Macmillan Shocked By Nikita's Attack

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev caustically attacked Western foreign policies on Germany Tuesday in a Kremlin speech. British sources said visiting Prime Minister Harold Macmillan reacted with some shock when he heard of Khrushchev's remarks.

Macmillan was an apparently amiable guest at a British Embassy reception later but became slightly ill there. A British spokesman blamed it on the high room temperature at the crowded party.

Had To Lie Down

Macmillan had to go off to an anteroom and lie down for 20 minutes, then rejoined the gathering. Afterward Macmillan motored to the country house where the two leaders are due to resume their private conversations Wednesday.

There Macmillan met with top advisors to work out the best attitude toward Khrushchev's tough speech on Germany, the Middle East and Western policies generally.

British officials with Macmillan expressed surprise at the timing of Khrushchev's speech at a local political rally.

The Moscow diplomatic colony was buzzing with reports that the talks have struck a snag.

If there was any change by either side on their positions on cold war issues as a result of last week's talks, it was not apparent.

The Khrushchev speech was described by British sources as unusual since it came right in the middle of private conversations between the two leaders. It was delivered during a break in the talks while Macmillan was on a one-day trip to Dubna, the Soviet atom center 90 miles northeast of Moscow.

Rejects Minister Meet

Khrushchev apparently rejected the West's proposal for a Big Four foreign ministers meeting on Germany. It would have been justified at the windup of World War II, he said, but "now the idea is plainly obsolete."

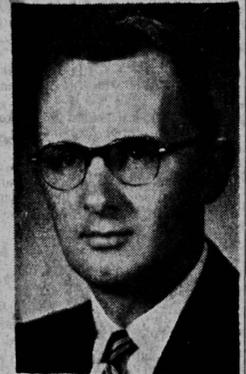

The Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France cannot discuss German unification, he contended, because "this is a question for the two German states themselves."

Khrushchev repeated as "more expedient" the Soviet proposal, already turned down by the West, for a meeting of the Government Chiefs of all nations that waged war against Hitler to work out a German peace treaty.

Hancher Speech Contest Entries Due March 26

Hancher Public Speaking contest entrants must turn in their names and subjects to Room 13A Schaeffer Hall by noon, Thursday, March 26. The contest is open to all undergraduates in the university. First prize is $25 and the right to represent the university at the annual contest of the Northern Oratorical League.

The speech must be an original argumentative speech, not more than ten minutes in length. For further information see Professor Orville Hitchcock, Room 13A Schaeffer Hall.

Speaker

Richard G. Kautz, president of the Grain Processing Corp., Muscatine, will be speaker at the today's noon luncheon for SUI Career's Conference. See story schedule page 5.

Don't Walk

But, Officer, He Told Me 'Keep Walkin'

"Hey! You shouldn't cross the street when the traffic light says 'Don't Walk,'" a local police officer told Jerry Simpson, C4, of Osage a few days ago.

"But officer," exclaimed Simpson, "That officer on the corner said 'Just keep walkin'.'"

"I'll ask him," said the first officer.

"I didn't say anything to this man," said the second officer. "I was merely singing a song I recently heard."

The name of the song—Ambrose.

$5 Million Asked For Institutions

DES MOINES (AP) — A bill proposing $5,125,000 for capital appropriations was recommended for passage by the House Appropriations Committee Tuesday.

Committee Chairman George Paul (R-Brooklyn) said it is planned to provide the total of $22,800,000 for new buildings and major improvements at all state institutions, state parks and lakes.

That would be about three million dollars more than was recommended for this purpose by Gov. Herschel Loveless.

The Board of Control appropriations measure would provide $1 1/2 million for an infirmary at the Soldiers Home in Marshalltown; $1,600,000 for ward replacement at the Mount Pleasant State Mental Health Institute; $200,000 for an administration building at the State Training School for Boys at Eldora and $250,000 for a new cottage at the Mitchellville Training School for Girls.

In addition the measure would set up a $1,575,000 capital repairs and improvements fund which the Board of Control could use with the approval of the Iowa Legislative Interim Committee.

Paul explained that in the past several bienniums the Board of Control has had to ask the Interim Committee for money to make a number of major repairs. The bill would set up a fund so that the board could take care of most of its needs along this line without asking the committee for an allocation from its emergency fund.

Senate Again Passes Iowa Court Reform

Nolan Amendment Defeated

DES MOINES (AP) — The Senate for the second time in eight days, Wednesday passed a proposed constitutional amendment aimed at revamping Iowa's judicial system.

The senators defeated two amendments before passing the measure, 31-19. It now goes to the House.

The judicial reform plan, which had the backing of the Iowa Supreme Court and the Iowa State Bar Assn., would create a system under which a district or Supreme Court judge would run "against his record" when his term expires rather than against another candidate.

If the public voted against the judge, his successor would be admitted from nominees selected by special nominating commissions.

The Senate approved the measure 29-18 last Tuesday, but two days later voted to reconsider that approval. By getting two more votes Tuesday, supporters of the measure said they picked up some prestige when the Senate voted to reconsider.

At that time, some observers said the reconsider move possibly might hurt the amendment's chances in the House.

One of the amendments defeated in Tuesday's action was by Sen. D. C. Nolan (R-Iowa City), who proposed that the Legislature provide the method of selecting all judges as well as set the terms and salaries of the jurists.

Sen. David Shaff (R-Clinton) contended Nolan's amendment "would create a monster that would wreck the judicial system by placing it in partisan politics."

Pledge Invitations To Be Delivered To Coeds Today

New sorority pledges will get their invitations to pledge today at 4:30 p.m. when they are delivered to the rushees' respective housing units.

The pledging ceremonies this evening will bring the spring rushing activities for the sororities to a formal close.

Tuesday evening the girls attended preference parties at the sorority houses and then returned to the Iowa Memorial Union to sign their bid cards. Here the girls listed the three houses in which they were interested in order of preference.

A bonded lawyer spent all of Tuesday evening matching the choices of the sororities with the personal preferences stated by the girls.

No one will know the outcome until the official Panhellenic list is released at the Office of Student Affairs today at 4:30 p.m., according to Miss Helen Reich, Panhellenic advisor.

'Seven Year Itch' Opens Tonight

"The Seven Year Itch," a contemporary comedy by George Axelrod, will open tonight at 8 p.m. at Iowa City High School Little Theater.

It will be presented by the Iowa City Community Theater Wednesday through Saturday.

Tickets may be obtained from Community Theater members, and further information on tickets is available at the City Recreation Commission office, 8-5493.

SATCH TO LIFT CURTAIN

VIENNA (UPI) — Trumpeter Louis Armstrong said Tuesday he might cross the Iron Curtain and include such non-jazz points as Moscow on his world tour.

"My instrument knows nothing about politics," he said. The trumpeter, who has been a smash hit across Western Europe and Scandinavia, said he hoped to take his band to Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

1st Step To Utilities Hike

$1.80 Month Average Hike For Customer

At a special meeting of the Iowa City City Council Tuesday night, the first reading was made of a proposed ordinance which would increase local electric rates approximately seven per cent and gas rates by about five per cent. This proposal was presented by City Manager Peter F. Roan at a public hearing February 9th. Before it can be passed upon by the City Council, it must be read in open hearing three times. The second reading will be held at the next Council meeting March 9th at 7:30 p.m.

As presented, the new rates would increase the revenue to the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company by approximately $195,000, or about $1.80 per customer per month.

The proposed increase is considerably less than that requested by the utility company. J.E. Stewart, district manager, had asked for an increase of 25.8 per cent on electric service and 11.3 per cent on gas. The Council also opened bids on new equipment to be purchased. Low bids were received and approved from Burkett-Rhinehart Motor Co., 3 East College St., for the purchase of two 1/2-ton trucks at a unit price of $1440.00, one 2-ton dump truck at $3170.00, and two station wagons for police use at a unit price of $1670.00. Action was deferred on the purchase of a tractor-mover until inspection of the various pieces of equipment is completed. A similar decision was made concerning a street sweeper.

More Road Use Money Asked For Iowa Cities

DES MOINES (AP) — A larger share of road use tax monies would be allotted to cities and towns under a measure filed in the Iowa House Tuesday.

The measure was drafted by the House Cities and Towns Committee and was recommended for passage by a 13-9 vote.

The bill proposes to give cities and towns 12 per cent, instead of the present 8 per cent of the road use tax fund.

Announce Highway Projects

A pedestrian overpass over Highways 6 and 218 at Iowa Avenue is part of a $42,445,700 tentative primary road program for 1958.

The program, announced by the Iowa State Highway Commission, also includes plans for widening Highway 6 and 218 to four lanes from Iowa Avenue to the junction of Highway 1.

The Commission stressed that the 1959 program is only tentative and the projects listed in it would not be constructed until 1960.

Every type of highway in the state's primary system of 9,647 miles is to be in line for some improvement, and all sections of Iowa are to benefit from the program, the Highway Commission said.

Highway improvements in the 1959 program range from small culverts to large bridges, paving of gravel roads, and modernizing existing paved highways.

In Johnson County the following sections of highway are tentatively scheduled for improvement: Highway 6 to be widened to 4 lanes between west junction of Highway 218 and Clear Creek Bridge in Coralville.

Highway 22 is to be paved for 3 miles on the Muscatine County line.

Highway 6 is to be shouldered between the west junction of Highway 218 west about 6 miles except for .7 miles of Interstate 80.

The Jimmy Dorsey band, coming to The Hawk ballroom this Friday, is no stranger to Jeri Stubbs, A2, Marshalltown.

SUI Graduate ABA President

John D. Randall was elected Tuesday as president of the American Bar Association (ABA), Mason Ladd, Dean of the College of Law said Tuesday. Randall graduated from the SUI College of Law in '23.

Ladd said Randall is the first Iowa graduate elected president of the ABA. Randall's son, John Jr., is a senior in law at SUI.

Randall was chairman of the house of delegates of the ABA in 1957. Previously he was chairman of a ABA committee on unauthorized law practice.

The Dorian Society of Luther College, Decorah, is to present a program of vocal and instrumental music today at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium. The concert is to be presented as part of an exchange between the SUI Music Department and Luther College.

The program is to include a group of vocal selections by Norma Rigel of Cedar Rapids. George Hueschen, Holstein, will present two selections for euphonium, and Walter Scavie, Forest City, baritone, will present a group of vocal selections.

The recital is open to the public and no tickets are required for admission.

Try To Make Businessmen More Vigilant

Also Poll Shoppers On Store Courtesy

By BEN BLACKSTOCK Staff Writer

Over 80 "thefts" netting more than $1000 worth of merchandise were committed in Iowa City stores last week — with the approval of the stores and the Police Department.

Some of the items taken in the "thefts" were a pogo stick, one blackwall tire (complete with stand, a wrist watch, a toy police car and an alarm clock.

Sponsored By Businessmen

The robberies were part of a plan sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce to find out how effective precautions against shoplifting are in Iowa City.

The idea was the brainchild of Ralph Wahrer, coordinator of distributive education of Iowa City schools.

Wahrer presented his program to the Chamber last fall and received its approval.

The Retail Committee of the Chamber included the Police in the plan and received their cooperation.

Store managers agreed to the plan but were told the "robberies" would take place "sometime in February."

Twelve members of Delta Sigma Phi commerce fraternity agreed to test the stores' shoplifting defenses by staging 80 robberies.

Only one person was caught during the 80 robberies and he could have gotten away, Wahrer said. Wahrer gave the following account:

As one of the robbers was walking out of a local store, the manager noticed him carrying an unwrapped hotplate.

Manager Apologized

The manager, apologizing for the clerk's not wrapping the item, asked the culprit if he wanted the hotplate wrapped.

The request startled the robber causing the manager to become suspicious and ask for a sales slip. Faced with the explanation the sales slip was left in the basement floor of the store and given a description of the clerk, the manager went downstairs to check.

During the time he was downstairs, the "robber" fled, only to be followed in hot pursuit by the manager.

The "robber" ran into the Chamber of Commerce office and waited for the manager. He explained the reason of the robbery and showed the manager a letter of identification certifying his actions.

Wahrer said the Chamber hopes the test will make stores more vigilant and strengthen defenses against shoplifting.

He said all of the stolen items were tagged when received and will be returned to the stores where they were taken.

$100,000 Worth Lost

A meeting of retailers last fall disclosed that more than $100,000 worth of goods are lost in one year through shoplifting and employee pilferage in Iowa City.

One store last fall disclosed that $1200 worth of merchandise was lost in a 2-week period. Another store lost $20,000 in 1957 from shoplifting and pilferage, the meeting disclosed.

Shoplifting done last week was only one part of a program to assist Iowa City stores, Wahrer said. In addition 15 people were given $100 each by the Chamber of Commerce to buy something at particular stores and rate stores on courtesy and salesmanship.

A third part of the program included 250 interviews with people as they came out of the stores as to how the services was in the store.

The cost of the program will be paid by the Chamber of Commerce and by funds from the federal and state governments for vocational education.

Mississippi State Nears Title, But NCAA Meet Hopes Dim

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — Mississippi State's Maroons, nearing the end of their greatest basketball season, are caught between two fires.

State walloped Tulane 65-51 Monday night for its 23rd victory against one loss, the top major college mark in the nation. And a triumph over arch-rival Mississippi Saturday night will give State its first Southeastern Conference title and assure the Maroons of a spot among the first three or four teams in the Associated Press poll.

Bits About Baseball

Mantle Not On Line Yet

DALLAS — With one day left before the New York Yankees officially open spring drills, Mickey Mantle still hasn't come to terms with the world champions. And the switch-swinger slugger says he has no intention of reporting to training camp until he signs.

Likes 100-1 Odds

MESA, Ariz. — Manager Bob Scheffing of the Chicago Cubs says he is happy the Las Vegas gamblers rate his club as a 100-1 shot for the pennant.

"But we may do some surprising," he adds. "What we do will depend largely on the kid pitchers. If two or three of them come through — and there's no reason they can't — we could do a lot of surprising."

Brosnan To Bullpen

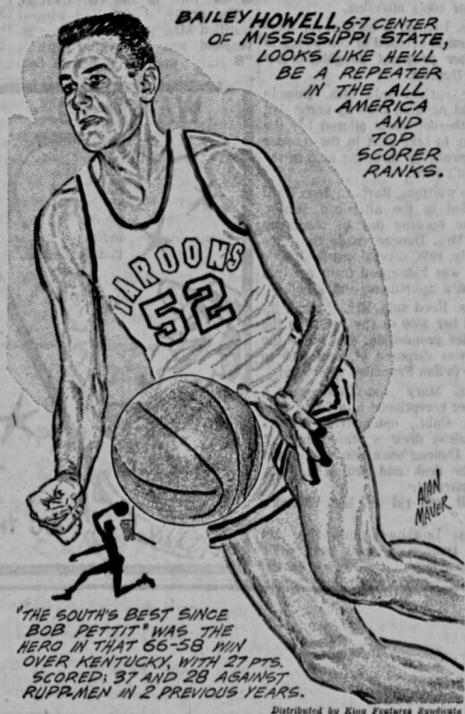

There has been no official word on what path State will follow. Gov. J. P. Coleman has said he would leave the decision to State President Ben Hilburn and the State College Board.

Hilburn said Tuesday he would make the "tough decision" within the next five days, but had no inkling what his decision would be. Should the school's fathers or other State officials refuse State permission to play in the NCAA tournament, they'll have an irate student body on their hands. The students held an election last week and 86 per cent of those voting favored the Maroons making a try for the NCAA title.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — St. Louis Cardinals Manager Solly Hemus said Tuesday he's made one definite decision about his pitching staff — Jim Brosnan will be his No. 1 relief pitcher.

"I'll call on him first, regardless of the stage of the game," Hemus said. "He showed last year he could do the relief job and he can pitch one inning, three or seven."

Gene Luttrell Only Hawkeye Grappler With Perfect Record

Gene Luttrell is the only member of the Iowa wrestling team with a perfect score so far this year. The Big Ten 137-pound champion has 11 straight wins in dual competition, three of these by falls.

The quick, slender ace of the Hawkeye mat squad has been burning up all competition through the last two months. In matches with Big Ten opponents he has a 7-0 record.

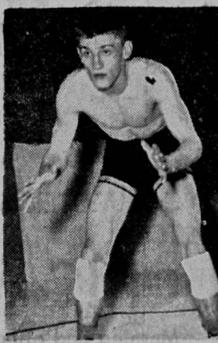

Ex-Iowa Wrestling Coach Honorary Ref For Big 10 Meet

Harold (Mike) Howard, who retired in 1952 after 31 years as Iowa wrestling coach, has been named honorary referee of the Big Ten championship tournament in the Iowa Fieldhouse March 6 and 7.

Howard coached 17 Iowans who won 26 individual conference titles, two of his athletes made the U.S. Olympic team and three of his teams had perfect dual meet season's records against Big Ten opponents.

Although Howard's teams never won the conference title, five teams placed second and three of them were one point short of the championship. Meet Manager Francis Graham also announced that the active referees will be Robert Siddens of Waterloo, Clifford Meyers of Bloomington, Ind., and Donald Johnson of East Lansing, Mich.

The meet opens March 6 at 2 p.m., the second session is at 7:30 p.m. and the finals are March 7 at 2 p.m. Iowa, coached by Dave McCuskey, Howard's successor, will defend the team title.

Gene Luttrell Defending Big Ten Champ

stresses speed and skill rather than weight and strength. His catlike speed and elusiveness impresses observers and his purposeful plan of attack is something to watch.

Gene joined the team in February, 1958, and for the rest of that season compiled a record of seven wins against two defeats, and won the Big Ten 137-pound title.

After the meet here Saturday against Purdue, Luttrell is concerned with keeping his Big Ten crown in the tournament here March 6 and 7. Earle Edwards of Wisconsin and Charles Coffee of Minnesota are his top rivals. Both men lost to Luttrell in dual meets this season but gained his respect even in defeat.

Last Weekend Of Dual Meets In Fieldhouse

The final weekend of winter sports dual contests, with four of the six events in the Iowa Fieldhouse, is on tap for the Iowa teams.

After this weekend, only championship contests are on the card, with the exception of the final basketball game at Michigan State, March 7.

MSU In Track Michigan State's track squad is the opponent here Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Iowa's only home track meet and only the third ever held with the Spartans.

A busy Saturday has Purdue as the wrestling opponent at 1:30 p.m. and as the swimming foe at 3 p.m. Then at 7:30, Illinois plays Iowa in the last home basketball game. The Illini trail the Hawks by only one-half game in the Big Ten standings and second place will be at stake.

In addition to everything else Saturday, two final district games in the boys' high school basketball tournament are set for 1:30 and 3 p.m.

Gym Team Finished The gymnastics team has ended its dual meet schedule with a 7-2 mark and will compete in the Big Ten championships at Indiana March 6 and 7. After meets with Ohio State and Chicago at Chicago Saturday, the fencers also will look forward to the conference title meet of the following weekend at Ohio State.

If the wrestling team can beat Purdue, it will enter the Big Ten title meet here March 6 and 7 as the defending champion with a perfect dual meet conference record of 8-0. Iowa already has beaten Indiana, Illinois, Michigan State, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan. The only conference team not met by Iowa is Ohio State.

Football schedules for the Iowa Hawkeyes, complete through 1964, show six Big Ten games each year, five home contests annually and ten games with west coast teams.

Firsts include: Michigan State to be played at East Lansing (in 1960), California to be met in a home and home series (1959, 1961), and Southern California (1962), Washington and Idaho (1964), come to Iowa City.

The schedule of each year ends as usual with the Notre Dame game, evenly divided between Iowa City and South Bend.

Webb, Boyd Clash In TV Go Tonight

CHICAGO — Spider Webb, hopefully eyeing Sugar Ray Robinson's dust-collecting middleweight title, risks his No. 3 ranking against Bobby Boyd in Chicago Stadium tonight.

Webb is a 9-5 choice in the 10-round battle of Chicagoans which is the first bout and national TV presentation of National Boxing Enterprises, Inc., formerly the Chicago branch of the dissolved International Boxing Club.

The match will be televised via ABC-TV, beginning at 9 p.m. Iowa time.

(In this area by KCRG-TV, Cedar Rapids, Channel 9.)

Webb, 27, and seventh-ranked Boyd, 25, met once before, March 17, 1954, when Webb knocked out Boyd in the sixth round.

This could be one of the year's best middleweight scraps, unless Robinson finally decides to defend his 160-pound crown against Carmen Basilio.

Last Sept. 11, Webb lost a 10-round decision to Gene Fullmer, currently ranked No. 2 challenger behind Basilio.

ANTHONY VS. RAY IN MARCH

Anthony, No. 1 contender, outpointed Ray, ranked fifth Nov. 14.

Bathgate May Quit Hockey For Career As Pro Golfer

NEW YORK — Andy Bathgate, one of the top stars of professional ice hockey, is faced with a tough decision as he nears the close of his best season in the big league.

A virtual cinch to win the National Hockey League's most valuable player award, Bathgate, 26, must decide whether to risk permanent injury to his legs while playing for the New York Rangers or embark on a career as a golf pro.

"I have to think of my future," he said Tuesday. "They (the Ranger management) can think what they want. I'm not going to damage myself for life."

Bathgate has two bad knees. The left knee, operated on eight years ago, aches in damp weather and shows the marks of studs which hold a silver plate. The right knee, protected by a brace, was re-injured three weeks ago in Toronto. He will have to undergo an operation in June to correct the condition.

"I'll decide then what to do," Bathgate said. "Stan Leonard (Canada's leading professional golfer) is a good friend of mine and I have been talking to him. I would like to get a job as an assistant pro at one of the clubs in Vancouver this summer."

Heavy Rains Postpone Baton Rouge Golf Open

BATON ROUGE, La. — The weatherman sat firmly in the driver's seat Tuesday as rain promised to stall the eighth annual $15,000 Baton Rouge Golf Open at least one day.

The nation's top professional golfers watched idly as steady showers soaked fairways and greens already drenched by a 2-day rain.

Giant Swiss Avalanche Inspected By Helicopter

HERBRIGGEN, Switzerland (UPI)—A Swiss geologist Tuesday used a helicopter to survey the giant avalanche threatening this tiny Alpine village.

Dr. Robert Winterhalder, who came down from Zurich, was flown to the landslide area on Mt. Nadelhorn. He spent several hours inspecting the area. On his return, he told newsmen here he could make no statement before meeting with Ernst Von Roth, chief of public works of the Canton Valais.

Cantonal Forest Inspector Hans Doenni also spent several hours in the area earlier. He said it was his opinion that any real danger, if it came, would not appear until temperatures rose in the spring. He expected the slide to continue to move slightly in the meantime.

Villagers have become accustomed to the idea that the village is doomed. To them it is just a question of time.

Professors Write Chapters For Dentistry Book

Two faculty members of the SUI College of Dentistry have written a chapter for a book entitled "Dental Clinics of North America," which will be published in March by the W. B. Saunders Company, Philadelphia and London.

They are Dr. James B. Bush, associate professor and head of oral diagnosis and Dr. Harold E. Clough, assistant professor of prosthetics.

Title of the chapter written by the SUI faculty members is "Psychological Management of the Partial Denture Patient." The book is a symposium on crown and bridge prosthodontics, which is the field dealing with replacement of missing teeth with artificial bridges or partial dentures.

8 SUIlowans In Billiards Play-Offs

Eight SUI students will advance during March to the regional and national championship play-offs of the National Intercollegiate Billiards Tournament, Bob Froeschle, manager of the Iowa Memorial Union recreation area, said Tuesday.

The students, playing on four teams, will compete in pocket billiards, straight billiards, 3-cushion billiards, and co-ed billiards.

Winners are Paul Lemme, A3, Iowa City, and Michael Uchytel, A2, Toledo, pocket billiards; Ron Hansen, A3, Alexander, and Jesus Perez, A3, Medellin, Colombia, straight rail billiards; Michael Costello, A1, Perry, and Rex Hill, A2, Clayton, Mo., 3-cushion billiards; and Nancy Clark, A3, Estherville, and Linda McMillan, N1, Sterling, Ill.

Competition for the team positions began Feb. 9.

These scores will be compared with scores from regional colleges to determine the eleven regional team champions.

The three regional champions with the highest individual scores in each division will play in the face-to-face national tournament at the University of Illinois April 3 and 4.

The tournament is sponsored by the Games Committee of the Association of College Unions of which George F. Stevens, assistant director of the Iowa Memorial, is chairman.

Career Meeting Ends Today

Unless a college graduate wishes to become a mere cog in the business machine, he had better continue his education after graduation, SUI students were told Tuesday by Charles H. Whitmore, president and chairman of the board of Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co., Davenport.

Whitmore, an SUI alumnus, spoke at a luncheon held in Iowa Memorial Union as part of the 2-day Careers conference which opened Tuesday at SUI.

Business Leaders Here
Some 30 leaders in business and industry are presiding over sessions to counsel students on careers. They include representatives from the areas of industrial accounting, management, foreign trade, retailing, insurance, finance, business education and secretarial science, labor relations, banking, marketing and research.

Speaking to some 200 SUI commerce students, Whitmore said that filling in the gaps in one's formal education is fundamental to success, since today's research often makes yesterday's textbooks obsolete.

Whitmore said that some companies, recognizing the basic need for continuing education in order to promote creative thinking, have started their own "schools for executives." Other companies are sending employees to university summer and extension courses, he noted. The worker needs particularly to continue to improve his power and facility of expression, the speaker explained.

No Genius Flashes
The Davenport executive pointed out that "flashes of genius don't just happen." They are the result of nurtured thoughts stirred by the imagination. Only the "cogs" in the business machine can afford not to be creative today, he said. And the "cogs" may be eliminated by machines before long. Citing his own company as making increasing use of machines for routine jobs, Whitmore said that his firm has shown a 45 percent increase in business during the past five years—without any increase in employment.

College graduates can often change employers profitably several times in their first years out of school, Whitmore said, but should not let job jumping become a habit.

In his conclusion, he said that the excitement, rewards and satisfaction on the job will come largely in proportion to the worker's willingness to continue his education.

2 To Solo With Clinton Orchestra

Two students from SUI will be soloists with the Clinton Symphony Orchestra as a result of a Local Artist Contest sponsored by the Clinton Symphony.

Winners of the Feb. 13 contest were Sherry Gregory, violinist, and Charles Curtis, baritone. Each will appear as guest solo artist with the Clinton Symphony during the early part of the symphony's 1959-60 season.

Miss Gregory, A3, Cedar Rapids, is the pupil of Stuart Canin, associate professor of music and head of violin instruction at SUI. She is a member of the SUI Symphony Orchestra and the University's String Chamber Society, and has presented recitals in the Iowa City area, including a recent appearance on radio station WSUT's Saturday morning "Recital Hall" series.

Charles Curtis, A3, Clinton, is student of Thomas Muir, associate professor of music and voice instructor on the SUI music staff. Curtis, a TV major, has made several solo appearances in the Clinton area and will be baritone soloist next month in an Iowa City performance of the Easter cantata "The Crucifixion."

Old Soldiers Never Die, Early Out OK

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—The House Armed Services Committee Tuesday approved 29 to 1 a bill providing for early retirement of 3,500 Navy and Marine officers.

The measure is designed to remove a block to the promotion of younger officers caused by the retention of more World War II vintage officers than the Navy and Marines need.

It would provide a way for the retirement of regular Navy captains and commanders and Marine colonels and lieutenant colonels who have served more than 20 years and have been passed over for promotion twice before serving out their full terms.

Senators Learn Acid, Bullets, Axes Used To Push Sales

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Chicago tavern operator virtually blew off the head of a thug lying in wait to kill him during an underworld drive to shake down pinball machine operators, Senate investigators said Tuesday.

by hoodlums trying to push reluctant gambling machine operators into line.

er they were involved in the Bates incident or any other violence.

McShane said an organization known as Chicago Independent Amusement Assn. Inc. hired three musclemen — Mastari, James Rini and Alex Ross — to help pressure amusement machine operators into joining the association and paying monthly dues of $1 for each machine.

Handcuffed together, Rini and Ross were brought before the committee. They refused on Fifth Amendment grounds to say whether

Judge Denies Assault Charge Against Paddling Principal

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Angry parents were rebuffed Tuesday when they demanded assault warrants against a high school principal who paddled 14 students and has three more to go.

ishment, though perhaps deserved, was too severe. The judge said he didn't think so.

"You should have seen my boy's rear end!" cried Mrs. George B. Scott.

Judge Unmoved
The judge was unmoved. "I have seen my own rear end after similar incidents," he said.

The trouble boiled up when Principal John Barnes of Bartlett High carried out a threat to shut down the soft drink machine in the cafeteria after it became clogged with lead slugs.

In reprisal, Barnes said about 20 boys tried to organize a boycott of the cafeteria. When their efforts failed they left the school grounds without permission.

Given Choice
Barnes said the boys who were caught were given a choice:

Either bring their parents to school for a chat with the principal, or take a paddling—seven whacks on the stern with a maple paddle about 12 inches long, 3 inches wide and 3/8ths of an inch thick—and nothing more said.

The principal said three more boys were paddled Tuesday and he still has three to deal out.

Mrs. Scott Disagrees
Mrs. Scott denied that the youngsters were given a choice of punishments.

"Barnes told them they could take their seven licks immediately or come back after a three-day suspension and take them then," she said.

Sessions Court Judge Willard Dixon said whacking errant students was not probable cause for an assault charge—that the boys needed it and the principal was within his legal rights.

The judge called the informal conference to hear the complaints of six mothers and a father who came up fighting mad after their sons were punished for trying to start a school cafeteria boycott.

Cite 1944 Ruling
Dixon cited a 1944 ruling by the State Supreme Court, which said school teachers have to a reasonable degree — the disciplinary rights of parents while the child is in their care.

A mother argued that the punishment was too severe.

2-Year-Old Nicotine Fiend Has Ash Tray On Trike

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI)—Mrs. Lawrence Smith is a non-smoker. Can't stand the smell of tobacco. But her son, Larry, is a regular nicotine fiend.

Since Larry is only two years old, his mother fears he's getting a rather early start on the cigarette habit.

The trouble began about a month ago when a visitor left a lighted cigarette on an ashtray in the Smith home. Larry picked it up and began to puff. Since then there's been no stopping him.

"Now he's up to about five 'mokes' a day, and I don't know what I'm going to do," Mrs. Smith, 33, said. A divorcee, she works as a waitress in a Peoria restaurant and has to leave Larry with a baby-sitter much of the time.

"Why, when I bring him down to work, he goes into customers' pockets looking for cigarettes . . . I get so embarrassed," she said. He even carries an ash tray on his tricycle.

"I've tried everything I can think of, including spanking and making him taste small pieces of raw tobacco, but it doesn't work at all. Why, once he even burned himself with a cigarette but he still went right on smoking."

"It's so bad now that if I or the baby sitter don't light his cigarette, he goes into a tantrum, screaming and crying and all that."

Mrs. Smith said the police suggested she take Larry to the doctor to see what can be done. She planned to take the advice.

Bar Association Requests Plugging Of Security Laws

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Bar Assn., ABA, sharply divided on whether to criticize recent Supreme Court decisions, called on Congress Tuesday to plug loopholes in internal security laws.

The ABA's policy making body, the House of Delegates, attributed the loopholes to the language of existing laws. But the delegates took official note that recent Supreme Court decisions involving Communist activities in America

"Have been severely criticized and deemed unsound by many responsible authorities."

The ABC took the action at a stormy session of its midwinter meeting in which some members openly denounced the Supreme Court decisions as wrong.

When the delegates finally agreed on a statement outlining the ABA's official position, it was toned down slightly from the version originally drafted by its Committee on Communist Tactics Strategy and Objectives.

The action had special significance because of the resignation from ABC membership of Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States.

No Reason Given
Warren gave no reason for his resignation, accepted last week, but there were published reports that he was dissatisfied with criticism of Supreme Court decisions aired at previous ABC meetings.

The ABC board of governors earlier approved the committee's recommendations "in order to correct legislative defects in the field of internal security."

The ABC report comes out flatly against proposals to limit the Supreme Court's jurisdiction. But it notes that differences over the court's rulings "have given rise not only to severe criticism of the decisions, but unfortunately to condemnation of the court itself."

High School Students Defend Teenagers At Kiwanis Club

"We do not judge people by the size of the eagle on their back," Bill Slaymaker, senior at City High School, said in a defense of today's teenager before the Tuesday meeting of the Iowa City Kiwanis Club. Slaymaker, one of a four member City High School panel discussing teenage problems, said teenagers do respect good grades and scholarship, and do not admire delinquents.

The panel discussion was part of the Kiwanis luncheon program emceed by SUI Associate Professor of Journalism, Walter A. Steigleman.

Rock and roll music was dismissed as a not serious problem by Nancy Croy. She said she thought it was a fad which would be outgrown and was nothing for parents to worry about. On classic music as an alternative she was a little dubious. "Some of you probably like it, but many adults don't. Give us time and we may learn."

Slaymaker had an interesting explanation which ended the discussion of whether teenagers have too many extracurricular activities. "The reason the teenager has so little spare time is that he spends so much time doing things which make it seem like he doesn't have any spare time."

The panel recognized the problems which arise between parent and teenager and suggested a give and take between them. As a last resort, when teens do do things without permission — "the parents can always go back to punishment."

Rep. Carter Hints Son's Pay Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Picturing himself as a man who has just found life again, Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) said Tuesday he'll decide in a few days what to do about his 19-year-old son's $11,873 salary.

Carter said he may decide to reduce the salary or take his son off the congressional payroll entirely. But he said he wants to keep him as an assistant if at all possible.

The 43-year-old Carter told newsmen also of his bout with a recurrence of cancer, which originally struck him in 1957. He got word from doctors at nearby Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital earlier this month it was back again.

But he said it has been treated successfully so far.

Private Guess
"I had a private guess," Carter said, "That I didn't have too long to live. Now doctors tell me I have not a sure chance but a good one to live out a normal life span."

Carter's son, Steven A., works in his father's office. He also is a freshman pre-law student at George Washington University here.

After he went on the payroll at $11,873 last Jan. 3, and the word got around, the question was raised whether it was proper for anyone so young to get such a big government salary, particularly in a part-time job.

Talking to reporters here later, Carter said, "There are certain things which have to be considered—ethics . . . morals . . . the effect on my son. I don't intend to chisel the taxpayers."

Carter said he is taking the same daily treatments for cancer as Secretary of State Dulles. Carter had one Tuesday morning.

Carter said doctors described his cancer as lympho blastoma, one of a class of tumors of varying malignancy which involve the lymph system.

As for his son's status, Carter said "getting the picture in proper perspective is what's tough."

He said a good stenographer in his home town of Leon probably could be hired for about $2,400 a year but the same one in Washington would receive between $5,000 and $8,000.

High Cost of Living
"I agree the cost of government is too high," Carter said. "But the cost of living in Washington justifies the difference in salary standards."

He said the $22,500 he makes as a congressman probably won't cover his expenses "and we don't live high. I'll probably have to go into some of my savings."

"Nepotism has become a dirty word," Carter said. "But if a man and wife or man and son are a good team they give better service to the taxpayer" than some other employee would give in the relative's place.

T.V. SNACK TOO?
LONDON (UPI)—The newspaper The Star said Tuesday the London County Council would be asked Friday to consider placing 27-inch television sets in city parks.
