U.S., Britain Condemn New Russian A-Tests

Nikita Views U.S. Election

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Friday that the world would condemn the new Russian nuclear weapon tests because the tests would increase the threat of nuclear war.

Dulles said the tests gave the U.S. a reason to seek a new round of disarmament talks, presumably including the Soviet Union.

"I do not believe that any one of the tests is a reason for increasing the risk of a nuclear war," he said. "But I do believe that these tests are, in the aggregate, a threat to world peace."

Dulles added that the tests were a threat to world peace because they would make it impossible to hold any future talks on disarmament.

"The world cannot afford to have these tests go on," he said. "They are a threat to the very existence of mankind."
Endorses Traffic Safety

It is just a raid to let you know my impressions of your traffic safety drive. I think it is a wonderful idea! Let me say that it is about the neatest thing that has happened in this campus with up to some of the big problems facing our society. Traffic safety surveys, it is not the biggest. It is the way we students are made to feel. It is the way we are invited to bring their spouses and the way we are invited to bring their spouses and the way this is handled. I wish everyone could feel the same. I wish everyone could feel the same. I wish everyone could feel the same.

I see no students worried about absent things like Excavation, Beer, Pottery, and the like. Why don't we look around there and see the need for improvement right here?

I wish the extra letters, but I wish I was writing this one because I feel strong about what I am writing. And hang up the good work at the lowest, particularly Jerry Don's "Don't Quit."

On Congress List

WASHINGTON — Four high administration officials, including John P. Hill, head of the Civil Rights Commission, are expected to give their interpretations of the lose Thursday night before the Joint Committee of the House and Senate on Civil Rights.

The Senate this year also passed labor and public welfare bills but those bills were in the log jam at the floor because of the President's veto threat.

New legislation is being presented for both House and Senate; the law says they will be ready to vote on the bills after Congress returns.

6 SUI Students
Leave For UN Religious
 Talks

A delegation of six students from the Religious Studies Center in Iowa City, Iowa, will be one of the special delegations to the United Nations General Assembly in New York City.

The students, who are seniors,
are.Debra Allen, Patty Halvorson, Jane Nielson, David Spera, and Robert Carroll, are majoring in religion and are members of the Religious Studies Center.

Special Section

This is the first year the university, sponsored by the Student Council, has sponsored a special edition of the Daily Iowan to accompany the UN delegation's trip to New York.

On Monday night, the entire student body will participate in a concert to raise money for the
religious studies center.

The concert will take place in the Library Auditorium and will feature both musical and dance performances.

Mary Johnson, a co-chairwoman of the religious studies center, said,
"It is a great honor to participate in this special event and to support the university's students who are representing Iowa City in a meaningful way.

To Dedicated Lutheran
Center

The Foundation for Lutheran Studies will hold its fourth annual fund raising dinner on March 23 at the University Center.

The evening will feature a speech by Dr. Willard L. Young, executive director of Lutheran Education Research Center.

The event will help raise funds for scholarships and other projects at the center.

GETS RELEASE FROM HOSPITAL

NEW YORK — New Campanella passed a new milestone Friday. The paralyzed end cadet went home to live with his family.

He will visit the institute three days a week for a necessary therapy.

The team, which also won a home game against Kalamazoo and Camero, had a break on top of a warm temperature last January.

He will not return.
