Alford Ban Loses Steam In Congress

North, West Demos May Continue Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A campaign by certain House liberals to block the seating of Dr. Dale Alford, the Little Rock segregationist who defeated Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) in the congressional elections, appeared today to be losing steam.

Some liberals who had been expected to support the anti-Alford drive were backing away from it. It seemed there might be a compromise which would permit Alford to take his seat while election complaints against him are disposed of quickly.

Resistance Grows

At the same time, however, a move to deny Alford recognition as a Democrat continued to attract strong support among Northern and Western democrats. Such a move, if successful, would restrict Alford's chances of advancing to a position of power in House committees.

This issue will be threshed out in a Democratic caucus the day before Congress convenes.

Whatever the outcome then, some House member virtually is certain to rise on the floor on Jan. 7, the day Congress opens, and challenge Alford's right to a seat.

But chances that Alford would hold his seat were improving.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (D-N.J.), a key figure among Democratic house liberals said he was not now inclined to vote against seating Alford. Rep. Lee Metcalf (D-Mont.), another liberal leader, said he also would have to be shown why Alford was not entitled to be seated while charges against him were studied.

Charges Heard

The challenge of Alford's right to a seat would be in line with a recommendation of a House Committee which heard a Little Rock publisher's charge that Alford illegally won the election with a written campaign and a conspiracy involving Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus.

In a 3 to 2 decision, the committee said Alford should be asked to stand aside pending a thorough investigation of the charges. The committee did not rule on the charges themselves.

At first many liberals in both the Democratic and Republican parties indicated they would be eager to vote against Alford. They saw the test chiefly as a civil rights issue, since Hays was defeated mainly because of his moderate stand on the integration problem.

Two Contests Filled

But since then, two formal contests have been filed by losing Democratic candidates against incumbent Republicans who won reelection by narrow margins. These actions have helped cool off some of the original block-Alford supporters.

Traditionally, the House has seated members against whom contests have been filed and then investigated the complaints. It is possible to oust one man and seat the other in the event such complaints are found to be true.

Hays did not file a contest against Alford. The complaint in this case, not to be confused with a contest, was filed by a voter.

Under these circumstances, some liberals said they would be hard pressed to vote on opening day to seat two members against whom contests have been filed and then to deny a seat to Alford, who has been certified by Arkansas officials and against whom no contest has been filed.

Catholic Bishops Say Persecution At All Time High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States joined Friday in a statement saying their Church is undergoing "the worst persecution in the two thousand years of Christianity."

The statement was timed to the setting aside of Sunday as the seventh annual day of prayer for Christians under Communist rule. "The persecution of the Church and God continues with undiminished savagery in the lands of atheistic materialism," the bishops said.

"Our Catholic brethren are denied the freedom to profess and to practice their religion. In some countries even the right to exist has been taken from them and they are being hounded to death in a grim, silent war of extermination."

"In sober truth, this is the worst persecution in the two thousand years of Christianity. It is, on a wide front, a total war against God; a war of extermination against all believers in God," the Catholic in the first place."

Top Criminal Captured In California

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI Friday announced the capture of Daniel William O'Connor, one of the FBI's ten most-wanted fugitives.

O'Connor, 30, was arrested by the El Cajon, Calif., police, the FBI said.

O'Connor was sought for interstate transportation of stolen property, and the FBI said he victimized merchants with fraudulent money orders in Montana, North Dakota and Oregon.

He was added to the "10 Most Wanted" list April 11, 1955.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said O'Connor fired a shot at a Royal Canadian Police officer May 14, 1953, then beat the officer, tied him up and threw him into a ditch.

He also deserted from the U.S. Army, May 6, 1946, while stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., Hoover said.

O'Connor was arrested on the basis of a San Diego Police Department warrant charging him with the theft of a $15 trailer.

The FBI said O'Connor had been living in El Cajon for several years working as a handyman and using the name Arthur Nelson. He had dyed his hair red, grown a full mustache, gained 58 pounds and added a tattoo to his arm to thwart identification, the FBI said.

He maintained he was Art Nelson until his fingerprints were identified by the San Diego Police Department and the FBI Friday night.

Confronted with the prints, he admitted his true identity.

Father Too Fast On The Draw, Kills His Son

CHICAGO (UPI) — A coroner's jury recommended Friday that a father who killed his little boy while practicing "fast draws" with a long-barreled six shooter be held to the grand jury.

The Christmas Eve tragedy at the home of Jack Bender played a grim counterpart to the father's admiration for the old Western gun-slinger and marshal, Wyatt Earp.

Bender, 29, had followed Earp's adventures on television and, when his wife presented him with a son 14 months ago, he named the boy Wyatt Earp Bender.

Wednesday night Bender, a furnace installer who collected guns, sat in his home with his father, Joseph, 65, fiddling with an odd-looking revolver carrying a 12-inch barrel. Such a gun is known as a "Buntline Special" and it is the prototype of the legendary Earp's "Peacemaker."

Young Wyatt was on the floor, playing with an unloaded revolver. Joseph Bender told his son "you can't draw very fast with that long barrel." The gun collector denied it and proceeded to demonstrate his ability to jerk the gun from an ornate leather holster.

"He drew the gun about six times, then it went off when he drew it again," Joseph Bender told the coroner's jury Friday.

Little Wyatt was caught in the line of fire and was fatally wounded by a bullet in the chest.

Police testified that the woodwork of Bender's home was peppered with bullet holes. He admitted drinking three to four quarts of beer before the shooting, officers said.

The jury recommended that the father be held on a count of involuntary manslaughter.

When he was asked whether he would keep on collecting guns, Bender sobbed and shook his head.

3 Indicted In Duncan Slaying

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — A grand jury murder indictment was returned Friday against Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan in the strangulation of her pregnant daughter-in-law.

Also indicted for murder were two laborers who say Mrs. Duncan hired them to kill Olga Duncan, 30, a pretty surgical nurse.

The district attorney said Mrs. Duncan, 54, engineered the Nov. 17 killing because she was intensely jealous of the brunette nurse who had married her son, Attorney Frank Duncan, last June.

Duncan, one of 15 witnesses who testified before the grand jury, had told newsmen earlier: "I find it fantastic to believe that my mother is involved. She would have to be insane to be involved in this."

Last Sunday, Augustine Baldonado led authorities to the lonely grave containing the battered body

Big 3 Ask Talks On Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western Big Three countries have virtually completed drafting notes to the Soviet Union offering to discuss the entire German problem at a new conference.

But the Allies will reject any thought of limiting talks to Berlin's future, despite Soviet threats to turn their sector over to Communist-controlled East Germany within six months after last Thanksgiving Day.

Officials who reported this Friday said the Western notes will be delivered within a few days, probably before New Year's Day. The West German Government is reported ready to send along its formal reply to the Soviet threats about the same time.

Diplomatic informants reported the notes would be parallel but not identical. All will stand firm, they said, on the Western determination to remain in Berlin.

The Big Three offer to talk will be in the nature of a reminder to the Soviets that they have not yet replied to a Sept. 30 Allied proposal for a four-power conference on Germany.

At that time, the United States, Britain and France — in a move to speed preparations for a summit conference — offered to discuss the German problem at a separate four-power meeting.

The new Western notes are understood to reaffirm this readiness to talk. No date is suggested, however.

The notes are reported deliberately phrased to give the Soviet

Yes, Virginia, People Are Honest

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Three men selling Christmas trees decided to quit early Christmas Eve although they still had 130 trees in stock.

Before leaving they put up this sign outside their store: "Wreaths and trees $1. Drop money in mail slot. Be honest, have the Christmas spirit. Merry Christmas."

They found $104.50 in their mail box Friday. Ten trees remained. True, they should have had $15.40 more in receipts, but they believe as the quality of the trees declined, customers made their own adjustments.

Iowa Man Faces Murder Charge At Council Bluffs

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP) — First degree murder charges were filed Friday afternoon against Kenneth Lee Hodge, 27, in the slaying of Kenneth Minds, 66.

Minds was found beaten to death with a lead pipe at the J. F. Wilcox and Sons greenhouse Thursday night.

Chief of Police Earl Miller said Hodge had made no admission of the slaying and claimed he could remember nothing for a period of several hours time on Thursday.

Hodges was quoted as saying he "might of killed Minds and again he might not of" — that he could not remember what he had been doing during the hours in which Minds is believed to have been killed.

Minds was a long time employee of the greenhouse and Hodge had worked there.

When Minds was found by another employee who was checking Minds' failure to register in on his watch box, there was a roll of bills totalling $406 under his body.

Mississippi Ice To Go To Rose Bowl

A sample of Iowa's Mississippi river water—the frozen variety—will end up in the Rose Bowl after traveling cross-country with the SUI Marching Band and Scottish Highlanders.

Ft. Madison Mayor Walter Guenther will present a cake of Mississippi river ice to Highlander Drum Major Margie Ladd of Iowa City and Band Drum Major Robert T. Glover of Steubenville, Ohio, as the SUI musical groups leave Ft. Madison aboard a Sante Fe "special" for Pasadena at 10 a.m. today.

The SUI Highlanders and Bandsmen will give the frozen souvenir of Iowa to Tournament of Roses officials.

Leaving Iowa City at 7:20 a.m. today seven buses will carry the 200 Highlanders and Bandsmen to Ft. Madison, where they will be met by an honorary motorcycle police escort. The University's musical groups are making the 11-day Rose Bowl tour through the courtesy of the Santa Fe Railway.

Besides performances at the Tournament of Roses parade and the Rose Bowl, the Highlanders and Bandsmen will perform at Kansas City, Mo., Albuquerque, N. M., and Wichita, Kan.

Departure ceremonies at Ft. Madison were arranged through the assistance of A. Anthes Smith, president of the Anthes Force Oilier Co. in Ft. Madison and a member of the Board of Directors of the SUI Alumni Association.

Soviets To Help Build First Stage Of Egyptian Dam

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union will sign here today its agreement to help build the first stage of the Aswan Dam, the Information Department said Friday.

The Soviet Union announced in October it would lend the UAR 400 million rubles—$100 million at the official exchange rate—to build the first stage.

Peter Nikitine, deputy director of Soviet foreign trade, has been here more than a month at the head of a team of Soviet experts making a survey of the dam and discussing details. He will sign the agreement for the Soviet Union.

The Soviet offer is little more than a starter for the great project designed to harness the Nile, provide irrigation for agriculture and more power for industry.

The dam is expected to cost $2 billion or more. The United States in 1956 withdrew an offer to finance a share of the project. Britain did the same. The United States said Egypt had so committed its financial resources in buying Soviet-built arms that it would be unable to repay loans advanced for the dam.

Fire Fatalities Add To High Death Toll Over Yule Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death by fire brought a tragic ending to many a happy holiday celebration in homes throughout the nation. At least 62 persons — many of them children — lost their lives during the past two days.

Fathers and mothers also were among the victims. Dozens of others suffered serious or critical injuries in flaming dwellings.

A ghastly blaze at a farm near Auburn, Wash., snuffed out the lives of Mrs. Ole Hollenbach, 38, and eight of her nine children. The youngsters ranged in age from 4 to 18.

The father and a daughter, 7, survived. The father, a turkey grower, said he believed the fire began with a short circuit in a wire to an electric kitchen clock. He said the house seemed to explode in flames in the moment it took him to rush outside for a fire extinguisher.

Five of the six members of the family of Horace A. Gray Jr., died when flames roared through their $150,000, 15-room mansion in the exclusive Windsor Farms suburb of Richmond, Va.

Gray, one of the victims, was a director of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. He was 49.

Found dead in the home with him were his wife, Catherine, 47; two sons, Thomas, 17 and Foster, 13; and a daughter, Susan Lee, 19. A third son, Horace A. Gray III, was not at home at the time.

In Pennsylvania, two families lost three children each in flaming homes, and a father and son perished in another.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Degnan died in an early Christmas morning fire at their Wilkes-Barre home despite desperate attempts by the parents to reach them. The children were Deborah, 4; Donald, 2, and Edward Jr., 1.

At Braddock, Pa., a suburb of Pittsburgh, the Robert Fletcher family lost three children, Eddie, 7; Cary, 4; and Grace, 2 months. The 42-year-old father and another son, Willie, 11, were burned critically. The mother and two other sons, 7 and 8, escaped with less serious injury.

Paul Winger Sr., 32, and his 3-year-old son, Paul Jr., died in a fire at their home at St. Petersburg, Pa. Winger's wife and four other children escaped.

A blaze at the Admiral Inn, a two-story wooden lodging house at Northampton, Mass., cost the lives of three persons. They were Roman J. Korza, 45; Elizabeth Latham, 63, and Dedmund S. Korpiemski. It was Korpiemski's 37th birthday.

They were convicted of criminal contempt for failure to produce complete records for the Internal Revenue Service as ordered by the court.

Air Line Strikes Still At Stalemate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eastern Air Lines remained in a stalemate Friday with the striking flight engineers. The airline has been shut down for more than a month.

Also grounded with no immediate likelihood of settlement was American Airlines, awaiting a decision by its striking pilots on a 7-point agreement formula proposed by federal mediators. The company has accepted the plan.

The Air Line Pilots Association said in Chicago it has asked for clarification on some points of the proposed settlement and that no decision is in sight on accepting it.

Eastern has reached agreement with 5,300 members of the International Association of Machinists, but still is at loggerheads with the flight engineers.

Federal Mediator Warren Lané said in Miami: "We're right at a stalemate. There's no progress that I can report."

Talks will continue today.

The 550 Eastern flight engineers are balking at a company demand that they qualify as pilots for jet airliners.

The switchover from propeller planes to jets, with its accompanying technological upheaval, is at the bottom of most of the current airline labor disputes.

Deny Appeals For Goldfine

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. Friday denied motions for acquittal and a new trial of industrialist Bernard Goldfine and his secretary who were convicted of contempt of court last Monday.

The court also denied a motion for a reduction of sentence.

Goldfine was sentenced to three months and Miss Mildred Paperman, his secretary, to 10 days. Their sentences are scheduled to begin Jan. 7.

They were convicted of criminal contempt for failure to produce complete records for the Internal Revenue Service as ordered by the court.

Balloon Crosses Atlantic Safely

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The transatlantic balloon Small World was reported safely down in eastern Venezuela Friday after a 2-week ride on the trade winds from the Spanish Canary Islands. But the whereabouts of the balloon and four persons aboard remained a mystery.

A search was suspended when darkness closed in, and the plight of the balloon and its four British riders was still unknown.

A report from the area said the search would be renewed at daybreak.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The British plastic balloon Small World is reported to have bumped to a safe landing in the Orinoco delta after a mostly silent two weeks of buffeting across the Atlantic.

The Venezuelan news agency Informaciones Nacionales reported a search for the balloon in the jungle near Pedernales town was called off at nightfall until today.

The Venezuelan Communications Ministry reported Friday night, it had been informed the balloon suc-

345 Dead As Traffic Toll Mounts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first glimmer of hope that the 1958 Christmas traffic death toll might not be bound for a new, bloody record came Friday night.

The number of dead stood at 310 at 9 p.m. (EST), fewer by 38 than the 348 dead at the same hour in the most tragic year for highway deaths, 1956.

DEATH LOG

"It is the first bright ray in an otherwise bleak picture," a National Safety Council (NSC) spokesman said.

Fatalities Ease Up

He said it was the first report since the highway slaughter count began at 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday that traffic fatalities had fallen below that of the same hour for the four-day 1956 holiday during which 706 died.

Only a short while earlier the NSC said figures indicated the nation was headed for a new death toll record. The holiday period ends at midnight Sunday (local time).

With all-out police efforts to curb the highway accident epidemic, the NSC said its hopes to avoid a record slaughter were pinned to drivers, themselves, acquiring a sharpened sense of peril.

Before the holiday, the NSC had estimated that 620 persons would be killed in traffic during the week-end.

More Passengers

One factor in holiday driving tended to hike deaths and injuries — that of more passengers in the automobiles. It meant several killed in some instances where the victims might have been lone drivers under non-holiday circumstances.

Such accidents were a head-on smashup near Jackson, N.C., which took five lives, a similar crash near Michigan City, Ind., which killed four, and a collision, near Coats, N.C., in which three died.

A non-holiday weekend check from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 10, to midnight Sunday, Dec. 14, showed 341 traffic deaths, 106 fire fatalities and 105 deaths in miscellaneous accidents — total 552.

Fire Deaths Raise Toll

Fire deaths in the home, a seasonally frequent night time accident in winter, killed many victims during the holiday weekend. Some victims slept while unattended, overheated stoves burned their houses around them.

Nine of 12 residents died in a farmhouse fire near Auburn, Wash. Five perished in a Richmond, Va. mansion. Three children died in a Braddock, Pa., home fire. A father and his son died in their blazing home at Petersburg, Pa. At Northampton, Mass., three adults lost their lives in a lodging house blaze.

French Cabinet Meets Today To Discuss Franc

PARIS (AP) — The Government put the ailing franc under close scrutiny Friday but withheld for the moment any decision on its fate.

Premier Charles de Gaulle came in from his country estate to meet with financial experts. A full Cabinet meeting is scheduled this morning.

Financial sources and newspapers seemed agreed that dramatic monetary decisions are expected in France — possibly devaluation of the franc. This would lower prices for French products so they can compete in the European Common Market.

Soapbox Auto Puts Kefauver In Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — A ride in a toy automobile put Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) in a hospital Friday with badly sprained ligaments and a dislocated knee cap.

Aides explained: Kefauver's 12-year-old son David has chugged proudly around his neighborhood in a homemade soapbox automobile powered with a salvaged lawn mower motor.

A neighbor boy—John Harrell, a chum of David's—was given a manufactured low-horse-power scooter for Christmas.

The boys wanted to swap. Kefauver wanted to make sure the swap was fair to each. He took John's unit out for a trial spin.

Going down a steep hill in front of his home, Kefauver found the "automobile" was going too fast. He reached for the brakes and couldn't find them.

Then, he stretched his leg over the side to drag his foot in the time-honored style of wagon coasting.

That didn't work, his foot was pulled under the rear wheel and his leg was dragged along the pavement.

He didn't think the injuries were serious but when his leg continued to pain him Friday he went to Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Doctors there found the sprained ligaments and dislocated knee cap. His leg was put in a cast—to stay for about three weeks, although he'll be permitted to go home from the hospital Sunday.

Whirlwind Hits Plane; 3 Killed

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — A whirlwind hurled a French DC-6 airliner with 70 persons aboard to the ground in a flaming crash here Friday. Three passengers were killed.

A heroic steward helped get the other 60 passengers to safety. The 7-member crew also walked away from the blazing wreckage. Only minor injuries were reported. The unidentified steward suffered burns.

Authorities said all of the passengers on the UAT Lines flight from Johannesburg, South Africa, to London were South Africans.

The plane took off into a blinding African thunderstorm that turned the sky black. Thirty seconds later it crashed and burned.

The pilot told the Paris office of UAT by telephone that he had been given permission to take off despite the storm. He said that half a minute after he was airborne, a "terrific whirlwind" clutched the plane and flung it like a chip to the ground.

He said the impact was not particularly hard, which apparently accounted for the relatively light loss of life. But it was hard enough to cause the big ship to burn.

The piston-engine plane had been chartered by UAT in Johannesburg for the flight over Africa to London.

Witnesses reported that the plane took off into a black thundercloud and vanished just before it crashed. It was the third overseas plane crash of the Christmas holiday.

An Air Force Constellation crashed in Vienna Christmas Eve while landing. In what was described as a "Christmas miracle," all 34 persons aboard escaped with their lives.

Also on Christmas Eve, a turbo-prop Britannia airliner crashed in southern England. Eight crewmen and engineers died. Authorities still were trying to determine the cause of the crash.

'You Couldn't Come To Me, So I Came To You'

Pope Visits Italian Prison

By RICHARD EHRLMAN

ROME (AP) — Pope John XXIII went to Rome's prison Friday—as a father visiting his wayward children.

"You couldn't come to see me," he told the prisoners, "so I come to see you."

That simple remark brought tears to some hardened eyes among the 1,500 convicts who had cheered the ruler of the Roman Catholic Church with the fervor of pilgrims in St. Peter's Square.

Nothing like a visit from a Pope ever had happened at Regina Coeli (Queen of Heaven) Prison since it was built on a muddy bank of the Tiber in 1838.

The papal guard of honor was made up of tough prison guards, trained to handle equally tough convicts. They had been popped into brand new uniforms and told to conduct themselves sweetly.

A red carpet was rolled out for Pope John. It had been rented.

The prison never had needed one before.

An altar was borrowed from a nearby church and set up in the prison courtyard, where most of the inmates could look down from their tiers of cells and see the Pope.

The papal throne was the prison superintendent's overstuffed chair. But the Pope did not sit in it.

Visibly moved, the Pontiff stood throughout the welcoming address by Justice Minister Guido Gonella. He was even more moved by the rousing welcome that the prisoners gave him.

"Viva il Papa," they chanted. The chant grew louder and louder. Silence was ordered. The chanting increased.

Finally, above the din, an impatient guard shouted "Sta zitto" (Shut up).

The prison superintendent, Dr. Carmine Scialoja, perturbed by the unseemly remark, summoned an aide and told him to remind guards to "follow today's instructions. They must act sweetly."

A few of the best-behaved prisoners—about 50—were permitted to be near the pontiff during the ceremony, and to kiss his ring.

In his brief talk to the inmates, the sharecropper's son who became Pope told how as a youth he had been shocked when one of his relatives was arrested for poaching.

"It was a painful impression," the 77-year-old Pope said, "but laws are essential for civilized living and punishment also is necessary. But it is also true that sometimes those are punished who had no intention of doing evil."

He urged the prisoners to consider their time in prison as "an opportunity to purify your life by the penetration of the grace of God which will elevate and transform you."

The Pope gave his blessing and promised the prisoners that he would offer special prayers for them.

Visits infirmary

Pope John then visited the prison's infirmary. There, one of the prisoners asked his help in getting an amnesty from the Italian Government.

"I'm afraid that is out of my competency," replied the pontiff. "I don't know what influence I might have in getting the government to grant an amnesty."

"But," he added brightly, "I have some influence in much higher place and perhaps you might be interested in an indulgence." (An indulgence is pardon of the temporal punishment that is due for sin, according to Roman Catholic belief.)

The Pope then walked through one of the prison's corridors. From time to time he thrust his hand through cell-door bars so that his ring could be kissed.

When the Pontiff had left, the superintendent told newsmen Pope John had given several million lire—a million lire is worth $1,600—to buy Christmas presents for the prisoners.

Clue Reported On Missing College Prexy

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The president of Missouri Valley College, who dropped out of sight Christmas Eve, was reported in Jacksonville Friday but efforts to locate him were unsuccessful.

Dr. M. Earle Collins, 55-year-old college head, was en route to Orlando for the Tangerine Bowl football game Saturday where Missouri Valley plays East Texas State.

E. S. Quisenberry, head of the college cafeteria who said he rode with Collins from Springfield, Mo., said at Orlando that the college head planned to continue his trip by train Friday night.

Collins was tired and wanted to get some rest before completing the trip, Quisenberry said. The two had ridden in a day coach since leaving Missouri.

A check of 18 Jacksonville hotels and a number of motels did not disclose Collins' whereabouts. The train he was expected to board arrives in Orlando at 2:25 a.m. Train officials said, however, there was no reservation in Collins' name because none is required.

Quisenberry, who boarded the Midwest train at Kansas City, said he met Collins when he got on at Springfield. The college president originally planned to entrain at Kansas City but changed his plans so he would have more time to attend a church service, the cafeteria operator said.

Quisenberry related that he and Collins were unaware of the excitement over Collins' whereabouts. He said he didn't know where Collins planned to stay in Jacksonville. Hotels here are jammed with Gator Bowl visitors.

Mrs. Collins called police at Marshall, Mo., Thursday when her husband did not return from the church service, Quisenberry said Collins came a day earlier because of the holiday travel rush.

Some Days It's Better Just To Stay In Bed

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Phyllis Wagner sighed with relief Friday that Christmas finally was over.

Mrs. Wagner, radio dispatcher for the sheriff's office, said her holiday experiences included:

Her car got stuck in the mud; the trunk broke off in the lock when she tried to get the toys for her three children.

While she was cooking dinner Christmas Eve her kitchen caught fire, damaging drapes and paint.

In the excitement her son,

Paul, 6, knocked over a bedside lamp and suffered a deep cut on his head.

The children opened their toys Christmas morning. A new electric corn popper was without a cord. A bow and arrow set didn't have any arrows. Mrs. Wagner had bought herself an electric coffee pot, but left it in the store.

She became ill while serving Christmas dinner and was unable to eat. And when she got the dishes and kitchen cleaned up and was eager to get into bed, the bedroom door knob came off in her hand.

Bob Hope Arrives In West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope was airlifted into isolated West Berlin Friday night to entertain U.S. troops. As he stepped from his U.S. Air Force plane at Tempelhof air base, he heaved a sigh of relief and said:

"Well, we got through the corridor okay. I'm happy we're still flying in here."

By "corridor" Hope meant one of the three air lines the Russians allowed the Western Allies to use in supplying troops units in West Berlin. The city is isolated 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Hope is on a Christmas holidays tour of U.S. military bases in Europe.

At All Costs, We Must Avoid The No. 3 Label

TAIPEI (AP) — It's house-cleaning time for those who want to save face. People are tidying up for the year-end inspection of premises by police. On leaving each house, the police fix on the front door a label bearing one of three inscriptions: 1—exceptionally clean, 2—clean, 3—dirty.

$500 BILL NO GOOD

MARION, Ill. (UPI) — The State of Illinois has refused to recognize a $500 bill issued by the U.S. Treasury.

Contractor Thomas Harris plunked down the bill with a required certified check for 10 per cent of a bid on a street paving job here.

A state highway engineer said, however, that the state could not recognize a contract if it were let to a bidder who did not meet a certified check requirement in the full amount.

Talking Atlas 'Converses' 4 More Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists held four more "conversations" with the talking Atlas satellite Friday.

Army Signal Corps experts have signaled 35 times so far to the satellite to send down messages either stored in its tape recorder when it was launched or radioed to it during flight.

Twenty-nine of these experiments involved sending messages up to the satellite for subsequent return to ground receiving stations.

The Air Force launched the satellite, Project Score, from Cape Canaveral, Fla., on Dec. 18. Scientists are making communications experiments expected to prove of high value in eventual use of satellites for message relay purposes.

Friday, Army ground stations "interrogated" and received answers from the satellite as it passed over the stations at 9:30 a.m., 11:40 a.m., 1:20 p.m., and 3:15 p.m., all Eastern Standard Time.

Good Listening—Today On WSUI

WSUI returns to the air after a two-day rest. Listeners are invited to return, too, for a day filled with aural, holiday entertainment.

ROSE BOWL REPORTS will be heard regularly until The Big Day. Today on Cue and then every day next week on the 8:15 a.m. news tape-recorded "beeper" telephone reports on the West Coast doings of team, coaches and adherents will be aired.

MORE CUE: Stan Freeburg, Mort Sahl, Songs of Couch and Consultation, a preview of the sound of New Year's Eve are interspersed with the usual recordings (in season), news (in English) and weather (inexcusable). Interviews with Highlander boss Bill Adamson and SUU Band Director Fred Ebbs should serve to enlighten listeners about the respective Rose Bowl plans of each. Of special interest will be details of the band's new uniforms (or perhaps we should say "the tails" of the uniforms).

DIE MEISTERSINGER will replace Saturday Supplement today as WSUI's New Year's gift to opera lovers. Presented in its entirety (it is 4½ hours long), the new recorded version of Wagner's opera features soprano Elisabeth Grumner and basses Ferdinand Frantz and Walter Stoll with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Rudolf Kempe. Named one of the outstanding recordings of the manufacturer, Angel Records, to the exclusion of all else.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived at their country estate Friday for about a week's vacation. They plan to remain here through New Year's, with the President putting in some work on recommendations he will make to the next Congress.

The Eisenhowers drove here from Washington with grandson David, 10. David's parents, Army Major and Mrs. John S. Eisenhower and the three other grandchildren will join the President and First Lady later.

The weather here was on the chilly side — 7 above zero at the Eisenhower farm Friday morning — and the President planned to remain indoors for the next day or so.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who came here with the presidential party, said Mr. Eisenhower had put in some work in the late afternoon on the State of the Union message he will deliver to Congress early next month.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

OLD CY STEBBINS ambled into a Vermont crossroads grocery store one bitter cold night, and was furious when he found that every seat within spitting distance of the pot-bellied stove was already occupied.

Cy wiped the frost off his visage, and asked the store owner in a loud voice, "Seth, got any raw oysters in stock?" "Plenty," Seth assured him. "Fine," boomed Cy. "Just you open two dozen and feed 'em to my horse outside."

Cy Stebbins was the richest old coot in the county, and the store owner wasn't anxious to cross him. He opened the oysters, and took them outside, and the entire company of hangers-on trooped after him to see a horse eat oysters. Cy, meanwhile, settled himself comfortably—and for good—in the seat nearest the hot stove.

Very soon the crowd trooped back and the storekeeper said, "I'm sorry, Cy, but I don't think that horse of yours'll eat oysters."

"You don't say," marveled Cy. "Well, then, bring 'em here and I'll eat 'em myself."

Hawks Work On Offense; Merz Clicks

BY JIM DAVIES, Editor
Special to the Daily Iowan

PASADENA — The Iowa football team resumed practice in the East Los Angeles Junior College Stadium Friday after a Christmas Day layoff. The Hawkeyes, who will meet the California Bears in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day, were feted Thursday night at an official Christmas dinner and later at a Christmas party for the whole Iowa party given by the Tournament of Roses Association.

Gifts were presented to the team members — transistor radios to the veterans of Iowa's trip to the Rose Bowl two years ago and binoculars to the rest of the team. University officials including Coach Forest Evashevski also received radios. The Hawkeyes were also given wrist watches at a private party Christmas Eve and they also received gifts from the Evashevskis.

The Hawkeyes were all business again Friday afternoon. Evy discontinued two-day drills and will work his Hawks once each day from now on until New Year's Day except for Sunday when there will be no practice session.

Friday's practice featured a long drill on offense with the first and second teams running against the reserves.

Curt Merz, Iowa's All-American end who was injured Monday, alternated on the first unit with Jeff Langston. Merz' knee injury, a muscle hyper-extension, seemed to be progressing satisfactorily. He was running hard Friday and caught several of Quarterback Randy Duncan's passes. Evy did a bit of shuffling in the backfield Friday and one combination had Duncan at quarterback, Kevin Furlong and Fleming at the half-back spots and Don Horn at full-back position. At one time John Brown, the usual third string full-back, was alternating with Captain Johnny Nocera on the first unit. Previous workouts had found Fleming coupled with Bob Jeter at halfback, with Nocera running full-back.

At the end of Friday's session, the third team had a 10-minute session with the reserves, who ran California plays. And while the Mau-Maus were throwing Cal plays at the first two units in East Los Angeles, the Golden Bears themselves were holding an open house across town at the Beverley Hills High School field.

Coach Pete Elliott and company arrived in the area Friday morning from Berkeley. Elliott wasn't giving away any secrets about his strategy, and how he would defend against Iowa's potent offense but the California grid boss did point out that he had a fine quarterback in Joe Kapp and that the team spirit is high. It is clear that he isn't paying any attention to the oddsmakers who have given Iowa an 18-to-19-point edge over the Bears.

Cal's Golden Bears Are Solemn Bears

PASADENA, (AP) — An unusually solemn California football squad arrived on the Rose Bowl front Friday and promptly resumed preparations for its New Year's Day battle with Iowa.

The major portion of the Golden Bear contingent flew in from Berkeley, led by amiable but businesslike Coach Pete Elliott.

There was no banter as the 30 or more players stepped off their chartered plane at nearby Burbank Airport.

News cameramen had to beg the footballers to smile and wave for pictures.

Their attitude was in marked contrast to the arrival of the Hawkeyes last week. The Big Ten champions needed no urging for a show of happy spirits.

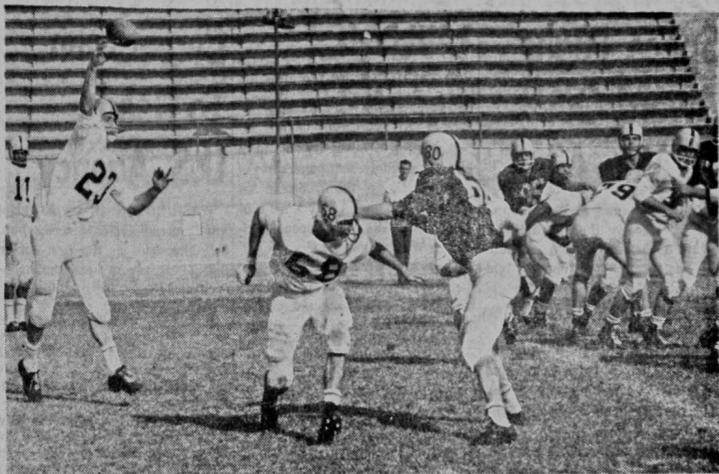

Big Joe Kapp, the Bears' quarterback and key performer, was one of the last to leave the plane. He produced a warm smile at last but mainly as he posed with his coach and Elliott's two youngsters, David, 6, and Bruce, 8.

The squad was taken by bus to join the rest of the outfit at Los Angeles' Ambassador Hotel, their quarters for the Rose Bowl stay. More than a dozen of the Bears arrived early to spend Christmas Day at their homes in this area.

There was no fanfare except for the formal welcome to Elliott and Co., by the Tournament of Roses football committeemen, Lathrop K. Leishman, John Bigger and William Nicholas.

The tournament committee gave the California team a post-Christmas party, Friday night, presenting the players with binoculars as it did the Iowa squad. Elliott said his team is in sound physical condition. There is much work to be done, however, to regain regular season form, Elliott added.

The Bears took their first workout at Beverly Hills High School in the afternoon, and a rough one it was, with more coming up Saturday.

It's Bowl-Season Time Again —

5 Grid Tilts Slated Today

Rain Hampers East-West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Plans of the West to go around or over the bulky East defenses today in the annual Shrine football game met with opposition from an outside source Friday—the weather. Rain fell during the morning, but clearing skies were possible by the 2 p.m. (PST) kickoff in Kezar Stadium for this nationally televised (NBC) game.

So the East remained a solid one-touchdown favorite, with the men of Coach Duffy Daugherty expected to stay on the ground with a running attack.

On defense, the Easterners boast a forward wall averaging 218 pounds, so Coach Jack Curtice of the West has centered his offense plans on forward passing and plans on forward passing and speed.

A capacity crowd of about 60,000 was expected for this 34th annual charity game for the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children. Utah's quarterback Lee Grosscup, an ace passer, was named starting quarterback for the West. With Grosscup in the backfield will be Leon Burton of Arizona

State, Colorado's Boyd Dowler, and Baylor's Larry Hickman.

Daugherty's starting backfield on offense will be Michigan's Bob Ptacek at quarterback, Ohio State's Don Clark at left half, Notre Dame's Nick Pietrosante at fullback and either Dick Haley of Pittsburgh or Tom Lorino of Auburn at right half.

The West lost an ace pass catcher when All American end Buddy Dial of Rice suffered a sprained ankle in practice.

Collegiate rules are played except that unlimited substitution will be in effect.

Bowls Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Living room television fans and natives and tourists in the sunny regions get their first big helping of holiday football fare Saturday and it should be a tasty dish. Each of the five games, including the three coast-to-coast TV contests, figures to be real close.

The favorites are Mississippi by six points over Florida in the Gator Bowl; East Texas State by six points over Missouri Valley in the Tangerine Bowl; East by six over the West in the Shrine contest; North by three over the South, and Gray by three over the Blue.

Mississippi Favored by 6 Over Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Mississippi's big offense collides with Florida's case-hardened defense in the 14th annual Gator Bowl football game today. Mississippi is favored by six points.

Through the 10-game 1958 season, the Mississippi Rebels led the Southeastern Conference in rushing yardage and spaced their attack with an even 1,000 yards passing. The combination resulted in eight victories against two defeats.

Strong Line

Florida's strength was in its line, seventh best nationally in rushing defense. While the Gator's record of six victories, three defeats and one tie is not usually of bowl caliber, it was in two of the losses that Florida gained stature.

Louisiana—State, the national champion, beat Florida 10-7 on a field goal in the last period and Coach Paul Dietzel of LSU said Florida was the best team his champions faced. Florida's other "impressive loss" was by a 6-5 score to Auburn, the 1957 national champion which finished this year No. 4 in the Associated Press rankings.

Florida was No. 14 and Mississippi No. 11 in the final poll.

Passing Game Seen

Statistically, Mississippi falls short of Florida in being miserly with the yardage. Yet only five among the nation's major teams did better than Mississippi in holding opponents to an average of 6 1/2 points a game.

Regardless of these implications, defense is not expected to be the keynote of the game. The forward pass has that role, judging from the practice patterns of both teams.

Oklahoma Sinks Iowa State 68-65

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Oklahoma's deliberate Sooners gained control late in the first half and held on doggedly to defeat challenging Iowa State 68-65 in the first round of the Big Eight basketball tournament Friday night.

Kansas State Edges Missouri, 69-66

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas State College Wildcats, with big boys Wally Frank and Bob Boozer mastering the boards, defeated Missouri's Tigers 69-66 in the Big Eight Basketball Tournament Friday night in Municipal Auditorium.

Oklahoma met Iowa State in the other first-round game.

Frank, a 6-foot-8 junior, carried the scoring load for K-State after Boozer, also 6-8, fouled out with six minutes remaining in the game.

Frank had a game total of 23 points, one more than Boozer who owns the K-State career scoring record of 1,190 points.

Mountaineers, Northwestern Meet Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two of the finest collegiate basketball players in the nation, West Virginia's Jerry West and Northwestern's Joe Ruklick, match skill in the Chicago Stadium's first twin bill of the season tonight.

Host school Loyola of Chicago meets Seattle's Chieftains in the first game of the doubleheader.

Northwestern is one of six Big Ten schools in non-conference action this weekend. Sturdy Purdue and improving Indiana are engaged in the 4-team Hoosier Classic in Indianapolis also involving Notre Dame and Butler.

Ohio State entertains Princeton in a regionally-televised matinee tonight while Minnesota is at Washington and Iowa plays in the West Coast Classic in Corvallis, Ore.

Northwestern, beaten only by North Carolina (78-64), will be seeking its sixth triumph against a West Virginia team that is fifth ranked in the national AP poll. The Wildcats are ranked 12th.

Ruklick, who fires a deadly hook shot with either hand, has a 24.5 point average. West, only 6 feet 3, has averaged 24.3 and probably will be assigned to guard the 6-foot, 9 inch Ruklick.

However, Northwestern's articulate coach, Bill Rohr, hopes to annoy West Virginia and future Big Ten foes with more than just Ruklick's marksmanship.

The way Rohr sizes up the forthcoming Big Ten race (which begins the first week of January), Michigan State and Purdue are the top two threats with "maybe Indiana as No. 3."

Dallas Sought For Service Grid Games

DALLAS (AP) — The Air Force Academy athletic director Friday nominated Dallas a site for possible Academy football games with Army and Navy.

Col. George Simler, arriving with the first players and officials for the Cotton Bowl game Jan. 1, told newsmen that "I'd like to play Army and Navy on a home-and-home basis two out of three years, with our home games being played in Denver."

"The third year, I'd like to see the games played at a neutral site. I'd like to play them in Dallas."

Col. Simler said about 800 of the Academy's 1,100 cadets will be at the game.

2 Aussie Net Stars To Turn Pro Soon

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Australia's Davis Cup tennis titans, Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson, have agreed to turn pro for promoter Jack Kramer right after the Challenge Round with the United States next week, the Associated Press learned Friday.

Everything is all set except for the formal signings, which will be done with a fanfare timed to reap the richest harvest of publicity. Anderson will get a guarantee of $20,000 a year for two years and Cooper a 3-year pact guaranteeing him a minimum of $100,000 over that span.

If Cooper and Anderson needed

any further incentive to beat back the American challenge here next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, this cash lure will provide it. A decisive victory would boost their boxoffice value while a defeat, naturally, would lessen the returns.

Both Cooper, 22, and Anderson, 23, are close to top form right now. They already have been handed the singles assignments by Team Captain Harry Hopman.

Meanwhile, the American camp was beset with frayed nerves as Captain Perry Jones continued to delay selection of his singles players. Jones has to decide among Ham Richardson, Alex Olmedo and Barry Mackay. All three are very eager for the tough assignments.

Both Cooper and Anderson have a chance to make more money under percentage deals. Anderson, who will sign his pro contract with Kramer on Jan. 1, will work on a 15 per cent of the gate basis.

Cooper, the prize of the package because of his triple slam of the Australian, Wimbledon and U.S. championships, will get a 20 per cent slice of the gates.

Giants Get 500 Extra Tickets For Game

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants Friday announced that about 500 reserved seat tickets will go on sale this morning at Yankee Stadium for Sunday's National Football League championship game with Baltimore.

The tickets were turned back by the Baltimore club.

Bleacher and standing room tickets also are available. The weather man said the outlook for Sunday was partly cloudy and mild.

Silky Sullivan At Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Silky Sullivan and 15 other 3-year-olds were entered Friday in the $25,000-added Malibu Stakes at Santa Anita Park today.

Silky, famed for his come-from-behind stretch drives, is an indefinite starter, however. His trainer said Friday he won't make a definite decision until today.

Other standouts are Jewel's Reward and Hillsdale, top-weighted with Sulky at 126, and Sir Ruler at 114.

Official Party Arrives In Pasadena

PASADENA, — With the arrival this afternoon of a chartered plane bearing Governor Herschel C. Lovell and others, the State University of Iowa's official delegation to the 1959 Tournament of Roses—headed by the Governor and SUI President Virgil M. Hancher—will be gathered in Pasadena.

The official delegation includes the 1959 Rose Bowl team, the SUI coaching staff, a group of reserve players, state officials, members of the State Board of Regents and finance committee, members of the SUI Board in Control of Athletics and staff members of the SUI Department of Athletics.

To be financed by receipts from the 1959 Rose Bowl game and previous games in which the Big Ten has taken part, the official delegation represents the State of Iowa and the University in this national classic without expense to Iowa taxpayers.

The official delegation will represent Iowa and the University in official events sponsored by the Tournament of Roses, in company with officials of the State of California and the University of California, Iowa's opponents in the New Year's Day game. Other special events in which they will participate include those sponsored by various organizations of alumni and former Iowans, estimated to number several hundred thousand in the Southern California area.

In keeping with the traditional participation of the Big Ten university in the Tournament of Roses and the Rose Bowl game, the official Iowa delegation and the working party include the following as guests of the SUI Board in Control of Athletics and the Department of Athletics:

Truman To Give Columbia Lectures

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Truman announced Friday he will give a series of lectures on the presidency next year at Columbia University.

He spent part of the day discussing plans for the lectures with Columbia officials. They will be similar to lectures he has given at other universities.

Truman and his wife have been spending the holidays with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Daniel, and their 18-month-old grandson. Truman said he had a "great time" watching the boy open his Christmas presents.

Truman talked with newsmen during his customary early-morning walk.

He said he hopes 1959 will bring peace and prosperity for all the world.

Space Flight Award Goes To Van Allen

Professor James A. Van Allen of SUI will receive the Space Flight Award of the American Astronautical Society at the Honors Night Dinner of the organization's annual meeting tonight in the Hotel Statler, Washington, D.C.

The award will be presented to Dr. Van Allen by Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In addition to receiving this special award, Dr. Van Allen has been named one of nine scientists who will be given Fellow Awards of the society. Other recipients are from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Sperry Gyroscope Company, Republic Aviation Corporation, Douglas Aircraft Company, North American Aviation, Inc., the University of Maryland, Army Ballistic Missile Agency and the Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Dr. Van Allen will speak at the opening session of the annual meeting this afternoon at the Hotel Statler. His topic will be "Corpuscular Radiation in Outer Space." In the talk he will deal with results achieved through the trip into outer space of the Pioneer III space probe.

The meeting of the American Astronautical Society is being held in conjunction with the 125th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Founded in 1953, the American Astronautical Society is a national scientific organization dedicated to advancement of the astronautical sciences (those dealing with the possibility of traveling through interplanetary space.)

The society considers manned interplanetary space travel a logical step to follow today's achievements with research aircraft, guided missiles and earth satellites.

2 SUI Profs To Speak At Science Meeting

Two State University of Iowa scientists will present papers at the 125th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), which opened Friday in Washington, D. C.

They are G. Edgar Folk, Jr., associate professor of physiology, and James Case, assistant professor of zoology.

Professor Folk will speak on "The Effect of Cold Exposure on Breeding of Hamsters" at a session on endocrinology Sunday at 10 a.m.

Professor Case's topic will be "The Control of Bioluminescence in Fireflies." The study which he will report deals with how the nerve calls into action the cells of end organs. The firefly was chosen for study because the structure of light-emitting cells (the end organ in this case) is simple, permitting a more direct approach to the problem.

Affiliated with the AAAS are 279 scientific societies with an aggregate membership of two million, making it the largest group of related scientific organizations in the world. It is organized in sections covering all the principal fields of science.

Aims of the AAAS include furthering the work of scientists, facilitating cooperation among them, making science more effective in promoting human welfare and increasing public understanding of science.

Career Man To Head U.S. Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "right guy," as associates describe him, is taking over as the first career federal worker to head the mammoth Social Security Administration.

However, William L. Mitchell has had plenty of training to fit him to be commissioner of social security, the job to which he was appointed Friday by President Eisenhower.

Mitchell, 58, has been the only deputy commissioner the Social Security Administration has had since the job was created a dozen years ago. He has served as top aide to three commissioners.

Mitchell's first Government work was in 1922 as a chain man on a surveying team here. In April, 1923, he joined the staff of the old Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce and has been in Government work since.

Now he will direct in its entirety the largest social insurance and social welfare operation of its kind in the world.

Under his guidance will be the old-age and survivors' insurance program — the portion most people refer to as social security — plus the federal-state public assistance programs, the Children's bureau and the Federal Credit Union.

Exira Farmer Found Dead In Wrecked Car

EXIRA (AP) — The body of Keith Kiteinger, 44, Exira farmer, was found in his wrecked car in a field ditch more than 600 feet from a road two miles south of here Friday afternoon.

Kiteinger had been the object of a widespread search since his family had reported him missing on Christmas Eve.

Audubon County authorities termed the death an auto fatality. They said the car went off the road on a hillside, then rolled over the field and tore through two fences before coming to rest in the ditch.

50 Reported Dead In Bolivian Flood

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Fifty persons have lost their lives in a flood at Charagua, in lowland eastern Bolivia, Government reports from the area said Friday.

Damage was described as heavy but there was no official estimate of its extent. The flood followed heavy rains.

The town is near the Paraguayan border, 120 miles southeast of the provincial capital of Santa Cruz.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK for the Tournament of Roses, twirler Margaret Ann Rossie of the SUI Marching Band is "train-ing" for the Band's trip to California, which begins today. Along with the SUI Scottish Highlanders, the Marching Band will arrive in Pasadena Monday morning. Both musical groups are participating in the Tournament of Roses through courtesy of the Santa Fe Railway. They will board a special Santa Fe "Chief" train at 10 a.m. today in Fort Madison.

ROSES WERE IN ORDER—four of them—for Mrs. Ellis Newsome, wife of Professor Ellis Newsome, who are chaperones for the Rose Bowl bound students. The roses were presented at the train Friday by Sally (left) and Cynthia Van Allen, daughters of SUI physicist James Van Allen.

PENNANTS AND WALKING STICKS were readied for distribution to two train loads of SUI students as they boarded trains for the Rose Bowl. Len Flander, Iowa City, Student Council president, checked over the makings of "Rose Bowl kits" which were to be passed out on the train.
