2 Dead In Airliner Shooting

Former SUI Janitor Shoots Dishwasher, Then Kills Self

No One Knew What Happened

"The shots sounded like a refrigerator door slamming," said one fired, upset SUI student as she described the double shooting which occurred in the Airliner Tuesday night.

Another said he didn't know what happened until the police came.

As described by Airliner customers, the shooting created little excitement at first, due to the fact that the sounds of the shots were muffled.

One student, who wished his name withheld, said he was sitting in one of the back booths when he heard sounds of pleading issuing from the kitchen. He heard the shots, which "sounded like two firecrackers popping" and he saw the Airliner cook run and whisper something to the bartender. The general reaction, he said, was "it's none of our business, so why bother."

Another student, Tom Leon, A4, Davenport, said he arrived at the scene directly after the shooting. Leon helped Iowa City police carry the body of the cook and the still-living slayer out of the establishment.

Leon said he saw a knife laying on the floor of the kitchen, but he was not sure whether it had been used during the slaying or not.

A crowd of customers and curious bystanders surrounded the Airliner entrance at 9:30 p.m., but the Liner was closed and dark inside. One student remarked how strange it was that Clinton Street bar looked just the same as at closing time any other night.

Wild theories of the shooting spread around the campus as the news went from one person to another. The Daily Iowan staff received reports of everything from a stabbing to a double suicide.

One student summed up the general reaction of the customers and bystanders when she said: "We didn't have any idea of what was going on. When we found out everyone was completely stunned by the whole thing."

Second Tavern Shooting In 2 Years

Kenney's Tavern, formerly located in the same block as the Airliner, was the scene of a shooting on April 13, 1956, when the wife of the tavern owner was wounded as she was working behind the bar.

The woman was struck by two bullets fired by a customer whom she had earlier refused to serve. The shooting occurred at 5:25 p.m. when the man returned to the tavern, exchanged words with the woman, and shot her

A former SUI janitor shot and killed a woman dishwasher at the Airliner Tavern about 8:43 p.m. Tuesday, then promptly killed himself with the same weapon.

Randolph V. Hoover, 47, 812 S. Riverside Ave., rushed into the tavern and shot Alameda Terrell, 40, 403 S. Lucas St., then he pointed the weapon in his mouth and fired, police said.

Leonard Abbe, an employee of the Airliner, said he saw Hoover charge in the back door. Then he heard some shots, and heard Mrs. Terrell cry, "Help Leonard." When he turned he saw Mrs. Terrell on the floor and Hoover crumpled on top of her, he said.

Persons at the scene immediately called the Iowa City police, and two police cars in the vicinity rushed to the tavern. Both Hoover and Mrs. Terrell were taken to the University Hospital. Hoover was dead on arrival at the hospital. Mrs. Terrell died 15 minutes later, County Coroner Dr. George Callahan said.

Police said Hoover apparently shot Mrs. Terrell in the hip first. When she turned to face Hoover, he shot her again in the stomach. Hoover died when the bullet

SUI Mothers In The Spotlight This Weekend

SUI Mothers will be royally entertained this weekend at SUI Mothers' Day activities planned by campus organizations and housing units.

The weekend will open with the annual Seals water show Friday night at 8 p.m.

Saturday morning, Canoe Capers will hold the spotlight. Canoe races, mixed relays, and novelty acts will begin at 9:15 on the Iowa River near the Iowa Memorial Union foot bridge.

The Canoe Capers trophy and the Intramurals trophy will be presented at the Women's Gymnasium open house following the canoe races.

The home economics department will hold an open house and coffee hour in Macbride Hall from 10 to 11 a.m. Saturday. There will be a style show in which students in beginning and advanced sewing classes will model the garments they have made. Displays in the various areas of home economics will be on the second floor south. While coffee will be served in the department's dining room.

Mrs. Olivia Carstensen, SUI Representative Mother, and Arlene Hunt and Thor Rinden, representative daughter and son, will be presented at the Mothers' Day Luncheon to be held in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union Saturday.

Provost Harvey H. Davis will give the welcome at the luncheon and Corley Hamill, A4, Des Moines, president of Mortar Board, will be toastmistress. Susan Elwell, G, Garwin, will give a piano solo at the program.

Sunday will be marked by the tapping ceremony of mortar board members. University Sing finals at 4 p.m. in the Union will officially close the weekend.

Other weekend events include a student art exhibit in the Art Building and the photography booth in the Union.

Daniel Lang, G, Tulsa, Okla., will present an art exhibit on the mezzanine gallery of the Art Building consisting of black and white and mixed water-color drawings of landscapes, still lifes and portraits. Lang used subject material from European countries, New York City, and Iowa. His drawings will be for sale.

Clinton Woman Is '59 SUI Mother

Mrs. Olivia Carstensen, Clinton, will be honored this weekend as the Representative SUI Mother of 1959.

Nominated by her daughter Judy, A2, Mrs. Carstensen will be presented at the Mothers' Day Luncheon Saturday in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union. Arlene Hunt and Thor Rinden, Representative Daughter and Son, will also be introduced at the luncheon.

Mrs. Carstensen was selected by members of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary organization which sponsors the SUI Mothers' Day Weekend. Final selection of the SUI Mother was made on the basis of letters written by students nominating their mothers.

Since the death of her husband in 1945, Mrs. Carstensen has taken complete charge of the Carstensen Freight Lines and Carstensen Transfer and Storage Company of Clinton. As president and treasurer of the firm, she controls five freight terminals including a Chicago terminal. Through her influence, a new central office and freight terminal was built in Clinton in 1955.

In connection with the freight lines, Mrs. Carstensen is a member of the American Trucking Association, Iowa Warehouseman's Association, National Furniture Warehouseman's Association, and the Iowa Motor Trucking Association. She is the only woman ever to have served on the board of governors for the Carrier Corporation.

Aside from her business commitments, Mrs. Carstensen is a director of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce and is active in the Credit Women's Breakfast Club, American Legion Auxiliary, United Commercial Travelers Ladies' Auxiliary, Eastern Star and the W-Tan-Ye Civic Club. She is chairman of the furnishings committee for the new St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Clinton.

Mrs. Carstensen's five children have all attended SUI. David, 23, graduated in 1952 and Jack, 27, graduated in 1953. Two other sons, Dick, 24, and Jim, 20, have attended the University, and Judy, 20, is presently enrolled. Although she didn't attend SUI, Mrs. Carstensen is a member of I-Club and the Century Club.

SUI Dormitories To Fete Mothers

Several dormitories on campus are sponsoring special activities in conjunction with the University Mother's Day Week End, Saturday and Sunday.

Currier Hall will hold a tea Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Currier North Recreation Room. The dormitory New Student Council will present a skit at this time, and the "Currier Mother of 1959" will be announced.

Sophomore nurses and their mothers will be special guests Saturday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at an open house and tea at Westlawn.

An open house and tea sponsored jointly by Maude McBroom, Ruth Wardall and Beth Wellman houses will be held in Burge Hall Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Maude McBroom House coeds are also inviting their mothers to an installation breakfast for new house officers at 8:45 a.m. Sunday. Dean Elmer T. Petersen of the School of Education will speak to the group.

Mothers will be special guests at a recognition brunch for new officers of Ruth Wardall House Saturday at 11 a.m.

Plans Made For Family Pictures

A new feature of Mothers' Day Weekend will be a photography booth in the Iowa Memorial Union where students and their parents can have their pictures taken.

Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's honorary service fraternity sponsoring the pictures, will sell $2 gift certificates in housing units today through Friday. The certificates are redeemable for two 4 by 5 inch photographs in desk upon presentation to the photographers upon presentation to the photographer.

1 of the Union from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Mortar Tapping Set For Sunday

A highlight of Mother's Day Weekend will be the traditional tapping ceremony of Mortar Board members on Old Capitol's west approach Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Mortar Board is a national senior women's honorary organization and to be eligible for membership a girl must be in about the upper third of the junior class. This year the minimum gradepoint requirement is 2.75.

All junior girls voted on March 24 for the scholastically eligible junior women whom they felt had been outstanding in campus activities. Final selection of members is made by the active Mortar Board chapter on the basis of the results of the junior vote and recommendations of the SUI administration and advisors to campus groups.

A Mortar Board chapter may include from five to 25 members. There are 14 women in the active chapter now.

Junior women have voted in the selection process since the first honor group, Staff and Circle, was organized here in 1912. When the Staff and Circle group joined the national Mortar Board society in 1926, the custom was carried over for Mortar Board selection.

Seals To Present Nutcracker Suite

Strains from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," a musical fantasy, will be added to the marine-blue waters of the Fieldhouse swimming pool when the Seals, SUI's women's swimming club, present their 1959 aqua spectacular Friday and Saturday nights to open SUI's Mother's Day Weekend.

Tickets are being sold for 75 cents each by Seals Club members or may be purchased at Whetstone's Drug or at the fieldhouse the nights of the show. Both performances will begin at 8 p.m.

The show will be highlighted by the championship diving skills of Ann Cooper Culver, a former SUI student from Cedar Rapids, and Estel Lane Mills, A4, Marshalltown. They will do a duet - "Diving On A Dream."

Seals Club members will present the story of the "Nutcracker," which tells of a beautiful young girl who saves her new, massive-jawed nutcracker from an attack of the mice-king. The nutcracker immediately turns into a handsome prince. By way of thanks, he takes the girl with him on a tour of the enchanted land, the country of sweets.

For the show's overture, the performers will be dressed in blue swim suits with red and white stripes across their fronts. The girls will represent soldiers.

"March of the Mice" is a number which will be developed into an aquatic design. The "mice" will wear white swim caps with black ears, black swim suits and tails and white gloves.

The finale of the show will feature all the members of the Seals in a number entitled "Waltz of the Bees." In keeping with the traditional old gold and black, the girls will wear black suits and gold feelers on their swimming caps.

Medical Students Study, Still Sing

"Nothing sounds better than a good musical group—especially if that group is male," a co-ed said at the University Sing semi-finals last week. This statement could aptly be applied to the Phi Beta Pi's, one of the finalists in U-Sing.

The Phi Beta chorus, which consists of 30 men, was formed last year under the leadership of Keith Garber. Their reputation on campus has already been established.

The chorus sang at the Medical Commencement last year and were part of the entertainment for the Aesculapian party last weekend. The chorus is also scheduled to sing at the Zion Lutheran Church on the May 17.

The Phi Betas are the only professional fraternity to enter U-Sing this year. Last year, the Sing was not held, but it had been held every year previous to that. The Quadrangle Chorus won the first prize trophy for the three years from 1954-1956 although male groups were not too enthusiastic about entering the Sing.

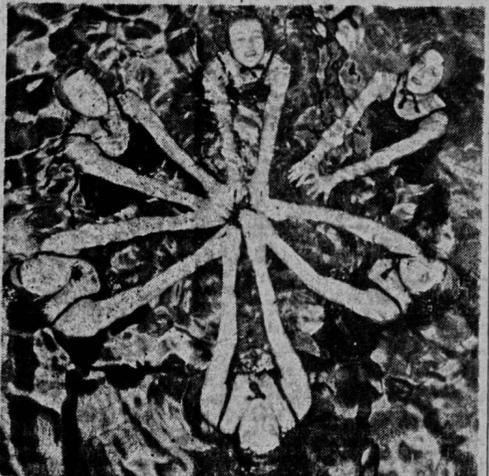

at 4 p.m. in the Union. The SUI Mother of the Year will award the sweepstakes and first place trophies. The U-Sing committee hopes that more houses, both social and professional, will enter the sing next year.

The Phi Beta chorus, because of the busy schedules of its members, can only rehearse once a week. This rehearsal is usually held on Sunday under the direction of Laverne Wintermeyer.

"Anyone can sing—to make one note beautiful is the thing," Wintermeyer said during one of the rehearsals. This is what the group strives for. The group's talents are diversified enough for singing all types of music from Negro spirituals to popular show tunes.

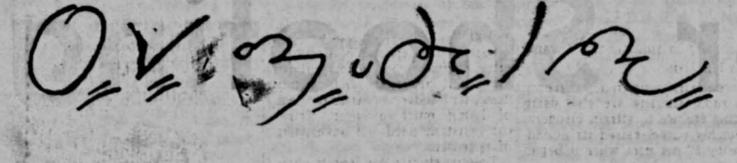

Membership is voluntary, the only requirement being an interest in music.

The Phi Beta Pi fraternity is one of the largest houses on this campus with 146 members. A professional medical fraternity, they have been on campus for 54 years. Because of their showing in the U-Sing semi-finals, it could be assumed that if the medical profession ever fails them, these men could always fall back on their vocal talents.

SNOWFLAKE FORMATIONS will be featured in this number at the Seals Club water show Friday and Saturday in the Fieldhouse pool. Rehearsing here are (from left): Sandra Domsalla, A1, Clinton; Carol Hathaway, A1, Muscatine; Dotti Wilbur, N1, Davenport; Judy Ashline, N1, Keokuk; Judy Everingham, A1, Fort Madison; and Virginia Feurer, A1, Park Ridge, Ill. The show, with a theme and music from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," will be a part of the Mother's Day weekend here.

The Daily Iowan is written and edited by students and is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the University.

CHEERLEADER: "All right you Cyclone fans, let's spell it out. Who do you root for?"

FANS (obediently): "I-O-W-A S-T-A-T-E U-N-I-V-E-R-S-I-T-Y O-F S-C-I-E-N-C-E A-N-D T-E-C-H-N-O-L-O-G-Y."

CHEERLEADER: "What's that again?" FANS (not obediently): "G-O N-E-B-R-A-S-K-A."

FIRST FAN: "Go Nebraska? I thought we were playing Michigan."

SECOND FAN: "No, no, Michigan is playing at Iowa City against the State University of Iowa. Iowa State University of Science and Technology is playing Nebraska here at Ames."

FIRST FAN: "Oh, I wondered where the crowd was."

And so, confusion will reign at Ames this fall. We can hear the leader of the Iowa State University of Science and Technology Marching Band now!

LEADER (tearing at non-existent hair): "No, no, no. The tuba section forms the 'TECH' and you trombonists belong in the 'NOLOGY' section."

Thus the troubles at Ames will mount. Football lettermen will sport purple and gold I-S-U-S-T sweaters and megaphones will have to be of the six foot variety in order to accommodate the necessary ciphers.

The card section? Sparkling in the autumn sunshine the letters I-O-W-A S-T-A-T-E U-N-I-V-E-R-S-I-T-Y O-F S-C-I-E-N-C-E A-N-D T-E-C-H-N-O-L-O-G-Y will ripple across the stadium from the five yard line to the five yard line.

We at SUI are not considerably concerned by the fact that the preponderant name will probably be shortened at some time in the future to Iowa State University. Certainly Iowa's sister school will be even more widely confused in the future, SUI students, however, can merely continue as they have in the past with a clarification something to the effect of: "Oh, you know, the school with the football team."

But what about poor ISUST? We feel that it is our neighborly duty to propose a symbol of distinctiveness that can be used by the Ames residents to identify themselves during the fall months. Thanks to Gregg, think we have come up with an answer. How about something like: "Iowa State University of Science and Technology, Home of the First and Only Shorthand Football Card Section in the Middle West?" What could be more distinctive—and utilitarian?

Where There's A Wheel There's A Barrow

It was with regret that we read the other day of an experiment in togetherness that makes SUI's river-banking blanket record of 37 seem as unspectacular as a five minute mile. We were not numerically outdone, but in sheer cohesive zeal, the convicts at the Missouri State Penitentiary certainly have the goods on the collegiate set.

Lacking a phone booth, sports car, or a green bank, the convicts, packed sardine-style into a vehicle that makes the Kaisers Co.'s little Volkswagon into which dozens of girls doubled recently seem like a veritable Rolls Royce. Twenty strong, the men in the striped suits stacked themselves like cordwood into an old rubber-tired wheelbarrow.

Surely SUI students are not going to let this record go unchallenged?

Influential Friend Of Mao, Hsu Teh-li Holds High Post

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Almost buried in the list of major appointments announced by Red China Monday was the name of Hsu Teh-li, a snaggle-toothed old revolutionary of 82, re-elected to the standing committee of the National People's Congress.

The bright-eyed former school-teacher, long past his prime, but regularly elected to important party and state posts, has two assets worth more than gold in China's tightly knit Communist society.

He is from Hunan, the home of Mao Tze-tung. He is a veteran of the long march, the bitter 4,000-mile retreat by Communist forces in the 1930s.

Men from Hunan and men who made the long march form a brotherhood thicker than blood in Peiping. Their closeness may explain why the Chinese leadership is able to present to the world an unbroken, monolithic front, undisturbed by public quarrels.

A survey of the top men who rule behind the thick, red walls of the forbidden city in Peiping shows that almost all shared the dangers and hardships of the withdrawal, under Chiang Kai-shek's guns, from central China to Yenana, between 1934 and 1936.

Liue Shao-chi, China's No. 2 man who was elevated to the presidency Monday, did not. But he was especially exempted to do dangerous underground work. He is, however, from Hunan and with his confirmation as heir-apparent of Chinese communism, the "human clique" has become even more powerful than ever.

Hunan is a province noted over the centuries as a breeder of revolutionaries. Mao once told this writer that the peppery, spice-laden food the Hunanese eat accounted for this.

Teachers may have been more important than hot food in 1908, when Hsu Teh-li was teaching in the Hunan provincial first normal school. One of Hsu's pupils, in those faraway days was Mao. Another was Li Wei-han, now a top member of the Politburo and chief of the united front work department.

These were years of groping for new ideas and Hsu, who later joined Sun Yat-sen in overthrowing the Manchu dynasty, guided his students toward revolution and communism.

Far Too Many Students Cannot Read Intelligently

Letter To The Editor—

Every writer values reader response, whether in praise or criticism. In this morning's mail I received a card, postmarked Iowa City, from one who thinks it none of my business "whether men should wear hats."

The sender, anonymous, saw my letter captioned "Cult of Hatlessness" in the Open Forum, Des Moines Register, yesterday. His message reads: "Dear Althea:—You write a good letter, (thanks) but a girl of your ability should be concerned about something more vital than whether men should wear hats. Don't you think it is up to them—their business, and nobody else's, I do."

No doubt Americans generally are hasty readers. We need to learn better. This weakness, in my opinion, lessens our stature as a people; diminishes our influence in the world councils. I believe persons responsible for improving education in our country's schools and colleges should, and are, placing great emphasis upon both the learning and the teaching of efficient reading habits. Such learning and teaching should be a continuing process from first grade through high school. It is clearly apparent also that our diploma mills—of which Iowa has no monopoly—have been shirking their responsibilities. Our young people are being cheated. Far too many of them simply cannot read.

(Mrs.) Aletha Humphreys, G Toledo, Iowa

Arthur Edson Watches Congress— Making 'Legislative History'

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the Founding Fathers got ready to found, they locked themselves in, sharpened their quills and manfully set to work.

If they had anyone in to help them, except maybe for routine chores like tidying up the place at night, the records don't mention it.

Well, you may be able to set up a government in such a primitive style, but you wouldn't be able to run it in these complicated times. Congressmen are surrounded by little helpers, most of whom aren't relatives. On complex issues the lawmakers may be almost obscured by the professional staff.

The Senate debate of the labor regulation bill offered a fine illustration of legal specialization. It was a controversial bill, and much of it was literally rewritten on the Senate floor, so attendance was good.

Expert Advice Attendance seemed even better because of the abundant supply of experts on hand.

A couple of examples will show how things are done now. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), had Archibald Cox, a Harvard professor, there as his personal consultant. Sen. John L. Mc-

Low-Income Whites Cause Some Problem—

Panic Selling, Not Negro Family, Lowers Neighborhood Property Values

By JERRY KIRKPATRICK Editor

This is the second of a three-part article exploring the current status of housing integration and property values. Part three will deal with segregation in the North.

What should you do if a colored family moves into your neighborhood?

Call together your friends and those you have reason to believe are democratic and courageous people.

1) Agree not to fight against the moving-in of a colored family.

2) Make it clear that you and others will not offer your property for sale; will not panic and leave the community, will not even put "Not for Sale" signs in your windows.

3) Work quickly to track down and answer all rumors and dispel any bigoted untruths or half-truths involving neighborhood affairs.

Low-income families, colored or white tend not to keep their homes so well as others. But the presence of low-income families is a result not a cause of property value decline.

Good Listening—

Today On WSUI

PIANIST JOHN SIMMS, whose recordings are frequently broadcast from these and other serious music stations, will be heard from Macbride Auditorium this evening at 8 p.m. simulcast via WSUI and KSUI-FM. A formidable program has been scheduled for this occasion with the challenging Diabelli Variations by Beethoven comprising the entire first half. An interview with the pianist-professor may be heard during the intermission interval. The second half of the recital will include compositions by Ives and Schubert.

CONDUCTORS' BIRTHDAY PARTY, honoring two distinguished British maestros, will be celebrated this morning at 10:05 a.m. Selections identified with Beecham and Sir Malcolm Sargent are the entertainment for the occasion. Refreshments will be served; favors distributed; costumes ought to suggest musical instruments in various stages of decay.

SPORTS AT MIDWEEK may well pale beside all these shenanigans, but they are going ahead with it anyway. At 12:45 p.m. A WELL-BALANCED DINNER should be complemented by a well-balanced program of music. Tonight's Evening Concert has bits of Offenbach, Dvorak, Beethoven, Respighi and is concluded with the Fifth Symphony of Tchaikovsky. EC begins at 6 p.m. and continues for two hours.

THE AMERICAN STAGE has a special interest for those who have seen some of the productions of greatest historical importance or the motion picture versions which followed them at a respectful distance. The major works to come out of the depression and World War II are currently treated by Professor Charles Miller at 8:30 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

HOLLAND MUSIC FESTIVAL recordings, from Radio Nederland, are being broadcast Wednesday at 11:15 a.m. Today's features compositions by Arnold Schoenberg.

IF YOU HAVE NEVER HEARD fine music broadcast from an FM radio station, you are just barely living. Tonight, for example, KSUI-FM, 91.7 megacycles, will provide three hours of some including a new recording of the Beethoven First.

Truman, who will be 75 next month, lectured more than 1,000 students and faculty members on the subject of "The Constitution."

He told them that the Constitution was "the greatest document of government ever put together."

"Read it 100 times," he said. "You will always find something new."

GEORGE DIXON—

Mowing Miseries

Former Assistant Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel has just had the lawn of his Georgetown showplace graveled over. Of the lovely green grass that used to draw "Oohs!" from the Georgetown home and garden tourists there isn't a blade left.

I discussed this transformation with Mr. Hensel and he said his decision to do away with a lawn was due to the power lawnmower.

"My wife," he recounted, "conceived the idea that she could save the wages of a gardener by impressing me into service. I argued that I hadn't the stamina for a hand-super so she settled that by buying me a power mower."

"That was thoughtful of her," I agreed. "There's nothing like a dotting wife. But why did you do away with your lawn?"

"Well," said the ex-bureaucrat, "this power mower had a long electric cord and I would keep moving across the cord."

"And this had a discouraging effect upon you?"

"Yes," said Mr. Hensel. "That mowing machine couldn't cut grass but it sure could cut cord."

A Traveling Roast Is Campus Toast

Anybody for roast pig? It's only three days old.

The pig made his claim to fame Monday night by traveling to 11 fraternity and sorority houses. He was a well-dressed pig, complete with an apple in his mouth and cherries in his eyes.

He started his adventures at the Phi Gamma Delta house Saturday evening as a guest at the fraternity's alumni dinner. Three boys at the house innocently decided to deliver the pig to Alpha Xi Delta sorority house Monday night. And from there the pig saw a great deal of Iowa City.

The Alpha Xi Delta decided to surprise their neighbors at the Delta Delta Delta sorority house, who in turn decided to serenade the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity men and present them with the juicy gift.

The Sig Eps came en masse to the Phi Beta Phi sorority house bearing the gift of "good cheer." The Phi Pis, not to be outdone, carried the pig (which one girl said must have weighed 25 pounds) to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house. They intended to leave the pig on a car outside, but three SAE's apprehended them and threw them into the showers.

The pig traveled on to the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and they in turn tried to sneak into the Sigma Chi fraternity house, leave the pig and run. By this time, the pig carried with him a little note listing all of the places he had stopped at that evening.

The Sigma Chi took the pig to the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, which in turn delivered it to the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. The Phi Psi's took the campus pet across the foot bridge to the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity house, where the pig finally completed his travels.

He is now resting peacefully in the ravine behind the Phi Ep house. The sentiment seems to be: "I hope he stays there."

41 Students Elected To Honorary

Forty-one students elected to the SUI chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary society, will be initiated into the organization at a ceremony May 25 in Old Capitol, according to Professor Alma B. Hovey, president of the SUI chapter.

Mrs. Katherine Mull Falvey, Albia, state representative from Monroe County, will be the speaker at a banquet to follow the initiation. Her topic will be "Politics as a Rewarding Career."

To be eligible for membership in Phi Beta Kappa a student must be a candidate for, or already have received, a bachelors degree in the College of Liberal Arts, and must have ranked in the upper 10 per cent of his class scholastically.

New officers of the SUI chapter, who will serve during the next academic year, are Professors Harry T. Mubly, mathematics and astronomy, president; Ruth Davis, romance languages, vice-president; and Dean Zenor, Institute of Public Affairs, secretary-treasurer of the organization for the past four years.

New members elected to the Phi Beta Kappa organization are:

Roxanne Van Slyke, A4, Ames; William Whitney, A4, Aurelia; Carolyn Moran, A4, Cascade; William Dytrt, A4, Cedar Rapids; P. Gay Hass, A4, Chariton; Larry Watson, A4, Clear Lake; Raymond Peterson, A4, Council Bluffs; Marilyn Shor, A4, Davenport; Carolyn Dorer, A4, Frances Corley Hamill, A4; William Heyman, A4; Arlene Hunt, A4; David Markman, A4; and Charles Swain, A4, all of Des Moines.

High School To Give Play

Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer prize comedy, "The Skin of Our Teeth," will be presented by the senior class of the Iowa City High School on May 8 at 8 p.m. in the High School Auditorium.

Tickets for the play are now being sold by members of the senior class, according to Mrs. Bruce Stillians, play director.

There will be no reserved seats, and tickets will be sold at the door, she said.

Mrs. Stillians said that this is the first presentation of the play in Iowa City.

The play is a humorous tribute to the destructibility of the human race. It combines a serious philosophic theme with spirited stage techniques.

One of the outstanding features of the play, Mrs. Stillians said, is its use of difficult stage techniques, such as the speaking of Hebrew and Greek on the stage. These are usually eliminated in a small production. The high school performance will retain these techniques, she said.

Phi Kappas' Merger Set For Tonight

The SUI chapter of Phi Kappa Phi social fraternity will hold a banquet in the chapter house tonight to mark the merger of the national fraternity with Theta Kappa Phi.

Phi Kappa Theta will be the new name of the consolidated groups. There is no chapter of Theta Kappa Phi, a national social fraternity, at SUI.

Similar charter banquets are being held on college campuses throughout the nation today marking the largest merger in the history of the two fraternities.

Attending the banquet here will be M. L. Huit, dean of students; Dirck W. Brown, counselor to men; Ronald W. Roskens, fraternity affairs advisor; and George Marx, fraternity scholarship advisor.

Student members of the new Phi Kappa Theta, the SUI Interfraternity Council executive cabinet member, and Dr. George Scanlon, chapter advisor, also will attend the banquet.

The merger will involve 30 Phi Kappa chapters and 22 Theta Kappa Phi chapters throughout the nation.

Phi Kappa was founded in 1889 at Brown University, Providence, R.I., and has more than 11,500 student and alumni members. Theta Kappa Phi, with more than 6,000 members, was founded in 1919 at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa.

Michigan Republicans Halt Use Of Ver's Fund For Ready Cash

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Republicans in the Michigan Senate Tuesday abandoned attempts to use the state's Veterans Trust Fund for immediate cash, and Gov. G. Mennen Williams ordered "an orderly program for suspension of essential state obligations."

A Senate Republican caucus announced that it would replace a bill to liquidate the Veterans Trust Fund to provide ready cash with a package plan trying loans from the fund to a one-cent use tax.

"The decision makes it impossible to meet payrolls this week," Williams said. He also said the State Administrative Board has been ordered to form a program to stop essential obligations until the legislature provides money to meet them.

A Boom In Premiums, For Even—Mortuary Trade Stamps

JIM KADERA
Staff Writer

The trading stamp business has certainly expanded. Some funeral homes are now numbered among businesses giving trading stamps to attract new customers, Harvey Vredenburg, SUI marketing professor said Tuesday at the Kiwanis Club luncheon.

Vredenburg said many taverns and radio stations are also using trading stamps to attract business. A Sunday school raised its attendance by 87 per cent when it began giving stamps, he said.

The trading stamp industry is valued at approximately $500 million, he said, and from $20 billion to $30 billion of American retail business involves the giving of trading stamps. The industry is carried on by over 200 companies, but some retailers have their own stamps printed, Vredenburg added.

Most of the income of trading stamp companies comes from merchandise sales to retailers, not from stamp sales, Vredenburg said. The companies receive substantial profits by purchasing merchandise from manufacturers at low prices he added. Vredenburg said one of General Electric's biggest customers is a trading stamp company.

He said the first retailer in a field, such as the grocery business, who gives stamps in his locality usually receives a 25 per cent increase in sales during the first six months. However, after about two years, the trading stamps no longer lead to increased sales.

When trading stamps succeed as a promotional device, he said, several results occur. First, in search of more stamps, customers shop in all areas of a store. Instead of just buying groceries at a food store, the customer often purchases sun glasses or magazines also.

Second, the expenses of a retailer often decrease; he can stop allowing credit purchases and making customer deliveries without fear of losing much business. Third, the constant need for advertising often lessens.

Trading stamps can lead to some difficulties for the retailer, Vredenburg said. The consumer image of the retailer's good service or low prices often falls. Also, the retailer entails a high fixed cost because he must give stamps to old customers who made purchases without the attraction of trading

SUI Says 'Yes' To Rose Bowl

AAUP, Faculty Council Join In Opposition

One More 'No' Vote Would Kill Pact

The SUI faculty representative will vote to negotiate a new Rose Bowl agreement involving Big Ten universities when the faculty representatives of the Big Ten Conference meet in Ann Arbor, Michigan, May 21-23.

Dr. George S. Easton, chairman of the university's board in control of athletics, made the announcement Tuesday.

The board decided earlier this month to have its representative vote in favor of the new pact, Easton said, but agreed to reconsider its stand when the SUI University Faculty Council presented to the board a resolution urging that the board's representative vote against a new Rose Bowl agreement.

"Having reached the same decision after twice considering the matter, it appears certain that the best interest of all parties concerned were given consideration," Easton said.

The board's action means that at least three Big Ten schools will vote for the new agreement with the Tournament of Roses Association and the Association of Western Universities, the newly formed conference of four major west coast schools, Michigan and Purdue earlier announced that they will support the agreement.

However, Illinois, Ohio State, Northwestern and Minnesota have announced they will vote against the pact. A 6-4 majority vote is needed for passage. A "no" vote from Indiana, Michigan State or Wisconsin would mean the death of the Rose Bowl contract.

Tuesday night, the SUI chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) voted in a meeting to go on record as supporting the university faculty council's opposition to the negotiation of the pact.

Victor Harris, chairman of the faculty council, which serves to facilitate communication between the faculty and the president of the university on matters of concern to faculty and administration, said that the council felt SUI's education program is disrupted by a major post-season game.

Members of the AAUP echoed this thought at their meeting. Considerable disruption of studies results because some students return to classes several days late after attending the Rose Bowl, they said. Also, they said, the football team's leaving for the Rose Bowl several days before Christmas vacation starts places an extra burden on instructors who must allow the players to take make-up exams, etc.

Des Moines 7 Cedar Rapids 1

DES MOINES (AP) — Bob Anderson's five-hit pitching gave Des Moines a 7-1 victory over Cedar Rapids in a Three-I League opener here Tuesday night.

Anderson was aided by an attack that piled up a 6-0 lead in the first four innings against the Braves, second-half league champions last season.

Denis Menke, shortstop from Bancroft who got a fat bonus to sign with Milwaukee last year, singled in the ninth as Cedar Rapids loaded the bases. But Anderson got out of the jam on a strikeout and an infield fly.

Farr Sees Challenger As Rugged Foe For Patterson

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS — Remember Tommy Farr? Nobody thought he had a chance against Joe Louis 22 years ago. But the little-known Welshman from Tonypandy came very close.

Farr is back, not as a fighter but as a writer. He is covering Brian London, another British heavyweight who fights Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson for the title Friday night. Few give London a chance either. Farr thinks that is not right.

"What kind of a fighter is your man, London?" Farr was asked.

"London Good Puncher"
"He is rough and he is tough," came the answer. "And let me ask you a question. Has Patterson ever been hit by a good puncher since he won the title? If he hasn't he will be this time because London is a good puncher."

"I've watched Patterson four or five times in his workouts and I have yet to see anything that makes him a great champion. No Rocky Marciano. Certainly no Louis. Why, Joe could take a man's head off with his hook. Patterson is quick all right but I am not

Tiger Hurlers Have Yet To Go The Route

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitching the distance is a noteworthy accomplishment in this era of the lively baseball and short fences. No one knows it better than Bill Norman, manager of the Detroit Tigers.

The Detroit pitching staff is the only one yet to produce a complete game this season. As they look up from the American League dugout where they rest with a 1-12 record, Tiger pitchers can point to only two pitching stints of more than 6½ innings.

Frank Lary went seven against the Chicago White Sox April 12 and Paul Foytack hurled seven against Cleveland April 15. Each was in a losing cause.

The percentage of route-going performances this season compares favorably with 1958. There have been 63 complete games in 220 starts for a 28.6 average. Last year the over-all mark was 28.4.

This year's individual leaders are Pedro Ramos of Washington, Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, Lew Burdette of Milwaukee and Vinegar Bend Mizell of St. Louis. Each has three complete games in four starts, except for Drysdale who has started five games.

Milwaukee, San Francisco and Cleveland are the team leaders with six apiece followed by Washington and St. Louis with five.

Shutouts have been recorded by Drysdale, Burdette, Glen Hobbie of Chicago and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee in the National League and Billy Pierce of Chicago, Ned Garver of Kansas City, Tom Brewer of Boston and Whitey Ford of New York in the American.

in a photo finish but Christopher T. Chenery's First Landing charged home free in the second section of the race.

In the first section Neil S. McCarthy's Finnegan staged a strong stretch run and got to the front shortly before the finish. Then Open View, who had taken the lead half way through the stretch, came on again to win by a head.

John Bruce 2nd

Under Eddie Arcaro, First Landing moved to the front shortly after entering the straightaway. K. G. Marshall's John Bruce turned loose a strong bid from far back but fell a length short at the finish.

Eight Kentucky Derby candidates, getting a final chance to qualify for the rose run on Saturday, started in the first section with Mrs. Jacques Braunstein's Royal Orbit third, three quarters of a length behind Finnegan.

Only six raced in the second section after Clairborne Farm's Dunc and Robert S. Lytle's Sundown 2nd were scratched.

Quantrell 3rd

Mrs. Carrie C. Hillock's Quantrell was third behind First Landing and John Bruce, beaten three quarters of a length for the place. He was followed by Our Dad, Master Palynech and Steno Bill.

Rico Tesio, blocked in the stretch in the first section, finished fourth ahead of Troilus, Hoist Away, Bernmattar and Mosby.

Open View turned in a more impressive performance from a time standpoint. The bay colt was timed in 1:35 3/5, the third fastest running of the stake. Only the track record of 1:35 set by Hasty Road in 1954 and Hill Gail's 1:35 2/5 in 1952 were faster.

First Landing, who was repeatedly bumped by Quantrell in the stretch, was timed in 1:36 1/5 but had had his opponents measured throughout the last eighth of a mile.

Won $10,380

Open View, who earned $10,380 in recording his first stakes triumph, paid $18.60, $6.60 and $3.80. Finnegan paid $4.00 and $2.80 while Royal Orbit who was caught in close quarters in the stretch, paid $2.80.

First Landing, the 1958 juvenile champion, was heavily backed by the crowd of 15,000. He paid only $2.80, $2.60 and $2.20 while adding $9,185 to his earnings. John Bruce paid $4.60 and $2.80 while Quantrell paid $2.80.

Before either division of the trial was run, C. V. Whitney announced that Silver Spoon, the brilliant daughter of Citation who won the Santa Anita Derby, would start in the Kentucky Derby on Saturday.

West Talks Begin Today In Paris

PARIS (U.P.)—Christian A. Herter flew into Paris Tuesday to help tie up a Western package plan for solving the Berlin crisis and the problem of German reunification. The new U.S. secretary of state met the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany. The consultations here Wednesday are pretty much agreed on to offer the Soviet Union a conference table in Geneva next month. But deep differences remain about how to respond to Soviet proposals in that East-West foreign ministers meeting, which starts May 11. Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd is the champion of a flexible approach. He arrived without comment for waiting reporters. A British aide explained: "There is nothing he can add to what he has said already." The West German motto is still "concessions without concessions." Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano is armed with a warning from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to the Western powers to stand firm and be very cautious in dealing at Geneva.

Johnson Sees Cut In Budget

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas, predicted Tuesday that Congress will cut President Eisenhower's budget below the $77 billion he asked—but perhaps won't balance the budget. He drew warm applause when he spoke to the 47th annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce of paring down the spending total and said: "I believe in a balanced budget."

When questioned by reporters, Johnson said he was not forecasting a balanced budget for the fiscal year, starting July 1. "We may not raise all the money the President wants us to raise, but we'll appropriate less than he asked us to spend," he explained. Eisenhower sent to Congress last January a budget to be balanced with an increase in the tax on highway fuels and higher postal rates. Neither of these boosts has gotten anywhere in Congress so far. He said the nation must borrow the "can do" spirit of business if it is to meet the Soviet economic threat, which he said already has shrunk U.S. exports. Without such action, Johnson said, "we will be reduced to a second-class status and rapidly diminishing freedoms."

Solution Hinted To Lynch Case

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (U.P.)—Mississippi Gov. J.P. Coleman hinted Tuesday of a break in the lynch abduction of negro Mack Charles Parker, believed slain by a mob which dragged him from a jail. Coleman told newsmen he has "excellent reason" to believe that the crime would be solved, but added "I cannot reveal my reasons." State Highway Patrol Chief Bill Hood, however, told reporters it appeared the investigation by his men had reached a "standstill."

Test Launching Of Titan Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (U.P.)—Trouble developed in the delicate mechanism of a huge Titan 6,000-mile range ICBM after its engines ignited on the launching pad Tuesday. The engines were cut off automatically and immediately. The missile did not explode, and the extent of damage to the 90-foot Titan was not determined. It was scheduled for a test flight of only about 300 miles to attempt for the first time to separate the upper and lower stages. But it never got off the pad. Flames were spurting from the bottom of the Titan when the malfunction occurred. An automatic sequencer shut down the engines. "Shortly after ignition, a malfunction occurred, causing the engines to be automatically cut off while the missile was still on the launch pad," the Air Force said.

Space Agency Lets Contract For Launching Rocket

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) let a contract Tuesday for a new satellite launching vehicle, called the Delta. The space agency said it would build 12 of the three-stage rockets over the next two years, and would use them to put satellites weighing up to 250 pounds into orbit 300 miles above the earth, or to send 100-pound probes farther into space. The Delta vehicles will be built by Douglas Aircraft, Inc., Santa Monica, Calif. for a total of $24,067,500. NASA said it plans to use Delta to launch satellites from Cape Canaveral, Fla., on generally equatorial orbits and from Point Mugu, Calif., on polar orbits, as well as for deep space missions. The Delta combination will stand 90 feet, weigh more than 100,000 pounds, and develop more than 150,000 pounds of thrust.

GOP Blamed For Delaying Health Study

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The House Appropriations Committee said Tuesday the Eisenhower Administration sought to cut back promising medical research in an effort to portray the Budget as a balanced one. The Democratic-controlled committee recommended that the National Institutes of Health be given $34,279,000, or $50 million more than President Eisenhower asked. The group said it would be gross foolishness to curb promising research of the health institutes, especially in the field of cancer. The committee added $158,235,600 to new funds requested by Eisenhower for the Labor and Welfare departments for the fiscal year starting July 1. That net boost offset cuts of almost $80 million made previously in funds for the Interior, Treasury and Post Office departments, whose 1960 bills already have passed the House. The committee recommended $3,348,472,281 for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and $547,114,500 for the Labor Department.

House Votes $15 Million For State Departments

DES MOINES (U.P.)—The Iowa House passed a bill Tuesday to provide $15,035,145 a year for the operation of state departments and agencies in the two years starting next July 1. The measure, which now goes back to the Senate for concurrence in some amendments, sailed through the House 99-1 after about a half day of debate. The lone dissenting vote was cast by Rep. Ken Stringer (R-Davenport) who said he is against any increased appropriations that will boost taxes. As passed by the House, the bill would provide $170,850 more than the amounts provided by the Senate when it passed the measure a couple of weeks ago. The House total also is $1,781,151 above the current annual appropriation and $346,215 more than the $14,688,930 which had been recommended by Gov. Herschel Lovelless. These figures are adjusted to take care of certain changes in the budgetary setup since the 1957 session. For example, funds for operating the central offices of the State Board of Regents and Board of Control were included in the departmental appropriations bill two years ago but were shifted this year to separate bills providing operating funds for those two agencies. The Board of Control and Board of Regents appropriations bills already have been passed by the House and are pending in the Senate.

Panama Rebellion Blooms; Spearhead Push On Capitol

PANAMA, (UPI) — A spearhead of 20 men from an invasion force pushed across the San Blas mountains Tuesday in an apparent drive toward Panama City that could bring them up against U.S. troops. Forces loyal to the government of President Ernesto De La Guardia, Jr., strengthened by U.S.-supplied arms and ammunition, fought to encircle the coastal village headquarters of the original 80-member invasion band. But sizeable rebel reinforcements believed to number 300 men were reported to be converging on Panama from Cuba.

The 20-man spearhead pushing across the Isthmus from the coast to Panama City, 60 miles away, headed south to an abandoned railroad bed which could help them on the first 20 miles of their penetration into snake-infested jungles.

Midway between them and Panama City lies the Lake Madden watershed which supplies power and water for operation of the Panama Canal and water for Panama City, Colon, and the canal zone. The watershed is guarded by U.S. canal zone forces.

The Council of the Organization of American States (OAS), in which the United States is a leader, voted today to aid Panama against the invaders, many of whom are Cubans.

Fidel Castro's government in Havana disavowed any support of the rebels and sent two army officers to Panama to try to stop Cuban revolutionaries among the invaders who landed last weekend.

U.S. Sen. George D. Smathers (D-Fla.), urged in a Senate speech at Washington that the OAS ask the United States to send ships and planes to defend Panama, keeping them under U.S. supervision and control. The Panamanian army has only 2500 men.

The first known fighting of the four-day-old invasion occurred in a clash between rebels holding the coastal town of Nombre De Dios (God's name) and Panamanian patrol boats lying offshore. The area is 75 miles from the vital Panama Canal.

The Government said "several" invaders were killed or wounded. These were among the original 80 men and a woman who landed last Saturday night near Nombre De Dios on the Atlantic Coast, a fishing village founded and named by Christopher Columbus almost 500 years ago.

Rumors of new invasions swept Panama City but were officially denied. Nevertheless, prisoners taken during the early hours of the invasion said another 300 reinforcements were en route in two ships.

The Government charged the rebels were being led by Roberto (Tito) Arias, former Panamanian ambassador to Britain and husband of famed British ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn.

The overland thrust by an invasion spearhead was the first known move by the rebels to pierce into the heart of Panama on the narrow isthmus.

Senate OKs Mrs. Luce's Appointment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Clare Booth Luce easily won Senate confirmation as ambassador to Brazil Tuesday and almost immediately set off a brand new uproar.

She and Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), her chief critic, raised pointed questions about each other's sanity.

And in the midst of the storm that followed, her editor-husband, Henry R. Luce, said in New York he had asked her to offer her resignation as a result of Senate criticism.

"That would be good for the country," Morse said. "There was no word from Mrs. Luce as to whether a resignation had been submitted."

But Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said at the White House that Mrs. Luce had not been in touch with anyone there since the vote on confirmation and added: "There has been no resignation."

Henry Luce, editor of Time Magazine, said Mrs. Luce had offered "a few days after the Bolivian incident" to have her name withdrawn but that Christian A. Herter, acting as secretary of state, refused her offer.

The incident referred to was the breaking out of anti-American riots in Bolivia after a Time magazine article had attributed to an unidentified American diplomat a suggestion that Bolivia be divided up among its neighbors.

It was a smashing 79-11 vote that confirmed Mrs. Luce in the Brazilian appointment. In a New York statement, she expressed gratitude for the size of the margin, and then tacked on these words for her chief critic: "We must now wait until the dirt settles."

"My difficulties, of course, go back some years when Sen. Wayne Morse was kicked in the head by a horse."

7 Chosen To 1959-60 Pep Squad

Four women and three men have been named to SUI's 1959-60 cheerleading squad. Additional tryouts will be held next week to select an eighth member of the team.

Named to the squad were Debbie De Shon, A1, Bettendorf; Sandra Pollack, N2, Highland Park, Ill.; Mary Ann Sheahan, A1, Highland Park, Ill.; Judy Snow, A1, Chicago, Ill.; Bill Buck, A3, Glencoe, Ill.; Marshall Claus, A3, St. Paul, Minn.; and Jim Tate, A3, Burlington.

Don Carney, A2, Lawrence, Kan., was chosen to take charge of special effects and gymnastics performances. Two women were selected as alternates, Gay Grau, A1, Dennison; and Helen Medakovich, A2, Council Bluffs. Two men's alternate positions will be filled at the tryouts next week.

The squad members were selected as alternates, Kay Grau, dates. Judges for the tryouts included Mr. and Mrs. Sam Baile, cheerleading coaches; Jean Hansen, A4, Cedar Falls, and Dick Weiner, A4, Villisca, retiring captains of this year's cheerleading team.

Tom Oblinger Elected To Head Union Board

Tom Oblinger, A3, Grand Junction, was elected president of the 1959-60 Union Board at a board meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers are: Bill Sutton, C3, Red Oak, vice-president; Linda Brown, A2, Oskaloosa, secretary; and Al Brennecke, L1, Marshalltown, treasurer.

'Hostages', Montgomery Says Of American Soldiers Abroad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery told Americans Tuesday that their soldiers were expected to stay in Europe as "hostages" to prove that American blood will be shed on the first day of the next war.

"If there should be a rough-house in Europe, the United States must be in it from the word go—not like what has happened in the past," Montgomery said. "In other words, American blood must be shed on the first day."

Montgomery appeared on an hour-long CBS "Montgomery Speaks His Mind" television program conducted by Edward R. Murrow and Charles Collingwood. The interview took place at the 72-year-old World War II hero's home in Hampshire, England.

The broadcast was timed to coincide with Montgomery's arrival in Moscow on a private visit during which he is expected to visit Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

On the program, Montgomery described Khrushchev as "counts" and discounted the likelihood of a Russian attack on the West. He harshly attacked the leadership of his old comrade in arms, President Eisenhower.

"I would say that MacArthur was far and away the best service chief that America produced in the second world war," Montgomery said.

Montgomery proposed that the supreme commander in Western Europe, who heads the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, should be a French general with a German under him. The present leader is an American.

Lawyers, Students Celebrate May 1

Everyone has heard of the May Day display of Russian military strength, but for lawyers and law students in the United States, May 1 has a special significance. For the legal world, May 1 is "Law Day."

Law Day is to remind the American people, laymen and lawyers alike, of the benefits bestowed upon our society by the American legal system.

Judge Harvey Ulenhopp of the 11th Judicial District will speak at 10:30 a.m. Friday in Room 5, Law Building. Judge Ulenhopp, a 1939 SUI graduate, will speak on "Courts of Law as a Foundation of Freedom."

Ike Overridden 64-29 By Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, with Democrats in the saddle, voted Tuesday to override President Eisenhower's veto of a bill that would strip away Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's power over rural electrification loans.

The 64-29 count—two votes more than the required two-thirds majority — was a stinging rebuff to Eisenhower. Only a few hours earlier, he had told Republican congressional leaders he hoped his veto of Monday would be sustained.

Fifty-eight Democrats and six Republicans, all but one from Midwest farm states, voted to override Eisenhower's veto of the 28-Republican and a single Democrat—Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio.

Asked for comment, the White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said: "There is another house, isn't there?"

The House still must act, and a two-thirds vote there will be needed to pass the REA bill over Eisenhower's veto. There was no clear indication that the House will do.

In more than six years in the White House, Eisenhower never has seen any of his vetoes overturned. In all, he has rejected 138 bills.

Last August, the Senate voted to override Eisenhower's veto of a bill involving wage rates at a New England shipyard. But the House sustained the veto by 2 votes.

This time, Democratic leaders—with big majorities in both House and Senate — were making a concerted effort to slap down Eisenhower's veto.

Republicans accused the Democrats of political motives and said their action was aimed at making Benson a whipping boy.

Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.), a senior member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said a vote to override "will be interpreted by the country simply as malice toward the secretary."

A vote to override will create suspicion that supporters of the bill want to "get even with the secretary" rather than to extend light and power to rural areas, Aiken said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who sponsored the bill, charged that Benson had violated an agreement with Congress by placing a supervisor — a personal appointee of Benson — over the REA administrator.

The measure would take from Benson and his successors the authority to approve or reject loans for rural electrification and rural telephone loans. That power would be returned to the head of the Rural Electrification Administration, which otherwise would remain subject to the agriculture secretary's supervision.

In rejecting the bill, Eisenhower skirted the political implications of the issue. He based his action on the argument that taking away the agriculture secretary's final say over REA loans would mark "a major retreat from sound administrative policy and practice."

However, Dirksen accused the Democrats of political motives, as did Benson earlier.

One reason for passing the bill, Dirksen said, was to give the Democrats a chance to throw "hatchets and dead cats" at Benson, whose farm policies have been highly unpopular among many Democrats and some Republicans.

Compulsory ROTC Hit Young Demos

The SUI Young Democrats Tuesday night passed a resolution that the club urge the Student Council to recommend to the Board of Regents that compulsory ROTC at SUI be abolished.

The resolution as presented by Dave Miller, L2, Rock Island, Ill., proposed the continuation of ROTC at SUI on a strictly voluntary basis.

The secretary of the organization was instructed to write a letter to the Student Council requesting that the Council consider the proposal. Similar suggestions brought before the Council in the past have been tabled.

In other action, the Young Democrats rejected a resolution calling for the club to go on record as opposed to the Iowa State College name change under consideration by the Iowa legislature. A bill which would change the name of the college to Iowa State University of Science and Technology has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

A resolution calling for U.S. recognition of Red China and the admission of Red China to the United Nations was defeated by a narrow margin after a lengthy debate of the issue.
