Big Ten Float For Rose Parade

BIG TEN FLOAT THEME is built around "learning as the greatest adventure" and is a tribute to scholarship at SU. The float will be 40 feet long and 17 feet high and will cost about $6,500. Flowers predominating in the float will be golden chrysanthemums, red, white, and yellow carnations and some pink flowers. Two SU students, Frances C. Hamill, A4, Des Moines and Stephen P. Shadle, L2, Esterville, will ride on the front of the float wearing caps and gowns representing students at SU. They will be seated in a field of yellow roses.

Hawks Interrupt Grid Drills To Take Tour Of Disneyland

By JIM DAVIES
Editor

PASADENA—The Iowa football team left their uniforms at home Monday afternoon and tackled a new experience, a trip to Disneyland. A new experience, that is, except for the 11 Hawkeye grid-ders who are on a return trip to the Rose Bowl.

Along with the official Iowa party which included SU officials and the Iowa press group, the Hawks took a look at the wilds of frontier land, the out-of-this-world sights of tomorrow land and even the story book world of Mother Goose land.

It wasn't only the kids in the Iowa party who enjoyed this trip through the fantastic world of make-believe here. The grown-ups had their fun, too. The Hawkeyes accepted only three engagements this trip: a trip to the Moulin Rouge night club last Thursday, the Disneyland jaunt, and the Big 10 Club of Southern California dinner Dec. 30.

THE HAWKEYES, here to get ready for their appearance New Year's Day against the University of California Bears, went through a tough offensive scrimmage Monday morning which resulted in an injury to All-American left end, Curt Merz.

Merz injured his knee, but Dr. D. W. Paul, the team's physician, said he thinks the injury is to a muscle, not a re-occurrence of the injury Merz suffered in the Ohio State game Nov. 15 which kept him out of the Notre Dame game.

Merz was kept out of Friday and Saturday's bodily contact work in order to prevent re-injury to his knee, but he was allowed in Monday's scrimmage after complaining loudly about this slight.

Merz' previous injury is supposed to be completely healed, and although Dr. Paul said he thinks the new injury is a minor one which won't keep Merz from his Rose Bowl date, Coach Forest Evashevski said he's worried.

It isn't unusual, since Merz accounted for two touchdowns this season and caught 24 passes of 342 yards.

Should Merz be kept out of the Rose Bowl game, his likely replacement will be Jeff Langston, an Iowa City junior who has had his own moments of glory.

Langston turned a Wisconsin fumble into an Iowa touchdown to provide a marginal victory in the game Evy has tagged "the key game of the season."

MONDAY'S WORKOUT was characterized by too much fumbling, due to lack of timing and ball-handling finesse. Evy says he was not displeased, however, since he wants the team to reach their peak next week so they won't have time to cool off.

The first unit and the alternate squad concentrated on pass plays for the most part Monday. Willie Fleming twice broke into the clear as did Captain John Nocera and Ray Jauch.

And you can put it down in your book, if things continue to go the way they have in the Hawks' first two practices, the starting backfield will include Willie Fleming and Bob Jeter at the halfback spots, with Nocera running fullback.

A FELLOW by the name of Duncan will be doing the quarterbacking. Randy's been looking well in his throwing, but was troubled by fumbles Monday. Evy says he isn't worried about it, the timing will come.

Evy did lose one battle Monday, though. At a football writer's luncheon Monday at the Avondale Country Club, Evy tried to tell the scribes that the 18-point spread was too much, that Iowa was having troubles, and that California quarterback Joe Kapp could be compared to Dale Hackbart who gave Iowa fits in the Wisconsin game.

But Evy's pessimistic warning fell on deaf ears and the secret ballot of the 77 football writers present at the luncheon gave the nod to Iowa by a count of 70 to 7 with an average point spread of 16½ points.

Actor H. B. Warner Dies In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—H.B. Warner, who portrayed the Savious in "The King of Kings" three decades ago, died Sunday at the motion picture country home after a long illness. He was 82.

The home announced his death Monday.

Warner gained screen immortality for his portrayal of Jesus of Nazareth in the Cecil B. De Mille epic of 1927. His farewell appearance was in another De Mille picture, "The Ten Commandments," two years ago.

The venerable actor was born Henry Byron Charles Stewart Warner at St. Johns Wood, London, Oct. 26, 1876.

Warner, who was divorced, is survived by a son and daughter. Funeral services were scheduled for 11 a.m. today at a Hollywood funeral home.

Weather

Today's weather will continue about the same as Monday with highs in the mid 50s. The first day of winter was emphasized by a dramatic warmup.

Wednesday's outlook is for cloudy skies with a possibility of some rain or snow in Iowa City.

California's weather was closer to Iowa's than usual with a high of 64 and a low of 52 in Los Angeles Monday.

United Press International
Unseasonably mild weather greeted the arrival of winter in most of the nation Monday. Only in the northwest did the new season find itself at home.

Temperatures were below zero in the northeast when winter officially arrived at 3:40 a.m. (E.S.T.) The mercury dipped to 31 degrees below zero at Wanakena, N.Y., before dawn, and, at midday, readings had recovered to only 5 above at Caribou, Maine, and Olean, N.Y.

Sunny skies and warm southerly breezes dominated the remainder of the eastern two-thirds of the nation from the plains to the Atlantic coast.

Governor Helps Man Get Here For Christmas

An Iowa National Guardsman was flown home from a Minneapolis hospital Monday, through the personal intervention of Gov. Herschel Loveless, so he could spend the holidays with his family.

The guardsman, Thomas Fountain of Iowa City, had been injured earlier this year. He was recuperating in the Minneapolis hospital from an injured vertebra.

His mother appealed to Gov. Loveless to authorize the National Guard to fly Thomas home for the holidays. The governor gave the order and Thomas got a quick lift home. He will have nine days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fountain and his own family, his wife and two young children, four and two years of age. The Fountains live on a farm outside Iowa City.

Thomas will be taken back to the hospital by guard plane.

Plane, 15 Aboard, Missing In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—A C-54 transport plane with 15 persons aboard disappeared Monday and was officially declared missing on a flight from Elmendorf Air Force Base here to Shemya in the Aleutian Islands.

The plane, which was attached to the Shemya Air Installation, was on a routine supply mission. It left Elmendorf at 11 p.m. and disappeared from a radarscope 47 minutes later.

Air Force search planes scoured the Iliamna Range area of the Alaska Peninsula until bad weather forced suspension of the hunt. Military officials said the area where the plane is believed down is about 135 miles southwest of here.

Hope Slim For Quick Strike Peace

CHICAGO (UPI)—Federal mediators held out hope Monday night for new negotiations in a pilots' strike against American Airlines, despite a company charge that the union believes "let others be damned!"

Leverett Edwards of the Federal mediation service said in Washington there is "some prospect of a meeting in the near future" between top bargainers for the airline and for the striking air line pilots association.

Edwards, who met with both sides up to the last minute in Chicago last week in an unsuccessful attempt to stave off the Friday midnight strike deadline against American, said he had been in communication with both sides "day and night" since the crippling walkout started.

No definite date for a new bargaining session had been set, however, and both the company and union refused to confirm that they had been in contact with Edwards.

American Airlines, grounded at the height of the Christmas holiday travel rush along with Eastern Airlines, added to the labor tension by publishing full-page advertisements in 14 cities charging the union with ignoring the public interest and demanding "quit arguing and give up what we want."

More than 200 of the 1,500 striking pilots met in a 5-hour rank-and-file session in Chicago to discuss the strike issues, which centered around union demands for jet flight time and time away from home. ALPA headquarters in Chicago indicated other pilots' meetings were held elsewhere in the nation.

Nothing Seems To Pay Enough For Ex-Prof.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Things must be bad all over for Dr. Minor Boyer, 26.

Boyer, a Ph.D., gave up a teaching post in the literature department at Florida Southern College because it did not pay enough. He became a traveling salesman.

Police arrested Boyer Monday on charges of cashing worthless checks in Baton Rouge, La., Monroe and Shreveport, La.

NO STUDENT
WHITESTABLE, ENGLAND (UPI)—Police advertised Monday for an absent-minded reader who used a bundle of 1-pound ($2.80) notes to mark his place in a book he returned to the local library.

Atlas Relays Messages Across U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Army Engineer on the East Coast placed a long distance telephone call to America's talking satellite 800 miles above the Pacific Monday and made connections.

The engineer, Thomas G. Wolstencroft, talked to the satellite from the Army Signal Corps installation at Ft. Monmouth, N.J. His telephoned message was relayed to the Atlas satellite by a radio transmitter near Corona, Calif.

The Army transmitter at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., then triggered the satellite's transmitter and all four army ground stations received "near perfect" recordings as the Atlas made its 54th pass across the nation.

Later, on the satellite's 55th orbit, the California station fed the satellite seven teletype messages at the same time. Ft. Sam Houston again triggered the Atlas' transmitter and copied all of the messages.

THE DEFENSE Department said stations at Ft. Huachuaca, Ariz., and Ft. Stewart, Ga., also received and recorded "fair" copy. Ft. Stewart triggered the transmitter again and received copy for three minutes before the satellite went out of range.

The Pentagon said the tests showed that "the reliability of such transmissions when the satellite is within range is becoming apparent. Further tests are planned."

A Defense Department statement said Wolstencroft "spoke directly into the tape recorder on the satellite" through the telephone and radio relay.

Following Wolstencroft's introductory message, President Eisenhower's Christmas message of "peace on earth and good will to men everywhere" was rebroadcast to the satellite by voice and teletype code.

AT THE END of the transmission the Ft. Sam Houston station triggered the satellite transmitter and received the message back along with stations at Corona, Ft. Huachuaca, Ariz., and Ft. Stewart, Ga.

"The recording at all stations were reported to be near perfect," the Pentagon said.

"The Ft. Sam Houston station triggered the satellite transmitter again and parts of the transmission were received again at all stations before the satellite went out of range at the Ft. Stewart station," the statement said.

May Be Balanced; Taxes Stay Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a double surprise, President Eisenhower announced Monday he will submit to Congress next month a budget balanced at around $77 billion. This is to operate the Government in the 1960 fiscal year, which begins next July 1. Mr. Eisenhower said there will be no call for general tax increases.

The big surprise was the total. Most experts in and out of Government have been guessing at a budget of 80 or 81 billion. This year's spending is at the rate of about $79,200,000,000, with a $12-billion deficit expected.

ALSO, NEVER before has there been a formal announcement of figures before they went to Congress, although it has been usual for them to leak out informally.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, was asked why the administration announced its budget plans in advance this time. He replied: "We arrived at the figure, and thought we'd put it out."

The budget will request increased receipts from higher postage rates and gasoline taxes and some new user charges for Government services, but will not call for general tax increases, the President's announcement said.

It also said reduction in total spending will be achieved in part by reason of the ending of temporary programs in agriculture, unemployment insurance and housing.

A PROPOSAL to raise the gasoline tax has been anticipated for weeks, so that the highly expensive superhighway construction program won't throw the budget out of balance.

One informant said it is planned to increase the present Federal tax of 3 cents a gallon to 4 or 4½ cents. This is on top of state taxes. The 3-cent tax is now bringing in about $1,600,000,000 a year for the superhighway trust fund.

Also, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has never let up plugging for higher postage rates — including a 5-cent charge for a first class letter — on top of the increase effective this year. This raised the first class letter charge to 4 cents.

PROPOSED NEW postage increases might be figured at $250 million a year.

As for the reductions mentioned by Mr. Eisenhower, it has been suggested that a billion dollars might be saved by ending the mortgage buying activities of the Federal National Mortgage Assn., or Fanny Mae as it is known from its initials.

Also, there have been estimates of a $600-million saving from expiration of part of the soil bank program.

The ending of an emergency unemployment compensation program — not to be confused with the continuing jobless insurance program — could bring a saving of 400 million.

OTHER ITEMS expected to help balance the budget: A $200-million saving from sums spent this year for a retroactive Federal pay increase.

An item of 200-300 million from Export-Import Bank loans, largely for Latin America, that should not be recurring.

Mr. Eisenhower's statement that his budget will provide more than ever before in a peacetime year for national defense means that he is figuring on going above the $40,800,000,000 estimated for the current fiscal year ending June 30. Thus his defense budget items would be well over half the total of 77 billion he anticipates.

There has been talk of increasing the defense budget to 41 or 42 billion.

Red Military Spending Up Despite Claims In Budget

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet affairs experts said Monday Russia's total military expenditure probably was rising steadily although the budget showed an apparent cut.

Behind this seeming contradiction lies the secret of Soviet budgeting. Soviet defense accounting does not show the substantial but "hidden" defense expenditure of industry and research organizations.

The heavy cost of research and production of missiles, planes, tanks and radio equipment, for instance, is partly at least inseparable from overall industrial production and development costs.

Monday's announcement of defense cuts was the fourth since 1955, but also was the smallest since the Kremlin embarked on a calculated policy of defense budget reduction.

Experts saw behind the move primarily a further effort to dramatize the Kremlin's call for disarmament.

The Soviet has pressed in past disarmament negotiations for an agreed overall cut in the West's and East's defense budgets by between 10 and 15 per cent.

The reduction in the following year barely made up for this increase. Since then the pace of defense budgets cuts has slowed considerably.

The experts recalled that Russia had announced several cuts in the size of its armed forces. The defense budget reduction was held to reflect largely the savings in the maintenance of forces.

However, latest Western intelligence reported that Soviet military striking power remained as formidable as ever. The Soviet forces are being equipped with new type tactical weapons, including missiles. The air force is being turned into a powerful jet plane force.

NATO reports last week confirmed this development and warned that the re-equipping was progressing steadily.

New SUI Band Uniform

SUI BANDSMEN will sport new uniforms for the Rose Bowl parade. The uniforms are a combination concert-marching type. The overjacket, spats, gold braid, trousers, and accessories will be worn in the Tournament of Roses parade and during the game. These accessories can be quickly removed to convert to concert dress. For marching uniform (left and right panels) an overcape is buttoned and belted over the concert garb (center). The overcape is gold on black with a large black "I" and white in front with black "Iowa." Modeling one of the new uniforms is Arthur Carlson, A1, Klemme. —SUI Photo.

Santa's Alarmed —

The Parents Are Ruining A Child's Belief In Santa

CHICAGO (UPI) — Santa sat on his throne in front of the two cameras (the red-taped lens takes color pictures) and said parents are killing him.

"Driving me mad, that's what they're doing," he said. Santa was Jim Shoenberger, 53, who makes his living as a musical booking agent except during Christmas time.

A reporter joined Santa's visitors this week and got an earful on what's wrong with the Christmas spirit these days.

"It's the parents, not the kids," Santa said. "They push their youngsters at me in such a way they might as well say 'there's the bogey man. The poor little tykes don't know what to make of it."

"If that isn't enough, about this time the commercial photography people snap the child's picture and at that point the darling is so confused he probably thinks I'm the Easter Bunny."

Santa said it was enough to drive a man to chocolate bon-bons. He offered one to the sympathetic reporter.

"Children are getting more callous nowadays," Santa said. "I've been doing this for 11 years. When I first started I could see belief in the eyes of 8-year-olds. Now, I'm down to 4-year-olds. That's a tragedy. You know why? Because a big part of childhood is in believing — in Santa Claus, in fairy godmothers, in red-nosed reindeers. When that belief goes, so does childhood."

"I'd like to get rid of these picture deals, too, so I could devote all my time to talking to the wonderful youngsters instead of having to be a part-time movie actor," Santa said.

He said children still ask for the same things — dolls and skates and sporting goods — although this year quite a few missiles and rockets have crept in.

"When a child looks a little poor, I tell him how I specially have heard of him and how I plan to give him an extra-fine gift — one I save for my chosen few," Santa said.

"But I tell him it's a gift one cannot see — a gift of special luck and good fortune and that it will be there for him Christmas morning delivered specially by me. And he must remember that it is there even though he cannot see it. He believes this, the children do, and perhaps I've made but one child's Christmas happier by saying it. Now, isn't it criminal to take this belief away from a child by telling him there's no Santa Claus?"

"I love you Santa," the reporter said.

He said that was nice and that it was time to take a break in his dressing room and have some more chocolate bon-bons.

Santa's office was just beyond ladies' ready-to-wear. Someone was inside.

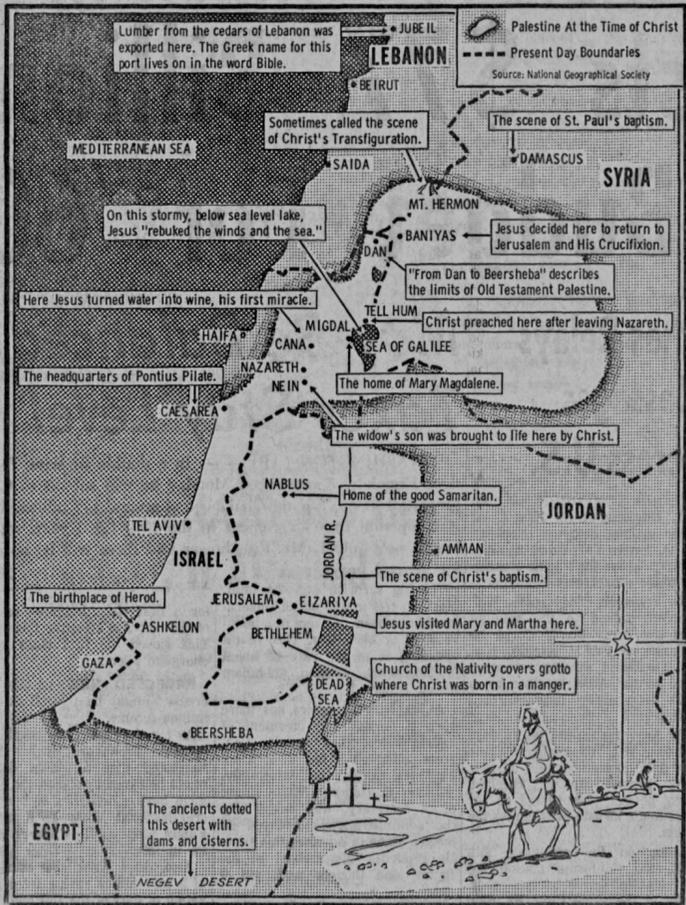

"Hello, Carl," Santa said.

"Hello, Jim," Carl said. "My turn now. See you in an hour."

It was alarming. They both were Santa Claus.

It Drove Santa To Bon-Bons

Land Of Books, Fountains, Olive Trees, Honey

What was the land of Palestine like in the time of Christ?

"A land of brooks, of fountains and depths that spring out of the valleys and hills, a land of olive trees and of honey," says the Bible. But also, "a dry and thirsty land, where no water is."

Ancient Palestine, not yet scarred by the erosion that has laid many of the rocks bare, was a country of astonishing contrast, and in His wanderings through Galilee and Jordan, and through Jerusalem and the wilderness, Christ saw an almost unbelievable dissimilarity between neighboring regions.

Yet, just 50 miles from the coast there was a place where citrus groves and vineyards did not exist, nor an ocean wind to warm Him in the day nor a sea breeze to cool Him in the evening.

This was the Jordan Valley, the area around the Jordan River and the Dead Sea. There He saw only a barren waste spotted by desert blossoms able to survive the rocky arid soil of the Jordan Valley.

Jesus also traveled to the north into the province of Galilee, and there He saw near the foothills of Lebanon the tall majestic cedars that made the rises and slopes look like a sea of green.

When the cedars came into view, His mind may have envisioned other trees that He had encountered in His wanderings through the Holy Land; the sycamore and the ash, and the walnut and the evergreen oak. He may have thought about the flora of Palestine, about the anemone, the scarlet pheasant's eye and the beautiful narcissus.

As Jesus walked through Galilee, He saw many wonderful things that the earth had provided for the children of this northern province. All around Him were the aromas of the figs and pomegranates, and of the olives and the grapes. And as He came upon a city near the Sea of Galilee He saw the abundance of fish which these waters yielded.

To the southwest He saw the rich and fertile lands in which the grain of Palestine grew. He saw the wheat and the barley, and the people making bread and cakes.

It was there somewhere, near the town of Capernaum, that Jesus walked up on a mount and spoke to the people:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. . . . This was the land that Jesus had known. This was the land He saw and felt. A rich and fertile land in the north and west, a barren land in the east and a desert in the south. 'A land of brooks . . . a dry and thirsty land.'"

Margaret A Singer?

Cost Helen Traubel Her Stature?

NEW YORK (AP) — Soprano Helen Traubel says her three years as Margaret Truman's singing advisor cost her stature "in the eyes of the musical world for ever having my name connected with such a musical aspirant."

In a prepublication condensation of her memoirs appearing in the January issue of the Ladies' Home Journal, the former Metropolitan Opera star says she consented to the advisor role in 1948 when the then-President Harry Truman's daughter asked for help in launching a singing career, even though she found the girl's voice "inexperienced and really rather bad."

Keep On Key

"My first, greatest and unconquerable difficulty with Margaret's voice was simply keeping her on key," wrote Miss Traubel, adding that "there simply was not enough of everything—or of anything—to make her really a concert or light-opera singer."

"She did not have the right temperament, although she was a glutton for work," continued the St. Louis singer. "The meaning of a song always escaped her. Her physical build was promising, but she lacked emotional understanding of what the tone and the projection of the music meant."

Miss Truman—now Mrs. Clifton Daniel, wife of a New York newspaperman—said she hadn't read the article, didn't plan to read it, and would have no comment.

Miss Traubel says she took on the role of advisor—Miss Truman was neither her pupil nor her protegee, she insists—with a definite understanding that Margaret would not appear in public concerts for at least five years. Soon, however, Miss Truman has signed for some concert appearances, and a reluctant Miss Traubel was persuaded to backstop her.

Wanted Canceled

After the first few concerts, however, Miss Traubel appealed to President Truman, reminding him of the agreement about five years of study, and the remainder of the concert series was canceled. Then, she says, Miss Truman signed for a series of radio broadcasts but after a "hammer and tongs" argument, gave those up, too.

In the fall of 1951, Miss Traubel withdrew completely. Her husband and manager, William Bass, telephoned President Truman at the White House to tell him of Miss Traubel's decision, and Truman terminated the conversation by slamming down the telephone, Miss Traubel reports.

Before that, President Truman's paternal interest in Margaret's career caught headlines when he wrote a highly seasoned letter to a Washington music critic, Paul Hume.

"After he had written his famous note to the music critic who had dared say that Margaret had little talent," Miss Traubel writes, "he confided to me, 'I should never have written that letter. But now it's written I'll stand by it.'"

Margaret Truman Ruined Traubel

Lodge, Anderson Cinch Nomination

By GEORGE DIXON

WASHINGTON, A conversation-loving character in our community who was mightily intrigued by Senator Hubert H. Humphrey's eight hour talkathon with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, now is trying to spread the rumor that Humphrey is going to demand equal time from Ike.

I may say that rumors such as his are not always just lying around 'or the pickings, in order to come up with a good humphreys' hush of hearsay it is often necessary to sift through a lot of facts. I wonder sometimes if readers fully appreciate how laborious it can be to winnow the chaff from the wheat.

But, even if the rumor seems to lack substance, I think it would be a nice Yuletide gesture to help spread it. A lot of admirers don't know what to give the President for Christmas, because he has everything, including problems. The Humphrey rumor might provide the ideal gift suggestion—a becoming set of ear plugs.

The only thing now bothering me is a nagging doubt as to whether the vocally durable Minnesota Senator is as effective as some of us idolaters had hoped. Never would I suggest that he failed in his mission to Moscow, but it is palpable that Khrushchev isn't out yet.

If our Hubert had talked to Ike

Humphrey Eisenhower

for eight hours and there were still things left for the President to talk about, I am afraid Senator Humphrey's effectiveness might be thrown open to question. It might promulgate the alarming philosophy that not everything can be settled by conversation.

In extremity, it could even go so far as to hinder Senator Humphrey from becoming President in 1960, now considered by nearly everybody except Republicans and Democrats to be in the bag.

The Presidential chances of Humphrey seemed overcast for a time when reports were circulated that he had the endorsement of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. But the former First Lady saved the day for him by declaring she had been misinterpreted. This is considered tantamount to election.

The only Republican equivalent is the endorsement of Harold Stassen. On Nov. 12, Childe Harold emerged from the White House after less than eight hours with Ike, and endorsed New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Secretary of the Treasury Robert

Humphrey Eisenhower

Humphrey Eisenhower

B. Anderson, and Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton for 1960, unambiguously omitting Vice President Richard M. Nixon. This means that everybody but Nixon will be the next President.

Secretary Seaton, of course, does not need Stassen's endorsement to win. Seaton can campaign on his political record in Alaska. He summoned the people of Alaska to the mountain top and promised them the earth if they would vote Republican, but — to quote the Omaha World Herald — they saith unto the tempter: "Get thee behind me, Seaton." This would make him a devil of a candidate.

I intend that Vice President Nixon can still cherish some lingering hope of victory despite the politically omniscient Stassen. Former President Harry S. Truman has endorsed Mr. Nixon for the Vice Presidency. Mr. Truman said, "He's the easiest to beat," but you know what a kiddler the Ex-President is.

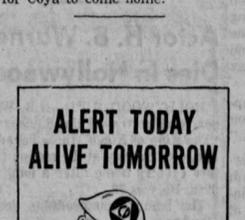

This is the season to be merry.

Humphrey Eisenhower

and also, apparently, to get Presidential endorsements. Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, of Kentucky, won a hearty endorsement the other day. He was recommended, without equivocation or strings attached, by Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, of Kentucky.

Although the sponsorship of Stassen is all that is really necessary, U.N. Ambassador Lodge and Treasury Secretary Anderson might see it up by getting Andy Knutson to second them. Andy might be ready to turn Republican now that the Democrats have made it possible for Coya to come home.

Book Review — The Visitors

THE VISITORS By Mary McMinnies Harcourt, Brace, $4.95

Emma Bovary, you will remember — and if you don't, you find the appropriate quote introducing the first part of this second novel by Mrs. McMinnies — always kept looking for something to happen, she didn't know what, but something. It was her first expectant thought at dawn, and at night she fell asleep hoping for the next dawn and the promise of the new day.

Milly, Milly, Milly What happened for Mme. Bovary you learned from Flaubert; what happens for Milly Purdue you learn from McMinnies. Milly is the wife of Larry, an officer of some experience in the British foreign service and, as the story opens, bound with his wife, their two children and a maid named Raven for a post on the eastern edge of Europe, or the western edge of the Soviet dominions.

They are in a spot where tact, discretion, diplomacy and the usual international subtleties are a prime requirement. Yet these are just the characteristics which Milly lacks. You are likely to love her — and you, Larry and the children are not the only ones. But it is something else to be teamed up with her, to have to rely on her. Milly's search takes place in one world, her husband's living, livelihood and career in another. The fact they meet so rarely stirs up trouble, but trouble for her friends instead of Larry's foes.

Too Deliberate The story moves at too deliberate a pace; Mrs. McMinnies knows more about people than about the novel — a fault which is to be sure a welcome relief from its more common vice-versa fault. But apart from this leisureliness, you will be absorbed in the perceptive portraits: Miss Raven, Wragg, Abe the American, Sophie to whom you say farewell on a memorable page, and the two intriguing children, much readier than most bookroom youngsters.

Kentucky Bursts Into No. 1 Spot

Cincinnati Team Drops To Second

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kentucky Wildcats, shaping up as a real basketball power, burst into the No. 1 spot among the nation's top teams in the weekly Associated Press poll Monday, replacing the Cincinnati Bearcats, who dropped into second place.

Coach Adolph Rupp's defending NCAA champions picked up tremendous support by virtue of their three triumphs this past week, including victories over Ohio State and West Virginia which gave them the Kentucky Invitational championship.

The unbeaten Wildcats (8-0) received 71 first place votes from the 164 sports writers and broadcasters participating in the poll to edge Cincinnati in point totals, 1,443 to 1,415. Cincinnati, top-ranked in each of the two previous polls this season, received 61 first place votes but fell out of the top perch despite a pair of victories during the week.

The Bearcats, still unbeaten after five games, had a close call in edging St. Louis 57-50 in the first league game of the Missouri Valley Conference Saturday. Prior to that game they had averaged nearly 100 points a game.

The biggest gain of the week was made by North Carolina which jumped from tenth to third with three triumphs in four days. The unbeaten Tar Heels bagged the Blue Grass Tournament title in Louisville. They defeated Notre Dame and previously unbeaten Northwestern last Friday and Saturday. North Carolina received 19 first place votes and 1,076 points.

Kansas State which bounced back with victories over North Carolina State and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia after an upset loss to Brigham Young, dropped a notch from third to fourth. The Wildcats (6-1) finished well ahead of West Virginia (7-2), which advanced from seventh to fifth. Kansas State had 831 points to 597 for the Mountaineers.

North Carolina State, with only a 2-point loss to Kansas State marking its otherwise perfect seven-game slate, amassed 581 points and dropped from fourth to sixth.

Mississippi State (7-0) climbed a notch from eighth to seventh after impressive victories over Arkansas State and Morehead State.

Two newcomers—Auburn and Michigan State, entered the top ten this week. Auburn (5-0), building a basketball reputation as formidable as its football prowess, jumped from thirteenth to eighth. The team boosted its 2-season winning streak to 16 with a victory over Alabama in the Birmingham Classic final.

Michigan State (4-0), only unbeaten team in the Big Ten, were victorious over Notre Dame and Northwestern last Friday and Saturday. North Carolina received 19 first place votes and 1,076 points.

Kansas State which bounced back with victories over North Carolina State and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia after an upset loss to Brigham Young, dropped a notch from third to fourth. The Wildcats (6-1) finished well ahead of West Virginia (7-2), which advanced from seventh to fifth. Kansas State had 831 points to 597 for the Mountaineers.

College Basketball Iowa Wrestlers Win 2 Matches

Iowa's defending Big Ten champion wrestlers won a pair of conference matches over the weekend. The Hawkeye grapplers topped Indiana, 16-13, at Bloomington Friday night and topped Illinois, 18-10, Saturday at Champaign.

Friday night the Hawks bounced off to a 11-0 lead in the first three matches and then held on taking only one of the next five for the win.

Saturday night the Hawkeyes clinched the win when 167-pound Bob Riehm gained a 1-1 draw.

Joe Kuharich To Replace Brennan At Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Joe Kuharich, a South Bend boy who made good in college and professional football, was appointed head coach at Notre Dame Monday.

He was called back to his alma mater to succeed the ousted Terry Brennan. Kuharich, who was a star guard for the Irish in the 1935-37 period, was released from the remaining four years of his 5-year contract as head coach of the Washington Redskins to return to Notre Dame.

BRENNAN'S DISMISSAL came through the school's faculty board in control of athletics. It caught many other Notre Dame officials by surprise.

"It came as a surprise to me and to others," said Athletic Director Ed (Moose) Krause, who a month ago had told a Chicago quarterback club that "Brennan will be Notre Dame's coach for a long time."

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame, said Sunday night he had accepted the board's recommendation "with great reluctance."

"I DON'T THINK my dismissal could have come for anything I did off the field," said Brennan. "So, I guess we shouldn't have lost a couple of those games. Since all the decisions are made by the school, I assume that the issue must have crystallized at the school. I know that I've never received letters of complaint or discontent from the alumni."

The board, it was reported, considered five former Notre Dame men and three members of the present staff before contacting Kuharich.

At the age of 30, Brennan is looking for another coaching job after his Irish teams lost 18 games in five years, including four this season, and won 32.

KUHARICH, 41, brings a good measure of personableness and a wealth of coaching experience to Notre Dame. He leaves a lucrative job with the Redskins to return to the collegiate ranks for the first time since he guided the University of San Francisco to an undefeated season in 1951.

Kuharich's official appointment Monday, revealed by The Associated Press Sunday night, makes him the seventh head Notre Dame coach since the death in 1931 of Knute Rockne. He agreed to a 4-year contract, one of the longest ever given by the school. President George Preston Marshall of the Redskins released Kuharich from the remaining four years of his 5-year contract and named backfield coach Mike Nixon to replace him. His cut in salary will be at least 50 per cent.

Basketball Team Takes Short Vacation; Then Go To Coast

After dropping their first non-conference, home game since 1942, the Iowa basketball team members headed for home and a short Christmas vacation before resuming activity on Saturday.

The Hawkeyes were hooked by Washington Saturday night, 81-68.

The Hawks will regroup Thursday evening in Chicago and, on Friday morning, fly to Corvallis, Ore., where they will play in the West Coast Classic cage tournament at Oregon State College on Saturday and Monday.

Iowa will play Wyoming Saturday at 11:30 p.m. (CST). The other two teams in the tourney are host Oregon State and the Air Force Academy. These two teams will play the opener.

The losers Saturday night will play the first game Monday and the winners in the second tilt for the championship.

Saturday night the Hawks, despite a 35 point effort by forward Dave Gunther, fell before a pair of husky, hook shooting Huskies in the person of 6'7" Doug Smart and Bruno Boim.

Smart dropped in 33 points before he fouled out late in the game and Boim pushed through 17.

Venezuela OKs Fixing U.S. Oil Quota

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Foreign Minister Rene de Sola suggested Monday Venezuela would go along with the United States fixing a limit on U.S. oil imports provided present quotas and prices were maintained.

De Sola told the newspaper El Nacional that talks opened here last week by Asst. U.S. Secretary of State Thomas C. Mannon the American plan for stabilizing the oil market would continue in Washington.

Tax Hike Fume

The prospects of an agreement on oil exports to the United States, came while American oil interests here fumed in protest against a hike in Venezuela income taxes. The increase means scrapping the present 50-50 formula and forces them to give up about 60 per cent of their profits here.

De Sola did not touch on the profit-sharing agreements in his interview. He dealt only with the imminent mandatory U.S. restrictions on imports.

He said "If the U.S. imports of Venezuela oil stay more or less at the present level under mandatory restrictions and prices are maintained, our economy will not be affected."

"Mandatory limitations with the same prices," he said, "are therefore preferable to voluntary restrictions with lower prices."

The United States told the Venezuelans that its present system of voluntary limitations wasn't working out as quotas were being exceeded and warned that mandatory restrictions might be enforced.

American oil interests operating here clashed with the Venezuelan government on sharing the profits of the industry which is the cornerstone of the country's economy.

Premise Broken

Harold W. Haight, whose Creole Petroleum Corp., produces about 44 per cent of Venezuela's oil, accused the ruling junta of breaking a promise to keep the 50-50 formula. Creole is a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

He charged that by jumping taxes 10 per cent Venezuela was reducing the incentive for foreign companies to invest further in the nation's oil industry.

The oil industry paid the Government approximately $668 million for new concessions during the 1956-57, he asserted, "in the belief the 50-50 plan would not be unilaterally broken."

Ingrid Says Her English Marriage Legal; No Worries

CHOISEL, France (UPI) — Ingrid Bergman said Monday she had no worries that her secret London marriage to Swedish producer Lars Schmidt was illegal. She insisted that her stormy marriage to Roberto Rossellini was invalid in England.

The 43-year-old actress and the 41-year-old Swedish impresario honeymooned at her villa here with her three children by Rossellini.

There was a possibility the Italian director would join his ex-wife and his matrimonial successor. He was driving to France from Italy to spend Christmas with the children.

Under the terms of their Roman annulment — still under appeal in Italian high courts — Rossellini can see the children at any time.

His name was not mentioned in the polite news conference outside the wooden gates of the red-roofed villa. Miss Bergman said nothing about the fact that under Italian law she was not free to marry again, but she insisted her marriage in England was legal.

Her attorney, Ambrose Applebe (CQ), who was a witness at her hush-hush wedding in Caxton Hall, a registry office in London yesterday, said the Italian marriage was not recognized elsewhere.

Asked by a newsman whether she was worried about the status of her marriage to Schmidt, she replied: "I have no worries about that. My lawyers have taken care of that and I have confidence in them."

She was in a gay mood befitting a bride on her honeymoon. Looking at the long row of cars that carried newsmen to the villa, she laughed: "My goodness, look at all the people. Wouldn't it make a wonderful party."

13-Year-Old Girl Caught Stealing Doll, So Store Plays Santa To Her Homeless Family

CINCINNATI, OHIO (UPI) — Rollman's Department Store Monday played Santa to a 13-year-old girl who tried to steal Christmas presents for her homeless family.

Detective Paul Steuer said he caught the child taking a doll from a store counter. He was told the family had been living with the Salvation Army and friends since their Hamilton County home burned down in October, that her father is ill, and her four brothers and sisters had no presents this year.

So store officials arranged for the girl and her family to pickout what they wanted—as a gift from the store.

No Results Of American Bus Lines Attempt To Sell Iowa Franchise

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — American Bus Lines President W. F. Aikman said Monday attempts have been made to sell the company's franchise but nothing has come of them.

American has been strike-bound since July 1. Supervisory personnel began operating buses between Burlington and Des Moines Monday, under an Iowa Commerce Commission order to restore service or face loss of its franchise.

East Germany Bluntly Rejects U.S. Warning Russia Out Of Line

BERLIN (UPI) — East German Communists bluntly rejected as "nonsense" Monday a U.S. memorandum warning the reds that Russia had no right to turn over its Berlin occupation functions to the East German regime.

The official Communist Party newspaper "Neues Deutschland" declared in a front-page editorial that the transfer of Soviet functions in Berlin to the puppet East Zone Government "will be carried out."

The Communist said the West "can do nothing to change this" and repeated their demand that the Western allies get out of West Berlin.

Senator Johnson Gives Fresh Tribute To U.S. Satellite Peace Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's Atlas satellite won new honor Monday night for the message of peace it is carrying through outer space to the earth.

The fresh tribute came from Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader.

"It is especially significant," Johnson added, "that the message transmitted from the satellite reiterates our peaceful intent in space."

Premier Nkrumah Announces Possible Liberia, Ghana, Guinea Union

BOMBAY, INDIA (UPI) — Premier Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana said Monday the Republic of Liberia would join the union planned between Ghana and Guinea.

There was no confirmation of the report elsewhere. In London neither the Ghana high commissioner nor the Liberian ambassador would comment on Nkrumah's statement although both said they had received reports concerning a proposed union between Liberia and Ghana.

Nkrumah was accorded a warm welcome by crowds lining the streets as he arrived for a 2-week state visit in India.

U.S. To Give Yugoslavia $129 Million More Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States said it would give Communist Yugoslavia $129 million in new economic aid to help fill the cold-war gap left when Russia reneged on its promises to President Tito.

The new outlays will bring to a little more than $1.6 billion the amount of U.S. economic and military aid to Yugoslavia since November, 1950. About $700 million of this was military aid.

As one step, the Agriculture Department announced agreement to sell Yugoslavia $94.8 million worth of surplus farm products, including payment of shipping charges.

Yugoslavia will pay for the products in its own currency and a considerable amount of the money then will be lent back to Tito's Government.

The State Department, meanwhile, reported that Yugoslavia last October was promised $10 million in special assistance funds for the current fiscal year and will get another $1 million in special technical aid.

In addition, the development loan fund has agreed in principle to lend Tito $22 million for construction of a nitrogen fertilizer plant near Belgrade.

Officials said the plant was one which the Russians originally promised to finance. But last May the Kremlin postponed the program for five years when Soviet-Yugoslav relations took one of their periodic turns for the worse.

The United States has continued despite some Congressional criticism to help Tito at the rate of more than $100 million a year to encourage his country in its insistence of independence from Moscow.

College of Dentistry faculty members and wives who are on the trip include: Dr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Sals, Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Martin, Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Lovett, Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Herrick, Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Tade, Dr. Merle L. Hale, R. D. Oliver and Helen M. Newell.

The group left Iowa City Sunday morning and will return today.

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — Fred Smith noticed the wing of his plane was covered with ice as he prepared to make a short flight Sunday to Martha's Vineyard. He reached into his suitcase, pulled out a quart of whisky and wiped the wing with it. The ice melted and Smith took off.

Judge Won't Rule Florida Race Mixing

MIAMI (UPI) — Federal Judge Joseph J. Lieb refused Monday to order racial mixing in Miami Public Schools and told Negro applicants to use Florida's Pupil Assignment Laws in their integration effort.

Under the Pupil Assignment Law, local school boards have the authority to assign pupils to schools. In effect, Lieb said the reasons for assignment cannot include race or color.

As expected, he knocked out a section of the state constitution and state laws which require segregation of the races in public schools. This had been declared unconstitutional by Supreme Court decision of May, 1954.

School officials in Florida's most populous counties agreed "generally" at a meeting with Gov. Leroy Collins last week that they would not permit "token" integration under the pupil assignment statutes.

Some Collins advisors had recommended that "token" voluntary integration in Florida would strengthen the Pupil Assignment Law.

Lieb said that the Pupil Assignment Law must be considered valid until it is struck down in the courts.

Lieb noted in his ruling that the Pupil Assignment Law had never been challenged in the courts and therefore is valid until declared unconstitutional. He said he could not grant relief since the Negro plaintiffs had adequate remedy under the assignment law.

Governor To Drive Cadillac On Coast

Governor Herschel Loveless will ride in a white Buick convertible during the Rose Bowl parade.

Nall Motors of Iowa City has also made arrangements to have a Cadillac for the governor's use while he is in California for the Rose Bowl game.

Sulowans Of 109 Cities In Parade

At least 109 Iowa Cities and towns will have "official" representatives at the Tournament of Roses in California on New Year's Day.

The representatives will be the student members of the SUI Marching Band and the all-girl Scottish Highlanders, who will provide musical support for the Hawkeyes. Both groups will participate in this year's Rose Bowl festivities through the courtesy of the Santa Fe Railway.

Also accompanying the University musical "delegation" to the west coast will be "Herky the Hawk"—better known as Wayne Kimmell, Elmhurst, Ill., who wears the large hawk's head at all Iowa football games; and Cheerleaders Dick Weiner, Villisca; Jean Hansen, Cedar Falls; Pete Justen, Iowa City; Tom Ohlinger, Grand Junction, and Barbara Olson, Fort Dodge.

Providing the fun on the sidelines will be the Hawkeye's regular clowns—Charles Dykeman, Waterloo; Marty Bassman, Des Moines, and Dave Levinson, Mason City. Adding an extra bit of sparkle to the band's performance will be SUI's championship baton twirlers, Ann Nita Ekstrom, New Carlisle, Ind., and Margaret Ann Rossie, Iowa City.

The 120-man Marching Band, plus 16 alternates, and the 75-coed Scottish Highlanders will board a special 18-car, all-Pullman Santa Fe "Chief" Saturday at Fort Madison for their 5,000-mile journey. Both groups will give special performances at various stops on the way to California and back.

Mother-In-Law Charged —

Son's Pregnant Wife Strangled

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — "She didn't want another woman to have her boy."

This was the motive authorities offered Monday in the brutal slaying of an attractive nurse who may have been buried alive.

Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson said the driving force behind the slaying was a possessive, fiercely jealous mother-in-law who hired two laborers to kill her son's pregnant wife.

One of the laborers led investigators Sunday to the shallow grave of Mrs. Olga Duncan, 30, missing since Nov. 17.

Ordered Fake Annulment

The mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, 54, denied guilt. She has been in jail since being accused of posing in court as her daughter-in-law in order to fake an annulment of the marriage she opposed.

Gustafson termed her a doting mother who opposed the romance and meddled from the start of the short, unhappy marriage.

The 7-months pregnant victim, pistol-whipped and strangled, may have been buried alive. Investigators quoted gaudy, bushy-haired Augustine Baldonado:

"I don't know. We strangled her and I think we killed her before we put her in the ground."

When told what Baldonado had confessed, the mother-in-law merely smiled.

Later she told reporters: "I feel terrible about this, of course. I liked her. There was no love between us, but we really never said anything to each other."

Luis Moya, 22, identified by Baldonado as the other hired killer, shouted in his cell:

"How could he say that. Believe me. Believe me."

Two Deny Part

Both Mrs. Duncan and Moya deny any connection with the slaying. The district attorney described it as one of the most cold-blooded in his experience.

When she vanished the nurse was estranged from Frank Duncan, 26, an attorney she married last June. According to Baldonado's statement:

He and Moya dragged her from her apartment in nearby Santa Barbara and drove to a lonely road near Casitas Pass, 19 miles northwest.

They beat her with a wrench and a pistol then took turns strangling her. Baldonado made the grave at the bottom of a 20-foot embankment. Then they dumped the body, clothed in a filthy nylon robe, into the hole, covered it over and drove back to a Santa Barbara bar.

Had Written Mother

The nurse had written her parents in Canada that her mother-in-law had interfered in her marriage from the beginning. While her husband was in court, one letter read, the mother-in-law frequently came to the apartment and insulted and threatened her.

"Frank's mother has lived so long with Frank that she has an uncanny hold on him," the nurse

In Senate GOP Leader Race — Cooper Will Run For Liberals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) said Monday he would run for the Senate Republican leadership if his liberal colleagues chose him as their candidate.

But he emphasized that he was not actively seeking the post being vacated by Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), who left to make an unsuccessful bid for the governorship of California.

Cooper also emphasized in an interview that, like Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) and several other members of the liberal bloc, he favored Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) for minority leader if Aiken ran.

Cooper's name was put forward Sunday by Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.), another member of the bloc, who said the Kentuckian's election would mean that the party "is looking to the future rather than to the past."

But Cooper said firmly, "I am not putting myself forth as a candidate."

"I appreciate what Senator Bush has done, and if selected, I would run," he said. "And I believe anyone else whose name is selected should be willing to serve if elected."

Truman and his wife talked to newsmen on their arrival here by train to spend Christmas with their daughter, Margaret, her husband, Clifton Daniel, and their son Clifton Truman Daniel.

Truman was asked if he still was interested in an appointment to the Senate from Missouri, should a seat be vacated. He said in Washington recently that he would like to return to the job he had before he was elected vice president.

"I was only kidding," Truman said, laughing.

Despite the newspaper strike, Truman was met by several reporters and photographers.

"Look at the reception you are getting," Margaret said to her father.

Truman was asked to comment on the strike.

"I'm sorry that it is on," he said.

"My real concern is that all of us who get together in this fight will stay together — and get others to join in the fight for the leadership."

The 10 GOP Senators who sparked the liberal revolt will meet Dec. 30 to select candidates for the five top party posts of floor leader, chairman of the policy committee, party whip and chairman and secretary of the conference of all Republican Senators.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the present whip, is the choice of conservatives for leader. They have confidently predicted his election.

But present indications were that the vote would be close, with the half-dozen Senators and Senators-elect still undecided holding the crucial ballots.

It appeared unlikely that the liberals would make any attempt to unseat Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) as chairman of the Republican conference. Although a member of the present conservative high command, he is regarded as a liberal.

"I'm always interested in reading the New York papers when I arrive here."

What about Russian insistence that the United States get out of Berlin?

"If we stand up to the Russians, they will back down," he said. "We've stood up to them before and they've backed down."

He was asked about Teamster Chief James R. Hoffa's announced plans to organize all municipal workers, including policemen.

"They are public servants," Truman said. "I don't think anybody has the right to fool with them. If I were President, nobody would."

The Trumans plan to remain here until Saturday, when they will return to Missouri by train.

Before he left the station for the Carlyle Hotel, he expressed his Christmas wishes for the world.

"I hope everyone has a most Happy Christmas and gets everything he wants," Truman said. "That goes for the whole world."

THIS IS THE SPOT WHERE I THOUGHT YOU WOULD SHOW YOUR THANKS FOR THAT PRESENT.

THE CLOTHES YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

In this column we take up fashions for college men, which means of course, the Ivy Look. Today's Ivy Look clothes have made a great stride forward. Not only do they have thin lapels, three buttons, narrow trousers, and a minimum of shoulder padding, but — now hear this! — this year they are actually covered with ivy!

This new development, while attractive beyond the singing of it, nevertheless gives rise to certain hazards. For instance, people keep trying to plant you on Arbor Day. Indeed, this is precisely what happened to two SAE's of my acquaintance, Walter R. Gurlash and Fred Rasp. Before they could protest, they were snatched up, planted, limed, and watered, and today they support a hammock in Cut and Shoot, Vermont.

People Keep trying to Plant You On Arbor Day...

Let us now discuss shirts. Again this year the campus favorite is the good old Oxford with button-down collar and barrel cuffs. This is without doubt an admirable garment, but let me ask you a question: if you don't wear anything but Oxfords, what do you do with all the cuff links people have been giving you for your birthday since you were twelve years old?

Well sir, some fellows have their wrists pierced, but what E. Mackenzie Sigafos, a Chi Psi of my acquaintance, did was to take a dozen pairs of his handsome gold monogrammed cuff links and string them together in a charm bracelet for his girl, Jo-Carol Isobar.

(It turned out, incidentally, to be a mistake. In short order so many admirers accrued to Jo-Carol on account of her gorgeous bracelet that she grew tired of plain old E. Mackenzie, and one night when she was seated on a bench in Lovers Lane throwing sticks for E. Mackenzie to retrieve, she suddenly, cruelly, without warning, told him they were through.

"I am heartbroken," said E. Mackenzie, heartbroken. "But if you must, give me back my charm bracelet."

"No, I will keep it," said Jo-Carol.

"What for?" said E. Mackenzie. "You can't wear it. The initials on the cuff links are all mine—E.M.S."

"Ha, ha, the joke is on you," said Jo-Carol. "Yesterday I was voted Miss Chinese Restaurant of 1958."

"So?" said E. Mackenzie.

"So," replied Jo-Carol. "E.M.S. does not stand for E. Mackenzie Sigafos. It stands for Eat More Subgum!"

A broken man, E. Mackenzie today squeezes out a meagre living as a pendulum in Cleveland. Jo-Carol was killed in a tong war.)

But I digress. We were talking about well-dressed men, and the one essential for every well-dressed man—and every well-dressed woman too—is a well-dressed cigarette—neat, compact, flavorful, and correct for work or play, sunshine or shower, repose or revelry, darkness or light. And where does one find such a perfect companion? Just go to any tobacco counter and ask for Philip Morris. Ask for it in long size or regular. Ask for it in soft pack or hard. But ask for it; that's the important thing. Don't just stand there making cryptic gestures at your tobaccoconist. He may be armed.

Those of you who favor filters, try a filter that will favor you—Marlboro, made by the makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column throughout the school year.
