

Dulles May Have Neck Cancer

U.S. Secretary Treated For New Ailment

Acting Secretary Herter To Attend Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, already suffering from cancer of the abdomen, may also have cancer of the lower neck, the State Department announced Tuesday.

The 71-year-old cabinet member received the first of a series of medium voltage radiation treatments for the suspected new ailment at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center Tuesday.

The new medical bulletin, released by State Department spokesman Lincoln White, said Dulles' abdominal cancer, for which he already has undergone massive radiation therapy, "remains unchanged." It said "further treatment to the abdomen is not now indicated."

The suspected new cancer was reported shortly after the department announced that Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter would substitute for Dulles at an April 29 meeting of Western foreign ministers in Paris to chart Allied policy on Berlin.

Administration sources pictured Mr. Eisenhower as being resigned to the fact that Dulles likely would never be able to return to his post. The President was said to have grave doubts that Dulles could serve even in an advisory capacity on foreign policy matters.

The latest medical report on Dulles' condition said the Secretary has had "increasing discomfort in the lower neck."

"X-ray studies suggest the possibility that his discomfort may be attributable to the presence of malignant tumor in the lower cervical vertebrae," it continued.

White, after rechecking with Dulles' physicians, said he was unable to go beyond the wording of the report which failed to say specifically that a new cancer was present.

However, White apparently had no objection to reporters interpreting the statement to mean that there was a suspected cancer in the lower neck.

White said no operation was contemplated at this time on Dulles.

He said treatment will consist of a series of medium voltage radiation doses. These exposures will not be as powerful as those Dulles received in February and March for his abdominal cancer.

White said that in treating the suspected new malignancy, Dulles' doctors are "trying to reach a superficial lesion" and not effect the penetration in depth they did with the abdominal X-rays. The machine used in that series of treatments was a one-million-volt apparatus.

White said he was "not under the impression" that the new treatment will confine Dulles to bed. He said so far as he knew Dulles was able to be up and about at times in the presidential suite at Walter Reed.

Dulles returned to Walter Reed Sunday after unexpectedly cutting short a Florida vacation in which he was recuperating from his earlier radiation treatments.

A medical statement on Dulles said the condition "of the secretary's abdomen remains unchanged and further treatment to the abdomen is not now indicated."

It was in commenting on this statement that officials said Dulles' abdominal cancer appears to have been arrested.

Asked to comment on a report that Dulles and the President had agreed to decide before the end of the month whether the Secretary would resume his duties at the State Department, White said, "I have no knowledge of that."

The text of the department's announcement on Dulles' condition: "During the last several days Secretary Dulles has experienced increasing discomfort in the lower neck."

"X-ray studies suggest the possibility that his discomfort may be attributable to the presence of malignant tumor in the lower cervical vertebrae."

"External radiation treatment to the lower neck began Tuesday. The condition of the Secretary's abdomen remains unchanged and further treatment to the abdomen is not now indicated."

Scientists Say Satellite Launching 'Well Achieved'

Discoverer II Capsule Catch Cancelled

Recovery Odds: 900-1; Rocket Still Orbits

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (UPI) — Scientists were forced Tuesday to call off their attempt to recover an instrument capsule from the polar-orbiting Discoverer II satellite but said most of the primary objectives of the launching were "well achieved."

The satellite remained in orbit. However, a joint announcement in Washington and here by Roy Johnson, director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency, said no attempt will be made to snare the instrument capsule with its valuable data. This data had been expected to provide important information for the long-range plan of putting a manned vehicle into space.

This base was already humming with new activity for another launching — of a Thor missile by American-trained crews of the Royal Air Force. This was the first such operation by foreign personnel involving the missile which will be used for defenses in Europe.

The Thor shot was scrubbed for the day at 4 p.m. (CST) with unfavorable weather conditions given as the cause. Another attempt is anticipated today.

Airplanes in Hawaii with special recovery equipment and Navy surface vessels in the Pacific had been on the alert to make the recovery attempt if the Discoverer II capsule had been ejected and parachuted downward. Odds against recovery, however, were 900-1, scientists said.

Johnson said the planned recovery of the small-size compartment capable of carrying life into space was dropped because of a malfunction in the timing apparatus of the Discoverer II.

The United States has never recovered such a capsule but Russia claims it has made one recovery from a satellite.

Johnson disclosed that a device had been placed in the Discoverer II to separate the capsule automatically on its 17th pass around the Earth's poles at approximately 6 p.m. (CST). He said, however, the capsule would fall north of the effective range of recovery by planes and ships.

Tracking stations in Alaska were set to try to monitor the sequence of events in the separation.

The satellite itself also would continue to be tracked since it contained a radio beacon and Johnson said it would remain in orbit. Discoverer II was the fifth American satellite currently in orbit. One Russian satellite was also reported still in orbit.

Johnson's statement on the "well achieved" primary objectives of the Discoverer II shot added:

"These included launching techniques, propulsion communication, orbital characteristics, and orbital stability."

The recovery attempt — as distinguished from the automatic separation — would have been triggered by a radio signal to eject the capsule from the satellite.

Neither the Air Force which launched the satellite nor Johnson disclosed what the specific trouble was in the timing apparatus which doomed the recovery attempt.

After the launching, William H. Godel, director of planning for the Advanced Research Projects Agency, said odds against recovering the capsule were 900-1.

He explained that the satellite had to be in stabilized horizontal flight for the ejection. The planes set for the recovery attempt — with trapeze nets trailing between a pair of them — would have had just 10 minutes to snare the capsule.

Ted Rasmussen For Summer Term Iowan Editor

Ted Rasmussen, G. St. Louis, was named editor of The Daily Iowan for the 1959 Summer Session Tuesday.

The Board of Student Publications appointed Rasmussen for the term beginning May 15, 1959, and extending until next fall.

Rasmussen now holds the position of Editorial Page Editor of the paper. He was Assistant City Editor last semester.

No definite plans for editorial policy have been formulated, Rasmussen said. "In general, the same policies which are now in existence on The Daily Iowan will be maintained, with perhaps minor changes," he added.

Rasmussen said he expected to name the rest of the staff in the next week or two. He said selections would depend a lot upon the number of people who would be remaining in Iowa City for the summer.

Rasmussen graduated from SUI in August, 1958. He is now a graduate student in journalism and plans to receive his master's degree in August.

He is also a cartoonist and has drawn many cartoons which have appeared in The Daily Iowan in the last two years. Rasmussen attended Washington University in St. Louis for three years before coming to SUI.

John M. Harrison, publisher of The Daily Iowan, said no plans have been made for the editorship of the paper next fall.

11 Class B Productions In Play Festival Today

Class B high schools will present 11 plays today at the University Theatre as the Play Production Festival for High School Players begins its second day.

Only two plays, "The Happy Journey" and "Rich Man, Poor Man" will be given this morning. The play, "Two Crooks and a Lady," which was to be presented by the Durant Community School has been cancelled.

The morning session will begin at 9:30, the afternoon session at 2 and the evening session at 7:30. There will be a short interval between each one act play to allow set changes. Four plays will be given in the afternoon and five in the evening. There is no admission charge, and SUI students are invited to attend.

Ronald C. Gee, director of the play festival, said that discussion will be held at the end of each day when the actors will receive criticism on their individual plays. Ratings of superior, excellent, good, fair or poor will be given by the

This is what students here said Tuesday about the Iowa State Board of Regents recent decision to study whether students at the three state-supported schools should be allowed to have cars on campus. The Board said that one of the reasons it is making the study is it feels cars may detract from academic work.

Several of the reactions at SUI to the idea of such a ban were unfavorable. "It might be okay to ban cars for freshmen and sophomores, because they are making the adjustment to studies and college life," said James E. Walter, C4, Keokuk. But, Walter said he feels "junior and senior students have made any adjustment that is going to be made and should definitely be allowed to have cars."

James P. McIntosh, E1, Keosauqua said "cars are essential for some people — married students who live far from campus or who go home frequently." He said he does not feel that cars detract from classwork because "a lot of students just park their cars in storage and don't use them during the week."

"I don't think the majority of time-killing is spent in automobiles, and I, therefore, don't think they should be banned," said Jack R. Billor, P3, Waterloo.

"Much more time is wasted in the student Union than is wasted in cars. Another thing — how will we get to the proposed 600 acre recreation center (near Lake McBride) without cars?"

Nan Norton, A3, Marshalltown, said she is in favor of banning student cars. "Good idea. It would put a lot more importance on the academic life than on social life, and we do need to tighten up our academic standards," she said comparing Midwest college standards with those of Eastern colleges.

Miss Norton said she feels, though, that "banning cars would cut out a lot of the glamor of college social life as far as high school students are concerned." She said this might result in fewer high school students wanting to go to college.

Douglas K. Chalmers, A2, Dubuque, said he feels "it might be all right to ban some cars, but banning all cars certainly isn't necessary. It might contribute to upper class prestige if freshmen and sophomore cars were banned." This might be done from the parking standpoint, he adds, but the academic effects of having cars alone are not great enough to merit it.

June E. Drake, A1, Glenwood, is against the idea of banning any cars. "It would be discrimination to ban the cars of just freshmen and sophomores. Besides that, cars don't affect studies that much — there's no place to park so you don't drive much anyway."

judges. Awards will also be given for outstanding performers.

Gee said he had seen an improvement in the plays in the four years that he had been working with the festival. He said that there had been a special improvement in the class C schools. This may be due to consolidation of small schools, he said.

Each group of players is given 25 minutes of rehearsal time on the University Theatre stage. They can use this time for working out sound effects, practicing entrances and exits or doing a quick run through of the whole play.

Plays which will be given this afternoon are "The Imaginary Invalid," "Spreading the News," "The Slave with Two Faces," and "The Casket Maker." Evening plays will be "The Londonderry Air," "All My Sons," "The Lottery," and "Smokescreen and Box and Cox."

The festival, which will end Saturday afternoon, includes entries from 53 high schools.

The Pile Grew...

Atlas ICBM Blows Up After Takeoff

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A 100-ton Atlas Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, designed to be the first of an operational series, blew up shortly after takeoff Tuesday, showering debris over the Cape Canaveral launching area.

Personnel scattered and took cover. No injuries were reported.

"It was the first test of the 'adult' Atlas. It was supposed to have gone on a 5,000-mile flight down the Atlantic tracking range."

Instead, after a sputtering take-off, it wobbled into the air, tilted on one side and then fishtailed.

It was about 1,000 feet in the air when it blew up.

A loudspeaker at the Cape blared a "take cover" warning to observers.

The giant bird was destroyed by the range safety officer. Cause of the malfunction was not disclosed.

The performance was almost a duplicate of the first full-power Atlas shot last July 19. At that time, however, the Atlas was over water and its blasted pieces dropped harmlessly.

It appeared the fragments after the explosion landed near the launching pad. If so, it was assumed all personnel already had been cleared from the area in usual precautionary measures.

Black smoke billowed into the sky when the fragments landed.

It was the third time in the past seven months that the "take cover" warning had been issued. Last fall two Navy Polaris missiles also blew up and showered debris over the Cape.

The Atlas' three engines ignited and the missile, its upper half frosted from super-cold liquid oxygen inside, lifted from its launching pad at 3:46 p.m.

Ten seconds later, however, the 80-foot missile fishtailed.

Engle's Poem About Frost On Display

A poem written in honor of Robert Frost by Paul Engle, professor of English, will be displayed from April 13 to April 30 in the exhibit hall of the University Library in observation of National Library Week.

The poem, printed by Harry Duncan, professor in the SUI Typographic Laboratory, is one of several pieces of poetry and printing included in an exhibit of work done by SUI students and faculty. Copies of the Engle poem can be obtained at the Library during National Library Week.

Others whose poetry and printing are displayed include: Carroll Coleman, professor in the Department of Publications; Gerald M. Stevenson, Librarian of the Mathematics-Physics Library; Raeburn Miller, Henri Coulette, and Jacqueline Coulette, instructors in English; Kimber Merker, G. Iowa City; Stephen Berg, A4, Philadelphia, Pa.; Julia Morrison, G. Iowa City; Robert Mezey, A4, Iowa City; and former students or faculty members Robert Dana, John Jansson, Anthony Hecht, Reed Whittemore, Joseph Langland, Philip Booth, Robert Lowell, W.S. Graham, and Melvin La Folette.

A second exhibit observing National Library Week is the 17th annual display of books issued by western printers and publishers, the Western Books Exhibit of the Rounce & Coffin Club, Pasadena, California.

Concert Tickets Still Available

Tickets are still available for the Gold and Fisdale duo-piano concert which will be presented tonight at 8 p.m. in the Main Lounge Memorial Union.

Free student tickets and tickets on sale to the public can be obtained for $1.50 each at the East Lobby Reservation desk of the Union 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. today.

...And Grew

THIRTY-SEVEN IS A CROWD as SUI students proved Tuesday they could go "Riverbanking" with more than two people at once. The size of the blanket is 6 ft. 10 inches by 4 ft. 7 inches. The stunt is a continuation of the "togetherness" craze sweeping university campuses across the country. Thought up by Daily Iowan staffers, it is not recommended for normal "Riverbanking" procedure. But they proved more people can get on a blanket than in a phone booth.

Second U.S. Plane-Buzzing By Soviet Jets Disclosed

BERLIN (UPI) — Soviet jets flying in "attack formation" buzzed a second high altitude U.S. transport plane in the West Berlin air corridor at dangerously close range and forced it down under a Soviet-imposed 10,000-foot ceiling. U.S. authorities disclosed Tuesday.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Bonn said the latest incident occurred April 3 and involved a U.S. Air Force C-97 transport — the military version of the double-decked Boeing "Stratocruiser." Only a week before, Soviet MIGs had buzzed a giant U.S. C-130 military transport in the same corridor.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department declared the Soviet jets "few dangerously close to our aircraft, jeopardizing the safety of the plane and its crew."

The State Department charged Russia with dangerous "harassment" of American aircraft flying the air corridors between West Berlin and West Germany and bluntly rejected the Soviet assertion that planes in the Berlin corridors must not go above 10,000 feet.

An American spokesman in Germany said "We will continue to fly as high as we please when we please."

A Soviet spokesman in East Berlin denounced the C-97 flight as an attempt to "poison the atmosphere" of the May 11 Geneva Foreign Ministers Conference.

Asked whether the Russians would attempt to interfere with further flights above 10,000 feet, the Soviet spokesman said "that is a matter for the competent military authorities of the Soviet Union to decide."

A U.S. Bonn Embassy spokesman said two Soviet jet fighters overtook the U.S. C-97 "from the rear in attack formation" while it was flying at about 12,000 feet on a return flight from West Berlin to Frankfurt.

The Russian jet drew level with the cargo aircraft and flew on each side of the C-97, only about 100 feet from its wingtips, the U.S. spokesman said.

Then, without notice, the two Soviet fighters shifted position in a dangerous sandwiching maneuver, he said. One Red jet crossed over the top of the piston-engine American transport and the other jet under the belly of the C-97.

The spokesman said the U.S. pilot then dropped his craft below the 10,000-foot level. He said the Soviet jet harassment lasted for several minutes.

The United States also bluntly refused to recognize Soviet efforts to impose a 10,000-foot ceiling in the three western corridors to Berlin after the first buzzing incident on March 27.

There was no explanation of why the U.S. protest was delayed for so long, or why American officials attempted to keep the incident a secret. American authorities in Berlin had professed ignorance of the incident until the embassy details.

Council Chairman To Be Announced Tonight At Union

Announcement of the new chairman for Student Council Commissions will be made at tonight's Student Council meeting in Conference Room 1 of the Union, Judy Clark, A3, Cedar Falls, Student Body president, said Tuesday. The five Student Council Commissions are Academic Affairs, External Affairs, Student Affairs, Student Organizations and Student Government.

The possibility of Student Council sponsoring a campus drive to raise funds for a camp for crippled children will also be discussed. This suggestion was made at the last Council meeting, she said, and has been under committee study.

Meat Packing Firm Donates Papers To SUI

Business papers revealing new facts on the development of the meat packing industry and its part in the industrialization of Iowa have been donated to the SUI Library by John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, according to Leslie W. Dunlap, director of SUI Libraries. The Morrell donation consists of 8,048 records and letters dating back to 1882. They will be housed in the SUI Library's Iowa Historical Documents Collection. This generous donation of original materials will open up a new area of research to scholars, Dunlap said. "Previously we had only the scantiest of records on the origins and growth of this basic Iowa business. This is the first group of business letters written from

Square Dancers To Meet May 1 In Cedar Rapids

The eighth annual Iowa Square Dance Festival to be held May 1 and 2 in Cedar Rapids will feature the calling and instruction of Ed and Dru Gilmore, nationally known promoters for the revival of square dancing. The two day event will open with a round dance Friday at 8 p.m. in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Ballroom. A clinic for dancers and callers of both square and round dances will be conducted Saturday at 2:45 p.m. in the Veterans Memorial Coliseum. A Saturday evening dance festival at 8 p.m. in the Coliseum will conclude the weekend events. Admission for the sessions will be fifty cents per person for both spectators and dancers. Children under twelve will be admitted free with their parents.

ROTC Rifle Team To Meet Grinnell

The Air Force ROTC rifle team will meet the Grinnell College Air Force ROTC team in a match at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the Armory. This will be the last match of the season for the SUI team. The match will be the first with Grinnell this season. Capt. Clark Scott, assistant professor of air science, said it is hoped that the match with Grinnell will become an annual event. SUI won the last rifle match with Grinnell two years ago. The Women's Rifle Team will give a rifle shooting exhibition at the match. The exhibition and match will be held on the upstairs rifle range in the Armory.

Confessed Bargainer Gets Death Penalty

VENTURA, Calif. (UPI) — Augustine Baldonado, one of two convicts who confessed they bargained with Elizabeth Duncan to kill her pregnant daughter-in-law, was sentenced Tuesday to die in the state gas chamber. Superior Judge Charles Blackstock refused a motion for a new trial by Baldonado's attorney, John Danch, before formally carrying out the mandate of the jury which voted last week on the death penalty.

Board Names Junior High Buildings Here

By MARLENE JORGENSEN Staff Writer

The junior high school to be built in southeast Iowa City and the present junior high school were officially named Tuesday night by the Iowa City Community School Board.

Southeast Junior High School is to be the name of the new school. The present school at 121 N. Johnson is to be called Central Junior High School.

The board moved to adopt the names after discussion as to whether the schools should be named after men or according to their location. Two men's names had been suggested, those of James Van Allen and Dr. George C. Albright.

Max Selzer, employee of Kingscott and Associates, Davenport architectural firm, reported that construction work on the new junior high school was behind schedule. He said he hoped improved weather conditions would enable them to progress more rapidly.

Selzer said that Frantz Construction Co., Iowa City, should complete the excavation of the site by Friday. Soil compaction tests were being made, and the general contractor is to begin excavating Wednesday for the drainage system of the school, he said.

The Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. has brought power to the site and service is available to separate mechanical equipment. Selzer said Kehrer Wheatland, Inc., Cedar Rapids, will begin working on the sanitary sewer system Monday.

Selzer also reported that the electricians had begun work on the remodeling project in the present junior high school and certain portions of the work could be completed before school is out this spring.

Appointments for 35 new teachers in the Iowa City school system were approved by the board. Buford W. Garner, school superintendent, reported that he was receiving an ample number of applicants for junior high and secondary school teaching positions, but there was a slight shortage on the elementary level. He also said an oversupply of social science and English teachers had asked for applications.

Dr. E. F. Van Epps, chairman of the faculty committee, told the board that the 195 teachers hired for next year, 154 would receive salary increments ranging from $100 to $800. This would make an increase of about $44,000 in salaries paid.

Dr. Van Epps listed the reasons for the increases as being advancements on the regular salary schedule, increments for years of service in the system, increments for credit given to experience outside Iowa City schools, and increments for additional services performed by teachers.

Deficit Budget From Democrats; Dirksen Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen (Ill.), said Tuesday the Democratic Congress now seems likely to unbalance next year's budget from $1,223,000,000 to $3,278,000,000.

He gave these figures to reporters after House GOP members had reported to President Eisenhower that a grass roots survey showed overwhelming support for the Administration's economic and defense policies.

Dirksen said that the Senate's action or inaction threatens to put Eisenhower's $77-billion budget $3,278,000,000 in the red. The budget is for the 12 months starting July 1.

He said this figure was arrived at by figuring the budget impact on housing, airport, area redevelopment and International Monetary Fund legislation.

GOP's 'Family Plan' Fights Off Changes

DES MOINES (AP) — Republican proponents of a "family plan" workmen's compensation bill held the upper hand Tuesday as the House worked its way through numerous proposed amendments. The lawmakers managed to cover the amendments on only about half the bill and laid it over until today without taking a final vote.

Workmen's compensation is paid by an employer to workers injured on the job. The bill before the House, Rep. Clark McNeal (R-Belmond) said, is an effort to bring Iowa's compensation law into line with modern economic conditions.

The law now on the books went into effect in 1913 and 1914 and has been substantially unchanged since that time except for a few increases in the maximum benefits allowed, McNeal explained.

The bill would increase the maximum compensation for permanent disability from the present $16,000 to $18,500, and provides for benefits to the family of a worker killed in an accident on the job, of up to $12,000, payable at the rate of $40 per week for 300 weeks. The present maximum death benefit is $9,600, or $32 per week for 300 weeks.

The section that has drawn the most fire from opponents is the one setting benefits for temporary disabilities. It would graduate compensation according to the size of a worker's family. The compensation would range from $32 per week for an employee who has no children, to $44 per week for a worker with four or more children.

Gov. Herschel Loveless has termed this "compensation with built in birth control" and he and a number of labor leaders have contended the "family plan" would encourage employers to discriminate against men with families in hiring workers.

Republican backers beat down attempts by Democrats to remove the $2,500 limitation on the liability of an employer for medical and hospital expenses of an injured employee, and to require that medical and hospital records relating to a worker's injury be furnished to the employer.

The House wrote in, however, a provision suggested by Rep. Robert Wilson (D-Cedar Rapids) permitting a worker to choose his own doctor for treatment of his injuries.

It also accepted an amendment by Rep. Robert Conner (D-Ottumwa) providing that an employer, instead of being liable for providing only one artificial limb or other prosthetic device, would be required to furnish "one set of prosthetic devices." Conner explained this was designed to provide that if a worker lost both arms or both legs, the employer would furnish artificial limbs for both.

Rep. Robert Fulton (D-Waterloo) sought to eliminate the so-called "family plan" of compensation and set the benefit for temporary disability at $40 per week.

Fulton said he believed the drafters of the bill were "sincere, but I also believe they were wrong" in including the family plan feature.

"The mistake this bill makes is that it makes a welfare program out of workmen's compensation when it ought to be just what its name implies — compensation paid a worker for his injuries suffered on the job," Fulton said.

"You don't earn according to the size of your family so why should you be compensated that way?" he asked.

Rep. Riley Dietz (R-Walcott) offered a substitute for Fulton's proposed amendment. The Dietz plan lost on a 51-51 tie vote.

McNeal termed a series of amendments offered by Conner "preposterous." They were designed to permit an employee who had lost an arm, leg, or other member to return to work during his healing period and draw partial pay as well as compensation.

McNeal said in most cases a man who returns to work would draw his full pay and "I can't see the reasoning that would allow him to draw compensation too. That is preposterous." Conner's amendments were defeated by voice vote.

Mars May Be Target For Space Pioneers

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Mars probably will be the next target for space pioneers after the moon is explored, a space expert said Tuesday.

But the expensive probings of outer space, the space age forum of the Southwest was told, will bring economic benefits, some within the next few years.

"One thing is sure," said Dr. Hubertus Strughold. "The first two targets will be the moon and Mars. Conditions on both of them, especially on the moon, are very severe. But at least we have some knowledge about them."

The conditions on Venus are wrapped in mystery by a dense cloudy cover. And on the road to this planet a space traveler might run into the outskirts of the sun's corona, into a Venusian radiation belt and into very high surface temperatures.

Strughold is professor of space medicine, School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

Another speaker, Robert Jastrow, of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said the satellite and rocket have produced two results of fundamental scientific importance already.

First, he said, is the revelation of layers of energy particles in the outer atmosphere. The other, he said, is the discovery that the earth is pear-shaped.

Japanese Menu: Sukiyaki, Shrimp

Tickets are on sale this week for a Japanese dinner Saturday. The dinner is the last in a series of four foreign student dinners sponsored by the International Center and Associated Women Students.

Banks' 2 Homers Ruin Frisco Home Opener

Drives In 4 As Cubs Win 5-2 Decision

ChiSox Win Fourth; Indians, Yanks Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Chicago's shortstop Ernie Banks, the National League home run champion, blasted his first two for 1959 Tuesday, knocking in four runs as the Cubs ruined San Francisco's home opener 5-2.

A capacity crowd of 22,845 saw the Giants take first advantage of a brisk breeze as Felipe Alou belted a second inning, 2-run homer 380 feet over the left field fence.

Banks, who hit 47 home runs in 1958 and was voted the league's Most Valuable Player, squared counts in the fourth with a 375 foot drive. In the eighth, he crashed a Jack Sanford fast ball 410 feet over the fence in left center.

Both times George Altman was on base.

Dave Hillman, Chicago right-hander, allowed eight hits, four of them bunched in the second inning. He needed help from Don Elston when the Giants threatened in the ninth.

Hillman struck out two and didn't issue a walk.

CHICAGO (AP)—Luis Aparicio's bases-filled single for two runs in the fifth inning Tuesday backed up Billy Pierce's 6-hit hurling and gave the unbeaten Chicago White Sox a 2-0 shutout over Kansas City.

The Sox, who defeated the Tigers three times in Detroit, made their home season opener before 19,303 fans a howling success in handing the Athletics their third straight setback.

The game was marked by seven double plays, five of them by the A's. The Sox' Serm Lollar hit into three twin killings.

Aparicio's decisive single, his third straight, came in the fifth inning. Rookie John Callison led off against loser Ralph Terry by beating out a bunt—his first hit in 13 trips; Bubba Phillips doubled him to third. Pierce walked loading the bases.

Then Aparicio slashed a sizzler that third baseman Hal Spithoff couldn't handle and Callison and Phillips scored. The Sox loaded the sacks again but Lollar hit into a double play to retire the side.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The New York Yankees sprayed 17 hits around Memorial Stadium, including a bases-filled homer by ailing Bill Skowron, for a 13-3 romp Tuesday over the Baltimore Orioles.

Skowron, who had prevailed upon Manager Casey Stengel to let him play first base, also knocked in a run with a single and double while wearing a corset for a sprained back.

His circuit clout came during a 9-run rally in the third inning which left the 34,225 opening day Oriole fans little to cheer.

Don Larsen was the pitching beneficiary of the Yankee scoring parade, although he went only seven innings. Larsen was giving his arm its first big test after it went stiff on him last month in spring training. The big right-hander was lifted after giving up single runs in three straight innings on six hits and five walks. He struck out five.

Braves 4, Phils 3

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves celebrated the hoisting of their 1958 National League pennant at County Stadium Tuesday by edging the stubborn Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 on a 10th inning run which capped a thrilling duel before a crowd of 42,081.

The Braves picked up their third straight triumph on three straight singles by Hank Aaron, Wes Covington and Johnny O'Brien. The Phillies had rallied for a pair of runs to go ahead in the top of the ninth.

The Braves deadlocked the count on a double by Johnny Logan and a single by Mickey Vernon in their half of the inning to send the game into overtime.

After starter Warren Spahn was lifted for a pinch hitter, Don McMahon stopped the Phillies in the top of the 10th.

Spahn and young Jim Owens of the Phillies matched slants for the first few innings before the Braves edged ahead 2-1 in the eighth on

BOSTON (AP)—Boston fashioned a tie-breaking, 2-run fifth inning without benefit of a base hit Tuesday and went on to defeat the Washington Senators 7 to 3 in the Red Sox Fenway Park opener.

Handyman Dick Gernert, a late substitute for flu victim Vic Wertz, smashed a home run to the delight of the 16,467 chuffed fans.

Errors by shortstop Ron Samford and center fielder Albie Pearson of the Senators unlocked the 19,303 with the score deadlocked 1-1. Samford threw the ball into the Boston dugout for a 2-base error on Don Buddin's grounder and after the Sox shortstop advanced to third on an infield out, Gene Stephens poked a long fly to center.

Pearson maneuvered for it near the flagpole but the ball popped out of his glove.

Buddin brought home the run on a novel sacrifice fly, 3-base error ruling. Jackie Jensen, the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1958, then hoisted a sacrifice fly to left scoring Stephens, Washington . . . 100 001 001—3 9 3

CLEVELAND (AP)—Brilliant pitching by southpaw Herb Score and a home run bombardment by his teammates gave the Cleveland Indians an 8-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers Tuesday in the Tribe's home opener before 33,098 fans at Municipal Stadium.

Score, who was wild in a brief relief appearance in Kansas City last Friday, had remarkable control Tuesday striking out nine batters, walking only one and allowing but five hits.

Woddie Held blasted two home runs, one with the bases loaded, and Minnie Minoso and George Strickland hit one apiece for the Indians. Gail Harris homered for Detroit. Held drove in six runs with his two homers.

Evy, Staff Drill Hawks On Offense

By JIM BREAGY Staff Writer

The second day of Iowa's spring football practice Tuesday found Coach Forest Evashevski and his staff working with a group of freshmen and non-lettermen returnees.

Assistant Coach Bob Flora drilled linemen in single wing blocking which is used in Iowa's winged-T offense. Running against dummies, three units quarterbacked by Ed Trancyger, Wilburn Hollis and Dave Mitchell went through a long drill learning the Iowa offense.

Other backs taking part were Phil Gaines, Keith Kinderman, Larry Ferguson, Bernie Wyatt and Charles Hill.

Fifteen veterans of last year's championship team worked out in sweatclothes, running through plays. Olen Treadway quarterbacked the vets with Gene Mosley running in the fullback spot in the absence of Don Horn.

Operating at the halfback positions were lettermen Ray Jauch and Bob Jeter. Both men will be seniors when the Hawkeyes open the 1959 season at Berkeley Sept. 26, against the California Bears, 38-12 victims of Iowa in the '59 Rose Bowl.

Neither Mitchell Ogiego or Willie Fleming have as yet practiced this spring although the latter was present as a spectator at Tuesday's session. Both, along with Horn, are expected out later this week.

A group of visiting prep coaches watched the workout and took notes throughout.

London Shuns All Publicity, 'No Comment' To Inquiries

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How can you hide a guy with a chin as big as Brian London's?

It's a strange cup of tea when the challenger goes into hiding away from publicity outlets with a heavyweight title fight a little more than two weeks off.

The British heavyweight arrived in New York last weekend by plane. He immediately ducked behind a "no comment," referring all questions to Edwin Schweig, an attorney who also happens to represent Cus D'Amato, manager of Floyd Patterson, the champion.

And Mr. Schweig?

"Sorry, sir. Mr. Schweig is not in. What is your name please? I will add it to the list. I already have 20 names."

Well, how about the promoter? His name is Cecil Rhodes, a steelman who is promoting his first fight.

"Mr. Rhodes is not at his office."
"Mr. Rhodes is not at his home."
And D'Amato?

A cool voice answers the phone, his name is George.

"He hasn't been around for several days. I have no idea where you could get in touch with him. Is he in town or out of town? You might say he is in and out of town."

Well, Tom Gallery, the sports director of the television network (NBC) that is shelling out $200,000 for the rights ought to know.

"Patterson was discovered at the training camp in Summit, N.J. He didn't come to the phone either. A spokesman said he didn't know when the champ was going to Indianapolis.

Oh yes, the fight is supposed to be in Indianapolis. Date, Friday, May 1.

First Landing Kentucky Derby Hopeful Again

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—You picked your favorite yet for the May 2 Kentucky Derby? Perhaps it should be First Landing. Perhaps it shouldn't.

First Landing, the undisputed 2-year-old champ of 1958, had been compared with the likes of Man O'War and was the early favorite for the derby. He had won 10 of 11 starts.

Had he won the Flamingo at Hialeah and the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park like a Citation, a Nashua, a Needles or a Tim Tam a year ago, First Landing would be the big Kentucky choice.

But Christopher T. Chenery's colt finished third in the Flamingo, then shipped out of Florida and headed for Belmont Park. Trainer Casey Hayes said the heat and humidity bothered the colt.

First Landing won a 6-furlong race Monday at Jamaica in 1:10 1-5, fastest of the meeting. It was just four-fifths off the track record. In the sports pages, more good things were said about the colt than bad. It was his first start since the Flamingo Feb. 28.

Well, Tom Gallery, the sports director of the television network (NBC) that is shelling out $200,000 for the rights ought to know.

Williams, Liston Meet In Tonight's Television Fight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — To hear Lou Vicusi tell it, nobody among the heavyweights will fight Cleveland Williams or Charles (Sonny) Liston, so they will fight each other here tonight.

Vicusi, who has managed such fighters as Willie Pep, Joe Brown, Roy Harris and Danny Nardico, thinks his man, Williams, will knock out Liston in their 10-round nationally-televised meeting 9 p.m. Iowa time over ABC, KCRG-TV, Cedar Rapids, Channel 9.

Liston's camp says the No. 4 challenger for Floyd Patterson's crown worked more than 80 rounds in Philadelphia and is ready for his opponent.

Liston has never lost a fight here and on his last appearance, Feb. 18, knocked out Mike DeJoh. The Philadelphia also flattened 13 of his other 23 opponents, scored a decision over nine and lost one by a decision to Marty Marshall.

Williams, who fights out of Houston, Tex., won 36 of his 46 appearances by knockout, seven by decision and won one through disqualification.

Other provisions would enable either a merchant or a search of the suspect.

Also, it provides for search of a suspect shall constitute a crime to any criminal or false arrest, provision making the detainer a crime to believe that an individual was committed.

The measure drew criticism and length of the floor.

Sen. Melvin Wolf said the measure would shift the burden of proof to the man is innocent until proven guilty.

Senate Acts To Curtail Shoplifters

DES MOINES (U) — The Iowa Senate decided Tuesday that shoplifters are getting away with too much.

It passed 37-10 and sent to the House a bill that calls for up to five years in prison or a year in the county jail or a $1,000 fine for a person convicted of taking more than $20 worth of merchandise.

By taking less than $20 worth of goods, the shoplifter could end up with a 30 day term in the county jail or a $100 fine.

Iowa stores are losing millions of dollars in merchandise a year because of shoplifters, backers of the measure said.

Other provisions of the measure would enable either the peace officer or merchant to detain and search the suspected shoplifter.

Also, it provides that detention or search of a suspected shoplifter shall constitute a complete defense to any criminal or civil action for false arrest, provided that the person making the detention has cause to believe that an act of shoplifting was committed or attempted.

The measure drew considerable criticism and lengthy debate on the floor.

Sen. Melvin Wolfe (D-Waterloo) said the measure defies the Constitution and the premise that a man is innocent until proved guilty.

The bill in its original form would have shifted the burden of proving his innocence on the man found with stolen goods on him.

However, the Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. David Shaff (R-Ciawagen) which would leave the burden of proving a person's guilt in the hands of the court.

40 High Schoolers Scheduled Here For Typing Meet

Some 40 high school students will attend a series of seminars and a typing contest Thursday as part of the second typing conference to be held at the State University of Iowa.

The conference is sponsored by the SUI Department of Business Education, with Norman F. Kalous, SUI assistant professor, acting as the conference general manager.

The students, who will represent 17 Iowa high schools, are in first-year typewriting classes. A Royal portable typewriter will be presented to the student who wins the typing contest, in which each school may be represented by two contestants. Other awards will also be made.

The world's amateur champion typist, Cortez W. Peters, who can type 141 five-stroke words a minute, will give an exhibition and demonstrate proper typing techniques in a program at 10:45 a.m. in Macbride Auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

County Prisoners May Eat Better

DES MOINES (U) — The Iowa Senate passed and returned to the House for concurrence of an amendment to a bill to increase amounts which counties may pay for meals for county jail prisoners.

At present practically all except larger counties pay 50 cents per meal for prisoners. Boards of supervisors in larger counties are empowered to set the amount.

The new bill would increase the amount to 60 cents in counties under 40,000 population; to 55 cents in counties between 40,000 and 50,000 population; would leave it at 50 cents in counties from 50,000 to 150,000 population; and would authorize boards of supervisors in larger counties to set the amount.

Taft Admirers Raise $1 Million From Public For Memorial

WASHINGTON (U) — Bells rang out Tuesday in memory of Robert A. Taft. And through the ringing and through the oratory that went with it something of the real Bob Taft could be quietly heard.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, former President Herbert Hoover and a number of other political notables took part in dedicating a memorial to the late Ohio senator.

His admirers, many of whom backed him in his several bids for nomination to the presidency, raised by public subscription the almost one million dollars needed to build the handsome, white, 100-foot tall carillon on the Capitol grounds.

Labor Committee Warns Congress Not To Hit Honest Unions Too Hard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Labor Committee warned Congress Tuesday not to swing so hard at union corruption that it will hurt the majority of unions "honestly and democratically run."

Income Tax Now Easier To File? Federal Revenue Agents Think So

WASHINGTON (U) — People apparently are having less trouble this year filling out their income tax returns.

Federal revenue agents said this on the eve of the annual filing deadline. They said preliminary figures indicate a 25 per cent drop in the number of taxpayers asking the Government for detailed help in preparing returns.

There also is some evidence that more people filed their returns early, officials said.

By law, all returns must be mailed in time to reach district directors of internal revenue by midnight Wednesday. Actually, the district chiefs are expected to accept any returns postmarked by that time.

House Subcommittee Approves Aid Program For Distress Areas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A sharply-split House Banking subcommittee voted Tuesday to set up a federal aid program for chronically-distressed areas almost five times as big as President Eisenhower requested.

The $251 million measure was considerably smaller, however, than the $389 million bill which passed the Senate last month.

Red Chinese Troops In Tibet Have Defected

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — The Chinese Communists Tuesday brought their hand-picked Panchen Lama of Tibet to peeping as a hero and began consolidating military positions in the rebellious Himalayan country.

While the god-king Dalai Lama rested in Asylum at Bomdita, India, dispatches from Peiping and from the remote Indian-Tibetan frontier indicated the Communists were maneuvering to smash the opposition once and for all. However, fighting was reported continuing in mountain districts. The Khampa tribal freedom fighters were reported to have 50,000 men under arms.

A Nationalist Chinese newspaper at Taipei quoted intelligence sources as saying "large numbers" of Communist Chinese troops in Tibet had defected.

Border dispatches said the Communists were seizing privately-owned weapons from Tibetans and were screening the devout Buddhist people in a loyalty check.

Dominican Ambassador Tells About Embassy Bombing

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Terrorists hurled a bomb and fired shots at the Dominican Embassy in Havana Friday night. In the following dispatch, Ambassador Porfirio Rubirosa tells in his own words what happened.)

HAVANA (By telephone to New York) — (UPI) — The Cuban Government has put extra guards around the Dominican Embassy since last Friday night's frightening experience.

The Cuban Government's Foreign Ministry has been very cooperative.

I thank God no one was hurt. It was a miracle.

My wife and I were in our sitting room. A bomb landed on the terrace and there was a tremendous explosion. There were three, four, seven shots fired at the windows.

I don't know who they were trying to hit.

A piece of metal from the bomb buzzed around but nothing came into our room. It happened at 10 p.m. (EST) during a pouring rain. My wife was very frightened. It was quite a shock to her. How no one was hurt was a miracle.

We were alone in the house with four servants when it happened. I heard the bomb land on the terrace and then the explosion came.

We rushed out of the room to see what had happened. My wife close to my side. She never left me.

I found the guards protecting the embassy had gone to the garage.

City Board Candidates Announced

Candidates to fill the 11 vacancies on the Council-Manager association board of representatives have been announced by Robert Lind, Sr., C-Ma board chairman. The election will be held as part of the biennial meeting April 22 when additional nominations may be made from the floor. Lind said.

The slate prepared by the nominating committee is as follows: First ward, first precinct, Mrs. L. G. Lawyer; second ward, second precinct, Robert Alderman; second ward, first precinct, Earl Murphy and Bill J. Semuth; second ward, second precinct, Phillip Hubbard; third ward, Miss Mary Rouse and Coleman Major; fourth ward, first precinct, Russell Wicks and Warren Burger; fifth ward, first precinct, M.D. Chiles; fifth ward, second precinct, Ray Vanderhoef.

Board members are elected for 4-year terms with half the staggered terms expiring every two years, Lind said. Each ward is represented by four members, and those divided into precincts are allotted two members from each precinct.

Survey Shows Public Support For Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower was reported "encouraged" Tuesday by a GOP survey showing public support for his budget, defense and Berlin policies and opposition to "spendthrift Federal programs."

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck took the survey results to Mr. Eisenhower's weekly White House meeting with GOP legislative leaders. It was based on findings by Republican house members who sounded out voter sentiment during their Easter vacations.

The President and the legislative leaders also discussed a Senate-passed Democratic bill to create a special unemployment study commission and found no sentiment for trying to block it in the House.

Halleck said he had "qualms" because the proposal might mean a 60-day delay in certain legislation dealing with housing and distressed areas while the group made its study. But he said Republicans would go along because no one has a monopoly on concern for the jobless.

The White House meeting likewise took up a Senate-approved resolution to strip Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson of his authority over Federal Rural Electrification (REA) loans.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) called the Senate's action "an astonishing performance" and said that "if I ever saw a bill I would urge a veto on, that was one."

He said it could create a "considerable problem" to remove Benson's control over the REA chief.

Now In Jail, Connie Hears Fate Tonight

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Mrs. Connie Nicholas was transferred from a hospital to jail Tuesday so she will be quickly available to hear the verdict of an all-husband jury which is expected to get her murder case by this evening.

The 45-year-old divorcee's trial for the gun death of her wealthy married lover, Forrest Teel, was in recess. The defense rested Monday.

Closing arguments by prosecution and defense lawyers and instructions to the jury by Judge Thomas J. Faulconer will be given today.

Capt. Francis J. Hawkins, chief Marion County jailer, said the shift of Mrs. Nicholas from the General Hospital detention ward, across town from the trial courtroom, was made for reasons of "expediency."

Hawkins said Mrs. Nicholas has received her last therapy treatment as a county prisoner.

"If she is acquitted she will go out and be a private citizen again," he said. "If she is found guilty and goes to the Indiana women's prison she becomes a state case."

"We don't look for a suicide attempt but we will take all necessary precautions," he said.

The 108-pound defendant almost succeeded in killing herself shortly after the slaying of her lover. However, during the trial she labeled as "preposterous" a suggestion that she might try suicide again if the chance came.

Mrs. Nicholas testified during her trial, now in its fifth week, that she made detailed preparations to kill herself after learning that Teel, 54, an executive vice president of Eli Lilly & Co., drug firm, broke off a 15-year affair with her and centered his attentions on a younger woman.

She said the handsome Teel was slain unintentionally when she took a small French gun to a final tryst with him, intending to use the weapon as a "suicide backstop" in case sleeping pills failed.

Her story of the conflict inside Teel's white Cadillac outside the apartment of 30-year-old Laura Mowrer, the new love, was an important part of the evidence the jury is expected to begin evaluating this afternoon.

Mrs. Nicholas was found near death from an overdose of barbiturates about 20 hours after Teel was killed last July 31. She has been in the hospital since that time except for one week when she was transferred to the county jail.

SUI Students Contribute $1122 To TB Funds

SUI students contributed $1122.75 toward the total Johnson County Christmas Seal receipts of $9,047.45. Faculty members gave $1800.20 to the fund. The county total, second highest collection in the history of the Johnson County Tuberculosis and Health Association, is slightly higher than the 1957 total.

The annual Tuberculosis and Health Association report, which was presented at the association's meeting April 4 showed that 16 active tubercular patients were found in the county during the past year. Three of these were recurrences and 13 were new cases.

According to the report, the major case-finding effort involved the application of 6500 TB test patches to the children and personnel of the Iowa City Schools. Cases were also detected through a chest x-ray program, and through case-finding calls made by the county nurse, Miss Elizabeth Budreau.

Less Dispute, Close Work Pledged By Macmillan, Debre On Germany

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French Premier Michel Debre narrowed down their differences over Berlin and Germany Tuesday and pledged to work closely together at forthcoming negotiations with the Soviets.

Neither Macmillan nor Debre, making his initial appearance on the world diplomatic stage, gave details of their 2-day summit meeting here. They said they were in broad agreement on Western policy aims, although there were some differences on tactics. These should be ironed out before the Foreign Ministers' Conference with Russia in Geneva, May 11, they said.

"Long-range programs are important —for both men and missiles"

"In a company dedicated to research and development, a young man's opportunities to learn more—to increase his technical skills—are almost unlimited," says 31-year-old Harry Lawton, Jr., a General Electric engineer engaged in the development of inertial guidance and fire-control systems for ballistic missiles. "And to maintain America's scientific leadership, we're going to need all the technical training and skills we can produce. "An important aspect of my job at General Electric is the continuing opportunity to learn more. I've been able to continue my education in the company's Physics Program for college graduates. And I also have the advantage of association with top technical experts in my work. Opportunities like this have helped me realize that long-range programs are important—for both men and missiles."
