'La Cantatrice Chauve' Premier

REACHING THE "ANIMALISTIC" point due to the breakdown of communication are M. Smith, Mme. Smith, Mme. Martin and M. Martin, characters in Ionesco's play "La Cantatrice chauve" (The Bald Soprano). They are, from left, Tom Case, G. Minneapolis, Minn.; Jessie Gillespie, associate professor of romance languages; Pat Pendleton, A1, Iowa City; and Doug Chalmers, A2, Dubuque. The play which is sponsored by the University French Club, will be presented today and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Shelter Theatre.—Daily Iowan Photo by Jo Moore.

Ionesco Play Premier In French Here

The premiere in this country of Eugene Ionesco's "La Cantatrice chauve" (The Bald Soprano) will be given in French today and Saturday. The play, directed by Ed Bell, is sponsored by the University French Club.

Bell said it is the first full French language production presented at SU since World War II.

Curtain time is at 8 p.m. in the Shelter Theatre, located north of the University Theatre.

In the English language version, "La Cantatrice chauve" is a current hit in New York where it has been playing to off-Broadway audiences for the past six months.

Tickets for the production are available in the French Office, Room 307, Schaeffer Hall, or at the theatre on performance nights. Tickets are 50 cents for members of the French Club and 75 cents for non-members.

According to Bell, the French Club decided to produce the play in order to bring to Iowa City the atmosphere of the French Theatre. Bell, a graduate assistant in the French Department, feels spoken French can best be taught through the medium of the theatre where there is movement and reaction with every word.

"The Chairs" Author

Theatre goers were acquainted formerly with the writing of Eugene Ionesco in the University Theatre's production of "The Chairs".

"La Cantatrice chauve" is Ionesco's only "purely comic" play, Bell said.

He said the play presents a moment of amazed discovery that we live in a world which appears illusory and fictitious; a world in which there is nothing really important; a world where human behavior reveals its absurdity, and all history is absolute uselessness. Bell said the play is in a most commonplace setting where the characters, due to their absurd human behavior, have a breakdown in their communication and thus they become animalistic; making no use of language or logic.

Stylized Production

Bell has carried out the play production in a highly stylized manner. The characters will be the same color from head to foot. This will be accomplished by costuming, lighting, hair dye and face makeup.

The cast with experience ranging from one-half semester of French to a lifetime are: La bonne (maid) — Nancy Hagglund, A3, Ottawa, Ill.; Le Pompier (fireman) — Jim Pugh, A3, Strawberry Point; M. Martin — Doug Chalmers, A2, Dubuque; M. Smith — Tom Case, G, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mme. Martin — Pat Pendleton, A1, Iowa City; Mme. Smith — Jessie Gillespie, assistant professor of romance languages.

Arnold Tells SUI Audience Man Fails To Conquer Self

By CORKEY STERLING
Staff Writer

"In conquering the physical world, man fails to conquer himself," Eberhard C. H. Arnold of the Society of Brothers said in a lecture Thursday night sponsored by the University Committee on Lectures and Vespers.

Arnold said that technology in itself is not wrong, but the modern development of it has the following frightening aspects: man has the physical power to destroy himself, man is in danger of losing his true nature by becoming a machine, and man is developing a belief that technology will redeem him.

Vital Tie

"The right approach to science and technology from the standpoint of Christian ethics is a vital tie for modern man," Arnold said. He expressed the fear of man's self-destruction by saying, "If we go on in the same direction as we are now, we are heading for disaster."

Arnold said the human brain has devalued because of instruments like electrical computing machines. "When men begin to identify themselves with the machines, then there will be no more men on earth," he said. He said the West has now created a society which reflects machines. The bad thing about this is that science is advancing far beyond the comprehension of the people, Arnold said.

The belief that technology can redeem man and give him more a "satanic" element in the modern time to think and dream presents world because man creates an image of self-adoration of himself, Arnold said.

Technology Cannot Redeem

Arnold said the relationship of technology and ethics is that of differences. These included groups of men involved in the two fields, different laws ruling them, freedom in choices made and sin.

Science, he said, is controlled by a group of experts, but ethics must be controlled by all men, including the scientists.

The laws of science now exist,

Arnold said. Ethics involves goals in the future.

Arnold said the matter which scientists work with is not a free agent, but humans are free agents who can accept or reject; rebel or obey.

Complex Human Heart

"The hardest problems for the scientists are easy and elementary when compared to the human heart," Arnold said in pointing out differences in sin for the two groups.

Arnold's idea of the relationship of technology and ethics differ U.S. satellite expert who is from those of Werner von Braun, classmate of his in Germany. Arnold said Von Braun refers to the two fields as "sisters;" technology controlling the forces of nature around us and ethics controlling the forces of nature within us.

Atlas Explodes After Midnight Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A huge intercontinental Atlas Ballistic Missile blew up in the dark sky early today with a brilliant flash.

The 100-ton war rocket, the nation's first ICBM, made an apparently smooth start on what was to have been another 4,300 mile test.

But four minutes after it lifted off its flood-lit launching stand, the Atlas apparently burst apart in one of the most spectacular explosions ever seen at the Cape.

It was the first time an Atlas had exploded since one of the 80-foot weapons blew up last September 18 in the first attempt to send it the full intercontinental range.

"A malfunction occurred after separation of the booster engines," the Air Force said.

Officials said the launching was another in the Atlas research and development test flight program.

Spring Fashion Edition

A look at the newest in bridal fashions and the latest trends in male attire will be included in the 1959 Daily Iowan Fashion Edition, Donna Blaufuss, society editor said Thursday.

The issue which will appear on Thursday, March 12, will include almost a full page of bridal fashions. "Pink accents are very fashionable for spring brides this year," Miss Blaufuss said.

The new Continental line that has led to major revisions in the male department will be featured. Illustrations to show how the new line differs from the Ivy League and the older Ambassador line will be included.

Other features will show the latest hair styles, the conflicting fashions designed by the top world fashion experts, and the colorful array of jewelry and leather accessories available.

"Men might be interested in the new styles that include feontier pockets and no cuffs on their trousers," Miss Blaufuss explained. "They're sports shirts are much louder this year too."

Local students will model the clothes that will be illustrated in the issue. According to Miss Blaufuss, all of the fashions included in this edition will be shown in the local stores.

Copies of this special Daily Iowan edition will be sent to the regular subscribers, and other copies may be purchased at the local newsstands.

Roberson, Whitney Named Year's Outstanding Greeks

Climax 6-Day Greek Week With Varieties

Heads Of Delta Gamma, Delta Chi Chosen

Nancy Roberson, A4, Iowa City, and Bill Whitney, A4, Aurelia, were named Outstanding Greek Woman and Man of the year Thursday night during the intermission of "Greeks in the Spotlight", Greek-Week variety show in Macbride Auditorium.

Miss Roberson is president of Delta Gamma sorority, was president of her pledge class, and has served the sorority in other offices and activities. She has been President of YWCA, treasurer of Home Economics Club, secretary of the Old Gold Days University committee and a member of the Old Gold Days Student Board. She was one of the SUI students who first formulated plans for the Old Gold Days program in the spring of 1957.

She is a Sunday School teacher, a member of the National Student Education Association, and received the Commons Dormitory Service Award in 1956. Her cumulative grade point is 2.49.

Whitney has served as president and pledge-class president of Delta Chi. He has been a member of the International Club, Omicron Delta Kappa, United Student Fellowship and Phi Alpha Mu.

Whitney has served as vice-president of Phi Eta Sigma and ward chairman of Young Republicans. He has earned a cumulative grade-point average of 3.55.

The evening's activities climaxed the 6-day Greek Week program, which got underway with a dance last Saturday.

Senate Committee Asks $6.2 Million For SUI Building

DES MOINES (AP)—A bill to provide the State Board of Regents with $16.2 million for new buildings and major improvements at state educational institutions was recommended for passage Thursday by the Senate Appropriations Committee. $6.2 million of this amount is to go to SUI.

That is more than $2 million above the $14.1 million Gov. Herschel Loveless had recommended the board be given for this purpose in the biennium starting next July 1.

Sen. W. C. Stuart (R-Chariton), chairman of the subcommittee handling appropriations for capital improvements said the bill would be introduced in the Senate today. The measure is the first of the major appropriations bills to reach the floor of either house.

The money for capital improvements will be taken from the so-called state "rainy day" fund of slightly over $20 million. A bill to wipe out the fund and transfer the money to the state general fund, was passed previously.

The appropriation would represent the lion's share of around $22 million the Legislature has announced will be voted for new buildings and improvements. Measures providing building funds for State Board of Control institutions and state lakes and parks haven't yet been drafted.

SUI Grades Being Mailed

Fall semester grades are being mailed to all students, according to Donald Rhoades, associate director of admissions.

Art Vs. Nudity Row Roils Broadway Troupe

NEW YORK (AP)—Can nudity claim diplomatic immunity?

That, said impresario Luben Vichey Thursday, is what he intends to find out. Vichey, along with assorted performers and aides, was busy expressing artistic indignation at a city ban on some bare bosom dancing in "Les Ballets Africains."

The show opened on Broadway Monday amid critical raves. The cover-up edict was issued Wednesday by License Commissioner Bernard O'Connell.

The order was directed against three girls, bare above the midriff, who are featured in four folk dances among the show's 25 scenes. Critics commented on the nonlascivious nature of their performance.

"This is a cultural exchange program, sent here under sponsorship of the African nation of Guinea," declared Vichey. He said he expects a diplomatic protest to be sent by Guinea to the U.S. State Department.

There's even a possibility, he continued, that the United Nations may get involved.

"Tomorrow the Guinean flag will be raised at the U.N. for the first time. Members of our ballet company have been invited and we are going to have the girls dressed as they cannot be dressed on the stage of the Martin Beck Theater."

The headquarters of the U.N. is a diplomatic enclave, outside the police regulations of the city.

The cause of the rumpus is simple, said Vichey, who as president of National Artists Corp., is usually concerned with the tours of such talents as James Melton, Mischa Elman and the Vienna Philharmonic. It is a matter of honestly showing another culture.

"I'm sure if O'Connell saw the show himself he wouldn't object," he declared. "It never was my intention for a moment to do a striptease show. When I was a child in school I saw many African culture films with similar undress."

Putting on brassieres, he added, is very inhibiting to the three girls affected. Seven other distaff performers and 19 male members of the troupe were not involved in the more-clothes order.

The African company has previously traveled without censoring across Europe and South America.

"Even in Boston and Philadelphia no one complained," the manager commented.

The license commissioner himself had no comment. His office simply said the ban was issued, after complaints were received, in accordance with a city law which prohibits total anatomical displays.

Jazz Will Reign At Peiffer Concert

Jazz will reign at the Bernard Peiffer concert to be presented in Macbride Auditorium at 8 p.m. tonight. Central Party Committee is sponsoring the program.

Peiffer, a French jazz pianist, and his trio are stopping at SUI on their first tour of the U.S. He has made appearances at Birdland, the Embers and The Composer in New York, and clubs in Washington, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Tickets are still available for the concert and can be obtained from the Information Desk of the Iowa Memorial Union for $1.75.

To Crown IFPC Queen Tonight

The Interfraternity Pledge Council (IFPC) will present its annual dance tonight from 8 to midnight at the Big Ranch.

IFPC Queen will be crowned during the intermission. The finalists are Carol Johnson, N1, Clinton; Carole Randall, A1, Ottumwa; Mary Ann Sheahan, A1, Highland Park, Ill.; and Marlene Yount, A1, Aurora, Ill.

The final selection of the queen was made by a board of three judges of non-student members Thursday afternoon.

Students May File For SUI Elections Now

Candidates for office in the all campus elections may begin filing their applications today, said Larry Krueger, C3, Elections Committee chairman. All campus elections this year will be held on March 18, said Krueger. Deadline for filing applications is 4:30 p.m. March 6.

As usual, some Student Council members, officers of several campus organizations, Liberal Arts senior class officers, and members of the Board of Student Publications, Inc. will be elected, he said.

Application forms will be available from Feb. 20 through March 6, Krueger said. He said all candidates this year must fill out an information sheet in addition to the application. The information sheets may be obtained at the Student Council office in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Krueger gave the following instructions on filing procedures.

Candidates for the Student Council positions filled in the general elections must pick up and file their applications in the Council office. Only those running to be Married Student representatives, Town Men representatives, and Town Women representatives will be on the ballot. All other Council members are chosen by their housing units. Medical students who wish to apply for the council position may pick up their application forms in the office of the dean of the college of medicine, but must file at the council office.

Candidates for three student memberships on the Board of Student trustees on the board are elected Publications, Inc. may get applications and file them in the office of the School of Journalism. Each year, three of the five students and one for a 1-year term. Officers for the Associated Women Students, the Y.W.C.A., and Women's Recreation Association will be on the general elections ballot. These candidates must be sure they are listed at the Student Council office.

Candidates for Liberal Arts senior class officers will also file their application forms at the Council office.

Campaigning may begin no sooner than March 9, he said, and the elections will be held on March 18, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

SUI Sorority Rush Activities Begin Saturday

Sorority rush activities for this semester will begin Saturday at 9:30 a.m. with the series of merry-go-round parties at all 13 houses.

The rushees will be divided into groups and will visit for 30 minutes at each house.

Sunday parties will begin at 1:15 p.m., each house giving two 45 minute events.

There will be no rush activities on Monday, and Tuesday will be preference night. Each house will give two hour long parties.

At 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, the rushees will receive invitations to pledge and will go to the respective houses for the pledging ceremony.

No Date Set To Sentence Ex-Teamster

Evaded $240,000 Federal Income Tax

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Dave Beck, millionaire ex-president of the giant Teamsters' Union, was found guilty by a federal court jury Thursday of evading $240,000 in income taxes.

Beck was remanded to the custody of a U.S. marshal and taken to jail soon after the jury announced its verdict at 3 p.m. Beck's attorneys immediately announced they would appeal, but said their client probably would have to spend the night in jail while an appeal bond is being arranged.

No Date For Sentencing

U.S. Dist. Court Judge George Boldt did not set a date for sentencing.

Beck, 64, could be sentenced to 30 years in prison and fined $60,000.

He was convicted on all six counts of tax evasion in two Government indictments. Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment or a $10,000 fine or both.

The portly Beck was eating a sandwich in his hotel room when notified the jury had reached a verdict. He arrived at the courtroom within 10 minutes and waited impassively.

When the verdict was read Beck paled visibly, but otherwise gave no sign of emotion.

The jury of eight men and four women received the case Wednesday at 1:22 p.m.

No Serious Disagreement

Jury foreman Warren Hale of Tacoma said the jurors were never in serious disagreement and took only 10 or 12 ballots.

Beck's chief counsel, Charles Burdell, had wound up the defense in about one hour. The Government had taken 57 days and presented 115 witnesses.

Beck never took the stand. "I told him the Government didn't have a case, so to heck with it—let's wrap it up," Burdell said after resting the case.

After the verdict, Burdell said he was surprised. "I will appeal on the issue of what constitutes taxable income, plus other issues," he said.

A Million Dollars

The Government contended Beck "swelled the coffers" of the Teamsters' Union while "about a million dollars stuck to his avaricious hands." The evasions, the Government charged, covered 1950-53.

The defense claimed Beck borrowed the money and therefore the funds were not taxable.

Judge Boldt had instructed the jury it could convict Beck if it found he willfully converted union expense money to his personal use; misappropriated union funds for his own benefit, knew he owed income taxes "substantially greater" than he paid, or willfully tried to defraud the Government by filing false tax returns.

Beck is already under sentence of not more than 15 years in the Washington State Penitentiary for conviction on a grand larceny charge in which he was accused of keeping $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned Cadillac. He has appealed.

Book Exchange Closes Today

Today is the last day to pick up money and books not sold at the Student Council Book Exchange, according to exchange chairman, Stan Schindler.

Books and money can be picked up in Room 21, Schaeffer Hall between 9 and 12 a.m. and 1 and 4:45 p.m.

Persons will have to petition Student Council in order to get the books and money after today. This will involve a lot of time, Schindler said.

The Daily Iowan is written and edited by students and is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the University. The Daily Iowan's editorial policy, therefore, is not an expression of SUI administration policy or opinion, in any particular.

Campus Wheels Go 'Round

BETTY: I'm a candidate for president of the Pep-Em-Up Club and I've got a pretty good chance to get the office.

JANE: Gee, that's quite a deal. We can list it on our sorority page in the Hawkeye.

BETTY: You know, that makes seventeen activities I've been in during my three years at SUI. I'll bet that's about a record.

JANE: That tops me. I've only been in twelve.

MARTHA: How do you girls ever have time to do a good job on all these organizations. That's about six a year.

BETTY: Well, most of the groups don't do too much and some of them really aren't too important. The Pep-Em-Up Club only met twice last year. And the Student-University Coordination Committee never did get together. But they probably couldn't have done anything anyway. So it's no great loss.

MARTHA: Wouldn't it be better to be in a few less activities and try to do a better job.

BETTY: (Indignantly) Don't you want me to graduate? If I had to put in all that time on activity projects, I'd never be able to study enough to graduate.

JANE: Where are you going tonight?

BETTY: Oh, I met the cutest guy in geology (he helped me with my fossil) and I just had to have a date with him.

JANE: That's one every night this week, isn't it?

BETTY: Yes, but you have to keep circulating, you know. I'm a junior now. Martha, would you be a dear and fill out that official form for the president candidacy? It's just a formality. Fill in anything under platform; it doesn't really mean anything anyway.

MARTHA: Don't you have anything special you want put down?

BETTY: Oh, I haven't really thought about it. But, anyway, I've already talked to some of the members and I'm sure I've got enough of the votes to put me in. I'd hate to lose out; the activity would sure look good on my record.

Our Isolation Booth

Each Sunday afternoon CBS-TV airs a program on which 4-member panels from two U.S. universities compete to answer academic questions ranging from Newton's law to Eisenhower's cabinet.

The team scoring the most points during the questioning returns the following Sunday to match wits with another college team.

The Northwestern University foursome currently holds the "intelligence" record with four straight wins.

SUI has shown the nation its prowess in athletics and physics; here is an opportunity to give evidence of our accomplishments in the fields of literature, history, political science and many others.

We challenge the students at SUI to demonstrate the diversity of high-quality education in all areas at our university. Here is a chance to step out of the "isolation booth." Let's make the most of it.

National Defense Education Programs Hoped For At SUI

Applications Cover 6 Projects Including Student Loans;

Competition For Programs Is Keen Says Loehwing

SUI has made applications to take part in six projects covered by the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) of 1958, which authorizes almost $1 billion in federal aid for education over the next several years.

The six projects are student loans, National Defense Fellowships, Summer Institute in Guidance and Counseling, Summer Institute in Spanish and French, Chinese Language and Cultural Center, and research studies with educational films.

Although Congress has authorized the expenditure of about $1 billion, some of the NDEA projects are slow in getting started because the necessary appropriations measures have not been passed, according to Walter F. Loehwing, dean of the SUI graduate college.

Dean Loehwing, who is chairman of the University committee for NDEA projects, emphasizes that almost every college and university in the nation is bidding for the various programs and that many proposals are likely to be rejected.

The loan program will definitely begin at SUI this semester and at least two students will enter the fellowship program in the fall, but whether the other projects SUI is interested in will be accepted or rejected may not be known for several months.

Following is a description of the six programs SUI hopes to participate in under terms of the federal education act.

Student Loans

The University already has announced that SUI will receive $27,924 from the U.S. Office of Education for student loans during the spring semester. Additional funds will be granted for the summer session and the 1959-60 academic year.

When the final details of the loan program are complete, students will be notified when, where and how they can make applications, according to members of the University committee in charge of administering the loans at SUI.

Students will apply for the federal loans through the Office of Student Affairs and, according to provisions of the program, may borrow up to $1,000 a year for five years. The exact amount of each loan will depend upon the student's financial need.

To be eligible for a loan, a student must be able to show financial need, be capable of maintaining a good academic standing and be a full-time student. Full-time graduate students may also receive loans. Students selected to receive loans must have demonstrated above-average academic achievement.

Working on plans for the loan program are University Secretary Leonard W. Brecka; Dirck W. Brown, counselor to men; Howard B. Moffitt, student employment manager, and Helen E. Focht, counselor to women.

Fellowships

Under provisions of this section of the act, 1,000 fellowships will be awarded to first-year graduate students in the nation's colleges and universities during the 1959-60 academic year and 1,500 will be granted in each of the following three years.

Two fellowships for advanced work in the field of urban community studies already have been allocated to SUI from among the first 160 awarded to 48 colleges and universities. Funds for the additional 840 fellowships have not been appropriated.

The University will nominate two students for the urban community fellowship program, which will begin next fall under the direction of Professor Albert J. Reiss, Jr., director of the Iowa Urban Community Research Center at SUI.

To be open initially only to students working toward the doctor of philosophy degree, fellowships will carry stipends of $2,000 for the first year, $2,200 for the second, and $2,400 for the third year, plus $400 yearly for each dependent.

Fellowships will not be available in every field at SUI because the act specifies that awards will go only to students entering "new" or "expanding" graduate programs, according to Dean Loehwing, who is a member of a national advisory committee which is assisting in administering the fellowship program.

A "new" program will be one that a department has planned but has been unable to implement because of a lack of funds. An "expanded" program would involve an increase in enrollment, supported by an increase in the teaching staff or facilities.

Besides the urban community studies program, the University is seeking to obtain fellowships in five other areas—guidance and counseling, dramatic art, social psychology, geography, and speech pathology and audiology. The stipulation limiting fellowships to new or expanding programs was added to make graduate college education more widely available by giving more schools the opportunity to offer graduate programs. Out of about 1,350 degree-granting institutions in the United States, only about 160 give doctoral degrees and many of these have resources for only a few graduate students.

Aimed primarily at increasing the number of college teachers, it is hoped that the fellowship program will reverse the trend which has thinned the ranks of college teachers with doctor of philosophy degrees. In 1953-54, about one-third of the nation's new college teachers had a Ph.D. degree, while last year less than one-fourth held a Ph.D.

The federal funds an institution will receive under the program depends upon what share of the newness or the expansion of its graduate programs can reasonably be charged to each fellow granted an award.

Summer Institute In Guidance, Counseling

The University is seeking a contract with the government to operate an eight-week summer institute for the purpose of improving the qualifications of personnel engaged in counseling and guidance of students in secondary schools or of teachers preparing for such jobs.

Teachers or counselors selected for the institutes, the act specifies, will receive stipends of $75 a week during their attendance, plus $15 a week for each dependent.

The University will not know until late in March whether SUI has been approved for an institute in 1959, said Kenneth B. Hoyt, associate professor of education, who is working on plans for the SUI program. Nineteen of an expected 40 programs already have been approved by the government.

If the SUI institute is approved, students will apply for admission through the University. The program will offer a maximum of eight semester-hours of graduate credit.

It is estimated that Iowa's public secondary schools need an additional 700 full-time counselors. One full-time counselor for every 300 students is considered optimum. There are only 118 counselors who have had 30 semester-hours of specialized training and 144 teacher-counselors (who have had 15 semester-hours of graduate work) in the 694 public school districts in Iowa.

By increasing the number of trained counselors in the nation's schools, it is hoped that some of the thousands of talented students who now turn their backs on college careers can be persuaded to continue their education.

Summer Institute For Language Teachers

Professor Edmund de Chasca, chairman of the department of Romance languages at SUI, says an application has been made to establish an eight-week summer institute at SUI for elementary and secondary teachers of French and Spanish.

Whether SUI's program will be approved in time for a summer institute, in 1959 depends upon action taken by the government. Congress has only appropriated enough money for four institutes, but it is believed further allocations will be made soon for additional programs.

The language institute is similar to the guidance and counseling institute in that it will carry the same $75 a week stipend. The summer program will offer teachers a maximum of eight semester-hours of graduate credit.

If an SUI institute is approved, plans would be made to open a "Language House" to give the teachers an opportunity to "live" the language in informal association with one another and with members of the staff.

The government is especially interested in the language institutes because as our international contacts have multiplied, more and more of our high schools have been dropping foreign language courses. Thirty-five years ago, 27 per cent of all high school students were taking at least one foreign language; in 1955, less than 15 per cent were taking a foreign language.

Chinese Language And Cultural Center

If SUI is approved for a Chinese Language and Cultural Center, the present program in Chinese language and culture courses will be greatly expanded, according to Y.P. Mei, professor of Oriental studies at SUI.

This section of the act authorizes the government to pay up to one-half the cost of establishing and operating such centers, plus additional funds for sending staff

GEORGE DIXON - SUI Football Defended By Student Fan

Rep. Clarence E. Kilburn, of New York, refuses to let the stern call of duty go unheeded, even if it calls him to do battle against his own conscience. But he is beginning to feel that the clarion call for Kilburn to fight Kilburn is being sounded too often.

Last year, Rep. Kilburn was second ranking Republican on the House Banking and Currency Committee. The White House had a bill affecting the Small Business Administration it wanted pushed through Congress. The top-ranking Republican on the Committee was Henry O. Talle, of Iowa, which meant that it was Talle's duty to push the bill for the GOP. But at the critical hour the Iowan inconsiderately broke a leg.

This made Kilburn the ranking Republican, and put him in charge of the bill. He groaned in anguish, but couldn't drown out the call of duty. His pain was great because there were only five men in all the Congress of the United States opposed to the bill, and Kilburn was one of them.

The measure passed by odds of something like 100 to 1. Shortly thereafter the gallant Kilburn was assailed with shooting pains again because he received a letter from Wendell Barnes, head of the Small Business Administration, thanking him profusely for putting over the bill.

But this wasn't the last time our Congressional Casablanca was to suffer from Talle's lack of consideration. The Iowan thoughtlessly allowed himself to be beaten in the election, with the result that the New Yorker was exposed to calls from the Administration again.

Kilburn's latest summons from the White House was to push its bill for aid to depressed areas.

As if this wasn't enough anguish, he is now torn between conflicting legislation on bank mergers. One approach to this legislation calls for control over bank mergers to be vested jointly in the Federal Reserve System, Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., and Comptroller of the Currency; the other for control to be solely under the Department of Justice.

Kilburn is very strong for the former, but Attorney General William P. Rogers is equally strong for the latter. As a result Kilburn is being pulled three ways. He is torn by duty, conscience, and the fact that Attorney General Rogers is from his district. — King Features Syndicate.

Just Dig The Hole Deeper!

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost any married couple would feel right at home in the Senate these days.

For the senators are arguing over that desirable, elusive, often controversial commodity — money. Or, more precisely, the money in the federal budget.

One fact seems obvious: What with one thing and another, including wars both cold and hot, we have lived beyond our income.

As we husbands know, that's only the beginning. What — and who — got us into this mess? Was it the new dress for that stupid formal party? Was it the set of golf clubs? Was it the piano, added burden of piano lessons?

Except for the tears, that's been the story in the Senate. There have been speeches, speeches attacking speeches, statistics, statistics disproving statistics.

One thing is clear. No one wants to be identified as a free wheeler at the public trough, especially with an election coming up in 1960.

The two party leaders in the Senate have stressed this point. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.): "I want to save every little penny I can."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.): "I have learned from long, frugal experience that one must do with what he has."

With such penny pinchers, the question naturally arises: Who pinches hardest? The Republican administration? Or the Democratic-controlled Congress?

The fiscal situation of the government reminded Dirksen of a government make-work project.

"There was a huge hole in the street," Dirksen said. "When the work had been finished and the hole filled, there was a great mound of earth, which constituted a traffic hazard. The gentlemen wielding the shovels did not know what to do."

"Finally they held a conference on the curb. Someone said, 'I will tell you how to get rid of that mound of earth. We will just dig the hole deeper!'"

To the editor: Assistant Professor Bracken's treatise opposing big-time football was very interesting, adroitly stated, and was even rather bold, for few faculty members dare refute basic University policy—especially in the student newspapers. For all this, I hold Dr. Bracken in high esteem. However, lest we lose our heads and begin to slay the pigskin dragon I wish to take the very unique stand of defending big-time football at SUI.

True, the paramount purpose of a university is to educate and enlighten its students. I'm sure this is realized even by the football interests on campus. If players did not value the education they receive, they probably would stop beating out their brains for bare subsistence and play football where they could earn a decent living. Today's players are playing ball to get free education and the prestige which is earned on the field. If anything, they are underpaid.

Financial Grounds?

Can big-time football be attacked on financial grounds? Dr. Bracken says $12,000 was spent in one year for aid to athletes. This seems like a tremendous sum until one places it in proper relation to football income. The fact is the football supports not only itself, but virtually all other sports, including the many minor ones which could not operate alone—thus affording athletic opportunities for almost any student who wishes to take advantage of SUI facilities. After these expenses and others concerned with athletic operations, there are large sums left over for academic gifts. No, big-time football cannot be refuted on financial grounds.

What about values? In an attempt to support his thesis, Dr. Bracken says the value placed on football is too high in the University scale. The only place where football is placed on a higher value plane than academic endeavors is in the outside world, i.e., outside the university. Any student on this campus has no question in his mind that his personal education, his grades, and his personal development far outweigh his attention to football. The residents of the state are the ones who support big-time football; they are the ones who pay four dollars to see a game, and they are the ones who demand newspaper headlines when the Hawkeyes play. Dr. Bracken cites the recruiting system as a criterion to ascertain football's place on the University value scale. This point is invalid. Extensive and intensive recruiting is employed simply to bring to SUI the best talent available.

On The Offense So much for defending football from Dr. Bracken's attack. Now how about my offense? What does football do to earn its popularity? Football, and all its ramifications, lends to this campus a spark of life, a rush of enthusiasm, and a sense of unity and pride which no other institution has done. SUI has a wonderful medical center, a fine liberal arts school with superior talent, and many, many more academic assets. However, outside of Iowa—and perhaps the Midwest—these are not generally known. The general conception of Iowa in the East has been "that cow college—one of those big Western schools." That was true only until the past few seasons. Now Iowa is known as a university capable of championship. The pride can be noticed in the students on this campus. Their pride is not hollow, not false or meaningless. It is real, and it gives the student something an esthetic group of Ph. D.'s cannot. The contribution of the professors is far greater, of course, but football fills an entirely different need.

Entertainment? Call it entertainment if you wish; but if you do, call the Olympic Games mere entertainment, also. But every autumn Saturday afternoon, students in the stands are fully identifying with Willie Fleming as he outruns the opposition. No, it is not merely entertainment. It is a thrilling vicarious experience not available too often in the real world.

Football has earned its place on the SUI campus. It is here to stay. It is not an imposition on university life, but an integral part of it. I like it.

This 'N That

The weather has been so cold lately that local residents have been bringing their brass monkeys inside, so let get our mind off the cold and talk about something which goes hand-in-hand with warm weather — baseball.

In less than two months, April 9 to be exact, Pittsburgh will be at Cincinnati in the National League and Baltimore at Washington in the American, and the 1959 season will be underway.

Yankees Favored

Once again, the Yankees have the junior loop sacked up. If George Weiss, New York general manager, can get his boys into the fold by August, the World Champions won't have any more trouble winning their 10th pennant in 11 years than they did last year.

An interesting thing is happening in Yankee land this winter. Weiss is asking most of his champs to take pay cuts. An unheard of event for a champion and especially the Yankees.

When infielder Gil McDougald was offered his 1959 pact at less than he played for in 1958, he cried, "Who won the Series, the Braves?"

To which Weiss could have answered, "No Gil, Bob Turley won the Series." The fireballing right-hander whose slants completely baffled the National League got an increase in salary, and he deserved it.

Several Not Signed

Guys like Mickey Mantle, Bill Skowron, McDougald and Whitey Ford have not come to terms yet, but they will. And probably closer to the figure named by Weiss.

With the exception of Turley, Ryne Duren, Elston Howard and Norm Siebern, the latter offensively and hot defensively, none of the pin-striped terrors were very impressive in '58.

Michigan apparently didn't think the wrestling loss to Iowa here Saturday was exactly on the up and up. The following is from the Michigan Daily.

"A couple of referee's decisions termed 'unfortunate' by Michigan coaches in the evening's two matches, plus disappointing performances by some Wolverine matmen, turned the tide for Iowa.

Not According To Hoyle

"Iowa's Bob (his name is Larry) Moser, runner-up at 123 in last year's Big Ten meet, edged Mike Hoyle, 3-1. But the outcome might have been different had the referee awarded Hoyle credit for an apparent escape that would have made the score 2-2 at the time and which might have affected subsequent events in the match.

"Heavyweight Fred Olm, leading Gary Grouwinkel (it was Gordon Trapp and not Grouwinkel) 3-2 in the second period, was reversed twice in the latter stages, and lost a 5-3 verdict. Olm, bothered by an infection during the week, was not in top shape for last night's meet."

Very objective reporting of an athletic event, wouldn't you say?

Another Michigan Daily article on the Michigan swimming team beating the Iowa swimmers spoke of Hawkeye sophomore Bill Claerhout as "probably a star in the 'Con League'" but not good enough to compare to Michigan standards.

Those newspaper folks up there in Ann Arbor are being just a little too harsh on us corn-fed folks I'd say. Some schools don't lose, or even win sometimes, very gracefully.

Swim, Gym, Cage—

3 Teams At Home

Big Ten dual meets in quick succession — Illinois in swimming and Wisconsin in gymnastics — will occupy Iowa athletes Saturday afternoon in the Fieldhouse.

At 2 p.m., the swimmers (3-3) meet Illinois, (6-1) and at 3:30 the Hawkeye gymnasts (6-2) will oppose Wisconsin (3-6) in the final 1959 dual meet.

Basketball At 7:30

And there will not be too much time between the end of the gymnastics meet and the beginning of the basketball game with Ohio

Gene Fullmer, Wilfie Greaves Meet Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer and Wilfie Greaves collide in a televised 10-round fight in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, is unbeaten since he lost the 160-pound division crown to Sugar Ray Robinson early in 1957. He is the 12-5 favorite.

Despite the odds, Greaves, the Canadian champion now fighting out of Detroit, is confident he will rack up his 14th consecutive triumph.

Scoring will be by the rounds system. A supplementary point system also will be used to break draws. The winner of each round gets from one to four points, the loser none.

State on the Fieldhouse court at 7:30 p.m.

Close finishes and closer point scoring appears in prospect for the Illinois-Iowa swimming meet as the Illini challenge Iowa's effort to move above the .500 mark in dual meets.

The teams have met three opponents in common: Illinois beat Wisconsin, 57-48 to Iowa's 58-47; Northwestern, 47-44 to Iowa's 65-38; and Minnesota, 59-46 to Iowa's 60-41. So if comparative scores mean anything — and sometimes they actually do — things will be nip-and-tuck in the Iowa pool.

Champ Leads Illini

Illinois is led by National Collegiate champion, Joe Hunsaker in the individual medley. Last week Hunsaker swam 2:08, bettering his 2:09.6 with which he won the NC title in 1958. Hunsaker also stars in the 200-yard breaststroke.

Other good Illini performers are Dick Whittaker, 2:10.3 in the 220 freestyle and 4:42.6 in the 440; Owen Ackerman, 2:11 in the 200-yard backstroke; and John Donohue, 2:21.3 in the 200-yard butterfly.

Illinois, however, apparently has no sprinters who can match Iowa's Gary Morris, :22.1 in the 50 freestyle; and :49.5 in the 100. Their best is Dick Fletmeyer, :23.6 in the 50; and Tom Walker, :53.9 in the 100.

Bill Claerhout, Iowa sophomore, will challenge Illinois' best in the 220 and 440 freestyle races. Second semester squad additions such as Vicente Tolentino, from Honolulu, a sprinter; and Don Mattusch, in the breast stroke, help the Hawkeyes.

Gymnasts Favored

The Iowa gymnastics team, which has won four of six conference dual meets, will be favored over Wisconsin, which has lost to Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

Now that Staffan Carisson has completed competition, the heavy scoring burden for Iowa has been assumed by Marshall Claus, who scored 22 points against Indiana last week, and Bill Buck, the National Collegiate side horse champion. Tom Novak also scored well and a new sophomore, Don Carney, has helped.

Iowa has whipped Minnesota twice, Ohio State and Indiana, while losing to Illinois, the champion, and Michigan. Non-conference meets were won from Chicago and Air Force Academy.

Iowa Fencers In 5-Team Competition

Iowa's fencing team will compete today, and Saturday in a 5-team meet to be held in Detroit. Other teams in the meet are Illinois, Buffalo, Wayne State and Detroit. Each of the teams will face the others in dual meets.

Judging from comparative scores, Iowa coach Chuck Simonian anticipates close competition in Iowa's duals. All of them but Buffalo have met Michigan State and all have defeated the Spartans. Iowa last week edged Michigan State 14-13.

Illinois last year's Big Ten and NCAA champions, rates as the strongest of the five teams. The Illini have six lettermen, including Abbey Silverstone an all-American foil fencer.

Coach Simonian is counting on his epee team of Dave Ogren, John Youngerman, and Jim Drahozal to furnish the main scoring punch for Iowa. The epee team has been the Hawkeyes strong point this season.

Iowa's 10-man traveling squad includes Ogren, Youngerman, Drahozal, Harry Northey, Ralph Sauer, Bill Bulgren, Tom Vincent, Emil Luft, Jeff Andressen and Jerry Young.

Spoilers In Lead Of Staff Bowlers

Although they scored only two of a possible four points Wednesday night, the Spoilers edged into the lead of the Staff Bowling League at the Iowa Memorial Union.

The Blind Men, tied with the Spoilers for first place last week, lost three points to the Hi-Five and fell one point back. The Ions jumped from fourth to third by sweeping four points from the Stokers and now trail the Spoilers by two points.

The 3-way tie for sixth place last week was dissolved when the Hi-Five took their three points and the Wheels won two. The Stokers fell into last place on their 4-point loss.

Larry Hagen rolled the high series, 567, and also the high game, 226. Art Schmeichel's 529 pins was the second high series for the evening and Eddie Brennan rolled a 203 for second high game.

Duncan Signs Pro Contract With British Columbia Lions

DES MOINES (AP) — Randy Duncan, All-American quarterback at Iowa, has signed a two-year professional football contract with the British Columbia Lions of Vancouver.

Although terms of the contract were not revealed, it was believed Duncan would receive about $35,000 for the two years.

Hearst R. Duncan, Des Moines attorney, said his son notified him Thursday that he had signed with the Western Interprovincial Football Union club.

Green Bay of the National Football League had made Duncan its No. 1 draft choice.

The elder Duncan said money was not the deciding factor in Randy's decision. "Green Bay was more than fair in its financial offer to Randy," the father said.

Duncan, who plans a law career, "felt he had a better future in Canadian professional football," he said. "He does not plan to make a career of playing pro football."

The father said Randy wants to play immediately and felt that with Green Bay he would have to wait a few years before he played regularly.

Vote To Move N.Y. Goal Posts

NEW YORK (AP) — Coaches of the 1958 state high school champion football teams voted Thursday in favor of returning the goal posts to the goal line.

Otherwise they said, to let the high school rules, including platoon substitution, remain as they are.

The vote was revealed in a report by Scholastic Coach magazine, which annually polls the champions on various aspects of the game.

The coaches favored moving the goal posts 31-22 and opposed adoption of the college two-point conversion rule 33-25.

Hawk Track Team To Face Gophers

By GEORGE KAMPLING
Staff Writer

The Hawkeye track squad leaves today for Minneapolis, where they meet Minnesota in a dual meet Saturday. This is the second indoor meet of the season for coach Francis Cretzmeyer's team. Iowa won a triangular meet last Saturday against Wisconsin and Northwestern at Madison.

Leading the Iowa team will be Capt. Tom Burrows, sprinter, Bob Warren, who last week broke the meet broadjump record with a leap of 23'1", and Jack Hill, winner of both the mile and 2-mile run at Madison.

Close Meet Predicted

Coach Cretzmeyer says that the meet should be a real good one, and close all the way, with the final result possibly depending on the outcome of the mile relay.

Minnesota has several outstanding performers including sophomores Bart Bontems, mile; and Dave Odegard, former Minnesota high school hurdles champ. Another outstanding performer for the Gophers is Junior Bill Erickson, distance runner who will shoot for a new school and Fieldhouse record in the mile run. Erickson also competes in the half mile.

The Iowa coach said it is possible the team could finish 1-2-3 in the quarter mile event, and 2-3 in the 2-mile run. The Hawkeyes could finish 2-3 in the pole vault, with the high jump a toss-up, said Cretzmeyer.

Place Points Important

The importance of these place points, especially second place, was emphasized last Saturday in the triangular meet. Each team won four first places, but Iowa took seven of the 12 second spots, for 21 of its 55-point total.

Top Iowa scorers so far this season are Hill, winner of two first places with 10 points; and Warren, first last week in the broad jump and second in the 440-yard dash, for eight points.

Coach Cretzmeyer lists the following probable line-up for Saturday's meet:

- 55-yd dash — Burrows, Tom Hyde, and John Brown.
- 100 — Bob Dougherty, Warren, and Brown.
- 200 — Harry Olson, Frank Dotseth, and Denny Rehder.
- Mile — Hill, Dave Drew, and Ray Hermeler.
- 2-mile — Bill Boyd, Ritch Hermeler, and Hill.
- Relay — Hyde, Brown, Dougherty, and Warren.
- Hurdles — Bill Orris, Jack McDonaid, and Fred Luthans.
- Broad Jump — Brown and Warren.
- High Jump — Carl Anderson.
- Pole Vault — Tom Hertzberg and Bob Hanson.
- Shot Put — Herb Marske and Dick Wood.

Wartburg Cagers To NCAA Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Wartburg College of Waverly, Iowa, was selected Thursday as an at-large entry in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's college division basketball tournament.

Wartburg is leading the Iowa Conference with a 12-2 record. Thirty-two teams will begin competition in eight regional tournaments March 6-7. The eight regional winners will compete in the finals at Evansville, Ind., March 11-13.

Other at-large teams selected Thursday were Wheaton (Ill.) College, Abilene Christian, Chapman (Calif.) and Southern Illinois. Grinnell College could win a spot in the tournament by taking the Midwest Conference championship. Knox is the present leader with a 12-1 record and Grinnell is 11-2.

Macmillan To Visit U.S. For Talks

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan said Thursday night he may go to Washington on his return from his Moscow trip with a view to developing a united Western policy.

Macmillan emphasized the visit to Moscow was not for direct negotiations but "to try to break the ice and get some feeling of the general situation before the next stages."

The Prime Minister told a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons:

Bonn, Paris

"The next stages must be a visit to Bonn, to Paris and perhaps to Washington with a view to formation of the Western Allied Policy."

"When that policy is formulated," Macmillan went on, "great decisions will have to be taken."

"We shall have to face, in the next period, the supreme test of direct negotiations with the Soviet government," Macmillan said.

10 Days In Russia

Macmillan leaves Saturday for Moscow and expects to spend about 10 days in the Soviet Union.

An official announcement last week said he will visit Paris March 9-10 and Bonn March 12-13 to report to the French and West German governments on his talks.

Macmillan will be accompanied by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd for what the Prime Minister has described as exploratory talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders.

Describing the Soviet attitude on

Germany and especially West Berlin as threatening and dangerous, the Prime Minister said:

"I felt one could not leave that without some effort at getting closer to grips and seeing how we stood."

Macmillan added that on his return from Moscow he will consult with Parliament and Western Allied leaders.

Demos Trim As Answer To Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democratic leaders replied to President Eisenhower's spendthrift charges Thursday by slashing $72 million from the Federal Airport Aid Bill, another of their pet projects.

The Democratic-controlled House Commerce Committee reduced from $437 million to $365 million the House version of the four-year program for construction and expansion of airports. The Senate had approved a $465 million program.

Both versions are considerably bigger than the $200 million four-year program proposed by the President.

The House committee reduction reflected Democratic concern over the "big spender" label hung on the President and other Republicans. Last week House Democrats chopped $875 million from their housing bill.

The House Airport Aid Bill now matches dollar for dollar the amount requested by the President for the next 16 months — thus meeting in advance any Administration charges that it would unbalance the President's new budget.

Final committee action on the bill was expected early next week. As originally proposed by Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.), it would have provided $100 million a year over the next four years, plus an extra $37 million for the current fiscal year.

But the committee cut out the extra funds for this year and trimmed $35 million from the $100 million proposed for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The President's $200 million program would be distributed on a decreasing scale starting with $65 million in the next fiscal year.

The House committee action came on the heels of the President's Wednesday news conference assertion that the Government must live within its means during a period of rising prosperity. He said if the budget could not be balanced now, it probably never could.

The President's Airport Aid Program is aimed chiefly at improving safety conditions at existing airports. It also would call for construction of certain facilities, but no "frills," Eisenhower wants local communities to build their own airports.

Democrats claim there are no frills in their program and take the position that local governments cannot go it alone.

Possible Ballot Errors Uncovered

DES MOINES (AP) — Evidence of irregularities in the handling of ballots has been uncovered in at least one Burlington precinct, the committee hearing the contest of the election of Sen. Carl Hoschek (D-Burlington) was told Thursday.

Frank Elwood of Cresco, attorney for Blythe Conn, the Republican contestant, said the irregularity in the first precinct of the fifth ward in Burlington constituted a violation of the law and might have made sufficient difference in the vote to change the result of the election.

Hoschek was certified in the official canvass of the Nov. 4 general election as the winner by 42 votes over Conn for the Senate seat from Des Moines County.

Recount

Elwood and former Sen. Tom Dailey of Burlington, attorney for Hoschek, told the committee they have completed a recount of the vote and found Hoschek leading by 28 votes. However, they said there are 276 ballots on which they cannot agree.

Elwood said the law requires that when it is necessary to move the ballot box from one room to another or from building to building, it must be under surveillance at all times by at least two members of the election board.

One Person

He said evidence indicated that in this particular precinct one person transported the ballots back and forth several times from the receiving board in the basement of a building to the counting board on the second floor.

Moon Shot Set For Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another American try at sending a space probe past the moon and into orbit around the sun may be made next week.

There has been no official word to this effect. But several weeks ago reliable sources said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Army were hoping to make the attempt sometime during a several-day period beginning around Feb. 26. That's when the moon, in its monthly swing, would be closest to the earth.

Main scientific objective of the venture, other than the possibility of placing a man-made asteroid in orbit around the sun, would be to learn more about the extent and intensity of the belt of dangerous radiation which begins about 1,400 miles above the earth.

Those were the primary aims of the Army's Pioneer III space probe which was launched Dec. 6. That vehicle did not attain the heights hoped for though it did soar to an altitude of some 65,000 miles before plunging back into the earth's atmosphere.

Pioneer I soared more than 71,000 miles.

A Warm Welcome

CHEERING CROWDS in downtown Acapulco welcomed President Eisenhower who has gone to Mexico for two days of good-will talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. Over 30,000 spectators cheered the U.S. President as he and the Mexican chief executive rode from the airport.

Ike Will Concede Issues To Keep Up Mexican Ties

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — President Eisenhower said Thursday he will always meet neighboring Mexico more than halfway in solving problems because he never wants the U.S.-Mexican border defended by guns.

"We want it to be guarded by the friendship that lives within the hearts of your people and ours," he said.

Eisenhower reaffirmed Mexican-American friendship as he arrived in this palm-ringed Pacific vacation resort for two days of good-will talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Good Relations

In welcoming him at the city's gaily decorated airport, the smiling 48-year-old Mexican chief executive said relations between the two nations are truly satisfactory. Throngs of cheering, flag-waving Mexicans, estimated at 30,000, gave Eisenhower such a rousing reception that they tied up the city streets in a gigantic traffic jam.

Eisenhower waved back cheerily from the limousine in which he and Lopez Mateos rode from the airport to Eisenhower's hotel.

Three hours after he flew in aboard the White House plane Columbine III from an overnight stop at the Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, Tex., Eisenhower sailed off into the blue waters of Acapulco Bay for talks with Lopez Mateos aboard the white yacht Sotavento.

Avoid Defense

As the talks got under way, U.S. officials said Eisenhower would avoid raising any of the touchy hemispheric defense problems that have caused some trouble in relations between the two countries in the past.

Communists had contended Eisenhower came here to convert Mexico into a satellite, that he was plotting to steal Mexico's oil and force the nation to sign a one-sided military pact.

Eisenhower was understood to be ready to promise American loan assistance to Mexico to help Lopez Mateos carry out his program for improving education, industrial development and agriculture.

Minn. Landing For 700-Pound Instrument Bundle

CROSBY, Minn. (AP) — A 700-pound instrument package was parachuted to earth in western Minnesota late Thursday after a 7½ hour ride beneath a huge plastic balloon.

The balloon was launched in 30 below zero weather from a deep open pit iron mine near this northern Minnesota community and floated over the state at an altitude of 99,500 feet.

A spokesman for Winzen Research, Inc., Minneapolis, which launched the two million cubic foot balloon, said the instruments were recovered by tracking crews near Marshall, Minn., and taken to Minneapolis.

Nature of the instruments was classified by the Air Force. The balloon stayed over Minnesota although technicians had thought it would travel to Illinois.

Billions Will Be Needed For Future Space Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian space experts said Thursday their plans for satellites, a man-in-orbit and other space adventures will cost billions of dollars over the next few years.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said it is planned to launch 30 satellites and some 140 probing rockets this year and next.

Asked whether there will be a pay-off on these costly efforts, Glennan said he is positive there will be.

Asks Support

Glennan appeared before a Senate Space subcommittee to testify in support of NASA's request for authority to spend $485,200,000 in the next fiscal year.

He said this is the last time, at least in the foreseeable future, that the agency will be asking for less than half a billion.

Testimony disclosed that NASA and its companion military agency in the Pentagon, the Advanced Research Projects Agency, are spending $450-500 million this year and will need $800 millions or more next year.

Civilian Costs Up
Glennan said he would not be surprised if just the civilian side, NASA, will cost a billion or more after two years.

He said 15 experimental satellites will be launched this year and the same number in 1960. He said 40 sounding or probing rockets will be fired into space in 1959 and about 100 in 1960.

Specialist Urges Heart Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ultimate decisive victory over heart disease, including large-scale prevention, is possible if research is highly accelerated and intensified, Dr. Howard Sprague, a Boston heart specialist, said Thursday.

From the same platform where Dr. Sprague made this prediction, Rep. John E. Fogarty (D-R.I.) accused the Eisenhower Administration and its Budget Bureau of making cutbacks in medical research appropriations requests and of misleading the public as to the pace of medical research.

Fogarty said current budget requests for medical research are $12 to $13 million less than the Administration sought a year ago. He said the cutback includes a $2 million drop in funds for heart disease research.

The congressman said he had reliable information that a $50 million increase is needed.

He and Dr. Sprague spoke at a symposium where some of the nation's top heart doctors gave a report to the nation on advances made in the last decade in treatment and diagnosis of heart disease.

Dr. Sprague, of Harvard Medical School, keyed the reports by himself and the other doctors.

Young Hood Painted Black At Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rocco Pranno, a hard-eyed young hoodlum, was painted Thursday as a terror of the Chicago juke box industry — a mobster who once threatened to drop a music machine operator off a bridge with concrete tied to his legs.

While Pranno sat tight-lipped in the hearing room, witnesses before the Senate Rackets Committee identified him as one of the younger successors to the Capone mob who have resorted to threats and violence in an effort to take over the juke box industry.

Bernard M. Poss, of East Aurora, Ill., almost broke into tears as he described how Pranno virtually forced him out of the pinball business by smashing his machines and driving his wife to the edge of insanity.

Another music box operator, Ralph Kelly of Elgin, Ill., appeared to be too scared to talk. Pranno stayed hard by Kelly's elbow as the nervous, flush-faced witness was called to the witness stand.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Pranno had accompanied Kelly to Washington from Chicago and had followed him everywhere he went, even into the committee's offices.

Kelly pleaded possible self-incrimination when he was asked if it was true he surrendered half his juke box business to Pranno after the mobster threatened to drop him off a bridge, first tying concrete weights to his legs.

When Kelly refused to talk, Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) asked if he was going to let Pranno keep him in a state of fear "for the rest of your life." Kelly, whose income dropped 50 per cent after Pranno became his partner, kept silent.

NEW OWNERS

Ken Milligan and Associates have purchased the Mills Hospital Supply Company at 107 Iowa Ave here. The new owners have incorporated and will operate the business under the name of Doctors Supply, Inc.

Milligan said the business will continue to serve the doctors and hospitals throughout Iowa as well as students of medicine, dentistry, nursing and pharmacy.

3 SUIowans On Board

Gigi Gallatin, A3, Des Moines, Janet Ludwig, A2, Perry, and Linda Stone, A4, Des Moines, will represent SUI this year on Mademoiselle magazine's national College Board. They are among 784 students who competed with applicants from colleges all over the country to win places on the Board. As College Board members, they will represent their campuses and report to Mademoiselle on college life and the college scene. Each girl will complete two assignments that will help her explore her interest and abilities in writing, editing, fashion, advertising or art, in competition for the twenty guest editorships to be awarded by the magazine at the end of May.

Orientation Planning Underway

Plans are underway for selecting 1959 Fall Orientation leaders and assistants.

Letters have been sent to the presidents of all men's and women's housing units requesting names of people they feel are qualified.

All applications are due in the Office of Student Affairs by Friday, Feb. 27. All other interested students may leave their names in this office on or before the same date. Selection will be made on the basis of dependability, leadership, scholarship and interest. The names will be screened by the Men's and women's Orientation Councils and those chosen will be notified in March.

Training schools for more specific instruction and discussion about the program will be held in April.

TV Angina Outbreak

LONDON (UPI) — British Dr. G. A. Rose reported Thursday an upswing in a disease he named "television angina."

Rose said in the British Medical Journal that if you suddenly feel a sharp pain around the heart one of the first things to do is get up and turn the television set off.

You may be suffering from a coronary disease caused by watching exciting shows on TV, Rose said.

Angina, he explained, is a familiar ailment marked by sharp pains in the region of the heart. Attacks are often triggered by emotional excitement or physical exercise. He said he discovered at his hospital clinic that angina cases were on the increase and he pinned the blame on television.

Saunders Named Member Of Space Law Committee

Professor Harold W. Saunders of SUI is the only Iowan among 55 top sociologists, lawyers and statesmen from across the country who have been named to a new research committee set up by the American Rocket Society. Saunders is chairman of the SUI Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

The new Technical Committee on Space Law and Sociology will explore the social and legal implications of the physical discoveries being made in space and study their probable future consequences.

A meeting of the committee is scheduled for Mar. 20 in the United Nations Plaza in New York City, with all committee members invited to submit papers on sociological or legal problems of outer space. The papers will be used for a presentation to the United Nations Committee on the Peaceful Use of Outer Space.

Ask New Site For Duncan Trial

VENTURA, Calif. (UPI) — An attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) said Thursday he would argue as a friend of the court for changing the site of the trial of Elizabeth Duncan, 54, on murder charges.

A. L. Wirin, general counsel for the ACLU of southern California, filed an amicus curiae brief. Superior Judge Charles F. Blackstock accepted it.

"I will urge the court should order a change of venue because it is likely Mrs. Duncan can receive a fairer trial in a community where the case has been discussed less than in Ventura County," Wirin said.

The bearded attorney said he had not been invited into the case by S. Ward Sullivan, representing Mrs. Duncan, but was appearing in the "interest of justice."

U.S. Working To Put Man On Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Space Committee was told Thursday the United States is working on a rocket which will be capable of carrying a man on a short trip to the moon and back. The basic units of the rocket will be completed in about four years. However, it will provide only enough power for what scientist witnesses described as a "minimum" moon journey.

Abe Silverstein, technical director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), testified that contracts have been let for a "cluster rocket" able to send about 20,000 pounds to the moon.

He said about 18,000 of those pounds would be needed for returning the man to earth.

This would leave 2,000 pounds for the man-carrying compartment. This is two thirds the size of an automobile and about the smallest space vehicle envisioned for human passengers.

Silverstein said a long trip such as to the planet Mars might prove feasible if a nuclear rocket could be developed to serve as a second or final stage of the cluster rocket.

The testimony was given during the first of two days of hearings on the NASA budget before the Senate Committee on Aeronautics and space sciences.

Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), acting chairman, opened the hearings with a prediction that the space budget, now under a billion dollars, will rise to billions of dollars annually. But he said there is no alternative but to press ahead.

Silverstein's testimony about the moon trip concerned a cluster of rockets with a total thrust of more than a million pounds. The power of an intercontinental ballistic missile is about 250,000 pounds.

The United States also is putting together a cluster of existing rockets that will have a thrust of more than a million pounds. Silverstein said this would be enough to bring about 3,300 pounds to a "soft landing" on the moon.

Although this would not be enough for a man's return, the witness said such an achievement would be highly significant because a 3,300 pound package could carry instruments to "really tell us something."

In his remarks, Stennis said failure to press the conquest of space would be as grave a mistake as to have failed to exploit the achievement of manned flight by the Wright Brothers 56 years ago.

He said "not a single dollar should be denied or spared, and none should be wasted," but the nation "must move forward with the utmost speed."

Stennis presided at the hearings in the absence of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), chairman.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of NASA, said high priority will be given to creation of a space platform that can carry a large telescope for surveying the stars from a position well above the atmosphere.

Britain OKs Cyprus Independence

LONDON. — (UPI) — Britain signed away its key Mediterranean colony of Cyprus Thursday night in a 5-sided agreement establishing the strife-torn island as an independent republic.

The agreement, initiated by Britain, Greece, Turkey and Greek and Turkish Cypriot delegations, ended four years of virtual war which claimed hundreds of lives and engulfed the strategic Middle East in tension.

The compromise, based on the Greek-Turkish Zurich Plan, also eliminated an internal squabble among three of NATO's key members—Britain, Greece and Turkey.

Informed sources said Britain retained the right to have air, sea and ground force bases on Cyprus "in perpetuity." Greece and Turkey renounced past claims on the island.

The Greek Cypriot majority on the island, which previously had demanded union with Greece, accorded a power of veto over major legislation to representatives of the Turkish Cypriot minority.

Full terms of the agreement were to remain secret until Monday when texts will be published in the various capitols. The pact is subject to ratification by the British, Greek and Turkish Parliaments.

For Britain the key point was retention of the bases which provide one of the West's most important military centers in the explosive Middle East. Cyprus became a Middle East military headquarters for Berlin after the loss of Suez in 1956.

SUI Students Get Washington Trip To Study Government

Three SUI students are among twenty students from 13 Iowa colleges who have been awarded 1-week expense-paid trips to Washington, D.C. Robert Ray, director of the Iowa Citizenship Clearing House, announced today.

SUI students chosen are Thomas Wine, L.I. Oelwein; Robin Elin Winger, Wapello; Glorai Frost, A3, Waterloo.

The awards are made by the advisory board of the Iowa CCH, a group of 15 Iowa political leaders and college administrators and professors. Headquarters for the Iowa affiliate of the Citizenship Clearing House are at SUI.

The "Week in Washington" trips are sponsored by the clearing house, the Republican and Democratic parties of Iowa, and Congressman Fred Schwengel, Rep., Davenport, and Leonard Wolf, Dem., Elkader.

This is the fifth year of the "Week in Washington" program. During the past four years 60 Iowa college students and six professors have participated in the awards. Students are chosen for the trips on the basis of scholarship, leadership and interest in politics.

"We hope the students who participate in this program gain a clearer understanding of politics and government on the national level," Ray said. The objective of all Citizenship Clearing House activities is to stimulate college students to participate actively in the political party of their choice after graduation, he said.

In Iowa Senate Liquor-By-Drink Vote Launched

DES MOINES (AP) — A new attempt to obtain a statewide vote on liquor laws was launched in the Iowa Senate Thursday.

The earlier effort of Rep. Howard Reppert (D-Des Moines) to obtain a statewide vote on legalizing sale of liquor by the drink appears to have been stalled by refusal of the House to put his resolution on the calendar.

The new effort in the Senate by Sen. C. Edwin Gilmore (D-Grinnell) would call for a vote covering more choices than Reppert's.

Gilmore proposed that the public be asked to vote on whether it favors:

- Prohibiting the sale of anything more alcoholic than beer.
- Continuing the present laws.
- Legalizing the sale of liquor by the drink on a statewide basis.

The voter would be asked to indicate which of the five alternatives he preferred.

Apostle Of Old-Time Republican, Daniel Reed, Dies At Age 83

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Daniel Alden Reed, an apostle of old-time Republicanism, died Thursday at the age of 83. He had represented New York's 43rd District, in the state's extreme western tip, since 1919 and had become a landmark on the political scene. Generally speaking, he battled for higher tariffs and lower taxes. A typical tribute came Thursday from Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.): "Dan Reed was a great old rugged warrior whose interest in the conservative tradition never faltered."

'We Can Go Any Damn Place We Please', Meany Rebuffs Eisenhower Criticism

SAN JUAN (UPI) — The verbal battle between President Eisenhower and organized labor grew hotter Thursday. AFL-CIO President George Meany swung back at the chief executive's gibe at labor leaders for picking San Juan as the site of their current meeting. "San Juan is part of the United States and we are an American labor movement and we can go to any damn place we please to hold our meetings," was Meany's angry comment. "If our members object, then I will start to worry about it," he snapped. "Please tell Mr. Eisenhower," Meany added, "that I have not seen a beach or golf course here, that I start working at 8 a.m. and keep going until midnight in AFL-CIO affairs, and that his criticism was not justified."

Dulles To Receive First Radiation Treatment For Cancer Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary John Foster Dulles, scheduled to receive today his first radiation treatment for cancer, telephoned the State Department for a fill-in on international affairs. The 71-year-old secretary spoke for 15 minutes with his special assistant, Joseph N. Green Jr. State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said they discussed a variety of topics. White also announced that doctors reported good progress in Dulles' recovery from the hernia operation last week, which disclosed a recurrence of cancer.

U.S. Proposes Helicopter-Borne Check Squads For Nuclear Ban

GENEVA, (UPI) — The United States proposed to Russia Thursday that helicopter-borne squads of nuclear detectives be spotted throughout the world for swift checks on suspected sneak atomic tests. The U.S. proposal, backed by Britain, was put forward by U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth during a one hour and 40 minute session of the 3-power Geneva nuclear conference. Wadsworth told the Russians that teams of highly-mobile inspectors — virtually scientific shock troops — would be needed for adequate policing of any nuclear test ban treaty. Conference sources said the Western plan outlined by the U.S. delegation chief called for an advance guard on each inpection team that would be available for airlifting to any site in the world within 24 to 48 hours, if possible.

Havana's Plush Gambling Casino Open First Time Since New Year's Eve

HAVANA (UPI) — Havana's plush gambling casinos opened their doors Thursday for the first time since New Year's Eve. There were comparatively few tourist customers. The casino operators were confident, however, that things would pick up shortly. They were looking forward to the start of a 3-day national holiday Monday that is expected to bring Americans here in large numbers. The celebration will mark the 64th anniversary of Cuba's "cry for independence" and the revolutionary Government leaders who came to power Jan. 1 hope it will reverse a year-long outward tide of tourism. American residents in the Florida area have been invited by the Cuban Government to come to Havana and occupy hotel rooms "on the house" for three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Cachets To Mark Inauguration Of Ozark Service

Vocal stamp-collectors will be able to obtain cachets (official seals which are stamped on envelopes) marking the inauguration of Ozark Air Lines service to Iowa City, March 1. Collectors may receive one of the cachets by sending a self-addressed, air mail-stamped envelope to the postmaster here. The outside envelope should be marked "first flight cover." The inside envelopes will be stamped with the cachet and put aboard one of the first-day flights. The envelopes will be flown to the first stop and then delivered in the usual manner back to Iowa City.

No Record Of Three Americans In Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Seven months after revolutionary mobs killed three Americans in Baghdad, Iraq's Government is claiming it has no record the three were even in the country. The Iraqi Foreign Ministry declared in a note to the U.S. Embassy a few days ago it found no documentary evidence of their entry and hence expressed doubt they were killed. The embassy said death certificates were needed by the victims' families to collect life insurance and settle other property matters.

Gromer To Give Travel Lecture

Julian Gromer, world traveler and adventurer, will present a popular travel film entitled "Canada, Coast to Coast" in Macbride Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Everyone is invited to attend this showing of scenic spots. Included in the film will be such places as Lake-of-the-Woods, the Canadian Rockies, Niagara Falls, Bonaventure Island, Magnetic Hill, and the St. Lawrence River. The film will be narrated by Gromer and backgrounded with high-fidelity music. Special effects will be added by Gromer's use of zoom-lenses.

Airliner, Jet Bomber Almost Collide

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — A Capital Airlines plane carrying 37 persons almost collided with a big military jet bomber near here Thursday.

Passengers were shaken up when the propjet dived 600 feet to avoid the 6-engine B47 bomber, but no one was hurt. Robert Spink, pilot of the commercial plane, said upon landing in Washington that the near miss occurred 30 miles northeast of Charlotte at 9:55 a.m.

It was the second near miss of an airlines plane and a military craft reported during the day. At Cleveland, American Airlines pilot Robert E. Lewis reported he had to make a tight bank to avoid a collision with a Navy jet trainer near Indianapolis. Both planes were flying at 7,000 feet.

In the Charlotte incident, Spink reported immediately to the airways traffic control station in Atlanta. The pilot of the military plane also did so. He was Maj. George R. Erks, 30, of Langhorne, Pa. The plane was from Home-Steard Air Force Base in Florida. The bomber and other B47s were in the Charlotte area awaiting clearance to higher altitudes. The Capital plane, with 34 passengers and crew of three, was flying on instruments at about 19,000 feet and therefore was under traffic control from the ground.

The B47s were under visual flight rules, and under regulations were responsible for special alertness to avoid ground-controlled traffic. The Civil Aeronautics Administration traffic control station in Atlanta takes no action in such cases. They are investigated by the air carrier safety district office in Winston-Salem, N.C.

To Discuss U.S. Values

SUI foreign students will hear Harold W. Saunders, head of sociology, discuss "The American Value System with reference to Marriage and Family Life," at the International Center Sunday at 7:30 p.m. A seminar period will follow and refreshments will be served. The seminar is the first of a series on American life, planned for the foreign students this year. This is the fourth year that the seminars have been held.

The idea of having the seminars was developed by the foreign students, particularly those in the technical fields, who have little opportunity or time to explore the cultural side of American life, said Mrs. W. Wallace Maner, wife of the foreign students advisor and hostess at the International Center. The topics for the seminars are suggested by the students, and SUI professors volunteer their time and special knowledge in those areas, Mrs. Maner said.

The other seminars scheduled for this semester are: March 15 — Paul R. Olson, professor of economics, "The United States in the World Economy." March 29 — "Patterns of Public Education in the United States," will be discussed by Lloyd L. Smith, assistant professor of education. April 5 — Allen G. Bogue, associate professor of history, will talk about, "The American Indian in the History of the United States."

April 19 — "American Local Government — Theory and Practice," will be the topic on which Russell M. Ross, associate professor of political science, will speak. Literature, art, music, sports, and religion have been some of the topics for the seminars in previous years.

Iowa Congressman Hires Son In Office—At $11,081.78 A Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Freshman Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) has put his 19-year-old son on the payroll of his Congressional office at a salary of $11,081.76 a year, House records showed Thursday. The youth, Steven A. Carter, also is a freshman pre-law student at George Washington University. According to the records he is the highest paid employee in his father's office. The office manager draws $8,349.20 a year. Each member of Congress has an allotment for office salaries which are paid with Government funds. It is not unusual for members to employ relatives to work in their offices and many veteran Congressmen have done so. Rep. Carter, the first Democrat ever to be elected from his Iowa farm district, said his son "handles my public relations" and is the most valuable employee in his office. "Really he's my alter ego," the Congressman said. "We have such a close relationship we can communicate without words. "Sixty-five people made application for that job, but not one of them could measure up to my son. I couldn't hire anyone as well qualified as he for $14,000 a year. He's actually worth top salary to me and the people of my district." Young Carter is taking 10 hours of pre-law courses at the university, less than a full course. His father said he spends about 40 hours a week in the office, chiefly taking care of visitors from Iowa. "His job is to let them know what I'm doing and trying to accomplish, help them enjoy themselves and learn about the nation's capital," the father said. He said his son also reads all 48 newspapers published back home, keeping his eye out for things of special interest to the Congressman. "He's on 24-hour duty," the father said. "He often pinch-hits for me. And frankly, I guess he does a better job." Carter said the youth was a straight A student in high school, a star athlete and for four straight years took top honors in Iowa speaking contest. The Congressman said he expected his political enemies to try to make capital out of his son's position. But he thought the folks back in his Iowa district would understand because "they know him and they know we're always together." House payroll records showed five other employees in Carter's office. The manager, Rein J. Vander Zee, 30 and a former FBI agent, make $8,349.20 a year.

Health Council To Meet

The Johnson County Health Council will meet at 7:45 p.m. Monday, Feb. 23, in conference room 2 of Iowa Memorial Union. The speaker will be S. E. Lenz, new sanitarian for Iowa City, who will speak mainly about restaurant sanitation. The meeting had been scheduled for earlier this month but was cancelled because of bad weather.
