Herter To West Talks Preparing For Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter left for Paris Monday for a meeting designed to wrap up Western strategy for dealing with Russia at the Big Four Foreign Ministers conference in Geneva next month.

Before departing on his first major mission as this country's top diplomat, Herter said he was confident a "spirit of cooperation" would prevail at the three-day meeting of Western foreign ministers.

He will confer in Paris with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and Foreign Ministers Maurice Couve de Murville of France and Heinrich Von Brentano of West Germany.

Herter, Lloyd and de Murville will face Russia's Andrei Gromyko at the Geneva meeting May 11. If progress toward easing of East-West tension is made there, a Big Four Summit meeting may follow in late summer.

In a departure statement at Washington National Airport, Herter said "I am fully confident that in the spirit of cooperation which prevails among all the NATO Allies, we shall reach the right result."

Before he left, Herter and President Eisenhower accused Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev of trying to create the false impression that the United States does not want an overall ban on atomic testing.

Congressmen May Override REA Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Monday vetoed as "contrary to the public interest" a controversial Democratic-sponsored bill designed to strip from Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson any authority over Rural Electrification Administration (REA) loans.

The President's action immediately raised the possibility that Congress for the first time since 1953 might override an Eisenhower veto.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), chief sponsor of the bill, said after a conference with Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, "we'll do everything in our power to override." "It's about time," he said, "Congress called a halt to Government by veto."

Humphrey maintained that Eisenhower's veto "completely misses the point" of the bill. He said all the measure would do would be to take the "banking power of REA out of politics."

Benson said there was "no logical basis" for passage of the bill and added: "I can only conclude that its motivation is purely political."

He said approval of the bill would leave him with overall responsibility for REA but with no authority over its chief function, "an intolerable situation."

The original Senate vote approving the measure was slightly more than two-thirds majority needed to override a veto, and the House vote was slightly less. However 40 Democrats and only 11 Republicans were absent on the almost party-line House vote.

The Senate passed the bill by 60 to 27. The House approved it 254 to 131 and sent it to the White House April 15.

The bill would return to the REA administrator sole authority over REA loans. In 1953 the Eisenhower Administration gave final authority to approve or reject such loans to the Agriculture Secretary on the recommendation of the Hoover Commission.

Eisenhower's veto message said the first Hoover Commission on organization of the executive branch recommended a "clear line of authority reaching down through every step of the organization" with no subordinate having authority "independent of that of his superior."

New Threat As Castro Off To Texas

MONTREAL (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro left here by plane Monday minutes after authorities received word that two men were en route from New York to assassinate him.

Police said the message was received while Castro was proceeding in a 27-car convoy to Dorval Airport after a 24-hour visit here. Additional security precautions were taken immediately.

Reports of plans to kill the bearded Cuban leader also arose in New York last week during his goodwill tour.

Castro boarded a Cuban Airlines plane en route for Houston, Tex., and Buenos Aires, Argentina, a few minutes after Royal Canadian Mounted and Quebec Provincial police had been informed that two known suspects had left New York this morning for Montreal.

A radio car in the Castro caravan picked up the message and the convoy halted briefly while one of Castro's personal security guards, who knows the suspects by sight, got into the premier's car.

Police were stationed at strategic spots at the airport when the caravan arrived. Departure of the plane was delayed for more than an hour because of a baggage mix-up. Another delay occurred when a Cuban security man discovered he had left his pistol at the hotel and returned for it.

Inspector D. E. Mc Laren of the RCMP said that the message about the two suspects was one of many similar reports received since Castro arrived here Sunday from Boston.

Castro shrugged off the reported plot as he has done previously. During his stay here, he gave any assassin several chances because of his casual regard for security regulations.

Although he was welcomed by large crowds at his arrival yesterday, the attendance was sparse at his departure.

From Houston Castro will go to Buenos Aires where he will head the Cuban delegation at a conference of American states. He was scheduled to spend the night in Trinidad.

Ocean Ship Reaches Great Lakes

TORONTO (UPI) — The Dutch freighter Prins Willem George Frederik Monday became the first ocean-going vessel to reach a Great Lakes port through the newly opened St. Lawrence Seaway.

Capt. Steve Aladjik, 47-year-old skipper of the freighter, and his crew received a variety of gifts from city officials.

The 3,000-ton grey and white freighter also will get a new coat of paint for being the first deep-sea ship to make the journey through the 130-mile seaway from Montreal.

The Frederik was among 11 ocean-going vessels to leave Montreal Saturday. It arrived here about five hours ahead of a sister ship, Prins Willem III. The British freighter Manchester Faith was the third to dock.

The Frederik engaged in a bow-to-bow race with another sister ship, the Prins John Willem Frisco, after they emerged into Lake Ontario Sunday near Kingston. The Frisco, however, went on through the Welland Canal into Lake Erie instead of docking at Toronto.

The Frederik was the first of the deep-sea ships to enter the initial St. Lambert lock opposite Montreal. The others, due to dock here later, included German, French and Norwegian ships.

The Frederik made the run from Montreal in less than two days carrying a cargo that included cocoa, cheese and Christmas tree decorations. Before the Seaway was opened, the trip from Montreal to Kingston alone took at least three days through a channel that was not deep enough for ocean ships.

Bob Essman ...

In the art department of Iowa Book & Supply Company you'll find an experienced artist to serve you. This June, Bob Essman will graduate as an art major from the College of Liberal Arts. His art background has been directed toward painting, sculpture, and design. Bob has accepted the position of manager of the mail order department at the Art Mart in St. Louis, where he has worked during the past five summers. Besides serving you in the art department, he designs and decorates the store windows, maintains the in-store displays, and handles the buying and inventory of the art supplies. Some of the famous brands in his department include:

PERMANENT PIGMENTS • SHIVA CASEINS • PELIKAN INKS & DESIGNERS COLORS • EAGLE PRISMACOLOR & PRISMAPASTEL • SPEEDBALL LETTERING EQUIPMENT • STRATMORE DRAWING PAPERS • A WIDE VARIETY OF CERAMIC & SCULPTURE SUPPLIES.

In its constant effort to give students and faculty the highest possible quality, at a savings, the art department has added many new items. Bob remarks that the new Framaway stretch canvas is the finest of its kind for the oil painter. Another economical product is the new line of Universal Bristle Brushes. These oil brushes are available in brights, flats, and rounds, and sell for 28¢ to $1.80. Also new at Iowa Book & Supply Company are: Dri-Mark felt tip bottle pen (39¢ in a choice of 6 colors), new Warton long bristle oil brushes, and Craftint hardbound sketchbooks in two sizes—5½" x 8½" and 8½" x 11".

Of noted importance in the art department are the textured color reproductions of famous paintings. These true-to-life reproductions can give your home or room the added charm you've been wanting. You can have your favorite famous painting framed while you wait. (prints—$1.98, frames $1.98 to $2.98).

STRETCHING over 105 acres, Regina High School cost a million dollars. Featured above is the school's gym which seats 1,200 and is made of a new roof material that requires no interior supports.

First Year At Regina

By JO MOORE
Staff Writer

Regina High, the new million dollar Catholic high school here, holds many memories of experiences and events which have occurred within her walls during her first year.

Throughout the year, a spirit of loyalty has developed among her 275 students, especially among the younger ones who did not have strong bonds with the school's predecessors — St. Mary's and St. Patrick's.

The school is built on a split level with five steps joining the two levels. Sister Mary Francile, assistant principal of Regina, said, "I am often amused when I hear the children say 'I have to go upstairs for something or other'. They are used to attending schools with several stories."

"Regina," she said, "is a Latin term meaning queen, and bears reference to the Blessed Virgin Mary, Queen of Heaven. The slate work on the outside of the building shows Mary with a crown."

Sister Mary Francile is the Superior over eight sisters from the Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary. These sisters, in turn, head a school faculty of 19 members. Their two-story convent adjoins the school. The order is the same one used at St. Patrick's and St. Mary's which have been made into grade schools.

The L-shaped structure, which is located on Rochester Avenue on Highway 1, has provided modern training for students in such areas as industrial arts, homemaking, science, journalism, dramatics, music and sports.

Students in industrial arts have been able to put their own personal "finishing touches" on Regina. They have installed lighting in the parking area around Regina, re-adjusted the locks on their lockers, built shelves for their own tools and benches for the locker rooms.

The home economics department is completely up-to-date with its wall oven, automatic sewing machine, and washer-dryer combination. "The girls are particularly fascinated with such modern gadgets as the meat thermometer," Sister Francile said.

The science labs have all the standard equipment any student could ask for, plus extra modern devices such as the "spectrometer" which registers various intensities of light on a spectrum. According to Sister Mary Francile, the biology classes will plant flowers and do some minor landscaping later on this spring.

There was no school paper at Regina prior to the first issue of the "Spectrum" between semesters. The paper was named the "Spectrum" as a result of a student naming contest. The students do their own reporting and picture taking.

There isn't a dramatic club as such at Regina. The senior class presented its play — "Light Up The Sky" last week, however. The play "Green Pastures" was given last fall by the general student body. The stage is in the cafeteria instead of the gym area. This allows students to rehearse any time except at lunchtime without interruptions.

The music room is located far enough away from the classroom areas to avoid conflicts between band practice and classes. The students have several practice rooms adjoining the band room.

The new gymnasium has a seating capacity of 1,200. The gym contains no interior support due to a new type of roof called lamella construction. Included on Regina's 105 acre tract is an athletic field, adding to the school's sports curriculum.

According to Sister Mary Christina, the school library has about 4,000 volumes, most of which came from St. Patrick's and St. Mary's High Schools. She said that the school had been granted a free one-year loan of science books by the American Association for the Advancement of Science for next year.

The Regina Chapel is open to students before and after classes throughout the day. Here some of the noted religious art work of Father Edward M. Catrich of St. Ambrose College may be found. According to Sister Mary Francile, Father Catrich's modern work features Christ without a beard and in modern dress. His carved slate panel of the Madonna and Child found in the main foyer portrays Mary in a modern hair style.

Also in the main foyer of the building are the locker-coat rack combinations which are under observation from the main desk. This combination is quite attractive and prevents the hallways from being cluttered.

Enormous window space gives the school a light, airy atmosphere. "Sky-Domes," a combination of glass and skylight, also give the school more than adequate lighting.

Indeed, Regina is a credit to its backers and their aim—the further extension of Catholic education.

The school was financed by the contributions of Iowa City's four parishes—St. Mary's, St. Patrick's, St. Wenceslaus, and St. Thomas More.

REGINA'S LIBRARY holds 4,000 volumes, most of which were brought from St. Mary's and St. Patrick's, old high schools in Iowa City replaced by Regina.

REGGIE, a pet parakeet, was given to Regina (his name sake). Here, Suzi Kros and Sister Mary Paula pause to greet Reggie before biology lecture begins.

CHAPEL PRAYERS are offered by a student at the end of a busy school day. The art work in the chapel and throughout the school was done by Father Catich, a religious art authority.

MEAT THERMOMETER regulation is shown by Sister Mary Francile to Judy Anderson in the new and modern wall oven.

LOCKER-COAT RACK combinations are found in the main lobby and are under supervision from the main desk, thus there are no cluttered halls.

6 Community Play Casts Earn Superior Ratings

Six play casts earned "superior" ratings and 25 actors were named "outstanding performers" in the annual Iowa Community Play Production Festival held at the SUI Theatre last weekend.

Judge Sidney H. Spayde, director of the Grand Rapids Civic Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich., awarded the "superior" ratings to the Clear Lake Women's Club for a production of "Overtones," directed by Mrs. Duane Brandt; the Marshalltown Woman's Club for "Land and Larnin'," directed by Mrs. Frank Peterson; the Spencer Woman's Club for "Heaven Will Protect the Working Girl," directed by Mrs. Rachel Champion; the Oskaloosa Woman's Club for "Tell Me Your Troubles," directed by Mrs. Will Bernstein; the Ottumwa Community Players for "Night Must Fall," directed by Philip Ellenberger; and the Des Moines Community Playhouse for "I Rise in Flame, Cry the Phoenix," directed by Mrs. Elaine Bullis-Orhms.

Receiving "excellent" ratings were the Iowa City American Association of University Women, represented by a cutting of "The Madwoman of Chailot," directed by Mrs. Marilyn Swinton; The Iowa City Community Theatre for "The Last Tender Shoot," directed by Mrs. Bea Gardner; and the Manchester City Federation of Women's Clubs for "The Red, Red Leaves," directed by Mrs. Alma Hansel.

Individual actors receiving "outstanding performance" distinctions include Charles Waterbury and Ardella Seela, Schaller Woman's Club; Mrs. Rosemary Hartup, Mrs. Bea Gardner and Mrs. Phyllis Langenhan, Iowa City American Association of University Women; Nadine Cole and Margaret Applebee, Manchester; Mrs. Manie Ahrenholtz and Mrs. Dorothy Purdy, Odebolt Woman's Club.

Others are Jo Brandt and Jean Knutson, Clear Lake; Mrs. Frank Burt and Mrs. J. M. Moore, Marshalltown; Martha Liggett and Lorna Kunath, Spencer; Emma Lou Heusinger and Mrs. Ruth Bernstein, Oskaloosa; Mrs. Doris Pailles and Dr. Charles Thayer, Iowa City Community Theatre; David Brown and Yvonne Mallette, Burlington Players Workshop; Marguerite Delpierre and Bob Gorsuch, Ottumwa; and Elaine Bullis-Orhms and Ralston James, Des Moines.

Senate Delays Brazilian Post To Mrs. Luce

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), Monday staged a small-scale talkathon against Clare Boothe Luce and won a one-day delay in Senate action in her nomination to be this country's ambassador to Brazil.

The delay was agreed to after Morse delivered a blistering 23-page Senate speech charging that Mrs. Luce was unqualified for the post and a political hack.

Making frequent off-the-cuff additions to his text, Morse was on his feet 3 hours and 18 minutes. He and other opponents of Mrs. Luce urged a delay in the Senate vote so members could study her testimony before the Foreign Relations Committee.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), tartly noted that the hearing record had been available for some time. But he "aid that in view of Morse's 'facility for discussion,' he was willing to postpone the vote until 2 p.m. EDT today.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), observed that copies of the transcript of the committee hearings on Mrs. Luce were sent to all senators April 18. The Senate also voted to have a roll call when it does vote on the nomination. Morse had said he would insist on this procedure.

In his lengthy attack, Morse angrily maintained that the nomination of the ash-blond former congresswoman was "one more example of the Eisenhower Administration's practice of paying off political hacks with ambassadorial appointments."

He maintained that she was neither intellectually honest nor reliable and added that she did not pass the "minimum test of competence" upon which the Senate and Administration should insist.

Simms Recital To Be Held Wednesday By Piano Soloist

John C. Simms, associate professor of music and head of piano instruction at SUI, will be heard in a piano recital Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

Simms will play "Diabelli Variations, Op. 120 by Beethoven, movements Three and Four from the 'Second Piano Concerto' (Concord, Mass.) by Ives, and 'Phantasie, Op. 15' by Schubert.

Simms, a graduate of SUI and the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, has appeared as piano soloist with several major symphony orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic. The recital will be broadcast by WSUI Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Arms Inspection And Limitation Part Of Proposed Settlement

LONDON, (UPD) — Britain Monday proposed a Western cold war settlement with Russia that would feature a system of arms inspection and limitation in Central Europe and postponement of free all-German elections.

The "package" plan, to be discussed by the Western Big Four foreign ministers in Paris this week, was outlined by Foreign Secretary Selwyn J. Lloyd to the House of Commons at the start of a foreign affairs debate for an eventual total ban on nuclear test explosions despite the U.S. proposal — backed by Britain — that such a ban be carried out step-by-step—beginning with prohibition of lower atmospheric blasts.

At the same time, however, the British Foreign Secretary warned that the West could not accept any plan that would lead to free West Berlin "being swallowed up" by Communist East Germany. He also rejected any idea of a "disengagement" that would leave a "vacuum" between East-West forces in Central Europe.

In Washington, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter expressed disappointment that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had refused to accept Eisenhower's proposal for a phased ban. They insisted, according to a White House statement, that the United States also favored a complete test ban, contrary to the impression Khrushchev tried to create in letters last Saturday.

To Publish Novel By SUI Alum

"Hobbledehoy Hero," a first novel by former SUI student Curtis L. Johnson, will be published May 1 by Pennington Press, Chicago.

It is the story of an adolescent's growth to manhood in a small Iowa town after the Second World War.

Johnson, formerly of Iowa Falls, studied English Literature at SUI, graduating in 1951 and receiving his master's degree in 1952.

During his college years, he wrote for the school's humor magazine and edited and published a college humor magazine of his own. At present he is handbook editor of "Science and Mechanics."

Johnson's sister, Mrs. Ann Kent, lives at 1003 E. Burlington St. in Iowa City. Her husband, Tom, is a medical student at SUI.

House Committee Considers Nepotism, Newspaper Practice

WASHINGTON (UPD) — Four house members called today for removal of secrecy labels on congressional payrolls and suggested new rules to spotlight the employment of relatives or business associates by congressmen.

One of the four, Rep. John E. Henderson (R-Ohio), said the "integrity of Congress" has suffered from recent disclosures about "clashes on congressional payrolls."

"Suspicion and doubt concerning the honesty of the administration of congressional offices are widespread throughout the country," he said.

At the same hearing before a House administration subcommittee, another Congressman turned his fire on newspapers. He said they were keeping the public in the dark about "great issues" by such dispatches as those about congressional nepotism.

Rep. George M. Rhodes (D-Pa.) claimed three was "unethical control of important news and information" and said it was "about time for the people to see what goes on behind the scenes."

As recipients of "big postal subsidies," he said, newspapers should be required to reveal details on the salaries and pensions they pay.

BEAR FACTS
TIMMONS, Ont. (AP) — Mayor Leo Del Villano has announced the first weekend hunt for bears to provide skins for the hats of Buckingham Palace guards will be held May 16, and that they will continue on weekends until June 15. The mayor started organizing the hunts after reports from London said the guards' hats are moth-eaten.

AUTO OUTPUT UP
DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto industry continues to run well ahead of last year in car output. Through last week this year's output totaled 2,086,847 cars compared with 1,508,150 in the like 1958 period. The industry built 134,418 cars last week compared with 135,934 the preceding week and with 58,664 in the same 1958 week.
