U.S. Intraparty Squabbles Loom

Rent Hike Will Help Offset Cost Of 3 New Dorms

$20 Increase Each Year Planned To Cover Expansion

The $50 increase in SUI dormitory rent for the 1958-59 school year is part of a long range plan to spread the costs of future developments over a larger group of students, University officials said Monday.

This year's rent increase and a further increase of $20 yearly through 1965-66 will be used to meet costs of the new dormitories which will be necessary by 1964 to house an increased enrollment, said Ted M. Rehder, director of University Dormitories and Dining Services. Rehder said that with the $50 increase next year and the other raises these costs will be spread out over a longer period of time and thus will not fall so heavily on certain groups of students.

2 Dorms By 1964

Ray B. Mossman, university business manager, explained that the reasons for the higher rents are similar to those which necessitated the married student rent hikes. He said plans for the future indicate that a new women's dorm of 500 units and a new men's dorm of 1200 units will be needed by the fall of 1964.

An additional 700 units for women and another 1200 for men are planned for 1967 he said. Mossman said that the estimated cost of each of these new units is $5,000 and the rent increases are based on this. Iowa law requires the dormitory system to be self-supporting with room and board fees paying for both construction and operating costs.

Mossman explained that projections regarding enrollment trends, housing needs, service costs and other expenses have been made by the University which go through 1972. He said that this year's rent increase was a normal one in that it was anticipated on their charts.

Larger Hike Than Planned

However, the planned increase was only a $25 one, said Mossman, and the actual one is $50. He said the extra $25 will go for increases in salary for SUI faculty and administrative officials. The Iowa Legislature is expected to provide for this salary raise this summer, he said.

The $50 rent increase will be for those students living in boarding dorms in double or triple rooms. These, the majority of dorm residents, will be paying $780 next fall instead of this year's $730. Single rooms will cost $870, an increase of $60. Those men who live in South Quad, a non-boarding dormitory, will have a rent increase of $25 and will pay $280. There will also be raises in rates for summer school students.

Compares Favorably

Rehder pointed out that even with the rent increase, SUI compares favorably with other Big Ten Schools on this score. Iowa had the lowest rent in the Big Ten this year for men's residence halls. Even with the new rates, and using the 1957-58 figures for the other schools, Iowa will be tied for fourth place with Wisconsin and Illinois at $780. Of course, these schools may increase their rents next year too.

The rent increases were approved by the State Board of Regents last week and will go into effect at the beginning of the 1959 summer session.

Ike's Budget May Push $80 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower sketched out a 1959 legislative program Monday that may push federal spending up to $80 billion.

With Mr. Eisenhower presiding, Republican congressional leaders got a briefing on legislative and budget prospects at a White House conference.

They came away figuring that spending in the new budget will go above the $79 billion estimated for the present financial year, which ends next June 30.

Balanced Budget

But they said Mr. Eisenhower is determined to balance the budget if possible and may do so — and challenge heavy spenders in Congress to go along with a balance.

This evidently would rule out any tax cut as well as any big boost in defense spending. Many members of Congress consider defense allotments dangerously low.

Currently in Red

For the current year, the Administration has predicted that it will run more than $12 billion in the red, because spending went up and the business recession cut revenues. Since there were no hints of a tax increase, the Administration obviously is pegging its hopes for a budget balance to a continued pickup in business.

Vice President Nixon and seven top Republicans from Senate and House sat in on the session.

Cabinet members and heads of Government agencies took turns going over Administration programs in their particular fields.

Budget Items Discussed

On the discussion schedule were such topics as civil rights and labor legislation, farm and housing program, social security, water resources development, postal rates, foreign aid and national defense.

These topics and legislative proposals touching on them will be laid before the new Congress in Eisenhower's State of the Union message next month. His budget message will spell out the financing part.

No Figures Final

The whole picture of the program and its financing was drawn in what House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) called broad strokes. All those present agreed that no figures are final at this point, including the one for defense spending and the total for the budget.

But Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and others, too, talked in terms of an $80-billion budget.

There was widespread agreement that the goal is to come as close as possible to a balanced budget.

U.S., France Fail To Agree On Eve Of NATO Meeting

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and French Premier Charles de Gaulle failed Monday to sweep away underlying differences between France and the United States on the eve of important Atlantic Pact conferences.

The two met for an hour and a half in De Gaulle's official residence. Guarded press statements after the meeting made it plain that while the meeting was cordial, the two men saw eye-to-eye only on the Berlin crisis, the issue which is expected to overshadow all else at the NATO talks.

On Berlin, both reaffirmed the Western position taken Sunday that Britain, France and the United States would maintain their position and keep free access to the city despite threatening moves from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Discuss Defense Problems

Dulles and the foreign ministers of all the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries sit down today to consider the Berlin question and a wide range of defense problems, many of which involve France's position in the geographical heart of the alliance.

France-U.S. Rift

The nature of the rift between France and the United States was demonstrated by two questions which De Gaulle put to Dulles. De Gaulle wanted to know why the United States had voted for the entry of newly independent Guinea into the United Nations. He also asked why the United States had abstained from the vote to consider the Algerian question rather than voting against. These questions were revealed by French sources who did not give Dulles' response.

Rapacki Plan

He said the conferees very likely would discuss the question of military disengagement in central Europe. This is the idea to pull troops back away from what might be an atom-free zone, an idea pushed hard by Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki of Poland, and often called the Rapacki Plan.

After the Dulles-De Gaulle talks, informed sources suggested the French were mixing politics with the West's defense needs in a diplomatic maneuver to bolster France's role in NATO.

An American spokesman said Dulles agreed to continue discussions on how to keep closer together on international problems but it seems clear that Dulles went no further toward satisfying France's demands for a greater role in NATO. Pressed for more details of the meeting a spokesman said: "Neither of them want-

Christmas Carols In Modern Dance Tonight At 8:15

Christmas carols will be presented in dance tonight by Orchestis, SUI's modern dance group, and two beginning dance groups at a Christmas program at 8:15 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

An unusual part of the program will be the group's interpretation of "The Mummings," a group of villagers in ancient England who celebrated Christmas in a colorful way.

The program will be concluded with a choreography of the Christmas colors and why they are used.

Choreography and costumes for the program were planned and designed by the students themselves. They worked with the help of Mrs. Doyle Bladon, sponsor of Orchestis, and Mrs. John Borchardt, sponsor of Junior Orchestis.

No admission will be charged for the hour-long program.

G.O.P., Demo Liberals Balk At Leadership

Push For Greater Voice In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberals in both political parties began an all-out push Monday to win a greater voice in the high command of the Senate and House. Their action set the stage for rousing intraparty squabbles at the opening of Congress next month.

In the senate, about a dozen "young turk" Republicans decided at a strategy conference to challenge the conservative leadership of their party by offering their own candidates for the five top spots in the GOP Senate organization.

In the House, a meeting of about a score of liberal-minded Democrats pledged their support to the leadership of speaker Sam Rayburn and Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

But they also demanded that Rayburn give them more influence in top party circles by curbing the power of the predominantly conservative House Rules Committee, which channels legislation to the House floor for action. It has frequently stymied liberal-sponsored bills.

The revolt against the conservative Senate GOP leadership was led by Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.). After a meeting with like-minded Republicans, he told newsmen they decided they had a good chance to seize control of the party machinery in the 86th Congress.

No Candidates Picked

He said the strategists for the rebellion did not pick any particular candidates at the meeting in his office. But he said they would do so at another conference on Dec. 30, eight days before the predominantly Democratic Congress convenes on Jan. 7.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) who attended the meeting, is regarded as the most likely candidate of the liberals for William Knowland's vacated post of party whip.

It was considered a foregone conclusion that the conservatives would recommend Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the present party whip who won his present post over liberal opposition two years ago. He was originally a staunch supporter of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Chairman Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) of the Senate Policies Committee said after a White House meeting that he regarded Dirksen as the logical man for the Knowland post. He said he personally would like to continue as policy chairman.

Conservative Wants Compromise

Bridges, regarded as a member of the conservative wing, said he still favors working out a compromise on the dispute.

"I certainly don't want to start a new session with a battle among Republicans," he added.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (D-N.J.) said, "this is very definitely not a revolt movement."

But after pledging their support for Rayburn and McCormack, the group voted to demand talks with both leaders on curbing the powerful rules committee.

Curbs Not Explained

Thompson declined to say just what curbs on the rules group were advocated by the liberal bloc. But he conceded that without Rayburn's support, the move would fail.

While Aiken and the other liberal Republicans were planning their campaign, Dirksen and other predominantly conservative Senate GOP leaders were meeting with President Eisenhower at the White House to hear his legislative program for 1959.

Aiken said his group "had not heard one peep" out of the White House even though they were supporters of the President and his programs. He said they would appreciate aid from the White House but we don't plan to beg for it."

Sorry, Son, Santa Claus Isn't Here

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An oil-splattered mechanic climbs from under a car, turns off his compressor, and picks up the telephone.

"Is Santa Claus there?" a squeaky voice asks.

"No, he isn't son. He's never been here. He's not expected."

This scene is re-enacted two or three times a day at the Southern Auto Body and Paint Shop.

Normally, you'd expect mechanics to explode with language that could have a life-long effect upon the tiny caller. But they've been instructed by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Franke, to think of their own children before replying.

"Why do you think Santa is here?"

"We were given this number," the tiny voice invariably replies.

After hearing the bad news, the youngster usually hangs down the phone in sorrow. But he doesn't know what he's doing to Mrs. Franke, who has six grandchildren.

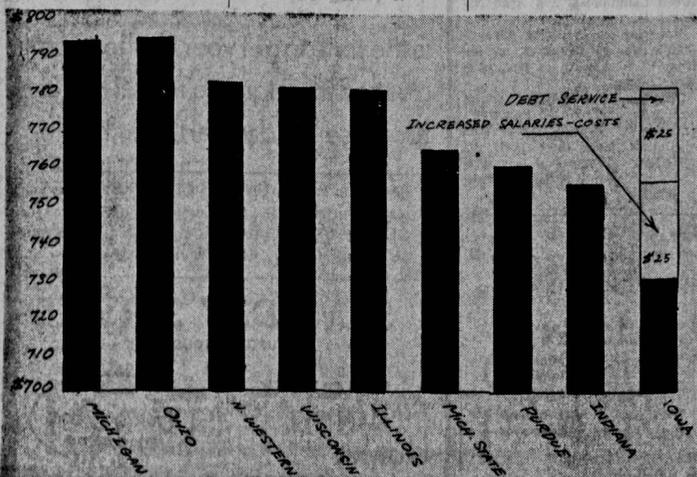

"I feel so bad," she says. "I wish we had time to talk to them. But we haven't."

She has no idea how it started. Neither does the phone company, nor the city and county recreation departments.

The secret apparently lies with the youngster who first started passing the word. And he's not talking.

"We'd like for children to get the number, if there is one," says Mrs. Franke. She's counting the days until Christmas.

"Only 11 more days to go . . . and then peace."

COMPARATIVE 1958-1959 dormitory rent charges in various Big Ten schools are shown on the above graph. The proposed SUI rent hike of $50 is shown in white above the dark area. Iowa now has the lowest rates in the Big Ten. It will be tied for fourth place when the rent hike goes into effect next fall.—Daily Iowan drawing.

Vote Favors Marketing Controls On Rice, Cotton And Tobacco

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farmers voted overwhelmingly Monday to continue marketing controls on rice, cotton and tobacco in exchange for relatively high price supports, the Agriculture Department reported last night.

All returns were not in, but Department spokesmen said there was little chance that the remaining votes to be counted could upset the trend.

The farmers voted to continue the controls on cotton, extra long staple cotton, rice and flue-cured tobacco.

Despite French Protest, English Import Champagne From Spain For Christmas Drinking

LONDON (AP) — Six thousand bottles of champagne—the Spanish variety—were unloaded here Monday, in time for the Christmas drinking spurge.

They're the first of a consignment of 20,000 bottles routed to Britain by sea after being turned back at the Spanish frontier by the infuriated French. The French insist that champagne can come only from France.

The Costa Brava Wine Co., which imports the drink, was found innocent by a British court last month of a charge of using a false description in selling the wine under the label "Spanish champagne."

Alaskan Senator Elect Named Rose Parade Marshal

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Sen-elect E. L. (Bob) Bartlett of Alaska was named grand marshal of the Tournament of Roses Monday, replacing the new state's ailing governor.

Gov.-elect William A. Egan originally was invited to lead the Rose parade but was hospitalized last week for an emergency operation.

Sen. Bartlett, his wife and their 19-year-old daughter will arrive here Dec. 27 for the coronation ball for Rose Queen Pamela Prather.

United States And Britain Submit Articles For Nuclear Weapons Test Ban Treaty

GENEVA, (UPI) — The United States and Britain submitted to the Soviet Union Monday four more articles of a draft treaty designed to prohibit nuclear weapons tests.

The four new articles contained a detailed plan on the workings of a control commission, a conference of treaty powers, a detection and identification system and an administrator and international staff.

Russian Search Plane Rescues Four Missing Antarctic Explorers

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Four Belgian explorers missing in the icy antarctic since their plane crashed 10 days ago were reported rescued Tuesday by a Soviet search plane.

The report came from Moscow radio. A Tass dispatch telling of the rescue gave no details. Previously Moscow radio said the Soviet pilot Viktor Perov had spotted footprints and equipment of the four men.

The Belgian Antarctic Expedition headquarters said Monday night the men had walked to within 25 miles of a Belgian supply depot.

Children Injured As Train Rams Stalled School Bus

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Witnesses watched in horror Monday as a freight train with brakes grinding bore down on 48 screaming children in a school bus stalled on a suburban Bridgeport crossing.

About half the youngsters got out before the 41-car train's big diesel engines, slowed to 6 m.p.h., smashed into the front of the bus, knocking it off the tracks.

Some 20 children were injured, including one who suffered a skull fracture. Most of the rest had minor cuts and bruises.

Russell Knisley, 58, driver of the bus, told state police only the front wheels of the bus were on the tracks and he thought he had time to flag down the train. He said he feared the children would be in greater danger if they got out onto the tracks.

The engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio train, Charles O. McKendree of Saginaw, told police the train was moving slowly when he saw the stalled bus. He immediately applied emergency brakes, he said, but momentum carried the train into the bus and it stopped six car lengths past the crossing.

Joseph Fehrenbach, who witnessed the accident, said the train hit the front of the bus, lifting the two front wheels up and spinning it.

Pope John Adds 23 Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII reinforced the College of Cardinals Monday with 20 new princes to help him bear the growing burdens of the Roman Catholic Church.

Archbishops Richard James Cushing of Boston and John F. O'Hara of Philadelphia were formally elevated to the purple along with 17 other prelates from eight nations at a secret consistory.

Addressing the assembled group in Latin, the pope also chose the moment for a major attack on what he called the sorrowful and bitter spectacle of persecution of Catholics in Communist China. He cited attempts to divide the Church. He said some who are "weak, wavering, frightened" have paved the way for a schism.

And he warned them to stand firm.

Dressed in scarlet and white robes of state, the pope said he played daily for "those sons, so very dear to us, who in many countries are subjected to the most atrocious sufferings because of their unflinching faithfulness to the Divine Redeemer."

But he named only Red China.

The 23 old cardinals listened in silence before his raised throne as Pope John, only 41 days after his coronation, spoke on the state of the Church in the world.

His traditional allocution also contained the hint that, as widely speculated, he might again enlarge the College of Cardinals. In its present makeup, 29 members are from Italy and 45 from 26 other nations.

Ask Mediator To Help Settle Air Strike

MIAMI (UPI) — Eastern Air Lines and its striking flight engineers began meeting with a Federal mediator late Monday as the big air carrier's crippling strike entered its fourth week.

The engineers agreed to ask a third party to enter the dispute "to speed agreement on a new contract." An Eastern spokesman said the company "welcomed" the move as "a hopeful means of expediting settlement of the dispute."

This marks the first time since the strike began Nov. 24 that the engineers have agreed to work with a mediator. However, the engineers have been meeting several days.

In a statement released late Monday, Ron Brown of the Flight Engineers International Association (FEIA) said: "Because recent meetings between FEIA, Eastern Air Lines chapter, and Eastern Airlines have produced very little progress toward settlement of the strike, the flight engineers have asked Warren Lane, mediator, to act as a third party in an effort to speed agreement on a new contract."

The engineers and Eastern's union mechanics both walked out three weeks ago. But the company reached an agreement with leaders of the mechanics union yesterday.

Eastern and mechanics union officials agreed last night on the terms of a new three-year contract. The agreement included hourly raises ranging from 26 to 9 cents, plus retroactive payments of $325 to $335. Some 5,500 members of the International Association of Machinists are affected.

George M. Brown, president of the South Florida District of the union, said it would take at least five days for the rank-and-file membership to vote on the agreement. Brown said he would urge the members to accept it.

But settlement with the mechanics didn't mean the end of the strike. Flight engineers are still out in a separate dispute.

Seven Die In Plane Crash During Storm

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R.I. (UPI) — All seven men aboard died Monday in the nose-dive crash of a disabled twin-engine airplane during a sneak snow storm.

The Lockheed Learstar plunged into a wooded, swampy hunting area near this Woonsocket suburb. The two crewmen and four of the five business executive passengers were killed outright.

A fifth business executive of the Johnson & Johnson Co. of New Brunswick, N.J., owner of the plane lived a few moments in a semi-conscious state.

The pilot, tentatively identified as Alexander Sabo of Metuchen, N.J., radioed Boston's Logan Airport at 9:30 a.m. (EST) that one of the plane's two engines was in trouble. No further sign of the plane was received until an Army helicopter spotted the wreckage.

The plane was on a flight from Linden, N.J., to Gloucester, Mass., when it flew into the snow storm.

Scientists Work On Sun Propelled Space Vehicles

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (UPI) — Los Alamos atomic scientists revealed Monday they are working on a plan to use a "solar sail" to propel ships through space.

Scientists, who likened the sails to those used in early ocean craft that explored the then unknown oceans, said the vehicle could be built with stocks now on hand in about 18 months.

The ship would be pushed through space by the pressure of sunlight reflected on a thin plastic film coated with evaporated aluminum and in the shape of a gigantic sail.

The extraordinarily small pressure of the sun would necessitate a large sail, scientists said. Sun pressure is about one-hundredth of a pound per acre and would require a sail of one-fourth of a mile in diameter to push a one-thousand-pound space ship.

School Fire Loss Blamed On Delay

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago fire commissioner Robert Quinn Monday blamed a delayed fire alarm and a wrong address for the tragedy which killed 92 children and nuns in the Our Lady of the Angels school fire.

Quinn revealed for the first time that the first alarm of the school disaster gave firemen the wrong address. The trucks raced to the Catholic church around the corner instead of to the building where children were dying in their classrooms.

The commissioner also backed up testimony indicating the fire was burning 20 minutes before the alarm was turned in.

Harold Marks, personal attorney for coroner Walter McCarron, asked "If you had reached the school three minutes sooner could every child have been saved?"

"Yes," Quinn answered. Later, however, he refused to state positively that the firemen could have saved every victim.

It was the first time that a top fire official has revealed that confusion and delay on the afternoon of Dec. 1 played perhaps the major role in Chicago's worst fire disaster in 55 years.

No Immediate Alarm
Earlier testimony showed that at least two of the school's teachers did not turn in a fire alarm immediately after they smelled smoke. By the time the fire trucks arrived at the church around the corner, authorities believe, the blaze had roared up a stairwell and into second floor classrooms.

Even the teachers in the schools did not know enough to call the Fire Department the moment they smelled smoke, Quinn said. As a result, the blaze had roared up a stairwell and into second floor classrooms by the time fire trucks arrived at the church around the corner.

Suspicious arose last week that there was a delay of perhaps more than 20 minutes between the time the fire was discovered and when the alarm was given. James Raymond, janitor, testified last week he saw the fire at 2:20 or 2:25, shouted to the rectory housekeeper to call the fire department, and then rushed into the burning building.

Monday, a teacher in the school, Mrs. Pearl Tristano, 24, testified she smelled smoke in the corridors.

Instead of calling the fire department, Mrs. Tristano said, she conferred with a teacher next door and they went together to the mother superior's office. The mother superior was gone and the second teacher went back to her room to evacuate the children.

Got Children Out
Only then did Mrs. Tristano remember the first floor fire alarm. She rang it, returned to her room, and got all her children out safely.

It has not yet been established whether Mrs. Tristano, the housekeeper, or the keeper or a neighborhood candy store turned in the first fire alarm and gave the firemen the wrong address.

Although both officials agreed that the school conformed with existing fire prevention regulations, they indicated that stricter laws could have prevented the tragedy.

Says Republican Campaigner Started 'Coya-Come-Home'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A handwriting expert told house investigators today that a "Coya Come Home" letter signed by Rep. Coya Knutson's husband actually was written by a campaigner for the Republican candidate who defeated Mrs. Knutson for reelection Nov. 4.

Denies Coya Campaign Involvement

FOSSTON, Minn. (UPI) — Maurice O. Nelson Monday angrily denied charges that he wrote the "Coya, Come Home" letter that Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn.) claims led to her defeat at the polls Nov. 4.

Nelson said he had some business dealings with Andy Knutson and Knutson probably has some letters containing his signature. But he said he had no idea why a handwriting expert testified in Washington that he wrote the letter that was signed by Andy.

Nelson said the letter was published long before Republican Odell Langen even filed as a candidate for Congress. Nelson was chairman of a Langen volunteer committee.

"Mrs. Knutson's charges are ridiculous and simply are not true," Nelson said. "She ought to have the good sense to accept her defeat graciously."

Official Stoned In Iraq

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Several thousand angry, yelling demonstrators greeted U.S. Assistant Secretary of State William Rountree on his arrival here Monday and demanded that he turn around and go home.

The Iraqi army spirited Rountree out a rear exit at Baghdad Airport and acted as a shield between him and the crowd.

The mob stoned and smashed windows of Rountree's car, a traveler who arrived in Beirut from Baghdad reported. The attack occurred on the road from the airport to the United States embassy, it was reported. The traveler said he did not know whether Rountree was injured.

United Press International Bureau in other Middle East capitals, quoting travelers from Baghdad, reported Communist strength growing daily in Iraq. They said the situation was very tense and could lead to a violent showdown between Communists and Arab Nationalists.

Rountree, on a swing through Middle Eastern countries, arrived from Cairo aboard an Iraqi Airways plane.

Truckloads of soldiers armed with sten-guns escorted Rountree's car quickly through a rear gate on the far side of the airport.

His arrival here had been preceded by an open campaign of denunciation.

Bus Lines To Resume Some Service

DES MOINES (AP) — American Bus Lines, strikebound since July 1, has declared it intends to resume service between Des Moines and Burlington by Dec. 21, the Iowa Commerce Commission said Monday.

Commission Chairman Ray Thompson said this would be only partial compliance with a commission order directing the firm to resume service by Monday on all its routes or face loss of its operating franchises a week later.

Thompson said the company proposed to run at least one bus each way daily between Des Moines, Albia, Ottumwa and Burlington.

This apparently also would provide service for a segment American had attempted to lease temporarily to Missouri Transit Co. of Macon, Mo., but which the transit company decided not to serve because of protests from the bus drivers union. That segment was from Des Moines to Ottumwa via Albia.

American has been running one bus each way daily between Des Moines and Shenandoah since October.

Thompson said the commission has received no word from the company as to its plans for the other 116 cities it had served before the strike, and added that no word is expected before the end of the week.

Brr — Eat More Ice Cream? Brr —

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — And here we are, on what seems the most unlikely day of the year, celebrating the start of a National Ice Cream Week.

Outside, people shiver along slippery streets, sore because they waited so long to do their Christmas shopping and mailing. If they are aware that they should be rejoicing in "ice cream for the holidays" week, their unsmiling faces don't show it.

That's probably because they haven't received a letter from a public relations man named Hardwig Peres Posert II, whose typewriter seems completely dazzled by the holiday spirit. "It is of this bright, intangible aura of festiveness," Posert writes, "that we speak when visions of sugar plums dance in our heads and childhood names of dessert delights lie sweet on the tongue. "And of these corporal symbols of a fairy world, ice cream has remained unsung among the poets while yet relished for centuries by king and commoner."

After you sweep away those visions of sugar plums, the cold facts come through. Ice cream makers have trouble selling their stuff in November, December, January and February, and so hope to offset this by getting ice cream on holiday menus. However unseasonable, Posert has some interesting facts at that. Quick now, who invented ice cream?

Why the Chinese of course, maybe as long as three thousand years ago. Not until Marco Polo went touring did the Europeans get the recipe. Old Marco must have had a greedy eye for good eating. In 1846 a U.S. housewife, Nancy Johnson, invented the hand-cranked freezer. In 1874 Robert M. Green of Philadelphia invented the ice cream soda. Twenty years later the sundae was born.

Ice cream historians say the sundae first appeared in Evanston, Ill., although Pittsburgh, Pa., and Two Rivers, Wis., have supporters who will fight you at the jerk of a soda if you say so in their presence.

The sundae has a curious history. So many were loitering around the sweet shops of Evanston that a law was pushed through prohibiting the Sunday sale of sodas. So the sodaless soda was invented, soon to be known as the Sunday Soda, or sundae. Let's see the Russians try to top that!

If you're an average American you will eat 15 quarts of ice cream a year.

And though it still seems that a man struggling home through the cold won't have his thoughts centered on a nice dish of ice cream, you can't blame Hardwig Peres Posert II for trying.

Federal Government Enters New York Paper Dispute

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Federal Government's chief labor peacemaker met separately with the mayor, the union and publishers today in an effort to end New York's six-day newspaper strike, but he said "The picture is not a bright one."

The metropolitan area of 12,000,000 population went without its nine major dailies, with a total circulation of 5,500,000, for another day while negotiators sought a peace formula.

Joseph F. Finnegan, Chief of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, stepped into the dispute yesterday. He flew here from Washington and spent the day conferring with officials of the Publishers Association of New York City and the Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union.

Negotiators for the deliverers accepted a new contract a week ago, but the union's membership voted it down Dec. 9.

The strike affected the New York Times, Herald Tribune, News, Mirror, World-Telegram and Sun, Journal-American and Post, and the Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press.

Finnegan met with the union negotiators this morning and publishers' representatives in the afternoon. After a 20-minute session with the publishers, Finnegan scheduled separate meetings with subcommittees from both sides in preparation for a joint meeting of the full negotiating teams.

When the morning session broke up, Asher Schwartz, union attorney, said the union wants a reduced work week, smaller newspaper bundles, five days a year paid sick leave, more than the present eight paid holidays a year and a clause providing that when a man fails to appear for work another man shall be assigned to drive his truck. Under the present drive his truck. Schwartz said, the absentee's work is divided among those who are on duty.

Hospital Urges Large Group Gifts

Civic and fraternal groups planning to donate gifts for distribution to patients at the SUI Hospitals on Christmas Eve are reminded that one or two larger items are as welcome as large boxes of smaller presents.

Floyd Patrick, administrative associate at University Hospitals and chairman of the hospital Christmas committee, said a number of tricycles, strollers and similar items have been donated for use by patients throughout the year.

Other gifts which would be appropriate, he says, are bedside radios and record players.

Packages come from every part of the state and are individually opened, sorted, gift-wrapped and prepared for delivery by Santa Claus on Christmas Eve. Every patient in the Hospitals will receive a present.

Other suggested items include toys, handkerchiefs, stationery with stamps, pipes, tobacco, fancy handkerchiefs, hose, scarves, books, shawls, toilet articles, gloves, ties, leather kits, billfolds and knitting materials.

Donors are urged not to send foods and not to gift-wrap their contributions. Diet restrictions make the foods impractical, and every gift has to be opened for sorting, and then gift-wrapped by volunteers at the Hospital.

Gifts may be addressed to Christmas Committee, State University of Iowa Hospitals, Iowa City, Iowa.

The G-Men

Iowa still has its home winning streak intact against non-Big Ten teams, and no small share of credit is due to the Hawks fabulous G-Men—Dave Gunther and Nolden Gentry.

They scored 43 of Iowa's 75 points in a hair-raising 2-point win over a good Texas Tech club. They also combined to pull down 32 of the Hawkeyes' 53 rebounds as Sharm Scheuerman's cagers completely dominated this phase of the game, 53-27. The Red Raiders had snagged 196 missed shots in their first three games before appearing at Iowa Fieldhouse.

Heitman Comes Through

Not all the credit goes to the co-captain forwards, though. Little Mike Heitman played a whale of a game. Once in the first half, Heitman stole the ball from 6'9" Pat Noakes, then faked the big center out and chipped in a birdie which brought a quick change of centers for the visitors. To no avail.

Bobby Washington played his usual steady game in the backcourt and Frank Mundt gave indications that he is just about ready to break out in a rash of 2-pointers. Several of his shots Saturday just wouldn't go in.

Reserves George Seaberg, Clarence Wordlaw and Earl Nau gave a good account of themselves and on the whole Iowa played well. At times, however, the firebrand type of basketball burned out of control. Several bad passes and errors in judgement cost the Hawks, but the outcome was a happy one.

Raiders Were Good

In all fairness to Tech coach Polk Robison and his Raiders though, the Texans had a very good basketball team. The visitors hit 43 per cent of their shots to 33 per cent for the home team. They hit 15 of 19 gifters to 23 of 34 for Iowa and therein lies the story.

The Hawkeyes fouled only 12 times while the Raiders were guilty of 23 penalties. Three Techmen fouled out and it is a good thing for Iowa that forward Leon Hill, left via the foul route when he did. The big forward had just brought his team from a 4-point deficit to a 2-point lead when he picked up his fifth infraction.

Both teams blew several good chances in the final minutes, but the G-Men came through. Gunther, held to four points in the first half and finishing with 23, scored seven of Iowa's last nine points while Gentry cleared the backboards like a demon and played a bang-up defensive game.

The Hawks got real good support from the small, small gathering of 3,800. At times the cheerleaders led cheers to one another, but as the game warmed up so did the crowd (if 3,800 in the Fieldhouse is a crowd).

One thing puzzled me. There were several Iowa football players in attendance and when the band played the Iowa Fight Song, only those on the traveling squad to the Rose Bowl stood up??

Moore Finally Feels Needed
By Profession

NEW YORK (AP)— Archie Moore Monday felt like the guy who finally told off his boss.

The ageless light heavyweight champion got it off his chest at a boxing luncheon when several writers congratulated him on his electrifying comeback victory over Yvon Durelle, his birthdays (42, 45, 49) Saturday, and for giving boxing a "great lift."

"Most of my career, when things were tough and I was getting my lumps, I always dreamed of the day when boxing would need me," said Archie.

"I guess my time came. But I don't hold any grudges. Things are going along fine. I'm going on that South American tour and then I've got that return fight with Durelle in Montreal in July."

"That should be a big payday," some said.

"I hope so," said Archie. "That will take care of my old age."

The champion, unmarked by his gruelling fight last Wednesday, said the South American tour was being lined up by Roberto D'Angelo, "my South American manager."

Archie said the dates haven't been settled yet but he expected to leave after Feb. 10 with his wife and 15-month-old daughter.

"I'll have some non-title fights and give exhibitions," said Archie. "This will be a sort of vacation and boxing tour. No more title fights until Durelle."

D'Angelo said Moore would appear in Uruguay, Chile, Brazil, Argentina and Peru.

Royals, Warriors
In 3-Player Swap

CINCINNATI (AP)— The Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association, Monday traded rookie Vern Hatton to the Philadelphia Warriors for Phil Rollins and the rights to Phil Wheeler.

Rollins, 24, also playing his first year in the NBA after two years in service, formerly played for the University of Louisville. Wheeler, a one-time University of Cincinnati star, is in the insurance business and has never played pro ball.

Rollins, who has been used sparingly by the Warriors, has averaged about five points a game.

Hatton, 22, former University of Kentucky star, has averaged slightly better than seven points a game for Cincinnati.

MaCauley Placed On Inactive List

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Easy Ed MaCauley, now a full-time bench coach for the St. Louis Hawks, apparently has played his last basketball game.

MaCauley, 30, third top scorer in the National Basketball Association at the start of this season with 11,160 points, was placed on the inactive list Monday as the Hawks got down to the 10-player limit.

MaCauley, who has been bothered by a knee injury, made a token appearance Saturday night at the Hawks defeated New York's Knickerbackers. He scored the final basket and then waved goodbye to fans.

Iowa Gridders Drill; Leave Wednesday

The Iowa gridders held their next-to-last practice in Iowa City Monday when coach Forest Evashevski put his 44 charges through extensive offensive and defensive drills in preparation for the Rose Bowl game, Jan. 1.

Grid Fans
Fight Cold
For Tickets

NEW YORK (AP)— Long lines of chilled football fans stomped their feet and shelled out ready cash Monday for tickets to Sunday's playoff game between the New York Giants and the Cleveland Browns.

Despite the continued strike of newspaper delivery men that had forced all major papers to cease publication, the big city reacted vigorously to Sunday's 13-10 victory of the Giants over the Browns.

Dam Burst

As the Giants had to win Sunday's game to tie the Browns for the Eastern Conference title, no tickets could be sold until the game was over. Then the dam burst.

Extra police were called out to control the frosty customers who besieged the ticket windows at Yankee Stadium until 11 p.m. They were back again Monday morning. Most of the tickets were snapped up, except those calling for seats with an obstructed view.

All day long there were long lines extending from the ticket windows at Grand Central Station to the outside of the big railroad terminal.

The more fortunate fans who had bought regular season tickets lined up at the Giant's office at Columbus Circle for the right to pick up their normal allotment.

Same Story

It will be the same story all over again next week for the winner which will be the home club against the Baltimore Colts in the league championship playoff, Dec. 28.

The normal championship playoff rules will be used in the Giants-Browns game. In the event of a tie at the end of regulation time, there will be a sudden death overtime.

Commissioner Bert Bell said in Philadelphia the teams would toss a coin to see which kicks and which receives in the overtime. Play would continue until one team scores. There would be the normal change of goals if a quarter elapsed but no halftime interval.

Heitman Earns Starting Position

Long Refuses To Check On Front Office

CHICAGO (AP)—Dale Long, who made baseball history with his bat in 1956, passed up a chance to make some more Monday.

He rejected the Chicago Cubs' offer to persevere their operational expenses. For a player to have access to such figures is believed to be unprecedented in baseball.

Not Since 1925

The Cubs wanted to show first baseman Long, the club's player representative, that since 1925 salaries never have been below 20 per cent of the gross income and in many instances was more.

It was the result of major league players, through their attorney J. Norman Lewis, proposing salaries of 20 per cent of a club's gross income—a proposal unanimously rejected by owners in their recent meeting in Washington, D.C.

"Long can see the analysis if he wants," Cub vice-president John Holland said. "But the reason he came to Chicago was a meeting with us on his 1959 contract."

Long, who set a major league record in 1956 with the Pittsburgh Pirates by hitting eight homers in eight consecutive games, said he would pass up the chance to look at the ledger.

Wouldn't Understand

"It's none of my business," he said. "They can tell me, and I believe them. It is nice they offered to show it to me. But I wouldn't understand it anyway."

"I think Lewis pulled a boner by not going into this 20 per cent business further. His basis was what he got from the congressional hearings. The players didn't know what percentage went for salaries—they were in the dark about it."

"So Lewis comes up with his proposal. After it was rejected, a lot of player representatives went to the owners and found out that salaries make up more than 20 per cent of the gross income."

Perez Keeps Title By Beating Ursua

MANILA (AP)—Pascual Perez, the precision punching flyweight champion from Argentina, Monday night weathered the bull-like rushes of tough but crude Domingo Ursua of the Philippines to retain his title on a unanimous decision in 15 rounds.

A partisan crowd of 42,000, including President Carlos P. Garcia, his wife and cabinet ministers, saw the rough battle in the Manila football stadium. Most fans appeared to agree with the verdict.

The Argentine champion backed away from wild swinging charges of Ursua and pumped his fists like pistons into the Filipino's face to pile up his victory on points.

Neither fighter was in danger, although Ursua twice momentarily shook up the champion, in the first and thirteenth rounds. Perez punched open a cut under Ursua's eye in the fifth round, but the 25-year-old challenger did not bleed thereafter.

There were no knockdowns.

Referee Frankie Carter, imported from California, scored it 149-141 for Perez. Judge Rafael Torres had it 145-142, and Judge Sylvia Sirois called it 146-142 for the champion.

The 32-year-old South American weighed 109 3/4, his heaviest ever for a title bout. Ursua hit the 112-pound flyweight limit exactly.

FULLTIME JOB

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Quarterback Norman Van Brocklin has accepted a full time job with the Philadelphia Eagles, the National Football League club announced Monday. Van Brocklin will continue to play for the Eagles and during the off season will work in a public relations capacity.

Play Against Texans Wins Guard Spot

Mike Heitman, diminutive Iowa guard, has won a starting job for the Hawks when they face California at Madison, Wis. Friday night, coach Sharm Scheuerman said Monday.

"The job is his until someone takes it away from him," Sharm said. In his first starting assignment of the young season, the 5'8" junior from Moline, Ill. dropped in 12 points and played a fine floor game Saturday afternoon as Iowa kept its home winning streak intact against non-conference opposition by edging a rugged Texas Tech quintet, 75-73. It was the 81st in a row for the Hawkeyes in a string that dates back to Jan. 29, 1942 when Kansas defeated the Hawks here, 53-51.

Mundt Has Cold

Frank Mundt, who scored five points Saturday, was forced to leave Monday's practice session early due to a bad cold. He will be in the starting lineup Friday if his cold improves, Sharm said.

Co-captains Dave Gunther and Nolden Gentry continue to pace the Iowa scorers through the first four games. Gunther, who potted 19 of his 23 points in the second half of Saturday's thriller before a 3,800 "live" spectators, paces the club with 77 points for a 19.3 average.

Gentry scored 20 against the Raiders to hike his point total to 57 and an average of 14.3. From there the scoring drops to 31 points by Clarence Wordlaw—a 7.8 average and Heitman's 21 points for a 5.3 average.

Top Rebounders, Too

Gentry and Gunther also lead the team in rebounds with 50 and 41, respectively—over half of Iowa's 171 in four games.

The team will leave by bus for Madison Thursday morning, Scheuerman said.

Taking It Easy

TEXAS TECH FORWARD Wade Wolfe went to the floor in the first half of Saturday's regionally televised contest between Iowa and the Raiders at Iowa Fieldhouse. Earl Nau of Iowa prepared to pass ball as teammate and the day's high scorer, Dave Gunther, looked on. erman said. The Hawks will face California in the first game of a doubleheader that pits Wisconsin against Washington in the nightcap. All four teams will be in action at Iowa Fieldhouse Saturday night with Wisconsin meeting California in the opener and the Hawkeyes facing Washington in the second game.

In Friday's battle with California, the Hawks will be tangling with the defending Pacific Coast Conference champions who will be minus 2-letterman Joe Kapp. Kapp, named to some All America teams at quarterback, will lead the Golden Bears in the Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day against Forest Evashevski's griders.

Duncan Joins NG, To Serve 6-Month Tour

Iowa's All America quarterback Randy Duncan disclosed this week he has joined the National Guard and will report to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., in mid-February for six months of training.

Duncan will receive his degree from Iowa a week before his departure for training.

The Des Moines native was the No. 1 draft choice in the recent National Football League professional draft and was picked by the Green Bay Packers.

However, Duncan said he is still undecided about his plans after he completes army training. "I'm disturbed over news stories which say I'm not interested in playing with the Packers," he said.

"That's not true. All I ever said was that I wasn't sure what I would do. I'm still counting on studying for a law degree," he said, then added:

"Right now I'm more concerned about the Rose Bowl game than I am about my pro career. The bowl game comes first."

BoSox Trade Klaus To Baltimore For Busby

BOSTON (AP)—The Red Sox Monday traded utility infielder Billy Klaus to the Baltimore Orioles for outfielder Jim Busby. Joe Cronin, Boston general manager, said it was a straight player swap, no cash involved.

Busby, a Kenedy, Tex., native who now lives in Leesburg, Fla., was in 112 games last season with the Orioles, batted .237, drove in 19 runs and hit three homers, one a grand slam. He will be 32 next month.

Klaus, a Sarasota, Fla., resident, hit .159 in 61 games last year. Klaus just turned 30. He is a native of Fox Lake, Ill.

Benton County Democrat Challenges Foe's Victory

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — for a temporary injunction forbidding state officials from certifying election of Rep. Jack Milroy (R-Vinton) to the state Legislature, was taken under advisement Monday by District Judge Dring Needham.

Needham acted after a hearing on the injunction request filed by George Good of Newhall, Democratic candidate for state representative in Benton county.

Rep. Milroy defeated Good by 69 votes. However, Good contends voting machines used in the Nov. 4 election were not set up properly and that a special election should be held to determine whether he or Milroy was the winner.

Woman Killed, 2 Hurt As Auto Strikes Bridge

GREENFIELD (AP) — Mrs. Christine Schoneich, 68, of Persia, Iowa, was killed Monday when the car in which she was riding struck the Grand River Bridge 6½ miles east of here on Iowa 92.

Her husband, Charles, 66, believed to be the driver of the car, and a 3-year-old boy, thought to be the couple's grandson, were hurt.

Schoneich was in serious condition at a Greenfield hospital. The boy was not believed to be seriously hurt.

Bender Admits $25,000 Fee From Hoffa

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee reported Monday that former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) charged nearly $25,000 for directing the Teamsters Union's "Cleanup Commission" for about three months.

Bender, advised of McClellan's report, said he had made public the same figures himself. He said he "never worked harder under more trying circumstances" than as chairman of the 3-man cleanup group appointed by Teamster Pres. James R. Hoffa last summer.

McClellan said that Hoffa's appointment of the Bender Commission was a duplication of effort making for "an additional burden on the funds of the Teamsters Union, which are derived from the members' dues."

Recalling that Hoffa announced last week the Bender group had found the Teamsters "free of corruption" McClellan said: "At no time did Mr. Bender or any representative of his committee solicit any of the information that this committee has gathered in months of investigation into the activities of the Teamsters and Mr. Hoffa."

Bender took issue with McClellan's assertion that he never sought information brought out by the Rackets Committee.

Running East German Blockade Would Cause War, Say Reds

BERLIN (UPI) — East German Communist Chief Walter Ulbricht threatened Monday that Red troops might invade West Germany if the West tried to break any Berlin blockade. The Soviet bloc backed him up with a pledge of military aid if East Germany became involved with the West.

Ulbricht's warning, made in an East Berlin speech, was the first indication that the Communists might answer counter-blockade measures with an offensive over the Iron Curtain.

It followed action of the Western Big Three and West German Foreign Ministers in Paris Sunday rejecting Soviet demands that the United States, Britain and France get out of Berlin and turn it into a "free city."

Khrushchev Hits Ousted Soviets Heads

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Monday blasted ex-premier Nikolai Bulganin and other ousted Soviet leaders as "A despicable group" of men who had lost touch with the people and tried to divide the country.

In a speech before the Communist Party Central Committee in Moscow, Khrushchev charged the "wretched" group had attempted to sidetrack Russia's agricultural policy and opposed the interests of the people.

Improvement Needed, Says Sanitarian

Improvements in sanitation are needed in a majority of Iowa City restaurants and taverns, S. E. Lenz, city sanitarian, said Monday.

Lenz said that he has made specific recommendations to individual restaurant and tavern operators on the basis of an inspection of 66 such establishments in the city. The survey was completed last week.

The sanitarian said that it is now up to the operators to take remedial action, and added that so far they have shown a "willingness to co-operate."

"The city does not grade food and drink establishments according to their degree of cleanliness," Lenz said. "As far as we are concerned a place is either clean or it isn't."

Lenz urged customers to take an interest in sanitation problems and to point out any deficiencies they see to the operators of restaurants and taverns.

He said he plans to follow up his initial survey with regular monthly inspections. The sanitarian said he will also begin inspecting grocery stores and public school cafeterias after Jan. 1.

World Travel A Cinch... But Those U.S. Cabbies

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Iowa Gov. Herschel C. Loveless, just back from trips to England, France, Italy and Israel, told today where his travels were stymied by the most: "We almost froze in a New York cab and a Chicago taxi took us on 90 minute 'shortcuts' that turned into 'longcuts' and we got lost," he said.

2nd California Fire Chars 38,000 Acres

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (UPI) — The second giant brush fire in southern California within two weeks burned an estimated 38,000 acres of brush and watershed Monday, but firefighters reported some progress in containing the blaze.

By 7 p.m. PST Monday, the fire—which already had burned 18 homes—was about 50 per cent contained, according to the U.S. Forest Service.

"It's hardly what you would call controlled," said one spokesman. "But we're making progress, particularly along the west side and in the southwest corner."

"But more high winds are forecast Wednesday, and if we're going to do any good, we'll have to do it in the next 24 hours." He said there was no immediate hope for control.

The fire burned much watershed terrain and left the possibility that heavy rains in the next few months could cause severe flood conditions, the Forest Service said.

The smoke was so extensive that it partially blotted out the sun at Los Angeles, about 50 miles away, causing temperatures to be slightly lower than would have otherwise been the case, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

Residents of 62 homes in the Trabuco Canyon area remained on the alert when fire drew within two miles of the area.

The fire blazed northeast of this historic mission town on the Pacific Coast.

There were no casualties reported Monday, either among residents or firemen. Nine planes were used to douse the flames with borate solution used successfully in the recent Malibu fire.

A force of 1100 firefighters from the U.S. Forest Service, State Division of Forestry, Marine Corps and county fire departments fought the blaze with shovels, 21 bulldozers, 70 pumpers, helicopters and planes.

Pilots flying aerial tankers dumped a fire-killing borate solution on the hottest, most inaccessible, parts of the fire in tough, rugged country of the Cleveland national forest in riverside and orange counties.

Scores of residents were evacuated from San Juan Hot Springs about 12 miles northeast of here where the fire destroyed 18 summer homes and cabins and threatened 20 others.

Trade War Threat Halted By Europeans

PARIS (AP) — A threatened European trade war was averted at least temporarily early Tuesday by agreement among 17 nations to study British and French compromise plans.

Heavy negotiators put off a final decision until Jan. 15. But a six-nation European Common Market will go into effect as scheduled next Jan. 1.

The compromise plans were not made public in detail. Informants said the conferees agreed that the offer of the common market six to extend some of their economic measures to the remaining 11 members of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation will become effective with the new year.

The agreement climaxed talks that went on all day Monday and late into the night. Conferees said that at times they became bitter, with the French often deserted by their five market partners.

The delegates from the 17 OEEC nations reached their uneasy truce and broke off talks just before midnight.

Earlier Britain had served notice on the other nations of possible economic reprisals against the six-nation European Common Market group that makes up one block inside the OEEC unless the six agreed to broaden their organization to include the remaining 11 OEEC nations in a free trade area.

The Communists have made it clear that any attempt by the West to break a blockade would be considered in the category of an "attack on East Germany."

The communists said that the full backing of all the Warsaw Pact powers for the East Germans was based on the need for the "common security of the pact nations."

The Warsaw Pact nations include Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania, Albania and East Germany.

The communists also expressed the full support of both East Germany and Poland for the Soviet demand for a summit Conference to solve international problems.

Ulbricht's blast was the most warlike threat made in the East since Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev first demanded that the West get out of Berlin on Nov. 10.

It followed a report in the East German Communist paper Young World that a "single shot" against blockade measures could start a world war.

The Communist campaign continued despite the Paris communique Sunday night in which the Western Allied Powers warned they were determined "to maintain their position and their rights with respect to Berlin, including the right of free access."

O'Connor Named Assistant Johnson County Attorney

Atty. Edward L. O'Connor Saturday received the appointment of assistant Johnson County attorney effective Jan. 1.

Announcement of the appointment of the former attorney general of Iowa was made by County Atty.-elect Ralph L. Neuzil. The two Democrat attorneys will take office on that date.

Neuzil said, "I feel very fortunate, and I think the people of Johnson County are very fortunate in having O'Connor as assistant county attorney. His vast experiences should be very beneficial to us."

O'Connor, in addition to serving as attorney general from 1933 to 1937, was Johnson County attorney from 1923 to 1927. Except for the years as attorney general, he has practiced law in Iowa City and Des Moines since 1920.

O'Connor, who lives at 412 Terrace Road, is a native of the Lone Tree area. He holds bachelor of arts, bachelor of law and juris doctor degrees from SUI.

SUI Student Wins Rotary Fellowship

A Rotary Fellowship for study abroad has been awarded to Dorothea Devlin, G. Pine Bluff, Ark.

Miss Devlin will study English literature at the University of Sydney, Australia, during the 1959-60 school year.

Miss Devlin holds a BA degree from Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo., and is presently at SUI through a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. She plans a career in university teaching.

The fellowship was awarded by Rotary International, a world-wide club organization.

A 1958 SUI graduate, Elizabeth Moore, Dubuque, also received a Rotary Fellowship for a year's study in France.

Ulbricht, just back from a visit to Warsaw, declared that "every attack on the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) will be turned into a devastating defeat west of the Elbe and Werra rivers."

The two rivers form the frontier between East and West Germany. The promise of full east bloc support for the East Germans was made in a communique on the 6-day Polish-East German talks in Warsaw.
