U.S. Begins 1-Year A-Test Ban

1st Installment Fee Payments Due Saturday

Typical Iowa Student Will Get Bill For $20

SUI students—or their parents, in some cases—will receive bills Saturday for the first installment payment on student fees for the semester, under the new fee payment plan instituted last month at SUI.

Students or parents will be billed for the first third of this semester's fees, plus any other charges incurred, such as dormitory room and board, auto registration and parking fees. The itemized statement will show a deduction for advance payments made prior to the opening of classes.

Pay By Nov. 12

Bills will be mailed directly to the student or his parents, depending upon their wishes as specified earlier this fall, according to University Secretary Leonard Brcka, who noted that payment must be made by no later than Nov. 12. A $5 "late payment" penalty will be assessed between Nov. 13 and Nov. 20, with student registration being cancelled on the latter date if payment has not yet been received. Students whose registration has been cancelled for this reason will be required to pay a reinstatement fee of $10, Brcka said.

One of the first major universities in the country to undertake the system of billing fees in installments, SUI expects the new arrangement to prove much more convenient for parents whose own income depends upon periodic wage or salary checks, and for students themselves, since they will no longer need to visit the University treasurer's office personally to pay various bills throughout the year, Brcka said. Some institutions require students to make full payment for room, board and fees before they are allowed to register for classes, he noted.

Divided Into Thirds

For a typical Iowa resident student in the SUI College of Liberal Arts, the Nov. 1 bill will be for $20. The itemized statement will show a charge of $110 for first-semester fees, less the required $50 advance payment (shown as a credit), with the remaining $60 fee charge being divided into thirds, the student thus being billed for the first of the three $20 payments. Other appropriate charges, including any carried over from the 1957-58 academic year, will also appear on the Nov. 1 bill, Brcka said.

He explained that all "credits" such as for advance payments or scholarships, will appear with a minus sign immediately following the amount, and the bill will show that all such "credits" have been deducted in computing the net charge to be paid.

Brcka urged that students mail in their payments, rather than bring them in personally, and said that mail payments must be made by check or money order, rather than in cash. He reminded also that the lower part of the form should be kept by the student for his own records, the upper part being returned with the payment so it may be properly credited to the student.

Light Shelling As Nationalists Enjoy Chiang's Birthday

TAIPEI (AP) — Nationalist China turned from war worries Friday to exuberant celebrations of President Chiang Kai-shek's 72nd birthday.

While the durable Nationalist leader spent the day in the seclusion at a rural retreat, his countrymen turned out for rallies up and down the island.

On the offshore island battlefield, the hostilities lapsed into sporadic shelling from Communist shore batteries.

Associated Press correspondent David Lancashire, in a dispatch from shell-pocked Quemoy, reported a light artillery duel through the day Thursday which continued after nightfall.

On Quemoy also, the Nationalist garrison was called out for a troop ceremony honoring Chiang's birthday.

Schools Now Facing 'TV Educated' Students

Porter Says This Hinders — And Helps

By TOM BURROWS Staff Writer

Our schools are faced with a new kind of student — a TV educated student. William E. Porter, associate professor of journalism, told a group at the Old Capitol Thursday night.

Porter, talking on the topic "Some Implications of the Revolution in Mass Communications" shared the platform on a discussion of educational projects with SUI President Virgil M. Hancher who explained the program and purpose of the Educational Policies Commission of which he is chairman. Porter's remarks were in regard to the commission's committee on mass communications and education which he directed.

New Phenomena

Because of TV, students come into classes with a wider range of experiences than did the students of pre-TV days, Porter said. They have seen the opera, a presidential inauguration, and the operation of a steel mill. This new phenomena both helps and hinders the educators, he said.

On the negative side, Porter explained that while the students of today are exposed to many experiences, these often are incorrect views or selected views that are misleading. Another deficit of TV learning is that it is passive education with a lack of actual student participation.

On the positive side, Porter told the group that closed-circuit television has great possibilities in the educational field, but that it will not reduce the number of school teachers needed. "It will be a presenter of material to free the teachers so they may be free to give personal attention to students and actually teach them."

Explains Commission

Hancher told the group how the Educational Policies Commission discusses current educational problems and tries to find intelligent solutions for them.

President Hancher said that one of the present problems in the educational field is that we don't understand our own educational policy. He continued that we lack a central authority on education, and therefore each institution has its own set of dogma that it teaches.

The discussions of educational projects by President Hancher and Porter was co-sponsored by the College of Education and the School of Journalism. E. T. Peterson, Dean of the College of Education, introduced the two speakers.

Nobel Medical Prizes Given To 3 American Geneticists

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The 1958 Nobel Prize in Medicine and Physiology was awarded Thursday to three American scientists for their work on problems of heredity. The work could have strong bearing on the future of cancer research.

One half of the $41,420 prizes goes to Dr. Joshua Lederberg, 33, of the University of Wisconsin, and the other half to Drs. E. L. Tatum, 49, of New York's Rockefeller Institute, and George Wells Beadle, 55, of the California Institute of Technology.

The award was the fourth Nobel Prize for this year. The only other Nobel Prize remaining to be awarded, for Peace, will be announced later.

In awarding half of the medical prize to Lederberg the committee said it was "for his discoveries concerning genetic recombination and the organization of the genetic material of bacteria."

The term genetic recombination means sexual life in the world of bacteria. Lederberg discovered that "this corresponds exactly to the normal sexual fertilization in the higher organisms."

The committee said the other half of the prize goes to Beadle

A Halloween Treat

BEWITCHING JUDY WEIK, A1, Spirit Lake, wouldn't promise to do any tricks but she did pose for a picture on Halloween Eve—just for a special treat. Goblins, gremlins, and particularly, ghosts and witches flew into Iowa City by the hundreds Thursday night to fix bad spells on SUI students and the like. Some trouble was caused when the ghosts and witches tried to enter some of the SUI housing units. Dorm advisors and housemothers were caught off guard when the ghosts tried to sneak in the back door and one advisor was reported to have given one witch three late minutes. However, the late minutes were cancelled and the housemothers put at ease when the gremlins came to the rescue and explained the situation. On All Hallow's Eve ghosts and witches have an unrestricted license to wander on any college campus.—Daily Iowan Photo by Jo Moore

SUI Prof. Tells IC Study Council Of School Needs

By DENNIS BROWN Staff Writer

Both major political parties were blamed Thursday for failure to provide capital improvement funds for state institutions, as SUI Young Democrats and Young Republicans squared off in a pre-election debate.

Two representatives from each organization spoke in the House Chamber of Old Capitol before an audience of approximately 25.

Failed Promise

Leading off for the Republicans, Miss Barbara Bjornstad, A2, Spencer, publicity chairman for the SUI Young Republicans, recalled that in 1957 Governor Herschel Loveless failed to carry out his promise to a group of SUI students to call a special session of the General Assembly on the capital improvement issue.

The promise came after the Governor vetoed an $11 million capital appropriations bill, sponsored by the Republican controlled General Assembly. The bill provided for a two and one-half percent sales tax strongly opposed by Loveless in his 1956 election campaign.

After making the promise, Miss Bjornstad said, "the Governor refused to call a special session on the grounds that the legislators would pass an act similar to the one he had vetoed."

"Loveless never produced sufficient evidence to back up this claim," she declared.

Political Football

appropriations bill the General Assembly had created a "political football."

By tacking on the sales tax provision, he said, the Republicans had forced a veto.

If the Republicans were sincere about capital improvements, he asked why did a $51 million long-range building program for state schools, which had the Governor's support, fail to pass the House during the last session?

Calling the Governor "adept, shrewd, and smart," he said that it was quite an accomplishment for Loveless to do anything "when everyone in the state government was trying to politic against him."

Lloyd Courter, L3, Des Moines, former chairman of the SUI Young Republicans, called the Republican candidate for governor, William Murray, "a political newcomer, with no political debts."

Re-awakened Iowans

Even if Murray is not elected, he said, the Republican candidate has re-awakened the people of Iowa to the importance of higher education and schools.

Courter declared that the Democratic tax program, which would transfer some of the funds now going to counties for road and school aid to the state general fund, would result in higher property taxes for already overburdened property owners.

Peggy Anne Brooks, N3, Burlington, program chairman for the young Democrats, took issue with the Republican supported right-to-work law now existing in Iowa.

She called it, in reality, a denial of the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively.

Sir John's program, already hailed in Edinburgh, on the Continent and wherever it has been seen and heard on this side of the Atlantic, consists of extracts from Shakespeare's poems and plays taken from an anthology by George Rylands.

It is in three parts: "Youth," in which the material touches on childhood, magic, nature, sport, love and jealousy; "Manhood," covering war, civil strife, kingship, government, society, passion and character; and "Old Age," dealing with sickness, death, man against himself, old age and time.

Price of admission for SUI student is $1; for faculty, staff and the general public, $1.50. Tickets can be purchased at the reservation desk in the East Lobby of Iowa Memorial Union. Students must also present their ID cards at the door Saturday night.

Still Time To Get Tickets To See Gielgud Saturday

Tickets are still available for English actor Sir John Gielgud's performance of "Shakespeare's Ages of Man," to be given in Macbride Auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m.

Radioactivity Jump Scares Los Angeles

Mayor Demands Nevada Tests Cease

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sharp increase in radioactivity over Southern California Thursday set off a wave of indignation and apprehension.

Mayor Norris Poulson telephoned a protest to Washington. He demanded that the all but completed atomic weapons tests in Nevada be halted immediately.

The City Health Department said the amount of radioactivity in the air rose 20 per cent above the accepted safe level for human consumption over a period of months.

The Atomic Energy Commission which has been busy rushing completion of weapons tests in Nevada, insisted there was no danger.

Near Panic

Reports of the spurt in radioactivity created excitement in Los Angeles. Newspaper and official switchboards received hundreds of calls inquiring of possible danger.

Workers in civic office buildings closed windows.

"Fallout perils L.A.," headlined the Herald Express. "Atom fallout rise here sets off panic," said the Mirror News banner.

The AEC insisted it is a temporary situation and that the radioactivity will dissipate quickly. A spokesman said the amount is equal only to the exposure a person would get under normal circumstances over two months.

But Mayor Poulson was alarmed because wind was carrying fallout from Nevada tests over his city.

He talked by telephone with Atomic Energy Commissioner W. F. Libby. Poulson said he was told the last scheduled shot in Nevada would be called off.

But AEC scientists went ahead with plans to fire another shot Thursday night if weather conditions permit.

Difference Of Opinion

In Washington, Libby said: "There was some fallout in Los Angeles but it is not hazardous."

There was difference of opinion among scientists on the situation.

Dr. Albert W. Bellamy, University of California at Los Angeles biologist, advised:

"Don't press the panic button."

He said a person would have to be exposed to 10 times the amount measured for several months to have his health impaired.

Dr. Paul Saltman, University of Southern California professor of biochemistry, said:

"Radiation exposure is a cumulative thing. What happens today we always have with us. True, the maximum permissible level is a continuous level. But radiation that is benign today stays — almost forever."

Must Reporter Reveal Source Of His News?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Thursday was asked to declare newspaper reporters have a constitutional right to refuse to reveal news sources.

The request was made in an appeal filed on behalf of television columnist Marie Torre of the New York Herald Tribune. She was sentenced to 10 days in jail for refusing to divulge the source of a story she wrote about a singer Judy Garland.

1st Amendment

Miss Torre based her defense on the Constitution's First Amendment which guarantees freedom of the press. She contended the amendment gave her the right to decline to disclose the name of a Columbia Broadcasting System executive who assertedly was the source of information for the story about Miss Garland.

"At stake is the public's right to know the news—and the press freedom to gather it," the appeal to the Supreme Court said. "This case presents a question of vital importance to every newspaper in the United States."

Upheld Conviction

Later the U. S. Circuit Court in New York upheld the contempt conviction of Miss Torre. An opinion by Judge Potter Stewart (now a Supreme Court justice) declared, "The concept that it is the duty of a witness to testify in a court of laws has roots as deep as does the guarantee of a free press."

Miss Torre's article was published by the Herald Tribune on Jan. 10, 1957. Miss Garland later filed a $1,393,333 breach of contract and libel suit against CBS. Neither Miss Torre nor the Herald Tribune was named as a defendant in the suit.

But Miss Torre became involved when she was called as witness and refused to give the name of the CBS executive.

The Moscow statement said that if America and Britain agree to a permanent ban on tests the U.S.S.R. will cease its own testing "irrespective even of the fact that the Soviet Union has carried out fewer experimental tests."

The Soviets described as "absurd" the allegations that the U.S.S.R. is lagging behind the West in nuclear techniques and therefore has lost interest in halting the tests.

Huge Atom Test Rips Mesa

ATOMIC NUCLEAR PROVING GROUNDS, NEV. (AP) — The United States ended its fall nuclear test series Thursday with a record underground blast that ripped a huge hole in the side of a mesa.

The climactic left scientists weary from days of round-the-clock effort to finish the series by the deadline time Thursday.

The climactic shot came at 7 a.m. when the calm of a desert sunrise was rent by a tremendous explosion that sent a 500-foot-wide column of debris soaring 1,000 feet over a mesa.

It came from a device fired in a chamber at the end of a tunnel 2,600 feet into the side of a mesa. The result was equal to 20,000 tons of TNT, believed the mightiest underground blast ever. The Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs of World War II were rated at the same power.

Newsmen 4½ miles away first felt a jolting earthquake — like shock, then saw the great fountain of rock and sand rise majestically heavenward from a point on the mesa's slope directly above the blast chamber.

Thus ended a series unique for two things: 1. A number of low-powered blasts aimed at developing an arsenal of small, easily handled atomic weapons; 2. A number of underground shots designed to explore peacetime uses for atomic energy.

An upcoming blast near Carlsbad, N.M. — the proposed ban doesn't apply to underground tests — is expressly for peacetime experimentation. Scientists hope to learn from it more about isotopes — abnormal varieties of the elements — and the possibility of using underground atomic heat as a source of power.

Pledges Halt Even Though Soviets Balk

Nuclear Powers Meet Today In Geneva

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union Thursday night rejected Western proposals to ban nuclear weapons testing for one year. It was an unpromising prelude to American-British-Soviet talks opening here today on possibilities of a permanent nuclear cease-fire.

But the United States countered in Washington with an announcement that unless the Russians carry out another nuclear weapons test, the United States will maintain its own ban for one year beginning today.

Both Britain and the United States said the talks with the Russians will go on whether the Russians test nuclear weapons or not.

Dropped Demands

The delegations of the three atom powers are here and it appeared the Russians had dropped their demands of a month ago that the conference should be raised to foreign minister's level.

Lincoln White, the U.S. State Department spokesman in Washington, said the Soviet notes rejecting the U.S.-British proposals for the 1-year ban indicated they are not insisting on the presence of foreign ministers at the meeting.

In the face of the Soviet note's insistence that tests be banned for all time, White remarked that the United States and Britain had moved in their 1-year proposal toward the Soviet proposal in 1957 for a two or three year ban.

White said Soviet claims that a 1-year ban would give the West a military advantage provided curious inconsistencies when ranged alongside a statement in the note that it is absurd to say the Western powers have nuclear research superiority.

The delegations here held a housekeeping meeting with U.N. officials to arrange for translations and similar U.N. services.

Nothing Accomplished

But at the U.N. in New York, three weeks of debate in an effort to give the conferees some U.N. guidance came to nothing. The United States agreed conditionally to support an Indian resolution recommending immediate discontinuance of nuclear tests without any restriction on their resumption.

The Indians, backed up by a number of small nations, also called for early agreement on a control system for a test ban, a step the West insists on.

The Soviet delegation has not given an answer here and the Indian move appeared doomed.

The Soviet Union has demanded all along that there be "immediate and universal cessation for all time of nuclear weapons tests" without regard to whether the three atom powers can agree on a system to prevent cheating.

The Moscow statement said that if America and Britain agree to a permanent ban on tests the U.S.S.R. will cease its own testing "irrespective even of the fact that the Soviet Union has carried out fewer experimental tests."

The Soviets described as "absurd" the allegations that the U.S.S.R. is lagging behind the West in nuclear techniques and therefore has lost interest in halting the tests.

Students ran toward the SUI campus one November night in 1868, and lighted a bonfire on the Old Capitol east lawn.

The next morning people stood in Iowa City streets and squares, talking about the Republican victory in the 1868 election.

Most SUI Students Were Republicans

"I'll find a gift for SUI," the influential Republican said. A few weeks later the man told other Republicans he had found a gift for SUI.

Then, in 1872, city workers began to build a plank sidewalk around the SUI campus.

"That sidewalk is a Republican gift to SUI!" Democrats fumed. Insulted city officials said it wasn't a gift.

Another Bonfire, Another Celebration

The next night students ran toward the SUI campus, and lighted a bonfire on the Old Capitol lawn.

"We won!" shouted Democrats, who had won several local offices. Many SUI students had voted Democratic.

Wormold, a timid gentleman in Havana with a small retail vacuum business and a daughter Milly whom it doesn't quite support, is approached by the British Secret Service and asked to head the local spy ring.

I agree with Wormold that the operation has its ridiculous aspects, and I find in general it's a bit too amiable, and that the suspense begins at the wrong end.

Your Vote For

Bill Murray

Will Be A Vote for Better Higher Education for Iowa-

Bill Murray has been an educator more than 30 years. He knows the problems of Iowa higher education, at first hand, through direct experience.

There is evidence that he has good understanding of the needs of SUI and of ISTC, as well as of Iowa State. There is evidence too that he's willing to ACT to improve salaries, to provide added general expense funds, to get needed equipment, and to put up the necessary buildings, at all three of the schools.

He knows that higher education in Iowa must be prepared for rising enrollment - and he knows that Iowa MUST be ready to educate these young people, and to educate them ADEQUATELY.

He has endorsed specifically the statement in the 1958 Republican state platform which recommends "that steps be taken immediately to provide direct state appropriations large enough to meet current needs for buildings, utilities, equipment, and personnel."

It Is Important Also To REMEMBER THESE ACTIONS BY GOVERNOR LOVELESS

(To SUI faculty members and staff: In judging the statements made in a letter sent recently by Governor Loveless to many SUI faculty members, staff members and students, it is important to keep in mind also the following material.)

1. Governor Loveless Urged A Building Appropriations Cut of 38 Per Cent

The need for buildings at SUI, ISC, and ISTC is of course very serious. Many of these needs are critical.

Accordingly, the regents asked $16,251,085 for the 1957-59 biennium, and this request was submitted to Governor Loveless.

Governor Loveless recommended to the legislature that only $9,960,390 be granted.

Governor Loveless recommended a reduction of $6,290,695, A CUT OF 38.7 PER CENT from the regents' askings.

(Footnote: In the Iowa house of representatives in April, 1957, Representative Merle Hagedorn made a vigorous speech on building needs at state schools.

He said he was in favor of CUTTING $3,600,000 from the proposed allocation for buildings at SUI, ISC, and ISTC.

Representative Hagedorn is a Democrat. He was the Democrat floor leader in the Iowa house.

He was supporting an amendment offered by Representative Andrew Frommelt of Dubuque.

Representative Frommelt is also a Democrat.)

2. Governor Loveless Cut the Operating Budget Request by 10 Per Cent

The board of regents, anxious to improve faculty and staff salaries, asked an SUI appropriation of $23,050,534 for the 1957-59 biennium. (Of this amount, over $2,550,000 was for salary increases.)

Faculty and staff members are well aware that the regents' requests for salary increases and other purposes are actual needs. These requests do not contain padding.

However, Governor Loveless REDUCED this asking to $20,516,170 in his recommendations to the legislature.

That is, he "set the pattern" by CUTTING MORE THAN $2,530,000 from the askings of the regents.

The cut recommended by Governor Loveless was a cut of well over 10 per cent.

This Democrat record can NOT be described as "Solid Support for Higher Education."

Crazy Costumes Are Needed For Halloween Festivities

by DONNA BLAUFUSS
Society Editor

The bewitching hours of Halloween weekend will be spent attending campus costume parties that would put goblins' attire to shame. Sigma Delta Tau social sorority will have a "Stork Club Party" from 9 p.m. until midnight Saturday at the chapter house. Although the name might give the impression that a sophisticated time will be had by all, it's the baby type stork they mean.

Invitations for the dates were miniature cloth diapers, and the house will be decorated with storks and baby toys for the event. Entertainment and favors will complement the theme. The costumed couples will dance in their booties to Shirley Porter and his band. It's off to Moscow for the "Kremlin Kick" to be held at the Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity house from 9 p.m. until midnight Friday. Peasant skirts and heavy black boots probably will dominate the scene, as Russian attire is required. Dance music will be played by Shirley Porter and his band.

Adding to the Halloween costume spirit, members of Delta Upsilon social fraternity will hold their annual "Hobo Party" from 8 until midnight Saturday evening. Coed hoboes will be picked up at 5:30 p.m. in a bus that will take them to the dinner. Bumping it all evening, the couples will return to the DU chapter house to find one lounge decorated like an alley and the other representing a park scene.

Bob Watson and his band will play for the tattered crowd.

Members of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority are going western Saturday night for their "Ranch Romp" from 8 to 11 p.m. The cowboy crowd will start the evening with a hayride at a stable west of Solon. Sixshooters may come in handy to keep the witches and goblins away at the barbeque and songfest following the ride.

An international western party will be held Friday night at 6:30 in the 4-H Pavilion for international students, faculty members and exchange visitors at University Hospitals.

The "Chuck Wagon Supper" will be followed by music and square dancing to acquaint the guests with a long popular country social event. Music will be provided by Musician's Local No. 450, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Copeland will call the square dancing.

Transportation will be furnished from the International Center at 6 p.m. for the party sponsored by the Iowa City Woman's Club.

From ranching to farming it goes, and here we are at the Beta Theta Pi annual "Barn Party" Saturday from 9 p.m. until midnight.

The chapter house will be transformed into a barn, and live animals and straw will fill the rooms vacated of furniture. The Bill Wessler Trio will provide the musical accompaniment for this hoedown affair.

The novelty costume parties have not left Halloween activities out of the picture, however.

Members of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity will have their Halloween costume party from 8 p.m. until midnight Friday. Records will supply the music for dancing.

Ripe For Upset

If a team was ever ripe for an upset Iowa's Hawkeyes are Saturday. That is if you can call losing to a team that has beaten you 15 times and tied you twice in 19 games as an upset.

Iowa is rated first or second in all the polls, the Hawkeyes are undefeated, they are leading the Big Ten and will field a healthy team.

2-2-1 Record

Michigan is unrated, the Wolverines have won two lost two and tied one, they are in a tie for fifth place in the Big Ten and have been hard hit by injuries and scandals.

All indications are for an Iowa victory and I'll go along with that—but Michigan is a proud team and will fight to the last man to maintain its superiority over the Hawkeyes.

However, after years of frustration against his alma mater, this is the year Forest Evashevski should bring home the bacon. Two 14-13 losses to Michigan, another loss after building a 2-touchdown lead and last season's 21-21 tie still rankle the Hawkeyes and despite the fact they are the ripest team in the nation for an upset—it will not happen this Saturday.

Minnesota Nov. 8 looks like the sneaker to me. An Iowa win over Michigan and the Ohio State game here Nov. 15 would put the Gophers in another upset situation. Minnesota has not won a game all year although all were close contests.

Just Waiting

Murray Warmath's Gophers may just be lying in waiting for the Hawkeyes to fly in and pluck a few feathers.

But I'm getting a week ahead of myself. Let's look at Michigan.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan had counted heavily on fullback John Herstein this year, but the big fullback is now on the shelf with a knee injury. Willie Smith, first string tackle, is also out for the season with injuries.

But Herstein's replacement, Tony Rio, is out of the lineup for a different reason. Instead of sweating out the scores of other games while on the field, Rio will be able to take it easy and listen now while watching from the stands or listening to a play-by-play.

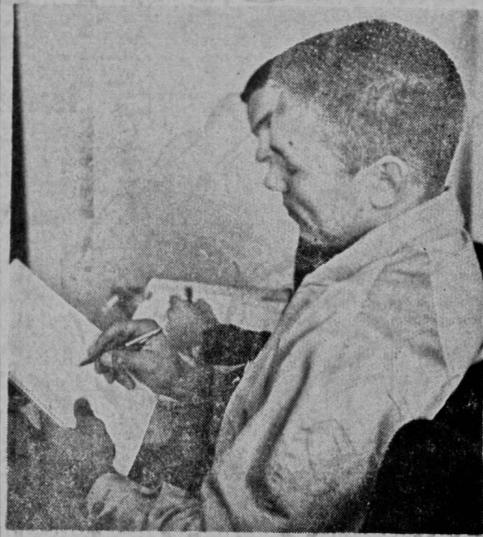

The case was broken by two staff writers on the Michigan Daily. The Michigan Daily is the University of Michigan's daily newspaper. The two, Burton Huthwaite and Philip Munck, were working with the police and got into the ring with the Daily's associate sports editor, who is implicated too.

Michigan may not have as good a football team this year as usual, but they have some excellent sleuths.

No Parlays Here

Maybe I'm naive or just haven't heard about it, but the parlay card is not a threat here. I've had my ear to the ground lately (the dirtier ear) and haven't heard of a single case. You'd just lose your money if you bet against Iowa anyway.

Evy Names 38 Men To Go— Hawks Ready For Michigan

DON SHIPANIK, IOWA GUARD, forgot all about the lecture in one of his classes this week and began diagramming football plays on his notebook instead. Shipanik, at 169 pounds, is probably the lightest interior lineman in the Big Ten and with fellow Chicagoans John Sawin and Lloyd Humphreys has bolstered the Iowa line in great fashion.—Daily Iowan Photo by Katie Harris.

The Iowa grid squad worked out in sweatclothes Thursday behind closed doors as coach Forest Evashevski prepared the Hawks for Saturday's Big Ten contest at Michigan.

The Hawkeyes will work out again briefly this afternoon before embarking by plane for Michigan about 1 p.m. Iowa is expected to be in top shape for the Wolverines—a team they have not defeated since 1924.

Saturday's game is expected to be witnessed by between 65,000 to 70,000 fans. Michigan's stadium has a seating capacity of 101,001—a mark that has been reached twice in the mammoth stadium.

Iowa officials have indicated that the game will not be shown on closed circuit TV here.

Evashevski named a 38-man traveling squad for the second road game of the year for the undefeated Hawkeyes. On its last venture from Iowa City, Iowa took a 20-9 decision over previously unbeaten Wisconsin at Madison.

The traveling squad:
Ends: Don Norton, Curt Merz, Jeff Langston, Bob Prescott, Al Miller.

Tackles: John Burroughs, John

Sawin, Mac Lewis, Chuck Lee, Bob Hain, Bill Scott.

Guards: Gary Grouwinkel, Don Shipanik, Hugh Drake, Bill Ringer, Gerry Novack, Ernie Mielke, Mark Manders.

Centers: Lloyd Humphreys, Bill Lapham, Steve Turner.

Quarterbacks: Randy Duncan, Mitch Ogiole, Olen Treadway, Mike Lewis, Tom Moore.

Halfbacks: Kevin Furlong, Ray Jauch, Bob Jeter, Willie Fleming, Bill Gravel, Jerry Mauren, Rich Gajda, Jim Spaan, John Brown.

Fullbacks: Don Horn, John Nocera, Fred Long.

More Defensive Drills For Wolverine Squad

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Defense occupied Michigan Thursday as it groomed for Saturday's game with Iowa.

Big Ten statistics show the Hawkeyes with the best offense in the conference. The same figures place Michigan at the bottom defensively.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan, who doesn't believe Michigan has any jinx on Iowa, said it would take an inspired performance by the Wolverines to win.

Touchdown Tendency

By ALLEN N. SMITH

Hawks 13-Point Favorites; Notre Dame Over Navy By 7

In Big Ten skirmishes this week, No. 1 Iowa should down Michigan by 13 points, eighth-ranked Purdue is expected to slip past Illinois by seven, and Wisconsin appears to be one touchdown better than Michigan State in the Smith Touchdown Tendency System of Ratings.

The eyes of the college football world, however, turn to Baltimore, Md. and Evanston, Ill., where two battles of the nation's grid goliaths are scheduled.

Notre Dame risks its No. 10 position against Navy at Baltimore and is calculated to torpedo the Midshipmen by seven.

The Midwestern collision should see Ohio State, the System's No. 5 club, gaining a 7-point decision from ninth-rated Northwestern.

The Duke-Georgia Tech contest will be a thriller with the Engineers favored to take the Blue Devils by seven.

Pittsburgh and Syracuse get together at Syracuse with the Panthers 6-point choices. Army is calculated to down Colgate by 41, and Dartmouth figures to topple Yale by 10. Princeton should defeat Brown by one while Harvard is downing Pennsylvania by six.

In Southeastern Conference commitments, the System figures a 7-point bulge for Auburn over Florida, Alabama a one-point victim of Georgia, and Mississippi a 7-point loser to fourth-rated Louisiana State.

North Carolina is slated to dump Tennessee by seven, while Clemson is gaining an 8-point decision over Wake Forest. Vanderbilt should subdue Miami (Fla.) by eight.

In Southwest encounters, Texas Christian can throttle Baylor by seven Texas A. & M. is expected to annex a one-touchdown win over Arkansas and Texas should overcome Southern Methodist by six. Oklahoma gets a 7-point nod over Colorado.

On the Pacific Coast it's California by seven over Oregon State. Southern California over Stanford by seven, and Washington State by six over UCLA. Oregon is picked by six over Washington.

Smith Figures Forecasts Only On Math, Statistics

How does Allen N. Smith figure his ratings and predictions?

The Smith Touchdown Tendency System of Ratings is a combination of mathematics and statistical studies. Factors such as sectional favoritisms, hunches and popular consensuses are ignored by the system in its football predictions.

The Smith system is based on the "touchdown tendencies" of the opposing teams plus the offensive and defensive factors of each team.

Here is what is meant by "touchdown tendency."

A team that rolls up terrific yardage, yet scores only a few points, has a high yard per point ratio, that is, a low touchdown tendency. Conversely, a team such as the 1957 Michigan State squad which was capable of scoring from any part of the field, has a low yard per point ratio and, therefore, a high touchdown tendency.

After determining the teams' tendencies and their offensive and defensive factors, both passing and rushing, these figures are substituted in a set of simultaneous equations, from which is determined the winner and point difference between the two teams.

Because of their sound statistical and mathematical background, the Smith ratings forecast the winners and point differences with a high degree of accuracy.

The system, like any other such affair, becomes more accurate as the season progresses, due to the greater amount of data available on which to base calculations.

The pure mathematics of the touchdown tendency system is adjusted to take into account such vital factors as injuries to key members, home teams and grudge battles.

Since 1948, its first year of publication, the Smith system has been the most accurate one in the nation. The system has proved its consistency over the years with an average record of being right 83 per cent of more than 20,000 games forecast.

Smith Paces Cards To 7-2 Win Over Japanese All-Stars

NAGOYA, Japan (AP)—Bobby Gene Smith led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the Japan All-Stars Thursday with a home run, two doubles and a single. It was the Cards' fourth victory in five games on their 16-game tour of Japan.

Joe Cunningham also hit a homer for the big leaguers with Ken Boyer on base in the fourth inning. He also singled in the eighth and scored with catcher Gene Green on Smith's second double. Larry Jackson shut out the All-Stars for seven innings with only five hits. The Cards' winning pitcher also hit what should have been a triple but wound up as a loud out when he failed to touch first base in the fifth after slamming a long drive to right center.

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Shortstop Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, the major league home run leader this past season, topped the voting for the 1958 Associated Press major league all-star team named Thursday. Banks was named by 160 of the 173 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America participating in the annual poll.

There were only four repeaters from last year's squad. They were first baseman Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, outfielder Hank Aaron and left handed pitcher Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves and outfielder Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees.

The others picked were second baseman Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, third baseman Frank Thomas of the Pittsburgh Pirates, outfielder Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, catcher Del Crandall of the Braves and right handed pitcher Bob Turley of the Yankees.

Thus National Leaguers filled seven of the 10 positions. Spahn ranked closest to Banks in the vote-getting with 155, followed by Musial with 134, Mays 132, Turley 113, Aaron 100, Mantle 91 and Fox 85.

2 Close Picks
The balloting for catcher and third baseman produced the most competition. Crandall received 62 votes as compared to 43 for catcher Sherm Lollar of the White Sox. Thomas was named on 64 ballots while third baseman Frank Malone of the Boston Red Sox collected 44 votes.

Six of the all-stars hit .300 or better, headed by Mays, .347. Musial batted .337, Aaron .326, Banks .313, Mantle .304 and Fox .300. Banks paced the majors in homers with 47 and runs batted in with 129. Mantle was the American League home run leader with 42.

Spahn won 20 or more games for the ninth time in his career, compiling a 22-11 won-lost record and .667 percentage. He tied teammate Lew Burdette for top percentage in the National loop. His earned run average was 3.07.

Highest Percentage
Turley had the highest won-lost percentage in the AL, .750. He won 21 and lost 7 and posted a 2.88 ERA.

Both league batting champions, outfielders Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Richie Ashborn of the Philadelphia Phils, were second team choices. Boston's Jackie Jensen was the third outfielder on the second squad.

Others voted to the second team were: First base — Orlando Cepeda, Giants (21); second base — Bill Mazerowski, Pirates (48); shortstop — Luis Aparicio, White Sox (8); left handed pitcher — Whitey Ford, Yanks (9) and right handed pitcher — Bob Friend, Pirates (40).

Champ Bassey In Nontitle Bout With Costa Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Hogan (Kid) Hamia in Paris, June 24, 1957. Bassey, the world featherweight champion, adds class to tonight's boxing show at Madison Square Garden in a nontitle 10-round match with Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn.

Bassey is expected to brush past Costa, a fancy boxer but weak puncher, en route to a tentative defense in Los Angeles early next year. He may meet the winner of a Davey Moore-Ricardo Moreno elimination to be held in Los Angeles on Nov. 20.

First Since Title
The 10-round match, scheduled for 9 p.m. (CST) will give network radio and television fans their first look at Sandy Saddler's successor since he won the crowd.

KWWL-TV Waterloo, Channel 7 and WOC-TV Davenport, Channel 6 will televise the scrap in the Iowa City area. As usual, New York rules will apply with two judges and a referee scoring by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case of even rounds.

Bassey comes from Nigeria. He now fights out of Liverpool, England. He is handled by George Biddies, a Leicester pub keeper.

When Saddler retired in 1957, Bassey came to the United States to participate in an elimination tournament. He outpointed Miguel Berrios in 12 rounds at Washington, April 26, 1957. That was his only TV appearance. He went home and finally won the championship by knocking out Cherif

KO Over Moreno
Bassey's only defense was last April 1 in Los Angeles when he knocked out Moreno in three rounds. He stopped Willie Pep in nine rounds at Boston, Sept. 20, in an over-the-weight bout.

Unbeaten in his last eight starts, Bassey has lost only two fights in the last five years. The 26-year-old champion has a career record of 52-10-1 dating back to 1949. He is a compact 5'3" boxer with a solid punch.

Costa also was in that elimination tournament after Saddler retired. He lost to Berrios in 1957. After spending a year in the Army, Costa returned to the ring in March 1958. He has won three of four beatings Iggy Maldonado twice and Al Tisi once. Sonney Leon defeated him in Caracas, Venezuela.

Martin was arrested by state police at the request of Ann Arbor police who have been investigating football gambling for five weeks.

Seven University of Michigan athletes, were arrested on the same charge Tuesday. The seven stood to say if there was a tie-in between gambling activities on the two campuses.

Maximum penalty for conviction of the misdemeanor is 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.

THE RECORD SPEAKS: "FRED SCHWENGEL Is Your Man"

One of the things we as voters should not do is judge candidates by their ability to make flowery speeches about their potential capabilities. On the other hand, one of the best means by which we can compare the abilities of two candidates for a political office is to look at their respective legislative records.

CANDIDATES	SCHWENGEL	OPPONENT
TIME SPENT IN IOWA LEGISLATURE	1944-54 (House of Representatives)	1950-58 (Senate)
TOTAL BILLS INTRODUCED	238	104
TOTAL BILLS PASSED AND SIGNED BY GOVERNOR	54	14

(THESE FIGURES TAKEN FROM HOUSE AND SENATE RECORDS)

The above comparison should prove conclusively to any conscientious and sincere voter that Fred Schwengel has "OUT-PRODUCED" his opponent very substantially. Yes, we should vote for a man who has proven his ability as a Representative in the Iowa Legislature for the past 4 years. That man is Fred Schwengel.

Johnson Returns Radical Charge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), threw the Republicans' charge of political radicalism right back at them Thursday night. Vice President Richard Nixon proclaimed a "meat and potatoes" line, but the GOP's election chances are the best in years. The Democrats are "stumbling toward the finish line," he said.

Johnson Democrat Adlai Stevenson said the six years of the Eisenhower Administration have brought the country one crisis after another.

These leading partisans in the campaign culminating in next Tuesday's elections spoke out anew while President Eisenhower prepared to deliver a nationwide TV-radio speech from Baltimore Friday night.

Mr. Eisenhower's speech will wind up the campaign as far as he is concerned, except for a trip he and Mrs. Eisenhower will make to Gettysburg Tuesday to vote. They will return to the White House to hear the election returns. The big question is whether Mr. Eisenhower will have a Democratic or Republican Congress to work with in the last two years of his term.

Sen. Johnson, the No. 1 Democrat in the Senate, discussed the radicalism charge in a speech prepared for a Democratic dinner in Indianapolis.

"If the Democratic party is guilty of 'political radicalism,'" Johnson said, "then President Eisenhower and his Administration have acquiesced in 'political radicalism' for six years during two of which there were Republican majorities in Congress."

Johnson said Mr. Eisenhower has not asked for the repeal of any law passed under Democratic auspices in the 20 years preceding his inauguration.

Vice President Nixon was campaigning again through the Middle West at Fort Dodge, Iowa, in the afternoon and Wichita, Kan., Thursday night.

Pitching his arguments to the farmers, Nixon said at Fort Dodge: "All the campaign oratory in the world cannot obscure the fact that in the 20 years of the New Deal and the Fair Deal, there was never prosperity on the farm except in war or as a result of war."

But now, he said, there has been a record gross farm income of $13.8 billion in the first half of 1958, and inflation in farmers' costs has been halted.

At Wichita, Nixon bore down on the theme that the Democrats have run out of gas and "have nothing left but hot air."

In his prepared speech, the vice president called on GOP workers to "pour it on all over the country" and said what happens in the last five days before the elections will decide many key races.

Stevenson made his political appeal in Chicago, where he was nominated for the presidency by the Democrats in 1952 and 1956.

He said that during all these recent years of crisis, as he called them, "the White House has been reassuring America that all was well at home and abroad."

Stevenson said that there has been a void "left by the failure of White House leadership."

Socialist Party In Italy Splits

ROME (AP) — The Italian Socialist party, the Communists' most powerful ally in Italy, split wide open Thursday.

Pietro Nenni, a Stalin prizewinner, resigned as party leader after suffering a personal defeat at the hands of a faction following the Communist party line.

Nenni, whose powerful personality long has dominated the party, has been moving away from his Communist ties ever since the Hungarian uprising in 1956.

At least four factions emerged from the meeting of the Socialist party's 87-member Central Committee.

The breakup fragments a Socialist movement already badly divided. In 1947 Giuseppe Saragat led thousands of anti-Communist Socialists out of the then pro-Communist party. They joined the Social Democratic party, which now is a part of Italy's coalition center government.

The Socialist party Central Committee rejected Nenni's resignation but the dispute has weakened the pro-Communist left in Italy.

Confident G.O.P. Will Win Tuesday At Polls—Murray

DES MOINES (AP) — William G. Murray, the Republican candidate for governor, Thursday night told the "Farmers for Murray" organization he was confident the Republicans would win the Iowa elections next Tuesday.

Murray, talking from Council Bluffs, participated in a telephone hookup discussion with the president and the eight district chairmen of the organization.

President Bill Sayre of Ackworth said there were enough farm votes to elect Murray and that it was up to the group to get out the vote.

The drive for votes will be spurred Friday when each of the district chairmen will hold telephone conferences with the county chairmen. This will be followed up Saturday with the county chairmen holding telephone conferences with the precinct and township chairmen. And on Monday the precinct chairmen will contact the voters.

Army Rests Case In Grease Trap Episodes

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (AP) — The Government rested its case Thursday in the general court-martial of a young Army officer charged in connection with the "grease trap" episodes at this infantry training base.

Lt. Gerald L. Wheatley, 23, Bridgeton, N.J., pleaded innocent to three charges of assault and battery, two of conduct unbecoming an officer and one charge of maltreating recruits.

Wheatley, a 1956 graduate of The Citadel, faces a maximum sentence of 3 1/2 years in prison and dismissal from the service if convicted on all six charges.

William A. Frisby, Asheville, N.C. — testified for the prosecution that he thought "the world had come to an end" when he and other fledgling soldiers first joined the recruit company commanded by Wheatley.

Frisby said sergeants under Wheatley's command "pulled us off trucks and started cussing and kicking us."

Highlight of the morning testimony came when two sergeants, who were members of the training company Wheatley once commanded, took refuge in a military Fifth Amendment when called as prosecution witnesses.

It's A Still Under Naval Shipyard Workbench

KITTERY, Maine (AP) — A Navy spokesman said Thursday a routine inspection at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard had revealed that a veteran employee was operating and illegal still under his work bench.

The employee, James W. Mackenzie, 46, of Elliot, is under $500 bail awaiting federal jury action. Officials said Mackenzie had converted a cheap commercial alcohol with the still that included a hot plate, a one quart laboratory beaker, copper tubing, and an electrical fan to cool the coils for distilling purposes. They said the product was safe to drink.

Landau, "December" Fiction Editor, requested that all interested persons attend a meeting at 410 S. Clinton St. Nov. 3, at 8 p.m. For further information, phone 2-4452.

"December," preparing for its third issue, will appear sometime before the Christmas holidays.

The new issue will feature an article entitled: "The Great Silence in Iowa City," "so outspoken and provocative that it must be printed anonymously," said Landau. The new issue will contain fic-

SENATOR IN HOSPITAL
BOSTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.), 66, Thursday underwent surgery at a Boston hospital for what his administrative assistant described as "a corrective prostatic operation."

The operation was performed at the Hahnemann Hospital in the Brighton district by Dr. Samuel E. Vose, a Boston surgeon.

Plan Survey To Evaluate Homecoming

The new Activities and Student Participation Homecoming Committee will begin their survey next week to evaluate the 1958 Homecoming festivities.

Student co-chairmen of the committee are C. Edwin Beman, C3, Des Moines, and Mary Lou Brecher, N4, Storm Lake.

Questionnaires will be mailed to all student housing units on campus and must be returned to Beman, Room B42, Quadrangle, by Nov. 12.

The questionnaires cover these topics: general reaction of students to Homecoming activities, comments on student participation in these activities, suggestions to improve activities, and new ideas for student events to improve student participation in Homecoming.

Need Help

Don Caviness, E2, Cedar Rapids, is also helping on the committee. Any student wanting to help may call Beman, x4218.

Miss Brecher and Beman will begin a series of personal interviews with students next week.

"We plan to talk to students between classes and on campus," Beman said, "and several of the Quadrangle men will help me conduct a telephone survey also."

Offer Suggestions

The committee will take the results of the survey to the University Homecoming committee meeting in December and offer suggestions to improve student participation and enthusiasm in Homecoming for 1959.

According to Edward M. Mielnik, assistant professor in Mechanical Engineering and head of the Homecoming committee, the New Activities and Student Participation Committee is a new committee this year.

"The committee's purpose is to inaugurate more activities for students at Homecoming and to obtain the students' opinion about the activities," Mielnik said.

"We would like to know if the students want Homecoming activities modified or improved," he concluded.

Lloyd Comments On Far East

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said Thursday that any U.S. capitulation to Communist Chinese force in the Formosa Strait would be bad for world peace.

Lloyd, opening a foreign affairs debate, called on the House of Commons to ponder what might be the consequences.

"One ultimate consequence," he said, "might be the withdrawal of the United States from the great responsibilities she has undertaken in the Far East. I believe only a tiny minority really believe that would be a good thing for the peace of the world."

THE DRESS PARADE

In all my years of observing coed fashions—and I have been arrested many times—I have never seen such verve, such dash, such Je ne sais quoi as can be found in this year's styles!

I am particularly enchanted by the new "baby waist" dresses which so many of you girls are favoring this season. How demure you all look in your "baby waists"! How sweet! How innocent! How colorful when your housemother lifts you up and burps you after dinner!

Another trend that leaves me limp with rapture is the oversized handbag. Goodbye to dinky little purses that hold nothing at all! Hurrah for today's sensibly sized bag with plenty of room for your makeup, your pens and pencils, your shelter half, your Slinky toy, your MG, and your Marlboros.

Did I say Marlboros? Certainly I said Marlboros. What girl can consider herself in the van, in the swim, and in the know, if she doesn't smoke Marlboros? What man, for that matter. Do you want a filter that is truly new, genuinely advanced, but at the same time, does not rob you of the full flavor of first-rate tobacco? Then get Marlboro. Also get matches because the pleasure you derive from a Marlboro is necessarily limited if unlit.

To return to coed fashions, let us now discuss footwear. The popular flat shoe was introduced several years ago when it became obvious that girls were growing taller than boys. For a while the flat shoes kept the sexes in a state of uneasy balance, but today they will no longer serve. Now, even in flats, girls are towering over their dates, for the feminine growth rate has continued to rise with disturbing speed. In fact, it is now thought possible that we will see fifteen-foot girls in our lifetime.

But science is working on the problem, and I feel sure American know-how will find an answer. Meanwhile, a temporary measure is available—the reverse wedgie.

The reverse wedgie is simply a wedgie turned around. This tilts a girl backward at a 45 degree angle and cuts as much as three feet off her height. It is, of course, impossible to walk in this position unless you have support, so your date will have to keep his arm around your waist at all times. This will tire him out in fairly short order; therefore you must constantly give him encouragement. Keep looking up at him and batting your lashes and repeating in awed tones, "How strong you are, Shorty!"

"I am Uncas, the last of the Mohicans!"

Next we turn to hair styling. The hair-do this year is definitely the cloche-coif. One sees very few crew cuts or Irene Castle bobs, and the new Mohican cut seems not to have caught on at all. In fact, I saw only one girl with a Mohican—Rhodelle H. Sigafos, a sophomore of Bennington. Her classmates laughed and laughed at her, but it was Rhodelle who had the last laugh, for one night a dark, handsome stranger leaped from behind a birch and linked his arm in Rhodelle's and said, "I am Uncas, the last of the Mohicans—but I need not be the last, dear lady, if you will but be my wife." Today they are happily married and run a candied-apple stand near Macon, Ga., and have three little Mohicans named Patti, Maxine, and Laverne.

Student Designs Rockets To Determine Radiation

By DON HANESWORTH
Staff Writer

DON GOEDEKE, a graduate student in physics, has designed several rockets which will attempt to produce more information about the radiation in the upper atmosphere. As soon as he receives the go-ahead signal, Don will fire the rockets at Fort Churchill, Canada.—Daily Iowan Photo by Jo Moore.

An SUI graduate student in physics has his fingers crossed—awaiting word that he has permission to fire 14 slender Dart rockets at Fort Churchill, on Canada's Hudson Bay.

A. Don Goedeke, 24, Independence, Mo., built the rockets with the aid of an IGY research grant. They are designed to detect radiation in the atmosphere 40 miles and more above the earth.

There is radiation at these altitudes, but the quantity and type is unknown. Goedeke wants to find out how the occurrence of the soft radiation is dependent upon time, and if possible, the type of radiation and where it comes from.

Soft radiation is low energy radiation which runs between 50 and 150 Kev. A Kev is 1,000 electron volts.

Soft Radiation

Goedeke believes that by firing the rockets he will be able to learn more about the nature of the soft radiation which has been found in past auroral and cosmic ray experiments.

Goedeke has designed an instrument package to measure the amount of radiation in space. He designed 14 Dart rockets each to fit on top of a larger rocket. The Dart are made out of .049 inch stainless steel tubing, 1 1/2 inch diameter. Inside each Dart is a small geiger tube to measure radiation.

He says that every time an X-ray is detected the geiger counter will click; this click will be sent by a small transmitter in the Dart to the Fort Churchill receiving station.

Military Type

The base or "booster" rocket is a standard military type called "Loki". It is five foot in length and three and one half inches in diameter, and weighs 41.6 pounds.

When the Dart is fitted on top of the Loki and fired, it will reach a maximum velocity of 4,700 feet per second in 1.9 seconds, which is the burn out time. Then the Dart section of the rocket will separate and coast on up to about 40 miles, Goedeke says.

Firing the rockets may sound like a simple research project—but it isn't.

Goedeke attempted six rocket experiments at Fort Churchill between Aug. 20 and Sept. 8 with little success. "The Darts broke up at the burn out point, where the velocity is at maximum, because the tubing was not strong enough to withstand the force," he said.

Israel Denies War Charges Made By Cairo Newspapers

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Israel Thursday night emphatically denied Cairo's allegations that it is preparing for war.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman declared: "There is not the slightest foundation for rumors put out from Cairo and elsewhere about mobilization or other warlike preparations in Israel. The whole story is an invention as everybody here can see for himself."

The Cairo areas charged Israel had begun mobilizing in the past 48 hours near the Jordan-Israeli demarcation line. The newspapers asserted the aim was to threaten Jordanians if they made any attempt against King Hussein.

Demon Jet Engine Busts Loose From Test Block; $50,000 Damage

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A Demon jet engine on a test block broke loose at the Boca Chica Naval Air Station Thursday night, starting a fire and causing damage estimated at $50,000.

Four sailors were injured slightly but after treatment returned to help bring the fire under control. The jet engine, under 15,000 pounds thrust, broke loose and hit the crash shack, which houses fire fighting equipment at the station eight miles east of Key West.

It overturned a fire engine, damaged a Cadillac automobile and careened off a hangar, setting it on fire.

Capt. R. O. Green, commanding officer of the air station, placed damage at $50,000.

Pope Considers Visit To France; Would Break Centuries-Old Tradition

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A high ranking churchman said Thursday Pope John XXIII is considering a visit to France this year. If he does, the new Pope will shatter a centuries-old tradition.

No reigning Pope in 100 years has journeyed outside Italy. Since 1890 no Pope has gone more than a dozen or so miles from Rome and Vatican City. It has been hundreds of years since a pontiff has traveled willingly as far away as France.

The 76-year-old pontiff also is thinking of visiting Venice, where he served as Patriarch before his election as Pope Tuesday by a conclave of cardinals.

Police Check Tip That Bombs Planted In Nixon's Wichita Hotel

WICHITA, KAN. (AP) — Police checked quickly Thursday an anonymous telephone call that three bombs had been planted at the main business district hotel where Vice President Richard Nixon was scheduled for an overnight stay.

At the time the anonymous call was received at police headquarters, less than three blocks from the hotel, the Nixon's auto caravan was en route to the hotel from the Municipal Airport where his plane landed shortly after 4 p.m.

Officers went to the hotel, where management representatives said they had heard nothing of such a call. A captain at headquarters who refused to be quoted by name indicated the call was considered a hoax, but being checked out.

Four Killed, Nine Injured In Cleveland Explosion-Fire

CLEVELAND (AP) — Four persons were killed and nine injured Thursday in an explosion and flash fire that sent poisonous fumes through an East Side factory.

Twenty-five firemen and two policemen who inhaled the fumes during rescue operations at the plant of Erico Products, Inc., were taken to hospitals for oxygen treatment.

Cause of the explosion was not determined immediately. It occurred on the first floor of the 3-story brick building where 15 persons were employed in research and mixing operations.

The plant manufactures arc welding equipment and railway signal devices. It employs more than 100 workers, including about 40 women.

SUI Reading Improvement Films To Be Used On TV

College level reading films, developed for the SUI Extension Division are now being used as part of an adult education program via television by KGLO-TV, Mason City.

The films were developed to improve reading rate and comprehension by William Eller, director of the Reading Laboratory and associate professor of education, and James B. Stroud, professor of education and psychology.

"To the best knowledge of the SUI Extension Division and station KGLO-TV, this is the first time that a reading efficiency course has ever been offered over television," Eller said.

In addition to the filmed programs seen on television, KGLO-TV provides interested viewers with packets of reading materials so that they can calculate reading speed and comprehension and keep track of their progress from week to week.

Interest in the current series of lessons on better reading was stimulated in the Mason City area by the showing of another SUI production, a sound film entitled "Reading Effectively," Eller said.

He explained that this latter film illustrates the types of bad habits which reduce the reading efficiency of most adults. It also shows what must be done to replace these undesirable habits with better techniques, Eller continued.

"These films are approximately the same as those offered in the reading improvement course on the SUI campus," Eller said.

This course has been available free, and without credit, to any SUI student or staff member each semester.

To Open Highway By-Pass East Of IC Next Week

The Highway 6 by-pass south and east of Iowa City will be opened to traffic early next week.

The new highway extends from the Scott church corner to the junction of Highways 218 and 1 in southwest Iowa City.

R. M. Tutton, district engineer at Cedar Rapids for the Highway Commission, said that he could not cite a specific day for the opening.

"To help you decide how you should vote in Tuesday's election

"HERE'S HOW I STAND—"

"ON AGRICULTURE, I believe in giving the midwest farmer greater freedom in growing and marketing, a chance for a fairer share of the nation's prosperity; greater sales of surpluses abroad, and research to effect broader use of farm products.

"ON BUSINESS, I believe in fairness to all, large or small, and I am determined to carry forward my program of research at SUI to help develop legislation solving many of the problems of small business.

"ON DEFENSE, I will continue to aggressively support reorganization and efficiency programs that will contribute to dollar savings without impairing the effectiveness of our armed forces in the space age.

"ON CONSERVATION, I will not falter in my efforts to continue to protect our natural resources — land and water — to the end that flood control, navigation and recreational facilities may be enlarged and improved, and our life-giving soil preserved for posterity.

"ON LABOR, my record shows my belief in the sound principles of collective bargaining, but I believe that the union member must be protected against all racketeering in the labor movement.

"ON FOREIGN POLICY, I stand firmly behind President Eisenhower's policy of firmness and good sense in support of free peoples everywhere, as they expand their programs to develop freedoms and liberties as we know them. These programs will develop an atmosphere where peace and understanding will prevail.

"ON GOVERNMENT, I pledge myself to the fight for economy and efficiency, especially as recommended by the Hoover report. I am anxious to continue my 'Week in Washington' project for college students and instructors in furtherance of a better knowledge and appreciation of the American way."

Student Wants To Return To Yugoslavia As Diplomat

By ANN HARRINGTON Staff Writer

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a running series of articles on interesting students on the SUI campus—some well known and some without any particular claim to fame. Any suggestions of names of students for this series will be appreciated.)

A typical looking college-boy wearing a corduroy suit, white shirt, and striped tie, didn't look at all like he'd left Yugoslavia only seven years ago.

And he didn't talk like it either. While he insisted he came to Iowa without knowing one word of English, his speech was excellent. The only time he didn't sound like a grass-roots Iowan was when he'd get excited, talk fast and say "da" for "the".

Diplomatic Service
Paul Sjeklocha, (pronounced Sjek-luch-uh) is a sophomore student at SUI with one goal in life — to go back to Yugoslavia as a member of the U.S. Diplomatic Service.

For a 20-year-old, Sjeklocha is feeling for his old home crept out of every word he uttered.

Born in Yugoslavia in the state of Montenegro a few years before the second world war, he experienced the occupation of that country by the Italians, Germans, and finally the Communists.

He boasts a little that before this time, his tiny state, half as big as Iowa, was able to withstand Turkish conquest for over 500 years. He becomes sad when talking about the result of the war and the present Communist rule.

Paul predicts an end to war and a resulting worldwide government, saying, "People hate war—we are now in the process of a meeting of ideas, and in perhaps 200 years we will have an international government."

From his experiences in Yugoslavia, Sjeklocha termed the Communist rule as "as bad as the Italian and German rule put together."

"We couldn't go to church — religion was outlawed. I would say I went to church about six times during my thirteen years in Yugoslavia."

He continued, "the police force is actually what keeps Communism going."

"There are four systems of police in Yugoslavia — all spying on each other."

"And during the war, too," he went on, "all of the steel was taken out of Yugoslavia for the Germans. Then of course no years afterward, we had no late editions of books, so in school every time religion was mentioned in a book, we had to scratch it out."

"I love Iowa though," he said, but still with a faraway look in his eyes. "Everyone at Woodward — where we now live on a farm — has been so good to me from the very first, and the same is true here at SUI."

"Someday I will go back —," he pounded his fist into his other hand, "And when I do, it will be as a member of the U.S. Diplomatic Service."

Iowa Cities Get Grants For Sewage Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Iowa municipalities Thursday received grants from the Public Health Service to help finance sewage disposal projects.

Davenport received a $250,000 grant on a $1,110,000 project; Wilton $58,000 on a $196,000 job; and Massena $12,040 toward a $40,135 development.

Australian Educator Observing Teaching Activities At SUI

J. P. Baxter, vice-chancellor of the University of New South Wales in Sydney, Australia, and chairman of Australia's atomic energy commission, is currently visiting SUI during a tour of educational institutions in the United States and Canada.

Emphasis On Hospital
Professor Baxter, whose post of vice-chancellor is a counterpart to that of president in many American universities, is observing various administrative and teaching activities at SUI, with particular emphasis upon the University's graduate program in hospital administration.

The Australian educator's special interest in the hospital course stems from the fact that the Kellogg Foundation, which has supported much of SUI's program, is financing a similar program at the University of New South Wales.

Hartman Visited Baxter
Gerhard Hartman, superintendent of University Hospitals at SUI and professor and director of the Iowa program, visited Professor Baxter's school in 1956 under the auspices of the Kellogg Foundation. The purpose of the visit was to assist in the creation of the Australian program. Professor Hartman continues to serve as consultant to the program.

Prior to coming to SUI, Professor Baxter visited the University of Montreal, where the honorary degree of doctor was conferred upon him in September.

The University of New South Wales has an enrollment of about 7,500 students. The school has "faculties" (counterparts of an American university's colleges) in sciences, engineering, technology, commerce, humanities and social sciences, and architecture. Plans are under way now for the establishment also of a faculty in medicine.

Professor Baxter is scheduled to return to Australia late in November.

12 Miners Tell Story Of 6-Day Entombment

SPRINGHILL, N. S. — Twelve sturdy miners emerged from a wrecked coal mine Thursday with a story of hunger, thirst, and despair during six black days of entombment.

"I just lay there and I prayed," said one miner of the days of darkness deep in the mine. Then when the click of a rescue crewman's pick Wednesday told them deliverance was near, "I hollered," said another.

The 12 rescued at dawn, said they had left dead comrades behind them in their tunnel. But rescue workers dug out, hoping for another near-miracle and that some of the 55 still missing might be alive.

The ordeal for the 12 began Thursday night when a massive shift of the earth-caused by pressures deep in the mine-trapped 174 men, killing at least 26.

The known death toll rose Thursday night to 31, however. One more body was brought up. Rescue workers said they had sighted four more.

That reduced to 50 the men to be accounted for. Frank Doxey, assistant to rescue director Harold Gordon, said the answer to their fate was at the end of about 420 feet more of the kind of digging, scrambling and clawing that accompanied the rescue of the 12 who were brought out alive early Thursday.

Lost 10 Pounds
Each of the 12 men had lost about 10 pounds, but doctors said they were in surprisingly good condition.

Hugh Guthro, 31, said the upheaval of rock and coal-miners call it a bump—had caught his group two miles from the entrance of Cumberland Mine No. 2 and more than 4,000 feet below the surface.

There was dust, darkness, and confusion. Buried up to his chest, Guthro could hear the cries of the dying.

"The floor came up and the ceiling came down," Wilfred Hunter said. "I was hurled about 15 feet along with more falling coal and rock and timber and iron than I ever saw before."

He said his boss and his buddy were only two steps behind him. Both were killed.

"We had a couple of lamps operating for a day or so, and I crawled around to look," Hunter said. "I saw my twin brother Frank and just gawped there. He was dead, but I couldn't leave him."

Joe McDonald, who suffered a thigh fracture, said he had been hurled against the tunnel ceiling and "when I came to, I was lying on a rock pile. Men were dying, and groaning and moaning all around me."

"I just lay there, and I prayed and thought about the Lord and asked him to bring me out stuff," he said. "That and the stuff we drank, that's what kept me alive."

Doctors said the men drank urine mixed with bark from shattered timbers when their meager water supplies ran out. The men had only a 2-quart can of water. It lasted three days with tight rationing.

Nixon Backs Murray As Outstanding Candidate

FORT DODGE (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew here Thursday with a campaign theme of "Republican peace and prosperity" and flew out again after sounding an all-out endorsement of the Iowa GOP gubernatorial candidate, William G. Murray.

A crowd estimated by police at 30,000 turned out to greet the vice president, and 15,000 were in City Square here for his address. It was "Dick Nixon Day" in the city and stores closed and classes were dismissed for the general of his visit.

In his personal remarks, Nixon declared that under the Democrats "there was never prosperity on the farm except in war or as a result of war."

By contrast, he asserted, a continuation of Eisenhower Administration policies means "prosperity based on peace rather than war."

The vice president said he visited with Murray on his flight from Chicago. Then he declared:

"I can tell this crowd here, whether you are Republican or Democrat, that this Murray is one of the most outstanding men ever nominated by either party . . . in any state."

Nixon also put in a plug for Bob Waggoner, the Republican who is seeking to oust Democrat Merwin Coad from his 6th District congressional seat.

The vice president said Waggoner was "an outstanding young man, typical of the kind of young leadership we need to meet the issues of today."

Nixon said "All those predictors who saw a landslide for a Democratic victory next Tuesday may be in for a surprise."

An aide to Nixon said the Fort Dodge crowd was the largest Nixon has addressed in his campaign travels this fall.

Mayor Marvin Vedvid of Fort Dodge presented the vice president with a plaque commemorating his visit.

From Fort Dodge, Nixon flew to Wichita where he said he planned a hard-hitting Republican rally address.

No Action On Activities Of Commerce Group

DES MOINES (AP) — The Polk County grand jury adjourned Thursday without taking any action on its investigation of alleged political activities in the Iowa Commerce Commission.

The probe apparently will be resumed by the next grand jury, to be impaneled Nov. 4.

The alleged political activity within the commerce commission concerns money collected by the Unit Club, an organization of commission employees which disbanded after testimony concerning its activities was given the Iowa Legislative Investigation Committee.

Real Estate Dealers Indicted By Grand Jury

WATERLOO (AP) — Ten Black Hawk County and one Mason City real estate dealers have been indicted by the Federal grand jury for allegedly violating Federal Housing Administration regulations, officials disclosed Thursday.

Five of the ten were indicted on three counts alleging the making of false statements to the FHA for the purpose of increasing insurance on a loan, for overstating the price of property sold to obtain an increase in FHA insurance, and for conspiracy to make false statements in connection with efforts to obtain insurance increases on FHA loans.

Though the indictments were returned Wednesday by the grand jury, the names were not made public under the court's instructions until the individuals were notified of the indictments. Bail has been set for each at $1,000 by Federal Judge Henry N. Graven. The defendants are expected to be arraigned within two weeks.

10 Iowans Indicted By Federal Grand Jury

SIoux CITY (AP) — A former postmaster was among a number of persons indicted by the federal grand jury at Waterloo, U.S. Attorney F. E. Van Alstine disclosed Thursday.

The former postmaster is Henry J. Willman, who held the office at Osterdock, a town in Clayton County, northeastern Iowa.

He was charged specifically with converting $300 of postal funds to his own use.

Other indictments charged the following offenses, Van Alstine said:

Conversion of Commodity Credit Corp. grain to their own use, John A. Bremmer, Sioux City; D. E. Benton, Westside; Ted Hilbert, Lu Verne; and Henry Truelson, formerly of Havelock.

Making false statements to the CCC Ray W. Nail, farmer of near Eagle Grove;

Retailing liquor without U.S. license, Ralph E. White, Sheldon; Interstate transportation of a forged instrument, George A. Brown, Sioux City;

Income tax evasion, Wm. De Vos, Sioux Center;

Mail fraud, Arnold J. Wilmes, Hinton.

Couple Indicted For Murder At Bluffs

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Ira F. Quakenbush, 35, and his wife Anna Mae, 37, of Tucumcari, N.M., were indicted on murder charges Thursday by a Pottawattamie County grand jury.

They were named in separate indictments in connection with the death of Herman B. Kohlwey, 77, who was found seriously injured last September 3 in the living quarters of his confectionary store here.

Kohlwey died two weeks later. Mr. and Mrs. Quakenbush and their 11-year-old daughter were taken into custody by police the day Kohlwey was found injured. They were picked up a short distance from the store.

Police said later the couple admitted having an argument with Kohlwey, during which he was struck.

District Judge Vernon Johnson ordered the couple held without bond. They have been in jail since their arrest.

Good Listening— Today On WSUI

"THE RAKE'S PROGRESS" with music by Igor Stravinsky and libretto by W. H. Auden and Chester Kallman will be WSUI's opera presentation at 8:00 p.m. Performers are drawn from the Metropolitan Opera Company and include Blanche Thebom, contralto; Hilde Gueden, soprano; Eugene Conley, tenor; and Mack Harrell, baritone. In the performance to be heard, the composer himself conducts the Metropolitan Opera Company orchestra and chorus. Written in verse and sung in English, "The Rake's Progress" is a "moral fable" called by critics "both funny and satirical."

MODERN MUSIC IN THE MORNING: from 10:05 to 11:00 a.m., Burlesque by Richard Strauss and Spohr's Clarinet Concerto in F Minor; and from 11:15 to noon, Five Tudor Portraits by Vaughan-Williams.

AS ELECTION TIME NEARS, editorial opinions from the nation's newspapers may create more heat than light; but they make interesting reading and, we trust, interesting listening for those who tune to Editorial Page every Friday at 12:45 p.m.

NEWS BACKGROUND may be acquired by listening to Exploring the News at 2:00 p.m. Explorer-in-chief is Allan Bower.

TEA TIME IS A GOOD TIME to start unwinding from the week's activities. Dr. Wilke's prescription for what ails you is contained in a series of 12-inch pills which must be ingested one at a time, preferably in a horizontal position. Visiting hour is from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.

SPORTS IMPORTANCE INCREASES about this time every week as football fans look toward a long Saturday afternoon in front of the loud speaker. At 5:15 p.m. the WSUI sports staff will be on hand to apprise one and all of football-even circumstances on practice fields across the nation.

PROGRAM PREVIEWS at 5:45 p.m. will serve as a partial reminder of important broadcast events planned for this weekend. Prominent among these, we have no doubt, will be the change in broadcast time for Iowa football Saturday. The Michigan game broadcast will begin at 12:25 p.m.

CONCERT BEFORE OPERA: from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m., Haydn, Busoni and Sibelius (Symphony No. 2).

59 Iowa Candidates Agree —

Need Capital Appropriation

The results of the recent Student Council poll of candidates in Iowa for state offices and in the legislature brought 59 replies out of a total of 257 questionnaires mailed.

Heading the list of those who replied to the questionnaire was Republican candidate for governor, William G. Murray. All of the respondents to the questionnaire including Murray, agreed that there is a definite need for capital appropriations at state-supported educational institutions.

Governor Hershel C. Loveless did not reply to the Council's questionnaire.

Both Murray and William L. Mooty, Republican candidate for attorney general suggested that appropriations from the state general fund could be made to finance the capital appropriations.

The two men disagreed with the recent decision of the State Board of Regents limiting enrollment at state-supported colleges. Murray and Mooty expressed varying ideas on the use of state funds to support student housing facilities. Murray said that he does not want state funds used for this purpose, while Mooty was in favor of the idea.

Johnson County's two candidates for state representative, Democratic incumbent Scott Swisher and his opponent G. M. Ludwig also answered the Student Council questionnaire.

Both men agreed that money from the state general fund should be used for capital appropriations. Swisher agreed with Murray in not limiting enrollment in state supported colleges, while Ludwig said that he was not sufficiently familiar with the matter to give an opinion at the time of the polling. The majority of the 23 per cent of the candidates returning the questionnaire agreed that general funds should be used for capital appropriations and that an unbalanced budget was not necessary to provide for educational needs.

The majority of the candidates also favored a long-range building program, but there was much disagreement as to how such a program should be financed.

Contrary to what might seem present popular opinion, Italy's most important contributions to the world are not Gina Lollobrigida and the pizza pie.

Helping to dislodge these notions is Curtis Nagel's feature-length film "Italy — A Tale of Ten Cities," to be presented as the second program in the SUI Mountaineers film-lecture series Nov. 9 at 7:45 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

World's Fair Film
Immediately following the main lecture, Nagel will show a 35-minute color filmstrip on the recently concluded Brussels World's Fair, which during its six-month run attracted more than 37,700,000 people.

Photographed by Nagel, the picture shows not only the atomium, symbol of the fair (which will remain in Brussels as a permanent fixture) and all the major exhibits, but many extra evening festivities which capture the holiday atmosphere of the fair.

Nagel's colorful celluloid journey through Italy moves at a leisurely pace, allowing his arm-chair tourists a good look at the Blue Grotto on the Island of Capri, at Naples and nearby Vesuvius, the Amalfi Drive, the ancient Appian Way on the road to Rome, St. Peter's Church, the Vatican Gardens, and of course the inevitable leaning tower of Pisa.

The camera stops to admire the works of Michaelangelo, Leonardo di Vinci and Raphael in Florence, then travels to San Marino, to Milan, through Verona and on to Venice, city of romantic waltzes and endless canals.

Nagel Color Pioneer
A pioneer in the field of color motion pictures, Curtis Nagel produced more than 65 theatrical color films for Educational Films, Paramount and 20th Century Fox before starting to photograph material for the travel lecture platform. He appears annually on major lecture series from coast to coast, and was voted most popular lecturer of last year's Mountaineers' film-lecture series.

Season tickets for the 1958-59
