

Campus Chest Drive $6,500 Short Of Goal

Less Than $500 Given
In 2 Days

Still Time To 'Win'
A Date

When the receipts for two days of the 3-day Campus Chest Drive were counted Thursday night, the $7,000 goal was short by more than $6,500.

The drive this year is going very slow. We are way behind the amount collected last year during the first two days of this drive.

"The total amount collected to date is just short of $500," Jack Burge, A1, Charles City, co-chairman of the drive said.

"The members of the Campus Chest committee challenge the students at SUI to raise even half of the stated goal. If the drive continues at the present rate, we will raise only one-seventh of the desired total."

The annual Campus Chest Drive, a 1-stop effort, started Wednesday and will end today at 12 noon.

Combines 8 Charities

The Campus Chest combines eight different charity solicitations which formerly conducted separate drives on the SUI campus.

The eight organizations that will benefit from this year's solicitations include: World University Service, receiving 30 per cent of the total amount collected; CARE, 10 per cent; Save the Children Federation, 10 per cent; Cancer Society, 10 per cent; Heart Fund, 10 per cent; Crusade for Freedom, 10 per cent; and the SUI YWCA, 10 per cent for the furthering of campus activities.

"The goal of $7,000, or approximately 75 cents per student, set at SUI is considerably lower than that set by other schools that have similar drives," Burge said.

ISC Doubles Our Total

"At Iowa State the students consistently raise twice the amount that the students at SUI ever raise.

"For example, last year Iowa State gave a cash contribution to the World University Service, one of the charities included in the Campus Chest Drive, of slightly over $1,700. SUI gave a cash contribution of $60.

"Iowa has shown that they have fine support for their athletic events this year, but it is being shown now that the students at SUI cannot take the time to support other causes that are University sponsored.

"The cooperation we have received with this project would seem to indicate a completely negative attitude of the student body."

Four Campus Chest booths, located at Schaefer Hall, Iowa Memorial Union, Main Library and in the Pentacrest Area, will be open today from 8 a.m. to noon.

Lucky Date

As an added incentive to contribute to the Campus Chest Drive, ticket stubs for a "lucky date" are being given to each student contributing 10 cents or more at any of the four booths.

Tonight, during the Notre Dame pep rally, the names of one coed and one SUI male will be drawn.

"The 'jackpot' for the lucky male will be a date with Sharon Fleming, A1, Council Bluffs, one of the 1958 Dolphin Queen finalists.

A lucky coed will have a date with James Farrell, A3, Perry Central Party Committee president.

The expenses for the lucky dates will be paid by the SUI Student Council.

Caril Fugate
Jury Retires;
No Verdict

Deliberated 8½ Hours;
Reconvene At 9

LINCOLN, Nebr. (UPI) — The jury deliberating the murder trial of Caril Ann Fugate retired at 9:40 p.m. Thursday night without reaching a verdict.

The seven men and five women were escorted to a Lincoln hotel after 8 hours and 25 minutes of deliberation. They will reconvene at 9 a.m. today.

The Lancaster County District Court jury can condemn the 15-year-old eighth grade student to the electric chair for her part in the January rampage of 10 murders by her boyfriend, Charles Starkweather.

Starkweather, 19, has been sentenced to die but he has appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The jurors also could order the 91-pound girl imprisoned for life, or find her guilty of second-degree murder, which carries a sentence of 10 years to life, or set her free.

She was "as much a victim" as any of the 11 persons Starkweather killed, according to Defense Attorney John McArthur. From the moment she saw Starkweather shoot and kill an elderly farmer she was "like a piece of putty," he insisted, a trilby to Starkweather's svengali.

The jurors retired at 10 a.m. to their private room on the third floor of the courthouse, only a few feet away from the hallway desks of reporters covering the trial.

The jury broke off deliberations at 6 p.m. for the evening meal.

Bailiffs brought masses of evidence to the jurors—shotguns, two rifles, a knife and photographs.

Date Raffle, Skit
At Rally Tonight

Pep talks, drawing for the Campus Chest dates, and a skit will be featured tonight at SUI's last pep rally of the season.

Beginning at 7 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium, Bill Happel, freshman football coach, will give a pep talk and Jack Burge, A2, Charles City, chairman of the Campus Chest Drive, will draw two names from contributors to the Campus Chest.

Persons whose names are drawn will be entitled to a date with Sharon Fleming, A1, Council Bluffs, Dolphin Queen runner-up, or Jim Farrell, A3, Perry, Central Party Committee president.

The expenses for the lucky dates will be paid by the SUI Student Council.

Thanksgiving In Osage
For Foreign Students

The warm friendliness of an Iowa small town will etch itself in the memories of 36 foreign students invited to help Osage residents count their blessings through the Thanksgiving holiday next week.

For the ninth consecutive year, the townspeople of Osage will be hosts for the holiday to foreign students attending SUI. The Osage Rotary Club sponsors the event in keeping with the service club's interest in international relations.

New foreign students at SUI are given first chance to accept the Osage invitation, explains Wallace Maner, advisor to foreign students at the University, who works closely with the Osage Rotary group in planning the weekend. If fewer accept than the bus can accommodate, then "old" SUI foreign students are given a chance—and many have spent several Thanksgivings in Osage, says Maner.

Live With Local Families

The students will leave Iowa City Wednesday afternoon by bus and arrive in Osage at 6 p.m. They will go to the Trinity Lutheran Church for dinner, where they will meet the local families with whom they will spend the holidays.

Several informal parties are planned in their honor at Osage homes on Thanksgiving, but the foreign students will have a chance to see life in a typical American home on the holiday.

Appear On TV

On Friday, optional informal tours will permit the students to see the operations of local business and nearby farms. The students will appear on KGLO-TV in Mason City from 4:40 p.m. Friday and will return to Osage to be entertained by the Osage Rotary Club at a banquet at Our Saviors Lutheran Church.

The Osage Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a coffee hour later in the evening for the foreign students and the group will return to Iowa City Saturday.

First Visit 1950

The idea for the Osage visit started in 1950, when Joyce Horton of Osage, a former student at the University, proposed the program in a letter to Lester Benz, then editor of the Mitchell County Press. Benz is now assistant professor in the SUI School of Journalism. Benz printed the letter on the front page of his newspaper. Townspeople were overwhelmingly in favor of the idea, and as a start, 12 foreign students visited Osage that Thanksgiving, staying in the homes of local residents.

Maner will not be with the group at Osage this year, because he and his family sailed Sunday for a vacation in Europe. The Maners plan to visit a number of former SUI students while abroad.

TALLEST TOWER

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Thursday announced plans to build a 1,667-foot television tower, the world's tallest. The newspaper Trud said the tower will be built in southwestern Moscow next year.

Volcanic Eruption On Moon

LONDON (UPI) — A British astronomer said Thursday night he has spotted a moon surface disturbance that fits in with Russian claims that to have sighted a volcanic eruption on the moon.

Western scientists have insisted Dr. N. A. Kozyrev, of Leningrad's Pulkovo Observatory, is mistaken in saying a moon crater erupted Nov. 3 although Kozyrev said the spectacle was photographed by the Chinese observatory.

Dr. H. Percy Wilkins, a fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, reported he saw Wednesday night a reddish patch about 1½ miles across, covering an area normally by two small pits on the southern slope of central peak.

He said Wednesday was the first night since Kozyrev's announcement that observation of the crater had been possible.

Wilkins once aroused international interest with his finding that there is a 20-mile-long bridge across the moon mountain barrier. He made his latest observation with a 15x inch telescope.

Willson To Direct
Band At Game

Meredith Willson, author of "The Music Man" and former Iowan, and his wife, Rini, will be among the ceremonies attending the Iowa-Notre Dame game Saturday.

Before the football activity, Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity will honor the Willsons with a luncheon at 11 a.m. in the chapter house. The couple will be presented with ATO sweetheart pins by Dale Webster, 1942 SUI graduate.

Life Magazine will cover the presentation.

During the halftime ceremony in the stadium, Willson will lead the SUI marching band in two of his compositions: "The Iowa Fight Song" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

As another tribute to Willson, the band will present a medley of "Music Man" songs.

U.S. To Stand Firm Against Russian Move

PARIS (UPI) — The Military Committee of NATO's Conference of Parliamentarians warned Russia that a Soviet pull-out from Berlin would be a flagrant violation of an international agreement.

Without a single dissenting vote the conference of more than 200 lawmakers from 15 NATO countries backed the "Berlin Resolution" submitted by the political committee. The resolution stated NATO "would have to oppose" a Soviet renunciation of 4-power responsibilities concerning Berlin.

"Such a unilateral renunciation on the part of the Soviet Union constitutes an unequivocal attempt to impose recognition for a puppet dictatorship from which thousands of citizens are trying to escape," the resolution said.

Authorities Calmly Reaffirm Determination

Authorities calmly reaffirmed this determination as American-British-French diplomats virtually completed drafting plans for countering any Red blockade of the former German capital.

Ike—Security Meeting

President Eisenhower reviewed foreign policy problems with his top National Security Council a few hours after Russia's ambassador to West Germany formally disclosed the steps Russia intends to take.

Berlin's future outlook was reported not among the topics Mr. Eisenhower discussed with his ranking foreign policy and defense advisers.

Mr. Eisenhower demonstrated he foresees no immediate crisis by leaving as scheduled afterward on a 10-day golfing vacation at Augusta, Ga.

Show No Alarm

The Eisenhower-Dulles absence reported the Administration's attitude of showing no alarm at the prospect the Communists might suddenly clamp a new blockade around Berlin.

Any sign of jitters, it was felt, might worry the Germans and perhaps encourage the Soviets and their Communists puppets to adopt an even tougher attitude.

A State Department spokesman refused to comment at a news conference on the Soviet ambassador's proposals to German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He reported at the time that the nature of the Soviet proposals had not yet been disclosed to the State Department.

Confidential Proposals

Shortly before closing time, department officials reported they had received a confidential report on the proposals as relayed by the American Embassy in Bonn.

Authorities flatly declined to reveal the nature of the proposals, however. They said the report would be studied overnight.

These diplomatic steps were reported likely: once Russia turns over control of East Berlin to the East German authorities:

1. A hot diplomatic protest to Moscow charging Russia has not right under international law to surrender such responsibilities without consent of its wartime allies.

2. A solemn tripartite declaration reasserting the West's determination to stay in Berlin regardless of Soviet-East Communist maneuvering.

3. A declaration by the 15 Atlantic-Pact countries backing up this stand.

4. An appeal to the United Nations for condemnation of the Soviet move as endangering world peace.

What Happens If

By REINHOLD ENSZ

BERLIN (UPI) — What happens if the East German Communists get control of roads, rails and air corridors leading to West Berlin?

Will they be content to allow the Western Allies to maintain a base 110 miles inside their territory once the Soviet Union pulls out of the 4-power occupation agreement?

By shedding the 13-year-old occupation pact, the Soviet Union would leave the Allies without any agreement on how to get into the city. The Western Allies would have to negotiate with the East Germans, something they have refused to do.

The East German regime already has shown what it can accomplish in the way of roadblocks on the long route to Berlin.

Since 1955, the East Germans have had full control over civilian traffic between West Berlin and West Germany. They have repeatedly harassed traffic and demanded stiff taxes from all Westerners who use the highways or canals.

The Allies have said they will use force to remain in Berlin. But what if the Communists play it smooth, and nibble away, year after year? How long will the Western Allies remain?

That is the question that worries the 2,200,000 West Berliners.

At least 99 per cent of West Berliners have no stomach for Communism. They have a bustling city in which beautiful buildings are going up every day, where one can buy almost anything, provided one has the money.

The West Berliners have no desire to have their city taken over by the drab Communist economy that has surrounded them since 1945.

Soviets Talk To Adenauer

Soviet Ambassador to West Germany Andrei Smirnov conferred with Adenauer in Bonn for one hour. A Soviet embassy spokesman said he told Adenauer about "the measures the Soviet Government plans taking with the aim of liquidation of the occupation status of Berlin."

A West German spokesman said the Russians were waging a "very serious" diplomatic offensive against Berlin but added he did not believe there was any "acute danger" for the city.

At about the same time, West Berlin Lord Mayor Willy Brandt, speaking to the Berlin City Parliament, warned that the Russians would be risking a general war if they attacked West Berlin.

Immediately after Smirnov's conference with Adenauer, West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano called in the U.S., British and French ambassadors and presumably informed them on the chancellor's discussions with the Soviet envoy.

U.S. Charge d'Affairs William C. Trimble said after the session, "we had a brief discussion, but apart from that, I have nothing to say." British Ambassador Sir Christopher Steele and French Charge d'Affaires Francois Leduc also refused comment.

Transfer Rights Of Control

The Soviet spokesman's phrase, "liquidating the occupation status of Berlin," raised fears that the Soviet Government was proposing to transfer the right of control of Western allied traffic to and from Berlin to now exercises to East German authorities.

The blazing barges bore down on U.S. Dam No. 51, spanning the Ohio River at Golconda, Ill., eight miles from the blast site. Fire-fighting equipment was rushed to the dam.

The burning barges became separated, and alternately brushed against the Illinois shore and drifted slowly downstream. The blaze was visible for more than 10 miles.

The three barges were reported to contain 30,000 barrels or about 945,000 gallons of gasoline.

The fire on the first barge to reach Dam 51 near Golconda had died down somewhat, enabling a boat party to haul it out into mid-stream. It passed over the lowered dam and was cut adrift again.

The other two barges floated past the dam without incident, then grounded on the shoreline, where they were expected to burn themselves out.

Authorities said one of the Barbara Lee's crewmen was on the lead barge when it blew up. No trace of him was found and he was presumed dead. Three other crewmen were burned on the hands as they fought to break loose from the barges. A fourth crewman jumped or was blown into the river, but was recovered.

The towboat finally succeeded in disengaging itself and the injured were taken to the Hardin County General Hospital at Roselawn.

The Barbara Lee's captain told him the barges were proceeding down the river in normal fashion when "all of a sudden it just went boom."

Most informed persons expected the first demonstration of the new status the Russians propose for Berlin would

Good Listening— Today On WSUI

MARIA CALLAS, whose stormy singing career has been much in the news of late, will be the principal in WSUI's opera presentation, Norma, to be heard today at 7:30 p.m. First performed at La Scala in 1834, only a year before composer Vincenzo Bellini's death, Norma is the ancient counterpart of the modern occupation story: a tragedy of the love of a Druid princess of Gaul for a faithless officer in the Roman army of occupation. Miss Callas will be heard in the title role in the official La Scala recording; Tullio Serafin directs the entire production.

HENRY PURCELL, whose birthday is today, was born in London in 1658. His works are frequently played today and, moreover, often serve as inspiration for modern composers. Today at 10:05 a.m., listeners may hear some original Purcell (Nine 4-part Fantasias) and the Purcell-based Benjamin Britten composition, Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra.

CONSUELO RUBIO, another soprano, is the singer whose lovely voice graces many a recording from Spain these days. Among her most impressive efforts is the recording of The Song of Spain by F. M. Torroba which is scheduled at 11:15 a.m.

OVSIANIKO - KULIKOVSKY'S Symphony No. 21 in G Major and Miskovsky's Cello Concerto in C, Opus 66, are early afternoon fare today from 1:00 to 1:55; Music Appreciation at 2:30 is followed at 3:20 by the Dvorak Trio in E Minor, Opus 90.

MR. PURCELL'S natal day continues to be celebrated on tonight's Evening Concert with the playing of his Chaconne in G Minor. Added attractions are the Beethoven "Pastoral" Symphony and a Dvorak String Quartet.

"NORMA" is tonight's opera at 7:30.

LISTENERS who prefer orchestral and chamber music to opera will be fortunate to have an FM-tuner. For KSUI-FM offers three hours of fine music every night from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. There is a considerable backlog of new, unplayed recordings awaiting their turn at 91.7 megacycles. An FM tuner or converter makes a priceless gift.

Wright: Man Has Choice Of Two Kinds Of Religion

Conrad Wright, of the Harvard Divinity School, said Wednesday night that the 18th century man's choice was not limited to deism or evangelical orthodoxy, as is commonly thought.

Speaking on "Rational Religion in 18th Century America," in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol, Wright said that there were two kinds of natural religion: deism and supernatural rationalism. He explained that supernatural rationalism hadn't been widely recognized before because it didn't have a name until recently. He noted wryly that nothing exists until it has a name.

The deists, Wright said, found God through reason alone and did not consider God as revealed in nature, nor in historical and religious experience.

The supernatural rationalists, he said, did not consider this doctrine adequate, and so they looked to revelation as a perfection of natural religion.

However, he said, they did not deprecate reason, but considered it as a necessary precedent to revelation. One speaker of the period further concluded that revelation is rational because reason can accept it.

To make revelation acceptable to reason, the supernatural rationalists had to prove that Christ was a divinely inspired historical figure, and not a fabrication of the priests, as the deists said. Wright said that one supernatural rationalist of the period sighted Christ's miracles as proof that he was associated with a super being.

In speaking on writings of the 18th century man and his religion, Wright noted that church historians imply that it was an age of orthodoxy, and scarcely mention deism.

On the other hand, he said, philosophers say that deism was the dominant influence of the period, and orthodoxy was of little significance.

Wright suggested that neither position is completely accurate. Although the orthodoxy were greater in number, he said, the deists had a greater influence.

However, he said, it appears now that supernatural rationalism was the great ecumenical theology of the age.

Wright received his Ph.D. from Harvard in 1946. In 1954 he joined the staff of the Harvard Divinity School as registrar and lecturer on American church history.

The lecture was sponsored by the School of Religion with the assistance of the Billings Fund of the American Unitarian Association.

Soviet Opposition Eases At Geneva Atom Ban Talks

GENEVA (UPI) — A slight easing of the Soviet opposition Thursday kept Western hopes alive for some progress in the deadlocked talks on prevention of surprise attacks and a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

At the surprise attacks conference, the Communist bloc indicated willingness to discuss controls for specific measures to prevent such attacks. While the offer was a limited one, it at least indicated that the Communists would move from procedural arguments to concrete discussions of the business at hand.

Researcher Claims City Pedestrian Deaths Down

DES MOINES (AP) — Clifford Swanson, research director of the Iowa Safety Department, said Thursday that the number of pedestrians killed in city traffic accidents has been declining.

The number of pedestrians killed along rural highways has held fairly steady, he said.

Last year, for the first time in at least five years, there were fewer pedestrian fatalities in Iowa cities and towns than in rural areas, Swanson said. Compared with 1956, the 1957 record showed urban pedestrian fatalities, down from 29 to 26 while rural pedestrian fatalities totaled 26 both years.

Iowan Discovers Sure Way To Pick Winner

FORT DODGE (UPI) — Radio station KVFD Thursday received a belated response to a postcard poll conducted before the Nov. 4 elections.

The station mailed out 1,000 cards, asking voters to list their election choices. One came back Thursday marked in favor of Gov. Herschel C. Loveless and Rep. Merwin Coad — both election winners 16 days ago.

Across the bottom of the postcard was the note: "Sorry to be so late, but I never make snap decisions."

Filter Center Of GOC To Be Closed Jan. 31

DES MOINES (AP) — The Des Moines Filter Center which served all of Iowa will be closed as a result of the Air Force decision to abandon the Ground Observer Corps effective Jan. 31.

The center was opened here in 1951 with a call for civilian volunteers. In 1955 the ground observers went on 24-hour duty.

At one time an estimated 15,000 volunteers manned 542 ground observer posts and 420 railroad observation posts.

Christmas Gift Suggestion No. 2: Evy should give a ticket to the Rose Bowl game to each of the Big Ten coaches.

The state is shopping for a new governor's car. Everytime Loveless slides behind the wheel he thinks, "A Republican Drove This."

Is there really a Santa Claus? If there isn't, I don't know what the Republicans will do in 1960.

A donation to the county tuberculosis association was returned to an SUI student marked "insufficient postage." Instead of a stamp he had used a TB Christmas sticker.

Post Game Party

The Post Game Party in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union will not include a recognition rally for the SUI football team as previously announced. According to Union Board who is sponsoring the event, such a celebration will be held after the Rose Bowl trip.

30 Million To See Iowa-ND On TV

Large Radio Coverage For Annual Game

Through the media of television, 30 million football fans coast-to-coast will watch Saturday's annual football game between Notre Dame and Iowa.

The game will be telecast in both color, and black and white on the NBC National TV Football Game of the Week, over 172 stations. In addition, the Mutual Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Company, and radio stations from Iowa, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin will air the game.

Prior to the kickoff, television will offer an unusual sports "first."

See Irish Practice

A half hour before the actual game telecast, sports fans can see the highlights of Notre Dame's week of preparation for the Iowa game.

This unique presentation is made possible through the "Wheaties Sports Page," a new type of pre-game sports program which utilizes film and interviews to heighten interest in the event to follow.

General Mills, the program sponsor, took cameras to South Bend, Ind., and the Notre Dame campus to record the Irish in practice. The cameras covered coaches' conference led by Terry Brennan, where defenses were set up for the lightning Iowa offense. The cameras also recorded the Irish on the practice field as they executed the plays drawn in conference.

Bud Palmer will narrate the program. The show will also feature Bob Richards, Olympic pole vaulting champion.

Staff Of 31

NBC will be using 31 persons to carry the action into the living room. Four cameras will be used. Two will be atop the third deck of the Iowa press box, and one at each 25-yard line on the field. Each camera will be equipped with a Zoomar lens, that is capable of switching from action to immediate close ups. A 60-inch telephoto lens, that can put viewers right in team huddles, will also be used.

Just like the two football teams, the broadcasting and telecasting teams have spent the past week rehearsing for their 2½ hour performance.

The two NBC-TV announcers, Lindsay Nelson, assistant sports director of NBC, and Harold (Red) Grange, the "Galloping Ghost" from Illinois, have been briefing themselves on both teams, player numbers, names, and the various offense and defense formations used by both teams. Nelson will do the play-by-play account of the game, and Grange will provide color and comment.

Michigan Game In '57

This is not the first Iowa appearance on an NBC football telecast. In the Hawks last appearance before a national audience, they tied Michigan 21-21, and they will appear again Jan. 1 from the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

Following the Iowa-Notre Dame game, the NBC crew will pack and head for Austin, Tex., and the Thanksgiving Day game between Texas - Texas A&M. November 29, the entire crew will be in Philadelphia for the annual Army Navy classic.

Brechler Explains Ticket Situation For Rose Bowl

Iowa athletic director Paul Brechler Wednesday answered several questions surrounding the Hawkeyes Rose Bowl expenses and ticket allotments.

"Any money spent for Rose Bowl expenses comes from Rose Bowl receipts," he said.

All Teams Share

During 12 of the past 14 years, Iowa has not appeared in the Bowl, but has received $25,000 to $30,000 a year as a member of the Big Ten official family. This money came from Rose Bowl game receipts. The school receives about $60,000 to cover expenses when playing in the Bowl, said Brechler.

"If the Rose Bowl ever fails to get a favorable vote from the Big Ten schools it probably will be because the participating team runs into so many problems," he said.

Martin Traded To Indians For Mossi, Narleski, Alvarez

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers Thursday gave up firebrand Billy Martin and pitcher Al Cicotte for Cleveland's famed relief trio, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, plus infielder Ossie Alvarez.

This is the first major deal of the off-season. It gives Frank Lane the sparkplug he has been seeking for the Cleveland club and brings to Detroit a mound duo with a reputation as baseball's best one-two relief punch.

The Tiger bullpen has been inadequate for years and the overall staff, despite the 20-game performances of Frank Lary, Jim Bunning and Bill Hoeft in recent seasons, has produced a giant headache for the front office.

"We hated to give up Martin," said General Manager John McHale, "but we feel Narleski and Mossi will win more games for us than Billy did."

League Gets 15,000

The Big Ten receives 15,000 tickets, he said. Of these, other Big Ten schools are allotted a total of 1,500. Comedian Bob Hope, who entertains at the Big Ten Rose Bowl party, does so with the understanding that he is privileged to buy and pay for 400 tickets. There are other lesser obligations.

"It adds up that our university will receive just about 12,000 tickets to sell to people of Iowa.

Last Big Drill Of Season For Iowa Gridders

Iowa Coach Forrest Evashevski put his Big Ten champion Hawkeyes through their last big practice of the regular season Thursday in preparation for the invasion of the Notre Dame Irish in the year's finale here Saturday.

All phases were stressed with the first two units brushing up on offense and defense against the reserves who were using Notre Dame formations. A passing scrimmage with Randy Duncan and Mitch Ogeigo directing the two teams concluded the practice.

Horn May Play

Don Horn got into the light-contact action and it now appears that the Detroit junior will see limited duty against the Irish this weekend.

Evy alternated six halfbacks with the first two units during the Thursday drills — Bob Jeter, Willie Fleming, Ray Jauch, Kevin Furlong, Bill Gravel and Jerry Mauren.

John Nocera held down the No. 1 fullback slot with Horn and John Brown alternating with the second unit.

Merz Out

Saturday's starting lineup in the forward wall will probably be the same as the seven that opened against Ohio State a week ago with the exception of left end Curt Merz who has been shelved with a torn knee ligament.

Fifteen Hawkeyes will be making their last appearance before the home folks when they take the field against Notre Dame. The 15 are: Burroughs, Drake, Duncan, Furlong, Gravel, Grouwinkel, Paul Karras, John Leslysh, Lewis, Ernie Mielke, Nocera, Bob Prescott, Bill Scott, Jim Spaan and Olen Treadway.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Coach Terry Brennan Thursday named a 39-player Notre Dame traveling squad for the football game with Iowa's Big Ten champions in Iowa City Saturday.

In a final home tuneup, the Irish held a relatively light drill, concentrating on punt and kickoff returns.

Jensen Voted Most Valuable

BOSTON (AP) — Jackie Jensen, Boston's golden boy outfielder who overcame his only weakness — hitting that high inside pitch — Thursday won the American League's most valuable player award for 1958.

Jensen, the league's runs batted in champion with 122, drew 223 points in the voting of a 24-member committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America, three in each American League city.

Bob Turley, the Yankees' major league pitcher of the year, was second with 191 votes.

Cleveland's Rocky Colavito was third with 181 and Bob Cerv of the Kansas City A's next with 164.

Mickey Mantle, the Yankees' Mr. Swat, won the honor in 1956 and 1957 but didn't receive a single first place vote this year and was fifth with 127 points.

Next came Washington's thumping Roy Sievers with 95, three more than league batting titlist Ted Williams of the Red Sox.

Hawks Snag Loop Marks

CHICAGO — Iowa's Big Ten champions have finished their conference grid season with a new record for total offense, an average gain of 416.7 yards per game. The old record of 415.5 yards was set by Wisconsin in 1952.

The Hawkeyes combined a brilliant passing game, which accounted for 166.5 yards on more than 12 completions per game, with breakaway running that built an average rushing total of 250.2 yards per game for their record. Their average of 22 first downs a game was also a record, topping the 1951 Wisconsin average of 19.3.

Purdue Tops Defense

Purdue has clinched defensive honors for the season. The Boilermakers have held opponents to less than 159 yards a game. Winless Michigan State is second on defense.

Willie Fleming, Iowa's sophomore flash, tied a record for yards per try, with an average of 3.8 yards in 41 attempts. Bob Mitchell of Illinois averaged the same in 1955.

Randy Duncan of Iowa, who completed 66 passes for 898 yards and seven TDs in six games, has clinched passing honors and currently leads in total offense. But Dick Thornton, Northwestern's star, could take honors in that division this week by gaining 143 yards against Illinois.

Merz Tied For Lead

Illini pass receiving star Rich Kreitling is currently tied for the lead with Iowa's Curt Merz at 18 catches, but can earn the receptions title in the battle with the Wildcats.

Bob White, Ohio State's workhorse fullback, is on the verge of a new Big Ten record for ball carriers and has practically clinched rushing and scoring honors for the conference season. White has carried the ball 154 times in six games, only nine attempts short of the record set by Paul Giel of Minnesota in 1953. He has gained 635 yards, without once being thrown for a loss, and has scored 60 points.

Ray Jauch of Iowa is second in rushing with 381 yards, and Fleming is third with 362. Fleming is the No. 2 man in the scoring column with 42 points.

Iowa's Don Norton is third in the league in pass receiving with 15 grabs and Jauch is second in kickoff returns with an average of 25.8 yards per return.

Actress Pier Angeli Files

Divorce Suit Against Damone

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Pier Angeli filed suit for divorce Thursday against singer Vic Damone after efforts to mend their marital difficulties proved futile.

In her divorce suit, the pretty Italian-born actress said her husband caused her "great mental anguish." She charged the popular singer with unspecified "acts of cruelty" in her complaint, in which she seeks custody of the couple's 3-year-old son, Perry.

Earlier Thursday, Damone signed a property settlement that cleared the way for the filing of the divorce suit by Miss Angeli's attorney, Louis Blau.

Air Force To Abolish

Observer Corps By Jan.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force's famous Ground Observer Corps, the voluntary sky-watching organization in which more than a million American civilians have served since World War II, will be abolished in January.

The Air Force said it has come to the conclusion that the human eyes of its volunteer plane-spotters can no longer meet the need for fast electronic methods of detecting approaching intercontinental bombers and missiles.

It also said the "growing scope and efficiency" of this country's far flung air defense radar networks has given "increasing assurance" any enemy air attack would be detected before the bombers reached continental United States.

Federal Judge Blocks Merger Of Bethlehem, Youngstown Steel

NEW YORK (AP) — A Federal judge Thursday blocked the proposed merger of two giants of the steel industry, Bethlehem Steel Corp., and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. He thus thwarted the biggest deal of its kind in the nation's business history.

U.S. District Judge Edward Weinfeld ruled the $2½-million merger — in which Bethlehem would take over the smaller firm — would be in clear violation of Federal antitrust laws and would invite a rash of similar mergers in the industry.

He said it would result in an eventual narrowing of competition in the industry to three massive steel producing firms, a "tripoly."

Actor Wendell Corey Collapses During Making Of TV Program

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Wendell Corey, 40, collapsed while making a television program Thursday after suffering severe chest and abdominal pains.

He was taken to St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, where his doctor, Jerome V. Treusch, said he was in seri-

Nebraska GOP Will Contest Nov. 4 Election Of 2 Demos

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The Nebraska Republican Party will contest the Nov. 4 election in which two Democrats were elected to statehouses for the first time in 20 years, it was announced Thursday.

Richard E. Spelts Jr., Grand Island, indicated party finance chairman Joseph Wishart, Lincoln, would make the official contest with the Secretary of State before the Monday deadline. Spelts is Central Committee chairman.

Democrat Ralph Brooks had ousted GOP Gov. Victor E. Anderson by 1,400 votes in the unofficial United Press International compilations and Democrat Richard Larsen beat GOP State Sen. J. Monroe Bixler for treasurer by 2,172 votes.

U.S. Ready To Begin Talks On New Aid For Poland

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is ready to begin talks on new economic aid for Poland despite Polish Communist Chief Wladyslaw Gomulka's recent blasts at this country, it was learned Thursday.

Reds Offered Outer Space Concessions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and 19 other nations offered the Soviet Union Thursday some concessions they hope will lead to unanimous U.N. agreement for peaceful purposes. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge discussed the concessions with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin in an hour-long conference. Zorin forwarded them to the Kremlin.

The major obstacle to East-West agreement appeared to be over the makeup of a study group that would draw up recommendations for a permanent U.N. committee on outer space.

The United States firmly opposed Soviet demands for East-West parity in the group. The United States was described as adamant against splitting the group into two power blocs.

Zorin told a reporter he also was hopeful that agreement would be reached. He said it was too early to comment on whether progress had been made, and that the discussion with Lodge was of a preliminary nature.

Lodge met with representatives of 19 other nations who have joined the United States in sponsoring a resolution on international cooperation in exploration of outer space.

U.S. Nearing Success On Atomic Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top authority says the United States is on the threshold of success in building an atomic powered airplane, but the chances are 50-50 that Russia may fly one first.

If the Soviets do rush to attain another first in prestige and technology, however, the airplane they use might not be "too sophisticated." It is probable Russia could make such a flight before the end of this year or early next year.

These ideas were given to newsmen in response to questions Thursday by Maj. Gen. Donald J.

Kiern, Air Force officer who directs the Defense Department program for development of nuclear powered aircraft.

Keirn talked to reporters after addressing the Washington post office of the American Ordnance Association.

He made it plain that what the Air Force wants is an airplane designed specifically for use of atomic power and capable of supersonic speed and virtually unlimited range. This would appear to rule out the use of some existing bomber with an atomic power plant installed merely for purposes of achieving some primitive sort of nuclear powered flight.

What is wanted, Keirn said in his speech, is a manned aircraft which can "carry a large payload and remain on nomadic patrol for extended periods of time in various areas of the world."

Mobile Soil Lab To Be Shown Here

A completely equipped laboratory-on-wheels for performing engineering testing on soils, concrete and asphalt, will be on display today in Iowa City as part of a 15,000-mile tour it is making of the United States.

The trailer laboratory will be exhibited from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the SUI parking lot, south of the Engineering Building on Capitol Street between Washington and College Streets.

Virginia Flag Replaces U.S. Colors Over Capitol

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Gov. J. Lindsay Almond said Thursday he had ordered the United States flag hauled down from the lone flagpole atop the state capitol and the flag of Virginia run up in its place.

Almond, a leader in the south's "massive resistance" against public school integration, said he took the step because of a resolution passed by Congress. The resolution says that if two flags are displayed from the same pole, the U.S. flag must be on top.

The Virginia flag normally is not flown over the capitol except during sessions of the general assembly. The assembly has not been in session since last March.

Reporters questioned Almond after they noticed that the switch in flags had been made. He said the U.S. flag had been taken down "because this is the Commonwealth of Virginia and I want the Virginia flag to fly from this capitol."

Almond said he wanted to fly both flags but that since there was only one flagpole he would not permit the Virginia standard to be displayed under the American flag.

"If flown over the capitol, the Virginia flag should fly on a parity with the American flag," he said.

The governor, who has closed down several Virginia schools to block integration, said he has "never harbored disrespect to the U.S. flag. I not only respect, I worship the flag of my country."

Almond said he had engineers working to erect a second flagpole on the capitol.

The congressional resolution to which Almond referred was adopted June 22, 1942, to codify the national customs for displaying the flag. The customs had built up over more than 150 years.

Its provisions, which are not mandatory, state that "no other flag or pennant should be placed above or, if on the same level, to the right of the flag of the United States of America."

SUlowans To Attend Music Meet

An SUI graduate student will present a research paper Sunday at the fall meeting of the Midwest Chapter of the American Musical Society, being held today through Sunday at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Fred Blum, Spring Valley, N.Y., graduate student in musicology, will read a paper on "Another Look at the Montpellier Organum Treatise," an English translation and commentary on an early 12th century Latin treatise dealing with musical composition. In medieval music, organum referred to a voice part accompanying the melody and constituted the first attempt at part singing.

Also attending the meeting from the SUI campus will be Albert T. Luper, associate professor of music and nationally recognized musicologist; Mrs. Rita Benton, music librarian; and Robert J. Dietz, Iowa City; Frederick Crane, Mt. Pleasant; Frederick Freeman, New Brunswick, N.J., and Charles F. Schroder, Walhall, S.C., all graduate students in musicology. Luper is a former chairman of the Midwest Chapter of the American Musical Society.

Following the Ann Arbor meeting, Luper will go to New York City, where he will attend an International Conference on Brazil, to be held Dec. 1-3 at New York University.
