

Hawkeyes Face Northwestern Quintet In TV Encounter

Defeat Would KO Flag Hopes For Either 5

Iowa 3-Point Loser In Initial Meeting

By LOU YOUNKIN
Staff Writer

Iowa goes against Northwestern today on the Fieldhouse court with both teams needing a victory to stay in contention for the Big Ten championship. The seventh-place Wildcats own a 2-3 loop record while the Hawkeyes, 2-2, are current residents of sixth place — only one game out of first.

Tip-off time is 3:30 p.m. and a regional television audience will view the action along with the "live" spectators at the Fieldhouse. Forty TV stations, including WMT-TV Channel 9, Cedar Rapids and WOC-TV channel 6, Davenport, will handle the visual coverage. Radio stations carrying the game in the Iowa City area include WSUI and KXIC, Iowa City; WHO and KRNT, Des Moines; and WMT, Cedar Rapids.

Wildcats Took Opener

It will be the second meeting of the season between the two clubs. Northwestern took the first encounter, 80-77, at Evanston Jan. 3, in the first conference game for both teams.

The Wildcats, however, have been in a slump as of late and have fallen from their perch atop the Big Ten standings to their present position following consecutive losses at the hands of Indiana (76-69), Ohio State (88-77), and Minnesota (71-67). An 83-78 win over Michigan was sandwiched between the Iowa victory and the losing streak for coach Bill Rohr's cagers.

Iowa, on the other hand, has alternated wins and losses since league play began. Coach Sharm Scheuerman's five bowed to Northwestern, clubbed Michigan State, 69-68; bowed to Illinois 103-97; and then raced past Indiana, 88-78, last Saturday.

Hawks Away Monday

The Hawkeyes hit the road Monday for an engagement with the Ohio State Buckeyes at Columbus. The next home game will be Jan. 31 with Michigan affording the opposition.

The Wildcats have shown a well-balanced scoring attack with 6'9" center Joe Ruklick leading the way. The rangy pivotman has drilled in 281 points in 13 games for a 21.6 average. In loop play, however, Ruklick has been slowed to a 16.4 scoring clip and is 17th in the individual race.

Ike Checking Federal Purse

Deposits Due On 2nd Term Tuition Fees

No Materials Issued Until Installment Paid

SUI students must pay an initial deposit on their student accounts before they can obtain registration materials for the second semester, according to University secretary Leonard Brcka.

Statements mailed Friday to students or their parents include the $50 advance payment required of all students, the February installment for dormitory, fraternity or sorority housing, where applicable, and miscellaneous charges incurred through Jan. 15.

Allow 48 Hours

Students should allow 48 hours for processing of their payments before picking up registration materials. Distribution of registration materials will begin Tuesday, Feb. 3.

Students not planning to register for the second semester should deduct the $50 advance payment and the February installment for housing and send a check or money order to cover the remaining balance due.

One of the first major universities in the nation to undertake the installment plan of billing students for college costs, the SUI system was designed to make it easier for students and their parents to meet school costs by avoiding relatively large lump-sum payments.

Three Installments

Under the new plan, which began during the fall semester, students or their parents will be billed for the unpaid balance on the second-semester accounts in three equal payments in March, April and May.

The installment system worked very well during the first semester, Brcka said, but he urged all students to pay their installments before the 12th of each month to avoid paying the $5 late penalty fee.

Brcka also said students should notify the treasurer's office immediately of any change of address which might delay in the billing process and he emphasized that payments — checks or money orders, not cash — should be mailed in the envelopes enclosed with the statement.

'Gulliver's Travels' Is Lecture Topic

R. S. Crane, University of Chicago English professor, will address the Humanities Society Monday at 8 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

The talk, "The Houyhnhnms, The Yahoos and Historical Method," will be taken from a recent study of Jonathan Swift's "Gulliver's Travels."

Crane, formerly head of the English Department at the University of Chicago, is now Emeritus Distinguished Service Professor of that school.

Writings by Crane include the history of literature and ideas in England during the 17th and 18th centuries and on the method and history of literary criticism.

Castro Bars TV-Radio From Cuban Crimes Trials

HAVANA (UPI) — The second of Havana's spectacular "war crimes" trials was abruptly postponed Friday. Fidel Castro demanded an end to television and radio broadcasts of the trials in the city's huge Sports Palace.

The first man tried, Batista Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, was condemned to death at a marathon 12-hour and 19-minute trial in the Sports Palace which ended at midnight Friday. He appealed his sentence, automatically staying execution five to six days. But four of his alleged henchmen were executed Thursday in Oriente Province for burning the village of Levisa and butchering its inhabitants.

Postponement

Illness of one of the defendants to be tried Friday, Maj. Pedro Morejon Valdes, was blamed for the postponement of the trials until today. He and Lt. Col. Ricardo L. Grau, another defendant, were brought to the Sports Palace for trial, then hustled out through a jeering mob and returned to their cells in Cabana Fortress.

Castro, who flew to Caracas, Venezuela, Friday to help celebrate the first anniversary of the revolution which overthrew dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez last Jan. 23, radioed Camilo Cienfuegos, the new Army Chief of Staff, that radio and TV broadcasts of the noisy proceedings should be discontinued because they might "damage the spirit of the public." Castro said he was "preoccupied" with the thought that nationwide broadcasts of the trials might "produce a state of permanent agitation" in Cuba.

The 12-hour and 19-minute trial Thursday of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco was fully broadcast. Some 30,000 spectators jammed the Sports Palace stadium to jeer and roar at the defendant who was accused of 108 murders and burning 120 homes in Oriente Province.

Shortly after midnight, when most of the crowd had left, the 3-man court convicted him and sentenced him to death for murder, looting, robbery and damage to public property.

He had smiled. He had laughed. He raised his manacled hands and accused his captors of trying him in a "Roman colosseum" like the early Christian martyrs. He denied his guilt and insisted he acted as a soldier, under orders.

"Don't Cry"

His three sisters visited him at his cell in a dimly-lighted corridor. They brought him a rum bottle filled with coffee.

"Don't cry," he told them. "I'm not crying," one replied. "All life must end some day."

Maj. Sosa Blanco was accused of murdering nine sons of a single family, of burning down a house to cremate an occupant and of other killings and lootings.

Et Tu, Brutus?

SNOWY, COLD WEATHER IN IOWA CITY brought problems to young and older, it seems. In the cloakroom dilemma on the left, St. Mary's Grade School youngsters tried to solve the age old question— which boots did I come to school with this morning? Frustrated Dennis Campbell, 7, and Donna Sedivec, 6, didn't seem to be making much headway. Minor frustration to the Police Department was the snow on the meters. Police Captain G. R. Hall found he had to brush away the snow to determine violations—and in this case, at least, the motorist still had time left on the meter.

The Postmaster Eyes Missile Mail Service

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Delivery of mail by guided missiles is the newest gleam in the eye of Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

The rockets would be painted red, white and blue—just like the mail box down on the corner. Summerfield predicted Friday night that before man reaches the moon, mail will be delivered within hours from New York to California, to England, to India or to Australia by guided missiles. Some scientists say man may travel around the moon and back within ten years.

In remarks prepared for the annual awards dinner of National Business Publications, Inc., Summerfield said carrying mail by rockets promises to be the greatest peaceful use of missile development.

"And if Congress provides us with sufficient funds," Summerfield pledged, "you may be assured that mail-carrying rocket missiles will be painted with the traditional colors—red, white and blue—of which every American is justly proud."

Summerfield is a man who delivers, too. It was back in July 1955 that he announced the olive drab mail boxes were going to be painted "the more cheerful colors" of you know what.

He told the publications group the postal service will keep pace with science.

"Wherever our citizens may go in this great universe, the delivery of their mail will continue to be expedited whether they are on the moon or on a space station or in the far corners of the earth," he said.

Mail already has been carried by rocket, but only as a stunt. The Army placed a letter in the nose cone of a test missile fired last year from Cape Canaveral, Fla. The letter was retrieved after the missile plunged into the Atlantic, and was flown to the Pentagon.

Frosh Orientation Plans Completed

Plans for the orientation program for new freshmen and transfer students entering SUI next semester are now complete, said Tom Oblinger A3, Grand Junction, head of the 1959 orientation committee, Friday.

Oblinger said orientation would begin Monday, Feb. 9 with a short meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Shambaugh Auditorium after which the new students will divide up into ten small groups for visits to faculty homes. On Tuesday, Feb. 10 a mixer for the new group has been planned at the Iowa Memorial Union, he said.

Approximately 150 new students are expected next semester, said Oblinger. Twenty upperclass students and ten freshmen orientation leaders have been chosen to introduce the new group to SUI and campus life, he said.

He said that since 18-year-olds are given other responsibilities, such as that of military service, they also should be allowed to vote.

Stuck To Her Job — This Babysitter Sat And Sat And Sat

By DOROTHY LEWIS
St. Paul Dispatch Writer

This is a true story. Only the names have been omitted to protect the injured.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — This is the story of a babysitter who really stuck to her job—and sat, and sat, and sat—far beyond the actual call of duty.

She was hired by a young couple in the Minneapolis suburb of Edina to watch their children while the couple attended a party. In giving instructions to the 16-year-old sitter the lady of the house forgot one thing—that she had sprayed some of the bathroom equipment with a white plastic paint, the kind that "won't rub off, peel, chip or blister. It stays on."

Early in the evening the babysitter visited the bathroom. And when the young couple returned at 3 a.m. they found the perplexed, red-eyed sitter still sitting there.

First the mother tried turpentine in an effort to unseat the unhappy girl, but she became convinced the paint was 100 per cent as advertised.

Then she had her husband call the family doctor, who came to the house at 4 a.m. He applied alcohol with no results.

"But," he assured the sitter cheerfully, "we'll find a way."

As the doctor was trying to figure one out he tripped over the sitter's foot, fell headlong against the bathtub and knocked himself cold.

The young husband hastily called the emergency station at the hospital and within minutes an ambulance was on the way.

The driver and attendant scooped up the doctor, who suffered a concussion. Then, with a hearty "alloy-ooop" the ambulance crew tore the sitter from her sitting place and trundled her and the doctor to the hospital.

Both have recovered. Attorneys later drew up two lawsuits against the young couple — one for the sitter and one for the doctor. But the suits will never be filed, an insurance company executive said Friday. They will be settled out of court.

"We'd love the advertising we would get," the insurance man said. "But our concern for the parties involved is stronger. "It's just too embarrassing all around."

IN THEIR HANDS WERE THE LIVES of the former Cuban Army leaders who were tried in Havana Thursday and Friday. The 3-way tribunal who heard the trial and pronounced sentence of death for Jesus Sosa Blanco (the first defendant) are, from left, Maj. Raul Chibas, Maj. Humberto Sori Marin, the prosecutor and now minister of agriculture and judge advocate of the revolutionary army; and Maj. Universo Sanchez.

New Group To Examine Gov't Spending

Will Determine Effect On Cost-Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday ordered a fresh look at the Government's financial operations as they affect the national economy.

In what was billed as an anti-inflation step, he set up a special workhorse committee to pull together in one study all federal activities affecting prices and costs to determine their over-all impact on the economy.

"We need to make sure that we are not contributing to the nation's inflationary problems by the way in which we run our own Government business," Mr. Eisenhower's statement said.

Other Developments

As the President acted, there were these other developments:

1. The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a two-tenths of one per cent drop in living costs last month, the first decline since August. The department also reported that factory worker earnings rose to a new high in December.

2. The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee opened a series of public hearings on inflation. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican floor leader, said he feared the subcommittee took a political excursion in its inquiries last year but Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) disputed this. Kefauver said he felt the subcommittee's work "has been something of a brake on inflation."

3. Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), presiding over Senate Banking Committee hearings on new housing legislation, predicted Congress will pass a broader and more costly bill than Mr. Eisenhower wants before the end of February.

Mr. Eisenhower has asked that federal spending be held down to help keep the budget in balance.

Limited Mechanisms

In setting up his new study committee Mr. Eisenhower said: "Although the Government has many programs that affect prices and costs — including, of course, procurement — there is no central mechanism for following their current operations to see whether they are being conducted, insofar as possible, in line with the need for reasonable stability of prices and costs."

As head of the committee Mr. Eisenhower designated the man who suggested it — Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of his Economic Advisory Council.

To serve with him Saulnier wants officials who are thoroughly familiar with the day-to-day fiscal operations of their departments and agencies.

Mr. Eisenhower directed that representatives be named to the committee from these departments and agencies: Defense, Post Office, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce, Budget Bureau, General Services Administration, Atomic Energy Commission, Federal Aviation Agency, and Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

Origin of the fire and the total loss were not immediately determined.

Nab 4 Men, Dice, Pistols, Near Library

Iowa City and Coralville police arrested four men early Friday morning near the SUI Library, with guns, ammunition and a case of loaded dice in their car.

The arrest came after police were alerted by Cedar Rapids authorities to be on the lookout for the men. Cedar Rapids detectives told police the men argued with patrons and employees of the Oasis Tavern in Cedar Rapids and drew guns threatening to kill some of the patrons.

The men are: Milton D. Batchelder, 26, and Lloyd M. Conley, 28, both of Peoria, Ill.; Malcolm H. O'Bannon, 29, of Hammond, Ind.; and Lester E. Worden, 25, of Cedar Rapids.

They are being held in Cedar Rapids under charges of possession of gambling devices and going armed with intent, said Captain Gale Long of the Cedar Rapids police.

He said each of the men was being held under bond of $3,250.

Cedar Rapids police relayed a description of the car after the men left a gas station in Cedar Rapids without paying. Coralville marshal Earl McClure was the first officer to spot the car. He notified Iowa City police and the car was intercepted near the library.

Police reported they found a suitcase of various colored dice loaded for different numbers, three revolvers, a pistol and 26 boxes of revolver ammunition in the car.

Despite their formidable arsenal, the men were taken without resistance, police said.

Cedar Rapids detectives took the men back to Cedar Rapids at 5 a.m. The four men had a total of $500 in their possession.

Cedar Rapids Police said late Friday they were still checking to see if any of the men were wanted for crimes elsewhere.

60 Policemen To Attend SUI Accident Course

About 60 Iowa law enforcement men will begin a 1-week course in accident investigation Monday at SUI, according to Richard L. Holcomb, chief of the bureau of public science at the Institute of Public Affairs.

The police officers, sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and highway patrolmen will study technical and legal aspects of accident investigation ranging from analyzing the accident scene to the vehicles to presenting the case in court, Holcomb explained.

Russell Brown, acting state commissioner of public safety, will speak to the group Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. on "The Attack on the Accident Problem." Shelby Gallien, director of the Purdue University Public Safety Institute, will lecture to the group Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Other instructors who will participate in the course include: Sgt. Fred Lewis, Iowa City Police Department; Capt. Leonard Sims, Iowa Highway Safety Patrol; Sgt. Henry Overman, Cedar Rapids Police Department; Dr. J. A. Buckwalter, SUI Department of Surgery; Chief Jesse Hunter, Cedar Rapids Fire Department; Lieut. James Clapp, Iowa Highway Safety Patrol, and William Meardon, Iowa City attorney.

Living Costs Drop—But Only By .02%

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs went down and factory worker earnings went up in December. The Labor Department reported both developments Friday. Its index of living costs declined two-tenths of one per cent—the first dip since August.

Earnings of factory workers after taxes rose to a record high averaging $79.60 a week for the head of a family of four and $72.10 for a single worker. This was up $1.20 from November and $4.30 from a year earlier.

The living cost index declined to 123.7, meaning that it now costs about $1.24 to buy what $1 could get in the 1947-49 era. The index for December 1958 is 1.7 per cent higher than December 1957.

Because the living cost index has actually moved very little for many months, no wage change is due some 700,000 workers in the electrical, aircraft and other industries whose pay rates were subject to adjustment according to the December index.

The living cost index reached a peak of 123.9 last July. It edged down to 123.7 in August and stayed there in September and October. It moved back to 123.9 in November and down to 123.7 in December.

Housewives may not have noticed it much, but food prices have declined steadily for five straight months. They average 2.2 per cent higher than a year earlier, but have dropped 2.5 per cent since July.

Conductor Dixon Praised For Concert In Greece

Reviews given James Dixon's appearances as guest conductor of the National Orchestra of Greece during his trip abroad over the Christmas holidays describe the SUI musician's abilities in highly favorable terms.

The conductor of the SUI Symphony Orchestra conducted the National Orchestra of Greece for the third time on his recent vacation in Athens, having been invited to appear with the group in July, 1956, and again last summer.

In the December concert, Dixon conducted the National Orchestra in a program which included Weber's "Freischütz Overture," Tchaikovsky's "Violin Concerto in D Major" and the premiere performance of Kabelevsky's "Symphony No. 4."

In reviewing the program, the newspaper Vima said: "Our guest conductor, Mr. James Dixon, is one of the most distinguished conductors of the younger generation in America—he is characterized by a well-studied technique and a clear, definitive conception of the performed works as well as a steadiness of tempo and colorful placing of dynamic shading."

The Apoghevmatini stated that the "American James Dixon possesses the essential qualities of a conductor... particularly are the definite movements (of the Kabelevsky work) enhanced by the sensitive element of the symphonic idea."

Dixon has been conductor of the SUI Symphony Orchestra since 1954. While in military service, he conducted the Seventh Army Symphony Orchestra in Germany, for which he was later awarded the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Medal.

Concert Will End Iowa Band Clinic

A concert by the Davenport All-City Junior High Band, directed by Waldie Anderson, will be given at 2 p.m. today as the final program of the second Iowa Band Clinic held at the SUI Ionia.

A percussion clinic will follow from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m. under the supervision of Thomas L. Davis, assistant SUI band director and director of percussion instruments.

To Exhibit SUI Art In Colorado

A collection of drawings from the SUI Art Department will be sent to the University of Colorado in Boulder for showing. The drawings will be on display there for several weeks during February and will then travel to other colleges.

Many of the artists and drawings were represented in the exhibition of drawings held on the SUI campus in December.

The work of David Amland, a graduate student in art, and Frank Sampson, who received a degree from SUI last year, will be featured in the collection.

Other students whose drawings will be shown are: Richard Hicks, G. Detroit, Mich.; Gay Turner, G. Waco, Tex.; Marsha Neuman, G. Columbus, Ohio; Bonnie Rasmussen, G. Brentwood, Mo.; Cynthia Munro, G. Indianapolis, Ind.; Donn Moulton, G. Ravenna, O.

Gunther Can Pass 1,000-Point Mark Today

NU's Warren Sidelined By Foot Injury

against Iowa, but was held to a season's low of five against Minnesota Monday.
Nick Mantis, a dead-eye 6'3" guard, is second to Ruklick in scoring with a 16-point average and is the team's No. 1 shooter with a .489 percentage. Jumping-jack forward Willie Jones is the No. 3 scorer with a 12.7 average and ranks second in rebounds with 11.6. Ruklick paces the Cats in the rebound department with 17.3 grabs to his credit.

Campbell Remembered

Also expected to be in the starting lineup for Northwestern are 6'1" guard Floyd Campbell and 6'3" forward Brad Snyder. Campbell whose average is 6.4 in ten games, may be remembered by local fans as the man who shot twice here a year ago and beat the Hawks. His late fielder sent the game into overtime and he beat the gun again in the extra period with a fielder as Iowa bowed, 82-80. The Hawks won at Northwestern last season, 86-78.

Snyder has just broken into the starting lineup since the loss of veteran Phil Warren at that position. Warren had averaged 12.4 points per game, but has been out of action since the Iowa game with a broken bone in his left foot. He is reported lost to the team for at least two more weeks.
Iowa will again be spotting its opponent two inches per man, but the presence of diminutive guards Mike Heitman, 5'8" and Bobby Washington, 5'10" is expected to make up for the deficit in the height department.

Heitman and Washington are averaging 7.1 and 6.1 points a game, respectively, but excel in the defensive and ball handling phases of the game. Both are also fine outside shooters.

Spotlight On Gunther

Today should be the day, though, that the spotlight focuses on forward Dave Gunther. The 6'5" co-captain is only seven points away from the magic 1,000 point mark and on the basis of his 23.9 scoring clip up to this game, should surpass that mark by halftime.

Only two other Hawkeyes, Chuck Darling who was graduated in 1952 and Bill Logan who was graduated in 1956, have gone over that mark. Logan's record of 1,188 points is in jeopardy as Gunther is only 195 short of that total.

Dave Gunther
Ace Iowa Forward

Gunther is also Iowa's top rebounder with 14.0 and top shooter with a .437 percentage.

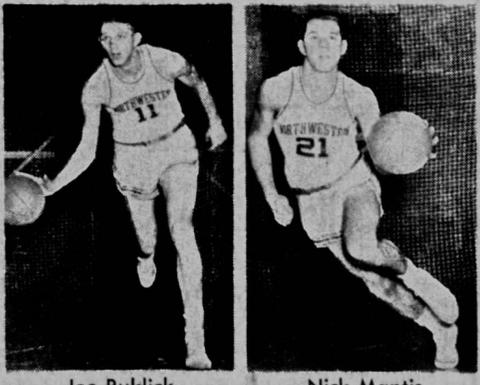

Wordlaw, Gunther Tied

Teaming with Gunther at forward will be second-high scorer Clarence Wordlaw. The 6'3" senior is currently tied for third in the conference scoring race with Gunther with a 21.3 average. Wordlaw's all-game average is 12.5 points.

Rounding out the probable starting lineup for the Hawks will be 6'7" defensive specialist, Nolden Gentry. Second in rebounding on the team with 13.5, Gentry has added an average of 11.5 points to the Iowa total per game.

Guard Ron Zagar, who has chipped in 24 points the last two games in relief duties, is slated for action today by Scheuerman with center Frank Mundt, forward George Seaberg and guards Earl Nau and Bob Carpenter also likely to be in the thick of things before the contest is completed.

Today's fray will be the 72nd basketball meeting between the two schools dating back to 1915 with Iowa holding the upper hand, 38-33.

Williams Signs '59 Pact For Upwards Of $125,000

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's fabulous Ted Williams renewed baseball's richest contract Friday by signing with the Red Sox for upwards of $125,000 for the 1959 season.

The 40-year-old slugger signed the one-year agreement during a 25-minute meeting with newly appointed General Manager Bucky Harris and Joe Cronin, who is moving from the GM's job to the presidency of the American League.

"I bet Bucky hopes he never has any more trouble signing other players than that," Ted quipped while posing for photographers.

As usual, everybody was happy and smiling during Williams' annual mid-winter visit to the Red Sox front office. But all wanted to duck the subject of money.

Asked if he had anything to say about the size of the contract, Williams said:

"We haven't for 20 years, so why start now?"

Then, looking over the baseball writers and obviously recalling his many feuds with some, Ted laughed and cracked:

"To bad we can't announce it was a cut, huh?"

Although there was official silence, the best guesses were that the great outfielder would receive $125,000. However, some estimates went as high as $135,000.

Williams signed his first contract with the Red Sox as a gangling kid in 1938. He was farmed out to Minneapolis that season, but returned to the Red Sox the next year to stay.

Although it was only his 19th pact, Ted becomes a 20-year man in the American League May 30 as his tours as a Marine flyer in World War II and the Korean conflict are included as playing time.

Commissioner Bert Bell announced that the owners would study pension proposals made by the players association and then meet for further consideration of the subject April 23 in Chicago.

Other accomplishments during the 2½ day meeting were completion of the college player draft, a ruling prohibiting players from appearing in non-league sanctioned and postseason games, and renewal of the Chicago Bears-Chicago Cardinals territorial agreement.

Most of the meeting might be described in one word — negative. Eleven proposed rule changes were either defeated or withdrawn and of the many constitutional amendments presented only two gained approval. Bell said that the owners apparently are satisfied with the league as is since they passed fewer amendments at this meeting than any other.

Indiana's swimming coach Jim Consilma recently coached the East All-Star swimming team to a 218½-142½ victory over the All-West team in the National Aquatics Forum meet in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Allen's Hawkeyes will be swimming for their second victory of the season. The season record is now 1-1, with the victory coming over Wisconsin two weeks ago in Madison.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The player pension issue was put off until April and the player draft reduced from 30 to 20 rounds Friday as National Football League owners wound up their annual winter meeting.

Blaik Reveals How Army End Knew Signals

NEW YORK (AP)—Army's lonely end offense did more to put the foot back in football than widening the goal posts, even though the formation wasn't used in kicking.

Earl (Red) Blaik, Army's retiring coach who devised the formation, finally revealed the secret Thursday night of how signals were transmitted to an end who remained away from the huddle. The signals were given by the quarterback's feet.

Blaik also told the Touchdown Club of New York that he didn't think the possibilities of this formation had been touched.

In the lonely end formation, one end — usually Bill Carpenter — was stationed 15 yards off to one side and never went near the huddle. One of the season's biggest mysteries was how he received the quarterback's signals.

It was simple, Blaik explained. He watched quarterback Joe Caldwell's feet.

"When Caldwell lined up facing our huddle he would place his feet in different positions that would tell the story to Carpenter," Blaik said.

After getting the signal, Carpenter would flash back a hand signal to indicate what course he would take going downfield.

4 In A Row For Hawkeyes — Matmen Beat Gophers, 19-8

By GEORGE KAMPLING
Staff Writer

The Iowa wrestling team Friday night made it four dual meet victories in a row by defeating Minnesota in the Fieldhouse, 19-8.

The Hawkeye squad won five of the eight matches, and earned a draw in another. Gordon Trapp, Iowa heavyweight, won his second straight match, by pinning Minnesota's Don Mrochinski in 5:11 for the only fall of the night.

Larry Moser led off the evening's activities with a 3-2 decision over the Gophers' Ron Andrews in the 123-pound class. This continues Moser's victory string, and gives him a record of 4-0 for the season.

Gene Luttrell ran his record to 4-0. The Big Ten 137-pound champion defeated Charles Coffee, 5-3.

Also remaining unbeaten was the Hawkeyes' Bob Riehm. Riehm fought to a 1-1 draw, his third of the year, against Minnesota's unbeaten Bill Koehn. His record is now 1-0-3.

In the feature match of the night, Jim Craig of Iowa, defeated Minnesota's Bill Wright, 4-0. Both wrestlers were undefeated going into the match, and Craig, winning his fourth straight, gave Wright, former Waterloo star, his first defeat in five meets.

The next meet for the Hawkeye grapplers will be Wednesday against the Wisconsin Badgers at Madison.

Raft Tries Promoting
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor George Raft said Friday he's trying to arrange a light heavyweight title fight between Archie Moore and Sugar Ray Robinson.

"I talked to Robinson and Jack Kearns (Moore's manager) on the telephone today and the fight looks promising," the actor said.

The fight is still in the dickering stage, Raft said, but he added that he has plenty of financial backing from "business associates" in Miami.

Members of the nationally famous bowling team are "Buzz" Fazio, Steve Nagy, Billy Welu, Jimmy Schroeder, Carl Richard, Harry Smith, and "Woody" Hulsey. The visiting keggers will split up for afternoon clinics and then regroup for an evening 3-game match against a local team — soon to be named by Bob Huff of the Coral Lanes, 306 1st Ave., Coralville. Starting time for the match is 9 p.m.

Fazio, captain of the runners-up in the 1958-59 BPAA team match game competition in Detroit, will pair with Schroeder to present a 2 p.m. bowling clinic at the Coral Lanes. Schroeder is the newest addition to Falstaff Brewing Corporation's championship team.

Welu, the 1959 national match-game champion will team with Harry Smith to conduct an afternoon clinic at Bob Jeeter's Plummer Lanes, 225 E. Washington, in Iowa City. Starting time is 2 p.m. Smith, who has 21 perfect games in his career, finished sixth in the 1959 All-Star Tournament.

Several other Hoosier varsity members are sophomores, including Bill Barton, Dick Beaver, Gene Adler and Ken Peters. The Hoosiers 400-yard freestyle relay team, that turned in a top performance in the Big Ten Relays earlier this year, is composed of Trent Toensing, Dick Kennedy, Les Nakamura, and Peters.

Indiana's swimming coach Jim Consilma recently coached the East All-Star swimming team to a 218½-142½ victory over the All-West team in the National Aquatics Forum meet in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

BAUER SIGNS
New York (AP)—Hank Bauer, slugging 36-year-old outfielder, Friday became the first member of the World Champion New York Yankees to sign for 1959. Bauer said he received a slight increase. This put his salary at about $25,000. He batted .268 with 12 home runs and 50 runs batted in last season.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The player pension issue was put off until April and the player draft reduced from 30 to 20 rounds Friday as National Football League owners wound up their annual winter meeting.

Commissioner Bert Bell announced that the owners would study pension proposals made by the players association and then meet for further consideration of the subject April 23 in Chicago.

Other accomplishments during the 2½ day meeting were completion of the college player draft, a ruling prohibiting players from appearing in non-league sanctioned and postseason games, and renewal of the Chicago Bears-Chicago Cardinals territorial agreement.

Most of the meeting might be described in one word — negative. Eleven proposed rule changes were either defeated or withdrawn and of the many constitutional amendments presented only two gained approval. Bell said that the owners apparently are satisfied with the league as is since they passed fewer amendments at this meeting than any other.

Iowa Tankers Face Indiana In Dual Meet Here Monday

By DICK STUART, Staff Writer

A fast developing Iowa swimming team will host Big Ten rival, Indiana, in a dual meet Monday afternoon in the Fieldhouse pool.

The meet is scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Iowa's splashers will be led by Gary Morris, who set two records last week in the Hawks' 63-42 defeat by Michigan State. Morris has gone undefeated in four races this season, and last week turned in a 22.3 timing in the 50-yard freestyle race, and won the 100-yard freestyle event in 50 seconds flat. Both times were new Iowa records.

Coach Bob Allen's 400-yard freestyle relay team, composed of Bill Claerhout, Jim Davidson, Jim Coles, and Morris, also set a record last week, with a time of 3:27.2, and will be favored against the young Hoosiers.

The Hawks will also be heavy favorites in the diving events. Allen's two top divers, Estel Mills, and Jake Quick have finished one-two in both of the Hawks dual meets this season. Mills has taken both first places, and last week scored 198.9 points in the diving competition.

Co-captain Joel Jones, a senior from Clinton, has been a disappointment thus far this year, and is still looking for his first dual meet victory. He finished third in the 200-yard breaststroke against Michigan State.

Indiana has a large group of talented sophomores, including AAU backstroke champion Frank McKinney. McKinney will swim against the Hawks Coles and Larry Frueling, who finished second and third respectively against the Spartans.

Several other Hoosier varsity members are sophomores, including Bill Barton, Dick Beaver, Gene Adler and Ken Peters.
