8 Injured In Disaster At Aurora, Ill.

Elevator Operator Hero In Rescue

AURORA, Ill., (UPI) — Fire raged through a rambling century-old home for the aged Friday, driving close to 100 old folks into the streets. At least three men were missing and feared dead.

Eight injured persons, including a fireman who toppled from an aerial ladder and two old men who leaped into fire nets, were brought to Copley Memorial Hospital. The fireman and one of the men who jumped were described as in "Bad Condition."

Many of the 97 inmates and 15 employees of the 5-story Jennings Terrace Home for the Aged were brought to safety by an elevator operated by the fire's chief hero, Jacob Schmidt, 72.

Schmidt kept his elevator operating up to the last possible minute, bringing the inmates down in groups of 12 to 15 from the top floors to a point where they could be led to safety.

Fire Escape Twisted

Others escaped down a fire escape which was later twisted out of shape by the heat or were rescued by firemen from six communities who plunged into the dense smoke time and again.

The blaze broke out at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the stone and yellow brick building, a former Methodist girl's seminary which became 100 years old last June. The home's superintendent, Mrs. Leila Roselle, said smoke began pouring from the north wing room of Mrs. Regina Hilding and she called the fire department.

Three hours later, the fire was under control, but the top three floors and roof had collapsed. Only a shell remained of the rest of the vine-covered building and damage was estimated at $500,000.

3 Men Missing

Police Chief Donald Curran said three men were missing in the fire's wake. They were identified as Jasper Davis, 87; Alfred Fransen, 98, and Charles Bartholomew, 78. Firemen planned to search the rubble for them as soon as they were able to enter the burned-out building.

Cool-headed, sometimes heroic, rescue work by policemen, firemen and employees of the home prevented a major tragedy.

Curran said, "We pulled 15 elderly men and women out of there, when we got there, one old fellow (identified as Ezra Stiles, about 70, one of the worst injured) was sitting on a window sill on the fifth floor."

'Lucky To Live'

"We had a net. We shouted at him and we pleaded with him and we finally got him to jump. He hit the net. I think he broke his back. He was lucky to live."

Patrolman Peter Perez, 34, told how he and a detective, Edward Williams, spotted an elderly woman as they searched the smoky third floor corridors.

"We crawled on our hands and knees because the smoke was so thick," Perez said. "You couldn't see anything in there. But we kept hollering and the women kept hollering back and we located her that way. We pulled her out down the back steps. She said she had just awakened and didn't know anything about the fire. She would have been killed."

"We went back a second time and hollered but nobody else answered. We couldn't breathe any more and had to get out of there."

Cause A Mystery

The cause of the fire remained a mystery. One inmate, Mrs. Jessie Ridding, 77, said she heard an explosion, but others had not. Mrs. Roselle said many of the inmates insisted on plugging in electrical appliances in their rooms, even though it was against the home's rules.

Forty of the refugees were taken to a YMCA and then routed to private homes. Relatives picked up the others.

The site of the blaze was located five blocks south of downtown Aurora, a northern Illinois City 40 miles southwest of Chicago. Only 15 miles away, on last Jan. 30, fire swept another nursing home in the town of Glen Ellyn and killed nine persons.

Iraqi Still Fighting, Travelers Report

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — People from northern Iraq said Friday night civil war raged in the streets of Mosul days after the fall of Iraqi rebel leaders.

They reported that sporadic fighting continued as recently as Thursday in Mosul.

Some asserted enormous casualties resulted from the rebellion they said began last Saturday under Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf. This dispatch was sent through Iraqi censorship. The Baghdad government has decided the uprising in Mosul was put down and its leaders were destroyed early this week.

People arriving from the north gave this composite account: Thousands of Shammar tribesmen poured into Mosul from the northwest to join Shawaf's rebellion. Townspeople in sympathy with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser also sided with the rebels.

On the other hand, loyalist troops were backed by thousands of Kurd and Yezidda tribesmen who rushed in from the northeast. Bloodshed came after Shawaf was driven from his headquarters by Iraqi air force bombers. Before that, however, pro-Nasser groups seized and executed large numbers of peace partisans.

Reports from outside Iraq have said clashes first broke out in Mosul last Friday at a big peace partisan rally that was attended by Communists from all over Iraq. With the defeat of the rebels, loyalist drumhead courts tried and convicted soldiers, tribesmen and townspeople suspected of aiding the uprising.

Hawaiian Student Hopes To Go Home For Statehood Spree

By MARY JANSSE
Assistant City Editor

Hawaii has its statehood, and Joe Kaipo, A2, may go home to Honokaa, Hawaii — it that long distance call comes through.

Joe was waiting for a phone call Friday night from his parents, giving him permission to fly to Hawaii and join in the celebration of statehood. He has been trying to reach them since Thursday at 10 a.m. with no success.

"I've been waiting a long time for this," Joe said, when asked about Hawaiian thrill. "It gives me a personal thrill to think of Hawaii as a state," he continued.

Joe is planning to leave Friday or early Saturday morning if he can get the OK from his parents in Honokaa. He plans to return about Wednesday.

Signs of "Welcome Foreigner" greeted Joe when he arrived at work in a local drug store Friday. "I still get kidded about being from Hawaii," he said.

Hawaiian statehood will mean state taxes, election of the governor by the citizens, and more gen-

Go To War If Needed In Berlin: Gen. Taylor

President Asks $4 Billion Foreign Aid

Says Aid More Security Than Increased Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told Congress Friday the almost four billion dollars he wants for foreign aid would be money well spent.

The President said in a special message that this would buy far more security than could come from stepped-up spending for this country's own armed forces. Some Capitol Hill Democrats, who favor a higher defense budget than the President asked, quickly voiced doubt.

Eisenhower asked $3,929,995,000 for the mutual security program in the year beginning July 1, and said it all is needed to meet "the enormous and growing Communist potential to launch a war of nuclear destruction" — in the Berlin crisis, for example.

"Dollar for dollar," he said, "our expenditures for the mutual security program, after we have once achieved a reasonable military posture for ourselves, will buy more security than far greater expenditures for our own forces."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), one of the first lawmakers to comment on Eisenhower's proposals, said Congress may cut the recommended sum to around three billion dollars.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Foreign Relations Committee said he would support the main provisions of the program asked by Eisenhower.

Allies Agree In Berlin Talk

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew back from Bonn Friday night with broad West German—and French—support for a program leading to summit talks with the Soviet Union by July, British sources reported.

Macmillan plans on a flying trip to Washington next week.

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said he and Macmillan "achieved complete unity" in their two days of talks.

Porter, Ross Give Views—

ISC Name Change

By BEN BLACKSTOCK
Staff Writer

The proposed change in name for Iowa State College—to Iowa State University—has received varied reception from professors at SUI.

Kirk H. Porter, professor and head of the SUI Department of Political Science said Friday that making the proposed change would be confusing. He said a better name would be Ames University, similar to the name given to Purdue University in Indiana.

Porter said Purdue University has profited by naming the University by the town name and Ames should also spread its name around by the same method. Ames is a well known city, Porter said, and it seems appropriate to exploit the name of Ames by including it in a new name.

Russell M. Ross, associate professor of political science at SUI, said the trouble with the name Ames University is that the name of Iowa is not included in the title.

Many people do not know that Purdue is in Indiana, Ross said, and the same trouble would be found with Ames.

Ross said he doubts if the Board of Regents would approve the title Ames University for Iowa State College because Iowa would be dropped from the name.

Ross suggested that State be dropped from the State University of Iowa making it the University of Iowa, if the Board of Regents approves Iowa State University for ISC.

Ross said changing SUI's name would involve an amendment to the Iowa Constitution, but an official change would be likely.

Any change in ISC's name would not involve a constitutional change, Ross said. ISC's name was established by a state statute that only stipulated "a land grant agricultural" educational institution.

If Ames University was selected

SUI Staff Changes, Projects Approved

Appointment of two new associate professors, a leave of absence and a resignation from a departmental chairmanship were approved for the SUI faculty Friday morning by the State Board of Regents.

Henry A. Dye was named to the Department of Mathematics and Astronomy faculty and Ruth N. Lutz was appointed to the Department of International Medicine, with both appointments being effective next September. Professor James A. Clancy, speech and dramatic arts, was granted a leave of absence to travel and study in Europe on a Ford Foundation grant.

In order to devote more time to research, Professor William O. Aydelotte resigned his administrative duties as chairman of the SUI History Department. Aydelotte has been on leave of absence from the history faculty during the current academic year.

Other Action

During its March meeting, the Board of Regents also:

Approved an $18,000 project for alteration of East Hall by building a one-story, 40-by-60 foot addition on the northeast corner of the west wing, for use by the Iowa Testing Program, which will pay for the construction from income derived from sale of ITP tests to schools outside Iowa.

Approved a project for paving various drives, parking lots and tennis courts with asphaltic concrete at a total cost of $40,000, to be paid from parking revenues ($7,300), athletic department earnings ($23,000) and SUI's repairs, replacement and alterations fund ($8,800);

Authorized SUI to negotiate a lease for use of the Sigma Nu fraternity house as a children's dormitory for the University's summer speech clinic program; Approved the substitution of self-storing, combination screen and storm windows instead of removable screen windows for Hawkeye Apartments, new housing units now under construction for SUI married students. Additional cost for 1,816 window units will be $11,707.

Revised Law Budget

Approved a revised budget of $812,000 for a new SUI Law Center. The 56th General Assembly appropriated $500,000 initially for the project, and the University had sought an additional $392,000 this year, which included $80,000 for equipment, for a total budget of $892,500. The 58th General Assembly recently appropriated $312,500 which will provide for construction of the building itself, and funds for equipment will be sought later. It is expected that bids will be taken and contracts let during the spring, to permit construction to begin as soon as possible.

When Professor Dye assumes his teaching duties at SUI in September it will mark his second period of work on the Iowa campus, for he served as an assistant professor in the Department of Mathematics and astronomy from 1954 to 1956, resigning in the latter year to accept an associate professorship at the University of Chicago, where he earned his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees.

Miss Lutz will come to SUI from Cornell University, where she has been an assistant professor of home economics since 1954. She earned her B.S. and Ph.D. degrees at Cornell and the M.S. at the University of Wisconsin. Miss Lutz has served as dietitian at hospitals in Cambridge, Mass., and Spokane, Wash. At SUI she will teach nutrition in the College of Medicine and work in dietetics for University Hospitals.

Paving Projects

Paving projects for which bids will be sought include the entrance and drive of the Veterans Hospital area at Psychopathic Hospital; entrances and drive at Hawkeye Field; a drive extension at the Hospital School; the Quadrangle-Hillcrest drive; drives and entrances around the Iowa Stadium, and the tennis courts near the Field House.

The new East Hall addition will be built immediately north of a similar addition which was constructed last summer.

Daytime Limit Of 70 MPH

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa motorists will lose some of their traffic independence on Independence Day.

July 4 is the date set for the inaugural of the first law limiting daytime speeds on the state's primary highways.

Drivers who in the past have been cautioned only to travel at a safe speed in the daytime will have to hold their speeds to 70 miles an hour or less.

A bill establishing the daytime limit was signed by Gov. Herschel Loveless Friday. The law limiting nighttime speeds to 60 miles an hour was passed in the last session of the Legislature.

ENGLISH COMPOSER DIES

LONDON (AP) — Haydn Wood, composer of "Roses of Picardy" and other wistful ballads associated with birds, flowers and graceful old age, died in a London nursing home last night.

Wood, 76, wrote "Roses of Picardy" while riding a London bus in World War I.

Plate Deadline

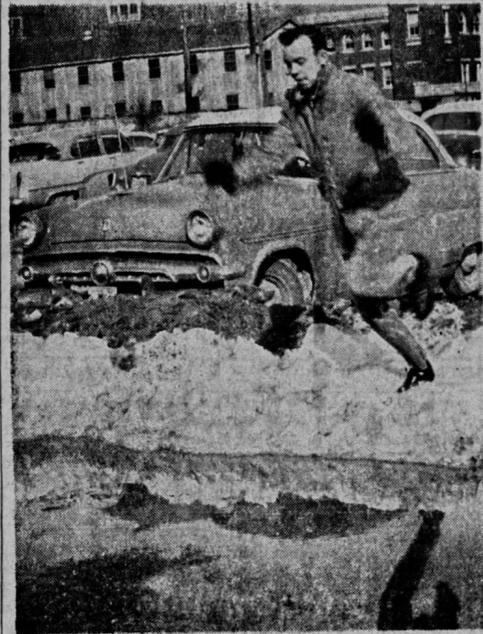

Police To Enforce Beginning Sunday

The State Safety Department reminds motorists that the Highway patrol will begin enforcement against drivers with delinquent license plates Sunday.

The patrol will begin stopping all vehicles still bearing 1958 license plates on that date.

Iowa City police said they will issue summons for vehicles stopped in Iowa City.

The Johnson County Treasurer's office will remain open until noon Saturday.

Feels Attitude Would Deter Red Showdown

Thinks Reds Could Grab Berlin In Surprise Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told senators this country should determine "to go to war if necessary for Berlin," it was disclosed Friday.

"The effect of such an attitude would deter the Soviets from having a final showdown at this time," Taylor, Army chief of staff, said in a heavily censored transcript of secret testimony.

Taylor testified at a session of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee Wednesday. The first part of his testimony was made available to newsmen by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), chairman of the group.

Berlin Airlift Mistake

In it, Taylor said that many military leaders now regard the 1948-49 Berlin airlift as a mistake. He said force should have been tried when the Russians blocked highways and other ground routes to Berlin.

He concluded the Soviets could overrun Berlin and probably West Germany now if they decided on a surprise attack in full force.

Taylor said the Army was ready to use nuclear weapons, if it is to the West's advantage, at any time and if the President approves.

Taylor, Army commander in Berlin in 1949-50, just after the costly airlift, said he had been expecting for years the Soviet Union would turn over control of Berlin to the Communist East Germans.

Berlin Untenable

Because of its location 100 miles inside the Iron Curtain and surrounded by powerful Communist forces, Taylor said "Berlin always has been untenable as a military position."

Taylor said the West now faces "the possible use of indeterminate force on the part of the East Germans after May 27th to prevent our free access to Berlin."

"We should not allow a bluff to force us into a self-imposed blockade or anything resembling that kind of passive reaction," Taylor said.

Ike To Report To U.S. Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will report to the American people Monday night on the war dangers involved in the Soviet Union's campaign to force the Western Allies out of Berlin.

In a special television and radio broadcast, Mr. Eisenhower is expected to stress the nation's determination to stand firm alongside its allies in the face of Soviet pressure.

But he also is reported ready to make clear his readiness to ease tension by negotiations toward settling the entire German issue.

The White House announced the President will speak for 30 minutes over all major networks, starting at 8:30 p.m. (CST).

Mr. Eisenhower's address will be delivered from his White House office.

TO KEEP 49-STAR FLAG

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will let stand its existing orders for 49-star flags, issuing new orders later for 50-star flags to provide Hawaii's addition to the Union.

A spokesman said Friday that as of Feb. 15, orders for 49-star flags, issued after Alaskan statehood was granted, totaled about 16,000 flags. These will be sufficient to provide all the armed forces with flags by next July.

Ike To New GOP Group: 'Godspeed'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower wished a new Republican committee godspeed Friday in its search for victory guideposts for the GOP in 1960 and future years.

At a White House lunch for 41 newly named members of the committee, the President renewed his endorsement of the "new look" project.

He agreed that the members should tackle the job with open minds, or as Chairman Charles H. Percy put it, without shirking from the answers "if they are novel and upsetting."

Percy, named by National Committee Chairman Meade Alcorn to head the group, is a Chicago businessman. He spoke to the committee at its opening session prior to the White House lunch.

Alcorn, who thought up the idea of the committee after the party's stinging defeat at the polls last fall, said Eisenhower gave neither advice nor instructions.

He said the Chief Executive subscribed to the idea that the committee was a study group functioning with a blank check in its search for long-range party objectives.

The committee is made up of representatives from business, labor, education and other fields. It is to report its recommendations by Sept. 1.

Alcorn gave it the starting signal when he told it to explore "what new devices we can employ in communicating . . . objectives, principles, concepts and ideas to the American people in order to make them more understandable, more meaningful and more worthy of support."

He advised the Committee to make its recommendations "comprehensive" but not "cumbersome" and to "avoid platitudes as studiously as you will avoid overly-detailed statements."

Warning that the group was not set up to draft a party platform or legislative proposals, Alcorn said it should write a "concise, understandable statement of our party's long-range objectives in all of the areas of political responsibility and activity in the light of the social, technological and economic developments which you can reasonably anticipate during the years immediately ahead."

He said the guideposts established should aid "Republican policymakers, officeholders, workers and voters to deal forthrightly and vigorously and effectively with the problems we must solve."

Billiard Champions

PRACTICING HER STYLE, Linda McMillan, NI, Sterling, Ill., lines up for another tournament-winning billiards shot, while Nancy Clark, A3, Estherville, watches carefully. The girls had high scores on the co-ed billiards tournaments—86 for Nancy and 67 for Linda. As last year's national champion, Nancy will compete in the national tournament at the University of Illinois April 3 and 4.

SUI Co-ed Billiards Winner To Enter National Tournament

Two SUI co-eds are right at home peering down a pool cue aimed at the eight ball.

They're the winners of the SUI co-ed billiards tournament—one of them a national champion.

Nancy Clark, A3, Estherville, and Linda McMillan, NI, Sterling, Ill., won the campus tournament in the Iowa Memorial Union with scores April 3 and 4. Last year she won the national championship.

National Champion

Nancy, whose score was one of the three highest scores in the country will play in the national face-to-face tournament at the University of Illinois at Champaign, of 86 and 67 respectively, national championship.

Billiards is definitely not just a man's sport, both girls agreed. Nancy said, "Billiards, like ping pong and bowling, is another sport area where girls can participate." Linda added that the more girls that get interested in billiards, the more fun it is.

Men Look

Being a co-ed billiard player means a good share of teasing, especially from the fellows, Nancy said. "It's funny the way they look at you when you go down to the billiard room and begin playing," she said.

Likewise, no one believed Linda when she told them she was a tournament winner. She got such remarks as, "What was that? Did I hear you right?"

Maine House Burns During Storm; 7 Die

EASTON, Maine, Mar. 13.—(UPI)—A father who stayed to save his family died early Friday with five of his six children and an overnight guest when fire leveled their small house in a raging snow storm.

Dead were John Hersey, 41, a civilian fire and rescue employe at nearby Loring Air Force Base, and his children, John Jr., 12, Victoria, 10, Betty, 8, James, 6, and Cindy, 3, and Carl Lundy, 50, cousin by marriage.

The mother, Mrs. Christine Hersey, 37, and a daughter Deanna, 13, escaped with burns. Deanna said she shook John Jr. but could not rouse him.

Deputy Sheriff Henry C. Rackliff said bodies in the charred ruins were "burned beyond recognition." Twelve hours after the fire the bodies were still being disentangled from the blackened wreckage piled up in the cellar of the 1 1/2-story frame dwelling.

13th Fire—13 Dead

The fire on Friday the 13th brought to 13 the number of persons killed in house fires in Maine this week.

Rackliff said a neighbor boy told him Lundy, married to Hersey's cousin, often stayed the night at the Hersey house and was there as late as 9:30 last night. "So he was in there, beyond a reasonable doubt," the Deputy said.

Mrs. Hersey stumbled from the house and fell weeping in a snow bank. She told neighbor Daniel Lovely she pushed her husband "as far as the front door," "but he wouldn't come out. He wouldn't come out."

Charles Davis, another neighbor, said he saw Hersey lying just inside the door and he would pull him out but flames kept him back. The father apparently collapsed as he was starting upstairs to save the children and Lundy.

Overheated Wood Stove

Rackliff said he believed an overheated wood stove in the front room touched off the flames. "They'd have gotten out all right if they had waked up," he said. "They just didn't wake up in time."

Deanna screamed a warning that woke her parents, jumped about 10 feet out a window into a snow bank and ran screaming to the Davis' house.

ANTI-PEEPING SHOW

IPOH, Malaysia (AP)—The Rose Chan striptease show has permission to perform here, thanks to Dr. W. Holmes, acting head of the town council. Issuing the permit, he told the council: "There is a tendency in every male to be something of a Peeping Tom. It is perhaps better this way (the striptease show) than to have people peep into your bedrooms at night."

With the assistance of a son of the (old sod), Richard Powers of the SUI Writers' Workshop, producer Emma Sue Phelps has put together Irish street songs, music by the Irish Festival Singers, Irish ballads and lyrics read by Siobhan McKenna, and quotations like this from Mr. Powers: "You may have seen John Ford's Ireland in the movies. It is funny, and even funnier to Irish people. . . And many people think of Ireland as Joyce's Ireland. It is no more Joyce's Ireland than Joyce is Ireland's Joyce, for the prophet is almost unknown in his own country—they haven't even banned his books there." PART TWO OF SATURDAY SUPPLEMENT will retain the flavor of the British Isles through the medium of recordings of English plays and theatricals of the past season. Another on-the-spot informant, Miss Marjorie Zumstein, education librarian at SUI, will describe a round of play-going she enjoyed in England last autumn. Highlight of this portion of SS, undoubtedly, will be recorded portions of an actual performance by the team Flanders and Swann in their show, "At The Drop of a Hat." In addition, there will be BBC interviews with Sir John Gielgud, Sir Alec Guinness and the manager of an English stage company.

Harmon Drops Front Porch Claim Against Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Randall S. Harmon (D-Iowa) said Friday he's going to forget all about his plan to collect $1,800 from the Post Office Department for the use of his front porch.

The much-quoted man from Muncie announced after a conference with Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield: "The post office is welcome to use my front porch for as long as they want."

Summerfield later reported that Harmon told him as he entered the postmaster general's office: "I just want you to know that I want you to forget all about my front porch."

Summerfield said he was quite willing to forget about it anyway, since he had obtained a legal opinion to the effect that the post office couldn't be charged for use of the porch.

When Harmon met reporters after seeing Summerfield he was questioned once more about his use of his porch in Muncie as a congressional office, a report that he takes a gun, and the idea of asking the Post Office Department to pay for using his porch as a mail relay point.

Jurors Hear Final Arguments In Elizabeth Duncan Murder Case

VENTURA, Calif. (UPI)—Prosecutor Roy Gustafson implored jurors in the Elizabeth Duncan murder case Friday to do their duty by convicting the 54-year-old matron of first degree murder in the for-hire slaying of her son's wife.

"Don't shirk your duty," the district attorney said. "It's unpleasant to vote for a verdict of murder for a fellow human being. But . . . Don't shirk your duty." The plea came at the end of Gustafson's final argument, presented as methodically and as free of emotion as the rest of the case.

Earlier, noted criminal attorney S. Ward Sullivan summed up his case by claiming Olga Duncan died at the hands of two killers who instigated a ransom plot that failed.

All that remained at the close of Friday was the reading of final instructions by the judge and deliberation by the jury. But it was delayed until Monday by a vote of the jury.

Ike Visits Marshall and Dulles At Walter Reed Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday visited Gen. George C. Marshall, his old Army chief, at the Army Walter Reed Medical Center.

At the hospital the President also conferred again with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It was Eisenhower's eighth visit with Dulles since the secretary was found to have suffered a recurrence of cancer.

Marshall, former Army chief of staff, was transferred to Walter Reed earlier this week from Womack Army Hospital at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Marshall, who also served as secretary of state and secretary of defense in President Truman's administration has suffered two strokes in recent weeks, and has been reported in serious condition.

Violent Nationalist Arrested By African Security Forces

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI)—Police reinforcements patrolled the streets of Lusaka, Northern Rhodesia, Friday night after African mobs smashed store windows and hurled crude bombs in the first serious outbreak of nationalist violence in that central African territory.

Police in Lusaka, capital of the territory, arrested several of the rioters who tossed "Molotov cocktail" gasoline bombs in the anti-white attacks aimed chiefly at stores owned by Europeans and Asians.

Authorities expressed concern that nationalist demonstrations which have plagued Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland for weeks might now spread through northern Rhodesia. The three states are linked in the central African federation.

In Nyasaland, where 41 Africans have been killed in recent rioting, security forces in the commercial center of Blantyre launched a big operation to eliminate all saboteurs, arsonists and agitators.

Circulation Of Daily Papers Low
"Will one and one-third daily newspapers keep a family properly and sufficiently informed?" Wilbur C. Peterson, assistant professor of journalism at SUI raises this question in an article in the Winter 1959 Journalism Quarterly. Peterson points out that this is the average number of newspapers each family in the U.S. received in 1957. Information he has collected indicates that circulation of daily newspapers has not increased as fast as the number of families has increased since 1929. According to Peterson, the depression years caused a drop in total daily newspaper circulation, but this was offset by increases during the war years. However, the number of daily newspaper copies sold during the years 1929 to 1957 did not increase as fast as the total population.

Nasser: Iraq Base For Red Conquest
DAMASCUS, U.A.R. (UPI) — United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser charged Friday that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem had transformed Iraq into a jumping off place for an attempted Communist conquest of the Arab world. In his third attack on Kassem in as many days, Nasser said he had invited the Iraqi Premier to meet him four times for the sake of Arab unity. Each time, he added, Kassem refused with "pretexts." Replying to Iraqi charges that the UAR was responsible for the ill-fated army revolt in northern Iraq earlier this week, Nasser said the Communists were trying to create a "Communist fertile crescent" — a superstructure stretching from the Mediterranean to the Persian Gulf. The UAR President spoke Friday to students who had just come from the funeral of an Iraqi rebel army officer killed in the abortive revolt.

France Wants To Hold On To Its Fleet
PARIS (UPI) — France has informed the NATO Council that it does not want to hand over control of the French Mediterranean Fleet to the allied command in the event of war, it was disclosed Friday. NATO officials took the statement under study. Sources stressed that the French request — made in line with President Charles De Gaulle's feelings — change nothing in the current NATO setup. The Mediterranean Fleet is not under NATO control at present and would become a NATO force only in case of hostilities. De Gaulle is known to feel strongly that France should retain control of its armed forces and not surrender control of them to an international body such as NATO. French sources said the request to be relieved of NATO commitments for the fleet in time of war in no way would weaken the western alliance. France still would cooperate fully in the event of an outbreak, they said.

Professor Johnson Writes New Book On Stuttering
When a youngster comes to be regarded as a stutterer, is the child "to blame" or are the parents? Actually, it is impossible to "blame" anyone, although the listener is probably more responsible for the problem than the speaker, according to research findings in a new book "The Onset of Stuttering" by Prof. Wendell Johnson and associates at SUI. The book, to be published Monday by the University of Minnesota Press, reports on investigations carried out between 1934 and 1957 at the SUI speech pathology center by a team of researchers. The book was written by Prof. Johnson, who has long been a distinguished leader and writer in the field of stuttering. About 500 children, half of them regarded by their parents as stutterers, half as non-stutterers, were studied and their parents were intensively interviewed about the beginnings of the problem and related aspects of family life and child development.

Louisville Clubs Champion Kentucky, 76-61

Cards Assure NCAA Of New Champ In '59

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Defending champion Kentucky was knocked out of the NCAA Basketball Tournament by underdog Louisville 76-61 in the first round of the Midwest regional playoff Friday night.

Louisville's Cardinals who came into the tourney with an unimpressive 17-10 record, overcame a 15-point first-half deficit to ruin Kentucky's bid for a fifth NCAA crown.

Trailing 36-28 at halftime, Louisville came up with a terrific display of pressure shooting by Harold Andrews, Don Goldstein and Roger Tieman to cut down the Wildcats, ranked No. 2 in the nation.

Andrews gave Louisville the lift it really needed with 13 points in the second half.

The Wildcats, seeking to become the only team ever to win the NCAA title twice in successive years, held a 27-12 lead midway in the first half.

But with the second half only five minutes old, Louisville nudged ahead 48-46. Then the Cardinals spurred ahead by 10 points 57-47, and Kentucky was finished.

The Wildcats had a 23-2 record entering the tourney.

The other semifinal game at Evanston saw Big Ten representative Michigan State slip by Marquette, 74-69.

In the Eastern Regionals at Charlotte, N.C., Boston University continued on its upset binge by squeaking past Navy, 62-55 in an overtime. West Virginia defeated St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the other Eastern game.

At Lawrence, Kan. Cincinnati was hard pressed but managed to take a 77-73 win over the Southwestern Conference's Texas Christian, Kansas State, the No. 1 team in the nation, had no trouble in racing past DePaul of Chicago, 102-70.

One game had been completed on the West Coast by Daily Iowan press time. That contest at San Francisco, saw St. Mary's of California beat Idaho State, 80-71.

Evansville Winner In NCAA Small College Tourney

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — The peppery Evansville College Aces, fused by hometown senior Hugh Ahlering, led virtually from the start Friday night to defeat Southwest Missouri 83-65 and capture the NCAA Small College Basketball Championship.

A wild crowd of 8,651 shouted in support of the home boys, who piled up a 44-38 halftime bulge and padded it out in the last half.

Southwest's Bears from Springfield could match the pace only in the opening five minutes, going ahead once and tying it up once. But then Ahlering, Mel Lurker, Ed Smallwood and Hal Cox hit in unison and at the 10-minute mark the Aces were in high gear with a 22-13 margin.

Smallwood topped the Aces with 26 points, with Lurker adding 19 and the ball-hawking Ahlering 16. Evansville made 28 of 61 field goals for .459 per cent.

Aggies 3d, 101-84

Ahead all the way and scoring nearly at will, North Carolina A&T of Greensboro smashed Los Angeles State 101-84 Friday night to win third place in the NCAA Small College Basketball Tournament.

Hitting 23 of 50 floor shots in the first half, the dashing North Carolina Aggies rolled up a 56-39 margin at intermission and kept scoring through the second half.

The usually peppery Los Angeles Diablos could make only 17 field goals out of 55 attempts in the first half.

Tennessee A&I In NAIA Final Round

By The Associated Press

Tennessee A&I, ranked 16th in the nation in the final UPI basketball poll, advanced into the final game of the NAIA tournament at Kansas City Friday night by edging Southwest Texas State, 64-62.

Pacific Lutheran also gained the finals by handing Fort Hays (Kan.) State an 80-71 setback.

Maynard, Gladbrook Advance To Final Game In Girls Meet

Maynard W. Central 78 Rockwell City 45

DES MOINES (AP) — Defending champion West Central of Maynard raced into the championship game of the State Girls' High School Basketball Tournament by trouncing Rockwell City 78-45 Friday night.

Maynard got another tremendous performance from Virginia Henniges who scored 49 points.

It was Maynard's 58th straight victory, including 28 this season. The loss was Rockwell City's first of the year and broke a 24-game winning streak.

Henniges' rapid scoring boosted her 3-game tournament total to 154 points, seven shy of the record made by Vivian Fleming of Emerson in 1958. Fleming also holds the 4-game record at 200, a mark at which Virginia will be shooting in the finals.

Virginia, who played the entire game, made 20 of 41 shots. The 5'9" sharpshooter made 25 points in the first half when Maynard soared to a 40-22 lead. She slipped in 8 of 11 shots in the first period to overcome a 2-5 Rockwell City lead.

Rockwell City didn't score a basket in the first seven minutes of the second quarter and Maynard boomed its advantage to 35-15.

Linda Lory was the top scorer for Rockwell City with 34 points.

Gladbrook 71 Garrison 54

A plucky Gladbrook team moved ahead with defending champion Maynard West Central Friday night into the title game.

The Pantherettes from Tama County held off a fighting Garrison team through the third quarter and rolled to a 71-54 victory over the Rockettes to wind up play in the semifinals.

Maynard and Gladbrook will come to grips for the 1959 championship tonight following the consolation game between Garrison and Rockwell City.

Gladbrook has lost only two games in 26 starts this season but both of them were to West Central so the prospects of dethroning the Blue Devils are mighty imposing.

Chum Selk's 39 points for Garrison were not enough to hold down the 3-pronged attack of Gladbrook in which Myrna Hauschildt fired in 30 points, Marcia Lynk 21 and Judy Schade 20.

Even so the Pantherettes trailed Garrison 32-29 at the half and were behind 42-35 midway through the third quarter before Hauschildt and her mates took charge. They turned the tide, building up a 53-46 advantage to start the final quarter and sewed up the game at 62-50 when the Garrison squad was reduced on fouls.

Haddix Hopes To Return To Form Of Earlier Years

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer

FT. MYERS, Fla. (AP) — "I guess my main trouble has been me," said Harvey Haddix. "I had that real good first year, when I won 20, and then I won 18, but then I kept getting out of the groove."

The trim lefthander was cooling out after pitching batting practice, and now he talked of sent him and the trade that sent him to Pittsburgh from Cincinnati.

4th Team

Pittsburgh is his fourth club since coming to the St. Louis Cardinals fresh from service, late in 1952. He's worked for Philadelphia and the Reds since, but never has regained the early success that brought him 38 victories in his two full seasons with the Cards. "No, I don't change my pitching pattern when I go to a different home park. If anything," he said, "my big trouble is trying not to change."

but lacked pitching depth and needed a southpaw starter.

"Sure I'm happy with this club," Haddix said. "I figure that big outfield in Pittsburgh should help me."

"I don't set goals and I don't know how many I can win. But they said this club needed a lefthander and I hope I fill the bill."

Injury-Ridden Score Regards Himself As A Fortunate Man

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Herb Score, maimed for nearly two baseball seasons, still regards himself as a fortunate young man. He says he's got a saint on his side.

"I think I'm lucky just to be playing in the big leagues," the Cleveland lefthander said. "If God is willing, I'll keep playing. If not, I won't. But I'm certainly not disgruntled.

2-1 in 1957

In 1957, a year after he became a 20-game winner in the majors, Herb was immobilized when a line drive struck him in the right eye. It nearly left him blind in the eye. He appeared in only five games that year and had a record of 2-1.

Last year, with the injured eye in working order again, Herb tore a tendon in his left elbow early in the season. He was lame-armed most of the summer and finished with a 2-3 mark.

But he came to camp this spring with a healthy arm and an attitude to match.

Hit The Bats

Asked whether he was having any trouble with the control, one of his early weaknesses, he said: "I was hitting the bats pretty good in an exhibition game the other day. But I was throwing all right. The arm felt fine."

"I think my control is better than it was a couple of years ago because I'm not worrying about it."

Part of the confidence with which Score approaches the game is a product of religious conviction. Herb believes he has received considerable assistance from his patron saint—St. Jude.

"Jude is my middle name," he said. "My daughter was born on his feast day, you know—last Oct. 28. Her name is Judith."

And what is St. Jude the patron of? "He is the patron," said Herb, "of impossible cases."

Clinton Wins MV Meet

Clinton raced to its third straight Mississippi Valley indoor track championship Friday night scoring 52½ points to runner-up Davenport's 35½. Cedar Rapids Jefferson finished third with 35 and Iowa City took fourth with 21½.

Highlight of the meet was a 1:58.8 half-mile by Jefferson's Ralph Trimble. The old record of 2:00.2 had been on the books since 1942. Trimble also anchored Jefferson's one mile medley relay team which set a new meet mark of 3:44.0.
