

SUlowans Get First Chance At Rose Bowl Game Tickets

Staff, Faculty,
Student Sales
Begin Monday

Order Of Purchase Won't Determine Seat

A policy of ticket distribution for Rose Bowl tickets has been established by the SUI officials and the ticket committee of the Board in Control of Athletics. SUI students, faculty and staff will get first chance at the tickets, and may buy them Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 24, 25 and 26, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Athletic Department Ticket Office. Price will be $3 — about half the regular price.

No Need To Hurry

Francis Graham, business manager of athletics, said there is no need for anyone to stand in line since actual tickets will not be handed out at the time of purchase.

He said instead of a ticket, a voucher or receipt will be given to the student, faculty or staff member, and this receipt will be traded for the actual ticket in Los Angeles.

Graham stressed that the order of purchase will not determine the ticket received on the coast, and the first purchaser here will not necessarily receive the best seat.

Students must present their ID cards and certificates of registration, and faculty and staff their staff cards to make the initial purchase.

Graham said it is his hope that only those who will personally go to the game will place orders. He said this will enable the ticket office to supply tickets to more of the Iowa "family" than would be true if tickets were ordered and not used by original purchasers.

Preference

The University, Graham said, thus will try to supply tickets as far as the allotment permits to the following groups:

1. University of Iowa students;
2. Faculty and staff members;
3. Regular football season priority groups which include benefactors, "I" Club members, the Alumni Association, and varsity lettermen.

Graham said the ticket limit is two per person. He said application blanks and instructions for ordering will be mailed to all eligible persons by Dec. 1.

Graham said the University estimates it will have about 12,000 tickets available for distribution. This is about 8,000 less than those for Iowa's Rose Bowl game of Jan. 1, 1957.

Meet Half Demand

He anticipates that ticket problems will therefore be greater than two years ago and that tickets available will meet less than half the requirements.

"Many applications will necessarily be returned," Graham said, "not because the support of the applicant is not appreciated, but due to the mathematical fact that there are not enough tickets available."

"This is true in the case of any university competing in the Rose Bowl."

Graham declared that if applications are returned he hopes applicants will understand problems faced by the University in this situation.

Storm Breaks Ship In Half

Caril Fugate Still Protests Her Innocence

Caril Fugate

"Afraid he would kill me."

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — A jury of seven men and five women Tuesday received the last of the evidence on which they will decide whether Caril Ann Fugate lives or dies.

Counsel for the 15-year-old Lincoln schoolgirl, accused of first-degree murder for helping boy friend Charles Starkweather, 19, on an 11-death murder spree last winter, rested its case at 10:25 a.m.

Judge Harry Spencer scheduled closing arguments by the attorneys for today. Then, he said, he would issue his instructions to the jury and deliberations by the jurors will begin on Thursday.

Tuesday's brief session was highlighted by final testimony from Caril herself as county attorney Elmer Scheele sought to destroy the girl's contention that she remained with Starkweather during his rampage only because she feared for the safety of her family.

She admitted that she told the redhaired former garbage collector that she loved him but insisted it was because "I was afraid he would kill me."

Scheele asked if during the flight, she kissed Starkweather.

"No," she replied.

"Did he kiss you?" he asked.

"Yes," she admitted.

The schoolgirl never lost her composure during the cross examination by Scheele, a former FBI agent.

Campus Chest Drive Opens Today

Hope To Get $7,100 In 3-Day Push

By WILLIAM SCHUSTER
Staff Writer

The annual Campus Chest drive opens its 3-day campaign today with a $7,000 goal, an average of about 75 cents per student.

Eight organizations and charities will receive funds from this year's drive. They are: World University Service (WUS), CARE, Save the Children Federation, Cancer Fund, Heart Fund, National Scholarship Service, and the Fund for Negro Students (NSSFNS), Crusade for Freedom, and YWCA.

Solicitors

All solicitors for the drive are SUI students. Fraternity and sorority pledges will solicit from off-campus students and dormitory representatives will solicit in the dormitories.

Booths, manned by SUI YWCA members, are located at Schaffer Hall, Iowa Memorial Union, Main Library, and in the Pentacrest area.

Drive officials urge students living in married student housing and in professional fraternities to make their donations at one of the booths due to a ruling that prohibits solicitations in these areas.

Officials also ask students living in off-campus housing to leave their porch lights on tonight to aid solicitors.

As an added inducement to contribute to the Campus Chest, one SUI male donor will receive a date with Sharon Fleming, AI, Council Bluffs, one of the 1958 Dolphin Queen finalists. One co-ed donor will receive a date with James Farrell, A3, Perry, Central Party Committee president.

WUS is an independent organization composed of 16 contributing nations and 18 receiving nations. Representatives of all 34 nations decide on distribution of funds.

Distribution

CARE, which gets 10 per cent of the fund, as do all the remaining charities, is composed of 26 charitable groups which give relief and rehabilitation to more than 30 countries.

Will Premiere Turner Piece Tonight At 8

A feature of the SUI Symphony Orchestra Concert today at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union will be the premiere performance of Thomas S. Turner's Symphony No. 2 in F. Turner, an associate professor on the SUI music faculty, is department head of research and music theory instruction.

Also on the program will be R. Vaughan Williams' "Fantasia on a Theme by Thomas Tallis," the Richard Strauss tone poem "Death and Transfiguration," Op. 24, and Giuseppe Verdi's overture to "La Forza Del Destino." The SUI orchestra is under the baton of James Dixon, music instructor.

Turner, a native of Corning, describes his new work as having "rather intense emotional or affective structure, whose presentation I leave for the listener to grasp from the music itself." Turner's other major works which have also been premiered by the University Orchestra include Symphonic Suite in F (1942), Symphony: John Brown (1949), Quintet for Clarinet and Strings (1940), and Fantasy for Violin and Piano (1955). He has been a member of the SUI music faculty since 1939.

Tonight's program will be the second concert in the orchestra's 1958-59 series.

THIEF TO EAT WELL

METHUEN, Mass. (UPI) — A connoisseur thief is going to have several tasty meals.

Albert Dubois shot a deer in Osceola, N.H., Tuesday.

He hung the 160-pound buck on his back porch.

Thursday he discovered 20 pounds of the best steaks had been neatly cut from the carcass.

Iowan One Of 36 Crewmen Believed Dead

DETROIT (UPI) — Richard Book of Portsmouth, Iowa, was identified here Tuesday night as one of the 36 crewmen believed lost in the breaking of the cargo ship Carl D. Bradley in Lake Michigan. He was listed as a deck watchman. Portsmouth is in Shelby County west of Harlan.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (UPI) — A 615-foot cargo ship radiated late Tuesday it was breaking in half in gale-swept northern Lake Michigan and the ship apparently went down with all 36 crewmen.

The Carl D. Bradley, a limestone carrier bound from lower Lake Michigan to Rogers City, Mich., on Lake Huron, broadcast the international distress signal at 4:50 p.m. Iowa time.

"We've broken in half. We're going down," was the last word from Capt. Roland Bryan of the Bradley.

Hours after the abandon-ship call was received, two freighters at the reported location of the Bradley found evidence that the ship had gone down, but no survivors.

Not Confirmed

Coast Guard headquarters at Cleveland and stations along the Great Lakes said although all indications were the vessel sank, they had not definitely confirmed the disaster.

At 11 p.m., the Coast Guard indicated it had difficulty locating the position of the sinking and said the magazine said the vessel sank, they had not definitely confirmed the disaster.

The late report from the helmsman of the Harvey Brown, a ship on Lake Michigan at the time of the sinking, said it "positively" heard the distress call say his position was 12 miles northwest of Gull Island. The Coast Guard stations reporting the signal said they "definitely" heard it as 12 miles southwest of Gull Island.

The German motor ship Satori was the first rescue ship to reach the southern location. An hour and a half after the Satori started its searchlight search over the choppy waters, the Robert C. Stanley steamed into the area.

Planes Help

Later, the Stanley made fast at Beaver Island, about 25 miles from the first reported location, so it could hasten to any spot necessary.

A twin-engine Grumman Albatross seaplane from the Coast Guard station at Traverse City made two flights to the area with loads of flares but had found no further trace of the ship.

The second flight, the plane radioed the Satori and during its entire run with the second load of flares, the plane dropped the flares directly in front of the Satori.

Winds in the area earlier had been clocked at 50 to 65 miles an hour, whole gale strength.

The Bradley Transportation Line, owner of the ship, decided at 10:20 p.m. that it would give out no further names of crewmen until morning or until the fate of the ship is known.

The Court Is Not In Order

The Student Traffic Appeals Court has made an unwise move and possibly overstepped its authority. On this page is a Notice To Students which was submitted for publication as a "reinterpretation" of University parking regulations.

We submit that interpretation number one, which eliminates the 48 hour warning clause, is not a reinterpretation, but an alteration. It changes the rule, not clarifies its meaning. Is this a function of the student court? We think not. The court was conceived as a means of interpreting the regulations and settling grievances, real or fancied. It does NOT have the authority to MAKE the rules, only to interpret them. Yet they have done this, and while we do not quarrel with the purpose of the change they are instituting, we dislike the manner in which the change is being made. Such matters are in the realm of the University Parking Committee.

Our second difference with the new edict of the student court is in the wording of interpretation number three. It states that "any evidence of deformity in a displayed decal shall constitute 'improper display of identification'."

We conferred with the Student Body President and a member of the student court and discovered this means that if a microscopic speck is torn from your sticker, or if it has a tiny scratch on it, you better go pay your money and get a new sticker, because you are guilty of improper display.

It doesn't seem to matter that the numbers and designations are clearly visible and legible.

25 Years With Blondie

Being old comic strip fans, we've watched with interest the subtle changes in the characters in "Peanuts" through the years, and because we were early "Pogo" addicts we remember when Albert the Alligator was a pretty dastardly villain. We learned the history of another of our favorite comic strips the other day, and a surprising history it is.

We can remember fairly distinctly when Blondie and Dagwood had their first offspring — Baby Dumpling. But a few things we didn't know about their previous life are revealed in a new book of comics just off the press — "25 Years With Blondie."

"Blondie," one of the few strips which has remained a family comic strip, is currently read by some 70 million readers and appears in 1300 newspapers, including The Daily Iowan. And the same things that appeal to American readers seem to bring amused smiles to our foreign counterparts.

Faithful followers of the strip might have reorientate themselves while searching foreign newspapers for Blondie, but whether they read about Pepita and Lorenzo, as the Bumsteads are called in Spain, or less Dupont (in Paris), or Dagobert in Sweden, Dagwood and Blondie are the same slightly befuddled couple as they are in the United States.

To get back to the book, we were surprised to find that the Bumsteads began as any couple does, as single persons. Somehow we felt they always must have been married. Even more startling was their early life — Dagwood was the scion of the richest railroad magnate in the world, and Blondie was his father's stenographer, and a bit of a gold digger.

It was a stormy courtship, carried on over the protest of the wealthy Bumsteads, but the marriage finally took place and the younger Bumstead family began life as we know it with them today.

It isn't a pretentious book, but "25 Years With Blondie" provided us with a bit of pleasant trivia on the early history of one of our favorite comic strip families. If you're interested in such things, it's probably worth the buck.

Argentine Crisis Ends; Veep Gomez Resigns

BUENOS AIRES, (UPI) — Argentine Vice President Alejandro Gomez resigned Tuesday climaxing a 9-day political crisis.

The announcement of the resignation was made by Gomez himself at 1:20 p.m., a few hours after he had talked with President Arturo Frondizi at Government house.

Before he quit, Gomez was largely vindicated from charges that he sought to seize power for himself, taking advantage of an alleged military plot against Frondizi.

The crisis was touched off last Wednesday when Gomez told Frondizi and acting defense minister Alfredo Vitalo that he had heard there was a military plot to unseat a coalition Government set up to avert the plot.

Frondizi respected Gomez' suggestion, rose from a sick bed at his residence, rushed to the Government house, decreed modified martial law throughout the country for 30 days, and seized control of the situation.

When Gomez refused to disclose the source from which he had learned of the alleged plot, he became suspected of being involved in the conspiracy. He was expelled from the governing intransigent radical party, and the party's congressional leaders demanded his resignation as vice president.

West Tries To Break Deadlock

GENEVA (UPI) — The West made a major procedural concession to the Soviets Tuesday to try to break the deadlock over a nuclear weapons test ban.

At the same time, the United States sought to keep alive the equally-deadlocked Geneva conference on ways to prevent surprise attack by offering for discussion a list of modern weapons that could be used to launch an atomic-age Pearl Harbor. The theory was that the list might form a basis for work on technical ways of preventing surprise attack. The Russians have insisted that the talks discuss cold war problems in general.

Sources said both conferences remained as bogged down as ever. At the nuclear test ban conference, the American, British and Soviet delegates met in secret. U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore and Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin were accompanied by a limited number of advisers at the 70-minute informal meeting.

The Soviets, however, held firm to their refusal to discuss controls until agreement in principle has been reached to ban nuclear tests "forever."

Iowan Staffer To SDX Convention

Tom Burrows, A4, Belle Plaine, will leave today for San Diego, Calif., where he will attend the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity for men.

Burrows is president of the local fraternity chapter and a staff member of The Daily Iowan.

The convention will begin today and last until Saturday.

May Change Bad Curve West Of City

The State Highway Commission authorized a survey for relocation of a curve on Highway 6, four miles west of Iowa City Tuesday, the Associated Press reported.

The curve, approximately three-fourths of a mile of the highway, is located west of the junction with Highway 218.

Relocation would be aimed at eliminating the "S" curve where numerous accidents have occurred, despite warning signs and speed limits. Six persons have died in accidents on the curve since Highway 6 was widened and resurfaced in 1955.

The U.S. Bureau of Roads has agreed to the relocation as a Federal project, Chief Engineer John Butter said. He explained that a relocation would be necessary any way when Interstate 80 crosses Highway 6 near the curve.

The dangerous curve has also been the basis for many property damages and personal injury accidents.

The area has the highest rate of accidents in the county, Highway patrolmen in the Iowa City area report. Motorists on Highway 6 have said the curve tends to drag cars into the wrong lane even at posted 40 mile-an-hour speed limits.

A California couple were killed in August, 1957 on the curve, and new warning signs were posted afterwards. However, one person has been killed since and many accidents have occurred.

Norfolk Votes To Keep Six Schools Closed Rather Than Integrate

NORFOLK, VA. (UPI) — The city of Norfolk, where 10,000 children have lost their schools to avoid integration, voted three-to-two Tuesday to keep six schools closed rather than open them on an integrated basis.

Voters in this sprawling port city cast 12,658 ballots against petitioning Gov. J. Lindsay Almond to return six schools to local control so they could be reopened and integrated, and 8,781 for the proposal.

Each ballot contained a footnote reminding voters of the fund cutoff law and saying a "substantial tuition for each child" would be charged if the schools opened.

Ft. Dodge Youth Fatally Injured Playing 'Russian Roulette'

FORT DODGE (AP) — An 18-year-old Fort Dodge youth was shot and fatally injured here Tuesday night, when, police said, he apparently was playing "Russian roulette" with a 22 caliber pistol.

Detective Bill Lamb said investigation showed Will Tague planned to go pigeon shooting with two other youths, Alan Salvatore, 16, and Edgar Demery, 18.

Lamb said he was told that Tague put the pistol to his head with the comment to Salvatore, "Let's play Russian roulette."

Tague pulled the trigger once and it did not fire. The second time a bullet entered Tague's right temple, Lamb said.

Mice Survive Rocket Ride, Re-Entry Into Atmosphere, But Die In Ocean

NEW YORK (AP) — Two white mice—probably the highest flying space travelers to date—returned to earth alive only to die in the Atlantic Ocean.

The mice—named Laska and Benji—rode Air Force rockets up through the earth's atmosphere to a height of some 1,400 miles.

Both spanned some 6,000 miles of the earth's surface in about 45 minutes. Both traveled better than 15,000 m.p.h.

And both survived the red hot re-entry into the earth's atmosphere again and the parachute drop down to the ocean.

Communist Candidates In Hungary Get 99.6% Of Vote; No Opposition

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Communist-backed candidates in Hungary's election—the only set on the ballot—won a majority of 99.6 per cent, it was announced Tuesday.

Of the 6,600,685 eligible, the official news agency MTI said, 6,493,680 voted.

There were only 28,651 votes officially recorded against the 338 official candidates for Parliament, and 32,010 voters spoiled their ballots.

The only choice they had was to approve the single ticket—70 per cent of them Communist—or mark their dissent in a tiny circle.

Recordings Point To Union Violence In Louisiana, Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secret tape recordings, scratchy and full of beeps denoting foul language, were played by Senate rackets probes Tuesday to back up charges of Teamsters Union violence in Texas and Louisiana.

Three Teamsters officials listened in stolid silence. They refused to say whether they had anything to do with the alleged bombings, arson, brick-throwing and acid-tossing.

The three stood on Fifth Amendment grounds—that to answer questions might tend to incriminate them.

The three were: Raymond C. Shafer, business manager of Local 657 in San Antonio, Tex., who refused particularly to say whether one of the voices heard on the recordings was his:

R. B. Bunch of Dallas, organizer for the Southern Conference of Teamsters, and E. F. (Foot) Johnson, business manager of Shreveport, La., Local 658.

The recordings were made by Texas Rangers who said they put a microphone in a room and took down the conversations on Sept. 15, 1955. Beeps were substituted for obscenities and profanity.

Texas Ranger Zeno Smith swore the voices were those of Shafer and Buck (Curly) Owens of Odessa, Tex., who says he used to be a strong arm man for the Teamsters.

Owens testified freely Monday that he had helped in some bombings and that Shafer wanted him to wreck trucks one way or another in labor-management disputes. He also said Shafer once tried to get him to shoot from ambush the son of Roy J. Gilbert, head of Southwestern Motor Transport Inc., of San Antonio.

Shafer refused to say anything about the ambush testimony.

While Shafer seemed undisturbed by the playback of the conversations, his face turned red when the committee's chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), asked him about Owens' story that Shafer ordered the word "rat" seared with acid on the forehead of a non-striker.

"Would you say that anyone who gave such orders is a rat himself?" asked McClellan.

Shafer refused to answer.

"I think the word 'rat' would be complimentary, don't you?" McClellan persisted.

Shafer refused to say, and Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-N.C.) flared up:

"It would be an insult to the rat!"

Shafer, Johnson and Bunch all refused to say whether they had engaged in violence under get-tough orders from W. M. (Dusty) Miller, head of the Southern Conference of Teamsters.

LSU Nears National Football Crown

Hawks Sixth In Poll; Auburn Rated Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Louisiana State goes into Saturday's traditional battle with Tulane owning a spotless record and No. 1 rating among the nation's football powers.

Although LSU prevailed over Mississippi State by a point, 7-6, the Tigers drew overwhelming support in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sport casters. They pulled 114 of 183 first place votes and 1,640 points.

Only Unbeaten

LSU is the only unbeaten, untied team in major college football now that Rutgers has been beaten by the Quantico Marines. With a perfect 9-0 record and a certain Sugar Bowl bid ahead, the Southeastern Conference leaders will be heavily favored over Tulane which has won only three of nine games. The game ends the regular season for both schools.

Auburn, tied by Georgia Tech in early season, moved up to second place in the poll after whipping Georgia 21-6. Auburn has two more to play — Wake Forest and Alabama.

The Army rolled over Villanova 26-0 and remained in third position. The Cadets come up to the Nov. 29 finale with Navy as an unbeaten but once tied team. They do not play this week.

Oklahoma subdued Missouri 39-0 to attract 22 firsts and a fourth-place position. Each of the first four teams has over 1,000 points, compiled on the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, and so on.

Badgers Climb

Wisconsin remained in fifth place, a notch ahead of Iowa which bowed to Ohio State 38-28. Ironically, when the Hawkeyes and Badgers met, Iowa won 20-9.

Texas Christian, which can clinch the Southwest Conference crown and a Cotton Bowl bid by beating Rice Saturday, moved up to seventh place by thumping Texas 22-8.

Purdue roughed up Northwestern 23-6, holding eighth place, and the Air Force Academy, unbeaten but once tied, advanced to ninth. Syracuse made the top 10, not far behind the Air Force, after bombing its old playmates from Colgate 47-0. The bowl-conscious Orange finish up on Saturday at West Virginia.

Touchdown Tendency

By ALLEN N. SMITH

Oklahoma First, LSU
Second In TD Ratings

Driving past an Iowa team which was upset by Ohio State, Oklahoma shoots into first place as the nation's No. 1 football power in the Smith Touchdown Tendency System of Ratings this week. After three straight weeks in the driver's seat, the Hawkeyes were dropped to seventh. Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooner powerhouse, in fourth place last week, shelledacked a good Missouri team, 39-0, to gain the top spot.

LSU Second

Louisiana State's undefeated Bengals continue in second place. A Wisconsin juggernaut jumps into No. 3 position among the gridiron titans by throttling powerful Illinois, 31-12.

Army, playing under wraps in its 26-0 win over Villanova, falls a notch to fourth.

When Purdue romped over Northwestern, 23-6, it boosted itself four pegs to fifth. Ohio State's resurgent Buckeyes are a close-up sixth by virtue of their 38-28 triumph over Iowa.

Auburn, helped by a 21-6 decision over Georgia, remains an unshakable eighth. Texas Christian returns to the select list in ninth, after a 22-8 victory over Texas.

Wildcats Surprise

Northwestern, seventh a week ago, occupies No. 10. The biggest surprise of the national football season, according to the System, is Northwestern. The Wildcats were last in Big Ten play the past year and were picked by an early season poll to finish near the bottom this year, but today rate as one of the nation's best.

Notre Dame's 34-24 performance against North Carolina, advances the Fighting Irish into 11th place. Syracuse enters the top dozen in 12th, after burying Colgate, 47-0. The banner battles this week will be the Notre Dame-Iowa and the Texas Christian-Rice affairs.

Hank Greenberg Sells Cleveland Indian Stock

CLEVELAND (AP) — The majority stockholders of the Cleveland Indians Tuesday bought the stock of former General Manager Hank Greenberg and brothers Charles and Andrew Baxter.

Purchase price was not disclosed.

MSU Prexy Seeks Harmony Among Battling Athletic Forces

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The order of the day from John A. Hannah, Michigan State University president and policy-maker, is that there is to be harmony in the ranks of his athletic staff. Hannah also indicated Tuesday that no firings will follow a disastrous football season that saw once-proud Michigan State win only two, lose five and tie one to wind up in the Big Ten basement.

The MSU prexy stepped in as mediator after Athletic Director Biggie Munn was bitterly critical Saturday of the 39-12 loss to Minnesota that locked the Spartans in the conference cellar. Munn termed the play "futile," and said he was "heartbroken" over the game.

Munn did not directly criticize Coach Duffy Daugherty, his former assistant whom he hand-picked as a successor. But there have been persistent reports of a rift between Munn, former head football coach, and his one-time pupil.

Hannah said he talked to Munn and Daugherty "and was gratified that reports of differences between them have been greatly exaggerated."

He said everyone at Michigan State shares their disappointment about the losing season "but there has been no loss of confidence in their ability or their dedication to the best interests of the university."

Hannah indicated he wanted to slam the lid on the entire matter by declaring that so far as he, Munn and Daugherty were concerned "this is a closed incident and there will be no additional comment."

Braves Lose
Schoendienst

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tests have disclosed that second baseman Red Schoendienst definitely has tuberculosis and probably will not play baseball next season, the Milwaukee Braves announced Tuesday.

Donald Davidson, Braves publicity director, said the announcement came from Dr. Ray Martin, Schoendienst's personal physician in St. Louis. Schoendienst now is a patient at Mount St. Rose Sanitarium in St. Louis.

Davidson quoted Dr. Martin as saying, "it is quite likely that he might not play next year, but we are optimistic about a full recovery."

Hawks vs. Irish, "Anything Goes"

NEW YORK (AP) — For wide open "anything goes" offense, Saturday's meeting between Iowa and Notre Dame promises to take the prize.

Iowa leads the nation's major college football powers in total offense with an average gain of 399.6 yards in its first eight games.

The Hawkeyes, already crowned Big Ten champions and Rose Bowl visitors, rate among the top 10 in both ground and aerial work.

Notre Dame, moving up fast on a blazing November spurt by quarterback George Izo, ranks No. 4 in total offense with an average gain of 370.5 yards.

In three November games Iowa has passed and run at a 426-yard-a-game clip. Notre Dame has averaged 469.3 yards in its last three, mostly on Izo's passing.

Iowa is fifth in rushing offense with an average of 240.9 yards per game, fifth in forward passing offense with an average of 158.8 yards, and eighth in scoring with an average of 25.4 points.

No Policy Change To Appease Reds—Dulles

CLEVELAND, (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told critics Tuesday night that this country would not change its basic foreign policies to appease its enemies or curry favor with its friends.

Dulles, in an obvious reply to those who have termed his policies

"inflexible," warned that this country's collective security efforts "would surely collapse if our free world associates felt that they were tied to policies which shifted under the dictates of passing considerations."

Dulles called for a "spiritual redemption of our nation" to give it the strength to stand fast against communist imperialism. He said the soviet rulers eventually must grant their people more freedom or face violent revolt.

Before leaving Washington, the secretary met with President Eisenhower at the White House for an extensive review of U.S. policies abroad, including soviet efforts to push the western allies out of Berlin and East-West conferences on nuclear test suspension and prevention of surprise attack at Geneva.

The monarch told a cheering independence day crowd that French and Spanish forces in Morocco also must withdraw.

He said the attitude of the three powers involved has been "unsatisfactory."

The monarch, whose country won independence from France in 1956, said the presence of foreign troops "is not only in contradiction with our sovereignty but also is a constant menace to our independence."

"To bring an end to this situation, we have sent notes to the French and Spanish Governments concerning their forces here. But their answers have not given us complete satisfaction."

"As for the American Bases, we have had several talks during our trip to Washington with American officials."

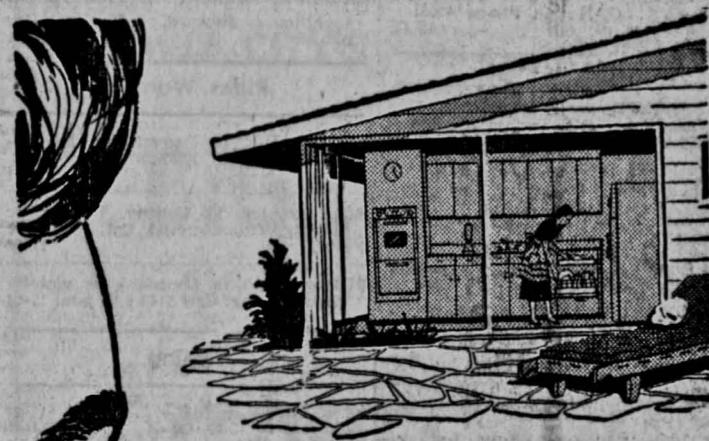

"Last March, we sent a note to the American Government confirming our position, but the answer has not given us complete satisfaction, either," the King said.

The U.S. Strategic Air Command has major bases in Morocco as part of its far-flung defense network.

These bases were established by treaty with the French after World War II. The independent Moroccan Government took over as second party to the agreements when it gained sovereignty.

Russia Charges U.S. Spying In Berlin But No Blockade

BERLIN, (UPI) — The Russians Tuesday accused the United States of using West Berlin for "insidious" spy activities and a base for anti-Communist agitation. But they did not challenge Western rights in Berlin, and a U.S. Army convoy traveled to the city through Communist held territory without incident.

A 3-vehicle convoy was passed through the Helmstadt and Babersberg checkpoints by Soviet guards and entered West Berlin as the Soviets held a rare news conference to renew charges that the United States was using Russian emigres and deserters to foment anti-Soviet activity.

An embassy spokesman said the American underground activities in the divided city "must be stopped."

Contrary to expectations, the embassy conference did not elaborate on Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's announced intention to scrap 4-power occupation agreements and turn over Soviet control of East Berlin to the East German communists.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper, Pravda, said Khrushchev's decision to withdraw from occupation of Berlin is unshakable and Western consent is not needed. The Western allies have rejected Khrushchev's argument and insisted they will remain in West Berlin.

Men participating in the contest for king are: Ron Hansen, A3, Belmond, Quadrangle; Irving Miller, E2, Des Moines, South Quadrangle; and Bob Crawford, A4, Dyersville, Hillcrest.

Other intermission features will be a vocal number by Sondra Switzer, A4, Muscatine; a solo dance by Wilda Allen, A4, Leon; and a dance trio consisting of Sonny Davis, A4, Des Moines; Carole Reed, A2, Cedar Rapids; and Rosalyn King, A2, Chicago, Ill.

Things not included in the package deal are meals in Los Angeles, and personal expenses like telephone calls, laundry and refreshments. A seat at the Parade of Roses is not included since the reserved seats cost $7 and there is usually plenty of room to watch the parade along the six mile route.

Students may sign up for optional sightseeing tours on the train. Tours will include trips in the greater Los Angeles area to Santa Monica, Beverly Hills and Hollywood; a trip to Disneyland; and a tour of Knott's Berry Farm and other points of interest in Southern California.

Accident and baggage insurance also will be available at the time of final payment for an added charge.

Final details of the tour such as train schedules, departing times, etc. will be issued at the time of final payment.

The Supreme Council vests in its chief all the legislative, judicial and executive powers as well as command of the armed forces, a decree issued by Abdou said.

Generals were appointed to the key posts of Minister of the Interior, Information, Public Works, Armed Forces and Irrigation. Other military men were named Minister of Communications and Minister for Prime Ministerial Affairs.

The important interior minister's post went to Abdou's deputy Commander-in-Chief, Maj. Gen. Ahmed Abdel Wahab. Wahab, also a member of the Supreme Council, generally was conceded to have played a key role in Monday's coup.

Abdou chose a non-partisan lawyer, Ahmed Khayr, as Foreign Minister.

Information reaching London said that what might have seemed like a pro-Nasser or at least Nasser-style coup was in reality the opposite.

Help To Negroes

NSSFNS is a social welfare agency organized in 1947 by seven college presidents to increase opportunities for qualified Negroes to get higher education. Its advisory board now includes 158 college presidents.

Crusade for Freedom through Radio Free Europe broadcasts news of world events to persons behind the Iron Curtain. Other radio programs include commentaries, satire, entertainment, religious programs and national music generally suppressed by the Communists.

Official Communist protests, vain Soviet jamming attempts, statements of escapees and the texts of letters from behind the Iron Curtain are proof Radio Free Europe offers of its effectiveness. The YWCA helps students make new friends through parties, picnics, discussion, lectures, and religious programs.

It also helps the community by working with hospital patients, handicapped children, girl scouts, troops and Iowa City recreational activities.

Iowa To Open 23-Mile Freeway

AMES (Ia.) — The new 23-mile stretch of Interstate 29 from Council Bluffs to its junction with U.S. 30 just west of Missouri Valley will be opened to traffic Nov. 26—the day before Thanksgiving.

This was decided Tuesday by the Iowa Highway Commission after receiving a progress report on the multi-million dollar project.

Because an overpass over Highway 29 at the Mormon Trail intersection is not completed, northbound traffic on the interstate probably will have to use a 1,000-foot detour via the "Y" approaches from the Mormon Trail route.

TROUBLE FOR BULGARIN

MOSCOW (Ia.) — Usually well informed sources said Tuesday night ex-Premier Nikolai Bulganin has been dismissed from his post as head of a regional economic unit at Stavropol. There was no official announcement, however. Bulganin was linked in a seven-year-plan speech last week by Premier Khrushchev with the antiparty group.

Blizzard Whips West, Into Canada

By The Associated Press

The big fall blizzard whipped across the northern Midwest Tues day and then blew across the border to Canada.

The Dakotas and the Red River Valley in northwestern Minnesota caught the tail end lash of the storm.

The blizzard, although easing off in North Dakota, left almost all the highways blocked in the eastern half of the state. The snow blanket ranged up to 11 inches.

Fresh snow measured up to a foot in depth in South Dakota. Some roads were blocked in the northwestern section of the state.

The heavy snow in Minnesota was concentrated in the Red River Valley.

Snow was limited to the western half of Nebraska. The fall measured up to 13 inches at Medicine Creek Dam in the southwestern part of the state. Other areas got about five inches.

As the storm center moved into western Ontario strong, cold winds blew across the northern half of the nation from Montana and Wyoming eastward to the Great Lakes region.

At least 10 deaths were attributed to one of the earliest blizzards in Weather Bureau history. Traffic accidents took three lives in Missouri, two in Colorado and one in South Dakota. Heart attacks in the snow caused two deaths in Oklahoma. High winds resulted in one fatality in Texas and another in Oklahoma.

The storm that began late last week dumped snow on a vast area that reached from Idaho, Utah and Arizona northeastward to Minnesota.
