

They also gave the problem of radio-TV coverage of ball games a thorough airing but did nothing about expansion.

Take Action
Recognizing that bonus bidding is getting out of hand and that the minor leagues need a helping hand, the big leaguers, at their joint session, decided to take action toward alleviating this twin problem.

A 9-man committee was appointed to study the feasibility of a new bonus rule and to submit a plan to the body at the December meeting in Washington, D.C.

Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane, chairman of the bonus committee, said at least 10 plans already have been proposed. He personally is in favor of what he calls "an incentive plan," a step-by-step bonus arrangement with a 20-year ceiling.

Realign Minors
Another committee, of six members, was named with authority to start immediately a series of meetings to bring about a realignment of the minor leagues from triple A classification down. This group also was instructed to have a working plan ready for the winter meetings.

In addition, the majors allocated another half million dollars to the minor league emergency fund for the purpose of helping deserving minor league clubs in financial straits. The original half million dollars given to Bill DeWitt, coordinator of the fund, is just about exhausted.

The realignment committee is made up of general managers John Quinn of Milwaukee, Joe Brown of Pittsburgh, George Weiss of New York and John McHale of Detroit; Grayle Howlett, president of the Tulsa club in the Texas League, and Vince McNamara, president of the New York-Pennsylvania League.

Commissioner Ford Frick, who presided over the joint session which closed the 2-day conclaves of the National and American leagues, said, he warned the club owners of the damage their radio-TV policy had wrought on the minors. He added, however, he had made no recommendations or suggestions to curb telecasting and broadcasting of games into minor league territory.

Upsets Mark 2nd Round Of U.S. Golf

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Air Force Lt. Hillman Robbins, the defending champion, beat Navy Lt. (j.g.) Bruce Cudd, a former Walker Cup player, by breezing 5 and 3 in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship Tuesday.

A wave of upsets and narrow escapes marked the second round. Harvie Ward, who held the title two years before Robbins won it, got the scare of his life from 18-year-old Jack Nicklaus.

Billy Joe Patton had another close one. Reliabes Rex Baxter, Bill Hyndman, Bill Campbell, Arnold Blum and Dick Yost were eliminated.

After the Ward-Nicklaus duel, almost everything that happened on the hilly 6,680-yard Olympic Club lake course was anticlimactic.

Ward just managed to win, 1-up, and equal Lawson Little's record of 15 consecutive match-play victories in the U.S. amateur. Little made his string during the grand-slam years of 1934-1935. Ward shot a 72, two over Olympic's 35-35-70 par and had to save off a comeback by Nicklaus who holed out a chip shot on the 17th hole.

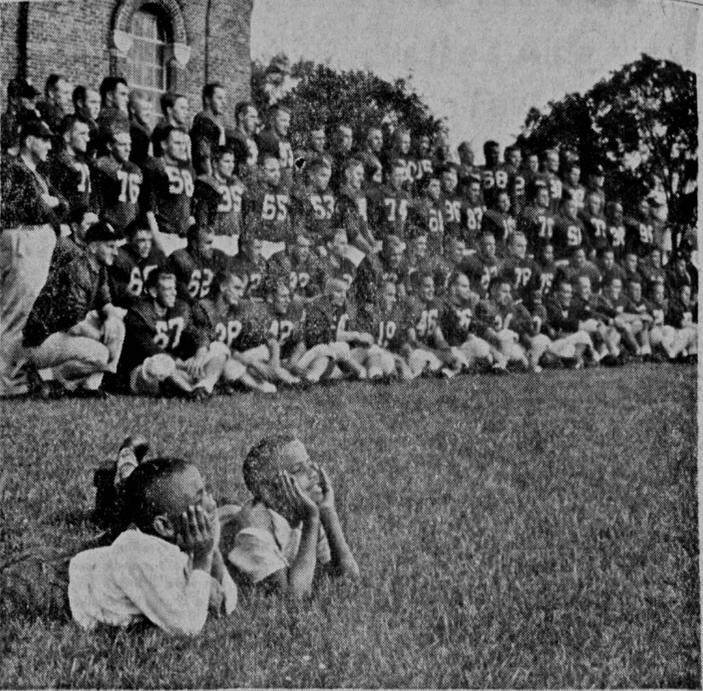

Cudd, starting with a seven on the 530-yard first hole, won only one of the first nine. Robbins was leading on the ninth 3-up. Cudd got two holes back but Robbins took the 13th, 14th and 15th, ending the match.

Don Cherry played some of the finest golf of his career to eliminate Hyndman 2 and 1. Cherry was three under par for 15 holes.

Robert Henrikson, 20-year-old Minnesota State title holder, gave former Walker Cupper Yost a 6 and 4 licking.

Gene Fowler, Oklahoma champion, put out Baxter 1-up; Lawrence Greenwald, a 37-year-old Texas golfer, defeated Bill Campbell, former U.S. Walker Cup captain, by the same margin, and Billy Seanor flattened Blum 4 and 3.

On the winning side in the day's 64 matches were Patton, who lost an early lead but stood off Paul Stoner of St. Paul, Minn., 2-up; Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City; Jimmy Vickers; Chuck Kocsis; two Canadians, Bruce Castoro and Eric Hanson and Mexico's Mauricio Urdaneta.

Hawks Get Heavy Contact Drill Against Reserves

Coach Forest Evashevski put the Hawkeyes through a heavy contact drill Tuesday afternoon when the first and second teams alternated running plays against the reserves.

Randy Duncan, Olen Treadway and Mike Lewis took turns at the quarterback slot and moved the attack well. All three took to the air frequently and had their receivers zeroed in. The main targets were first team ends Curt Merz and Don Norton and fast-developing second stringer Jeff Langston. Ray Jauch, Willie Fleming, Kevin Furlong and Bob Jeter picked up big chunks of yardage by rushing.

Prior to their offensive thrusts against the reserves, the first two teams worked extensively on defense and offense in light contact drills. Al Miller, Evy's "swing" end, played both left and right end on all three teams during the workout.

The fifth annual Big Ten tour missed the morning workout when the rains forced an early quitting time. The tour, which included conference commissioner "Tug" Wilson and Midwest sports writers, arrived by plane about 10:45 a.m. They conferred with Iowa Athletic Publicity Director Eric Wilson and his staff, had lunch and a short talk with Evashevski then boarded a plane for Champaign, Ill., for a look at the Fighting Illini.

The third team had two changes in Tuesday's workouts. They were: George Harrell, 220-pounder from Beloit, Wis., at right tackle in place of Bob Hain and Al Dunn, 195-pound right guard from Lancaster, Calif. replacing Tom DiNardo.

Yogi to First Base?

CLEVELAND (AP) — The next stop for Yogi Berra may be first base. Casey Stengel sounds as though he is itching to make the move as soon as his New York Yankees clinch the pennant.

"It will add three, four, five years to his career," Stengel told Leonard Schechter of the New York Post.

Last year Stengel moved Elston Howard to first base after Bill Skowron was injured and started him in the World Series.

"Ain't I too small, though?" Berra asked Stengel. "Bah," said Stengel. "You can catch a ball. That's all you need."

Dykes Wants Job As Cincy Skipper On Steady Basis

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jimmy Dykes, the 61-year-old "interim" manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, said Tuesday he's eager to get the job permanently.

Before taking his club to Milwaukee to meet the Braves, Dykes outlined his reasons. Although he was disappointed that his Redlegs had absorbed a 4-1 defeat at the hands of the surging Pittsburgh Pirates Monday night, Dykes was proud of the record his team has made.

General Manager Gabe Paul of the Redlegs hasn't indicated whether Dykes has a chance for the field spot next year.

"Frankly, I've never talked to Gabe about it," Dykes said. "I've been too busy."

"I'll take the job next year if its offered. I'm not a dunce. The pay between a manager and a coach is a whole lot different. Am I a dope? No, I go for the bigger money."
