POPE PIUS XII IS DEAD

82-Year-Old Catholic Leader Succumbs Early Today

New Pope To Be Named By Cardinals

Picture history of events in the life of the pope, Page 6.

By Frank Brutto

CASTEL CONDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pius XII, for 19 troubled years the "Pope of Peace," died Thursday in the papal summer castle alongside Lake Albano.

A crucifix lay on his chest and a rosary in his hands in the final hours.

Two strokes, developing into a grave condition of the heart and lungs, carried him away under the weight of his 82 years.

The Vatican radio said death occurred at 3:52 a.m. Thursday (8:52 p.m. Wednesday Iowa time).

The body will be borne back to Vatican City, 18 miles from Castel Gandolfo, for the funeral rites.

He was the 261st pope and the first to die outside Rome since the 18th century.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Catholic Church here had not offered prayers for the recovery of Pope Pius XII up to Wednesday evening, presumably because it had no knowledge of his illness. There was no news of it in Moscow papers.

The new pope will be designated by the College of Cardinals in an election expected to be held at the Vatican within the next two or three weeks — after a 9-day period of mourning.

All the popes for the last 400 years have come from Italy. The feeling at the Vatican has been that this likely will be the case again even though Italians no longer command a majority in the College of Cardinals.

His valiant heart, grieved by years of war and the onslaughts of Communist atheism, finally gave way after a period of more than 12 hours in which doctors despaired of saving him.

In 1953 and 1954 his stamina had overcome serious illnesses, but this time his age and the two strokes affecting his circulatory system were too heavy a burden.

He had spent a strenuous summer at this papal summer estate. Last week he had a recurrence of gastritis and hiccups, accompaniments of the illness that took him to the verge of death in December 1954.

The Pope showed some improvement, and last Friday warmly welcomed.

SUI Housing Fees Due By Oct. 13 Or $5-Fine Assessed

Board and room fees for students living in SUI housing, which came due Oct. 1, must be paid by Monday, Oct. 13, if students are to escape a $5 late-payment fine, Leonard R. Breka, assistant business manager at SUI, said Wednesday.

All students living in SUI dormitories, and fraternity and sorority houses are subject to the board and room fees, he said.

Payment may be made in person at the SUI Business Office until 4 p.m. Monday. Breka urged, however, that students use the return envelope enclosed in the bills and send their payments by mail in order to lessen congestion at the Business Office. Mail payments must be postmarked by midnight of the 13th.

The fee payment deadline was extended to the 13th this month because the 12th, when payments normally are due, falls on a Sunday.

Paris Scholar To Lecture At SUI On 'Faith'

Philosophy Of Bayle Will Be Examined

Madame Elisabeth Labrousse of Paris, France, will give a lecture on "Pierre Bayle and Natural Law" in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol at 8 p.m. Oct. 20. Her appearance will be sponsored by the SUI Graduate College and the Humanities Society.

Between 1948 and 1955 Madame Labrousse was professor of the history of philosophy at the University of Tucuman, Argentina, where her husband was professor of political philosophy. Since 1955 she has been on the staff at the Centre Nationale des Recherches Scientifiques in Paris.

Unpublished Letters

While in Argentina Madame Labrousse published two books — "Descartes and His Time" and a collection of Cartesian essays and letters. More recently she has published a number of articles on Pierre Bayle and is preparing an inventory of this philosopher's writings at the present time. In recent work she has discovered some 600 previously unpublished letters by Bayle, a philosopher well-known in Europe during the late 17th and early 18th centuries.

His attacks on Cartesian philosophy and his elaborate defense of philosophical skepticism made him an exceedingly controversial figure, and generated a large volume of correspondence. Bayles' skepticism has influenced to this time the philosophies of religion based on faith rather than on reason.

Act Of Faith

Basically he argued that human reason was incapable of genuine knowledge and that as a result religious systems must involve at some point an act simply of faith. Bayles' treatment of natural law has relevance for those interested in the moral and political problems of society today.

Madame Labrousse comes from a scholarly French family. Her father was a prominent French theologian and her sister is at present professor of philosophy at Dijon University. Her son is a graduate student specializing in mathematical logic at the University of California at Berkeley, and she came to this country primarily to visit him.

Van Allen Fund Pays Off

PROMISING SCIENTISTS of the future, six SUI physics students were awarded scholarships in physics by James A. Van Allen, professor and head of that department. The scholarships, in honor of Van Allen who figured prominently in the success of the Explorer satellite program, were made possible after Iowans and SUI students last Spring contributed more than $1,400 to the Van Allen Scholarship Fund started by Paul Franzenburg Jr., a Conrad businessman. Seated with Van Allen (right) in the above picture are (from left): William Whelpley, Celar Rapids; and Gary Strine, Tama. Standing (from left) are Christopher Richards, Des Moines; Don Simanek, Walker; Wayne Day, Iowa City; and Louis Frank, Ft. Madison.

Free Tickets Still Available For Humphrey Talk Tonight

Free tickets are still available for a lecture to be presented by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey at 8 p.m. today in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Tickets may be picked up at the East Lobby desk of the Union from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and are available to students, faculty, and the general public.

Weather

A sudden downpour accompanied by gusts of high wind caused scattered flooding and tree damage in Iowa City between 10:30 and 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Officials could give no estimate of the amount of rainfall, but storm sewers in many parts of the city were inadequate to handle the sudden torrent of water. Water gushed into the streets and over the curbing in many areas of the city.

In some areas fallen trees partially or completely halted traffic. Old highway 218 was blocked for a short time when a tree fell near the KKIC transmitter. Traffic was slowed on Rockeyshore Dr. when another tree crashed to the ground. Many city residents reported that drains backed up due to the overloaded condition of storm sewers.

Schwengel, Dailey Debate Foreign Policy

Agree Offshore Isles Not Worth World War

Quemoy and Matsu, Chinese Nationalist-held islands, are not worth risking a third world war for in the opinion of both Congressional candidates from Iowa's First District. At an open forum Wednesday night, sponsored by several Johnson County political groups, incumbent Republican Congressman Fred W. Schwengel and his Democratic opponent Tom Dailey gave their views on U.S. foreign policy in the Middle and Far East.

Both candidates, speaking in Shambaugh Auditorium, agreed that the United States must pull out of the Formosa Straits area. "Quemoy and Matsu are not worth fighting for," said Schwengel. Dailey, in agreement, said "We must recognize the situation and extract ourselves without risking full war."

Both candidates also expressed the opinion that there have been mistakes in U.S. foreign policy with regard to the Far East crisis. "The U.S. is bankrupt in its foreign policy," said Dailey.

"I'm not sure we haven't made some mistakes," Schwengel contended, "but what we did was probably right; the way we did it was probably wrong."

Shifting the topic of discussion to the Middle East, Dailey charged that "U.S. failure in the area" was due first to "refusal to recognize the evident desire of the Arab nations for neutrality, unity and nationalism."

Schwengel stressed the need for improvement in the foreign service. But he emphasized the value of the Point-Four program.

He also said there should be less stress on the military. Accomplishments Schwengel listed in U.S. foreign policy were the strengthening of military forces, the blockade of communistic expansion, and the Atoms-for-Peace Program.

A Failure
Dailey continued with charges that the Mid-East foreign policy was a failure citing these points:

1. U.S. troops were sent to Lebanon where they were not needed.
2. Iraq has been supplied with guns and tanks yet the United States is unsure of their stand—for or against us.
3. The presence of British troops alone in Jordan is maintaining the status-quo.

"Let's wipe the slate clean and start over," he said. "Objectives in the Mid-East policy should be threefold: 1. Expand the U.N. forces in the area; 2. Establish an arms embargo in the Mid-East area; 3. Set up a U.N. development commission to investigate sharing oil with the Arab people."

Texas Police Seek Ugly Man Who Hates Pretty Girls

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An ugly man with cruel, deep-set eyes whose hatred for beautiful women leads him to attack them was being sought here Wednesday.

The latest victim is the daughter of an FBI agent, Mrs. Lynda Taylor, once a runner-up in a Houston beauty contest.

A Monday night assault on Mrs. Taylor in her apartment was strikingly similar to those on two other beautiful women, one of whom was killed.

Homicide Capt. Weldon Maycott said there is a possibility all three attacks were made by the same man.

Mrs. Taylor described her attacker as an ugly man with short, blond hair. Other victims gave similar descriptions.

A Preview Of Some Profiles

Lebanon Premier Resigns As New Disorders Occur

BEIRUT (AP) — Lebanon's Premier Raschid Karami handed his resignation to President Fuad Chehab Wednesday night.

It was not immediately known whether Chehab accepted it. Karami, leader of the rebellion in Tripoli, has been premier only two weeks.

Karami's action followed the refusal of 31 deputies in the Lebanese Parliament to give him a vote of confidence.

The deputies signed a petition declaring no-confidence and Parliament Speaker Adil Osseiran submitted it to President Chehab. The resignation move came as new disorders broke out in the capital.

Christian (Phalangist) foes of Karami charged that more than 100 of their followers had been kidnapped.

Judge Closes Another Door On Southern Segregationists

By The Associated Press

A federal judge Wednesday slammed another door on the South's hopes to escape racial integration of classrooms when he ruled publicly paid teachers must not work in Virginia's makeshift private schools as long as they are segregated.

Already denied use of public school buildings for private classes in Arkansas, segregationists thus had the second major prop knocked from beneath their private school plans.

This teacher bar was set up in U.S. District Court at Harrisonburg, Va., while Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas shaped a nationwide drive for funds to operate segregated, private schools in Little Rock.

And in Charlotte, N.C., integration moved another quiet step forward when Fannie Waterman entered the 10th grade at Central High School and was cordially greeted at the door by two or three white girls.

Denies Teachers

At Harrisonburg, Judge John Paul ruled that private schools already operated on a make-do basis at Charlottesville and planned for Warren County must admit Negroes or stop using teachers idled when schools in those areas were closed by the state after being ordered to admit Negroes.

He refused, however, to order the reopening of the public schools in the two cities on an integrated basis, as requested by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He declined to rule on the constitutionality of the state law under which the schools were closed, on the ground that a test now is being made in the Supreme Court of Virginia.

Apparently accepting the position of the federal courts that public owned buildings and public money cannot be used for segregated school operations, Faubus disclosed that he and Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the corporation seeking to establish private schools to replace Little Rock's closed ones, are preparing thousands of letters asking for money.

Governor's Stationery

They are to be mailed in about three days, on the Governor's stationery, to persons who have written or wired Faubus urging him to continue to uphold segregation in the school.

Officials of Tennessee's Anderson County discussed with Presidential aides the financial problem raised by dynamite blasts that did an estimated $300,000 to integrated Clinton High School early this week.

After the session, it was announced that an as yet undetermined amount of federal aid would be extended under existing law permitting assistance to schools attended by children of parents working at federal installations. Some children of employees at the Oak Ridge plant of the Atomic Energy Commission attend Clinton. Classes now are being conducted in an unused elementary school at Oak Ridge.

It's Napkin Time Again —

Homecoming Hustle Begins

It's the time of year in Iowa City when napkin sales shoot skyward as SUI students wonder "How many thousand napkins will we need to build our float for the Homecoming Parade?"

But the problem of cornering a supply of napkins is a minor one compared to the many tasks that must be completed by SUI students, staff and faculty members in preparation for the 47th annual Homecoming to be held Oct. 24-26.

The traditional Homecoming Parade, with more than a mile-long train of floats, bands, antique cars, saddle-horses and other marching units, will mark the official opening of Homecoming Weekend at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 24. More than 800 high school musicians from various Iowa towns are scheduled to march in the parade.

Immediately after the parade, a pep rally will be held to warm the spirits of students, alumni and friends who will attend the Homecoming football game the next day between Iowa and Northwestern University. Other Homecoming attractions Friday evening will be "High Barbary," the 36th annual water show to be presented by the Dolphin Fraternity swimmers, and an Open House at Iowa Memorial Union.

Alumni will register in the Main Lounge of the Union, where refreshments will be served. Exhibits from SUI colleges and departments will be on display in the Main Lounge and Lobby, and Hawkeye football films will be shown in the Pentacrest Room.

Saturday morning activities will begin with the annual Alumni Breakfast of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary society. Other activities will include coffee hours for alumni, a program of chamber music, college open houses and the annual meeting of the SUI Alumni Association.

Saturday afternoon, fans will go to the stadium for the football game. A victory will bring the burning of the Corn Monument, to be designed this year as a facsimile of a satellite rocket. Two additional performances of the Dolphin water show, and the Homecoming dance are scheduled Saturday evening. An Iowa Mountaineers film-lecture, "The Mighty Amazon," given at 7:45 p.m. Sunday evening by Julian Gromer, will close the 1958 Homecoming festival.

$35,000 Per Year, For Life - The Supreme Court As An Occupation

'Well, The Boss Said No Coats And No Rugs!'

TO THE EDITOR: "Last weekend's game between the SUU Hawkeys and the Air Force Falcons brought to town 800 cadets from Colorado Springs. These cadets in turn brought with them manners, spirit, sportsmanship, and chivalry."

The preceding paragraph is quoted from a Letter to the Editor, published in The Daily Iowan on Tuesday, Oct. 7, 1958. Manners, spirit, sportsmanship and chivalry - for a one night stand, and a one night stand it was.

At ease? Perhaps the cadets were never more at ease; the blue of the uniforms, the carefully enunciated "sir's," the casual carelessness of the SUU coeds - the works - made them feel at ease in an environment just a bit foreign, to say the least, and promulgated the feeling of "we're here for the night - let's raid the place!"

Question To Coeds

TO THE EDITOR: Why is it that when 800 Air Force Cadets come onto a university campus and say "here we are, entertain us," they are considered thoughtful and considerate?

Is A 'Pick-Up' Chivalrous?

TO THE EDITOR: Re: Article by Donna Blaufuss (Daily Iowan, Oct. 7). Since when is one to call a "pick-up" chivalrous? If 800 cadets will cause so much irrationality among the coeds of SUU, then I fear complete hysteria at the first ROTC inspection.

And Hedges Views The Race Issue

TO THE EDITOR:

Recent editorials and articles in The Daily Iowan indicate that this year, as in the past, the Iowan intends to treat the problem of Race in its many ramifications from the Northern viewpoint.

Nevertheless, persons wishing to defend the Equalist position, as well as those advocating Racism, must take cognizance of and answer to their own satisfaction if to no one else, certain questions pertaining to the fundamental points of the controversy.

With respect to the races of men, as with other animals, survival is dependent upon three things: nourishment, defense, and fertility.

When a species survives depends upon its ability to adapt for survival. Thus the criterion to be used in judging racial superiority is, in evolutionist terminology, survival characteristics.

USSR Demands Priority For Nuclear Test Question

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union demanded Wednesday that the United Nations give top priority to the question of ending nuclear weapons tests. The Russians ran up against immediate opposition from the United States.

The clash took place in the 81-nation political committee, where the United States made clear that its prime concern is that no action be taken here that might jeopardize the success of crucial big power talks coming up in Geneva.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin declared that all members of the U.N. should have a chance to give their views on suspension of tests in advance of the Oct. 31st Geneva talks.

Three Powers To Talk

The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union will discuss methods of controlling an agreement on suspension of tests. Experts from East and West have already drawn up the technical requirements.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge asked that the disarmament debate here be undertaken on a broad scale. This would include the question of suspending tests, scaling down military budgets, and recommendations of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on disarmament.

Lodge said he rejected Zorin's insinuations that anyone who did not agree with him was opposed to progress in disarmament.

Anxious for Agreement

"President Eisenhower has made it abundantly clear how anxious we are to reach agreement on suspension of tests," he added.

The committee took no action, but adjourned until Thursday.

Behind the scenes, the United States was working on a resolution that would counter both Soviet and Indian resolutions already before the committee calling for an immediate halt to tests without waiting for any formal agreement.

U.S. Withholds Resolution

The United States was not able to disclose the final language of its resolution, since this was the subject of continuing consultation.

But authoritative informants said the resolution would:

- 1. EXPRESS HOPE for the success of the forthcoming Geneva talks. These include not only the negotiations for an end to tests, but technical talks to begin Nov. 10 on methods of guarding against surprise attack.
- 2. RECOMMEND that the Geneva participants call on the services of Hammarskjold, and make able to the U.N. the results of their conferences.
- 3. EXPRESS HOPE that the Geneva talks will pave the way for solving more difficult disarmament problems, such as an end to production of nuclear weapons and agreement on an over-all inspection system.

Highlanders To Perform In Quincy

The State University of Iowa Scottish Highlanders, the world's largest bagpipe band, will perform in Quincy, Ill., Sunday.

The 75-girl band will appear at the Lincoln-Douglas Debate Centennial Celebration in the Quincy city square at 3 p.m.

Led by Drum Major Margie Ladd of Iowa City, the Highlanders will perform marching routines, the Strutter's Dance and a spectacular Sword Dance. William L. Adamson directs the group.

Since 1937 the Highlanders have played before 6 million persons and have traveled over 80 thousand miles on tour. This will be the first 1958 Highlander traveling appearance.

The group was formed in 1935 as an all-male band. In 1943 a wartime shortage of men forced Director Adamson to enroll girl bagpipe players. Since then the band has been exclusively female.

The Highlanders regularly perform at SUI football games, and also make special appearances at charitable and civic programs. The next scheduled Highlander trip will be to the Iowa-Wisconsin game Oct. 19 at Madison, Wis.

Pres. Hancher To Speak At Chicago Meet

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will be one of the featured speakers at the 41st annual meeting of the American Council of Education being held in Chicago today and Friday.

President Hancher's talk will be on "The New Challenges and How To Meet Them" which closely follows the general theme of the meeting — "Education Accepts New Challenges."

Other speakers include President Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard University, President Norman P. Auburn of the University of Akron and Chancellor Lawrence A. Kimpson of the University of Chicago and Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Honor Greeks For Grade Improvement

Recognition was given Wednesday night to the member of each SUI social fraternity who made the greatest individual scholastic improvement in his group last year.

The 19 men were honored at the third annual Interfraternity Council Scholarship Banquet.

Recognition, on the basis of improvement of second semester grades over those of the first semester for the 1957-58 academic year, was given to:

Richard N. Broer, A4, Providence, R.I., Acacia; Marshall Gonsky, Chicago, Alpha Epsilon Pi; Richard Heimendinger, A2, Britt, Alpha Tau Omega; Benjamin Blackstock, A3, Kankakee, Ill., Beta Theta Pi; Charles Crandall, A4, Des Moines, Delta Chi; James L. Thunderstorms Invade Iowa

A line of severe thunderstorms extending from southwest to the northeast part of the state moved across Iowa Wednesday night.

The storms were accompanied by gusty winds and some hail that caused damage in some areas.

A high wind swept through open country two miles south of Newton and left debris that temporarily blocked Iowa Highway 14, the State Highway Patrol reported.

A corn crib was felled on the highway and a power pole with live wires was toppled on the road.

The Weather Bureau said the storm line extended from 40 miles west of Lamoni to the Dubuque area and moved eastward.

KHRUSHCHEV CONFERS

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had a long talk Wednesday with the Yugoslav ambassador to the Soviet Union, Velko Micunovic, the official East German news service ADN reported. The meeting was reported to have taken place at Yugoslav request at Sochi, on the Black Sea, where Khrushchev is vacationing.

Doctors, Clergy To Meet At SUI

Doctors, clergymen and hospital administrators from all parts of Iowa are expected to attend a Hospital-Clergy Workshop Monday at the State University of Iowa.

The meeting will be the fourth which SUI's graduate program in hospital administration and its school of religion have sponsored on subjects relating to hospitals, doctors and clergymen. Theme for the approaching event will be pastoral care and health services.

Speakers for the workshop, which will be held in the Senate and House Chambers of the University's Old Capitol, will be: the Rev. Granger Westberg, professor of religion and health, college of medicine and federated theological faculties, University of Chicago; the Rev. A. H. Schmeusser, administrator of the Evangelical Deaconess Hospital, Milwaukee, and Dr. Robert B. Kugel, assistant professor of pediatrics at SUI.

In addition to addresses by the three speakers, there will be two panel discussions, one during the morning session and one during the afternoon. One panel will be composed of physicians, the other of clergymen.

No Permission Needed To Hospitalize Prisoner

DES MOINES (AP) — A sheriff does not have to get permission from the county supervisors before taking a sick prisoner to a hospital, an Iowa Attorney General's opinion said Wednesday.

The opinion also said the cost of a county jail prisoner's medical or hospital expense should be paid from the county general fund and not from the poor fund or soldier's relief fund.

These questions were raised by Earl E. Hoover, Clay county attorney.

Loghry's Damaged By Fire Wednesday

A fire Wednesday about 7 a.m. at Loghry's Restaurant in Coralville ruined a newly completed $3,000 redecorating job and damaged extensively two dining rooms.

No estimate of the loss was made.

The blaze apparently started around a warm air duct from the basement furnace after the heating unit became too hot.

The restaurant kitchen was spared flame damage although considerable damage occurred.

SHIPYARD WORKER KILLED

KOBE, Japan (AP) — One shipyard worker was killed and three were seriously injured Wednesday when the 20,500-ton tanker No. 3 Tsunami Maru accidentally launched herself two days ahead of schedule. Workers were putting on the finishing touches for the Oct. 10 launching when the ship broke loose and slid into the water's edge.

Yanks Beat Braves 4-3, Final Game Today

2 10th-Inning Tallies Give Win To Duren

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gil McDougald's 10th inning home run ruined a magnificent pitching effort by stout-hearted Warren Spahn Wednesday as a 4-3 Yankee victory sent the New York-Milwaukee World Series into a seventh game.

Through nine torturous innings the 37-year-old Milwaukee southpaw, working with only two days rest, dueling with three different Yankee pitchers only to lose in the 10th. Singles by Elston Howard and Yogi Berra finished him off and the Yanks added the all-important extra run on Bill Skowron's single off relief man Don McMahon.

Duren Stars
Ryne Duren, Casey Stengel's flame-thrower who followed Whitey Ford and Art Ditmar to the mound, fired his blinding fast ball past the Braves from the sixth to the 10th when he suddenly lost his stuff. The big fellow with the thick glasses struck out the side in the sixth and ninth, fanning eight in the 10th before he faltered with two out in the 10th.

Johnny Logan, who had walked and taken second unmolested while Duren wound up making Eddie Matthews his eighth strike-out victim, scored when Hank Aaron singled. Out came grizzled old Casey Stengel to talk with his pitcher, as Joe Adcock grabbed a war club.

Casey decided to stay with Duren but when Adcock pumped a single to center, moving the potential tying run to third base, Stengel summoned Bob Turley from the Yankee bullpen. Turley, who brought the series back to Milwaukee with Monday's shutout, had to face Frank Torre, a left-handed batter hitting for Del Crandall.

Torre connected with Bob's third pitch and the ball sailed toward short right field with second baseman McDougald in full pursuit. For a split second it seemed it would fall safely for a hit. McDougald had it all the way, as it turned out, gloving the ball for the game-ending out.

Thus ended the last-gasp effort of the Braves to save Spahn who deserved a better fate. All through the dreary afternoon he had fought off the Yankees although he hadn't worked with such a short rest since 1956. Four Milwaukee errors kept him walking a tightrope all day long.

With the score tied at 2-2, McDougald led off the Yankee 10th. He had one of the six hits off Spahn up to that time. Spahnne got one called strike on him. But the next pitch did it.

McDougald rode his second pitch deep into the left field bleachers— a 375-foot blow, and a deep sigh sent the soggy air.

Spahn settled down to retire the

Duncan 10th In National Pass Figures

Iowa's Randy Duncan is 10th in the nation in total completed passes and has played one less game than the nine men ahead of him with the exception of Southern Methodist's Don Meredith.

Bobby Newman of Washington State paces the passing field with 46 completions in 71 attempts in three games.

Meredith has hit 27 of 42 and Duncan 25 of 40. Newman is tops in percentage with 64.8 per cent completions, Meredith is second with 64.3 per cent and Duncan stands No. 3 with 62.5 per cent.

Dick Bass, College of Pacific's sensational runner, is leading the nation in rushing offense with a phenomenal 427 yards gained in only two games and is second in the total offense with a total of 479 yards.

Statistics released by the NCAA Service Bureau show Reese Whitley of Virginia pacing the total offense ledger with 520 yards in three games. Whitley's yardage has been on 95 plays, however, while the total for Bass has come on only 42 plays.

Ron Burton of Northwestern is the No. 6 man in the rushing column with 241 yards gained in two games on 48 carries.

Arizona's Dave Hibbert leads in pass receptions with 16 for 170 yards. Minnesota's Bob Soltis ranks 15th with nine catches for 138 yards.

Texas A & M's Charley Minstead is the top punter in the nation with a 49.9-yard average on eight punts. Darrell Harper of Michigan is sixth with a 45.7-yard average on seven boots.

next two batters. But when Howard and Berra singled, Manager Fred Haney decided his ace had taken enough.

As Haney trudged from the gloom of the Braves' dugout the crowd of 46,367 gave Spahn a deserved roaring ovation.

The scene was packed with drama for the crowd realized that Spahn had hoped to match the 1957 feat of his roomie — Lew Burdette — who humbled the Yanks three times last October.

Burdette will get his chance to wrap up a second straight World Series for the Braves in today's seventh game. The Yanks will decide between Don Larsen and Johnny Kucks, depending on the status of Larsen's sore right arm.

Braves continued to strike out all over the place. Wednesday's 12 victims gave them an unwanted series record of 53, surpassing the Chicago Cubs of 1925.

Eddie Mathews also moved to a record that he will not boast of to his grandchildren. He struck out twice, a total of 11 for the series. No series batter ever had done that badly. The old high was 10.

Both managers gambled by starting their ace pitchers with only two days rest. It soon became obvious that Whitey Ford, the Yanks' chunky lefty, didn't have it.

It seemed that Spahn also was going to have to struggle. Hank Bauer homered over the left field barrier, about 360 feet away, with two out in the first inning.

Milwaukee quickly tied the score against Ford in the first on Red Schoendienst's lead-off single, Johnny Logan's sacrifice and Hank Aaron's single.

It was the first run batted in for the Yankees since the series.

KO Ford in 2d
With one out in the second, the Braves ripped into Ford. Wes Covington singled to center. And Pafko hit the first pitch to right field for another single.

Spahn also singled to center scoring Covington. After Schoendienst drew a walk, Stengel made his first of many trips from the mound.

He called for Art Ditmar, the right-hander he had considered as a possible starter.

Ditmar got out of the jam when Logan flied to Howard in short left and Pafko tried to score. Howard's fine peg, in the air all the way, nipped Pafko about eight feet from the plate for an inning-ending double play.

Spahn jealously nursed that 2-1 lead, fighting off the snapping Yankees and his own sloppy defenders. The Yanks never had more than one man on base in the first five innings, but they lit into Spahn in the sixth.

Mickey Mantle and Howard singled. When Bill Bruton, who had just entered the game for defensive purposes, fumbled the ball, Mantle went all the way to third.

Mantle Scores
Berra's sacrifice fly to Bruton was so deep that the throw came to second base instead of the plate, Mantle scoring easily.

Duren took over then because Jerry Lumpe had batted for Ditmar. It was dark and the air was heavy. The lights that had been turned on at the start of the game stood out against a thick overcast.

This kind of weather was made to order for Duren, the speed merchant.

Adcock and Crandall each looked at a third strike in the sixth. Covington singled but Bruton went down swinging.

In the seventh Duren whiffed Spahn and got the next two on liners to left field. In the ninth, Covington, Bruton and Spahn all whiffed.

Stengel had this to say in the clubhouse:

"I'm glad for myself and I'm glad for the club that we won this game because we have been playing so badly."

Spahn also singled to center scoring Covington. After Schoendienst drew a walk, Stengel made his first of many trips from the mound.

He called for Art Ditmar, the right-hander he had considered as a possible starter.

Ditmar got out of the jam when Logan flied to Howard in short left and Pafko tried to score. Howard's fine peg, in the air all the way, nipped Pafko about eight feet from the plate for an inning-ending double play.

Spahn jealously nursed that 2-1 lead, fighting off the snapping Yankees and his own sloppy defenders. The Yanks never had more than

Yanks Praise Spahn; Duren Denies Gesture

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "We finally got tough and broke up that one-man show of theirs — that Spahn fellow."

That was Manager Casey Stengel speaking in a Yankee dressing room surprisingly calm and dignified after squaring the World Series with a 4-3, 10th-inning victory Wednesday.

"I feel better now for my club and myself," said old Casey. "We bounce back after a poor showing in this series and now it goes to the wire."

Speed-balling reliever Ryne Duren, who struck out eight Braves was mobbed by writers and photographers.

Don't Remember

The bespectacled Duren said "I just don't remember doing it" about a choke-up gesture he made at plate umpire Charles Berry after a fourth-ball call on Milwaukee's Johnny Logan in the 10th inning.

The TV cameras were focused on Duren at the time.

"I was hot, all right," said Duren. "The ball was high enough to be called a strike. But I can't say what I did with my hands."

Duren said he didn't think he was as fast as usual. "I think my fast ball looked faster, though, and probably was helped by the heavy humidity."

Nerve-Racking

Yankee second sacker Gil McDougald, who started Spahn's downfall in the 10th with a lead-off homer, said "This has been one real nerve-racking series."

Stengel said the pitcher for today's decisive seventh game would be Don Larsen or John Kucks. "You might consider Bob Turley, also," said Stengel. "And maybe Duren will be in there again."

Stengel led a Yankee song of praise for the vanquished Spahn. "He has been a one-man show," said Stengel. "He's their 'one guy giving us a helluva lot of trouble.'"

Said McDougald: "I don't know what kind of a homer ball I hit off Spahn — a fast ball he didn't have too much stuff on, or a screwball that hung. But did you ever see a guy who can keep that ball dancing back and forth over that plate? He's a wonder."

Last Second Verdict Nips Braves Rally

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A "last-second decision" spawned by the fleeting memory of an incident in the second World Series game haunted Coach Billy Herman and the Braves after the sixth game Wednesday.

The play that cost the crestfallen Herman and the Braves so dearly came in the second inning Wednesday with one run in, one out and the bases loaded.

Shortstop Johnny Logan sent a looping fly ball to medium left field. The Yankees' Elston Howard caught the ball and then — to the surprise of many — Herman sent in the slow-footed Andy Pafko to certain death at the plate. The double play killed a promising rally and left Herman open to one of the biggest second guesses of the series to date.

"I wasn't going to send him in at first," a dejected Herman said while slumped in a corner of the Braves' clubhouse minutes after the Yankees' 4-3 victory in 10 innings.

"Then, at the last second I thought of that throw Howard made in the second game here, the one that went over Yogi Berra's head," Herman continued in a low voice. The throw he referred to came in the Braves' seven-run frame of a game they won 13-5.

"It's just as if a voice told me to change my mind," Herman continued, obviously upset by the turn of events that enabled the Yanks to tie the series at three games apiece. "That's the way it goes, I guess."

Manager Fred Haney washed his hands of the play, saying: "I was not in a position to see it from where I was. The bench is not a good spot. That's what we've got coaches for. Herman sent him in. Andy didn't go on his own."

Haney stalked around his cubicle, muttering under his breath. Then he said, "We had plenty of chances to score. What'd we leave on base — nine?"

"We should have won it in nine," declared the bantam Braves' manager.

"Hookie (Warren Spahn) pitched a helluva game," Haney continued. "We should have won it for him."

CLOUDY SERIES FINAL
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The weatherman predicted Milwaukee's foggy, rainy weather Wednesday night would change to partly cloudy conditions today for the seventh and final games of the World Series.

Ray Wins On Decision Over Cotton

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Sunny Ray, a light-heavyweight from Chicago, decisioned Eddie Cotton Wednesday night in a 10-round televised fight from the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Two of the judges gave the fight to Ray, while the third called it a draw.

Cotton, making his first start of the season, carried the fight to his 23-year old opponent through most of the early rounds, but began to tire under a punishing body attack.

Both fighters were bleeding when it ended. Ray from a cut over the left eye and Cotton from the nose.

The victory was No. 19 for Ray, who also has drawn five and lost five. For Cotton the record stands at 35-8-1.

Improved Hoosiers Worried About Iowa Speed, Passing

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — The worst thing that could have happened to Indiana for its Big Ten opener at Iowa this week end was the Air Force tie with the Hawkeyes, according to Hoosier scout Howard Brown who scouted Iowa.

"We're going to see a team mad at itself and everyone else, all geared up to prove that game was a mistake," Brown said.

Brown labeled the Hawks as potentially a great ball club, just as strong as the one that ran over Indiana, 47-7, last year. He was greatly impressed by the speed of the Iowa backs and the passing of Randy Duncan, who he rated without hesitation the Big Ten's best quarterback.

The Hoosiers will leave Bloomington by plane at 11 a.m. Friday and arrive in Cedar Rapids at 1 p.m. They will go directly to the Iowa Stadium for a closed workout and return to the Montrose Hotel in Cedar Rapids for the night.

Hawk's Big Aerial Gun —

Duncan's Pass Record Grows

By MICK HOLMES
Staff Writer

When Randy Duncan took over the reins of the Iowa Hawkeyes during the spring practice of the 1957 season, he had some big shoes to fill to make Hawk fans forget his two predecessors, Jerry Reichow and Ken Ploen, two All-American signal callers.

Since "Dandy" Randy's entrance he has set about every passing record in the Iowa books.

Last season, as a junior, he finished fourth in the nation among the major college ranks in total rushing as he passed and ran for a total of 1,183 yards, an Iowa record.

He also owns the yards gained by passing record of 1,124, most passes completed, 60, and the best pass-completing mark with an average of .558. All three of these records were set by Randy last year, as he led the Hawks to a 7-1-1 record.

His latest addition to his record book was his 14 completions in one game, a mark he set last Saturday. The old record was held jointly by Glenn Drahn, 1949, and Burt Britzman, 1951.

Now it appears as if "Chuckin" Duncan will surpass his total yardage output of last year as he is now averaging 136 yards per game, as compared with 131 last season. He is also ahead in pass completion with a .625 average, 25 hits in 40 attempts.

Randy is now rated 10th among major college passers according to the NCAA Service Bureau. Actually this ranking is misleading as only Don Meredith of SMU, ranked sixth, and Dunc have played only two games. The others have played three.

Duncan barely misses being mentioned in the total offensive department, and again the reason is his only having two games under his belt. "Handy" Randy has a per game average of 136, compared with Reece Whitley, Virginia, who has a 140 per game mark, and is leading the pack.

Even with all these figures to back up Randy's performance thus far, he has been dissatisfied with his play in the first two games.

If the passing wizard has any weakness it is probably his running game. But when he has to he can turn on the steam and pick up that extra yard or two as he did on several occasions during the Air Force game.

At first it was feared that his defense might be lacking and a top sophomore prospect, Jerry Mauren was groomed to spell him on defense.

But during the two games, Randy has come into his own, turning in two fine defensive performances that include the stopping of one TCU drive with a pass interception on the one and returning it to the nine, even though it appeared he would be pulled down as soon as he caught the ball.

During his fabulous high school career at Des Moines Roosevelt he gained All-State mention in both football and basketball as he and Jim McConnell, former Iowa basketball guard, teamed to give the Roughriders a second place finish in the State High School Basketball Tournament.

Now Iowa's success during their quest for their second Big Ten title in three years rests pretty much on the 180-pound senior's strong right arm, if the team continues to follow the same pattern it followed last year.

Let receivers slip behind them for the long pass.

"With a passer like Duncan working against us, they'll murder us with the long pass if we don't cover better," said head coach Phil Dickens.

Meanwhile, if Dickens and his staff can keep the blocking, tackling, and downfield blocking coming along, Indiana can enter the game with Iowa with greater hopes of staying with the Hawkeyes.

Few Injuries
Barring practice field injuries the Hoosiers will enter the game in better shape than against the Mountaineers. Although center Tony Aliasio, wingback Wil Scott and tailback Tommy McDonald all saw extended service, they were at less than 100 per cent effective through minor injuries incurred at Notre Dame.

Wingback Rich Bradford, out last week with a charley-horse, has the go-sign and guard Don Noone, a 1957 starter and pre-season favorite at the strongside guard slot, may break into his first game of the season. A knee injury kept him out of the first two games.

Also, the Hoosiers appear to be out of the mental letdown they brought away from the Notre Dame game. It was obvious in last week's practice and the first half against West Virginia, but they shook off the flatness in their come-from-behind win.

Possible lineup changes may bring Joe Moore, who impressed coaches Saturday, up to the No. 1 unit weak side tackle. Smith, after his great offensive show, has moved to the No. 2 wingback and conceivably could get a shot at the starting assignment.

Events In The Life Of Pope Pius XII

1876 In this house at No. 19 Via Vittrina in Rome, Eugenio Giuseppe Giovanni Pacelli was born on March 2, into what the Italians call "middle class nobility."

Pope—

1943 (Top Photo) Dressed in simple robes, Pope Pius mingled with the crowd in Rome and prayed for the end of World War II. 1947 (Bottom Photo) After the war, Pope Pius received American service men at his summer residence, Castel Gandolfo, where he died.

Papal Milestones

Pope Pius XII was born in Rome March 2, 1876. Ordained priest April 2, 1899. Consecrated bishop May 13, 1917. Created cardinal Dec. 16, 1929. Elected pope March 2, 1939. Died Oct. 9, 1958.

came Francis Cardinal Spellman, heading a pilgrimage of 600 Americans.

The pope who died this morning was in many respects one of the most remarkable men the 20th century has known. There is no doubt the church will count him among its greatest popes.

Many terms were used to describe him. He was the "Pope of Peace," a fighter for an end to war. He was the "modern Pope," the first to use an airplane, the first to know the United States firsthand, the first to use a typewriter and an electric razor.

But first of all he was a pope of the people. He was accessible as no other pontiff before him, receiving more than 10 million persons in audience. Thousands of American Protestants as well as Catholics had seen him at the Vatican and heard him speak in English.

He spoke out forcefully and frequently on the world's problems, ranging from war to questions of family life.

Pius XII was born Eugenio Pacelli in Rome March 2, 1876. A grandfather was a papal official who founded L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper; his father was a consistorial advocate who pleaded canon law before church courts, and Eugenio was an altar boy at 10. He was ordained to the priesthood at 23 and became an assistant at the Vatican.

He was consecrated a bishop in 1917 and created a cardinal in 1929. The College of Cardinals elected him pope in 1939 on his 63rd birthday.

He chose "Opus Justitiae Pax" (Peace is the Work of Justice) as the motto of his reign. His first major pronouncement, the day after his election, called on world leaders to halt the course of war.

"Nothing is lost with peace, all may be with war," he said, just six months before the start of World War II. Again and again in the terrible years that followed, he returned to this theme.

World War II left millions of Catholics under Communist rule.

Growing out of that war, too, was the awful threat of nuclear destruction. Pius appealed for an international ban against use of nuclear bombs except for self-defense. He urged all governments to turn their knowledge of atomic energy "exclusively to the purposes of peace."

In World War I he helped draw up Pope Benedict XV's peace plan. As Vatican undersecretary of state he went to Munich in 1917 and tried to get Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm to agree to peace. The mission failed but he remained in Germany and became the Vatican's first envoy to Germany after the 1918 armistice.

Called back to Rome in 1919, he was made a cardinal by Pius XI and named Vatican secretary of state in 1930. He also became papal chamberlain and headed the church's interim government when Pius XI died. The 62 cardinals who gathered in the Sistine Chapel elected him pope March 2, 1939.

It was his aim to make the church universal in fact as well as in name, and he said the College of Cardinals should represent the "greatest number of races and people to portray in a living manner the universality of the church." He created 56 cardinals representing all continents.

One of his most significant acts was his 1950 proclamation of the Dogma of the Assumption. This requires Roman Catholics to believe as a tenet of faith that the Virgin Mary was taken into Heaven in body as well as in spirit.

He led the world's Catholics in 1954 in a vast observance of a Marian year. He formally pronounced Mary Queen of Heaven and set each May 31 for the liturgical celebration of the feast day of Mary's regality.

His greatest sadness, perhaps, came in man's inhumanity to man, as exemplified by war and war threats, and the spread of Communistic atheism.

During his reign the activities of many high churchmen were curtailed by Communist regimes — among them Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary, Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski in Poland, Thomas Cardinal Tien of China, Archbishop Joseph Beran in Czechoslovakia and Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac later a cardinal in Yugoslavia.

Even with persecutions and wars, he was never despairing. He carried his hopes and enthusiasm — and his firmness in the right as he saw it — into the final weeks of his life.

In July, when the threat of World War III hung for a time over the Middle East, the Pope issued one of his most fervent encyclicals. Observing that today's frightful armament can exterminate conquerors as well as the conquered, he asked prayers for peace.

Without naming communism, he said the institutions of men "inevitably are destined to fail when the authority of God is set aside, or not given its proper place or is directly suppressed."

Clean up - the MODERN way... With an automatic gas incinerator

A garbage can and trash heap are old-fashioned and unsightly, too. They can spoil the charm of the neatest house on the block. Yet, for just a few cents a month, a gas incinerator can rid your home of refuse — automatically — and keep it "trash-free" year 'round.

Garbage, newspapers, trash... anything except metal and glass... vanish quickly, safely, economically in an automatic gas incinerator. If your chimney is of proper size and construction, an automatic gas incinerator can be easily installed in your house.

Hurricane Janice Still Out To Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Sprawling hurricane Janice moved slowly north-northwestward over the Atlantic yesterday, menacing nothing except an occasional ship.

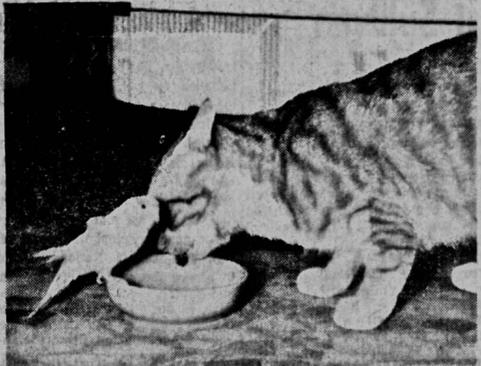

The Weather Bureau reported the storm, which claimed 19 lives when it ripped through the Bahama Islands earlier this week, was 410 miles east of Charleston, S.C., at 5 p.m. EST.

Later reports from ships indicated the storm was moving north-northeastward eight to 10 miles an hour.

On that course, the Weather Bureau said, Janice "present no threat to the U.S. mainland except for high swells and rough seas along the open coast from the North Carolina Capes southward."

Pakistan Still Loyal To Western Alliances
WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials yesterday welcomed assurances that Pakistan will remain firmly committed to its defense alliances with the West.

In declaring martial law in Pakistan Tuesday night, President Iskander Mirza emphasized that the country will observe its commitment in both the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the Baghdad Pact.

Van Cliburn's Mother Ill
NEW YORK (AP)—Prize-winning pianist Van Cliburn postponed an Englewood, N.J., concert Wednesday to fly home to Kilgore, Tex., where his mother is ill. The nature of her illness was not known here.

Cliburn, who won the acclaim of Soviet music fans in winning a Moscow contest, opened an American concert tour in New Haven, Conn., Sept. 29.

Arctic Animals Are Subjects Of SUI Research Project

Seals, caribou, Arctic fox, marmots and squirrels living in northern Alaska contributed this summer to the beginnings of a basic research project which someday may provide an accurate index of the "breathing" rates of the tissues of the human body.

Directed by Dr. Alton K. Fisher, professor and head of oral pathology, the Arctic research project developed from SUI studies on the oxygen consumption rates of dental tissues in an effort to gain a better understanding of how the tooth lives, grows and sometimes becomes diseased.

Aiding Dr. Fisher in his research at the U.S. Navy's Arctic Research Laboratory at Point Barrow, Alaska, were Edwin Joe Hancock, D-4, Oelwein, and Larry Lee Nash, D-4, Knoxville. All were on active duty with the Navy. Dr. Fisher is a captain in the reserve and both students are ensigns.

16 Hour Days
Working as long as 16 hours each day, the research team made 3,326 examinations of brain, heart, liver, kidney, skeletal muscle and salivary gland tissue of various Arctic animals.

Although numerous studies have been done on some animals, Dr.

Fisher says extensive comparative data on Arctic animals may provide additional information on the mechanism of adaptation to climatic environment.

Oxygen is a vital element in the chemical changes in living cells which provide energy for the vital processes and the assimilation of new material to repair damages to tissues.

Examine Tissues
Different tissues consume oxygen at different rates. If the normal oxygen consumption rate for a specific tissue is definitely known injuries to the tissue not apparent upon microscopic examination, can sometimes be detected by finding the rate at which tissue is using oxygen.

Ex-Policemen Sentenced For Robbery

DETROIT (AP)—Two former Detroit policemen who confessed to robbing 18 area branch banks and loan offices were sentenced Wednesday to a total of 375 years imprisonment by U.S. District Judge Theodore Levin.

Both were policemen when the holdups were committed. They were nabbed last June 17 and confessed to stealing more than $100,000 at gunpoint.

James R. Burke, 33, was sentenced to 25 years on each of nine counts for a total of 225 years, and David Tapp, 26, to 25 years on each of six counts for a total of 150 years.

Air Force Selects Sixth Missile Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon Wednesday selected Forbes Air Force base near Topeka, Kan., as the nation's sixth intercontinental ballistic missile site.

The work at the base will start early next year, the Pentagon said, and will cost about $30 million to complete.

The Air Force, which is responsible for 5,000 mile range missiles, had previously designated five ballistic weapon launching sites. Work is under way or authorized at Cook Air Force Base, Lampoc, Calif., Warren Air Force Base near Cheyenne, Wyo., Fairchild Air Force Base in Washington, a site near Offutt Field near Omaha, Neb., and at Lowry Range near Denver, Colo.

The first four intercontinental ballistic bases are expected to handle Atlas missiles. The Lowry, Denver, base has been formally selected to launch Titan missiles.

CBS Ordered To Leave Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Government yesterday ordered the Columbia Broadcasting System to close its Moscow bureau and ordered CBS correspondent Paul Niven to leave within two weeks.

Niven said he was summoned to the Foreign Ministry and told the action was taken because of Soviet dissatisfaction at some recent CBS programs, especially the TV play, "The Plot to Kill Stalin."

The expulsion followed by two days an announcement that Mikhail Menshikov, the Soviet ambassador to Washington, had protested to the State Department about the drama. The envoy denounced it as a "filthy slander against the Soviet Union."

No Casualties In Tornado Near Newton

NEWTON — A small tornado ripped down a rural dirt road three miles southwest of here Wednesday night, knocking down barns, trees and electrical wires. Although the twister caused considerable damage no one was reported injured.

The storm was part of a line of local thunderstorms crossing Iowa from Lamoni in the southwest to Dubuque in the northeast and moving eastward. About 15 farms in the area southwest of here were affected by the twister. It cut a swath about 200 feet wide but struck mostly at outbuildings. Damage to farmhouses was confined mainly to broken porches and shattered windows.

A number of farmers were attending a Grange meeting at Monroe when the storm hit about 7:45 p.m. Others took refuge in storm cellars.

The dirt road which the twister selected for a path runs west off Iowa Highway 14 for a distance of four or five miles.

Iowa 15 at the scene was temporarily blocked with debris from a corn crib and a power pole but debris made a shambles of the dirt road.

State Highway Patrolman who drove on the road after the storm said he had to stop every 15 minutes to move fallen trees and limbs.

Loveless Will Greet Eisenhower

DES MOINES — Problems of dealing both with protocol and politics in connection with the appearance of President Eisenhower near Cedar Rapids Oct. 17 appeared to be solved Wednesday.

Gov. Herschel Loveless said he will go to Cedar Rapids to greet the President when the National Corn Picking Contest is held near there.

He previously had said he would accept an invitation to go only with the reservation that he would not have to appear with his Republican opponent, Dr. William G. Murray.

The situation was clarified somewhat Wednesday when the Cedar Rapids Chamber of Commerce telephoned Governor Loveless and told him that President Eisenhower's program will be separated into two parts—official and political.

Under this arrangement Governor Loveless could attend the official part and meet the President in a receiving line without running into Murray.

The Governor said he will go to Cedar Rapids with Mrs. Loveless. "I'll be most happy to be there with elected officials," he said. "I'll leave immediately after the official reception."

This reception will precede President Eisenhower's platform appearance when he is scheduled to speak briefly. Murray is expected to be on the platform with the President.

U.S. Ships Stop Escorting Supply Convoys To Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa — U.S. warships stopped escorting Nationalist supply convoys to Quemoy today on the fourth day of the Chinese Communist cease-fire.

Nationalist ships and planes continued funneling tons of ammunition and other supplies to the battered off-shore island, its stocks depleted by the 44-day Red artillery blockade that ended last Sunday at midnight.

With the Nationalists pledging not to shoot unless shot at, Americans here expressed growing hope the truce could be extended, perhaps for months. Peiping originally promised only a 7-day let-up.

The Nationalists did not share the U.S. optimism. Taipei officials said the Reds would break the cease-fire whenever it suited them.

In Washington, State Department

ment Press Officer Lincoln White announced Wednesday, that U.S. convoys had been withdrawn from the Quemoy run. He warned they would start quickly if the Reds started shooting again but expressed the hope the cease-fire would continue.

The announcement was foreshadowed by a Peiping radio broadcast noting an absence of U.S. warships and aircraft in the Quemoy area.

The State Department said, however, that the conveying "will be resumed forthwith to the extent necessary" if Red China again starts bombarding Quemoy.

Officials in Washington thought it likely the Communist guns would remain silent.

On Friday, U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam will again confer at Warsaw with Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan.

Secretary of State Dulles has promised that U.S.-China policy might change if the situation for which it was designed changes. He has said it would be foolish, if there was a dependable cease-fire, for Nationalist China to maintain its garrisons of 120,000 troops on Quemoy, Matsu and other islands lying along the China Coast. The implications was the United States might seek to persuade Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek to thin out his coastal island forces, possibly even eventually withdrawing them completely.

Complete withdrawal seemed to be in the distant future, however. Reports are that Chiang is taking advantage of the week-long respite to build up defenses on Quemoy and Matsu and stock up on ammunition, food and other supplies.

Brig. Gen. Lester Bork, chief U.S. Army advisor to the Formosa Government, voiced confidence the Nationalists could adequately supply the off-shore island even if Communist artillery resumed the bombardment. Back in Taipei after an inspection of Quemoy, he reported its air and sea supply system had been vastly improved.

Son Of Youngest Sullivan Brother Enlists In Navy

DES MOINES — The son of one of the five Sullivan brothers who perished together aboard the Cruiser Juneau in World War II was sworn into the Navy Wednesday.

He is 17-year-old James T. Sullivan, only child of Albert Sullivan, youngest of the five brothers who "wanted to stick together" in service. Albert was the only one of the brothers who was married.

All five brothers were aboard the cruiser when it was sunk Nov. 14, 1942 in the battle of the Solomon Islands.

Young Sullivan was accepted by the Navy Wednesday afternoon after a special physical examination. He was to leave Wednesday night for San Diego to enter naval boot camp.

He said he intends to make a career of the service. He wants to get into electronics in the Navy.

His mother, Mrs. Kathrine McFarland, has remarried and lives in Waterloo. James said she granted permission for his enlistment on condition he complete his final year of high school by correspondence.

James was only a year old when his father and four uncles enlisted in January, 1942 under special agreement from the Navy that they could stay together. A destroyer, USS The Sullivans, was named for them after their deaths. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan, still live in Waterloo.

Troops To Leave Lebanon By Oct. 31

WASHINGTON — All U.S. troops are to be pulled out of Lebanon by Oct. 31 "in view of the progress made toward stable international conditions."

This announcement by the State Department yesterday, while it had been expected, symbolized the growth of new hopes for peace in the Middle East and the world.

The announcement made note of U.S. and United Nations efforts to assure the security of Lebanon and said:

"It is the confident hope of the United States Government that the Republic of Lebanon, its sovereignty and independence strengthened, will move forward in unity, peace and prosperity."

About 7,000 American fighting men still in Lebanon are to be withdrawn, barring unforeseen developments. The total at one time were 16,000 and other thousands were on the alert for movement there.

Overoptimism Is Topic Of Nixon Speech

PHILADELPHIA — Vice President Nixon yesterday cautioned Americans against becoming too optimistic just because the Chinese Communists temporarily have stopped shooting at Quemoy.

Describing this as a time for watchful waiting, Mr. Nixon said: "We must at no cost drop our guard."

He said possible Chinese Communist aggression continues to threaten the free world's position in Asia.

The Vice-President spoke in an address prepared for a Republican testimonial dinner for retiring GOP Sen. Edward Martin only a few hours after the State Department announced the United States had stopped conveying Chinese Nationalist vessels to Quemoy.

Echoing the Department's statement that conveying will begin again if the Communists resume firing, Mr. Nixon said the lull in the Red's assault gives time to "assess our policies in that area."

Best Climate for Growth? General Telephone Territory

The Great Migration is under way—out of crowded metropolitan centers, into the areas General Telephone serves.

In suburban and rural America, populations are swelling at five times the big city rate. Industry is expanding at three times the national rate.

And that's where Gen Tel is installing new phones at the rate of over 15,000 each month.

That's where we're meeting the future with investments which—in new construction alone—will run $190 million in 1958.

Result: we are the nation's second largest telephone system.

America is on the move, and Gen Tel is moving with it—moving up!
