India Invites Red China To Visit The Dalai Lama

Nehru Seeks To Disprove Kidnap Charge

Red Radio Condemns 'Indian Expansionists'

MUSSOORIE, India (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru challenged the Communist Chinese Friday to come and see for themselves that the Dalai Lama is a free man in India.

Nehru said the Red-sponsored Panchen Lama or any other high Chinese Communist emissary could come to Mussoorie and talk to the 26-year-old god-king in exile. The Panchen Lama is Peiping's new puppet ruler of Tibet.

Nehru denied as "patently not so" Communist Chinese charges that India had helped the Tibetan rebels and was holding the Dalai Lama captive.

The Indian leader issued his invitation to the Chinese in a statement to newsmen just before he began a four-hour private conference with the Dalai Lama.

He said afterward he hoped the conference would lead to a solution of the Tibetan problem but he did not get specific.

Nehru said India would not "muzzle" the Dalai Lama while he was here but he urged newsmen to "keep in view the difficulties of the situation."

Nehru and the Dalai Lama greeted each other warmly and posed for photographers at the Dalai Lama's home-in-exile at this north Indian hill station.

Then they went inside to talk privately.

Informed sources said that as the Dalai Lama recounted specific instances of broken Red Chinese promises that finally forced him to flee Tibet, Nehru looked more and more disheartened.

Even while the conference was going on, Peiping Radio continued to broadcast broadsides at the Indian Government. It said major mainland papers were carrying banner headlines condemning "Indian Expansionists" for aiding Tibetan rebels.

Nehru told newsmen such charges were "patently not so."

He scored the Panchen Lama for saying the Dalai Lama was being held against his will but he delicately avoided naming Premier Chou En-Lai or other Communists directly.

"What the Panchen has said does not do justice to India, China, Tibet or the Panchen Lama himself," Nehru said.

"I would welcome the Panchen Lama to come here and meet the Dalai Lama or anyone else... the Chinese Ambassador or anybody," Nehru said. He said he would allow any of them to see the Dalai Lama and would treat them with courtesy. Nehru told newsmen a few details of this talk with the Dalai Lama, reserving the major part for a speech in Parliament when he returns to New Delhi.

Big 4 Talks End; Plans Still Unsettled

LONDON (AP) — Experts of the four Western powers ended 12 days of talks here Friday without settling all their differences on a plan of East-West negotiations on German problems.

The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany will try to settle the remaining differences at a meeting beginning in Paris next Wednesday.

Diplomatic informants in Bonn, the West German capital, said the ministers will have to make "an awful lot of decisions" before the foreign ministers conference with the Soviet Union in Geneva next month.

If the differences persist, a special meeting of NATO foreign ministers may be called in Paris before the East-West negotiations begin May 11 at Geneva.

35,000 Hail Castro; No Attempt On Life

NEW YORK (AP) — Fidel Castro went before a wildly cheering throng of 35,000 person Friday night in Central Park. More than 1,000 police stood by, alert against assassins.

The Cuban Prime Minister arrived nearly an hour late for the giant outdoor rally in his honor. A great shout of "Viva Castro" met him.

Thursday's purported plot against Castro's life proved unfounded. But he remained a prime target for assassins.

Three hundred mounted police, their horses finely trained in the handling of crowds, were among the huge police guard, largest ever assembled for a single individual in the city's history.

The rally took place on the Central Park Mall, near the 72nd St. and Fifth Ave. entrance to the park.

Fifty police searchlights, plus six aircraft searchlights, threw a brilliant glare over the mall, itself. But outside the perimeter of light, the dark, wooded park offered a perfect lurking place for any troublemaker.

It was a colorful, dangerous climax to Castro's visit to New York, and his hour of gravest peril.

Police tried in vain to get Castro to call off the rally, lest assassins slip into the park in the guise of admirers. But the bearded 32-year-old revolutionary shrugged fatalistically and declared: "I will not live one day more than the day I am going to die."

Since his arrival here Tuesday, the heaviest police guard ever assigned a visitor to New York has been thrown around Castro.

However, in his movements about the city Castro has displayed a reckless disregard for his own safety. Again Friday he slipped his police guard to mingle, shake hands and sign autographs for cheering well-wishers at the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange and later at the Bronx Zoo.

Thursday, Castro's aides told police two small bands of hired killers were headed here to assassinate the Cuban leader. Police had no choice but to treat the threat seriously. All Manhattan bridges and tunnel entrances were alerted and extra police guards assigned to Castro.

Five brothers in one group of alleged assassins were located in Philadelphia, going about their legitimate business. Two other men reported en route here from Detroit also were checked out and cleared of suspicion.

Planes Bomb German Island

BREMERHAVEN, Germany (AP) — An uninhabited German North Sea island was bombed by high-flying planes Tuesday and the West German Defense Ministry said Friday night it still is trying to find out who did it.

The bombing of Knechtsand was reported by a West German navy unit and residents of the coastal area. They said 45 bombs were dropped in 19 sorties spread over most of the day. The navy said it saw an undetermined number of planes flying at high altitudes but was unable to establish their identity.

Knechtsand formerly was used as a bombing range for the British and U.S. air forces but such operations were stopped in 1957 under a German agreement with the Western Allies. It now is a sanctuary for rare sea birds.

Investigation of the bombing was delayed on the assumption that target practice had been resumed contrary to the agreement.

House-Senate Group Studies Remap Bill

Both Parties Optimistic About Compromise Plan

DES MOINES (AP) — The tangled problem of legislative reapportionment was tossed to a joint Senate-House Conference Committee Friday, thus clearing the way for consideration of a bi-partisan compromise plan.

The House assured the appointment of a conference committee by voting to insist on its version of redistricting.

Speaker Vern Lisle (R-Clarinda) said he would name the House members of the conference committee Monday. Senate conferees also are expected to be named then.

A day of political maneuvering in which Republican House members caucused twice and Democratic members once, reportedly produced a "gentlemen's agreement" that the conference committee would place the bi-partisan compromise worked out by House leaders Thursday before both chambers for consideration.

Reports indicated the compromise plan, solidly backed by the 48 Democrats in the House, can muster enough strength in both chambers for passage. Indications were that about 35 senators will support the plan.

Reps. Clark McNeal (R-Belmond) and Scott Swisher (D-Iowa City), the majority and minority floor leaders of the House, both expressed optimism over the chances for passage of a reapportionment measure this session.

"The chances look a lot brighter now than they did sometimes during the day," McNeal declared.

Republicans in a morning caucus Friday had indicated only meager support for the compromise, and had voted to ask the Senate to reconsider its rejection of a plan passed earlier by the House.

When Swisher reported that all 48 House Democrats had lined up in favor of the compromise plan, however, the complexion of things changed. Conferences with Senate leaders then brought about the "gentlemen's agreement."

The compromise plan uses as its base the plan passed earlier by the Senate. This divides the state into 53 legislative districts of two counties each except that the seven most populous counties would form districts in themselves. Each legislative district would elect one senator.

HIGH AND DRY today at 655.5 feet above sea level (bottom photo), the work on raising the old Highway 218 bridge has been resumed. The water is expected to be restored to a 660 point after June 30, providing dock work is finished. Normally the lake is at a 670 level from Feb. 1 until June 30.

Plan Anti-Satellite Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. B. A. Schriever testified Friday the Air Force is working on a weapon system that "involves actually shooting down of satellites."

Schriever, missile and research expert for the Air Force, told a Senate space subcommittee this is one of the military space operations of the future.

However, he rated it behind such future offensive weapons as advanced strategic missile systems and a manned strategic space system.

The general said the anti-satellite system probably will be a follow-up to a system able to search out and destroy enemy missiles. Schriever was finishing two days of testimony to senators checking on the nation's space projects and programs.

Student Charged With Breaking Into Restaurant

An SUI student was charged Friday with breaking into the Riverside Inn, Iowa Ave. and Riverside Drive, and taking about 75 cents and eight packages of cigarettes.

Richard S. Abraham, A1, Cedar Rapids, was bound over to the district court on charges of breaking and entering. Police reported that Abraham was arrested in the parking lot west of the University Library about 12:45 a.m. Friday after a resident of the house across the street from the Riverside Inn, telephoned police that someone was breaking into the restaurant.

Abraham signed a statement admitting that he smashed out a window in the front door with a brick and used the hole to enter and leave the restaurant. Police said only about 85 cents was in the cash register at the time.

He waived preliminary hearing at his arraignment in police court this morning. Police Judge Ansel Chapman ordered him held in county jail in lieu of a $2,500 bond.

U.S. Scientists Announce Use Of Death Ray

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists reported Friday that at least 10 monkeys have been killed in recent experiments by a crude "death ray" derived from certain ultra-high frequency radio waves.

But Dr. Pearce Bailey, who made the report, indicated a belief that it would be unlikely that such a thing could happen to a person listening to a radio or working a radar set.

However, he also said while "we feel certain that radio and radar are not dangerous, we have had mysterious airplane accidents on the other hand."

"It was always assumed that with the ordinary frequencies these things could not happen," he said, "but it appears here that if you use a certain frequency and have the head in a certain critical position, it can happen."

Bailey reported what he termed a remarkable phenomenon in testimony before the House Appropriations Committee released Friday. Bailey is director of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness.

Describing one experiment, the doctor said the waves that killed a monkey emanated from a radio antenna pointing toward the monkey's head and in line with his brain stem, the central and vital part of the brain. He said the monkey was killed in five minutes.

The particular radio frequency employed, Bailey said later, was 388 megacycles.

Radio experts told a reporter the waves are within the band of frequencies used in ultra-high frequency line-of-sight radio communication between airplanes, and is used in some types of specialized television and radar.

Czechoslovakia Seeks Full Status At Summit Talks

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Czechoslovakia served notice Friday that it wants to be a full-fledged participant in the forthcoming foreign ministers and summit conferences.

Notes handed the U.S., British and French diplomatic representatives here by Czech Dep. Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek said the Soviet Union had suggested that Czechoslovakia and Poland sit in.

Both Poland and Czechoslovakia are neighbors of Germany and thus have a legitimate interest in seeing German problems solved, the note added.

The note complained that the Western Big Three in reply to Moscow suggested that Poland and Czechoslovakia take part only in certain stages of the Geneva parleys. It said such an attitude was "wholly unfounded."

Parking Talks By IC Council

A public hearing on a city parking lot which has been planned for the 100 block on Burlington Street, will be discussed by the Iowa City City Council Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Two other public hearings will also be discussed by the Council. One of them will be held on the plan to reclassify the east part of outlot 19 from Class "A" residential district to Class "B" residential district. Outlot 19 is the section of land bounded by Brown, Linn, and Dubuque Streets. Class "A" districts permit only two-family dwellings. Class "B" districts permit apartment and boarding houses.

The other public hearing will be on the plan to reclassify another section of Iowa City from Class "A" residential district to an industrial district. This section is a strip of property north of the airport and south of Highway 1 on the west edge of the Iowa City city limits. An industrial district is one in which manufacturing concerns may set up operations.

The "Gold" Band appears at most home basketball games and the spring football game and presents concerts when time and preparation permits. One of the Varsity Band's two units, the "Gold" Band uses a regular standard band instrumentation, while the "Black" Band performs as an all-brass ensemble.

The Monday program, which will be interspersed with familiar marches, will conclude with a medley of selections from Meredith Wilson's Broadway hit "The Music Man."

The concert will be open to the public free of charge. Tickets will not be required for admission.

Little Rock High Schools Drop From Accredited List

CHICAGO, (UPI) — Three Little Rock, Ark., high schools, closed since last fall to preserve their all-white enrollment, dropped out of the accredited list Friday. The convention of North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools (NCA) voted to allow Little Rock's Central, Hall and Horace Mann high schools to withdraw from membership. The NCA is the accrediting agency for 3,500 high schools and 401 colleges and universities in a 19-state area, including Arkansas. Withdrawal of the three Little Rock schools meant its students may have a harder time than normal getting into college. Most universities and colleges require students from non-accredited schools to take entrance examinations. The request to withdraw the Little Rock schools was made by Ed McCuiston, assistant Arkansas education commissioner for instruction and Arkansas NCA chairman. Some members of the Little Rock school board declared themselves "disturbed and surprised" by the action of McCuiston and the NCA. Ted Lamb, a School Board member, said "It disturbs me greatly that McCuiston would take it upon himself to withdraw the schools without first consulting either the School Board or Superintendent Terrell Powell." A spokesman for the NCA said the only alternative to permitting the Little Rock schools to withdraw was to vote them out of the organization. The voluntary withdrawal was permitted under an NCA rule which says "schools which find it difficult to meet the regulations and criteria of the Association may voluntarily request the privilege of withdrawal." The effect of withdrawal was the same as that of expulsion. In either case, the schools will have the standing of a brand-new institution whenever they seek accreditation again. The schools may seek re-admission to the NCA after a year has passed, but they must then undergo a year's evaluation period before they can get back their accredited standing.
